"The entry of women into the industrial world has already produced a revolution the effects of which no man can as yet properly estimate," said a speaker at a meeting in Boston last Sunday. "Certainly no man can deny the right of any woman to earn her own living, to prepare herself for any calling and to compete with her own sex as well as the opposite sex in the battle for a living. But it ought to be taken for granted also that if this is to be the case she must submit to the same economic laws, subject the same conditions and be governed by the same economic changes to which all laborers are subjected. What this until now held the natural operation of economic laws from women who work has been the fact that they have practically been competing with men, but have simply underbid men in the labor market and so have reduced to that extent the standard of living and wages. And this raises the question whether the family municipality, domestic life and all that makes a family life can survive with the women of the world actually in its economic strife. That there has been a general loss of domesticity, with all that this word implies, is beyond reasonable doubt also. It has been, as a result, harder to maintain a home where both members have important interests outside of it. The organization for social influence, for education and for reform work of women has been palpably beneficial that no one would pretend to deny the influence which clubs and societies of all kinds have had on the life of the world. But women's advance before the law has steadily made progress without her asking. Her increasing powers have been granted to her by men, moved by a sense of justice, without coercion, and it is safe to say that this movement will continue."

A RELIABLE MASSAGE CREAM.

Massage the face with a cream made of four ounces of mutton tallow, one and a quarter ounces of glycerine, half a dram of tincture of benzoine, a quarter of a dram of spirits of camphor, one and a half dram of Russian isinglass and a half-ounce of rose water.

The tallow should be melted in a basin set in a hot water bath, and when the liquid is strained the glycerine is added, then the alum. The rose water is heated in china or glass and the isinglass dissolves in it. The two mixtures are combined and the benzoine and camphor added while the liquid is warm. Stirring should be constant during the time of the addition. Pour into covered jars and use as any cold cream.

TO ADD TO THE TROUSSEAU.

Striped madras is a favorite material in the suits of the small boy. The Russian blouse suits are nearly all made with the yoke, sailor collar and general finish of the Peter Thompson.

The stiff Buster Brown collar does not appear as frequently as last year, but its original appearance is bestowed by the diagonal opening of the tunic.

Some of the smartest of these are in checks and stripes and conform to models of adult overcoats.

For the boy with the Lord Fauntleroy temperament white reefers are offered.

Black and white and navy blue and white stripes will form correct hosiery for the small boy.

LORD MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN ARCHITECT IS SELECTED.

John Russell Pope, of New York, has been selected as the architect for the Lord Memorial Fountain, which is to be erected at the corner of Grove and Main streets in Somerville on the county land and adjacent to the fine new Court House, which is now in course of construction.

Work on the new fountain will not be started until some old buildings now located on the site are torn down.

The Lord Memorial Fountain will perhaps be one of the finest of its kind in the State. It is to cost $13,000 and will be built in the main of white marble, but granite and bronze will be employed in the drinking basin for horses and in the base and other accessory parts.

The will of the late Miss Alline Lord makes provision for a memorial which, in the words of the testator, is to be constructed in the form of "a drinking fountain I want erected on a good site in memory of my brother, John H. Lord.' The executor of her estate, Hugh K. Gaston, Esq., of Somerville, was appointed to select the architect and procure a suitable design for the proposed memorial by means of competition and by his request his friend, J. Harper Smith of Somerville, was associated with him in conducting the competition.

The executor retained as his professional adviser is Warren P. Laird, Professor of Architecture in the University of Pennsylvania.

The competition was restricted to three architects, with the result that Mr. Pope was successful. The successful architect is to receive a fee of $250 and each of the competitors $100.

PRETTY VEILS OF THE PRESENT MODE.

Veils at the present moment seem to hover on a borderland between material for hair trimming and complexion veiling.

The coarse, wide-open mesh, with its triangular darned spot, so coarse as almost to suggest that it was made of woven straw which threatened a few weeks ago to oust every other style, is undergoing a little modification, and in its latest guise the veil is a mere fillet of fine thread, while the mesh is much less wide.

Some of the newest veils are those in the finest black thread with a darned spot, which almost gives the idea of a thickness in the mesh, while the fillet is finished with very fine black Valenciennes lace barely an eighth of an inch in width, which is applique in two rows round the bottom at a distance of an inch or two from each other.

Another favorite is the plain veiling of Russian net, supplemented with an edging of fine black crochet insertion, while a double row of chenille spots is introduced above and forms a wide border, the veil being worn well down in front to hide the chin.

Though there are so many novelties, many women keep right on buying the fine net or coarse mesh veiling with more or less dots—in some instances none at all.

AN INVENTION TO FEED HORSES BY CLOCKWORK.

A provision merchant in Oldham has invented an ingenious contrivance by which, it is stated, he is able to feed his horses without personal attendance, through the medium of a clock. American alarm clock, says Tit-Bits.

In a small office adjoining the stable the clock is placed on a shelf. Attached to the winding-up key is a piece of copper wire, and this is fastened to a small brass fillet that runs over a wooden rod. At the end of the rod is a heavy weight. When the clock "goes off" the wheel is drawn over the rod and releases the weight, which falls to the floor.

The corn box is filled overnight, and immediately the weight is released a small door at the bottom of the box flies open and the corn falls into the manger. The horses never fail to rise at the sound of the alarm, knowing what is to follow, and when the inventor turns up, say, at 7 or 8 o'clock, the animals are ready for taking the shafts. Another advantage to be gained by the method is that the horses need never be placed in the shafts before the breakfast has had time to digest.

SMALL BOY'S WARDROBE.

Striped madras is a favorite material in the suits of the small boy. The Russian blouse suits are nearly all made with the yoke, sailor collar and general finish of the Peter Thompson.

The stiff Buster Brown collar does not appear as frequently as last year, but its original appearance is bestowed by the diagonal opening of the tunic.

Some of the smartest of these are in checks and stripes and conform to models of adult overcoats.

For the boy with the Lord Fauntleroy temperament white reefers are offered.

Black and white and navy blue and white stripes will form correct hosiery for the small boy.

STRAY HINTS OF SUMMER FASHIONS.

Jackets are being made without any sleeves, the blouse sleeves of net, mousseline or ruffles being sufficient. A pretty idea is to cut the armhole in a wide V-shape, showing an underwaist and sleeves of a different color and material.

Lingerie hats are extremely chic for summer wear, but are much larger than those seen before. Their trimming is a combination of tulle, net and flowers. The embroidered top is placed over a tightly wired frame of point d'esprit showing at the edge of the brim bound with satin.

Nets used for guimpes, waists and gowns are embroidered in heavy dots in black and white. Filet is embroidered in long stitches in white or color; white and écru net is woven in narrow stripes; filet for dresses and coats is embroidered in gold and chenille and net flowered and figured are much in evidence in millinery and dresses.

Bows of lawn, embroidered with tiny French dots of a delicate color are very popular to wear with almost every toilette except an evening gown. A tuxedo of linen collar, embroidered in white and matching color is the correct finish. The little butterfly bow of white lawn embroidered in a color and having a scalloped edge has not lost its popularity.

Flowers used in millinery this season are of the most perfect reproductions of nature that have ever been seen. Daisies, cornflags, sunflowers and pond lilies, orchids, geraniums and hydrangeas are used in great quantities and with much foliage. One can scarcely find a flower that is not worn.

Fans are seen in the most exquisite designs and colorings and the ones imported from Japan and Africa are perhaps the most beautiful. They are generally made of silk, hand painted in Japanese scenes representing the festivities of festival and many other scenes. The Japanese carve fans entirely of ivory, and the Africans make them of ostrich feathers in natural colors, and which are mounted in bone or ivory.

A DISAPPEARING DIAMOND.

After being three lost, a solitaire diamond ring belonging to Mrs. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, the novelist, of Metuchen, seems to be gone for good. Mrs. Freeman, on retiring one night last winter, placed the ring beneath some orange peel in a saucer. She did not miss the fruit until the following morning. Then she sought for it in vain. Letty, the negro maid, was promptly summoned. "Letty," said Mrs. Freeman, solemnly, "where did you put the orange peel which was on the table last night?" "Please, Mrs. Free-man, I done put it in de furnace." The furnace was raked out, and the ashes were sifted. Finally a gleam of light was discovered among the clinkers. The gold of the ring was slightly tarnished, and when Mrs. Freeman took it to a jeweler he said that the stone might have to be repolished, but that it was otherwise unharmed. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman were staying in New York at the old Fifth Avenue Hotel. Mrs. Freeman drove, and would afterward leave rings if she pinned them with a huge safety pin to her at. In the morning she put them on again. An hour later she discovered that the same solitaire diamond which underwent the cooking process was missing. Mrs. Freeman sank into a chair, and then Dr. Freeman saw the diamond on the brim of Mrs. Freeman's hat. The third adventure proved the last. Mrs. Freeman recently gave a bridge luncheon. Some twelve guests were bidden and she planned to treat them to a Faiseweather cake. Mrs. Freeman used until that night when the festivity was over was the loss of the ill-fated ring known. The maid instantly recalled that she had seen "Miss Dolly mixin' the cake with her ring on." The conclusion was inevitable; the ring had gone into the cake. The cake had been eaten. Since then Dr. and Mrs. Freeman have been anxiously watching the obituary columns of the newspapers.

SOME OLD ENGLISH SPORTSMEN.

To those who knew him in the later years it is difficult even to think of the late Duke of Westminster as a fighter. Yet he was very useful with his fists as a boy, and the three who played so prominent a part in the celebrated fight between the late Lord Lonsdale and the late Lord Derby have now each joined the majority. The spectator was the Hon. Francis Lawley, and the three boys were journeying home from school in a coach when the two future dukes commenced quarrelling and fought it out at the first. In fact, they came to where the vehicle stopped long enough. The Duke of Westminster, known as Jack in those days, and the most difficult youth at Oxford to get out of bed in the morning, proved himself the better man.

All three were at Oxford, and Mr. Lawley had £20,000 worth of engravings, all of religious subjects in his study-room. Mr. Lawley cared little for money, and on his being sent to send a crossing sweeper with a check to his banker. When the sweeper was called in a case which decided the ownership of Gemma di Verry and he had to look at the handwriting of a check, he did so through a pair of gold-rimmed eyeglasses taken from his waistcoat pocket.—Bally's Magazine.

A FEW FROM ABROAD.

The latest French undertaking in Madagascar is a dredging out of the southern end of the Ikopa River to make it navigable. "The benefit," explains Consul Carter, "will be the connection with the railway at Tananarive, thereby enabling the natives of the province in pirogues their produce, chiefly rice, from the fertile district, and at the same time supplying a flow of water sufficient for the irrigation of the rice fields of South Tananariva.

The Kaiser of Cabul, about whose doings there is some talk at the moment, rivals the German Emperor in regard to versatility—at any rate, so far as hobbies and pastimes are concerned. Motoring, horse racing, shooting and cricket are his favorite outdoor recreations, and there is nothing he likes so much indoors as a good game of bridge—and he is a fairly expert player—or to sit down at the piano and sing a song for the entertainment of the party. The Ameer, too, rather prides himself upon his skill as a carpenter and drill sergeant, and it was his fondness for gunnery practise which caused him to lose the fingers of his left hand.

More than half of the folks in ancient Egypt had do not sleep on beds and have no beds to sleep on. "These poor people rest on blankets spread on the floors in the winter and on the roofs in the summer," writes Consul Mickelsen. "Owing to the excessive summer heat of these regions sleep is made impossible elsewhere than on the roof or in the open gardens. It is an interesting sight to see how the women at sunset emerge from their houses to prepare the evening meal on the roof, and there it is left to stand all night. Inasmuch as the climate is very dry, there is little to fear from exposure to the night air. While a considerable number of the roofs are surrounded by lattice work to insure a certain degree of privacy, by far the larger number are quite exposed to the gaze of curious and inquisitive neighbors."

Irrigation in Peru has been carried on since before the days of Atahualpa (of whom, by the way, not on a scale compared with what is now contemplated. For some time past, reports Charles M. Pepper, our special agent at Lima, experts from the United States Geological Survey and from the Smithsonian Institute have been in Peru, employed by that Government to investigate the possibilities of irrigation. It is found that 2,500,000 acres between the mountains and the sea can be successfully irrigated. The marvelous fertility of the land and the Arcadian climate promise success in the highest degree. Peru's rivers, which are to be utilized, flow down from snowy mountains and cross the arid country just as those our own arid regions. To the traveler the resemblance of that the western part of Peru have many features in common.

RAILROADS NEVER STRONGER.

America's railroads have never passed through a financial depression so serious as the one consolidated as few railroad bankruptcies. Railroad receiverships are the measure of railroad stability. These receiverships are many or few, according as railroads can or cannot meet fixed obligations. In 1893, when the panic began in August, there were seventy-four receiverships of railroads, with 20,340 miles of track, and capital, shares and bonds of $1,781,00,0000. This was one-sixth of the mileage and of the total capital of our railroads, which latter was invested in the hands of receivers within five months after the crash. Railroads which have gone into the hands of receiverships up to date, so nearly five months after the October crash, number seven-ty-seven-point-four. They have a mileage of 5,928 miles and total capital of $860,000,000. This is less than 3 per cent., or one-thirty-third of the mileage in the country, and about 6 per cent., or about one-seventeenth of the total railroad capital. There is no comparison between these figures. Where our railroads went down by the score in 1893, after the panic of that year, the railroad systems of the United States have this year shown a strength, an ability to meet their obligations and a capacity to maintain their credit never before displayed. If thereir revenues and their control of their business had been jeopardized by the legislation of the last three years between the two periods this. The fact that they have shows that tens of thousands who are buying their shares in small quantities at the present range of prices are wiser than those who held that our railroads had been injured by legislation, when, in fact, a number of fair, increased general public confidence in them, for the Pennsylvania would not have added 16,000 to its shareholders, and other railroads in proportion.

Funeral of Mrs. Clifton.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Clifton, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Whitall, of Thornton avenue, at the age of ninety-seven years, was held yesterday afternoon at the residence, Avenue meeting house. W. G. Williams, of the Society of Friends, spoke at the service. Burial was made in the Friends cemetery, the following acting as pall bearers: Dr. J. H. Cooley, Ward and Harry Wagner, William D. Dalin, Charles B. Clifton and W. C. Whitall.

The Costitutionalist.
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
Published at
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Terms: $2.00 per year.
A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.
THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1908.

GODDARD AND WILDEY WIN HUNT CLUB TITLE

F. W. Goddard and W. H. Wildey won the Watchung Hunt Club tennis tournament Saturday afternoon at the new Hunt Club courts, defeating Wylie Brown and J. R. Greason after four sets. The scores were 6-0, 4-6 and 6-2. Eight pairs were entered in the match play, and the winners received copper cups as title holders, awarded by the Hunt Club. A good sized gallery witnessed the matches, which were but slightly marred by the showers and heavy courts. The tournament is the first to be played at the new club courts, which were in excellent condition for the matches.

In the first round Wylie Brown and J. R. Greason defeated W. DeL. E. Anderson and H. H. Cox; M. J. Dumont and G. S. Ring defeated W. L. Righter and H. E. Butler; F. W. Goddard and W. H. Wiley defeated B. S. Lachlan and Arthur Otterson; and H. B. Lovell and D. Runkle won from G. B. Fletcher and J. H. Mellick by default. In the second round Brown and Greason disposed of Lovell and Runkle in straight sets, and Goddard and Wildey won handily from Dumont and Ring. The finals between Goddard and Wildey and Brown and Greason were the best tennis of the day.

Scores of society people spent the afternoon at the clubhouse, where luncheon and dinner were served. In the evening there was a informal dance, with about seventy-five couples on the floor.

INDEPENDENCE DAY AT PLAINFIELD COUNTRY CLUB

Independence Day was a busy one at the Plainfield Country Club, where numerous events on the golf course and social functions at the clubhouse attracted a large number of members and friends. The clubhouse was attractively decorated for the occasion and during the afternoon there was a tea, while in the evening a dinner-dance brought together a large assemblage of people.

The chief attraction on the course was the concluding rounds of play for the club championship, first and second flights, in the first eight. W. Lester Glenney won the high honor by defeating Frank O. Reinhart in the finals after a hard match, by 1 up in 20 holes. The players were evenly matched and the competition was exceedingly close and interesting from start to finish. In the second eight, Percy H. Stewart won out, defeating W. D. Riggs, by 5 up and 4 to play.

The result of the championship play follows:

Semi-final round; first eight—Frank O. Reinhart defeated H. D. Hibbard, by 3 up and 2 to play; W. Lester Glenney defeated W. T. Glenney, by 2 up and 1 to play. Finals—W. Lester Glenney defeated Frank O. Reinhart, by 1 up in 20 holes.

Semi-final round; second eight—Percy H. Stewart beat L. A. Chase, by 5 up and 4 to play; W. D. Riggs defeated J. E. Erickson, by 6 and 5 to play. Finals—Percy H. Stewart defeated W. D. Riggs, by 5 up and 4 to play.

Another attraction was the competition for the Independence Day cup, with prizes for the best net and best gross scores in Classes A and B. There was a large entry list and the scores were generally low. The best cards returned follow:

Class A—W. T. Glenney, 73, 9-64; S. H. Patterson, 90, 17-73; R. S. Rowland, 81, 7-74; Frank O. Reinhart, 79, 4-75; E. T. Avillson, 90, 14-76; Arthur Murphy, 87, 10-77; C. B. Morgan, 84, 7-77; H. D. Hibbard, 84, 7-77; A. L. Wills, 93, 9-84.

Class B—A. E. Barclay, 100, 21-79; J. R. Evans, 104, 25-79; A. S. Alling, 107, 27-80; T. W. T. Maxwell, 113, 26-87.

Mrs. R. G. Morse won the clock golf competition for women with a score of 25. The scores:

Mrs. R. G. Morse, 25; Mrs. A. W. Opp, 26; Miss Maud Van Boskerck, 30; Miss L. E. Moore, 33.

Preserving Asparagus.

Select heads of asparagus as perfect as possible in every way. Wilted vegetables will not can ideally. In fact, the difficulties of canning vegetables like asparagus are so great it scarcely pays for the trouble. It rarely keeps well and is hard to do. Trim and prepare the asparagus. Place in uncoded in the cans, filling as evenly as possible. Steam constantly for four hours. Fill the cans with boiling water. Screw on the covers as tightly as possible and stand away to cool, being very careful not to put them in a draft of air. When cold, tighten the covers and keep where it is dark and cool.

2,000 WITNESS THE RACES

"Baron Whips" Twice Lowers the Records at the Plainfield Driving Park.

PURSES AND CUPS AS PRIZES.

Six Events and All Are Exciting—Three Cups and $450 for the Winners.

The matinee race meet held at the Plainfield Driving Park, Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club, was the most successful in the history of the organization. About two thousand people were present to witness the fine sport, and the six events on the card proved strong attractions.

The big feature of the afternoon was the performance of A. S. Case's "Baron Whips," who twice lowered the best record of the track, 2:18¼, by going the first heat in 2:17 and the third in 2:16½, in the free-for-all race. It is believed that the horse could have done still better. Mr. Case handled the reins over his entry in faultless style and it was a pretty race throughout.

Another feature was the steeplechase for the "Fair Acres Cup." This was won by "Maid-of-All-Work," owned by Chris. Comins, who covered the three miles in seven minutes and twenty-four seconds. There was a large entry list in the race, including Singleton Van Schoick's "Adjutor," C. E. S. Bellows' "Mechanic," Leonce Fuller's "Golden Arms" and Louis Batjer's "Mysterous." They comprised some of the entries from the Watchung Hunt Club.

The two running races, for the "Iroquois cup," and the "Independence Day cup," were also full of interest. In the first running race the half-mile course was covered in 53¾ seconds by H. A. Bourne's "Bessie Fullem," the winner, and in the second running race, one mile, the time was 1.50¾, won by William Cross' "Ida G."

An added attraction was the concert by the Liberty Band, of this city. Popular selections were rendered throughout the afternoon, enlivening the occasion.

The judges of the races were L. A. Bellis, of Somerville; W. H. Grierson, of Cranford, and Dr. Fred Ezel, of Westfield. E. E. Allen, of Flemington, was starter, and the timers were Dr. Butler, of Westfield, and D. C. Smalley, of this city. The summaries:

2:30 Class.
Purse $150.

Aron B, A. C. Blair	6	5	1	1	1
Progate, W. Holland	2	1	2	2	2
Ned, D. C. Harris	1	7	4	3	2
Susie B, J. H. Polkavitz	3	2	3	4	4
Maud C., R. L. Edwards	4	4	5	5	3
Aloysia, N. B. Smalley	7	3	7	6	6
Celecia Bellini, Schneider	8	6	8	8	8
Brown Stout, Beckmas	5	8	6	7	7

Time—2:20¼, 2:20¾, 2:24¼, 2:24¼, 2:24¼.

Free For All.
Purse $150.

Baron Whips, A. S. Case	1	1	1
Prince, C. C. Brower	2	2	2
S. E. D., Winder & Dodd	4	3	3
Dewey Ensign, L. Ballentine	3	4	4

Time—2:17, 2:18¼, 2:16½.

Iroquois Cup.
Purse $150.

David A., E. B. Woodward	1	1	1
Prince Vernom, D. C. Harris	2	6	2
Fred V., F. Irving	3	2	4
Bay Prince, J. P. Buckalew	8	3	3
New Haven, H. W. Evans	7	4	5
The Lawyer, J. Sullivan	6	8	7
Bennington, T. J. Lynch	5	8	7
Zip, Edward Sweet	4	7	8

Time—2:26¼, 2:26¼, 2:24¼.

Steeplechase.
"Fair Acres" Cup.

Maid of All Work, C. Comins	1
Adjutor, S. Van Schaick	2
Mechanic, C. E. S. Bellows	3
Samgral, H. D. Parlee	4
Hollo, W. O. Eckerson	6
Mercy Me, R. C. Finch	5
Golden Arms, Leonce Fuller	7
Manifesto, Hugh Gormley	8
Mysterious, Louise Batjer	9

Time—7 minutes, 24 seconds.

Running Race.
"Iroquois Cup."

Bessie Fullem, Harry Bourne	1
Bertie B., Marcus Hoyt	2
Rex, J. Voehl	3

Time—53¾ seconds.

One-Mile Running Race.
"Independence Day Cup."

Ida G., William Gross	1
Pleasant Days, I. D. Nagler	2
Dah Squads, H. W. Evans	3

Time, 1:50¾.

Jockey Fred Alpers Thrown.

Fred Alpers, a gentleman jockey, who was riding "Adjutor" in the steeplechase race at the Driving Park Saturday afternoon, was thrown off his mount and the animal fell over on its rider, injuring him to some extent. Alpers was carried to the paddock, where he lay unconscious for about an hour. Stimulants were given and he finally was revived and was able to ride Harry Bourne's "Bessie Fullem," to victory in the next event, running away from the "Independence Day cup." Mr. Alpers injuries were not serious.

Somerville Defeats Cranford.

The West Ends, of Somerville, took revenge on the Cranford, Saturday, by defeating their rivals by a score of 7 to 6 in a well-played contest at Somerville.

AMUSEMENTS.

Proctor's Newark theatre during the week following the glorious Fourth is brim full of novelties and surprises. Foremost among the entertainers will be Ned Wayburn's Broilers, the latest novelty, introducing beautiful scenic and electrical effects and twenty pretty girls who can sing and dance. Fred Niblo, one of America's foremost monologuists in a series of tales gathered by him in his globe trotting tour with his wife, the famous Josephine Cohan of the Four Cohans; Rosie Lloyd, the latest of this talented family, to grace our shores, will sing in her charming English style; boy violinist Fred Gill will demonstrate his wonderful technique and execution in a series of classical and popular selections; Walter Law and company will present a farcical sketch entitled "Jewsalem;" Mlle. Juliette Dika, a Russian importation, assisted by a clever company, will appear in a series of picturesque dances; Carter, Taylor and company will offer a farcical sketch, "Who's Your Friend;" Claire Rummel, whose claim to a niche in the hall of fame, is her authorship to the famous ditties, "Dearie" and "Egypt," from "The Girl from Kays;" also Sam Bernard's "June" and "Sufficiency." Miss Kummer will sing some of her latest compositions; new animated pictures.

SUCCESSFUL CARNIVAL AT NETHERWOOD CAMP

The Independence Day Carnival held at the grounds of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp Saturday afternoon and evening proved a signal success, and the proceeds will amount to about $200. Despite the threatening weather, there was a rushing business from the booths, most of which were constructed in the auditorium, under cover, during the entire afternoon, and the "sold" sign was on practically everything before the evening was half gone.

Miss Sara Cure, who formally opened the camp for the season today by bringing out more than a hundred children from the New York tenement districts, was at the carnival, and was welcomed by many Plainfielders who are interested in her work both at the camp and in the homes. Brilliantly decorated with bunting and flowers, and fully illuminated at night, the auditorium, where the booths were situated, presented a gala appearance. A feature of the affair was the system of transportation by automobile from the trolley to the grounds. George E. Hall and J. D. Loizeaux offered their machines for this purpose during the entire afternoon. Those in charge of the various booths follow:

Fancy booth, Mrs. J. C. Pierson, chairman, Miss Ida Dealaman, Miss Lillian Hardcastle; lemonade, Herbery Henry, chairman, Miss Dorothy Smith, Miss Anna Smith; candy booth, Mrs. B. F. Hadley, chairman, Mrs. L. R. Howard, the Misses Cora R. Brokaw and Margaret Loizeaux; fruit and peanuts, Miss Mina Bock, Miss E. Morcom; fish pond, Mrs. S. A. George, chairman, the Misses Elmira Runyon, Ira Hadley and Jessie Hockridge; plant booth, in charge of Miss Lottie Conger; refreshments in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Scriven, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stouts, Miss Mina Hand, Mrs. David Hand, Mrs. John Lindahl, Mrs. B. Chamberlain, Miss Lottie Conger and Miss Edna Willis; cake booth, Miss Florence Hawkins, chairman, Miss Ella C. Bendict, Miss Ella Palmer; ice cream, in charge of Joseph E. Hawkins, Miss Mabel Marjorie Brown, Arline Brown, Marion Mortimer and May. Doane acted as waitresses; mystery booth, Miss Marion Hall and Miss Van Deventer; fortune teller, Robert McCready; weighing machine, in charge of Robert Lines.

S. A. George, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, is treasurer of the Carnival, and the general committee comprised Miss Florence G. Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hadley and Mrs. S. A. George. The transportation committee was George E. Hall and J. D. Loizeaux. George E. Hall, S. A. George and B. F. Hadley formed the advertising committee.

HARD-FOUGHT MATCHES IN PARK CLUB TENNIS.

Monroe H. Long and Edwin Daniel, Second, and Vaughn McGee and Will Tenuis won the semi-finals in the round in the Independence Day tennis tournament at the Park Club Saturday. The matches were played at the club courts, which were in fair condition, despite the showers. A good sized gallery witnessed the tennis and several of the matches were closely contested. The finals will be played Saturday, when the winning pair will receive cups awarded by the tennis committee of the club. Fourteen teams were entered.

Many club members filled at the club in the evening, and there was an elaborate display of fireworks in connection with an informal dance in the evening.

Matinee Races July 18.

Plans for matinee races to be held at the Gentlemen's Driving Park under the auspices of the Fair Acres Driving and Riding Association Saturday, July 18, were discussed at the meeting of the association held at the Hotel Iroquois last night. There will be several class events and a running race.

SEWER EXTENSION BIDS

Belleville Man Offers Best Terms for Construction of a Sanitary Improvement.

REFERRED TO A COMMITTEE.

Ordinance For Macadamizing Certain Streets Passed On Third Reading—Only One Coal Bid.

Six bids were received at the July meeting of the Common Council Monday, for the proposed sanitary sewer extensions on Watchung avenue, near the raceway and on Lake street, and J. H. Sammis, of Belleville, figures, $692.90, were the lowest for the work. No action was taken in awarding the contract at this time, the street committee deciding to lay it over for a week. The specifications call for 710 feet of eight inch vitrified pipe and three lengths of cast iron pipe over the raceway on Watchung avenue. The bids were as follows:

J. H. Sammiss, Belleville, $692.90; Michael Garafano, Summit, $847.40; Warren B. Travell, Plainfield, $894.40; Atlas Coastruction and Engineering Company, Reading, Pa., $848.56; Petro Luciano, White Plains, N. Y., $1,027; Brooklyn Engineering and Construction Company, Brooklyn-Ridgewood, $1,312.30.

All bids were referred to the street and sewer committee and with the assistance of City Engineer J. J. Sawtell the totals were determined. No report was presented at the meeting of the Council.

A public hearing was granted on the proposed ordinance which authorizes the macadamizing of certain streets, but no one appeared to speak for or against the ordinance and the Council adopted it on third reading.

Only one bid was received for furnishing the city with one hundred tons of coal for the fire department, that done being from the Consumers' Coal Company, which offered to supply the required number of tons of chestnut and stove size at $5.68 per ton. It was referred to the fire and building committee with power. Mr. Buxton asked the city clerk if he did not have another bid, adding that he had been informed by a dealer early in the evening that he had sent one to the office. Mr. MacMurray explained that he had not received the bid.

DISREGARDED SPEED LAW TO SAVE BROTHER'S LIFE

Disregarding all speed regulations, John McDonough, son of Peter McDonough, of South Plainfield, drove his father's auto to this city Monday afternoon at a forty-mile-an-hour rate in order to save the life of his two-year-old brother, Augustus.

The little fellow was toddling about the floor at his parents' home when he picked up a pin and placed it in his mouth. It slipped into his throat and struck endways just at the base of the tongue. The child was seized with a violent fit of coughing and the prompt members of the family to his side and the cause of the trouble was located. Efforts to dislodge the pin proved futile and as the baby was in danger of choking to death, Peter McDonough thought of the automobile as the quickest means of getting him to a physician. The machine was quickly started up and the run of three miles to the office of Dr. Hughes was made in four minutes. He counted upon his life and death mission as a sufficient warrant to overcome any legal obstacle but fortunately was not molested.

Dr. Hughes immediately set to work with instruments and brought the pin from its position. The child soon recovered from the ordeal and no ill effects are anticipated.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' CAMP WILL BE OPENED THIS WEEK.

Several physicians of the city having appealed to the officers of the City Union of The King's Daughters to open the baby camp on the mountains, the women are getting things in readiness to receive sick babies by the last of the week. This week seven sick infants were reported by physicians and there being no other place to send them efforts are being made to put the camp in shape at the earliest possible moment. The camp will be kept open until September, at least.

This work, as in the past requires the support of Plainfield people and contributions of money and foodstuffs will be gratefully received. Those in charge of persons desiring to make such contributions can communicate with the officers of the Union and they will be sent for. The city nurse has been particularly busy this summer, being obliged to make as many as seventeen calls in one day.

City Treasurer Arnold Home.

City Treasurer and Mrs. William F. Arnold and his two daughters, returned home on the Baltic on Friday, from a delightful trip abroad. Mr. Arnold was greatly benefitted in health by the vacation.

APPORTION SCHOOL FUNDS

Plainfield's Share of the State Schools' Money Aggregates $103,715.56.

FOR THE COUNTY $610,641.

How the Total Amount is Derived and Divided—Fanwood Will Receive in All $9,756.68.

Official notification of the apportionment of State school moneys for the year which began Wednesday to the various municipalities in Union county was received yesterday from County Superintendent of Schools J. J. Savitz, of Westfield, by Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, in connection with other officials. The table shows as the total amount available for school purposes in the county the sum of $610,641.12. A considerable portion of this will, however, not be expended. In Elizabeth, for instance, the sum of $61,131.79, the railroad tax money for 1908, will be carried over.

The available funds of $610,641.12 for the county are shown in the table compiled by the County Superintendent, to be devided as follows: From $200,000 State school fund, raised by riparian assessments, $9,892.77; from $1,012,840.08, State fund raised by corporation taxes, $62,949.70; from ninety per cent. of the State school tax, which is the amount the county gets back out of its levy, $226,6.92; from ten per cent. reserve fund, $20,379.88; from railroad tax of 1907, $150,678.35; from railroad tax of 1908, $140,121.50.

In the apportionment of $200,000 appropriation from the State School Fund, Plainfield gets $1,662.56, which is share of the amount apportioned from appropriation of $1,012,840.08. This city also receives $23,547.66 of the amount apportioned from the railroad tax of 1908. Out of the amount apportioned from the reserve fund it gets $3,424.87. The railroad tax of 1907 available for the year 1908-1909 brings to Plainfield a credit of $25,127.89. The total amount available for the school year of 1908-1909 in this city, from the State, aggregates $103,715.56.

The total amount for Fanwood is $9,756.68.

ALAN WILSON SUDDENLY DIES AT EDINBURGH

Word was cabled to this city Sunday of the death of Alan Wilson, son of Colonel John F. Wilson, of Greenbrook road, which occurred in Edinburgh, Scotland, Saturday night. Only meagre details were given and beyond the fact that he had been ailing while at his hotel the circumstances are unknown.

Mr. Wilson has been in ill health since a year ago when he met with severe injuries in an automobile accident at Atlantic City. He eventually recovered from these so as to get about but he was subject to sudden fainting spells and hemorrhages due to a blood clot on the brain. The trip to Europe was undertaken in the hope of deriving some benefit from the sea air and change of climate.

Mr. Wilson was twenty-nine years old and unmarried. He had been living in Philadelphia of late as he had been connected with a large firm in that city. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. P. Truitt.

The body will be brought to this country at once and burial will be in Baltimore after a private service.

CLINTON AVENUE CLUB SURPRISES NORMAN BARNES.

In honor of one of their teammates, who joined the ranks of benedicts recently, the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club gave Norman Barnes, the crack first baseman, a surprise party at his new residence on West Fourth street, Saturday night. The young people spent an enjoyable evening playing games and listening to a program of vocal and instrumental music. As a mark of esteem the club presented Mr. and Mrs. Barnes with a handsome parlor table. They quickly recovered from their surprise and responded with a few words of thanks. The affair came to a close after a repast served by the hostess.

Among theose present were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barnes, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barnes, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dorflinger, Mr. and Mrs. Britt Rolfe, Mrs. M. Bloeckle, the Misses Clara Gullberg, Mildred Barnes, Gertrude Graydon and John Martin, "Billy" O'Loughlin, James Emery, Adam Schott, Richard Scott, Clifford Randolph, William Miles, Charles Gilman and Allen Snyder.

Who Has a Horse to Give Away?

Overseer of the Poor A. D. Ayres is anxious to obtain a horse for use on the city poor farm and anyone having an animal which they would like to give to the poor department for this purpose can communicate with him. No doubt there is some one in Plainfield or vicinity who has a horse suitable for light farming and would rather give it to the city than to some one who might not take as good care of him.

DESPONDENT ITALIAN TRIES TO KILL HIMSELF

Despondency because he had received no letter from his parents in Italy, to whom he had sent some money two months ago, Rachelle Ferrarie, an Italian, aged 27 years, residing on Terrill road, attempted to commit suicide Saturday morning by slashing his throat with a razor. He cut no deep that the wound was severed and was in a dying condition when found by neighbors. The ambulance was summoned and the man was rushed to the hospital with all possible speed. This fact and the prompt action of the physicians in charge saved the Italian's life and, as afterward he said, through an interpreter, that he would not again attempt to cut his throat.

Although Ferrarie cut deep, he did not reach the main artery, which would have cost him his life instantly. However, he suffered the loss of a considerable quantity of blood and this left him in a weakened condition. The man formerly was employed by Joseph Harrigan and bears a good reputation. He has lived in Plainfield two years.

PARK AVENUE BAPTISTS CELEBRATE THE FOURTH

Independence Day was celebrated by the Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday morning, when there were patriotic services in the church with a special program of national music. Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the church, gave a report of the International Sunday-school convention recently held at Louisville, Kentucky, which Mr. Finn was one of the delegates, but was prostrated by the heat during his attendance at the convention, so could be present at but few of the sessions.

Music was a feature of the service, and the musical program as follows: "America," by the school; responsive reading, "Our Flag;" hymn, "My Native Land," by the school; prayer, by W. J. Clark; hymn, "Our Country's Banner," by the school; address, by Rev. A. E. Finn; hymn, "National Anthem," by the school; prayer, by Superintendent George E. Hall; violin solo, "God Will Take Care of You," Arthur S. Mosher; sing, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," by the school. Superintendent Hall distributed sticked-shaped fans of the national colors, bearing the words of the last song. Charles Van Winkle, blackboard artist of the school, drew a beautiful patriotic illustration on the blackboard with colored chalk. The auditorium was beautifully decorated with bunting and evergreens.

FREEHOLDERS GIVE OUT TERRILL ROAD CONTRACT

The Weldon Contracting Company, of Rahway, was awarded the contract for macadamizing Terrill road between reen Brook and South avenue, when the board of freeholders at a meeting of the road committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders held at Elizabeth Friday afternoon. The company's bid was $7,201.27. The next lowest bid was $7,575.11, the figures submitted by the Watchung Stone Company, of this city. The rivalry between this firm and Smalley and Kitchen gave the latter firm second honors, with third highest bid of $7,694.86. The other bids follow: Joseph M. McNabb, Elizabeth, $7,852.14, and C. E. Freck, of Somerville, $8,072.09. The work of June Weather About Normal.

Weather Prophet John Neagle has completed his statistics of weather for June as follows: Highest temperature, 96 degrees, 24th; lowest temperature, 51 degrees, 3d; mean temperature, 70; normal temperature, 69.3; mean mixamum temperature, 83.2; mean minimum temperature, 56.8; mean daily range, 26.2; greatest daily range, 39; total precipitation, 2.76 inches; normal precipitation, 3.76 inches; greatest precipitation in twenty-four hours, 2.59 inches, 15th and 16th; number of rainy days, 6; number of days clear, 18; partly cloudy, 10; cloudy, 2; dates of thunder storms, 15, 23, 24. The mean temperature for the month was 69.3 degrees and the precipitation for the month was 1.29 inches below the normal.

Celebrated Second Anniversary.

Rev. G. W. Bailey celebrated the second anniversary of his pastorate at the Calvary Baptist church, Tuesday night, June 30. The sermon was delivered by Rev. E. Flowers, of Cranford, and there were addresses by Deacons Scipio Whindleton and Ransom on the success of the pastorate. It was announced that the collections for the year amounted to $3,041.57. There were 125 persons added to the total membership of 426. The pastor married six couples, attended two conventions and two social meetings. It was stated that the next Christmas Dinner conference would be held at the Calvary Baptist church July 14.

Celebration at "Sunset Cottage."

A number of young people from this city enjoyed a straw ride to "Sunset Cottage," on Friday night, where they were entertained by the Misses Voehl. Saturday night all enjoyed a dance at the cottage.

GUN SHOOTERS IN COURT

Police Confiscated All Weapons They Saw Fired by Zealous Patriots.

WARNED BY JUDGE RUNYON.

Magistrate Informs Owners That Authorities Will Not Permit the Use of Revolvers On Independence Day.

Despite the warning issued by the police last week that they would confiscate all revolvers, guns or similar weapons that they saw displayed on the Fourth of July, a lot of local young men and boys attempted to celebrate the holiday with them and as a result found themselves in the police court Friday morning. When the over-zealous patriots were lined up in front of Judge Runyon, the desk before him looked like the stock room of the Springfield armory. Included in the miscellaneous collection of arms gathered up by the patrolmen from Friday night until yesterday morning were twenty-four revolvers, three shot guns, an old fashioned blunderbuss of the style used in the War of 1812 and two powder-and-cap affairs, something like those shown in the pictures of Captain Kidd's trusty lieutenant, the slaughter-list crew of a rich merchantman.

The police kept a watch for any weapons shot off or displayed and after confiscating them, notified the owners to appear in court today. Judge Runyon let them prefer to have the weapons go in place of taking the time off to get around and only sixteen responded. Only a few of them were over twenty-one years old and Judge Runyon was not disposed to deal harshly with the defendants. "I want to say this much, however," he said in addressing them, "you must understand that the city authorities will not allow the use of pistols or guns on the Fourth. We believe in celebrating the day but feel that it can be observed in the use of weapons that endanger life and limb. I don't say that any of you would willingly use bullets in place of blank cartridges but accidents will happen and the best way to keep the number down is to act the way we have. You all discharged but keep in mind what I say for future July Fourths."

The owners of confiscated weapons who appeared in court were the following: Mirro Milano, Louis Milano, Irving De Hart, Arthur Slade, Clifford Walker, Morris Cantor, Walter Robinson, Shrystal Eskenazi, George Simmonds, Laurie Davis, Paul Kelm, James Bowser, George Percy, R. C. Fields, Benjamin Downing and Arthur Dunham.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS GREET REV. EDWIN SHAW

Rev. Edwin Shaw, formerly professor in Milton College, Milton, Wis., and who accepted the call to the pastorate of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, was in charge of the service at the church Sabbath morning for the first, at which time formal introduction ceremonies were held.

Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardner, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, spoke on behalf of the new pastor and people, in which he made a strong plea to the church for a deep sense of fraternal responsibility and personal work in holding up the hands of the pastor. These remarks were followed by a short address by David E. Titsworth in which he gave the new pastor a hearty welcome to the church and the city. Mr. Shaw responded with a few appropriate remarks, thinking the speakers for the kind words of encouragement and cheer and expressing the hope and confidence that through co-operation the work would be carried forward with success.

After the appropriate opening exercises, Mr. Shaw took charge of the regular communion service. There was a large attendance of communicants. At the conclusion all remained to meet Mr. Shaw and give him a hearty welcome. He will preach his first sermon next Sabbath morning.

Mr. Shaw is a brother of Rev. George B. Shaw, former pastor, who is now in charge of a flourishing denominational church at North Loup, Neb.

Rahway Woman Dies from Burns.

Mrs. Benjamin Underhill, of Grand street, Rahway, who was terribly burned by gasolene while filling a stove at her home, an account of which appeared in The Daily Press on Tuesday last, died Saturday night at the home of her parents. The effects of inhaling the flames from the burning gasolene. She leaves a husband, also two daughters, Mrs. Frank Weldon, of Scotch Plains, and the other a resident of Rahway. She was a cousin of John Walton, an employe of this city. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Second Methodist church, Rahway, and burial in Hazlewood Cemetery that place.

Dunellen Is C. C. Whitewashed.

The Whitehouse Station team shut out the Dunellen Field Club, Saturday afternoon, at the former place by a score of 7 to 0.

MISHAPS ON THE FOURTH

Many Minor Accidents and Several That "Might Have Been Serious."

TWO CASES IN POLICE COURT.

One Defendant Fined $10 For Firing Bullets and Another Accused of Shooting Mrs. Clifford McGee in the Neck.

Included in a lot of Fourth of July accidents that took place in the city and borough were two of the "might have been worse" variety and which led to two city court cases Monday. In one of them, Harold Vanderhoef, a young man residing on West Front street, was arraigned by Detectives Sergeant Flynn and Patrolman Saffron. It was charged that he had fired a bullet from an old-fashioned "pepper box" pistol that struck Mrs. Clifford McGee in the neck as she sat in a carriage in front of the Park Club Saturday night. The force of the leaden missile had been partially spent when it hit her but it was sufficient to knock Mrs. McGee from her seat and for the time being it was thought that she had been seriously hurt.

Mayor Samuel Townsend, of the borough, was at the clubhouse at the time and making an investigation from the direction in which the bullet came, found Vanderhoef and another man shooting pistols just over the bridge on Washington avenue. He notified the city police and Vanderhoef was arrested, his companion running away at the sight of Patrolman Saffron. The bullet that struck Mrs. McGee was of the kind used in the "pepper box" affair, the young man had in his possession but he denied putting anything else but paper and powder in the chambers.

In his statement to Judge Runyon, Vanderhoef asserted that he had fired his gun but once and that he was positive there was no bullet used. A number of other young men, he said, had been shooting pistols at Front and Washington avenues and was possible that they were responsible for the McGee accident. In disposing of the case His Honor declared that he was going to leave the matter entirely to Vanderhoefs own conscience.

"I am going to impose a fine of $5," he said, "and trust you to decide whether or not it shall be paid. If you think that the bullet that struck Mrs. McGee came from your pistol I want you to come around tomorrow and give Chief Kiely the money. If you are still convinced that you are innocent you can consider yourself discharged."

The other defendant was Thomas Wells, an East Indian negro, living on Richmond street, who began celebrating Saturday night by discharging a Winchester rifle. A bullet fully two inches long left the weapon and went crashing into the bath room at the home of S. A. Krom on Carlton avenue. Mr. Krom had just leaned over the wash bowl when the missile passed over his back and imbedded itself in the wall. He notified the police and Patrolman Saffron located Wells as the shooter. He admitted discharging the weapon but stated that he did so without the barrel was pointed in the air. He was fined $10 with the preference of twenty days in jail.

The usual number of minor accident cases were reported as a result of the fourth's celebration but none of them was serious. The list comprised powder burns, shots from blank cartridges and torn hands from the permature explosion of cannon crackers.

Thomas Kelly, of Dunellen, held a giant firecracker too long after lighting it for a "practice celebration," Friday night. His right hand was badly lacerated when it exploded, and he may lose two fingers. "First aid" treatment was given at Rennock's drug store, and he later went to Dr. Platt's office where the powder grains were removed and the members bandaged. There are as yet no signs of tetanic poisoning.

Mrs. William Kingslow, of this city, was shooting blank cartridges in a revolver, when the sudden explosion of one sent the contents into her hand. She was treated in the clinic at the hospital and later returned home.

Ernest Tellegrin, aged eight years, of South avenue, suffered a slight abrasion of the fingers of the right hand while shooting blank cartridges. The injury was not serious and after being treated at the hospital, was able to return home.

Igniting a spiral train of powder in an effort to make a new kind of pyrotechnic display Saturday, Fred Brewer, of Stone street, was disappointed when the powder blazed up with a puff, badly burning him about the face and hands. He was rushed to Dr. Pittis' office in a carriage, where sundry grains of powder were removed and his burns attended to. His eyesight is in no danger but he is suffering from the burns.

John Borrews, of Elm place, almost blew off his left fore finger with a blank cartridge revolver in celebrating "the Glorious." Dr. Pittis pried out the wads and powder and the young man is now resting comfortably, with little danger of tetanic poisoning.

Pascale Savacini held a six-inch dynamite cracker too long in celebrating Saturday and at the explosion his hand was badly lacerated and filled with grains of powder. His friends rushed him to Dr. Pittis and he is "off the job" now, swashed in bandages.

Frank Green shot himself in the hand with a blank cartridge wad in the course of the celebration of the day at the his home on West Third street. Dr. Pittis dressed the wound, which shows no signs of tetanus today.

Miss Anna Marky, daughter of Peter Marky, of Liberty street, was examining a pin-wheel in front of her home, Saturday night, when the thing went off suddenly and burned her face. Dr. W. C. Boone gave temporary treatment and yesterday morning the young woman was removed to the hospital, where she will be detained a few days. Her sight was not injured.

Tony Sabino, of Cottage place, shot himself in the hand yesterday morning, while playing with a revolver. The bullet made an ugly wound. He was cared for in the clinic at the hospital, after which he returned home.

While Mrs. Bertha Singer was sitting in the store of her brother, Harry Dygler, on West Front street

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS FOR ECONOMICAL HOUSEKEEPERS

Meat and potato cakes are a common dish in the home of the small wage-earner, as it has been found that they provide an excellent means of disposing of the left-overs. To prepare them, the meat from the soup pot, or the remains of the stew, are hopped fine; an onion, also finely minced, is added, a small quantity of mashed potatoes, with pepper and salt and any other seasoning that taste may dictate, or that is within reach of te cook. This mixture is then shaped into cakes and fried.

The housekeepers who make a practice of preparing stews or dishes that closely resemble them frequently economize in the matter of seasoning by keeping the carrots, onions, leeks, bay leaves and other soup vegetables and herbs wraped in this muslin bag. When soups, stews and such dishes are made, the bag, which is attached to a piece of twine, is dropped into the pot with the meat and when it has remained long enough to impart the requisite flavor, it is withdrawn, dried, and set aside to do duty again on the following day. This process is usually continued until the "seasoning bag" has lost the power to impart flavor. Care must be taken to dry the seasonings immediately after each using.

A meat pie made from the left overs from two or three dinners is regarded as a great delicacy in many of those households where there are good cooks, and if all these pies are as tasty as that which I was permitted to sample, tere is no reason why such food should be made a subject for complaint. Al though the pie may be covered with a biscuit crust and baked in the oven, like any ordinary pie, the good cook—a Southern woman of considerable taste in cooking—preferred to prepare it in the form of a pot pie, and, accordingly, some extremely light dumplings took the place of the crust.

CHAUFFEUR YOU READ ABOUT.

But His Like You Will Seldom See in Real Life.

Mr. Blank had advertised for a chauffeur and he passed over a dozen applicants until he came to one whose general appearance seemed to fill the bill, and then said to him:

"Sir, I want a man different from the ordinary chauffeur."

"Yes, sir. I thought from the reading of your advertisement that you did. I am different."

"In what respects?"

"If you have a wife, I shall not flirt with her."

"If you have a daughter, I shall not cajole her into eloping with me.

"If your wife tries to find out through me where you go certain nights I shall be mum.

"If any dudes ask me how much money you are going to give your daughter when she marries I shall tell him to go to.

"I shall not come to your house to court the parlor maid.

"Should I be out in the auto alone and a man of a rival should want to race me, I shall decline.

"I am a first class liar regarding speed when arrested by the police.

"I never give things away to the newspapers.

"If divorce proceedings are instituted I go on the stand for you."

He was told to remove his coat and vest and undrego inspection, and when it was found that his angel wings were fully developed he was hired on the spot for $100 per month —Rehoboth Democrat and Chronicle.

TRAVELING WITH A SUITCASE.

She provides herself with a good linen suit, plain skirt and plain jacket with long sleeves, and it will be a costume of dark tan, brown or gray. The dainty hat and gloves match—the shoes, too, for brown shoes can be found in all new styles, or black ones with gray uppers. In her suitcase is a white linen skirt, a few pretty shirtwaists, wash belts, collars and neatly hemmed handkerchiefs. These are few ribbons, but comporatively few articles that cannot be laundered.

The white petticoats are serviceable and made with substantial ruffles of embroidery. Two colored ones match her dark linen suit. The suitcase girl is now ready to go to any place in a globe trotting journey and she can stop for a rest, have her clothes laundered and proceed on her way.

A trunk may follow filled with the finest dresses imaginable, but she wisely takes washable garments with her on the train.

Trimming Children's Hats.

The smallest children look well with hats that are either small with arrow upturned brims or the rather wide ones with hat that drops with the weigt of flowers or a tuscan that shows a darker braid and more lacy effect. By all means have the little hat trimmed with field daisies, poppies or some small flower that will look most attractive with ribbon trimming. If a color is used, the flowers may be of like color.

His Conception of Art.

"That is my celebrated painting 'The Bullfight,'" said the great artist. "Do you admire it?"

"Well, I should say so," responded the visitor.

"Ah, I am glad that you are such an admirer of art."

"Yes, I was just thinking how many dozen juicy beefsteaks could be carved off that hefty bullock."

New Jersey Central

In Effect June 28, 1908.

For New York—2.29, 3.27, 5.26, 6.02, 6.29, 6.57, 7.26, 7.56, 7.46, 7.47, 7.56, 8.56, 8.11, 9.26, 10.26, 11.26 a. m., 12.26, 1.26, 2.26, 3.26, 4.26, 12.26, 12.19, 12.47, 1.09, 1.27, 2.27, 2.44, 3.09, 3.46, 4.12, 4.45, 5.15, 5.34, 6.26, 6.47, 7.26, 8.26, 9.26, 10.26, 11.26 p. m. Sunday—2.17, 3.27, 5.25, 7.23, 8.56, 9.56, 10.56, 11.56 a. m., 12.56, 1.56, 2.56, 3.56, 4.56, 5.56, 6.56, 7.56, 8.56, 9.56, 10.56, 11.56 p. m.

For Newark—2.29, 6.29, 5.27, 7.56, 7.25, 7.25, 7.47, 8.11, 8.56, 9.44, 9.26, 9.26, 10.26, 11.26 a. m., 12.26, 1.26, 2.26, 3.26, 4.26, 5.26, 6.26, 7.26, 8.26, 9.26, 10.26, 11.26 p. m. Sundays—3.27, 5.25, 7.23, 8.56, 9.56, 10.56, 11.56 a. m., 12.56, 1.56, 2.56, 3.56, 4.56, 5.56, 6.56, 7.56, 8.56, 9.56, 10.56, 11.56 p. m.

For Newark—2.29, 6.29, 5.27, 7.56, 7.25, 7.25, 7.47, 8.11, 8.56, 9.44, 9.26, 9.26, 10.26, 11.26 a. m., 12.26, 1.26, 2.26, 3.26, 4.26, 5.26, 6.26, 7.26, 8.26, 9.26, 10.26, 11.26 p. m. Sundays—3.27, 5.25, 7.23, 8.56, 9.56, 10.56, 11.56 a. m., 12.56, 1.56, 2.56, 3.56, 4.56, 5.56, 6.56, 7.56, 8.56, 9.56, 10.56, 11.56 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc., 9.26, 10.26, 11.26 a. m., 12.47 Saturdays only), 1.27, 2.42, 4.45, 5.52, 11.28 p. m. Sundays—3.52, 9.45 a. m., 3.30, 8.12 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—3.27, 9.26 a. m., 12.47, Atlantic City and Saturdays only), 1.27, 2.44, 3.39 p. m. Sundays—9.45 a. m., 1.45 p. m.

For Philadelphia—7.15, 7.30, 9.20 a. m., 12.26, 1.26, 2.26, 3.26, 4.26, 5.26, 6.26, 8.13, 10.43 p. m., 12.12, 12.42, 1.39, 3.14, 3.45, 6.15, 6.44, 8.00, 10.25, 11.17 night. Sundays—8.45, 9.52, 10.39, 10.43, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 1.44, 2.45, 3.42, 5.35, 6.39, 6.44, 8.50, 8.45 p. m., 11.25, 1.17 night.

For Baltimore and Washington—8.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 6.44 p. m. Sundays—8.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 6.44 p. m.

*Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Pass. Agt. W. C. HOPE, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE

Office opens 7 a. m., closes 7 p. m. On Saturdays close half hour later

NEW YORK MAIL

Arrive—7:00, 8:45, 11:30 a. m., 4:30 5:00, 8:30, 9 p. m., 12 midnight.

Close—7:50, 9:40 a. m., 1:00, 2:30, 6:00 7:45 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON

Arrive—8:45 a. m., 1:30, 2 15 and 7 p m

Close—7:20, 8:40 and 11:30 a. m., 1:45 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.

Arrive—7:30, 8:40 and 11:30 a. m., 1:45 p. m.

Close—7:15, 7:30, 9:20 a. m., 12:45, 3:30 5:00, 7:15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR EAST

Close—1:00 and 7:15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR WEST AND SOUTH.

Close—12:26, 6:00, 7:15 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA, West of Easton

Close—12:26 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Direct.

Arrive—8:00 a. m., 2:30, 5:30 p. m.

Close—7:30 a. m., 2:30, 6:00 p. m.

NEWARK—Direct.

Arrive—8:00 a. m., 2:30, 5:30 p. m., 12 midnight.

Close—7:15, 7:30 a. m., 1:00, 2:30 and 8:30 p. m.

WATCHUNG, WARRENVILLE.

Arrive—12:30 p. m.

Close—9:30 a. m.

WATCHUNG.

Close—3:30 p. m.

Arrive—8:45 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.

Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

E. H. BIRD, P. M.

Advertisements

—FOR—

New York Herald,
World, Times, Sun, Journal,
Telegram, American,
Brooklyn Eagle
—and—
Newark Evening News

Received at

The Daily Press

AT REGULAR OFFICE RATES.

GORMLEY'S Riding School

DEALER IN

Hunters and Saddle Horses

Special attention given to Ladies and Children. Horses broken to saddle and harness.

HUGH GORMLEY, Prop.
258 Somerset St., Tel. 658-W.

WASHINGTON ROCK SPRING WATER

Bottlers of high-class soft drinks, Ginger Ale, Soda Water and Pure Spring Water, and Siphon Goods. Private families and parties' patronage is solicited.

Henry Pedeflous,
TELEPHONE 670-R
Hotel Pedeflous, Plainfield

JOS. F. BURKE

Successor to
Mrs. John Brown
General Contractor and Grader
Cesspools and Vaults Cleaned
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Positively the only odorless Excavator in the City.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Leave orders at
J. T. Vail's, North avenue. Phone 208
Postoffice Box 755.
Residence address
FRANK BURKE, Manager.

J. NEUSTADT
MERCHANT TAILOR,

Ladies' Tailoring a Specialty. Cleaning, Pressing, Altering at lowest prices. Work called for and delivered. Satisfaction guaranteed with R. A. Risley, Fifth Avenue, New York. Spring and Summer Styles now ready.

430 WATCHUNG AVENUE
Plainfield, N. J. Tel. 688-W.

NOTICE.

Highest prices paid for Men's Old Clothing. Don't throw them away, I. Richard, - - 17 Somerset St.

DRUGGISTS.

MOTH BALLS

Will save you your money over what might happen to your clothes.

They will insure your clothes being preserved thru the summer and will make you to have them fresh and white in the fall. Now is the time to buy MOTH BALLS.

C. M. Nagle's Pharmacy,
Front and Grove Sts. 'Phone 516.

Complete Line of

REXALL

Goods at

MILLER'S PHARMACY

Park Ave. & 6th St. Tel. 888.

Hodge's Pharmacy.

Y. M. C. A. Building.
BELLE MEAD SWEETS.
Tel. 62.

HOTELS.

HOTEL WALDORF
EAST FRONT STREET
HENRY WINDHAM, Prop.

Gottfried Kruger's Extra Beer on draught. Imported Wines, Liquors and Cigars. Hotel accommodations and private Dining-Room.

HOTEL KENSINGTON
(Licensed.)
WM. J. POULSON, Prop.
107-109-111 North Avenue.
Everything New and Up-to-date
An Inspection Solicited.

HOTEL IROQUOIS

Club breakfast from 6:30 to 9:30 a. m. Business Men's Lunch from 11:30 to 2:30 p. m.

ROOMS

First floor, $1 single; $1.50 double.
Second floor, 75c single; $1 double.
Third floor and single; 75c double.

A LA CARTE 6:30 UNTIL 1 A. M.

Special Sunday Dinner from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m. 50c

Electricians!
Michaelsen & Hage
No. 148 E. Fifth St. Tel. 1077-J

A GLASS OF ICED TEA

if properly made of the right kind of tea, is one of the most satisfactory drinks this warm weather. Our customers tell us "they find our Ceylon Tea Dependable for quality"—good served either hot or cold. We cordially invite you also to try it.

W. W. DUNN,
THE PARK GROCER,
DUER STREET AND LINCOLN PLACE.

STOP AT

Central R. R. News Stands

for PLAINFIELD PRESS, always on sale. Daily and Sunday papers delivered, all magazines, weekly papers, novelties, back numbers a specialty. R. R. guides, automobile road and state maps, Phila. papers. Fine brand of Cigars and tobacco. Open Sundays.

F. M. WAGNER, Manager.

We have on hand a large quantity of BIG TIMBER from 6x6 to 12x14 that we will offer for $20 per thousand; any length. All kinds of BEAMS from a 2x4 to 3x12 $20.

A. KANE
FILLMORE AVENUE.

McCULLOUGH'S STEAM MILL,

21 Steiner place, North Plainfield, N. J.
R. H. McCULLOUGH, Prop.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing, Turning, etc.
Estimates cheerfully furnished.

HENRY WIERENGA
Residence 'Phone 817-J.
Furniture, Freight, Baggage Express and Rigger.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Try a box of

DOBBINS' CIGARS.

Clear Havana Nickle Tars or any kind that you desire. Manufactured at 139 North Avenue, opposite Kensington Hotel. Plainfield, N. J.

Kindling and Grate Wood.

Cedar Posts and Bean Poles. Prompt delivery. Orders received at 60 SOMERSET STREET.
JOHN MOBUS,
P. O. Box 320.

Mountain House,
Mt. Bethel, N. J.
FRENCH RESTAURANT
Resort for Automobiles and Driving Parties
A. E. BINZ, Prop.

SMALLEY BROS.
247 North Ave.
BUTCHERS

Our Specialty, Berkshire Pork Try Our Berkshire Sausage Made on Premises

Roasting and Broiling Chickens a Specialty.

Orders called for and delivered.

Telephone 85-A.

The Southern Restaurant,
228 West Second Street, corner Madison Avenue, now under new management. Meals served at all hours a la carte and table d'hote. Our own make bread and pastrys. All home cooking. The choice of everything is bought for the tables. Our price is reasonable. This place is now under the management of the well known New York caterer T. H. Royster, Manager. Tel. 822-J.

J. C. POPE & CO.,
INSURANCE
AGENTS,
110 E. Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing, Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for Sewer Connections.
125 Watchung Av. Rear.

L. Moraller & Son,
Watchmakers and Jewelers.
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
Fine Watch and Clock Repairing a Specialty.
219 Park Ave. Plainfield, N. J

JOHN WINZENRIED,
Furniture and Freight Express.
Moving Vans and Storage.
312 Lee Place. 'Phone 646-R.

PLAINFIELD WINDOW CLEANING CO.

Renovating—Offices, stores and private residences. Service day or night. Furniture, china and glassware packed for shipping.

WM. A. KLINE, 611 W. 3d St.

Geo. H. Stagaard,
SHOEMAKER
108—CHURCH STREET—110
Repair work called for and delivered
'PHONE 1062-W.

TITUS H. LAURY
MASON AND BUILDER.
Office, 323 East Front Street.
Tile Setting, Mantel and Front Work.
Telephone 464-L.

TURKISH BATHS!
TAKE ONE

Ladies Mornings, Gentlemen Afternoons
Take Trolley to Sanitarium,
Somerset Street.

Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing.
Monthly Contracts.
Pressing called for and delivered.
EVENING DRESSES A SPECIALTY.
Ladies' Waists Cleaned, 25 cents; upwards
Gents' Suits Cleaned $1.00
We do our own work at
M. A. Brown's, 218 West Second St.

William H. Pope,
ELECTRICIAN.
All kinds of electrical work done at reasonable prices.
116 NORTH AVENUE.

Wm. H. Kirch,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
66 Duer Street.
Tel. 402 J.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

ALEX. LUSARDI,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits, Choice Confectionery, Nuts, Cigars, etc.
211 W. Front St. Tel. 507-W.

Meat Market.
Choice Meats, Poultry, Fish and Oysters always on hand. Sugar cured Corned Beef. National Hams and Bacon.

F. Neidig, 94 Somerset St.
Telephone 221

E. B. Maynard's
Tonsorial Parlors. Electrical Massage for face and Scalp. Manicuring for Ladies and Children a specialty.
Tel. No. 744-J.
141 NORTH AVENUE.

JOHN WIRTH
(Successor to Henry Lieske.)
Bakery and Confectionery.
901-903 West Front St. Tel. No. 722.
All orders delivered at short notice.

HOAGLAND'S
Express—Baggage Transfer.
Office 205 Park Ave.
Tel. 933-W. Home Tel. 948-L.

REAL ESTATE
Bought, Sold and For Rent.
J. SACHAR,
121 NORTH FRONT STREET.

COAL.

Difference In Coal.

All coals may look alike to some people, but compare our "Lehigh" Coal with the Coal you bought somewhere else and you will see a difference.

You will notice that our Coal Burns Brighter, Gives More Heat, and Lasts Longer than any other Coal you ever bought before.

Boice, Runyon & Co.,
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials.
Park Ave., cor. North Ave.
Plainfield, N. J.

Jos. Harrigan
OLD COMPANY'S
LEHIGH COAL

Will remove on or about July 1st to 929 South Ave.

TEL. 193

The best time to order your winter supply of

COAL

is now. Do not forget that

NASH

is ready to supply you.
Telephone 241-W 223-J.
Evenings 271-W.
OFFICE—130 WATCHUNG AVENUE

TenEyck & Harris,
Dealers' Ins.
LEHIGH VALLEY COAL.
Office: Rowley's Drug Store, 218 West Front Street. Telephone 72-L.

Coal I have on hand some very fine Hard and Medium Sizes. All grades understocks. Pea Coal.
25 cents a ton reduction on cash orders.
L. A. RHEAUME,
148 East Fourth St. Telephone 449-W.
Yard, 674 South Second St. Telephone 738.

GEORGE O. STEVENS
747 West Front St.

R. L. CLINE
(Successor to C. H. Rorg & Co.)
Best Quality Lehigh Coal
Yard and office 620 West Third St. Tel. 92.

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.

We call your attention to our fine display of

New Wall Papers.

We can't describe the patterns, but they are new, striking and effective, and with our large assortment we are sure to please.

Paints, Oils and Varnishes.

Woolston & Buckle,
145 North Avenue.

STRIKING COLORS

should not be sought in preference to those that have good lasting qualities, but when

PAINTS

are to be had which are both brilliant and durable, take care to secure that kind.

We have all kinds and grades of Paints, Oils, Colors and Varnishes, suitable for all kinds of work at the lowest prices to be found in this city.

Jas. C. Hansen,
Dealer in Wallpapers, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, etc.
141 East Front Street
Estimates Furnished

1908 Wall Papers.
IMPORTED & AMERICAN GOODS.
C. CONOVER & CO.
Decorators, Painters and Paperhangers.
Window and Plate Glass.
115 Elmwood Pl. Tel. 1145

W. S. CHEEVER
1326 Park Ave.

Painting
'Phone No. 538-J.

SEE INTERIOR DECORATING. WALL PAPER of every description at the Lowest Prices.

AZIENZA

cures pimples and all inflammation of the skin. Used by people of refinement. Medicinal and toilet—50 and 75 cents.

CREAM.

Do You Realize

That Hams cut from selected Jolley Porkers, new, mild sugar cured, and well smoked, are delicious? We have them—our own special cured and smoked.

Hot weather specialties:
Boiled Ham.
Cooked Corned Beef.
Boiled Ox Tongue.
Sliced Air Dried Beef.
Bologna and Frankfurters, the quality kind.

Endress Company,
131-135 West Front Street.

No orders delivered July 4. Close 10 a. m.
Orders called for and delivered.

Vail
JEWELER AND OPTICIAN
108 Park Ave.,
calls your attention to his
Rimless Glasses.

They Look Good and You See Good.

KEEP COOL, DRINK ICED TEA.
ECONOMICAL AND EASY TO MAKE!
USE Quali-Tea
FOR BEST RESULTS
35c. per lb.
SOLD ONLY AT VAN DYK'S
127 WEST FRONT ST.
Bet. Park and Madison Aves.
SO BRANCHES IN 20 CITIES

Blue Stone Sidewalks.

If you want the best Blue Stone sidewalks, curbs, etc., call on

J. W. Manhattan,
50 Elm St.

Dr. J. H. Lawler,
VETERINARY SURGEON.
Graduate N. Y. American College.

Specialist in Lameness and Occult Diseases. Is very successful in the treatment of well bred dogs.
Office 132 North Ave. Residence 815 Park Ave
'Phone 756-R. 'Phone 936-J.
Plainfield, N. J.

EDUCATIONAL.

SUMMER SCHOOL
Plainfield Business College
Woodbull & Martin Building.

Instruction will be given in the following subjects: Geometry, Algebra, Arithmetic, Penmanship, Spelling, Grammar, Punctuating, Composition, Rhetoric, Letter Writing, Stenography and Bookkeeping. Application for entrance may be made now.

A. J. HERR, Pres. and Prop.

The Plainfield Seminary
123 W. Seventh Street
will re-open
Thursday, Sept. 17, 1908
MISS ARNOLD, Principal.
819 1m

VACATION NOTICE

Why not spend your summer vacation profitably as well as pleasantly, as many others are doing, the purpose of a business training at Drake College? Some of the advantages are: Cheap rates, cool rooms and best equipped school rooms in the city, thorough instructions, a specialty in shorthand, and an absolute guarantee of position.

See us about the Postal Card Contest, for a free scholarship.

DRAKE COLLEGE,
518-524 EAST FRONT STREET

JOSEPH Mc INTYRE,
Pianist, Coach, Accompanist
TEACHER OF PIANO and SINGING
New York Studio, 50 E. 23rd Street, Wednesdays and Saturdays.
Plainfield Residence and Studio, 1308 West 2nd Avenue
Telephone 536-1

CHAS. M. SUHR
TEACHER OF PIANO.
614 E. 6th Street, Tel. 741-W

REAL ESTATE

RENTALS—REAL ESTATE
Geo. F. Brown,
INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE.
Commissioner of Deeds—Rents.
94 Somerset St. 'Phone 102

DEVOTEES OF THE DERBY.

It is a striking evidence of the fascination of the Derby that it not only attracts thousands of spectators who never see any other horse race, but that many of its devotees make a point of never missing it if they can possibly get to Epsom. Only a short time ago there died an old resident of Epsom who had seen no fewer than eighty Derby finishes. "Pasco," the chief of the sporting department of the Morning Post, saw his first Derby as long ago as 1842, and he said to have seen every subsequent race for the "Blue Ribbon" for more than fifty years. James Weatherby surpassed even this record, and after seeing The Colonel and Cadland run their memorable dead heat in 1828 he was on the spot to see later, while Lord Palmerston did not to have spent Derby Day at Epsom at least half a hundred times. Both the Derby and the Oaks owe their names to that Earl of Derby who kept a pack of staghounds near Epsom during the last quarter of the eighteenth century called the Oaks. Fifty years later a spiteful description of the Oaks and its pockeys was recorded in the diary of Charles Greville. In the report of the first Derby run the names of five starters and of all the riders are missing, and there was no betting quoted. Its originator, well known bookmaker, Vauxhall Clarke, was hanged, not for welshing, but for highway robbery, betting on the race course could not at that period have been a particularly profitable profession. Jockeys did not then receive the princely salaries of today, but with a fee of a guinea were more richly rewarded than those of King James I., who were regaled by curs British Solomon with long speeches delivered half in Latin and half in Caledonian.

Grant and Religion.

Grant's respect for religion was quite consistent with his high moral attributes. It has been most truly said of him that he was never profane or vulgar. His friends and intimates can bear ample testimony to this commendable part of his private character. He had promised his mother never to utter an oath and had faithfully kept his word. He could be emphatic enough in his conversation when occasion required, but to make oaths of any kind entirely unnecessary. No one who knew the man would venture a questionable story in his presence. On one occasion after a dinner a guest in venturing an anecdote asked in a forward way if any ladies were within hearing. The general, then president of the United States, simply replied, "No, but there are some gentlemen present," and showed his readiness to leave the room.—Dr. Shrady in Century.

Saved by Premonition of Danger.

Feeling a premonition that danger was threatening his parents, Jacob Feliman left Providence Square, Montgomery county, Pa., where he had been working. He walked six miles to Norristown, boarded a train and reached his parents' home at 1624 Germantown avenue, just in time to save them from being burned to death. As he entered the house he heard an explosion, and, running upstairs, found his mother's room ablaze.

A lamp had exploded, and the burning oil spread the flames rapidly. Feliman carried his two sisters, Yetta and Molly, down stairs, while his mother took her five-months-old baby. Then Feliman turned in an alarm.

Pitty Old College.

Pembroke college, Cambridge, was founded in the fourteenth century by the widow of Aymer de Valence, earl of Pembroke. Few foundations in England have been so closely connected with the revival of learning as the reformation, or have produced so many distinguished alumni from a small society. Edmund Spenser published promising poems when an undergraduate here, and Gray migrated to Pembroke from rowdy Peterhouse. William Pitt when at Pembroke associated chiefly with the dons, from whom he is alleged to have learned that partiality for port wine which enabled him to "see two spellers," but shortened his existence.—Westminster Gazette.

"Pa" Gets His.

A school teacher in an adjoining town received the following epistle from the mother of one of her pupils: "Dear Miss: You write me about whipping Johnnie. I hereby give you permission to beet him up at any time it is necessary to learn him his lessons. He is just like his father—you have to learn him with a club. Pound nolege into him. I want him to get it, and don't pay any attention to what his father says. I'll handle him."—Buck's Co Gazette.

Toward the Simple Life.

I am strongly of opinion that the next great movement in the world of spiritual and moral reform will be the gospel of the simple life. We seem in some respects to have reached the stage in our habits and morals which was reached by Rome before the final decadence that led to the destruction of the mighty empire which she had created al lover the then known world.—T. P. O'Connor, in T. P.'s Weekly.

POLICE GET GIRL BURGLAR

Thirteen-year-old Freda Richter Held for Juvenile Court on Six Charges

ROBBED HOME OF RELATIVE.

Colored Accomplice a Year Her Senior Arraigned at Same Time and Also Committed.

Following a hearing in the city court, Thursday, Freda Richter, of East Second street, the thirteen-year-old girl who has given the police a lot of trouble in the past three months, was held without bail to wait the action of the juvenile court, six charges in all were made against her and it is probable that she will be sent to one of the State institutions. Laura Waldron, a fourteen-year-old colored girl who has been assisting her in a number of petty crimes was arraigned at the same time this morning and was also committed.

The Richter girl is known by the police as the "kid burglar," and seems to have no conception of the difference between right and wrong. She first came into notice by breaking into a relative's home and stealing $50 from a strong box. She was caught soon afterward but claimed to have spent half the money. When she was let go pending disposition of the case, she ran away to South Beach and it had a key junket with $56 stolen $56 that she had hidden. After it had been spent she was picked up by the South Beach police and was held until her mother went after her.

As soon as she returned to Plainfield, Freda started in afresh to commit various crimes and when she was finally arrested Wednesday afternoon a dozen complaints were made to Chief Kiely and Detective-Sergeant Flynn. The principal ones were the stealing of various articles from a Johnson avenue residence; breaking and entering and stealing at the home of Mrs. Michael Monohan, of Plainfield avenue, and the theft of a bicycle from a Polak girl living on Liberty street. The Waldron girl assisted her in taking the wheel which had been left in the house while the family was away. They effected an entrance by way of the cellar and lifted the machine out of a window.

Freda spent Wednesday in a cell, but the Waldron girl was not caught until Thursday. The former's mother was in court and told Judge Runyon that it was impossible for her to control the child and that she was willing to have her sent away. Freda cried at first when she was asked to tell about her wrongdoing but she giggled when all while Laura was being quizzed. Under pressure the colored girl admitted having a hand in the Monohan theft and also helping her sister to pose as the daughters of a washwoman in order to collect money from families in the Bristol building. They succeeded in getting money in two places.

The police stated after the hearing that Freda is the most accomplished and nerviest lawbreaker they have ever had to deal with. She got into the relatives home by demolishing a door with an axe and then smashing the strong box. The Monohan home was entered much the same way and every bureau was ransacked as though it had been done by a professional. She went through the rooms while Laura Waldron kept watch outside and they divided the loot, thirty cents in change, a pocketbook or two and several pieces of silk. When Freda was arrested she told a string of falsehoods that had Detective-Sergeant Flynn all at sea and when he did not straighten out until he had visited nearly all the people she had robbed.

THIS PLAINFIELDER MADE HIS MARK IN RHODE ISLAND.

In the current issue of The Sabbath Recorder, under the caption, "Representative Seventh-Day Baptists," the following concerning George Herbert Utter, a native of this State and former Governor of Rhode Island, is of local interest:

"George Herbert Utter (1854) Governor of the State of Rhode Island. He has the following offices in the government of the State of Rhode Island: Member of the staff of Governor Augustus O. Bourn, 1885-87; Representative in the General Assembly, 1885-89; Speaker of the House of Representatives, 1889; State Senator, 1889-91; Secretary of State, 1891-94; Lieutenant Governor, 1904-05; Governor, 1905-06. He has been president of the Seventh-day Baptist General Conference. He is treasurer of the Seventh-day Baptist Missionary Society, and a trustee of Alfred University."

The Recorder also contains sketches of the late George Mernon Babcock and Charles Potter, who for a great many years were prominent factors in the life and growth of Plainfield.

Mrs. H. H. Shepherd and daughter, Miss Mary Shepherd, of Elizabeth street, South Bound Brook, are spending several days at the home of Mrs. Shepherd's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Beams, in Maple avenue, Chester.

AS MEANS OF IDENTIFICATION.

Mrs. Brady's Helpful Hint to Her Faithful "Micky."

The Bradys used to drive several miles to mass each Sunday in "the little thrap" with "th' ould gray mare." Micky, "the boy," a being of many summers, whom custom and a conservative tradition had, in spite of his uncertain years, always treated as the possessor of perpetual adolescence, drove. Next him sat Mrs. Brady, decorous in black, while scattered about the straw in the body of the vehicle, was a large assortment of "the childre"—Bradys of all ages, sexes and sizes, bare-legged and otherwise—each exuberant and articulate.

It remains to this day a disputed point among the Bradys as to what memory of earlier and more frisky days induced "th' ould gray mare" to behave as she did on this particular Sunday.

Rounding a corner, she swerved into the ditch, and before Micky, the boy, could cope with the situation, a pile of Bradys, vertical and horizontal, had been dumped into the ditch, with the little trap turned over and resting on top of the struggling heap.

Then, high above the babel of cries came Mrs. Brady's voice: "Pull me out, Micky, for the love o' hivin! The black legs is mine!" — Cleveland Leader.

MORE THAN THEY COULD STAND.

Fish Story Too Much Even for Hardened Listeners.

"Speaking about showers of fish," said the solemn-looking nature faker from his seat on the starchbox, "reminds me of the time we were marooned on an island in the blue Pacific. For two hours there was a shower of fresh mackerel and, strange to say, they all dropped into a salt lake on the mountainside. That brined them."

"Whew!" the old codgers chorused in unison.

"But that's not the strangest part of the story. Ten days later a cyclone came along, picked up the brined mackerel and dropped them into a hot spring. That boiled them; and, gentlemen, they were the finest boiled mackerel you ever tasted. I thought about sending some home to the folks, but—"

There was a sudden interruption and six strong men took the nature faker outside and ducked him in the horse trough.

Important Find of Old Coins.

In the side of an old well where it had lain undisturbed for 1,200 years, an earthenware jar containing 500 pieces of the time of Alexander the Great has been found, at Luxor, Egypt. One hundred of these were specimens of the silver tetradrachm of Alexander the Great, a coin corresponding in weight to our half dollar. The pieces are very thick and are made of silver of great purity. The obverse bears the head of Hercules in a lion's skin; the reverse shows Zeus seated in a chair. All bear the name of Alexander in Greek. Monograms and paint marks of great interest were found on many pieces of this lot, and some of the pieces bore the Greek word for the mint marks, designating the towns or cities where they were struck. The coins are all in very high relief, so that only two or three could be stacked together without their tumbling over.

Money in Growing Pecans.

Strung along at a few points south of Jackson on the Illinois Central a few years ago some enterprising gentlemen established pecan groves. We remember two years after one grove of about 5,000 trees was set out in a territory previously given over to commercial fertilizer, about cotton and poor white people. The natives were exceedingly amused that a man could be so visionary as to expect to get any returns for money thus invested. There were even more enlightened people who called any one comfortable trains and smiled at the experiment. To-day that grove is keeping its owner in clover and he can go to Europe every summer if he is so inclined.—Meridian (Miss.) Star.

Air Pressure and Health.

Investigating the effect of compressed air on health, two British engineers have shewn that a pressure of 92 pounds a square inch—more than six atmospheres—may be endured without unpleasant results. The pressure must be taken off at a uniform rate, however, at least 20 minutes being allowed for each 15 pounds of reduction, and capillary circulation in the body must be kept up by muscular exercise during compression. Slight temporary neuralgic pain in the arms was the only ill effect of the great pressure.

Play Has Historic Characters.

Alfred Testoni's new play, "Gloaconne Rossisal," which was recently performed for the first time is described as the "life of the great master of song" in the fourth act, which is laid in Paris in 1860. Richard Wagner appears as one of the characters. He is still unknown and is spoken of as the embodiment of the glorious future, while Rossisal is spoken of as the glorious past. A third in the group is Princess Bellini. The title part was played by Ernesto Jacconi.

Chinese Official Pawnshops.

Pawnbrokers in Peking, having refused to reduce their 50 per cent. rate of interest, the municipal board has opened official pawnshops, charging only 15 per cent.

IN THE RELIGIOUS WORLD.

The Christian Literature society of China has appealed for funds for its new business premises in Shanghai.

The Salvation Army has secured the old town hall at Whitby, England, for its barracks, the rent to be a half crown a week.

The Nonconformists have won a decided victory for religious equality by securing the right to enter the new infirmary chapel at Newcastle, England.

The Baptist Union of Great Britain has sent a memorial to Emperor William in grateful acknowledgment of the protection he has extended to Baptists in Germany.

The centenary of the evangelical divine, Rev. John Newton, who died in 1807, has been especially observed recently at his own church, St. Mary Woolnoth, in London.

The Church of England Waifs and Strays society, of which King Edward is patron, has in 26 years been the means of rescuing and making provision for over 13,100 children.

Episcopal laymen in New York have founded what is to be known as the Church Workers' commons, being a school for the training of lay workers with three courses of study.

Mission work among the Zulus never had a better outlook than now, for the government of Natal is in harmony with the missionaries and anxious to aid them in every possible way.

Benevolent contributions of the Lutheran church for the past year were a little over one dollar per member, totaling $2,200,471, which is an increase of a quarter million over the previous year.

The German bishops are greatly aroused over the pope's recent encyclical regarding modernism and feel that insufficient study of the matter was given so far as the kaiser's empire is concerned.

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

You can make up a quarrel, but it will always show where it is patched.

A man has so many enemies you don't dare say anything good about him.

Most people laugh, not when they want to, but when people think they ought.

There are not many men who think their wives have any sense in money matters.

It is your friends who pick you to pieces; other people are indifferent and let you alone.

We used to know an old bachelor who said he could always tell a married man by his hang-dog look.

Your friends may sometimes act mad because you do not come to see them, but they are not as mad as they seem.

There are times in every man's life when the way to earn his friendship and gratitude is to ask him no questions.

The first day a man is out of a job he aims to get the position of cashier in a bank; the second day he dreams of a clerkship, and the third day he is wretched because he can't get the janitorship.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Cleave to the good and use a cleaver on the bad.

It is all that some men can do to keep from being done.

Anyway, the self-made man hasn't anyone to blame but himself.

A lie must travel with some rapidity in order to avoid being nailed.

Life is too short for a man to do all the things his wife wants him to do.

The politeness of some men causes them to be looked upon with suspicion.

Isn't it funny how funny some comedians think people think they are?

What this world needs is an additional supply of men and women who talk less and say more.

If a woman can't say anything mean of a rival she is pretty sure to remark: "Well, she'll bear watching."

Every time we hear a man abused behind his back it reminds us of the fact that we all catch it when we are not present.—Chicago Daily News.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

Rev. William Patterson of Bethany church, Philadelphia, has been recalled to his old pulpit in Cooke's church, Toronto.

Socialism preached by Rev. J. D. Long of the Parkside Presbyterian church at Flatbush, N. Y., has caused a number of members to leave.

The Salvation Army of San Francisco has "launched" a new meeting hall. It is built in the form of a great battleship and the sailors of the fleet will be entertained there when they arrive.

WEDDED THIRTY-SIX YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark Jr. Observed Anniversary Yesterday.

HELD A FAMILY REUNION.

Celebration a Surprise to Mrs. Clark —Couple the Recipients of Many Useful Gifts.

The thirty-sixth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., of the borough, was observed by a reunion of the Clark family at their home on Jackson avenue Thursday. The affair, arranged by Mrs. Isaac Mrs. Edward Clark, daughter-in-law, was a complete surprise to Mrs. R. Clark. The couple received many presents of cut glass, silver and china from relatives and friends, and the dozen guests passed a delightful evening with music and singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark came to North Plainfield twenty years ago and have a large circle of friends in city and borough. They were married in Newark thirty-six years ago yesterday, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Isaac Brokaw of Trinity Reformed church in that city. They lived on Lafayette street, Newark, for sixteen years after their wedding, and then moved to North Plainfield. Their three sons, Robert, Edward and Albert, were at their home last night, and a feature of the reunion was a family dinner. The dining room was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and bunting, and many the flowers was a mammoth "36," executed in red and white roses, with a background of ferns, leaves. Following the dinner, the party spent the evening in an informal way on the piazza, vocal and instrumental music contributing to the enjoyment. Among the presents received during the day was a cut glass claret set, the gift of Mr. Clark to his wife.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Clark, of Brooklyn, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clark, and children, Albert Clark, Mrs. S. B. Moffett and daughters, of Rahway, Miss Florence Acker, of Watchung, and Mrs. Annie Martin, of Rahway.

FORMER JUDGE BARTINE IS DEAD AT SOMERVILLE

Former Judge John Dodd Bartine passed away Thursday at his home on West End avenue, Somerville, after an illness of several weeks, from blood poisoning. The amputation of a limb would probably have saved his life, but his physical condition was such that the administration of an anesthetic was impossible. Skilled physicians did everything known to science to alleviate his sufferings.

Judge Bartine was born near Princeton, October 16, 1836. He attended country school and later took a course at Lawrenceville. He was admitted to the Bar here and later appointed to the Bench, serving three terms of Judge of the Somerset County Courts, being succeeded by the present incumbent, Judge Schenck. He is survived by his widow and two children—Edward V. Bartine of this city, and Mrs. Thomas Dyer, of Wing's Island, N. Y.

He had served the town as a member of the Board of Education and also as a member of the Board of Commissioners. He was a charter member of both. It was said of him that during his fifteen years on the bench he never had a single case reversed on appeal.

No man in Somerville has gained more distinction in the public life of the town than Judge Bartine. A lawyer with much ability, he was years ago recognized as one of the leading citizens of the county. He was a man of sterling character, honest convictions and one not easily swerved from the path of duty. A friend to everyone in need and in the past few years of his life his influence of this worlds goods made him a benefactor to many needy families. He took an active part in politics with the Democratic party and his ideas were that of the old school of politics.

His favorite pastime was hunting and fishing and it was only recently that he took a trip to New York state and enjoyed the most excellent time catching trout.

He also took great pride in his home, which is one of the most beautiful in the west end of the town. He owned a farm near Harlingen.

The past few years his extensive law practice has been conducted by his able partner, D. H. Beekman. He was an executor of the will of the late millionaire William Rice, who at one time lived near town. Mr. Rice was murdered, and Albert Patrick, a lawyer, is now in Sing Sing, serving a life sentence for the crime.

Mrs. B. C. Davey and daughter, Miss Amy Davey, of Elizabeth, have rented the J. R. Rutt house in High street, Bound Brook, for the summer.

J. W. Spraight, of Somerset street, Bound Brook, is visiting relatives at Amityville, N. Y.

A QUINTET OF QUEER ONES.

W. F. Swoveland, who had both feet off, was the prosecutor and J. E. Barr, who is minus one leg, was defendant in an assault and battery case in the Blair County (Pa.) Court the other day. They had a fight at an anniversary celebration of a tribe of Red Men to which both belong. Swoveland charged Barr with having fire-water in the refreshment room and Barr ordered him out, but Swoveland refused to go. Inches warfare followed, and the Swoveland was worsted. Half the costs of the case were placed on each.

A $400 horse owned by James J. Campbell, a contractor of Williamsburg, was struck and killed Monday by a Long Island Railroad train at Hamburg avenue and Montrose Cemetery. Some persons who saw the accident said it was a case of suicide. The horse got out of its stable near the railroad tracks, and when its owner tried to coax it back the animal, dashed upon the rails. When the train came along the engineer blew his whistle, but the horse refused to budge. Again the engineer whistled, while a stableman tried to beat the horse from in front of the fast-moving train. The next instant the locomotive crashed into the horse, hurling it seventy-five feet away.

The officials of Norwalk, Conn., have received a unique complaint from Edward Schoonover, a Winnipauk farmer, who wanted permission to shoot the deer that was running up and down the roof of his barn, wearing the shingles out and kicking the weather vane off.

Schoonovers barn is an old fashioned one and backs up against a hill, from which the deer jump to the roof. The police officials referred the farmer to Wilbur F. Smith, game warden, who has decreed that Schoonover has no right to kill the deer unless they eat his crops. It is Schoonover's intention to remove the lightning rod from the barn and make of it a fence at the edge of the roof with a barbed wire at the top.

Lander Bernhart, of Yoe, thinks he has found a substitute for the influenza. He says he has evidence that the sun can do the work. While in his barnyard he was much surprised to hear a peeping from a pile of sawdust, and to see three fluffy chicks issue forth. He raked over the pile and found three empty egg shells. He thinks that the eggs were accidentally covered over and that the hot sun of the last few weeks hatched them out.

A strange story comes from one of the Balkan States, where commercial morality is still in its infancy. At a certain banquet given to the health of the Prime Minister a distinguished diplomat complained to his host that the Minister of Justice, next to whom he was sitting, had taken his watch. The Prime Minister said: "Ah, he shouldn't have done that. I will get it back for you." Sure enough, toward the end of the evening the watch was returned to its owner. "And what did he say?" asked the guest. "Sh-h! He does not know I've got it back," said the Prime Minister.

CURIOUS HOTEL CUSTOMS.

A curious custom prevails at an Edinburgh hotel. Whenever a customer is heard to swear he is required to place a penny in a box on the bar counter. It is not a matter for surprise that the landlord hears much less bad language than some of his fellow publicans in the capital of Scotland. The following is a quaint list of penalty bonds for picnics and social evenings. It is carried on with much success at an Ashton-on-Mersey inn: A "knocking club" is connected with the inn, and when a customer calls for refreshments he is expected to knock on the table or counter before drinking. If he fails to do this he is fined 1 penny. Any one who wrongfully accuses another of breaking this unique rule is also fined. The money thus obtained provides funds for many enjoyable outings and pleasant evenings during the course of the year. At another hotel, known as the Old Hundred, customers are allowed only one drink. If one is not sufficient to quench their thirst they are obliged to go out of the hotel and take a walk before they are allowed to have another. Till recently the proprietor of this old-time hotel in Warwickshire used to invite all his customers to accompany him and his wife to the service at the parish church on Sunday mornings, which was situated on the opposite side of the road. Any one refusing could have his drink charged.

WHERE MAN IS SUPERIOR.

A woman's knowledge of cooking is almost entirely a knowledge of how to prepare things that will taste nice. She thinks of every dish as an entity, and she seldom considers it in relation to the courses that precede and follow it. She has experience of tastes, but no instinct for suggested flavors. The reason is that she considers food as the wherewithal to remove hunger and leaves out of her calculations the fact that food is only half the question and drink is the other. The world owes to wine a good deal of good humor, a great deal of fine literature and a good deal of artificial optimism, which, if not as good as the real thing, is at least better than any sort of pessimism. But women are no judges of wine, for the simple reason that they have not been educated to it. It is an art and does not come by nature. That is why the best cook is a man. He is like the leader of a great orchestra. He knows every instrument beneath him, its capabilities, where it should blend, where it should detach itself and its proportion to the whole; whereas the woman cooks solos, not concertos. Food as a necessity of diet is the woman's province, but as food as a fine art is only mastered by the man, with centuries of civilization behind him. The chef who is an artist does not value a woman's approbation at all. In the external treatment of the picture painted in the presence of the subject the advantage of detachment from his subject, whereas a woman has a hundred prejudices. As a rule, a woman falls in love with a frock or a hat, purely on its own merits, and not because it will suit her so admirably. But then the clever cook knows that food and wine are parts of the whole and must be studied together, so that man milliner knows that the woman and her clothes are one entity, and just as the woman cook has concentrated all her powers on food, the woman dressmaker considers clothes apart from their wearer. It is this cultivated eye for the whole, the cultivated palate for the whole, which makes the man the supreme artist.

SOME SUMMER MEANNESS.

It is stated that the coming season at Newport, R. I., will be uncommonly brilliant. It is also stated that a merchant in Newport has fitted an attachment on a humble thatched cottage of a summer resident in the hope of collecting a debt of about a thousand dollars owed for groceries supplied. There will be oter attachments for a similar purpose, it is said, if settlements of long-standing debts are not soon made. Shopkeepers in many towns and villages where the folk spend the summer will read the news from Newport with much interest. Reading, they might say: "I am the man; I suffered; I was there." For the name of this Newport grocer or provision man is legion. It is surprising how many summer dwellers forget to pay the local tradesmen and workmen and how indifferent they are to courteous and timid reminders. The men that keep markets or drive about to sell have themselves only short credit; the workmen are sadly in need of ready money and wish to be settle their account at the village store. They do not like to press their claims from fear of losing trade. Sometimes the summer residents, when they are reminded of their indebtedness, are incredibly small and mean. So, too, every summer in the city humble tradesmen, sewing women, carpenters, locksmiths and the like are injured by the forgetfulness or the indifference of the well-to-do, who, leaving town, put off payment to a more convenient season. "It's a small amount," Waldo will say, "a while," or the answer is: "I'll settle with you in the fall;" or, as is too often the case, there is no answer. The man who thinks little of sizing a check for $5,000 will haggle over a bill for $5 or not take the trouble to pay it. These small sums are needed by those who have supplied or worked. Genteel indifference to just demands is in reality a fine brutality.

OF CASUAL CONCERN.

There has been an epidemic of suicides in St. Petersburg for three months, the average number being eighty-five a month. The high record for a day was reached lately, when eighteen persons killed themselves. Many of those being of the most destitute, but most were despondent.

The American Museum of Natural History is to have a novel representation of the bottom of the sea, showing coral reefs in all stages of development. The section of the floor to be cut out will be 6 by 10 feet. The task is a very delicate and tedious one, and it will require six months for completion.

The United States government has, after a series of tests, shown that if it wants men in the army and navy it will have to advertise for them, and has also proved that the newspapers are better mediums than are the periodicals and magazines. It has been proved after an exhaustive examination of the records that but a small part of them ever read any advertisement in a magazine, but that a great proportion had read about the enlistments in the daily newspapers.

OFFER POSTOFFICE SITES

Five Bids Announced by Secretary Cortelyou of Treasury Department.

THEY LOCATION IS SEPTEMBER.

All in the Business Section and Price Set Range from $8,000 to $60,000—Commission to Inspect Them.

Not until September is it likely that the Government will decide upon a site for the proposed Federal building in this city, although the bids advertised by the Treasury Department were opened Wednesday by Secretary Cortelyou. Much to the surprise of the local public only five offers for the site submitted, but this does not necessarily imply that any one of the number will be chosen. It may be that the district commissioner of the department may hit upon another location, but this is purely a matter for him to decide. Lawyer David T. Kenney, in person, submitted a proposition to Secretary Cortelyou. He offered a location on the north side of East Second street, between Watchung avenue and Park avenue. His proposal included an agreement to open, curb, pave and macadamize a thoroughfare between Second and Front streets, so that the postoffice would be located on a corner. His price was $42,000 for a tract 150 by 147 as demanded in the specifications.

Charles H. Lyman submitted a bid of $48,000 for the Friends' Meeting House property at Watchung avenue and Third street. J. F. MacDonald offered the Durlach property at the northeast corner of East Front street and Watchung avenue. The price asked was $60,000. The Mary Embury estate proposed to the Government that it purchase the tract at the southeast corner of East Front street and Church street. The estate proposed to give a deed for it for the final sum of $8,926.

As asked for various property owners. Thad Doane, Jr., offered as a site the southeast corner of Park avenue and Fourth street near the Federal Hill reservoir driveway. This includes tracts owned by John Manley, Smalley Brothers and L. E. Hart. $60,000 is asked for the entire tract.

Until July 21, the Secretary of the Treasury will continue to open bids for Federal building sites throughout the United States. He will be guided largely by the advice of the supervising architect of that department and after that date a district commissioner will pay a visit to Plainfield. It will be his mission to hit upon the most advantageous offer, but according to Postmaster Bird not until September is it likely that an agreement will be reached.

In case the Government decides that the Plainfield location is proper, it desires for the purpose is too high, it has power to proceed by condemnation and buy the tract at a figure set by the court.

NEW JERSEY LEADS IN THE COMPANY MILL

June's incorporations in the eastern States, involving $1,000,000 and over amounted to $188,164,000. This is the largest total since February, 1907, when it reached $210,000,000. In May the figures were $123,300,000, and in June a year ago $145,450,000. But last month's returns included the $80,000,000 Corn Products Refining Company and $17,184,000 American Steel Founderies Company, which are practically a repetition. The Corn Products Refining Company is simply a consolidation of the old Corn Products Company and the Corn Products Refining Company, while in the case of the American Steel Foundries is only represents an amended certificate of incorporation of the reorganized American Steel Foundries Company.

The grand total last month of all the incorporations represented an authorized capitalization of $100,000 and over as well as increases, was $188,164,000, which compares with $177,080,000 in May and $247,821,300 in June a year ago.

For the first time in quite a while New Jersey headed the list of eastern States.

The distribution of the large companies among the various States has been as follows:

New Jersey	$119,184,000
Delaware	32,280,000
Maine	17,000,000
New York	16,700,000
Pennsylvania	3,000,000
Total Eastern States	$188,164,000
Other States	6,500,000

Louis C. Rugen, Jr., of Montreal, Canada, is being entertained at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Rugen, Sr., at their home in Elizabeth street, South Bound Brook.

Mrs. C. Garretson, of Millstone, has been visiting at the home of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Voorhees, in Grant avenue, Deal Beach, Good Heights.

NO ACTION ON P.S.C. TANK

City Fathers Reluctant to Disfigure City by Permitting Erection of Gas Holder.

BLOT ON THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

Likely Debate It Is Hinted That No Permit Is Required—Action Deferred.

Whether the Common Council should grant permission to the Public Service Corporation to erect an enlarged gas-holder on its property, which extends from Watchung avenue to Church street, connecting the former tract extending to Washington street, was debated in lively fashion at the July meeting, Monday. After the matter had been thoroughly discussed pro and con, it was decided to defer action until next Monday night, there being no apparent necessity for granting the petition at once.

Although the temperature in the Council chamber was close to 100 degrees, the heat did not seem to affect the members and they were loath to dispose of the petition too hastily. The company made its request about two weeks ago, but it was learned that it had not been before the city fathers before. Building Inspector Doane, who was originally asked for a permit, did not care to take the responsibility alone and referred the matter to the fire and building committee, it being understood that the question should be discussed in the committee of the whole. Before this was done, President McCarter, of the P. S. C., informed the members through a communication that the company desired to erect a gas-holder to supply Plainfield and vicinity, and that it was considered a necessity. He also said that the company would indemnify the city against any damage that might result. This communication was referred to the fire and building committee.

It was on the motion of Mr. Buxton that the Council went into the committee of the whole, after which Mr. Hibbard, chairman of the fire and building committee, explained that at a recent meeting of the members with Messrs. Gilmour and Melick, of the P. S. C., it was stated that the gas-holder was intended to supply not only Plainfield and vicinity, but that the gas-holder was to be 117 feet high, with a capacity of 600,000 cubic feet of gas. He further explained that it seemed to be the sense of the committee that the location for the holder was a good one and if permission would be granted given for its erection. He then moved that the petition be granted.

This started the discussion. Mr. Suydam said that when the P. S. C. want anything they go ahead on the presumption that they will get it and in this case they had already built the foundation for the proposed gas-holder. He opposed granting the petition because the proposed holder would be thirty-seven feet higher than the present ones in use and would spoil the sky-line of the city. He did not believe that the Council had any right to grant such a permission when adjoining property would be injured.

More on account of the indefinite statement of President McCarter, Charles C. Randolph opposed the improvement. He believed that it should specify the towns to be supplied with gas from the holder.

In support of the proposition, Mr. Montgomery said that people move to Plainfield for the purpose of getting the benefit of improvements and he could see no objection to the gas-holder. One thing was settled in his mind, that the company need the enlarged holder and it will be only a matter of time when it will have to increase its electric plant. If permission is not granted now to build the holder the time will come when the Council will be obliged to ask for it. He expressed the opinion that there would be absolutely no danger and no one need have any fear of the sky-line being obliterated.

"We are doing all we can to knock out the idea of the 'City Beautiful,'" said Mr. Hall. "Let the company make the gas-holder smaller and it will not be so unsightly. I am of the opinion that it is the company's idea to supply other towns from the proposed holder."

Mr. Buxton being chairman of the committee of the whole, President Tolles took occasion to speak in support of the improvement. He could see no objection to the holder. Mr. Buxton concurred with him, adding that the company owns the property upon which it proposes to build the tank, it will be entirely on this property and in his opinion nothing better could be done. It is necessary the company would not want to build it and furthermore such a holder is not considered especially hazardous by the Board of Fire Underwriters.

At this time Mr. Myatt had been listening attentively to the arguments and finally he ventured to speak in an inquiring manner. He said that although the fire and building committee was reported to have thoroughly investigated the matter its explanations had not satisfied him. He could see no reason why the petition should be rushed through at this time. The Public Service Corporation, according to his opinion, is always seeking rights and privileges and he thought it would be a mistake to act too hastily. He said that it would be like the proposition to build a fire house in the East End. The city had purchased a lot in a hurry and nothing has been done with it since.

During the discussion, the question was raised as to whether an opinion had been received from Corporation Counsel Marsh as to the rights of the Council, and it was stated that Mr. Marsh had verbally intimated to members of the Council that the company could erect the gas-holder on its property without the consent of the governing body, but he had not given a written opin*ion to that effect.* It was thought unwise to stir up too much agitation along this line.

It was suggested that the whole matter be returned to Mr. Marsh for a written opinion, but Mr. Buxton explained that the corporation counsel intends to sail for Europe July 9 and it would only mean a long delay.

"If Mr. Marsh cannot give us the opinion," said Mr. Suydam, "he should appoint somebody who can. We should not be compelled to delay this matter on that account."

At the conclusion of the discussion, Mr. Hibbard again moved that the petition be granted. This was amended to refer it back to the committee for the purpose of getting an opinion from the corporation counsel and amended again by Mr. Taylor to lay it over until Monday night, July 13. Mr. Taylor's amendment was carried, Councilmen Gloak, Hall, Myatt, C. C. Randolph, Frank Randolph, Suydam and Taylor voting in favor and Councilmen Buxton, Hibbard, Montgomery and Tolles voting in the negative. The amendment to refer back for an opinion from Mr. Marsh was lost by a vote of seven to four.

"BUNGALOW MAN" HOST OF UNION COUNTY MEN

About one hundred Union county notables from Plainfield, Westfield, Cranford, Elizabeth and nearly every other town of importance gathered Monday night. At a previous meeting noon as guests of William Jeffery. Despite the heat, nothing was left undone by "The Bungalow Man" to make the visit one of great pleasure. He invited all to Berkeley Lyceum, where he extended a cordial welcome. A visit was then made to his home and that of his boys, where genuine bungalow life was seen. Mrs. Jeffery assisted in entertaining the guests.

An adjournment was then taken to the public dining room, where a feast was served in fine style. The menu included all the good things from a Manhattan cocktail to ice cream, coffee and cigars, not omitting the famous "Bungalow Man."

While the dinner was being enjoyed, the guests were favored with soprano solos by Miss Eleanor Benedict, of Berkeley, accompanied on the piano by her brother, Harold Benedict. H. C. Dillon, of New York, also assisted in the entertainment by rendering several clever recitations in Irish dialect. During the afternoon, Hamilton F. Kean, accompanied by County Chairman F. H. Smith, "dropped in," and they were given a hearty welcome. As the guests were leaving the dining hall a telegram was received from former Mayor W. L. Saunders, who expressed his regrets. Others who sent regrets were Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, Craig A. Marsh, F. H. Andrews, Mayor Mayo, of Elizabeth; Assemblyman Carlton Pierce, Judge Swayze, Judge J. J. Bergen, Surrogate George T. Parrot, R. Henry Depew, Dr. Albert Pittis and Randolph Perkins. A majority of the guests were driven to and from Berkeley in automobiles.

Among those present were: Judge Edward S. Atwater, Charles W. Dodd, Jr., J. Addison Swift, John A. Galatian, Mayor Sam Townsend, North Plainfield; George M. Hazen, W. J. Carey, John Scott, William G. De-Meza, ex-Sheriff Frank Coriell, B. J. Schreine, F. J. Hubbard, Harold D. Corbusuer, M. D., Col. Wm. H. Corbusier, Dr. Frank C. Ard, F. H. Pierson, M. D., A. D. Ayers, acting mayor of Cranford; Mayor Frank A. C. Kapfman, P. C. Cannon, N. W. Currie, M. D., Dr. Dundon, Walter C. Dobbins, County Clerk James C. Calvert, William Woodruff, Jacob Gordon, John Repter, Stanley L. Reed, E. K. Adams, ex-Judge W. R. Codington, Ralph I. Tolles, County Chairman Frank H. Smith, Henry S. Fullerton, George Wahl, John Robison, Wm. F. Lutz, John Laurino, Joseph Kunts, Robert G. Rogers, A. M. Delducco, Nicholas Krayer, W. H. Andrews, Jr., Henry Crane, Walter Hetfield, Dr. Westcott, Dr. Hughes, Dr. T. S. Davis, Hugh A. Todd, John R. Moxon, H. F. Kean, L. B. Woolston, Amos Andrews, Michael Amedeo.

For the Picnic Basket.

Those who find the putting up of lunches a part of the daily routine may take comfort in the suggestion of one resourceful woman. When using eggs she sees to it that only a small piece of the shell is broken off from the end of one egg. The egg shell from which the piece has been taken is then washed and kept as a receptacle for jelly or jam for the noon lunch basket, the open end being protected by a piece of parafin paper.

EXCISE COMMISSION BUSY

Chairman Fisk Shows His Familiarity with Conditions in Hudson County.

MANY WITNESSES EXAMINED.

Probe Started Yesterday and Was Continued Today—Making Much Headway Already.

The committee appointed by Governor Fort to inquire into the excise question in New Jersey got down to business in Jersey City yesterday. The commissioners present were: Charles J. Fisk, Mayor of this city, who is chairman; Peter Backes, T. Frank Appleby, George G. Smith, Caleb Van H. Whitbeck and John Howe, and John P. Dengler, secretary of the commission. Mr. Backes and Mayor Fisk did most of the questioning, and while the adjournment was at 5 o'clock, a mass of interesting testimony had been unearthed, the greater part of which tended to show that the enforcement of the Bishops' law was more or less of a joke.

It was also discovered that the Mayor and Council of the Borough of East Newark granted all excise licenses, when the power to grant these licenses was vested in a judge of the Common Pleas only; that of the two inspectors employed by the Jersey City Excise Board one was a brewery collector and the other a former saloonkeeper, and that it required 1,048 saloons to assuage the thirst of the 252,000 inhabitants of the county—an average of one to every 222 persons, men, women and children included.

The weather was warm, and the commissioners sat in their shirt-sleeves and invited every one else to do the same. In the course of the day Mayor Fisk let it be known that he had been doing a little investigating himself the last two Sundays, and never had the least difficulty in entering saloons and getting anything that he ordered. Another important fact brought out was that two-thirds of the saloons in Jersey City were owned by brewers.

When Mortimer J. Gleason, president of the Jersey City Police Board, took the stand, he admitted that the Bishops' law was enforced in the city, but afterward said he believed saloons were open on Sunday. When Mayor Fisk asked him if saloons were not closed up tight from January 1 to April 1, after which time they began to loosen up, he said he didn't know that Fisk was any loosening up. Mr. Fisk then picked out June 29 as an instance, and gave the addresses of some fifty saloons, which he had no trouble in entering, and in which were from two to fifteen men, drinking and playing cards. Gleason said it puzzled him, as the police had orders to enforce the law.

Mr. Fisk then quoted a conversation with Mayor Wittpenn, in which the latter told Mr. Fisk that he had ordered the law enforced, but that since his daughter was married he was more influence with the Police Board. This Mr. Gleason vigorously denied.

"Isn't it true," asked Mr. Fisk, "that when the chief of police spoke of closing saloons in Sunday he was told to mind his own business"

Mr. Gleason denied this. Mayor Fisk said that Chief Monahan had told him that with the Mayor and Police Board back of him he could close every place in the city. Only one copy can be given out of a hundred and fifty arrests had been secured.

Thomas J. Carey, borough clerk of East Newark, said the Mayor and Common Council grant licenses. There are twenty-four hundred persons in this borough and sixteen saloons, two of which are owned by one brewery. Thomas J. Neville, chief of police of East Newark, was positive no one could get a drink in his town on Sunday.

Mayor Cornelius A. McGlennon, of East Newark, testified any knowledge of a saloonkeeper who, when he *couldn't get a license from him, ap*plied to Judge Blair, but was afterward induced to withdraw this application, and had his license granted by the local authorities.

When Mr. Backes asked him if he knew if the mayor and council had no power to grant licenses he would not answer, and Mr. Backes told him that every license in his borough was void, as only a Commop Pleas judge had power to grant licenses in East Newark. Mayor McGlennon also said that the saloons in the neighboring town of Harrison were also closed on Sunday, and Mayor Fisk remarked that he was glad to find a place in New Jersey that was so good. "If you hear of anything suspicious just let me know," said Mr. Fisk."

William Collier, chairman of the license committee of the Bayonne Common Council, said there were 167 saloons in this city, one to every two hundred and fifty inhabitants.

The testimony of Job H. Lippincott, president of the Jersey City Excise Board, was mostly on the procedure in granting licenses. He said his board depended on the police to enforce the law, but would not say there was no Sunday selling.

E. A. Ransom, Jr., a member of the Jersey City Children's Society, said that in fifteen minutes he had found twelve children carrying cans of beer in the lower section of the city. He had reported it to the police, but no arrests were made.

James F. Clarke, clerk to the grand jury, testified that in the last two years about two hundred and fifty complaints of excise violations had been made to the grand jury, but only twenty indictments had been found.

Assistant Prosecutor George T. Vickers, who followed Mr. Clarke, provoked considerable mirth when he said, in answer to a question, that if a saloonkeeper who evaded or broke the excise law was against the powers that be he would get soaked." He said that some testimony against saloonkeepers which was submitted to the grand juries was was thrown out by them and no indictments found, while similar evidence against other was used in an indictment. He said in some cases "strong evidence" was thrown out by the grand juries.

Patrick J. McArdle, vice-president of a New York brewing company and a former president of the Hudson County Liquor Dealers' Association, testified that he thought there were too many saloons in Jersey City, and that he he had told Sam Dickinson that the number should be reduced to 700. He blamed the breweries for the large number, and explained that, he said, if a man could not make a place pay, the brewery, instead of closing it, had the license transferred to some one else.

Ernest Eletas, one of the Jersey City excise inspectors, said he was a collector for a brewery, but did not think that this interfered with his duties for the city. Asked if he had ever discovered any excise violations on Sunday, the witness said he had never seen a saloon open on that day.

LAW GREATLY MUDDLED ON ELECTION BOARDS

A muddle created by an act of the last Legislature is causing the attorney-general some uneasiness and what is best, to be done in the case where the law now requires district election boards to organize seven days before they are legally in existence. The law assents applies to municipalities that have a population of 30,000 inhabitants.

Under the general election law the first day for registration outside of cities having 30,000 inhabitants is the first Tuesday in September, and this year that will be September 1. Thus by the provisions of the new law the boards referred to must organize August 25. The puzzle is apparent when this is interpreted with Section 17 of the general election law. The latter section provides that the terms of office of the district boards of registry and election shall begin on September 1 and expire on October 31 of the following year, when their successors are appointed and qualified. Thus the situation now is that while the terms of office of all the boards begins September 1, the new law provides that those in all election districts outside cities having 20,000 inhabitants must meet and organize August 25. The organ*ization consists of electing one mem*ber as judge and another as inspector, the two to be from opposite parties.

The situation does not apply to cities having more than 30,000 inhabitants, because in those election districts the first registration day is the second Tuesday in September, or this year September 8.

Members of the district boards of *election and registration are nomin*ated at the primaries held by the county chairmen and then appointed by the county election board. The new law hits this situation, also, and the county chairmen will have to be spryer than usual this year in filing nominations. The new election law requires that the district election boards shall be appointed on or before August 25 each year. That is the same date on which the boards must organize under the new law, in districts outside of cities having 20,000 population. Nominations for the appointments must be filed with the county Election Board by the respective county chairmen between August 10 and 15. It is provided in the election law that in the event of failure to make the nominations by August 15 the county board shall immediately notify the district chairman, and the deficiency must be met by August 22.

The usual custom has been for the county chairman to wait and file their nominations about the last day. After the nominations are filed it takes several days for the county board to look into the qualifications of those named. In order, therefore, to have the district boards ready for organization August 25 the county chairman should make their nominations early.

CITY SCHOOL BOARD PAYS BIG BUDGET OF BILLS.

Bills amounting to about $10,000 were ordered paid at the July meeting of the Plainfield Board of Education, held at the city High School last night, and routine business was disposed of with great despatch. The bill for printing the contract for school coal, amounting to $3,200, and the usual lot of supplies and stationary for next year.

The custodian's report showed a balance of $7,594.17 from the month of June and the tax collector reported $1,149.64 received from taxes. The absentees were Messrs. Tyler and Abbott.

BISHOPS' LAW VIOLATIONS

(Continued from page 1.)

not "stand in." He denied that the present Sheriff had promised the saloonkeepers not to enforce the excise law if elected.

He said that Sheriff Kalser, before being elected, was a collector of internal revenue, and had a personal acquaintance with every saloonkeeper in the county. He said the Sheriff of Hudson county never tried to enforce the Bishops' law, and would not volunteer.

Chief of Police Tolen, of Kearny, said that every effort was made to enforce the law. Kearny has nineteen saloons, one to every 713 inhabitants, which is the high record of the county and is very much different from Guttenberg, where a population of 4,563 supports forty-seven saloons, an average of one to every seventy-nine inhabitants.

Patrick Connolly, a Jersey City saloonkeeper, said the Bishops' law was not strictly observed. Popular feeling was against it, he said, and, although the order had gone forth, the saloonkeepers paid no attention to it.

Later Mr. Lippincott said, in answer to more of Mr. Backes' questions, that he thought, perhaps, two-thirds of the 1,048 saloons in Jersey City are owned by brewers. He said he would try and ascertain this fact and inform the commission of it. On all such places, Mr. Lippincott said he could not truthfully say whether there were any Sunday violations, nor did he think there could be any co-operation between his and the police boards.

Mortimer J. Gleason, president of the Jersey City Police Board, said the "town's comparatively tight." Mr. Fisk asked Gleason why it was "there have been so many leaks since January 1," and Gleason said he could not tell. Gleason finally admitted, "that since that time Jersey City has commenced to loosen up a bit." He knew of no place where liquor could be bought on Sundays, whereupon Mr. Fisk read a list of twenty-seven saloons in Jersey City where he stopped last Sunday. The president of the commission did not say he drank in each place, but did declare he saw others drinking.

"If I can find these places out, *don't you think your police depart*ment ought to?" asked Mr. Fisk, to which Mr. Gleason replied affirmatively. "That's what puzzles me," said Gleason. "Our orders to the chief have been explicit and I have told him personally we want the law enforced. I can hardly believe what you tell me save from the authority it comes from."

Gleason said his board was fully in accord with Mayor Wittpenn, which made that official, who sat in the rear, smile serenely. He denied there was any "higher up" power.

"But isn't it a fact now," asked Mr. Fisk, "that when the Mayor *gives orders to the chief and ex*plains to enforce the law the chief and captains get other orders and are told to mind their own business?"

"Not to my knowledge," replied Gleason.

"Well, it's very funny," commented Mr. Fisk, "when the Mayor says he wants the law carried out the president of the Police Board comes here and says he does, also, and the chief of police says he can do it if he's let alone, and I can come into town and get all the liquor I want on Sunday almost anywhere. I tell you what I do up in Plainfield. If a want anything done I go to the man and say so. I tell him 'you obey the laws or get out,' and he obeys. And if I was Mayor of Jersey City I'd come pretty near finding out who's to blame."

Chief of Police Michael Rodgers, of Harrison, said there was not much Sunday selling in his town. "Where there is," he said, "we try to catch them." Rodgers said a lot of "panhandlers" came over from Newark every Sunday afternoon, due to the fact that Sheriff Sommer had closed the saloons there. Clarence Van Deeren, of the Town License Committee, said he had never revoked a license.

The commission took away with it four half-pint flasks of "third rail" whiskey, which will be sent to the state chemist for examination. These were purchased in Jersey City at a cost of 10 cents each, flask included.

MR. HOOLEY CABLES $100

(Continued from page 1.)

"You ask my views about the Cleveland monument. Monuments to men are rarely sudden. The Israelites, upon crossing the Jordan to the promised land, immediately set up twelve stones. Diligal, but the memorial was to the men who died to honor any one man. Monuments to men should be, and are, considered until the thought it sufficiently mature to be operative and to be commensurate with its purpose. Before being cast in bronze such a thought should be submitted to the character of the man to be honored, and who have a right to be consulted, and, probably also, to others, whose opinion, advice and authority are of such a character as to carry weight. Moreover, Grover Cleveland was never a popular hero. He was never an idol of the nation, compelling applause or monuments. This fact in no sense diminishes his merit. But it remains true that in no act of his life—and certainly not in his death—has there been suitable inspiration for a spontaneous movement to erect for him a monument. Still further, the movement to raise a monument to Mr. Cleveland at present must be futile, and can serve no purpose beyond attesting the enterprise of The Daily Press—of which, without this, evidences are sufficiently abundant—and the advertisement of the names of highly distinguished citizens. Mr. Cleveland's monuments of various sorts are with us. Others may appear in the ripeness of time. Any monument to him now suddenly raised would be cheap and puerile—ill-considered, untimely and undesirable.

HOLIDAY GOLF EVENTS ON PARK GOLF COURSE

Numerous golfing events attracted a large holiday crowd to the Park Golf Club on Saturday and the occasion was one of the most successful in the history of the club. During the afternoon the women members and their friends enjoyed a delightful tea and reception at the clubhouse.

The events on the program included competition for the President's Gold Cup, Holiday cups, a bogey handicap and an approaching and putting contest. In the competition for the several cups, Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux won first honors with a net score of 91; W. Y. Byard was second and W. C. McNaughton third. These scores were returned:

Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux, 104, 23-81; W. Y. Byard, 97, 14-83; W. C. McNaughton, 95, 7-88; C. F. Corning, 105, 5-89; Charles H. Morse, 101, 12-89; J. A. Bell, 113, 23-90; A. W. Kenworthy, 103, 11-92; W. R. Fisher, 100, 9-91; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 100, 6-94.

In the bogey handicap competition there was a tie between Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux and Rev. H. Goodrich, both being two down to bogey. The tie will be played off next Saturday.

Still another event of interest was the approaching and putting contest, which was won by Miss Harriet Shreve and W. R. Faber with a score of 8. Other leading scores follow:

Miss E. Runyon and C. B. Morse, 10; Mrs. F. W. Jones and C. F. Corning, 10; Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux and W. Y. Byard, 10; Miss B. Ten Eyck and W. C. McNaughton, 10; Miss C. Ten Eyck and J. B. Betts, 11.

JERSEYMEN ACTIVE IN TUBERCULOSIS CONGRESS

Governor Fort has agreed to serve as one of the vice-presidents of the International Congress on Tuberculosis to be held in Washington from September 28 to October 12, under the auspices of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. S. L. Hoffman, of Trenton, is chairman of the committee that is making preparations for the participation of the State in the con*gress and in the exhibition* to be held in connection with it.

Bleecker Van Wagenen, of Orange; Dr. T. W. Corwin, of Newark; Dr. Alexander Lambert, of Montclair, are chairmen of the sub-committees appointed to secure the co-operation of public and private associations of local health boards, and of private medical societies and women's clubs. W. C. Smallwood, of Newark, is chairman of the sub-committee on publicity, and other members of the general committee include Mrs. T. B. Alexander, of Hoboken; Rev. W. Fitzgerald, of Millville; Hugh F. Fox, of Plainfield; Dr. L. H. Halsey, of Millburn; Dr. Wm. D. Hedges, of Plainfield; Dr. Edgar Holden, of Newark; W. K. Hurff, of Moorestown, and Dr. Philip Marvel, of Atlantic City.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH FORMALLY DEDICATED.

About 500 people from Bernardsville, Liberty Corner, Millington and New Vernon, and many of the summer residents and visitors, attended the dedicatory services in the Presbyterian church at Basking Ridge Sunday. Among the visiting clergymen were Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, this city; Rev. Peter Gibb, of the Baptist church, Millington; Rev. Frank Werner, of the Presbyterian church, Liberty Corner; Rev. E. R. Murgatroyd, of New Vernon; Rev. J. E. Hancock and Rev. W. I. Gee.

The service was under the direction of Miss S. Lillian Jones, of Brooklyn. At the morning service the pastor, Rev. John T. Reeve, formally dedicated the newly completed edifice by reading appropriate passages of Scripture, followed by a prayer of consecration. The subject of the pastor's sermon was "The World's Need of a Church Today."

At the service at night Rev. Dr. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, this city, preached upon the theme, "Jacob the Deceiver." Last night was Presbyterian night. There was a large organ recital by the organist, Miss S. Lillian Jones, and Rev. Dr. William Force Whitaker, moderator of the presbytery and pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Elizabeth, gave an address upon "The Church and Men," and Rev. Dr. George Francis Greene, of the Presbyterian church in Cranford, spoke upon "The Basking Ridge Church in History."

ICE AND WEATHER SOAR

No Change Likely Here, But Rate Will Rise in Other Parts of Jersey.

NEW YORK HAS A FAMINE.

Million of Tons Less In New York Owing to Action of Gotham's Board of Health.

Fortunately, the ice condition in Plainfield and North Plainfield is such that there is likely to be no change in the retail price this summer. Reports were received today on the intended action of dealers in other New Jersey cities and towns to jump the retail price, in fact, those in Newark did increase the price yesterday from forty to fifty cents a hundred.

The retail price here is fifty cents a hundred, and from inquiry made today at the office of McDonough Brothers, it was learned that no change is anticipated. One of the men stated that the supply for Plainfield and North Plainfield is harvested entirely from ponds of the Natural Ice and Cold Storage Company at Watchung, and last winter a sufficient crop was gathered to last all summer. The company does not seek any outside market and anyway to not in a position with its supply to make a profit to outside points.

The ice condition in other parts of the State, however, is likely to be seriously affected within the next few weeks, because of the action of the State Board of Health of New York in condemning for table use the ice harvested on the Hudson river. It can be used for storage purposes, but neg in the case of liquid refreshment. In consequence the New York dealers are looking outside for another supply. It is said that the action of the New York State authorities has reduced the quantity of available ice by a million tons, and that efforts are now being make to get a supply from Lake Hopatcong and Bear Creek, Pa. This is sure to affect the ice market to a considerable extent.

It was said today that the dealers in Elizabeth contemplate raising the retail price of ice in that city at least 10 cents a hundred, and other cities are reported to be contemplating similar action.

BAN ON JERSEY PRISONS.

Federal Judges to Send No More Prisoners to State Institution.

United States Judges William M. Lanning, of Trenton, and Joseph Cross, of Elizabeth, have decided not to send any more Federal prisoners to the New Jersey State Prison. This decision follows the declaration of Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth a week ago that the New Jersey State Prison was the worst breeding place for consumption she knew of. The Judges say, however, that the ruling is only temporary and that as a result of the Attorney General at Washington that long-term prisoners should be sent to the new Government prison at Atlanta, Ga.

An order of Judge Cross that Commissioners must not commit Federal prisoners to the Hudson County Jail because that was unfit for use" has caused much comment in here. All prisoners caught in Hudson county must be taken to Essex jails.

This action was occasioned by a prisoner saying, when about to be sentenced: "Your Honor, please do not send me to the County Jail. It is the worst jail in the United States, and as I have tried them nearly all I should know." The court made some private inquiries, following which came the order of Judge Cross in regard to the Hudson County Jail.

Union Service Largely Attended.

The first union service under the auspices of the First M. E. church, First Baptist, Trinity Reformed and First Presbyterian churches, was held in the grove on Grant avenue, Sunday night, and was largely attended by members of all four churches. Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, preached an eloquent sermon. Others who assisted in the service by reading Scripture lessons and prayer, were Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church; Rev. Dr. John H. Raven, of New Brunswick, who occupied the pulpit at Trinity Reformed church in the morning, and Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, who extended a welcome to Second street on the part of those gathered special music, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist, including anthems and solo parts. Next Sunday night the service will be at the First M. E. church and Rev. Dr. John H. Raven will preach.

G. W. VanCleef Wins Scholarship.

In the postal card contest conducted by the Drake Business College, and which closed July 4, G. W. VanCleef, of Somerville, won the three months' scholarship. Miss Mae Madison, of 183 Duer street, was a close second. The cards will be of exhibition in the office of the college on East Front street. Mr. VanCleef will receive his certificate this week which entitles him to pursue one of all subjects taught in the school; also to absolute guarantee of a position which is given to all students of Drake College.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

VOL. XL PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 1908, NO. 32

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

HEBREWS OBSERVE FAST

Orthodox Jews Will Abstain from All Food and Drink for 24 Hours.

TO HOLD SPECIAL SERVICES.

Fast of Ab Is In Memory of Destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar and the Romans.

In the Synagogue Children of Israel will begin this evening the great fast of the ninth of Ab (Tish'a b'Ab). For twenty-four hours food and drink will be strictly abstained from. Work is unlawful and at the services tomorrow morning the wearing of the prayer mantle (talit) and phylacteries (tephillin) will be omitted.

This fast is in memory of the twofold destruction of Jerusalem and the overthrow of the Jewish nation, the destruction of the Holy City by Nebuchadnezzar (B. C. 586), and the second destruction by the Romans under Titus in the year 70 of the Christian era. The fast of the ninth of Ab is for the termination of the national penitential season that begins with the fast of the tenth of the month Tebet, which commemorates the beginning of the siege. There is another memorial in the fast of the seventeenth of Tammuz (July 16), which recalls the day on which the first breach was made in the walls of Jerusalem. During this period all the national misfortunes are recalled. Within the past generation the repressive edicts against the Jews in Russia and the re-awakening of pervecutions has intensified the nationalist sentiment and the Zionist movement with its longing for the recovery of their ancient homeland as an asylum for the persecuted and has thus given the observance of the fast a greater hold upon the Jewish people.

To Worship By Candlelight.

Tonight the strictest synagogues will be dimly lighted, devout Jews bringing candles and reading by the rapers' meagre light, sitting meanwhile on the floor with shoes removed and reading as the special *portions for the last the book of Lamen*tations of Jeremiah, which is chanted in plaintive minor keys. The recitation of these mournful kinds (lamentations) is a special feature of the services. The scrolls of the law and the holy ark are often draped in black during this season of national mourning, which differs from Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) in being a season of mourning for national misfortunes, and not, like the Day of Atonement, for individual sins. Strict Jews observe the fast more or less throughout the entire period from the tenth of Tebet until tomorrow night, weddings and all other joyous events being postponed during that season. Next Friday evening, which begins the Sabbath after the great fast, is known as Sabbat Nahmu (Sabbath of Comfort), because of the comforting words read in the synagogue services from Isaiah xl. "Comfort ye, comfort ye, my people, saith your God."

SOMERSET'S FREEHOLDERS MEET AT GLADSTONE.

Freeholder Lutkins was the only absentee at the special meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders held at Gladstone yesterday to inspect two bridges over Peapack brook at that place. The board did not consider it necessary to build anew, but appointed Messrs. Poulson, Bunn and Codington a committee to see that the old ones were properly repaired."

A committee consisting of Messrs. Bunn and Demler was appointed to confer with Sidney Snable to adjust the damage done to the latter's horse by breaking through the township bridge near Liberty Corner.

In order to comply with the law the board fixed the appropriations for the year, and then adjourned to meet Saturday morning in Somerville to go over the Millstone and New Amwell roads.

Rector to Return Saturday.

Rev. George A. Warner, rector of Holy Cross church, is at his old home at Crown Point, Lake Champlain, with his wife. They will return to this city Saturday, and Mr. Warner will have charge of the services at the church Sunday morning. Rev. Morgan Ashley, of Butler, who was to have taken charge of the services at Holy Cross church last Sunday, was unable to do so, but Mr. Warner has arranged to have him preach at the church Sunday, August 24.

Dr. Endicott Returns.

Dr. G. W. Endicott, who went to Germany some weeks ago to hold a consultation over a patient, returned yesterday with his patient. He took her to Atlantic City today and will be back tonight.

—Advertise in The Daily Press.

TUTTLE CHAIRMAN OF UNION'S DEM. COMMITTEE

William E. Tuttle, of Westfield, was elected last night successor to Brig. Gen. D. F. Collins, of Elizabeth, as chairman of the Union County Democratic Committee, the latter having presented his resignation. The meeting was held at Elizabeth and Charles H. Moore, of that city, was chosen to succeed Mr. Tuttle as vice-chairman.

Resolutions endorsing Bryan and Kern were passed with a hurrah and J. F. V. Dilts, of Plainfield, was roundly congratulated for his efforts in Union on behalf of "The Peerless Leader." The Plainfield members present included Mr. Dilts, P. J. Reville, D. J. Galbraith and Charles Sturtevant.

Another meeting will be held in the near future to make plans for the campaign.

LONG-STANDING GRUDGE CAUSE OF LIVELY SCRAP

Using a pitch-fork and a hay rake as weapons, William Jackson, Fred Carter and Charles and George Holloway, all colored, got mixed up in a lively fracas at Jackson's barn on Rockview avenue yesterday afternoon about some hay. The result was that Jackson had his right thumb broken and his head almost beaten in, Charles Holloway had one arm temporarily put out of business by a "raking blow," and the other two fighters are now blacker than ever about the eyes. At their hearing before Borough Recorder Dolliver today, Jackson and the Holloways were fined $10 apiece. Carter, who proved a valuable witness, was discharged with a warning.

Jackson and Charles Holloway have been "laying" for each other for some time past, and were the real instigators of the scrap. The two used to be partners in the ash carting business and got into Justice Mundy's court some time ago, shortly after the dissolution of the partnership, on account of some hay. One owned the horse and the other the wagon used in their ash carting business and the animal was supported by hay taken as a "rake-off" from jobs they got carting lawns. The hay was stored in Jackson's barn, but when the partnership was dissolved, the argument about the ownership of the hay caused Jackson to forbid his former partner to ever come on his premises.

The Holloways, who live on South Second street, were recently hired by Fred Carter, who also lives on South Second street, to help him take in his hay from a borough field. The irony of fate brought it to pass that Carter hired Jackson's barn as the store house for his hay.

As soon as Jackson spied Charles Holloway riding on the top of a load of hay to be stored in his barn, "his rage knew no bounds." He cantered out into the yard and got into an argument with Carter about the character of men he employed to help him in harvest time. He also ordered his former partner off the place.

While the argument was progressing, Charles took occasion to playfully drop the pitchfork on the load of hay on Jackson's head. From that time on, the war was no longer a war of words. Jackson got a hay rake, but in endeavoring to slay his former partner by a side swing, sustained a broken thumb, when Charles parried with the pitchfork. A telephone message from a nearby resident brought Chief Weiss, but Jackson thought his wounds required instant attention, and Carter remembered an engagement at the last moment, so the officer simply got the two Holloways. Roundsman Higgins, of the city force, found Jackson at Dr. Lufburrow's, getting his wounds dressed, and later took up Carter.

ENTRY LIST FOR THE FAIR ACRES RACE MEET.

The following entries have been announced for the Fair Acres race meet at the Driving Park Saturday afternoon:

Free for All: Fair View, J. C. Hoff; Jon McGregor, G. I. Forgerson; Barron Whips, A. S. Case; Aron B, A. C. Blair; Zipp, Mr. Huva. 2:25 Class: New Haven, H. Evans; Maude, R. I. Edwards; Fred V., Fred Irving. 2:30 Class: Sidney Leland, C. C. Brower; Ben, Butler, Henry Uhlhan; Helen Nelson, J. Osborne. 2:35 Class: Gladys D., Al. Denise; Oracle, C. C. Brower; Klondyke, J. C. Hoff; Lady Sidnut, C. S. Smith.

"Prince," owned by C. C. Brower, will go against track record for a valuable prize, and there will also be running races, post entries.

John R. Morrison, of Duer street, has been confined to his home since Saturday on account of illness.

C. N. ELLIOTT DROWNED

Husband of Former Plainfield Young Woman Meets Death When Canoe Upsets.

WIFE AND SON WERE RESCUED.

Accident Happens While Family Is Making Canoeing Trip in New England—Body Recovered.

Clive N. Elliott, an architect employed by McKim, Mead & White, of New York, and widely known in Plainfield through his marriage to a local young woman, was drowned in the Connecticut river near Turner's Falls, Mass., yesterday afternoon. With his wife and two sons, Russell, aged eleven, and Edwin D., aged nine years, and Mr. and Mrs. George Rea, of Nutley, he was making a canoe trip from White River Junction, Vt., to Hartford, Conn., a distance of 150 miles. Mr. and Mrs. Rea and the elder Elliott boy were in the lead in one canoe and the others were following as they reached the rapids just below Turner's Falls.

The first canoe shot through the water safely but the second one was caught in the current and overturned. Mr. Elliott was an expert swimmer and might have saved himself but became exhausted while assisting his wife and son. Mr. Rea succeeded in beaching his canoe and brought Mrs. Elliott and the boy ashore but the husband sank before he could be reached. The body did not rise to the surface but was recovered later.

Mr. Elliott was an exemplary young man and news of his death came as a great shock to his many friends in the city and borough. He had attained considerable success as an architect and was one of the leading designers in the McKim, Mead & White office, the firm being the one with which the late Stanford White was connected. Mrs. Elliott was formerly Miss Belle Bradshaw, daughter of the late George W. Bradshaw, of Newark, and is a niece to Chief T. O. Doane. Besides Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Doane, John H. Doane and Mrs. Albert L. Force. They made their home in Nutley after they were married in Plainfield but in recent years were frequent visitors in town.

Mr. Elliott was a man of charitable inclinations and though his business demanded a great deal of his time, he devoted many of his spare hours to settlement work in New York. In this he was assisted by Mrs. Elliott and their labors brought a little sunshine to more than a few darkened lives.

The body will be taken to the home in Nutley and the funeral will be held there.

CO. K. TO PARADE IN MAJOR MARTIN'S HONOR

Company K, of which Major W. B. Martin of the victorious American rifle team, was at one time captain, has accepted invitation from the Elizabeth committee to take part in the parade in his honor at Elizabeth Saturday. Companies C and I, of Elizabeth, and Company M, of Somerville, will also be in line.

Governor J. Franklin Fort will be the most prominent of the throngs of military and city officials who will meet the victorious riflemen at Elizabeth, and will speak at the banquet to be held in the major's honor at Russ' hotel. The Governor, with Mayor Ryan of Elizabeth, and members of the reception committee will go down the harbor in a special tug to meet Major Martin when the steamer comes in. The tug will then come up the harbor to Elizabeth, landing at the foot of East Jersey street. At the landing, the military, with delegations from many of the Elizabeth organizations, will be in readiness to start off the parade, which will become the Second Regiment Band. Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan, of the Second Regiment, Mayor Ryan and other prominent military and city officials will speak at the banquet of honor, when Mayor Ryan will present Major Martin with an engrossed copy of the resolution of the city's appreciation of his work, framed at the last Elizabeth Council meeting. Col. Dennis F. Collins is chairman of the committee in charge of the welcome celebration.

Hawkins Had an Early One.

Tom Hawkins, colored, contracted a jag the first thing this morning and was cutting up didoes at Front and Somerset street at 7:30 when Special Officer James Babbitt gathered him in. He was still too far gone at court time to be arraigned and his case was left over for tomorrow morning. Hawkins yelled like murder from his cell all the time Judge Runyon was on the bench.

NO CONTAGIOUS CASES

Plainfield's Health is Excellent, According to Monthly Report of Local Board.

DAIRIES ARE ALSO INSPECTED.

Milk Supply of Fair Standard As Is Ice Cream—Permits Granted—July Statistics.

Plainfield is free from contagious disease at the present time according to the Board of Health which holds its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon. During July there were but five cases of communicable disease and three of these were tuberculosis, one a scarlet fever case and the other chicken pox.

During the month of July 74 dairies were inspected. Thirty-two samples of milk and six of cream were analyzed by Health Officer Thurlow. All the dairies, according to his report, were found to be in a fair condition and the milk was of a good quality, being especially low in bacteria when reached.

A special report on the ice cream supply of the city was submitted. Samples of ice cream manufactured in Plainfield were taken and analyzed; also the cream used for making the ice cream. The results of this investigation showed that the quality of the ice cream and the conditions under which it is made, compared very favorably with other cities. Improvement can be made, however, and it is the purpose of the Board to have the bacteria lessened.

Permits were granted by the Board to the following: To sell milk, Geo. W. Butts, Clarkhurst Farm, E. R. Mills, John Murphy. The plumbers bond of William Zepp was ordered filed. The application of Carl Roppenstedt for a permit to collect garbage was refused, on the ground that there was a sufficient number of garbage collectors in the city.

The following returns were made during the month of July: Marriages, 8; births, 41; still-births, 3; deaths, 23.

TRIO OF ROWDIES FINED FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

John Fahey, a member of the gang erecting the Public Service gas tank who was fined $5 in the city court, yesterday morning, for drunkenness, was again arraigned before Judge Runyon today. He was accompanied by two other ironworkers, John Duffy and Albert Curley, the trio having been arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct on North avenue, yesterday afternoon.

*According to the testimony of Pa*trolman Kelley, who, with Patrolman McCarthy, rounded up the men, they had been going about town for a half hour or more abusing everybody in sight. On North avenue they began to pick on Henry C. Drake, who was recently discharged from the hospital after partially recovering from a broken leg, and shoved him over a fruit stand. As a result, the limb was again injured and today he is using crutches instead of a cane. The rowdies dodged into a nearby pool room after that and they were there when the police arrived.

Fahey and Duffy denied the charges but Judge Runyon announced that he knew from other sources besides the officer's testimony that they were guilty. Fahey was fined $15 or forty days, Duffy $10 or twenty days and Curley $5 or ten days, the last named having been the least offensive of the three. They were still dispatching messengers to friends at noon time in an effort to get the money.

MRS. SUSAN McBURTH DIES IN HER NINETY-SIXTH YEAR.

Mrs. Susanna McBurth, reputed to be the oldest resident of Hunterdon county, died yesterday at her home in Gardner. She celebrated her ninety-fifth birthday on July 28 and five generations of her family attended. Among them were Mrs. Lucien C. Sheppard, of Somerset place, one of her daughters, and Mrs. Belle Sheppard Martin, a granddaughter. Edgar F. Sheppard, of Westervelt avenue, and Luther Sheppard, of Somerset place, are grandsons.

Mrs. McBurth had always lived in Hunterdon county and was married in the house in which she was born. The wedding took place in 1832. Her husband has been dead many years. Mrs. McBurth is survived by six children, Mrs. Mary Chapin, of Glen Gardner; Mrs. Eliza Swayze, of Clinton; James McBurth, of Phillipsburg; Mrs. Harriett Carling, of Bloomsbury; John McBurth, of Jersey City, and Mrs. Emma Sheppard, of Plainfield.

Miss Helen Brunmercy, of Yonkers, is visiting friends in town.

ENDORSE PARTY TICKET

City Republican Committee Approve National Convention's Works.

DISCUSS THE CAMPAIGN ISSUES.

Proud of Candidates and Platform —First Meeting in the New Quarters.

Resolutions endorsing Taft and Sherman and praising the party platform were passed last night by the Republican City committee at a meeting held at its new rooms in the City National Bank building. Despite the heat, there were twelve members present and much of the time was occupied in discussing plans for the coming campaign.

The resolutions follow:

Be it resolved, That the Republican Executive Committee of the City of Plainfield hereby heartily endorses the action of the Republican National Convention in naming William H. Taft and James S. Sherman for the offices of President and Vice President respectively. It believes that by reason of his wide experience and judicial training, Mr. Taft is the best possible candidate for the office for which he has been nominated, and that Mr. Sherman through his knowledge of national affairs required during his long term of office in Congress and by reason of his ability, is well qualified for the office of Vice President.

This Committee is convinced that the policies determined upon by the Republican National Convention at Chicago and enunciated in its platform are better fitted to create and sustain business confidence and a continuance of prosperous conditions than the indefinite and inconsistent provisions adopted by the National Democratic Convention at Denver.

At this particular time when the people are especially observant of business conditions and critical of political policies the conservative character of the Republican candidates as well as of the Republican platform should commend itself to the voters as opposed to the radical and uncertain characteristics both of the Democratic candidates and of the Democratic platform.

This Committee therefore strongly urges all voters of whatever form of political affiliation to work for and support the Republican candidates.

Charles S. Sminck, Chairman.
Duncan W. Taylor,
Frank L. Holt.
Committee.

WHITE STORE EMPLOYEES ENJOY ANNUAL OUTING

Following an annual custom of "The White Store," the entire force of employees spent yesterday on a picnic at Peck's farm, on the Passaic river, near Stirling. The store was closed all day, and A. B. Force, the proprietor, went with the forty-five clerks on their excursion.

The start was made at 8 o'clock, and the party reached the six mile trip in a large stage. Arriving at the farm, which is situated on the shore of the river, the day was passed informally, boating and various games being the principal attractions. At mid-day a basket luncheon was spread, and following that feast, there were speeches. J. J. Varley, who acted as chairman of the general committee in charge of the affair, spoke in behalf of the working force of the store, thanking Mr. Force for his munificence in closing "The White Store" to make the occasion possible. Mr. Force responded with a short speech, declaring that he planned to continue the custom of past years in having such annual outings. A unanimous vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Peck for the use of his grounds. He and his wife, with their children, were guests of honor at the picnic, and did much to make the day enjoyable for the excursionists. Weather Forecaster John Newgis, who was among those several photographs of the clerks, both at the grounds and en route.

The return trip was started at about 8 o'clock in the evening, and the party reached home shortly after 10. The luncheon committee comprised the Misses May Hughes, Elisabeth O'Keefe and Minnie Hossinger. Irving Beninger and Lawrence O'Neill formed the entertainment committee.

Funeral of John Elliott.

The funeral of John Elliott, colored, was held this afternoon at Cole's undertaking rooms. The service was conducted by Rev. A. A. Alexander and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. Burial was in the Plainfield avenue cemetery.

A. W. SCHWARTZ SEEKS ASSEMBLY NOMINATION

Councilman A. W. Schwartz, of the Twelfth ward, Elizabeth, has entered the field as a candidate in opposition to Assemblyman John R. Moxon, also of Elizabeth, who seeks re-election, and as the result a stiff fight will be waged at the primaries.

Schwartz is strongly backed by both factions of the Republican party in the Twelfth ward, Elizabeth, which he represents in Elizabeth Council and has many friends throughout the city. He is the advertising manager for the Elizabeth Evening Times.

Moxon is hot after the nomination and appears to be confident. Schwartz claims many strong friends. When he ran for Council two years ago the latter polled a big vote.

MOTHER SENT TO JAIL FOR BEATING YOUNG SON

Bridget Doran, a middle-aged woman living on West Third street between New and Liberty, was sent to jail for sixty days by Judge Runyon, this morning, after witnesses had testified that she had terribly abused her nine-year-old son Michael. The prisoner was before the court for the same offense last month and was let off on an $8 fine.

Mrs. Doran was arrested late last night by Roundsman Higgins and Patrolman Vanderweg, who were summoned to the house by the neighbors. As on the previous occasion when she was taken in custody for beating the child, she had piled up furniture against the doors of her home to offset interference from anyone entering. Roundsman Higgins crawled through the window then, and both he and Vanderweg got in the same way last night. They found Mrs. Doran in a bedroom, badly intoxicated, and crawling around the floor on her hands and knees in search of the boy. The little fellow was keeping away from her as best he could and to lessen the force of the blows she rained upon him when he was caught, he kept a blanket over his head.

When arraigned in court, the woman denied that the child gave more than was necessary as punishment, but his presence belied her statement. The officers brought him before the desk, and his face showed several big bruises where he had been hit. He told the Judge his mother had struck him as he lay in bed but it was impossible to get anything more from him as he was frightened half to death. When sentence was pronounced, Mrs. Doran begged hard for a fine instead of imprisonment but the magistrate was of a dear ear to her entreaties. One of the neighbors, who was in court informed the magistrate that he would take care of the boy while she was in jail.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS' EXCURSION TOMORROW.

A forecast made by the committee from Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, has it that 1,500 persons will attend the organization's excursion to Asbury Park tomorrow. The Central will provide two trains of cars to carry the Plainfielders to and from the shore in order to make sure that everybody has a seat. Something like 600 children from St. Mary's parish will be guests of the council on the outing.

A feature essentially new to local excursions is the resorting of part of the Asbury Park Casino as headquarters for the Plainfielders. The committee made arrangements for the privilege and it will make a splendid place for old and young to enjoy lunch.

The members of the council who completed the plans and who will have charge tomorrow are John Carty, John J. Hines, Peter Duffy, Arthur A. Cannon, Andrew E. Kenney, John J. Kenney and Fred Kling.

Jag Cost Him $3.

Pleading guilty to a charge of helpless intoxication, Andrew Benford was fined $3 in the city court this morning. Cops Nolan and McDonald found him in the doorway of the City National Bank building last night. Judge Runyon informed "Andy" that he was fined $3 in January last for the same offense and warned him that his appearances in court were coming a little too near each other.

Potentate Marshall Home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Marshall returned today from a trip through the West. While away, Mr. Marshall, potentate of Salaam temple, attended the annual Imperial Council of the Shriners at St. Paul.

—Neuman Brothers' Formosa Oolong is the proper brand for making iced tea. It provides a beverage that aids in warding off the heat.

NEGRO ASSAILANT HELD

Henry Schenck Sent to Jail to Await Grand Jury's Action for Alleged Intent to Kill.

BIG CROWD AT HEARING.

Prisoner Unable to Get $500 Bail —Says He Doesn't Remember the Assault.

With its court-room at Scotch Plains filled to its utmost capacity with a murmuring crowd which included the men who threatened to lynch Henry Schenck, the negro who felled James Hunter with a coupling pin at the Central Hotel Monday night, was held in $500 bail by Justice Clark *last night to await the ac*tion of the Grand Jury. The feeling against the man is so strong that he was unable to secure a bondsman, and was taken to the county jail at Elizabeth this morning.

Hunter, the victim of the assault, has a broken collar bone, but as soon as he is able to get around again, will make a charge of atrocious assault against his assailant. The hearing last night was only preliminary, and was held upon the complaint of John Reick, the passerby who had been insulted by the vile language of the man and was on his way to Jus*tice Clark's office to get a warrant* when the fight broke out. Reick was evidently the object of the assault, for after he had warned Schenck about his language on the street, the negro pulled the coupling pin from his hip pocket and hurled it at him. His poor aim was responsible for the injury of Hunter, whose back was turned.

The Plains police were prepared for some demonstration on the part of those who came to the hearing, but aside from muttered threats, there was no outburst. Schenck told the Judge that he knew nothing of what he had done, and that he did not "come to" and realize what had happened until he found himself in the cell. He said he had been to the city Sunday afternoon and had taken a couple of drinks of "City Beautiful" ginger-ale. Upon his re*turn to the Plains, he had licked up* a few more drinks. "After that," he said, "I had my bad spell." The court told Schenck that the combination of Plainfield and Scotch Plains rum was enough to make any man throw fits.

About a dozen eye-witnesses to the attack gave testimony which was against the man at the hearing. What little demonstration there was proved entirely against the prisoner, and no one even thought of lynching, the general sentiment being that the Plains authorities insist that he get the limit of the law for his attack.

THIRTY CAMP CHILDREN IN PARK AVE. SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

For several Sundays past, thirty of the New York children who are at the Nethergood Fresh Air Camp for the summer have been attending the session of the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school. Superintendent George E. Hall, of the school, hires a stage each week to carry the children to and from Sunday-school, and will continue to do so until the camp closes on Labor Day.

The attendance of the camp children is an attractive feature of the sessions, for they take active part in the singing of the hymns. Several of the girls have been placed in Miss Cora Brokaw's class, while the majority of the camp delegation is taught by Mrs. John DeLany.

PLAINFIELD AND BOYNTON BEACH AUTO BUS.

Change in Time Table and Rate.

The Thompson's Garage has found it necessary to change the time table and rates in order to properly take care of their patrons. They have added two runs per day. These most enjoyable runs have now become very popular and well patronized. Tickets for the seats may now be bought in advance. They will only sell twelve tickets for each run. See new time table on last page of this issue.

* * *

In the City Court.

James Kevin Spencely, an Englishman who has been employed in town as a driver, was arraigned before Judge Runyon this morning on a charge of drunkenness. He offered to get out of the city and stay away if sentence was suspended and His Honor took him at his word. Spencely was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman O'Keefe.

Secures Writ of Attachment.

James Kane yesterday secured a writ of attachment for $125 against Antone Guida, who has been conducting a fruit store on North avenue. The matter will be heard in the District Court.

A FEW HINTS FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

In very warm weather to rub the body violently after getting out of a tub is not beneficial unless the plunge has been in cold only. Then active friction is required to restore circulation. Otherwise less heat may be generated by merely putting the body with a soft towel, drying off the moisture without bringing the blood to the surface.

Any kind of exercise, such as sweeping or lifting a slight weight, grasping it firmly, will develop the forearm. The object is to use the hands in such a way as to bring up the cords and muscles of the arms. Closing the hands, with the fingers lying in the palms, and then pressing down the fingers, will use the muscle above the wrist and is developing.

It is hard for the woman who is obliged to remain in office and store all day to keep her skin from assuming that yellow tint which is so fatal to her other charms. A corrective for sallowness is sometimes found in wiping the skin with a lotion of two drams of iodide of potassium, an ounce of glycerine and a pint or rain water. Apply with a little sponge several times a day, and at night, letting it dry on.

You can perfume your clothes in simple ways. For instance, you can keep your winter clothing and furs in ground cloves and other spices. This will make them sweet and will keep the moths out at the same time. Powdered orris root rubbed into the skin after the bath will give a sweet odor. Your bath can have bags of lavender and sweet cloves, dried from summer, stirred into them, and you can use a spray of toilet water upon your underwear which will become sweet. The thing lies in using perfumes constantly. A little every day is better by far than a great deal once in a while.

A soothing foot bath is made by mixing an ounce of powdered alum with two ounces each of salt and borax. Of this a tablespoonful is put with two gallons of hot water and the feet should be soaked in the solution for fifteen minutes. Sea salt, a couple of handfuls of it to a foot tub of water, is another coloing bath; and still another is to soak the feet in simple warm water and then rub them with spirits of turpentine. Fresh lemon juice is also cooling.

In order to preserve the whiteness of the neck demanded by the present lowcut gowns, most women will find it necessary to use some good cold cream or emollient. One that is found very helpful in whitening the neck is made from the raw white of an egg beaten to a froth, into which an equal quantity of sweet oil has been added. After the oil is put in it is beaten again and applied to the neck with a soft cloth. After this mixture is thoroughly wiped off the neck is washed with soap and water.

DO NOT NEGLECT THE FLATIRON

The needle is not the ily implement required in the making and keeping of clothes. A flatiron is a close second.

The tailored skirt, especially, is in constant need of being pressed.

The pressing of a suit requires some skill—but more patience and care.

In the case of a pleated skirt, first baste in place each pleat its entire unstitched length with fine cotton; coarse thread will leave its imprint after pressing.

When a skirt is put over the padded board, place a chair or small table beneath it to lift the skirt to prevent stretching.

Provide two hot irons—heavy irons are best—and cover the portion to be pressed with a piece of doubled unbleached muslin thoroughly wet.

Do not "iron," but literally "press," lifting the iron from place to place rather than rubbing it over the surface. The iron should not be allowed to remain too long in one place, or it will leave its imprint.

The seams of coats and sleeves may be pressed over a broomstick which has been evenly padded and covered with muslin.

Newer Than the Sheath Skirt.

The sheath skirt, it would seem, is sufficiently "new." But there is a skirt which is newer, says Vogue.

The "really new" skirt, which we find is silk cachemire, in heavy crepe de chine, in thick eastern silks of all kinds, as in supple light cloths, is made with folds dragged across the front from bust to ankles, the tendency of the lines being to carry toward the back, perhaps crossing over obliquely there and ending under the buckle on one hip, or at the shoulder blade. Fancy this in dead leaf color, meager as to underskirt, slightly trailing, and worn with a taffeta coat in light jade green, white short-waisted and tailless behind, has two long side pieces that almost reach the ankles, fringed and embroidered in soutache.

There is a soft sash of black liberty satin, which is carried across the bust under the coat, high enough behind to just show under the short coat back, and crossing there, returning to droop in front and knot at the bend of the limbs.

Others Soft Trimmings.

There was a fair sailor named Cholmondely,
With a face so uncommonly colmondely,
That fellows who came
To join in the game
Could only make tees for her dolmondely.
—Success Magazine.

OF CASUAL CONCERN.

Fifteen thousand pictures are now on exhibition in the two great salons in Paris. These represent about three acres of canvas. The total length of the pictures without their frames would be nearly ten miles. Reckoning one minute to look at every picture, and without taking any rest by day or night, it would take ten days and ten hours to see every picture in the two salons.

What is claimed to be the tallest chimney in the world is now under construction at Great Falls, Mont., smelter of the Amalgamated Copper Company. This stack has a foundation 74 feet in diameter, and will rise to a height of 560 feet, with a 54-foot diameter top. Its position is on a bluff overlooking the Missouri River, and connection with the furnaces will be made by a flue 20 feet high, 48 feet wide and 1,800 feet long. The tallest chimney hitherto built is that of the Halsbrucker Hutte, near Freiberg, Germany, 468 feet in height.

Former Congressman Joseph E. Thropp appears to be the busiest captain of industry in Bedford county. He is owner of the Everett and Saxton furnaces, which mined 11,000 tons of bituminous coal in Huntingdon county in June. It was taken from the operations at Gordon slope and Melrose, both in Carbon township, of which Robert H. Kay, of Saxton, is superintendent. The other mines of the county are running on about one-third time, except those of the Rock Hill Coal and Iron Company at Robertsdale and Woodvale, which are running very steadily. This company has just shipped 10,000 tons of coal to France.

A new pay car has recently been put into commission on the Monongahela and Conemaugh division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. It has a fine shower bath, the first to be installed in a car in its line in the United States. There are six sleeping cots of gleaming brass, and the interior of the car looks like an arsenal, for it has a complete set of the latest shooting arms, calculated to discourage the pilfering ambitions of the nerviest individual. There is a burglar-proof safe, which only time can unlock when set. The banking end of the coach can be converted at will into an observation parlor and an elegantly appointed superintendent's office.

If there's anything approaching an extirpation of Alaska's big game it won't be the fault of Congress. Alaska's Governor is empowered to permit hunting and the shipping of trophies (moose heads, etc.), but the issue of licenses is strictly regarded. Since May 11, this year, "the wanton destruction of wild game animals or wild birds, except eagles, ravens and cormorants, the destruction of nests and eggs of such birds, or the killing of any such birds other than game birds, except eagles, for the purpose of selling the same or the skins or any part thereof," have been punishable offenses in Alaska. Notice the discrimination against the proud bird of freedom. He has no friends in Congress this year?

WHEN TO BUY VEGETABLES.

Many persons buy green groceries late Saturday night, thinking they will be fresher for Sunday, but the experienced buyer will make her selection Friday. As Saturday is a busy day with grocers and hucksters, they do not make their purchases on Saturday, but beforehand, and the latest Friday. It is then that one has an opportunity to select the freshest vegetables on the market.

If lettuce is purchased, place it in a wet cheesecloth bag and hang in the ice chest or lay it in the cold cellar. It will be as fresh as if just cut when taken from the bag. Cucumbers should be kept cold, though not frozen, and they should be placed in cold water one hour before they are to be used. Radishes should be soaked also before they are divided in halves or qaurters and all doubtful ones cut, and, if not pithy, reserved.

Do not remove berries from the boxes to wash them, but let running water flow over them and it will carry off flall sand or dust. After draining they may be carefully looked over and bad ones taken out. Fruit that is too ripe to serve uncooked should be immediately cooked and cooled.

A Moment's Rest.

If overworked homemakers whose nerves are "worn to a frazzle edge" would acquire the habit of sitting or lying absolutely still, relaxed and motionless, for ve or ten minutes twice a day, they would soon see improvement. The mind must be relaxed, worries dropped, thoughts wandering be pleasant things. You will probably try this several times before you get it right, but after a little practise you will find that it yields large returns, far surpassing the sacrifice of te time it takes to practise it.

Medicinal Value of Lavender.

It is a well-known fact that workers among lavender beds seldom take infectious ailments, and those engaged in the perfumary trade are always free from them. A good perfume, in the old days, was considered an excellent disinfectant. The doctors then used to carry walking sticks with silver or gold knobs. These opened with a lid disclosing a tiny vinaigrette box, which the physician held for his nose when entering rooms containing patients fill four winds, from one end of heaven to the other." It is one of the duties of the angels to carry home God's people.

We have heard the dying saint exclaim just before passing over, "I see them. They have come to take me home." The vision is not the result of a tired and worn out brain. It is a vision of a great reality. God's saints in the past have seen them, why may not his people today see them as they come to the borderland?

THE ANGELS AND THEIR MINISTRY

Third of a Series on Heaven by

REV. DR. CHARLES E. HERRING

The writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews, in speaking of the angels, says: "And are they not all ministering spirits sent forth to minister to them who shall be heirs of salvation." Mark you, it says, "are they not ministering spirits" today, in this age of the Holy Spirit's activity. We do not read, "have not these angels been ministering spirits in the past, but are they not inspirations to men today under the leading of the Holy Spirit? The angels ministered not only to the saints of the Old Testament, but they visited and blessed men who lived in New Testament times—Cornelius, Peter, Paul and John.

Who are the angels? They are created beings. Therefore they have not lived always. The Psalmist says, "Praise ye Him, all His hosts: for He commanded and they were created." They are spirits. That does not necessarily imply that they are incorporeal. A spirit certainly has not flesh and bones but there are different kins of bodies. There are "bodies celestial," as well as "bodies terrestrial." There is a "spiritual body" and also a "natural body." The Council of Nice declared that the angels have bodies not of flesh but of light or ether; they have appeared with visible bodies.

They are not represented in the Scriptures as impersonal forces of nature but as real persons. They possess superhuman intelligence. They are pictured as being "full of eyes," which is a figurative way of expressing their great knowledge. Again, it is said, that "the day and the hour of the coming of the Lord knoweth no man, not even the angels in heaven." Such a verse as this is an evidence of the great knowledge the angels have of the laws and plans of God.

The knowledge of the angels is related to their power. Israel's protecting angel slew one hundred and eighty-five thousand Assyrians in a single night, not because of his omnipotence but because of his greater knowledge of the laws of God.

The angels are not glorified men. They are an order of spiritual intelligence older than men. In Hebrews, "the church of the first born" and "the spirits of just men made perfect" are distinguished from "the innumerable hosts of angels." Then we are told that we shall "judge angels." Again, it is very evident, from what the Scripture says, that the angels are of different ranks. Paul has spoken of "thrones, dominions, principalities and powers." Then again, we read of the "archangel Michael." These expressions reveal the different orders in the heavenly world. I hardly think, however, we should say that the cherubim and seraphim are the highest order of angels. It is far better to think of these as symbolic appearances and that they picture humanity as redeemed and sanctified.

What does the Scripture say as to the employment of the angels? They stand before Him and worship. They sing his praises, but their very name is suggestive of their great work. The word "angels" means "messengers." Their business is to fly on God's errands. They guide the affairs of nations. It is not inconsistent with the teaching of Scripture to say that each nation has its guardian angel. We certainly read of Persia, who stand "for Israel" and then we are told of the prince of Persia and the prince of Grecia.

The angels do have a practical and powerful interest in the affairs of men. They are interested in everything that pertains to the welfare of humanity. We are told that "the angels encamp round about them that fear the Lord and delivereth them." The Psalmist assures us, "He shall give his angels charge over thee to keep thee in all thy ways"—in all thy ways—that is through whatever experience thou art called to pass.

If all this is true, why is it that we do not see them? Perhaps there is an answer to the admonition of Paul, when he speaks against the worship of angels. The help of these beings is so signal, men would be led to direct their worship to them instead of God.

The angels we are told are interested in the worship of God's people. They "desire to look into" the things that pertain to the kingdom of God. Paul tells the Corinthians that a woman ought to worship with head covered "because of the angels." It is very evident therefore, that when we worship in the house of the Lord the angels are present.

It has been said that each individual has his own guardian angel. We cannot be sure of that, but we are told of God's little ones that their angels in heaven do "behold the face of my Father which is in heaven." I take that to mean not only the children in years, but the children in faith. Someone has said: "It makes no difference whether each one has a guardian angel from birth, a good perfume, in the old days, was considered an excellent disinfectant. The doctors then used to carry walking sticks with silver or gold knobs. These opened with a lid disclosing a tiny vinaigrette box, which the physician held for his nose when entering rooms containing patients fill four winds, from one end of heaven to the other." It is one of the duties of the angels to carry home God's people.

We have heard the dying saint exclaim just before passing over, "I see them. They have come to take me home." The vision is not the result of a tired and worn out brain. It is a vision of a great reality. God's saints in the past have seen them, why may not his people today see them as they come to the borderland?

HANDKERCHIEFS SEEN IN THE SHOPS.

It was not so long ago that women considered colored pocket handkerchiefs incorrect. Now these are widely used. Not only are borders of white handkerchiefs in colors, but there is a wide display of colored stripes over the surface.

The latest development is to have the linen handkerchief match in color with a border in white and the initials embroidered in white across the croaer.

Even when one does not care for so much color, the all-white handkerchief has the embroidered design in a faint color in the corner with the initials in the centre.

The empire design is still very much favored. Mercury wings are considered new and pretty and circles of solid embroidery one-sixteenth of an inch wide are used with the initials in teh centre.

All of these come in different grades of linen and handiwork. It is not necessary to pay $1.50 for a handkerchief to get it in the latest style of coloring.

Those who have plain white handkerchiefs and want some fancy work to take away with them in the summer could get colored mercerized floss to use in embroidering tiny block initials across the corners.

The long family monogram has been out of style for some time. There is no sign of its return. The letters are not interlaced any more. They are rather widely separated. They are small and done in the open block shape which is easy to do and easy to read.

All the pastel colors are preferred to the vivid ones. Red, purple and green are shelled. Dull blue, pale pink and light violet are used instead.

THE NEWEST STYLES IN CALLING CARDS.

Three inches and a half is supposed to be the proper size for a lady's visiting card, and three inches by one inch and a half for a gentleman's.

There have been some slight variations in size, however, in ladies' cards of late, their tendency being to become smaller and smaller. Small cards are more convenient to carry, but the old-fashioned size is the best style.

Some people assert that the first visiting cards originated from playing cards when ladies used to stake enormous sums on "faro" and "Pope Joan."

At the end of an exciting evening some of the players would clamor for another meeting, at which they could have their revenge, and one of the ladies would scrawl her name and address on one of the cards they had been playing with, adding, the day and hour for the renewal of hostilities.

Cards would seem to be returning to their original use, for after years of gentle seclusion they find themselves written over in all kinds of ways and unceremoniously sent by post.

A USEFUL GIFT TO THE BRIDE.

A set of dust protectors to cover her clothes as they hang in the closet was the most useful gift that one spring bride found in her linen chest. They were just big enough to cover a waist or the top of a skirt, though one could make them larger.

Cross-barred dimity showing a dainty pink or blue flowered design is attractive for this purpose. A piece of six ovesight yards will make as many as good women require. Remnants can be found on the wash goods counter, and even if one cannot pick up a piece of sufficient length to make a complete set of protectors, two or three kinds will answer well.

The material is cut in thirty-inch squares. Then two raw edges free then be hemmed on the machine. In the centre of this square cut out and eyelet and neatly roll the curved edge on the wrong sid and hem it by hand. This provides an opening for the wire part of the coat or skirt hanger.

A set of eight or ten dust covers can easily be made in an afternoon, and when once they have been used they will always be included in the dress closet furnishings.

Dimity makes a fine cover for hanging over light dresses, and if thicker and more substantial ones are liked, brown Holland or any good quality and color of linen can be made into squares. Being flat, they wash perfectly, and materials that will stand occasional cleaning are the kind to select for this purpose. When colored embroidery cotton is used it is well to be sure that it is washable. After the garment is slipped on the wooden or wire hanger the square is hung over the top and allowed to fall as it will. A thirty-inch square is large enough to let it come well over the coat or skirt.

Horan—Is O'Brien a good bluffer?

Doran—No; whenever he gets a spade he spits on his hands.—Illustrated Bits.

MISCELLANEOUS, BUT WHOLLY USEFUL.

For evening entire toilettes of metallic tissue, very transparent and soft, are seen. The skirts is the sheath cut and the bodice is in the high-waisted effect, draped in folds across the front. The idea is from the directoire period, which now seems to govern the fashion world, and the effect is one of utter simplicity.

A smart, distinctive and inexpensive little suit can be made of pongee, jumper style, with an ecru net blouse strapped with pongee, the whole lifted out of the commonplace by touches of Oriental embroidery.

The tailored net shirtwaist is new. Made of fine white net, tucked, with the new tucked band cuffs, finished with knife pleating coming well down over the hand, it is a picture of simple, snowy beauty.

Dimity dust clothes are new and fascinating in their crisp daintiness.

"Guest coats" are the latest in autoto clothes. It seems it is up to owners of motor cars to keep handy a number of long coats for the guests he may invite impromptu.

The fad of wearing pretty ribbons in the hair has brought out the ribbon comb which enables one to arrange the ribbons more easily and securely in one's tresses.

Rhinestone initials in place of buckles are a new fad in footwear.

LITTLE BOY.

Little boy, with eyes of blue,
And oft self-possession rare,
Down the years awaiting you
There are joys beyond compare.
Also there are bits of rue—
Shaded places to go through—
But, as love will go with you,
Don't you care.

Little boy, with lips that smile
And God's sunshine on your hair,
All along life's every mile
There are lilies tall and fair;
Though temptations may beguile,
Rocks and thorns pile on pile,
Love will guard you all the while,
Don't you care.

Don't you care or grieve at all,
All the world loves you, and fair
May your skies be, and the call
Of glad pleasure everywhere—
Roses red and lilies tall
Soften shock and scar and wall—
Love's dream between you and it all,
Don't you care.

—Houston Post.

Which Is the Better?

A distinguished author says that a woman who cannot read or write, but who makes her home and husband comfortable, is far better as a wife than a girl who can speak six languages and does not know how to cook a dinner and keep a house clean. Unless a bride's brains are turned to domestic account they are of very little practical use to a husband.

The fact that she is a brilliant musician and a mistress of French and Italian is poor consolation for burnt chops and muddy coffee. Talent, like charity, should begin at home, and no woman can be called clever who does not use her wits first toward achieving home comfort and skilled housekeeping.

At the same time I know many a bride who is ignorant of "book learning," shaky in her spelling and a shocking housewife, too. After all, to be clever and to cultivate one's mind—without neglecting cookery and the domestic arts—makes a wife a more charming companion to her husband.

On Again, Off Again.

A young Chicago artist who is almost as noted for his convivial tendencies as he is for his genius, was recently asked for his views.

"What does your wife think of these spells? I should think she would not submit to them."

"When I have a spree," confessed the intemperate one, frankly, "she is just as good to me as anyone possibly could be. She takes care of me and nurses me back to decency with a kindness that is superhuman—it is angelic and beyond belief.

"But when I get on the water again, she begins to nag that I never, never again will drink a drop, and she keeps at me so determinedly and so persistently that—by Jove—she makes me so desperate that I have actually to fill up again so that I can forget it."

A Cloak Made of Canvas.

Decidedly smart was the wrap on view recently at one of the more exclusive stores.

The material was a kind of canvas, not unlike hopsacking, and of a peculiar shade of dark blue. It was fashioned on the order of the kimono and trimmed with broad-cloth collar and deep turnback cuffs in an odd shade of geranium red.

The coat was quite simple in design, but owed its distinction to the unusual trimming. The edges of collar and cuffs were decorated with rows of black and gold soutache braid.

Quite Hopeless.

Mistress—Jane, I saw the milkman kiss you this morning. In the futue I will take the milk in.

Jane—'Twould be no use, mum. He's promised never to kiss anybody but me.—Illustrated Bits.

Missing It.

"I see they have taken the 7 a. m. train off this line. Do you miss it?" asked on suburbanite of another.

"I miss it, certainly, but not so often as I used to when it was on."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

AS SHE IS.

Her thoughts are like a flock of butterflies,
She has a merry love for little things,
And a bright flitter of speech
whereto she brings
A threefold eloquence—voice, hands and eyes.
Yet under all a subtle silence lies
As a bird's heart is hidden by its wings;
And you seek through your many wanderings
The fairyland of hey realities

She hides herself behind a busy brain—
A woman, with a child's laugh in her blood;
A maid, wearing the shadow of motherhood—
Wise with the quiet memory of old pain.
As the soft glamour of remembered rain
Hallows the gladness of a sunlit wood.
—Brain Hooker, in Scribner's Magazine.

Girls' College Discipline.

The usual "larks" indulged in by college girls promise to be severely diminished in the future and the most rigid laws will exist. It is found that enthusiastic American girls are taking too many privileges and often their recitations suffer. The stake, for which reason the college discipline has to undergo a great change.

Unless accompanied by relative, maid or teacher, many will be unable to enjoy many special privileges heretofore offered. College girls, as a rule, believe in harmless flirtations, and this bit of mischief will keep many lovers from the door of favorite heroines and it looks very much as though college life would have to drift into ordinary school life.

Fame.

"The boys in this town must have heard all about me before we moved here," boasted Tommy on the day after the family's arrival.

"But there's no one here that knew us," objected his mother.

"That's all right," persisted tommy. "Just as soon as I came in the schoolyard this morning, they all yelled: "'Hello, Bricktop!' Just the way they used to do at home."—Lippincott's.

Legal Battles.

"Some of our hardest legal battles are fought out of court."

"How can that be?"

"For instance, "explained the lawyer, "in case the heirs to an estate want to come to an agreement."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

True to the Letter.

The assistants at a small shop were preparing for a yearly sale. "What shall I mark that lot of black silk?" asked an assistant of the employer.

"Mark the selling price 50 cents a yard," was the answer.

"But I only want 25 cents a yard," said the astonished employe.

"I don't care what it cost, I am selling off regardless of cost," retorted the shop-owner.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

For a Summer Day.

This is excellent and has the merit of being non-alcoholic: Cook together one pound sugar and a half-pint water until it spins like a thread. Take from the fire and turn over a large cup of strong tea. Add the juice of six lemons and the same number of oranges, with a quart of grape juice, and stand aside over night. When ready to serve add sliced fruits and the water, plain or mineral, with ice to the taste.—Boston Herald.

If desired, cut a half-pound of marshmallows into quarters and allow three to each glass.

Iceland Lacks Development.

Up to the present time no mining has been done in Iceland, says a consular report. It is said that investigations have shown that there are rich veins of gold in the vicinity of Reykjavik, the chief port. Last year an agricultural society in Copenhagen sent an engineer to Iceland to investigate the agricultural conditions. He has reported that by a system of irrigation 16,547 hectares, equal to 40,888 acres, can be placed under cultivation at a cost of about $17,600. At present only 4,9018 hectares, equal to 42,054 acres, are under cultivation. It is claimed that the construction of roads, bridges, and especially railroads, would contribute much to the development of the country. There are important water falls that could be utilized for power purposes.

A New Skirt Pattern.

There is a becoming skirt with circular flounce. Inverted box pleats in front and back, and a new gored style; both of which are popular. All lines are straighter, apparently, and yet the skirts must not hang in unbecomingly straight lines. Such are a few of the directions that are given out to puzzled womankind.

The Sorrow of It.

"It's too bad," observed the man who seemed to be thinking aloud.

"What's too bad?" queried the party who had overheard the observation.

"That our neighbors always know when we have fried onions for suppes, but never get sent when we have strawberries and ice cream," explained the noisy thinker.—Chicago News.

New Jersey Central

In Effect June 28, 1903.

For New York—2.17, 5.37, 8.26, 6.02, 6.29, 6.57, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night. Sundays—2.17, 5.37, 8.26, 6.02, 6.29, 6.57, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night.

For Newark—6.29, 6.57, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night. Sundays—8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night.

For Elizabeth—6.29, 6.57, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night. Sundays—8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night.

For Rahway—6.29, 6.57, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night. Sundays—8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night.

For Perth Amboy—6.29, 6.57, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night. Sundays—8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night.

For Bound Brook—6.29, 6.57, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night. Sundays—8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night.

For Somerville and Easton—6.29, 6.57, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night. Sundays—8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.01, 12.45 night.

For Allentown and Mauch Chunk—9.55 a. m., 2.00, 5.23, p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—5.18, 9.55 a. m., 2.00, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc., 9.55 a. m., 10.50 a. m., (12.45 Saturdays only), 2.00, 4.23, 5.23, 11.38 p. m. Sundays—8.52, 9.45 a. m., 2.30, 5.13 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—2.37, 9.25 a. m., (12.45 Atlantic City and Saturdays only), 1.22, 4.23, 11.38 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 1.45 p. m.

For Philadelphia—2.17, 2.37, 5.26, 6.02, 6.29, 10.43 a. m., 12.12, 12.42, 1.29, 2.14, 2.45, 3.14, 3.45, 4.14, 4.45, 5.14, 5.45, 6.14, 6.45, 7.14, 8.53, 9.13, 10.42 p. m. Sundays—2.17, 2.37, 5.26, 6.02, 6.29, 10.43 a. m., 12.12, 12.42, 2.45, 5.29, 6.44, 8.50, 9.13, 10.42 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington—5.48, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 5.44 p. m. Sundays—5.48, 10.43 a. m., 2.45, 5.44 p. m.

Chester—Cars at Bound Brook

W. G. HESLER, Gen. Pass. Agt. W. C. HOPE, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr. Gen. Pass. Agt.

Arrival and Departure of Mails

SCHUYLERVILLE POSTOFFICE

Office Open 7 a. m. closes 7 p. m.
On Sundays 9 a. m. to 10 a. m. only hour later

NEW YORK MAIL

Arrive—7.30, 8.40, 11.30 a. m., 7.30 p. m.
" 1.30, 9.15 midnight.
Close—7.00, 8.30 a. m., 1.00, 3.20 p. m.
7.45 p. m.

SCHUYLERVILLE AND EASTON

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 1.30, 3.15 p. m.
Close—8.30 a. m., 1.45 and 4.30 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA Direct

Arrive—8.40, 8.40 and 11.30 a. m., 7.30 p. m.
Close—7.00, 8.30 a. m., 1.00 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR EAST

Close—8.30 and 7.15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR WEST AND SOUTH

Close—12.15, 6.00, 7.15 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA West

ELIZABETH Direct

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 2.30 p. m.
Close—8.30 a. m., 4.30 p. m.

NEWARK Direct

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 2.30 p. m.
Close—8.30 a. m., 4.30 p. m.

WARMING, WARNER

Arrive—12.15 p. m.
Close—12.15 p. m.

WATCHUNG

Arrive—12.15 p. m.
Close—12.15 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS

Arrive—8.40 a. m.
Close—8.30 a. m.

The Diet and the Children.

In these days of the autocratic "young America" it seems almost daring to suggest a "diet" for the small boy and girl. And yet there is nothing that is of greater importance in the bringing up of children than the apparently simple question of what they should eat.

When a child is old enough to eat solid food, great care should be taken in the choice of his diet.

Do not feed the child potatoes as they are not fully enough developed with starch, which forms the solid part of this vegetable. Give him beef and lamb broth, one or two boiled eggs, and for fruit, squeeze out the juice of an orange. Do not give the whole orange to children, as they are apt to swallow some of the white tissue, which is indigestible. Bananas are most difficult to digest and it is a mistake to give them to a child under 4 to 5 years of age.

Slaves in the Philippines.

At Iloilo the Igorrote ladies wrap themselves in a sort of endless such, but out in the country they wear "evening dress" down to the waist. With the men the "G" string is considered quite sufficient anywhere, except when on church bent. If desired, cut a half-pound of marshmallows into quarters and allow three to each glass.

Iceland Lacks Development.

Up to the present time no mining has been done in Iceland, says a consular report. It is said that investigations have shown that there are rich veins of gold in the vicinity of Reykjavik, the chief port. Last year an agricultural society in Copenhagen sent an engineer to Iceland to investigate the agricultural conditions. He has reported that by a system of irrigation 16,547 hectares, equal to 40,888 acres, can be placed under cultivation at a cost of about $17,600. At present only 4,9018 hectares, equal to 42,054 acres, are under cultivation. It is claimed that the construction of roads, bridges, and especially railroads, would contribute much to the development of the country. There are important water falls that could be utilized for power purposes.

A New Skirt Pattern.

There is a becoming skirt with circular flounce. Inverted box pleats in front and back, and a new gored style; both of which are popular. All lines are straighter, apparently, and yet the skirts must not hang in unbecomingly straight lines. Such are a few of the directions that are given out to puzzled womankind.

The Sorrow of It.

"It's too bad," observed the man who seemed to be thinking aloud.

"What's too bad?" queried the party who had overheard the observation.

"That our neighbors always know when we have fried onions for suppes, but never get sent when we have strawberries and ice cream," explained the noisy thinker.—Chicago News.

New Neck Adornment.

Wide ribbon and quantities of it will be made up during the next few months into the most bewitching of all feminine accessories, the neck sash, which so satisfactorily solves the problem of supporting the stock collar and of filling the unsightly space between the hair line and the collar which has been the bane of womankind for time immemorial.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 9, 1908.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic—Why and how to be healthy.—I Cor. vi, 19, 20.

There are few things in life that are more important than good health. With it and a fair amount of intelligence one may accomplish a great deal in a lifetime. But without it even a most brilliant mind cannot compensate it; hence the classic adage, "A sound mind in a sound body." Ill health comes from various sources. Sometimes it is inherited, or at least the tendency toward certain diseases which bring ill health for perhaps many years is inherited. In other cases, through accidents and events beyond our control, we suffer permanent ill health. In such cases no blame rests upon us, but with a brave heart and trust in God we should strive to regain as far as possible this great blessing of life.

Ill health frequently comes as a result of our own misdeeds. Nervous diseases, so plentiful and so disastrous today, are usually the result of overwork or overworry, or both combined. The insatiate greed for gold leads many to irregularity in living, to burdening mind and body more than they are able to stand, and the result is the weakening of the nervous system, which is so vital to health. Sinful lives, for which men are responsible themselves, wreck the health of many a man. Licentiousness, Intemperance and other sins of the body sooner or later wreck the strongest of constitutions, and we find men at forty ill and decrepit who should be physically and mentally in the very prime of life. But they are old men before their day, made so by indulgence in sinful and ruinous habits. Young people, guard well your health if you have it, and seek it if it is in any way impaired.

But why should we be healthy? It has already been pointed out that health is important to our temporal welfare, but it is more than that. Our bodies, as Paul says, are the temple of the Holy Ghost, and this dwelling place should be a healthful one. It should be especially free from sin and the forms of illness that cover this sin. Moreover, the apostle declares that our bodies are not ours alone; that they belong to Christ, who has bought them with his own life's blood, and Christ wants the bodies that belong to Him to be clean and healthy. While on earth He healed men's bodies and still today does so, when in accordance with God's will and plan for us, in answer to our prayers. These facts testify to His interest in the health of our bodies. Moreover, strong, healthy bodies are necessary to the best service that we can render God. We are commanded to love God "with all our strength"—physical strength. Nor can the mind and soul reach their highest achievements except through vigorous bodies. Bodily limitations are tremendous obstacles when they are strong, but how they hinder us when they are weak and ineffective!

How may we be healthy? Obey the laws of God and of nature. The man who obeys God's written commands will avoid many things that break down the health of the body. The man who obeys the laws of God in nature will conserve good health. Be temperate in all things—eating, drinking, in work and in pleasure. Be regular in all habits and have only good ones. Eat good food. Waste none of your sleeping time, for sleep is a great factor in health. Find time for recreation and exercise, always remembering that overexercising is as imprudent as none at all. A man whose business is in an office does not need muscles like a Sandow and only injures himself in trying to develop them by excess. Spend as much time as possible out of doors and in outdoor exercise. The simple methods of developing and preserving health are in the majority of cases the better. Then when passing good health "glorify God in your body and in your spirit, which are God's."

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xlii, 20-28; Lev. xix, 27, 28; Prov. xvii, 20-22; Ps. cili. 1-5; exix. 67-64; John vi, 47-51; I. Cor. iii, 16, 17; 1. Tim. iv, 8; III. John i, 3.

The New Committees.

As a warning the following clever lines by Amos R. Wells are published to be posted in each committeeman's hat to be read when his interest is lagging or his heart growing faint:

Ten new committees, vigorous and fine;
One was too ambitious, and then there were nine.

Nine new committees, zealous and elate;
One got offended, and then there were eight.

Eight new committees laboring for heaven;
One got too shirking, and then there were seven.

Seven new committees "putting in best licks;"
One found it tedious, and then there were six.

Six new committees looking all alive;
One went to sleep, and then there were five.

Five new committees keeping up their score;
One became "too busy," and then there were four.

Four new committees, bright as bright could be;
One became careless, and then there were three.

Three new committees hunting things to do;
One thought he couldn't, and then there were two.

Two new committees, proud of good things done;
One grew "so tired," and then there was one.

One new committee holding on for fun;
Fun got exhausted, and then there were none.

—Australian Roll Call.

WHY CHILDREN ARE DECEPTIVE.

Fear of Punishment Frequently Leads to Untruthfulness.

Untruthfulness in children sometimes arises through the fault of their elders, who suggest to them untruths, which children indorse from an innate sense of politeness and a wish to be agreeable. "Don't you like so and so?" says the elder, and the child agrees. "Isn't this pretty?" comes later on, and the child partly believes that it is pretty since the suggestion has been made, the child's idea regarding the article in question would have been that it was extremely ugly. A yet more fruitful source of untruthfulness lies in the fear of punishment, and this is particularly the case with children of delicate body or of nervous temperament. Children who are governed by love rather than by fear escape this temptation to lie, but when a child feels that punishment for a fault or failing is inevitable, it seems such a little thing to cover the frailty with a lie, and yet the child who lacks the moral courage to avow a fault suffers untold agonies of remorse for every lapse from truth. Let children be encouraged to own their faults, and even the most nervous can be made to do it, if sure that the confession takes away the punishment, or reduces it to such an extent that no bodily suffering is entailed.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

FINISHED SERMON FOR HUSBY.

Wife's Readiness and Eloquence That Was Altogether Unappreciated.

"Speaking of wives' duties," said the Manayunk philosopher, "I once attended service at a Unitarian church in Brooklyn when the pastor's voice went back on him. Went back altogether, it did. He stood there before us in the pulpit silently opening and shutting his mouth like a fish.

"His wife came quickly from her pew, and mounting into the pulpit, she waved her husband aside, took up the sermon where he had left off, finished it eloquently and afterward brought the morning service to a conclusion with prayer."

"How very helpful that was," said a listener.

"Yet the husband didn't think so," said the philosopher. "He called it offensive, was quite surly, said his wife had been trying to show off.

"The question is," the philosopher concluded, "can a wife in her helpful zeal go too far?"

Leech a Weather Prophet.

A leech confined in a vial of water will prove an excellent weather prophet.

If the weather is to continue fine the leech lies motionless at the bottom of the vial and rolled together in a spiral form.

If rain is to rain, either before or after noon, it is found to have crept up to the top of its lodging, and there it remains till the weather is settled.

If we are to have wind, the poor prisoner gallops through his limpid habitation with amazing swiftness, and seldom rests till it begins to blow hard.

Sale of Opium in France.

According to the Echo de Paris, the government has under consideration a decree more strictly regulating the sale of opium that one hitherto has been the case. The new decree will, it says, provide that henceforth only such apothecaries and druggists as receive special authorization may keep or sell opium. Furthermore, they must ascertain the object for which the drug is purchased, and keep a register of that object, as well as of the name and address of the buyer and the quantity sold.

Witch's Comb in a Window.

So many "precious" things are on sale every day that one grows rather skeptical about them. A curio shop uptown has in its window a comb with an alliterative and alluring legend that it was "worn by a witch." It is one of those high shell objects familiar in old portraits, and though it is not carved, as are many specimens, the card excites the interest of passers-by. Likely enough some girl who had ancestors in Salem, Mass., will buy the comb and proclaim it an heirloom.—New York Press.

Two Kinds of Fame.

When Haydon, the painter, visited Stratford, he held forth about Shakespeare to some rustics he met in a wayside inn. They told him that Stratford then contained "another wonderful fellow, one John Cooper."

"Why, what has he done?"

"Why, sur, I'll tell 'ee. He's lived 90 years in this here town, man and boy, and never had the toothache!"

Club for the Babies.

A Paris journalist has founded a babies' club. It is a spacious and pleasant building, with a garden and a clubhouse where games of all kinds are provided. There is a Punch and Judy show, and a cafe, where sweets, cakes, tea, milk and various kinds of lemonade are sold to members and their parents, while there are also many toy ships and a theater.

Ominous.

"The bookkeeper," said the junior partner, "has been married nearly four months now."

"Well," demanded the senior partner, "what of that?"

"Why, he hasn't asked for an increase in salary—"

"Heavens! We must have his accounts examined."—Catholic Standard and Times.

CARE OF THE SKIN WHEN OUT OF DOORS.

Devotees to outdoor sport will do well to remember that it is easier to prevent than remove the beauty-destroying effects of their indulgence in their favorite sports.

Chamois or white cotton gloves will be of service to prevent tan, sunburn and freckles, while afield.

There is absolutely no excuse for a woman of leisure to neglect her finger nails. Children should be taught at an early stage to keep nails well shaped and clean. The biting habit is only curable by having the nails manicured frequently. When all the little rough particles are removed the inclination to bite is decidedly lessened.

Those who wish to be their own manicurer should have an orange-wood stick, file, cuticle pusher, cuticle scissors, buffer and nail powder. Lemon juice, two-thirds part, and one-third water, used on top and under the nail with stick is cleansing and will loosen the cuticle.

First file the nail to the desired length and shape, then soak in warm, sonpy water, loosen the cuticle with the stick and bleach, then the pusher.

If necessary cut the cuticle with the little scissors, placing the points under and then turn the scissors toward the nail, with a view to avoid cutting too closely. Cold cream can be applied after the cutting. Polish, bathe, dry and polish again with a buffer, that has not been used with the powder. After the bath is a very good time for the treatment.

The hands can be whitened with a liquid powder. Never file or cut low at the corners, as it hopelessly destroys the cuticle and ruins the shape of the nails. Do not cut the cuticle unless it is absolutely necessary.

The frequency of treatment must be governed by the occupation, condition of the nails and inclination of the owner.

The moist, clammy hand is often the source of annoyance to the unfortunate possessor. This condition often requires a nerve tonic, in other cases it has been corrected by the use of an astringent.

HOTEL MAN SHOOTS HIMSELF IN THE HEAD.

Frank Brubaker, proprietor of Sunset Lodge at Lakewood, shot himself through the head at Point Pleasant Sunday afternoon and died shortly after he was brought to St. James' Hospital at Lakewood. It is presumed that financial difficulties and the consequent worriment had unsettled Brubaker's mind.

Since the close of the hotel season in Lakewood, Brubaker has been catching as freight agent for the Central road at Keyport, N. J. Sunday he left Keyport for Point Pleasant, presumably intending to drive across from Point Pleasant to his home at Lakewood.

Instead, after leaving the Point Pleasant depot, he wandered off from Arnold avenue into a bit of woods, sat down under a tree and sent a bullet crashing through his brain. The deed was seen by a young woman, Miss Clark, who ran screaming for help. Joseph Middleton, who was near and he placed Brubaker in an automobile and hurried him to the hospital at Lakewood.

Brubaker was 52 years old and leaves a wife and two children, one a babe in arms and the other half grown. He was formerly in well-to-do circumstances, but is known to have worried lately over his financial difficulties.

LIFE.

(As the pessimist see it.)

A berry pie to kick about—
A cozy home to scrap in—
Some kindly ears in which to shout
The woes that never happen—
A feather bed on which to toss
So sleeplessly—it's shocking!
A little time to knock the boss—
O, lots and lots of knocking!
A sky that will undoubtedly
Soon darken up the glower—
A pretty cloud that soon will be,
No doubt, a dreary shower.
Then comes a time, when those who b'lieve,
May make their plans to sever
Those ties that bind to earth and
This bum old world forever.

—Buffalo Evening News.

FLUFFY FRILLS FROM FASHION'S FANCIES.

A pair of pins for the collar, one small and one large, are very useful and hold the collar and bow in place.

Silk negligee shirts for men have a monogram embroidered in pastel shades or to match the color in the shirt. The monogram is on the left arm.

New trimmings are tassels of silk and silver or gold thread, crochet balls of all sizes and shapes and buttons covered with chintz or sometimes heavily embroidered.

Woven silk belts can be found in stripes and plain colors. The buckles are dull gold. One great advantage is that the belt will wash readily.

Pique robe gowns embroidered in eyelet or solid embroidery are a novelty.

Butterfly bows of satin ribbon are embroidered in ribbon on the ends.

Pins to hold the veil in place are miniature swords or arrows. The blade pierces the straw and veil and the sheath slips on over the pin the arrow head fastens it in.

SMARTNESS MAY NOT MEAN GREAT OUTLAY.

There is a popular fallacy in existence that the dowdy woman is more economical than the smart, dressed girl.

But ugly clothes cost just as much as pretty ones when one has to pay for them. The woman who takes an intelligent interest in dress knows how to get the best results for the least expenditure. An eye for color, the knowledge of how to dress according to one's own style, the instinct of suitability in dress, are valuable attributes to all women whose circumstances compel them to dress well on a small allowance.

Men acknowledge that a smartly dressed wife is a help in many cases to the struggling professional man, to the business man who makes a bid for social and commercial success.

Only the very rich can afford to disregard the importance of appearances; but it is an expensive matter if she has no love of clothes. It means a waste of time, it means paying well to get the benefit of some-body else's taste in dress. The woman who genuinely loves pretty frocks, who has the artistic feeling for chiffons, studies her subject and does not suffer so much from the tyranny of fashion. She has individuality and initiative where dress is concerned. She can get her "money's worth" when she goes shopping.

It requires brains to dress well on little. It means the exercise of caution and judgment to avoid fashion's pitfalls in the shape of passing atrocities, to choose what is at once suitable, becoming, and according to the mode.

SUGGESTIONS FOR AN EVENING PARTY.

A funny game to arrange is to assign each man of the party to the task of writing a description of some lady's gown. The name of the person whose gown is to be described must be given a paper and pencils are passed for the purpose and about ten minutes allowed for the work.

Meanwhile the women can be working for another prize in a nonsense contest of a different sort. A very absurd and exciting one is to give each feminine competitor an empty pin paper which she is required to fill in a certain length of time. The holes for the pins are already made.

A bowl of loose pins is placed on the table around which the fair players gather, and each strives to get her paper filled first. The woman whose paper is full when the time limit is up, or who has filled more rows than any fellow-worker, wins a pretty pin cushion. The gentleman whose description is considered the best by three feminine judges appointed to pronounce upon the masculine attempts receives a prize. This might be a book containing portraits of famous beauties of the past in their quaint costumes.

A NEW BLOUSE.

The latest novelty is the blouse in filet net, braided and worn with a blouse of colored silk muslin. It is really the prettiest and latest thing. The style seems likely to become a great favorite whether for very elegant dress or for more simple bodices, more appropriate for wearing under a tailor-made jacket.

Lawn is much worn, either striped or plain; it is made in plaits and ornamented with lace and other baby-like trimmings. The fashionable color is white, but now there is, in addition, this new departure in filet net.

The latter is preferably cut Japanese style, and hangs quite loose, with the ends tucked into the band of the skirt; there is no decided opening, the squares of network lie one within the other, or else are separately braided and looped together with chains of the same network. The neck is usually cut low over a yoke and a very high embroidered collar, yoke and collar being in muslin.

FOR THE BABY'S CARRIAGE.

It is a clever idea to knit straps for the baby's coach, for they may then be kept clean and the straps may match the cover. Besides this, they take little or no time to make, for they are only about twenty inches long and two or three inches wide. They may be knitted or crocheted, and present many possibilities. Finish at each end with a fancy curtain ring, which hooks on to each side of the coach. The best material for the purpose is a heavy zephyr, which is more elastic than the finished kind and stronger.

Sometimes the straps are done in pink and white and blue and white stripes, and sometimes they are done in solid color; but anyway, the baby should have at least three straps, so that they may always be clean and always appropriate to the color worn at the time.

A bone crochet needle of medium size, or a pair of fairly thick bone knitting needles should be used, so that the stitches will not be too close together.

Needle a Pacificator.

One great trouble with the Shah of Persia is that he has no Taft to calmly say: "Let's settle this matter without causing hard feelings anywhere.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Desirable Letters.

Patience—Is the Russian alphabet the same as ours?

Patrice—Practically; only there are a lot more a's and x's, I believe.—Yonkers Statesman.

SOME CURIOUS PLANTS IN THE GARDENS.

A very old plant in the government botanical garden at Washington, is the so-called "barber plant." It comes from the Orient, and is not used, as its names might imply, to help barbers, but rather to their detriment, since it is rubbed on the face to keep the beard from growing.

It is not supposed to have any effect on a beard that is already rooted, but merely to act as a preventive, boys employing it to keep the hair from getting a start on their faces. It is also employed by some Oriental people who desire to keep parts of their heads free from hair, as a matter of fashion.

Also found in the botanical garden is the "crest plant," which is so designated because it catches butterflies and kills them for sheer sport. Its flowers attract the poor little flutterer by the honey it offers, and when the victim lights upon it, it grabs the butterfly by the head and holds it fast until the captive dies. Then the flower drops it on the ground and lies in wait for a fresh unfortunate.

Curious looking tree from the isthmus of Panama bears a round, red fruit as large as an apple, which has this remarkable faculty, that its juice rubbed in tough beef or chicken makes the meat tender by the chemical power its possesses to separate the flesh fibre.

One is interested to observe in the botanical greenhouse three kinds of plants that have real consumption of the lungs—the leaves, of course, being the lungs of a plant. The disease is manifested by the turning of the leaves from green to white. The affection gradually spreading from one spot until when a leaf is all white it it just about to die.

Cruelly enough as it would seem, the gardeners only try to perpetuate the disease for the sake of the beauty and curiosity of plants of those varieties that are too healthy being thrown away.

FASHIONABLE PALLOR.

Pallor is quite fashionable in France, so this year if you would be fashionable as to complexion you must be excessively pale. Thinness came to be modish several seasons ago, and gray hair displaced locks of red and of gold in the coiffure; but the rage of death was never desirable until the use of rouge manufacturers have grown rich producing the shades of vermilion which go best with complexions of olive and cream.

All fashions are liable to change in Paris, and now women are going in for morbid effects, even in their skin. Certain classes are seeking weird complexions by rubbing powders into creamed skins, producing a sort of pasty surface that suggests again the makeup of a Pierrot. Is exactly the same that a Camile or consumptive heroine smears in behind the scene. So this complexion is now sold in Paris in pots and boxes, with directions how to apply. Anything like the cadaverous tinge of pink is declined, for the skin must be really a smoky white.

HINT FOR PETTICOAT BLOUSE.

The trimming alone gives to a linen shirtwaist the pretty effect it displays, for the waist alone is exceedingly plain with stitched bands over the shoulders, pointed at each end, to produce a dressy effect.

The point at the back and front reached a few inches above the waist is finished with three immense eyelets on each side, at least an inch across and heavily outlined with a buttonhole stitch. A flat white silk collar, shaped to a decided V in the front, is finished with two long white ribbons laced through the eyelets and tied in a tight four-in-hand below the bust line. Cuffs of the same white silk, rolled back upon the short length sleeves. The lusterless silk looks very handsome with the dull white linen.

Trimming White Linen.

While linens trimmed prodigiously with heavy lace are very smart and becoming, and have the very considerable advantage of being cool, a virtue in the directoire style, notwithstanding its various transparencies and absence of petticoats—a pulled-in waist being about the hottest misery possible. One embroidered linen coat and skirt is trimmed with handsome panels of thick white lace, which are held with a fancy curtain ring, which hooks on to each side of the coach. The best material for the purpose is a heavy zephyr, which is more elastic than the finished kind and stronger.

Sometimes the straps are done in pink and white and blue and white stripes, and sometimes they are done in solid color; but anyway, the baby should have at least three straps, so that they may always be clean and always appropriate to the color worn at the time.

A bone crochet needle of medium size, or a pair of fairly thick bone knitting needles should be used, so that the stitches will not be too close together.

Needle a Pacificator.

One great trouble with the Shah of Persia is that he has no Taft to calmly say: "Let's settle this matter without causing hard feelings anywhere.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Desirable Letters.

Patience—Is the Russian alphabet the same as ours?

Patrice—Practically; only there are a lot more a's and x's, I believe.—Yonkers Statesman.

A DELICIOUS ROAST AT LITTLE COST.

"At last I have found a way of roasting meats which costs little in gas and nothing at all in trouble," said a young housekeeper who is fond of cooking and likes to try experiments. "I take a two-gallon butter jar, one that is as wide as it is high. You can get one for 25 cents. I wash the meat season it to taste and place it in the jar dry—not a drop of water. No, it won't burn and the steam makes the gravy.

"To keep the steam in I have a good cover, heavily weighted to hold it down tight. I place the jar over a gas burner with an asbestos mat between and the gas not too high. Then I just let it alone. In a couple of hours or so, according to the size of the roast, it is done to a turn, with gravy golden brown and ready for thickening.

"This process makes even tough meat tender and the gravy is richer than the gravy of meat roasted in the oven. But what commends it to me is the fact that in roasting meat this way there is no stooping down and scorching your face every few minutes to baste. You can just put the jar over the fire and go out shopping, and when you come back the chief part of your dinner is done. I have prepared six-pound roasts in this way.

"I've made a schedule of the length of time needed for cooking different kinds of meat: For beef, thirty to forty minutes; chicken, thirty to thirty-five minutes; pork, twenty to thirty minutes; tame duck, thirty to forty minutes."

STILL NEED TO HARP ON THE OLD SUBJECT.

"The stitch in time!" How we do hate those trite, old, well-worn but never worn out, sayings—especially when we feel that they "cap fits" (another too-personal-to-be-polite, saying) our own special head. But we can never get around the truth of them.

Very essential is that proverbial stitch in these days of diaphanous fabrics, narrow, close-fitting garments, transparent yokes and sleeves; for, one thread broken, the damage is little less complete than when a thread is dropped in a silken stocking.

Some one asked me the other day how to keep silk stockings from wearing out. I could think of no way except to keep them in the bureau drawer.

See to your collars. Best and broken bones may be those of the most perfect neck. And fresh ruchings? Why, of course; I might treat of those in a story on cleanliness.

See to your hooks and eyes. Nothing presents a more dejected look than a hanging hook and eye. It has such a reproachful aspect. It, in itself, is perfectly good and anxious to do duty, but its environment makes it impossible.

See to your dress braid. A woman with a frayed dress braid is pitiful—and ridiculous. If she cannot afford a new one, let her rip the old one off and turn it inside down; if she has already done this, rip it off altogether and go braidless. But then the skirt itself will become frayed? Then turn it's new hem. This process may be repeated indefinitely, but for a number of times quite within the bounds of modesty.

The petticoat should be an object of special care. It is easy to pin it up, but it will last no longer for it take the despised "stitch." A silk petticoat discarded its other day by a fair maid had acquired pins approaching fifty-seven varieties.

THE CANNING SEASON NOW AT HAND.

If you want the flavor of the fruit to come out well do not use an excess of sugar.

Never use poor fruit for canning. The best is none too good. Let it be as fresh as possible and not overripe.

Handle it as little as possible.

Have everything in readiness before you begin operations. The woman who has to run to pantry or kitchen every time a thing is wanted makes herself double the work that's necessary.

Use the best grade of sugar. It may cost a little more than the ordinary, but it will make your fruit enough better to pay the difference in cost.

Do not stir your fruit when it is cooking. If you want to know how it is coming along take out a piece of it without disturbing the rest.

Give it a brisk boiling. If allowed to stand and simmer it will not retain its shape well.

When the cans are ready for sealing see that the covers fit perfectly. Never use one that does not hug down tightly to the shoulder of the jar.

Splash.

Barkeep—Wot 'll yeh have?

Stoodent B—Got any champagne on ice?

Barkeep—Sure.

Stoodent B—Gimme a nickel's worth of ice.—Cornell Widow.

Not a Chance.

"Are you willing to take your chances in the matrimonial game?"

"No."

"Why?"

"There are no chances in it."—New York Journal.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Senor Tomas Gaillardo was yesterday appointed Secretary of Finance of Ecuador in succession to Senor Bellisario Torres, resigned.

M. Jusau, the French Minister of Agriculture, has made James B. Mac-Laughlin, of Cohasset, Mass., a commander of the Order of Merite Agricole.

William C. Fox, the American Minister to Ecuador, with his family left Quito Sunday for Guayaquil, where he will board Archer Harman's yacht, the Cavalier, bound for Panama.

Ex-Governor William L. Douglas, of Massachusetts, has presented to the Brockton Day Nursery Association, of Brockton, Mass., a building, together with an endowment of $10,000.

General Josseceline H. Wodehouse, Governor of Bermuda, has been selected by the British War Office to succeed General Sir Bindon Blood as the commander of the Northern Punjab Division in India.

For the purpose of studying again the choosing of a president and the methods employed to win votes in a national campaign, Mosei I. Ostrogorski, the distinguished Russian sociologist, has come to United States and will remain in the country until next November's election.

Count Komura, the Japanese Ambassador to the Court of St. James, will leave London on July 29 to take up the post of Foreign Minister in the new Katsura Cabinet. The count will go to Tokio by way of America.

Frank S. Hastings, rear commodore of the Seawanhaka Yacht Club of Oyster Bay, was decorated Monday at the Order of St. Stanislaus, presented to him by Baron Schilling, consul-general at New York, on behalf of the Russian Emperor.

Count Herman von Hatzfeldt, Wildenburg, counsellor of the German Embassy at Washington, will soon be transferred to the post of counsellor of Embassy at Constantinople, being succeeded at Washington by Count George von Wedel, who is at present second secretary of the German Embassy at Rome.

THE IDEAL PRESIDENT.

(Inspired by a careful reading of Mr. Bryan's article on what sort of a man the President should be.)

Now listen and I'll tell you
Just what a President should do.

I will describe with perfect tact
The way a President should act.

And, too, I'll point out, by your leave,
Precisely what he should eschew.

And then, I'll set down, one by one,
The things which he should leave undone.

Likewise, I'll tell, and never shrink,
The sort of thoughts he ought to think.

I'll go still further and reveal
Just how a President should feel.

I'll let you know he should talk
And write and breathe and eat as walk.

On all these things I'll briefly dwell,
For on the subject I've thought well.

The things to me is very real,
And so I've built up my ideal

Of what a President should be—
But what's the use? Just look at ME!

—N. A. J. in N. Y. World.

TUCKERS AND FRILLS.

The revival of the becoming tucker for the neck, now known by the inexpressive and vague term of "frillings," has led to quite a revolution in neckwear.

The latest idea is to have a very stiff, upstanding frill of satin or moire silk in the top of the collar. In Paris they now wear quite a kind of collar, tulle or lace, with a colored ribbon tied around the middle, one frill appearing above it, standing up, and two below it, lying down. The ribbon is tied under the left ear in an exaggerated bow, which is very becoming, but also rather self-conscious, so that none but really pretty people can afford to wear it, even when it becomes them. It is essentially the fetish chosen by a pretty woman to worship when pretty she is.

Unfortunately, there are many things which suit the average woman, but she dare not wear them because they seem like claiming for herself a beauty to which she certainly has no wish to pretend.

TO BE MADE AT HOME.

One-piece sacques of all-over embroidery, dotted Swiss or lawn have sleeves produced by the two parts over the arm being caught together and tied with pretty ribbon. A more elaborate short negligee has its accordion-plaited lawn fronts and back attached to a square, round or pointed yoke of embroidery or lace.

Colored lawn kimonos have band embroidery borders and shaped backs with tucks or box plaits stitched to the waist or falling loose from the shoulders. The double handkerchief elbow sleeves are embroidery band-finished, and a ribbon sash confines the fulness at the waist, this adding to the garment's trimness. With them, as well as with linen, piques and duck walking skirts, are worn the sheath, flip-fitting umbrella white cotton petticoats trimmed with embroidered muslin flouncings.

The Costitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 1908.

From far off Sea Girt, where the newspaper correspondents are in great straights at times for stories, the New York Tribune has a dispatch announcing to the people of this district that Charles Newell Fowler will be renominated by the Republicans for Congress. The basis for this prediction is found in a casual statement alleged to have been made by State Treasurer Voorhees. "Morris county and Fowler went down ago and I guess we can do it again," "Uncle Dan" is reported as having said. If he did say it, he told the entire truth. But "Uncle Dan," powerful though he be, is not Morris county and neither is he the convention representing the Republicans of the Fifth district which also includes Union and Warren.

It is, indeed, a sad state of affairs when a candidate for office has to go outside of his own county to show any plausible excuse for his running. During the fourteen years he has been Congressman, Mr. Fowler has been a resident of Union county. His county is the stronghold of Republicanism in the district as well as in the State at large. Yet what was the result when he last sought the office? Is it not fresh in the minds of every Republican that Union was swept three years ago by all Republican tickets with a single exception. That conspicuous exception was in Mr. Fowler's case. Worse still, his radical Democratic opponent, coming from Plainfield, an ironbound Republican city, vanquished him in his own city, Elizabeth. As Mr. Voorhees is alleged to have intimated, Morris saved Mr. Fowler from a crushing and most humiliating defeat. And as he further intimates, it will have to do the same herole service again, in all probability, if he is renominated. But would his nomination be a wise one in a Presidential year when every man on the ticket should be a help to it rather than a decided detriment? Are there not hundreds of equally able men in the district who would be willing to become the party nominee and whose strength with the intelligent voters would insure a most signal victory at the polls on November 3?

AMUSEMENT.

The program offered at Proctor's Newark theatre during the week of August 3 abounds as usual with novelties and stellar features. One of the program's most entertaining numbers will be the elaborate dramatic production presented by Mr. and Mrs. Robyns and Company entitled "Shore Folks." The playlet is the joint work of Mr. Robyns and W. L. Dockstader. Another dainty offering that will serve to introduce Felice Morris, daughter of that sterling actor, Felix Morris, to the vaudeville public is "The Old Old Story" by Francis Wilson. Charles Silvkan, Russell Barrett will assist Miss Morris in the exploitation of this comedy. The Willy Parris Troupe, without peers in their line, will be seen in a series of acrobatic feats each bordering on the sensational. Now that the directoire gown has the call "The quartette with the Four Sheath Gown Girls" will find immediate favor. Gilday and Fox, notwithstanding their Celtic names, are a pair of clever Hebrew dialect comedians. Sharp Brothers and their six Dusky Belles appear in a Southern scenic specialty entitled "Dancing on the Levee." Marie Rivoli, a rapid sculptor, offers a distinct novelty using cloth instead of clay in all his models. Leonie Pam, an attractive and pretty new-comer in the vaudeville ranks, will be heard in some of her musical comedy successes. New animated pictures as usual close the bill.

Chests for the Bride.

Every fall bride will want a box to hold the articles of her trousseau as they are gathered together. Beautiful boxes of cedar may be purchased for little, and are made in a very convenient way. Instead of the lid lifting up, as did the box of greatgrandma's so long ago, the front may be dropped open, revealing two drawers to hold the things. The box locks securely and the effect is very neat. Dark cedar boxes are ornamented with the bride's initials in German letters of solid brass placed on the false lid.

Just So.

Mr. Stubb—Maria, what was that electrician talking about so long this morning?

Mrs. Stubbs—Why, John, he said for $2 he could put in a battery that would run the electric fans, the door bell, the sewing machine and furnish enough heat to run an electric range. What do you think of that?

Mr. Stubb—Just Maria, I'd call that current fiction.—Chicago News.

No Use.

"Are you feeling very ill?" asked the doctor. "Let me see your tongue, please?"

"What's the use, doctor?" replied the patient, "no tongue can tell how bad I feel."—Roseleaf.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Convictions Not Impossible.

Those who argue that it is impossible to enforce the "bishops' law" are asked to turn their attention to Union county. Three convictions for violations of the screen law were recorded there on Wednesday, following the conviction of a liquor dealer on Tuesday for the same offense. A person indicted for selling bottled beer pleaded guilty, and was fined $50. Those guilty of violating the screen provision of the "bishops' law" were fined $100 to $300 each.

Now this is in the county of Union and city of Elizabeth, which has been pronounced about the worst managed city thus far probed in this State. And what is most pertinent in this connection is the fact that hitherto it has been practically impossible to convict any of those indicted for such violations of the excise law. Mr. English, the former prosecutor, attempted to try several of the cases of indictments found by the Grand Jury, but became so discouraged and disgusted that he refused to try any more before the jurors the sheriff had impaneled.

Prosecutor Swift, the new appoin-ee, who succeeded Mr. English, has had no difficulty in securing the convictions referred to and others besides. Making full allowances for the zeal, determination and ability of the new prosecutor, and giving him credit for vigorous work, there is still reason to believe that some other factor has assisted in bringing about the changed conditions in Union county.

There is hardly a doubt that the disclosures made by the State excise commission have awakened a sentiment in Union county that will no longer tolerate such a state of affairs as has existed there for ten or a dozen years past. In a word, there is a public sentiment that the law be enforced, and even petit jurors dare not defy that sentiment, however willing they may be to protect their friends in the liquor business.

The law can be enforced. There is not the slightest doubt about it. When the majority of the people wake up to a proper sense of their obligations and duties and make their determination known, they will find that the officials, from the highest to the lowest, are very much pleased indeed to act as the public demands. The law-abiding, law-enforcing citizens of Union county can clean the Augean political stables, if they will, by simply turning the stream of their votes in the right channel. There is no difficulty in enforcing any law if those who favor it will only act together.—Newark News.

Answers Rev. Mr. Kemble.

A Plainfield pastor has taken the ground that Cordova, the unfrocked minister of South River, has been hounded down by the sensational press and is entitled to be pitied and helped and uplifted when he comes out of prison next month. And the Plainfield pastor takes for his text Paul's admonition to the Galatians: "Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual restore such as one in the spirit of meekness, considering thyself lest thou also be tempted." The text doesn't apply. Mr. Cordova was not "taken in a fault;" he was condemned for a continual series of faults of the gravest character. He did not fall under temptation and then, with penitence, confess his sin and try to do better, but he kept on wilfully adding crime to crime, persistently lengthening his long list of indefensible acts. He not only eloped with a choir singer, but he beat his wife, deserted her and his own children, and never, from that day to this, has he shown any desire to do right by his injured wife or disgraced and deserted children. He proposes to go on and live with the woman who was his partner, and to continue his evil ways in spite of all pleas, warnings and punishments. He hasn't asked to be "received" or "restored," or anything of the kind. No works meet for repentance have been manifested by him. He isn't the kind of man Paul referred to at all. —Newark News.

Assemblyman Pierce.

The action of the Cranford Republicans in endorsing the candidacy of Assemblyman Carlton B. Pierce, of that place, will undoubtedly be followed by *similar action by Re*publican organizations in other parts of the county. Though Mr. Pierce began work at Trenton with little or no legislative experience, he had so many qualifications for the position to which he had been elected by the people that the voters felt sure of their man. Mr. Pierce's schooling as Assemblyman inclined the so-called practical politicians to doubt at first whether the Cranford man would fill the bill. But as the session wore on they found that he was not slow in grasping the real situation in the State Legislature. In short, Assemblyman Pierce made good, as the phrase goes, on the people owe it to him to send him back to Trenton, and with an increased majority, too.

We need more men in the New Jersey Legislature of the type of this Union county representative. We need men who are honest beyond any shadow of doubt. Further than that there is a demand for clean, clear-cut and unquestionably intelligent representatives of the people—men who can think for their constituents, but are capable of seeing large questions in the interest of all the people. Mr. Pierce answers fully to this description.

A candidate with a good legislative record with which to go before the people stands less and less in need of recognition by the press. That the position taken by Assemblyman Pierce, which, during the discussion of the civil service and public utilities measures was commendably aggressive, will stand the closest scrutiny of competitors there is no doubt. It has won him recognition both in and outside of his party. Though he showed himself to be a party man at Trenton, his course even won for him recognition among those less bound by party ties and called forth well-merited praise in the so-called independent press. Thus while newspaper recognition of Assemblyman's services may be needless it is merited without any doubt.—Elizabeth Journal.

Farmer a Candidate.

John J. Matthews, who was the youngest member of the House in 1887 and 1888, serving with Foster M. Voorhees, William H. Corbin and John Ulrich, from Union county, will be a candidate for one of the Democratic nominations from Hunterdon county this year. He is a farmer now, but his experience as a politician and ability as a headliner will give to Hunterdon county an influence it has not had at Trenton for many years.—Trenton Times.

PLAINFIELD A. C. WINS AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD

The Plainfield A. C. nine added another victory to the season's string at South Plainfield, Saturday afternoon, overwhelming the South Plainfield A. C. by a score of 12-1. The local nine batted heavily, making thirteen hits. Hanson's stick work was a feature, for he made a home run, two two-baggers and a single out of five times at bat. Mullen played a star game behind the bat.

Sloeum was credited for the Plainfields, fanned fifteen of the home team and gave but one base on balls. Sofield tanned ten and passed five. The lineup and score:

Plainfield A. C.: C. Pallos, lf; Hanson, 2b; Francisco, 1b; Mullen, c; Pallon, ss; Dathman, 3b; Slocum, p; Driver, rf; Thompson, cf.

South Plainfield A. C.: Randolph, 3b; Conners, 1b; Smith, c; Sofield, p; McDonough, 2b; Miller, cf; Minich, ss; Meyer, lf; Grant, rf.:

	R.	H.	E.
Plain'd .0 5 0 1 0 3 2 0 —	12	13	2
S. Pla'fi'd. 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 —	1	5	10

Home run—Hanson. Two base hits—Hanson, 2; Mullen. Struck out—By Slocum, 15; by Sofield, 10. Bases on balls—Off Slocum, 1; off Sofield, 5. Double plays—Thompson-Hanson; Meyer-Conners. Umpire—McDonough.

MATCH PLAY FOR THE CHALLENGE TROPHIES

Match play for the challenge trophies brought out some good golf at the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon, when W. R. Faber, holder of challenge trophy, No. 3, defeated E. E. Gano, the challenger, 1 up in twenty holes. The two were even up at the end of the eighteen hole match, with cards of 75. In the play off, the two broke even on the next hole, Faber winning out on the twentieth hole by one stroke. A goodsized gallery followed the play.

Challenge trophy No. 1, changed hands Saturday, because L. R. Thurlow, the holder, defaulted to R. V. Carpenter, challenger. Charles B. Morse, holder of trophy No. 1 defeated Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux, challenger, by default.

Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert and W. V. Byard split the points for the President's cup with net cards of 87. Each receive 2½ points for the trophy. Dr. A. W. Anderson got the other point in the week's play for this trophy, with an 18. Dr. W. M. Carroll took first honors in the weekly competition for the Park Golf Club cup with a gross score of 97; W. V. Byard was second with a 98, and E. E. Gano's 99 gave him the point for third. These cards were posted in the trophy play:

W. V. Byard, 98-11, 87; Alexander Gilbert, 105-18, 87; Dr. A. W. Anderson, 101-13, 88; Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux, 102, 13-89; Dr. W. M. Carroll, 105, 15, 90; R. W. Faber, 102-12, 95; E. E. Gano, 99-4, 95; C. B. Morse, 107-12, 95; R. V. Carpenter, 112-17, 95; W. E. Lowe, 112-17, 95.

Challenge matches will be played at the links Saturday when C. B. Morse, challenger, will play Walter McNaughton, holder, for the Hydewood Park challenge cup, and W. R. Faber, challenger, will play Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux, holder, for challenge trophy, No. 2.

Scotch Plains Italian Held.

As a result of a complaint by Mary Martino, Dominick Bonavolighi, her neighbor in the Hunter avenue Italian colony at Scotch Plains, was held under $100 bail to await the action of the grand jury at his hearing before Justice of the Peace Clark at Scotch Plains last night. Testimony revealed the fact that Bonavolighi had struck the woman several times in a quarrel Sunday afternoon.

No Change.

"Do you think the world is growing worse?"

"Dunno as 'tis," responded the old man, "they're tellin' the same yarns stories I heard when I was a boy."—Philadelphia Ledger.

PACKING THE TRUNK WHEN TRAVELING.

No matter how fond a girl is of traveling, she generally considers it a great nuisance to pack and unpack her trunk, and probably nothing would prevent it being something of a trouble. But the bother can be considerably lessened by having as complete a "trunk outfit" as possible and (a most important point) having in one's home a special box or drawer where all these things are kept when not in use.

A complete list of what one always wants to take away is also a great help. Then when it is time to pack the trunk and all these things are taken out and made ready, everything goes easily and quickly.

First, of course, comes the case for toilet articles, with little pockets for brush, comb, toothbrush, sponge, hairpins, etc. The pockets for toothbrush and sponge must be lined with rubber, or, if one does not want to use rubber in this case, the toothbrush can be put in a separate little case of its own and the sponge a bag that draws up with a string.

The manicure set may have its own special case or pockets made for it in a larger case. A little chamois-lined pocket for powder and a small powder puff also go with this part of the outfit.

One of the greatest conveniences in packing a trunk is to have cases made like envelopes for shoes and corsets. Such cases should be made of dimity. For shoes dimity can be used, but something a little heavier is better. Each case should hold one shoe or a pair of slippers. The envelope flap, buttoning over, keeps them closed and gives the least trouble.

A long, narrow case of the dimity for each light parasol that is to be packed keeps the parasols clean and also reminds one that they are to be packed. These cases are open at the end, but the other cases may be open either at the end or side, as one may prefer.

A traveling medicine case is very useful, but that a girl is likely to carry much in the way of medicine, but the bottles are generally very safe for carrying any kind of liquid —alcohol for curling the hair, perfume, with basket to use for possible bruises, and one bottle may be used for tooth powder and another for toilet powder.—Philadelphia Press.

ADDITIONS TO THE KITCHEN SCRAPBOOK.

Home-made Mucilage—If you make your own mucilage (one heaping teaspoonful of gum arabic to an ordinary mucilage bottle gives it pure at a cheaper rate than any mucilage ready made,) you can dispense with court plasters, liquid or otherwise, except where an antiseptic is necessary, says Woman's Home Companion. Ordinary cuts can be sealed with this quite as effectively as with the patent preparation. Two coats thoroughly dried will stand the application of water better than anything but the adhesive plaster doctors use—an inconvenient, expensive luxury.

Preparing Hot Cloths—How it is necessary to apply hot cloths to a sick person, and very often it is, where is a good method of having them hotter than they could be wrung by hand if they are laid in a wooden bucket of water and quickly passed through a small wringer. A child's toy wringer can be fastened to the bucket for the purpose. The cloth can be lifted with a fork and rapidly run through the wringer. In cases of severe chills the water, not quite so hot, will much more quickly than heat from hot water bags or bottles, and are more soothing.

"Individual Shortcakes"—This is indeed the season for shortcakes, for besides the strawberries there are numerous other fruits to be used. One housekeeper always serves this dessert in little cakes. Making a biscuit dough, she rolls it out a trifle thinner than when used as a breadstuff. She bats the dough out for biscuit and bakes two together, buttering the under one. When baked she separates them, spreads the fruit between and puts a generous amount on top, serving them as individual shortcakes.

Flaked Soap.—Flaked soap is expensive to buy. But you can flake your own by scraping down ordinary soap with a suet scraper. These scrapers are also useful for making dripping when in winter a piece too hard to be easily rubbed into flour when making pastry or cake.

NEW MARKET FIELD CLUB DEFEATS PLAINFIELD IOLAS.

The New Market Field Club nine defeated the Iola A. C. at New Market Saturday afternoon by a score of 7-1. The visitors managed to get four runs in the first session, but the fourth and fifth were disastrous for the Plainfielders, as the New Market boys solved Russell's delivery and amassed nine runs, a safe lead. The details:

New Market F. C.—Elliott, lf; Nelson, cf; Danz, rf; J. Penrose, 2b; *C. Penrose, ss; Wunderlich, p; Dix*on, c; Sofield, 1b; Fulton, 3b.

Iola A. C.—Mulvaney, rf; Staats, lf; Harding, 3b; Halad, 3b; Frederickson, 1b; Pansberger, c; Russell, p; Carney, 2b; Howe, cf.

New Market....	0	0	0	6	3	0	5	0	x—11
Iolas	4	0	0	1	0	0	2	0	0— 7

Umpires, Van Zandt and Waglow.

A Protest.
"Say, you umpire!"
"Well, what is it?"
"Cut out the steam-roller decisions. Its ain't no political convention."—Kansas City Journal.

CLINTON AVE. DEFEATED

Costly Errors Made by Plainfield Team Accounts for High Bridge's Victory.

"BRIT" MARTIN DOES WELL

Local Team's Second Baseman Makes a Triple, Double and Single While at Bat Four Times.

Unsteadiness in the field lost the game for Clinton Avenue at High Bridge Saturday afternoon, for the Plainfielders made five costly errors, and although they made eleven hits, scored their only runs in the sixth. The score was 13-2, the High Bridge scoring in every inning but the first and last.

Kraft had the better of the pitchers' argument, fanning eleven Plainfielders and passing but two. Randolph got eight strike-outs, but was unsteady at times, giving five bases on balls. "Brit" Martin's playing was a feature of the game. He scored a triple, a double and a single out of four times at bat and took four chances in the field without an error. Morgan, of the High Bridge nine, got 1,000 in batting, driving out a two-bagger and two singles, drawing a pass and getting hit. The score:

High Bridge.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Scully, lf	1	0	0	1	0
Walton, 3b	0	0	2	4	0
Trophey, c	1	2	12	1	0
Swick, ss	2	3	1	3	0
Morgan, 1b	3	3	6	0	0
Rasey, cf	0	1	1	1	0
Greenfield, rf	1	1	0	0	0
Apgar, 2b	1	1	4	1	0
Kraft, p	3	0	1	2	0
	13	10	26*	12	0

Clinton Avenues.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Barnes, 1b	0	2	5	0	0
B. Martin, 2b	1	3	1	1	2
Emery, 3b	0	1	1	0	2
J. Martin, ss	0	1	2	2	1
Belzeley, c	1	1	10	1	0
McGeel, cf	0	0	1	0	0
O'Loughlin, rf	0	0	2	0	0
Schott, lf	0	0	0	0	0
Randolph, p	0	1	0	1	2
	2	11	24	5	7

*Belzeley out, hit by batted ball.

High Bridge.....	0	1	1	5	1	2	3	0—	13
Clinton Ave.....	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0—	2

Earned runs: High Bridge, 5; Clinton Avenue, 2. Three base hit, B. Martin. Two base hits: B. Martin, Emery, Torpey, Swick. Bases on balls: Off Randolph, 8; off Kraft, 2. Struck out: By Kraft, 11; by Randolph, 8.

ST. MARY'S LOSES TO THE HIGHLAND A. C.

The Highland A. C. trimmed the St. Mary's nine at Scotch Plains Saturday afternoon by a score of 6-4. It was an up-hill game, for St. Mary's had a lead of 3-1 in the fifth, when the Highlands hammered in three and took the lead. Conshay did feature work in the box for the Highlands, fanning fourteen. He gave four passes. The St. Mary's players made ten errors, while but a single misplay was scored against the Highlands. Hanna, of St. Mary's, fanned eight and passed one. The lineups and score:

Highland A. C.—Turst, 1b; Mo*len, ss; Higgins, cf; Curtis, lf*; Hansen, 2b; Winters, c; Kyle, rf; Coon, 3b; Conshay, p.

St. Mary's A. C.—McClinton, ss; Motley, lf; Taylor, 2b; McAfee, 1b; Kiely, rf; Coyle, 3b; Bird, c; Brown, cf; Hanna, p. Sullivan batted for Motley in the ninth.

Highland A. C...	0	1	0	0	3	0	2	0—	6
St. Mary's A. C...	0	0	3	0	0	0	1	0—	4

Two base hits: Kiely, Hanna, McClinton, Curtis. Struck out: By Conshay, 14; by Hanna, 8. Bases on balls: Off Conshay, 4; off Hanna, 1. Double play, McClinton-Coyle. Umpires, H. Pasch and H. Hoffman. Scorer, J. Mottley.

CANADIAN FIRM BUYS REALTY AT BOUND BROOK.

Armstrong & Cook, of Toronto, Canada, who are the largest real estate operators in the Dominion of Canada and who have built towns and cities from Cuba to British Columbia, see great realty opportuni*ties in Bound Brook*, where they have just purchased a tract of 200 acres for subdivision. They intend to erect on the tract from twenty to thirty houses, costing from $5,000 to $10,000 each; pave the streets and put in water and sewers, so that they can offer the prospective homeseeker something attractive.

These men became interested in Bound Brook especially on account of the train service, which, they say, is excellent.

Colored Giants Won.

Out-classed by the Colored Giants, the Jr. O. U. A. M. met defeat on Hope Common, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 16-1. The Giants had a pitcher who, it is said, used to pitch for the Philadelphia Colored Giants, and he was a puzzle to the Juniors.

Y. M. C. A. IN FIRST PLACE

Local Nine Gains Lead in State League by Shutting Out Newark.

SEVEN TO TWO, THE SCORE.

Peacock Pitched Great Game and Plainfielders Gave Good Support—Pollard's Running Catch.

A happy combination of hits and loose fielding on the part of the visitors enabled the Y. M. C. A. nine to roll up seven runs on the Newark association team at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon, and set up nine goose-eggs for the leaders of the league. Results: Plainfield now noses Newark closely for first place in the State league, each team having seven points to their defeats.

The local nine bunched runs in the first and sixth. Hitchner, the Newark pitcher, was touched for three singles in the opening session and Will Schoonmaker and Miller crossed the plate, the former on a wild pitch. Hitchner threw the ball away again in the sixth, after the Schoonmakers had scored and Jacot and Loizeaux scored on this second wild pitch. A pair, some clever baserunning and a hit scored Loizeaux in the eighth.

"Jack" Peacock, who dealt the fiends for the locals, proved "an enigma." The Newarkers found him for nine safe hits, but they were all so scattered that no visitor completed the base circuit. Peacock fanned five, and did not give a base on balls. Hitchner fanned five during the seven innings he officiated, and *save as many passes. Manual, who succeed*ed him, gave one base on balls.

The feature of the game was Pollard's one-handed catch of Jacot's long drive in the seventh. The ball stuck in his glove after he made a thirty yard dash to go to it, and he doubled to second, retiring Conway.

White-washers and white-washed, and what they did:

Plainfield.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
W. Schoonmaker, 2b	2	2	2	3	0
R. Schoonmaker, c	1	0	7	1	0
Craig, ss	0	2	1	2	0
Miller, rf	1	1	0	0	0
Scott, rf	0	0	1	0	0
Conway, 3b	0	1	1	4	1
Pond, lf	0	0	2	0	0
Jacot, 1b	1	1	10	1	0
Loizeaux, ss, cf	2	0	1	1	0
Peacock, p	0	1	0	2	0
	7	7	25*	14	2

Newark.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Lamb, ss	0	1	0	2	0
Rae, c	0	0	1	2	0
Williams, 1b	0	1	5	0	1
Pollard, lf	0	3	2	1	0
Inglin, 3b	0	2	3	1	1
Hitchner, p, cf	0	0	0	2	0
Furman, 2b	0	0	1	2	0
Manual, cf, p	0	0	0	2	0
Martin, rf	0	0	0	0	0
	0	9	24	9	2

*Lamb out, hit by batter's ball.

Plainfield	2	0	0	0	0	5	0	1	—7
Newark	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

Double plays, Pollard-Furman. Bases on balls: Off Hitchner, 5; off Manual, 1. Struck out: By Peacock, 5; by Hitchner, 5. Umpire, Chauncey R. Murphey.

The Y. M. C. A. nine went up into first place in the State league Saturday as the result of trimming Newark at Crescent Oval by a score of 7-0. Trenton overwhelmed Orange at Trenton by a score of 12-1. Elizabeth, with a record of three zeros, for five defeats, has withdrawn from the league, so Summit could not play. The standing, pending the league committee's judgment on the Newark-Orange game a week ago, is as follows:

	W.	L.	PC.
Plainfield	7	2	.778
Newark	6	2	.750
Orange	4	3	.571
Trenton	2	3	.400
Summit	2	5	.285

ENGINEERS' REPORT ON SEWER BED INVESTIGATIONS.

The Common Council received Monday, through chairman Gloak, of the Streets and Sewers committee, a complete report of the investigations being carried on at the city sewage disposal works by Herring & Fuller, the New York engineering firm. A representative of the engineers has been placed in charge of the plant at its own expense in order to gain a complete and thorough knowledge of its workings from a chemical, bacteriological and monetary standpoint. The work, it is thought, can be done at a fund of valuable information for use in building disposal beds in other cities and at the same time can advise Plainfield how to obtain the best results at the least possible expense.

The report submitted by Mr. Gloak was a comprehensive statement and showed that the investigation will prove of great benefit to Plainfield. The official has only been at work about a month but in that time has gleaned many important facts relative to the practical side of sewage *disposal by septic tanks and is al*ready in a position to suggest improvements. Some of these were touched upon and will be followed up by the Council at a later date. Herring & Fuller have been consulting engineers for the city for some time.

AMERICANS THEIR PREY

"Loan Game" Being Worked Abroad by Pair Claiming Plainfield as Their Home.

THEY ARE NOT KNOWN HERE.

Two Men Operating in Paris, Brussels and London Tell a Hard Luck Tale and Find Many Victims.

According to a Paris cablegram published in the New York Herald, men giving their names of George A. French and Walter Murdock, and claiming to be residents of Plainfield, have been making Americans abroad the victims of the "loan game." Neither of these men are known here so far as can be learned.

The is the cablegram published in the Herald:

"Paris, Saturday.—The Continent being overrun with foreigners just now, it was inevitable that some of them should be victimized by the ever ready sharpers, for whom the tourist season is shearing time. During the last fortnight have shown that two of these crooks are particularly plausible and most particularly easy hacks. They give the names of George A. French and Walter Murdock and claim to hail from Plainfield, N. J. The story they tell is invariable, as it is apparently irresistible. Each letter to the Herald says, in substance, 'The men came to and appealed to me as a fellow countryman to make them a small loan to enable them to get out of their remittance, etc.' The trick is done, the money is handed over, the men disappear, and the lender in a few days realizes he has been swindled, and has no recourse other than to write to the Herald and expose the swindlers in its columns.

"The ball was set rolling by a communication from an American who had been victimized in Cologne by these Plainfield operators. Others followed, showing that the same game had been played with the same gold success at Interlaken and Brussels. Now a New Yorker, writing from London, says they wheedled a loan out of him on this same plea last year in Paris, and asks the Herald to warn the public generally. This now has been done, but what is the use? The men will merely change their names and continue to live luxuriously on the Continent up on the never failing stream of remittances from American innocents abroad."

FAMILY TWICE VISITED BY FIRE WITHIN A YEAR

This fire that partially destroyed William H. Wootton's home on Carlton avenue, Monday afternoon, started the second time that the family has suffered similarly within a year. On October 19 last they were living at East Seventh street and Franklin place and were burned out through a member of the household thinking flame on the mantle lace curtain after lighting the gas. The upper part of the house was partially destroyed and a loss of $2,000 was occasioned.

Mr. Wootton moved to Carlton avenue after the fire and has been living there since. Monday afternoon a servant sought to clean out some moths in a store room on the third floor and placed a burning sulphur candle in it to do the work. She closed the room up tight and went away, the candle sputtered and sent flame on the curtain. A smaller blaze was in progress when a neighbor noticed smoke pouring from an upper window. An alarm was first sounded to the fire headquarters and Chief Doane had box 27 pulled as soon as he arrived and found the entire upper part of the structure ablaze. Two hydrant streams and the chemical engine were used in putting out the flames. The loss is placed at $1,000. The house is a two story brick structure with a tin roof and gave the firemen a hot fight.

Chief Doane made the statement today that sulphur candles are used carelessly more often than any other way and the wonder is that more fires have not been occasioned from them. He asserted that they should be compounded by a pan of water who is in use or else a sprinkling of ashes.

A Mild Birthday Picnic.

In celebration of the eighteenth birthday of Miss Bessie Resenson, a party of young people spent Sunday afternoon at Washington Rock. All report a good time. The party comprised the Misses Elsie Thomas, Theresa Mallon, Christine Conrad, Adeline Mathewson and Albert Yeager, Francis Yeager, Herman Thye, Guy Snyder, Frank Schlick, Benjamin and Herman Rosenson.

Harrison A. C. Disbands.

The Harrison A. C. nine has disbanded for the season. George Perry, the nine's heavy hitter, and Herman Klinsman, the "cats-'im-alive outfielder, have signed with the Plainfield A. C.

PARTY ENDS IN A RUMPUS

Garovitch's Guests Kicked at an Assessment for Beer and Trouble Followed.

BATTLE DRAWS A BIG CROWD.

Squad of Bluecoats Swoops Down and Gets Two Prisoners and What's Left of the Keg.

One of those Polak birthday parties that frequently break out on the day of rest and furnish material for the police court and hospital, provided a bunch of excitement for a section of the West End Sunday evening. The scene of action was in one of the detached wards of the old hospital, located as a residence on South Second street near Muhlenberg street, and facetiously known in the neighborhood as "Castle Garden," because of its being the first stopping place for a certain foreign element on their arrival in Plainfield. Nine Russian Poles were the combatants but when a reserve force of police reached the place in response to a telephone call they captured but two of the men and what was left of a keg of beer. The keg had nothing to do with the fight itself but the contents were partly responsible for the kick-off.

The two prisoners described themselves as Peter Garovitch, aged 26, and Tony Bongenski, aged 23. In court Monday morning it was learned that Garovitch, who is a boarder at "Castle Garden," had the keg of beer unloaded at the place in celebrating his natal day. He invited a lot of countrymen around to drink his health and talk over old days in Warsaw and Bongenski was one of those who responded. He understood that everything was to be absolutely free-for-nothing but after getting outside of three or four glasses of booze the host came around and said everybody had to pay a twenty-five cent assessment to meet expenses. Bongenski could see his way clear to hand up fifteen but twenty-five—no sir-ee, not him. His refusal started an argument, somebody made a pass at him and then the battle was on.

As is always the case at a Polak christening or birthday party, nobody knew who struck the first blow. Bongenski said everybody jumped his way and he swung a beer glass at the first head that came near him. It happened to belong to Garovitch and the crash that followed the collision gave him a smash of a black eye and cut a big gash in his cheek. The whole nine merrymakers immediately mixed up in an awful tangle and when they found that Bongenski was able to look after his own, they biffed and banged each other.

The battle was punctured with victorious yells and shouts of chagrin and in a few minutes the street outside was packed with a curious throng, women and children predominating. Somebody telephoned the police in order to head off a murder and the patrol wagon started out from headquarters on a dead run, carrying Cops Messler, Payne, McDonald and Nolan to the scene. When they swung into South Second street it was almost impossible to get through because of the mob and the delay gave the belligerents a chance to escape over back fences. Garovitch and Bongenski were a little slow in getting started and were nabbed but the others all got away. Cop Messler did some sleuthing around and his weather eye located the beer keg which he decided to take along as evidence. The sight gave him a cunning cheer when he emerged with it on his shoulder.

Bongenski related his side of the story in a straightforward manner but Garovitch made several assertions that didn't sound plausible. Because he had assaulted the host on the first place and had attempted to hit Bongenski when the assessment was disputed, Judge Runyon fined him $8 or twenty days. He paid up. Bongenski escaped with suspended sentence and a warning to make sure what the game is before accepting any more birthday party invitations.

FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

Sour Cream Dressing—A delicious dressing for cold fish may be made of sour cream. Add to it a little lemon juice and season with pepper, salt and sugar. This is a favorite salad dressing for lettuce with the Russians.

To Prevent Books Mildewing—Olive oil rubbed over the library shelves will, it is said, prevent the mildewing of the books.

Dust Furniture First—Many carry the silver from the sideboard and serving table upstairs at night. If before replacing it in the morning, the dusting of the dining room furniture be done it will save a second handling of the silver.

"Nothing New Under the Sun"—Concerning the fireless cooker, which is now attracting attention all over the country a Topeka woman says that the so-called Norwegian method of cooking was in use in the pioneer days of Kansas as early as 1854, when stoves and other conveniences were scarce. She herself cooked hominy in this fashion thirty years back, only instead of packing the kettle of boiling water and hominy in a box of hay she wrapped it in a blanket or buffalo robe.

CHASE SNEAK THIEF AND RECOVER BOOTY

Chasing a giant sneak thief for three miles in a milk wagon, John and Peter Burnett, of Washington Valley, recovered $15 and a coat and vest stolen from the latter Saturday, "cornered" their man in a slough hole near George Beeching's mill on the Valley road to Stirling and recovering the money as the man floundered in the mud. While Peter Burnett was looking up a constable after the money had been recovered, the thief dashed out of the mud and made his escape.

Peter Burnett, who is employed by the National Ice Company, was at the company's barn Saturday afternoon working and left his coat and vest hanging on the door. In the coat was $15. His brother, John, driving his milk wagon, stopped to see him shortly after he got to work, and was followed into the ice house by a tall stranger. While the two were talking, the big man made a get-away with the coat and vest, and as soon as the theft was discovered the brothers climbed into the milk wagon and started in pursuit. They drove to the end of the Somerset trolley line without finding any traces of the thief and then went along the road to Stirling. At Beeching's saw mill those saw the man crouching behind some logs, and, leaving the wagon, gave chase on foot. The thief started to run across lots, but fell into a slough hole containing about two feet of mud and water. Floundering there, he was removed of the stolen clothes, which he was carrying, but made his escape when Peter Burnett went for a constable.

But a meagre description can be secured of the man, who is described as more than six feet tall and rather slim. He was roughly dressed. Residents of the district say he has been hanging around the ice houses for several days, and he has been sleeping in various barns and Friday night in Winans' blacksmith shop.

ENJOYABLE TIME AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

Another highly successful midsummer holiday was held at the Country Club, Saturday, when sporting and social events attracted many Plainfielders and their friends to the club house. Besides the All-Plainfield championship singles tournament, there was a handicap medal play golf match, eighteen holes, as the principal golf event, and the links were crowded.

There were a great many at midday luncheon at the club house and the dinner in the evening was one of the best yet served by Miss Scott. The dining room was well filled, the porches were crowded, and the floor for the dancing in the evening, and these week-end dances are proving so successful that they will be continued all summer.

Arthur Murphy won the honors on the links in the afternoon, and was awarded two golf balls for his card of 70, the low score of the day, in the handicap medal play. The match was of eighteen holes. W. D. Riggs, with a 76, was the next in line for honors. The cards:

Arthur Murphy, 80, 10—70; W. D. Riggs, 88, 12—76; W. T. Merrill, 102, 25—77; W. L. Glenney, 105, 25—80; E. C. Patterson, 111, 25—86.

WIDOW'S HOME ROBBED WHILE SHE IS AT CHURCH.

While Mrs. Susan Cosgrove, of New Market, was attending church Sunday morning, someone broke into her home on the back road leading to Bound Brook and ransacked every room. They made away with a gold watch, a gold ring and $10 in money. Entrance to the place was effected by breaking a window light in the kitchen.

Mrs. Cosgrove discovered the loss as soon as she returned home and summoned Constable Robert L. Pierce. The latter made an investigation and concluded the theft was the work of hoboes who had dropped away from the railroad for just such a job. Mrs. Cosgrove is a widow and because of her son being away had no one to leave about the premises during the church hour.

Will Sue for Lamp Explosion.

Suit for $500 damages is to be brought in the district court by Frank Sherman, of Sherman avenue, against the Acetylene Lamp Co., of New York, for injuries and damage resulting from the explosion of a lamp owned by him at his home about two months ago. Anderson claims that the damage is due him because the lamp is guaranteed not to explode. At the time of the accident, he was badly burned about the hands. Francis J. Blatz is his attorney, and the case will come up September 3.

Different.

Redd—Isn't it grand to get out in the country and lie on your back under the blue sky?

Greene—Yes, it beats being out in the country and lying on your back under a pea-green automobile! —Yonkers Statesman.

REV. MR. KOECHLI DEAD

Former Pastor of German Reformed Church Passes Away at Somerville.

A NATIVE OF SWITZERLAND.

Aged Sixty-Eight When Bright's Disease Proves Fatal—Wife and Three Children Survive Him.

Rev. Frederick Koechli, a former pastor of the German Reformed church on Craig place and widely known in the city and borough, died Saturday afternoon at his home in Somerville after an extended illness from Bright's disease. The funeral was held at the late residence Monday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. Dr. Schlegel, of New York, and Rev. William H. Deltar, of Raritan, the former being a college mate of the deceased pastor in his native country. Burial was in the new cemetery at Somerville.

Mr. Koechli was born in Switzerland sixty-eight years ago and came to this country in 1853. He located at once in Plainfield as pastor of the German Reformed church. In 1888 he organized the Fourth German Reformed church at Somerville, but for six years continued to officiate in Plainfield as well, preaching here mornings and evenings on Sunday and in Somerville in the afternoon. In 1894 he removed to Somerville, giving up the local charge.

From the day the change was made he devoted his full time and talents to the Somerville church and succeeded in putting it on a high plane, both financially and spiritually. It is doubtful if any pastor ore deeply held the love and devotion of his flock.

Mr. Koechli leaves a wife, two sons and a daughter. The latter are Alfred, of New York; Philip, of Jersey City, and Miss Nellie Koechli, of Somerville. In addition, he is survived by several grandchildren.

SENATOR FIRST IN FIELD; PETITION BY ACKERMAN

The first petition for nomination to office filed in this country is that of State Senator Ernest D. Ackerman, of Plainfield, who announced his candidacy for the primary nomination for the State Senatorship to succeed himself. This fact was admitted by Mr. Ackerman when he sailed for Europe early in July, but was announced in The Daily Press two weeks previously when Mr. Ackerman's petition was sent around for signatures. It was stated today at the county clerk's office that Senator Ackerman's petition is the only one as yet filed under the new law.

The hundred signatures required by law were subscribed and included names of Republicans from all parts of the county. All of those signing the nomination paper certified that they were Republicans and at the last election voted for a majority of the candidates of that party, and that they intend to vote the Republican ticket at the coming election.

In the acceptance of the nomination Senator Ackerman states that he is qualified to hold the office for which he is nominated for the principles, and that, if he is selected as the standard bearer at the primaries he will accept the trust.

All candidates for nomination at the primaries of the different parties are required by the new primary law to file nomination papers with the county clerk previous to the holding of the primaries. These nomination papers must be signed by 100 regular members of the party of the one making the nomination. At the primaries candidates are selected from among the number whose nominations have been filed, attached to the nomination papers must be a signed statement by the nominees that if selected by the primaries they will run for office.

Heavy Fines For Vagrants.

Dunellen justice lit heavily on two vagrants arrested on the main street late Saturday night by Special Officer Siney. Recorder David S. Campbell gave them a hearing Monday morning in the borough hall. One of the men, who said his name was William Taylor, was found skulking about back yards and was sentenced to thirty days in the New Brunswick jail. The other fellow said he was Charles Linton. He had four chickens tucked in his shirt, with their necks wrung. Sizing him up for a chicken thief, the Recorder sentenced him to sixty days' imprisonment. Both men are strangers in Dunellen and were taken to New Brunswick today by Chief Marshal Bambach.

T. A. B. Shirt Waist Dance.

The members of St. Mary's T. A. B. society will hold a shirt waist dance in their hall on Thursday night, August 13. The committee in charge comprises Clarence Walden, Thomas F. Carty, Miles Wilson, M. D. O'Keefe, Harry Paasch, James D. O'Keefe, John Kyle, Edward T. Lynch, Joseph McCue, Dan McAfee and William Owens.

BLDG. INSPECTOR TO ACT

City Fathers Advised That They Have no Power to Consider P.S.C. Petition.

IT'S UP TO CHIEF T. O. DOANE.

In the Meanwhile the P. S. C. Goes Merrily On Building Its Rage Holder Without Any Authority.

The petition made by the Public Service Corporation to erect a huge gas tank alongside the present one in the East Fourth street yards was again brought up in the Common Council, Monday. It was presented by Chairman Hibbard, of the fire and buildings committee, who offered a resolution that it be referred back to Building Inspector Doane for disposition. The motion was carried after several of the members had offered objections, the vote standing 7 to 4.

In bringing the matter before the Council, Mr. Hibbard submitted an opinion prepared for him by Acting Corporation Counsel Nelson Runyon. In this he stated that after a careful perusal of the city ordinances he failed to discover anything in them that gave the councilmen power to grant permission for the erection of the tank. "It was a matter, he wrote, that came within the building inspector's prerogatives." Mr. Hibbard, accordingly, offered the resolution referring the matter back to the inspector for his disposal.

Before the vote was taken Mr. Suydam declared that he was opposed to referring the matter back o Inspector Doane.

"If we have no jurisdiction in this tank matter," he said, "then there is nothing in the ordinances that allows us to dispose of the concrete building petitions that are continually brought here."

He was backed up in his opinion by three other members but the resolution went through after an offered amendment had fallen by the wayside.

As the matter stands now, Building Inspector Doane can refuse to grant the permit if he sees fit. In the meantime, the Public Service people have gone ahead with the York and the tank is in process of erection. Chief Doane was interviewed this morning and stated that he would make no disposition until he had received official notification from the Council that the proposition was "up to him."

Mr. Glenk brought up at last night's meeting, the petitions of Morris Brothers And Allen Laing to build gasolene tanks of 1,000 gallons capacity under the sidewalks in front of their garages. He offered a resolution that they be referred to the fire and buildings committee and this was done. The matter has been in the hands of the street committee and Mr. Glenk announced that this body is not in favor of granting the requests.

VISITING MINISTERS IN LOCAL PULPITS

August vacation days have taked a large majority of the local pastors out of town for a few weeks, and there were many strange faces in the various pulpits at Sunday's services. None of the Baptist churches had their regular pastors and Rev. J. O. McKelvey, at Warren chapel, was the only Presbyterian minister to occupy his own pulpit. He started on his vacation today. Episcopal and Methodist church services were also in charge of supplies in the majority of cases.

Rev. Dr. Howard Grose, of New York, preached morning and evening at the First Baptist church; Rev. Gideon M. Shott, of Lyons Farms, was in charge of the Park Avenue Baptist church, and Rev. L. J. Wessell, of Wilmington, Del., preached at Faith chapel. Dr. E. P. Johnson preached as usual at Trinity Reformed church, but out-of-town preachers were in evidence in the Presbyterian churches; Rev. Dr. Allen R. Bartholomew, secretary of the board of foreign missions, preached at the First Presbyterian church; Rev. Dr. Henry A. Stimson, of New York, preached at the Crescent Avenue church, and Rev. Edward Love was in charge of the two services at Hope chapel.

Rev. Dr. George C. Wilding, of Perth Amboy, officiated at the First M. E. church morning and evening in the absence of Dr. McCrea, and Rev. C. S. Kemble and Rev. Ora J. Shoop preached special sermons at the Monroe League and Grace M. E. churches. Dr. James M. Whiton, The Outlook, preached at the Congregational church. All Souls' Unitarian church, of which Rev. A. C. Nickerson is pastor, is closed until September 13.

A Canny Cabby.

Cabman (with exaggerated politeness)—Would you mind walking the other way and not passing the horse?

Stout Lady (who has just paid the minimum fare)—Why?

Cabman—Because if 'e sees wot 'e's been carrying for a shilling 'e'll 'ave a fit.—Pick-Me-Up.

TENNIS CRACKS' TOURNEY

Championship Contest in Singles Begin at the Local Country Club.

PLAY REACHES SEMI-FINALS.

Twenty Entries In All—Play Off For Title Next Saturday—The Detailed Score.

Two Country Club tennis players and two from the Park Club have survived three rounds of the All-Plainfield singles championship began at the Country Club courts Saturday afternoon, and will play off for the title Saturday afternoon. The Country Club survivors are H. J. Cochran, last year's local champion, and A. D. Beers, who has just won the singles title in the Sunday-school Athletic League; from the Park Club, Monroe H. Long, paired with Beers to form the winning team in the S. S. A. L. doubles, and Will Barlow, Jr. Barlow and Beers are paired in the semi-finals, and the winner of the match between Cochran and Long will meet them in the finals for the title.

There were twenty entries in the championship matches this season, and a good-sized gallery watched the play on the Country Club courts Saturday. Beers' match with H. T. Eaton in the second round was the best tennis of the day, the S. S. A. L. champ winning by the narrowest of margins. Several times Eaton was within one point of the match, and the scores were 4-7, 8-6 and 6-4. Cochran's match with Monroe Brown ran to three hard-fought sets, and it took Long three sets to beat T. M. Day in the third round. The scores:

First round: H. J. Cochran beat Wylie Brown, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3; J. R. Shoemaker beat J. C. Martin, 6-3, 6-2; W. A. Houra beat H. C. Rocap, 6-4, 6-3; D. W. Mulford beat C. W. King, 6-1, 6-2.

Second round: A. D. Beers beat H. T. Eaton, 5-7, 8-6, 6-3; H. W. Brower won from O. H. Fleming, by default; Will Barlow, Jr., beat H. S. Brown, 6-1, 6-0; M. H. Long beat H. H. Foster, 6-2, 6-4; T. M. Day beat V. B. Miner, 6-2, 6-3; R. S. Gough beat W. T. Glenney, 6-2, 6-1; H. J. Cochran beat J. R. Shoemaker, 6-1, 6-4; D. W. Mulford beat W. A. Houra, 6-1, 6-2.

Third round: Long beat Day, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3; Cochran beat Gough, 6-3, 6-4; Beers beat Mulford, 6-2, 6-1; Barlow beat Brower, 6-0, 6-0.

FIRE HORSE TUMBLES DOWN HOTEL STAIRWAY

A team of horses belonging to Central Hook-and-ladder Company No. 1, of Somerville, mistook the horn of a passing automobile for a fire alarm gong, while standing in a lane in the rear of Main street, Monday morning. The horses were hitched to a truck without a driver. They started down the lane at a good clip and turned down into Main street, missing a number of vehicles and pedestrians by a narrow margin.

The team raced up Main street and attempted to turn into Division street, where the Central Hook-and-ladder house is situated, but failed to make the corner with enough and dashed head on into the Ten Eyck Hotel. At the corner of the hotel is a narrow stone stairway leading to the basement of the hotel protected by an iron railing. The team headed down the stairway and one of the horses suddenly disappeared down the stairway. The other horse seeing that its mate was in trouble braced itself and stood still until assistance arrived.

The horse in the stairway was in a bad fix. It lay wedged in the stairway with its legs doubled up under it and the broken iron fence on top of it.

The basement door of the hotel was opened and the horse was pulled through into the wine cellar, where it regained its feet. The wine cellar door was too low to get the horse out again unless it could be induced to walk through on its knees and ascend a steep flight of stairs.

The big gray horse was finally taken from one room to another in the basement of the hotel until it reached the barber shop in the rear of the building. The stairway leading to the barber shop from the street was broad, but the door was low. The gray is an intelligent animal, who after a few trials understood what was wanted of him. He crouched down and worked his way through the doorway and then climbed up the stairs to the street. The animal was badly cut about the legs, but it is believed that he will be continued in service.

Coal Train Wreck Blocks Erie.

Four gondola coal cars were wrecked and traffic on the Orange branch of the Erie was held up for two hours Saturday. Italian laborers released the brakes on one of the cars, and they shot down a steep incline of a siding on to the main tracks. All four turned over. A wrecking train from Jersey City, after two hours' work, cleared the tracks.

SOMERVILLE SHUTS OUT SCOTCH PLAINS' TEAM

The Scotch Plains team went to Somerville Saturday afternoon and stacked up against the strong West End nine of that town. In by-gone days Scotch Plains always considered Somerville easy, and it has many a West End scalp dangling in its trophy room. This time, however, things were different. The best the canny Scott could do was to draw nine consecutive goose eggs, while the talented gentleman up the road made four very large runs. Both teams drew on Plainfield for help, and Somerville must have had the first pick or had better luck filling in the draw, as the had all the best of the transaction. The great-and-only Montrose—the "Smiling Jimmy" of many a hard-four diamond battle—was slab artist for the West Ends, and he made the Scotch Plains contingent look like the proverbial 30 cents. He gave neither a base on balls nor hit a batter, and allowed only two safe hits during the whole game. As the West Ends played an errorless game in the field, only 29 batsmen faced him in the entire nine innings. That's what his friends called "going some." Wolner was also effective for Scotch Plains, but his support was dimply rank.

The following little table tells the tale:

West End.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Grimes, ss	1	1	4	4	0
Giles, cf	1	1	1	0	0
Bruggey, c	0	0	10	0	0
Montross, p	1	1	1	0	0
Prech, 1b	1	0	9	1	0
Miller, rf	1	1	1	0	0
Staats, lf	0	0	0	0	0
Wilcox, 3b	0	1	1	4	0
Weill, 2b	1	1	0	1	0
	6	6	27	10	0

Scotch Plains.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Reick, lf	0	0	2	0	0
Baldwin, ss	0	1	3	3	2
Albert, c	0	1	6	2	0
Allen, 1b	0	0	12	0	1
Orrleib, rf	0	0	0	0	0
Smith, 2b	0	0	0	0	0
Sheirnbach, 2b	0	0	1	0	0
Eller, cf	0	0	1	0	0
Weiner, p	0	0	0	2	2
	0	2	24	7	3

Score by innings:
West End.....0-0-0-0-1-2-1-0-x—4
Scotch Plains....0-0-0-0-0-0-0-0-0—0

Earned run: West End, 1. Three base hit: Baldwin. Two base hits: Albert, Grimes, Miller. Bases on balls: Off Weiner, 4; Left on bases: West End, 8; Scotch Plains, 2. Stolen base on errors: West End, 6. Struck out: By Montross, 8; by Weiner, 5. Time of game: One hour, 15 minutes. Umpire: Dalley.

Notable Ball at Wawbeek.

The social season at the Wawbeek, on Upper Saranac Lake, was opened by a ball given in the parlors of the hotel. A number of dinner parties preceded the ball. Mrs. Chapman Fiske, of New York, gave a dinner for Miss Runkle, Miss Louise D. Booth, Miss Fiske, Edward W. Cady, Jr., William L. Rich, Jr., and Samuel Adams. Mrs. Fiske and Miss Dorothy Fiske are spending the season at Wawbeek.

Hurt In Fall From Trolley.

Mrs. Christopher S. Meyers, of East Sixth street, is confined to her home in a serious condition as the result of a trolley accident at East Second and Berckmans streets, Friday afternoon. She was about to alight from a car when it started suddenly and threw her to the roadway. She was rendered partially unconscious by striking on her head and was removed to her home in a cab. She is now under the care of Dr. Tomlinson.

Boroughite Buys "Garry Owen."

Arthur Stevens, of Manning Avenue, yesterday purchased from Fiss, Doerr and Carroll, of New York, the celebrated trotting horse "Garry Owen." The animal has a record of 2:10 and won the Granger stakes at the Syracuse fair in 1906. Mr. Stevens also purchased a handsome racing outfit from the same dealers and "Garry Owen" will probably be seen in some of the Fair Acres meets.

Off on Fishing Trip.

Freeholder Andrew Lutkins, John T. Case, John H. Schenck, George R. Schereth and Howard Debele left yesterday for a week's fishing at Barnegat.

New Jersey Supreme Court

Notice is hereby given that a writ of attachment issued out of the New Jersey Supreme Court against the lands and tenements, goods and chattels, lands and tenements of Lizzie A. Haight, of the city of Rudolph Cohen, for the sum of Eight Thousand Dollars, returnable to the first Monday in May, 1908, by the Sheriff of Union County.

TENNANT & HAIGHT,
Attorneys of Plaintiff,
15 Exchange Place, Jersey City, N. J.
8 8 8

DIED.

YAHRMAN—On Tuesday, July 28, 1908, John Yahrman, in his 29th year.

MARTIN—On Thursday, July 30, 1908, William B. Martin, in his 78th year.

BROWN—In this city, Sunday, Aug. 2, 1908, Mrs. Marion Antoinette Brown.

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace
Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing,
Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Members' Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. LITTELL.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the toncorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

DIME

Savings Institution,

of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. J. Arnold, } Vice-Pres'ts
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Cope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us some to travel appointing agents, others for local work looking after our interests. $900 salary guaranteed yearly; extra commissions and expenses paid for advancement. Old established house. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure permanent, profitable employment. Horse become and feature. New, brilliant lines. Write quick.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

FOR AGENTS—AN OPPORTUNITY

"THE OLD WORLD AND ITS WAYS"

BY

William Jennings Bryan.

NOW READY FOR SOLICITORS.

576 Imperial Octavo Pages. Over 200 Superb Engravings from photographs taken by Mr. Bryan.

Recounts his trip around the world and his visits to all nations. The greatest book of travel ever written. The people are waiting for it. The agent's harvest. Outfit FREE—50 cents to cover mailing and handling.

THE THOMPSON PUBLISHING CO.,
St. Louis, Mo. 7 26 3 c

W. K. CODINGTON,
Counsellor-at-Law,
Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

Purchase Park Avenue Residence.

Drs. C. W. and B. F. Leonard, the dentists, have purchased the residence at 518 Park avenue, belonging to the John C. Smith estate and will remodel it for their own use. They will move their offices to the place some time next spring.

EXPOSES REALTY BOOM

Elizabeth Journal Calls Public Attention to Some Misrepresentations.

TRADING ON OUR GOOD NAME.

"A Mine Is a Hole in the Ground Owned By a Liar"—Property Not Located In City Limits.

The Elizabeth Evening Journal editorially exposes a New York realty company which is advertising alleged Plainfield property at ridiculous prices. Aware of the fact that this is no boom town and that neither the local Board of Trade nor the residents in general have any desire to have the municipality misrepresented, the Journal says:

"A development company that is exploiting land near Plainfield may have a good thing to offer, but the circular that it is sending to prospective buyers makes out too good a case to inspire confidence in those who know this neighborhood. For instance:

Plainfield had a population of 5,000 inhabitants, and in five years has grown to 40,000. At this rate of growth what will your acre of land be worth two years from today?

We are sure that any person can be convinced at first sight that in Plainfield one lot is worth as much as we are getting for twenty lots.

Plainfield had a population of 5,000 once, but that was not five years ago. By the census of 1900 it had 15,369 and at the present time it has about 20,000, instead of 40,000.

"The land in question is really in South Plainfield, which is part of Middlesex county, and to figure out that there are 140 trains daily between that 'Plainfield' and New York, as the circular states, one would have to include the trains on the Central Railroad to and from Plainfield proper, those on the Lehigh Valley to and from South Plainfield, and also those to and from the nearest station of the Pennsylvania in Middlesex county. There may be no downright falsehood in this paragraph, but it conveys a wrong impression.

"The advantages of Plainfield are always used to attract attention to the property, as when the circular says that 'we have our own automobiles to take you and show you the great city of Plainfield, the grandest mansions you could picture to yourself, department stores, banks, theatres, schools, churches, hospitals and other advantages that you have not seen before in a suburban place so close to New York.'

"To take you from South Plainfield to Plainfield is the real meaning of this.

"A mine is a hole in the ground owned by a liar,' according to Mark Twain. People who have experienced the solicitude of the men who own gold mines in Alaska and copper mines out West that will surely pay 100 per cent. dividends pretty soon can appreciate the definition. Liar is a generic term. There are species with a tendency to form varieties. Nobody is disturbed by the yarn lies of a Falstaff or the amusing lies of a Munchausen, but people are sometimes deceived by the vivid kind told by the man who owns only a hole in the ground.

"Promoters of land sales who paint opportunity in hues too rosy are apt to be classed with the 'mine' owners."

SUMMER BOARDERS.

He tells her of his city home, and paints a picture fair.
He claims he really hates to roam,
It is so pleasant there.
She speaks of fashion's endless whirl; of how it tired out her.
Last season's duties, to a girl, she says exacting were.

He talks of gold in large amounts; of Wall street's tiresome grind.
She prates of countesses and counts, the good old Ouida kind.
The truth they wholly set at naught while ladies on this stuff—
Two souls with but a single thought of putting up a bluff!

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Lingerie Gown Today.

The idea of reproducing in lingerie materials the same graceful, clinging lines which distinguished soft silk, satin and cloth costumes, would have been regarded as an impossibility a few years ago by dressmakers. Yet, as all sartorial observers realize, the advance of the lingerie gown from its humble position of indoor or country morning frock to the fashionable feminine wardrobe has been phenomenal. Combinations of embroidery and batiste not only perfectly carry out the charmingly simple models designed especially for the tweedy girl graduate,* but likewise the Grecian and Empire effects beloved by modish matrons anxious to accentuate the matured beauty of figure and bearing.

Secures J. W. Johnson Property.

Dr. F. Wilbur Cornwell, of East Front street, has purchased the J. Wesley property at East Seventh street and Watchung avenue. He will make it his home and office combined. Dr. Cornwell's parents, who were former local residents but who are now living at Cranford, will reside with him.

THEY DEMAND PLEDGES OF PARTY CANDIDATES

Finally perfecting an organization to be known as the Home Rule Good Government Club, the organization committee of the Union County Trades Council in Elizabeth has appointed a committee of five to get from every local candidate for office his stand on legislation advocated by the unions. Unless there is an unexpected change of mind written pledges are to be secured.

In a pamphlet made public the union men announce the legislation they want enacted, and the plan by which they propose to secure it. One plank calling for home rule in taxation was the same for the single tax theory—was last night referred back to committee. These are the principle laws which the union will attempt to have candidates come out for:

A law providing for the initiative and referendum and recall.

A law providing for a public utility commission.

A law providing for the Massachusetts ballot.

A law providing for the direct vote system of primaries.

An employers' liability law.

It is proposed to have a representative in every election district.

The means by which the union men purpose to secure the legislation they favor are set forth in the pamphlet just issued. It states among other things that the Republicans and the Democrats in each local shall vote in their respective primaries for men pledged to their interests and recommends the organization of a county committee composed of one Democrat and one Republican, at least from each local, which is practically the method adopted there.

"If this plan be carried out," says the pamphlet, "it will result in controlling the organization of both political parties in the interest of the people and in the nomination of men in each party pledged to the enactment of laws in the popular interest." But the greatest advantage of all is that this plan would utterly destroy the political power of the corporate specials interests and control the State in the interests of all the people.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN OUT FOR TEMPERANCE

John L. Sullivan, who has broken with rum and is traveling around the country delivering temperance lectures, spoke yesterday at the Bostonian, Mass., Tammany Club's outing. Here are some of the famous fighter's epigrams:

"If a man wants a drink, let him have it. If he knows how to handle it I have never met the man yet who did."

"Money is the universal passport to every place and everything—but heaven."

"Never mind what the other fellow does—if he wants to hang himself, don't follow suit."

"I have worked at most everything honest, but I soon found an opening to make money quicker. Now, money may come fast, but it goes likewise."

"If a man had to kiss a wife with a beauty at her, limburger cheese and peanuts, he would 'holler' enough to make the whole neighborhood."

"Prohibition is an elephantine farce that would not be tolerated in Boston."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN BIBLE CLASS AT MT. PLEASANT.

The adult Bible class of the First Presbyterian church, numbering about forty church workers, had a picnic Thursday afternoon and evening at Leonard Melick's farm at Mount Pleasant. The trip was made by stages and the afternoon was spent on the grounds, where quoits and croquet proved features of the various sports in which the Plainfielders participated. L. A. Hummer and J. V. D. Burr won the informal tournament in quoits, and Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Hinman carried off the honors in croquet.

Late in the afternoon a light supper was served on the lawn, where tables were spread, and the Japanese lanterns strung about were lighted. The evening was spent indoors, where phonograph selections, vocal and instrumental music livened the gathering until it was time to start for home. Mrs. Lillian C. Kelly, Miss Eva Kelly, W. O. Dunning and Fred Goodwin were the committee in charge of the affair.

Materials for Petticoats.

Those who can afford the luxury are buying soft satins for petticoats. No lace or silk will ever be able to produce the same beauty as a satin petticoat of fine lustre, trimmed with many bands of fragile lace, the material cut from beneath the insertion. Then there is a petticoat to wear with tailored gowns that is well liked. It is more like a pongee, though in reality a weave of mixed silk and cotton, rather coarse and made with a flounce or several flounces, ruffle trimmed, though no lace is shown. The edges are often bound with ribbon binding. Many flounces are tucked on the bias, making something very pretty in plain trimming.

"P.B.C." GRADUATES 109

Principal Herr Introduces an Innovation by Awarding Business College Diplomas.

THE GRADUATION PROGRAM.

Herbert E. Parker, Rev. E. E. Roberson, "The Bungalow Man" and S. S. Swackhamer Make Addresses.

Having raised the standard of business college education to the highest plane of practical education, the innovation of awarding diplomas to the graduates of the Plainfield Business College graduates was marked by elaborate exercises at the college Friday night. One hundred and nine pupils, of whom seventy-six received diplomas for completion of the full course of study, and the others were given certificates in their special courses, received the awards from Principal A. S. Herr, proprietor of the school. The exercises, the first of their kind in this city, marked the conclusion of the thirteenth year of the Plainfield Business College, and the third year of its ownership by Professor Herr.

Prof. A. S. Herr.

It was a red hot night, but nevertheless more than 500 people gathered in the assembly hall of the college for the graduation exercises. The rooms were elaborately decorated in red and white, the college colors, and the "P. B. C." banner was much in evidence. The hall was filled to its utmost capacity when the graduates marched to its music by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, and took seats on either side of the speakers' platform. On the platform were Principal A. S. Herr and wife, with the speakers of the evening, Rev. Perry Bice, of Newark; R. R. King and G. A. Meinecke, of New York; General Secretary Herbert E. Parker, of the Y. M. C. A., William Jeffrey, "the Bungalow Man;" Rev. E. E. Roberson, formerly pastor of the Monroe Avenue church, and former Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer.

After introductory music by the orchestra and the invocation by Rev. Mr. Bice, R. R. King spoke briefly on "The New Era of Business Opportunity," and G. A. Meinecke told "Why So Many Stenographers Fail."

Herbert E. Parker at the outset of his remarks referred to the precedent of commencement exercises founded by Principal Herr and spoke on its fittingness. "All institutions," he said, "owe their existence to ideals, and we should all cherish high ideals. You have learned here 'The Three R's,' but I want to give you three more R's. Those are Reason, Right and Reverence. You have learned practical things here, but must know how to think independently. *Then you must appreci*ate the right. 'Right' is a superlative term; there is nothing right unless it is 100 per cent. right. Have your own standards and do not compromise your ideals of right and wrong by the standards of what others do.

"God is a power in your lives which must be recognized in everyday work. Be idealistic. Live in a dream of idealism, if you will, but dream while you're awake and dream while you're at work."

Following Mr. Parker, "the Bungalow Man" injected lots of merriment into the gathering by a snappy talk on the history of the institution. He spoke of the small beginning, of the advancement of the work since Professor Herr took it in charge three years ago, of the advantages of the new building, of the superior equipment. Turning to the graduates, he told them that they had the advantages of the highest character training in connection with their curriculum work. "You go out from college prepared for the worst, and you will get the best. Character is the surest foundation essential to education. Its development is more essential than securing culture and refinement. Every one of you must set up his own standard of character." After Mr. Jeffery's address, Harry Weber played a zither solo, and Miss Josephine M. Martin *won merited applause by her rendi*tion of a soprano solo.

Rev. E. E. Roberson emphasized two points in his remarks. He urged the graduates to work, not to compel their employers to make them work. In living and working, he urged them to work with a margin,—in morals, finance and education.

Principal Herr made a few remarks on the growth of the college previous to his presentation of the diplomas. He said that all but twenty-one of the graduates had already secured positions. He stated that between two and three hundred pupils have attended the college during the past year, and that the greatest daily enrollment has reached 97. He outlined his plans for the enlargement of the scope of the college curriculum.

Former Assemblyman Swackhamer was the last speaker. He was characteristically oratorical and spun a series of anecdotes which allayed the heat for the listeners. He displayed a gaily colored plaque of a rooster, which he said he had just purchased because he felt that the rooster, with his crow, and his spurs to back up his crow with, was something worth imitating. Self-confidence and courage of one's own convictions were the qualities the speaker brought out in his application. "Don't get carried away with money," he said, "for character is the highest and most important thing. Hold to the straight line and never swerve in your purpose."

The music was by seven members of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, under the direction of Martin A. Korff. A photograph of the exercises was taken by P. Frank Stone. The ushers were Sallo Kahn, Harry F. Lunger, Fred Stryker, William Latourette, Charles Windham, Frank Briscoe.

These are the graduates:

Diploma—Miss Anna Matheus, Emma L. Sullivan, Mary Louise Shotwell, Lida B. Apgar, Jennie Augusta DeMott, Florence Beatrix Conroy, Bessie Flynn, May Flynn, Elsie McCullough, Grace M. Finch, Julia J. Maney, Ada D. Rigney.

Bertha E. Frazee, Catherine F. Mohan, Maude C. Farr, Jessie D. Streng, Katherine E. Finger, Harriet A. Smith, Helen A. Southard, Alice E. Terhune, Lillian Smith, Anna M. Doyle, Irma Hoffman, Florence Nelson, Mary D. Foreman.

Gladys R. Leland, Lillian McFrell, Lillie A. Kennedy, Bertha R. Baldwin, Irene Ladle, Ruby O. Rippard, Alexander D. Galloway, Harry F. Porter, Carl H. Carlin, H. Luther Mason, Francis A. Hickey.

Claude E. Prall, Robert L. Cuzen, William H. Demler, Philip C. Hehn, James P. Lynch, Christie Dalford, Arthur C. Seldentop, Bertram W. Sickler, Lewis Hoffman.

Hugh Bartley Sweeney, George H. Cole, William Brown, Mary Morrison, Florence Hoffman, Anna Willis, Morton Hochberger, Frank Mobus, Helen A. Linden, Anna Gillies.

Grace Bryant, Jessie Davis, Edith Kutz, Eleanor Craft, May Carter, Anna Smith, Mary McDonnell, Hilda Rummell, Eleanor Gullberg, Emma Korff.

Laura E. Tantum, Clyde D. Burgess, Sarah McCallum, Joseph Moorcraft, Grace V. Kelley, Marva Woorhees, Mary G. Auten, Gertrude Davis, Russell Rush.

Certificate Class—Ramona Hapman, Matilda Lowande, Mary E. Kriney, Mary Saylor, Arthur B. Chleen, Mary Marzuerite Drake, Joseph Johnson, Jennie Van Fleet.

Mary E. Versing, Norman A. Wolcott, LeRoy R. Layton, Cecil McConnell, Lulu M. Miller, George J. Cubberly, George H. Dorn, Edward W. Hoffman, George W. Schmidt, George F. Marsh, W. Merrell Higgins, Louis S. Van Zandt, William Searing, Francis M. Hoagland.

Margaret Debelo, Albert G. Meyer, Russell S. Davis, Charles Aller, John H. Schenck, George Fred Hall, Wallace Hill, Alfred L. Read, Barton K. Davis, Ernest Luthman, Patrick A. McDonough, Hazel M. Young.

Rocker—Outcalt.

Miss Ethel Wilgus Outcalt, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Outcalt, and Rev. Simon Blocker, pastor of the United Reformed church at High Bridge, N. Y., were married Thursday afternoon in the First Reformed church, New Brunswick, by the Rev. Dr. P. Theodore Peckman. The bridegroom was graduated from Rutgers College in 1905 and from the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick last year. Miss Adelia Siemons was maid of honor, Miss Mae W. Thorn and Miss Bertha Aller were bridesmaids, Jacob C. Pilgrim, of Holland, Mich., was best man, and the ushers were Anno C. Tyrkema, of Chicago and Professor Charles A. Morris, of Toms River.

Fight Cost Him $5.

William Mollison, arrested as a participant in a four-cornered fight which took place on Watchung avenue last night, was fined $5 at the hearing of the quartette Friday night before Recorder Dolliver. The other three prisoners, John Walsh, Leonard Young and John Kerry, colored, were released with suspended sentence. Kerry told the judge that he was attacked by Mollison as he was ministering unto Walsh, whom he found sick in the road before the scrappy pair came along.

The Pleasures of Hope.

"This poem upon 'May Day,'" said the editor, "is not at all bad—"

The attic poet flushed with delight.

"—but since we have enough material on hand to last us for the next ten years, I am obliged to decline it."

The poet still smiled hopefully.

"But, said," he said, "you will require something for the eleventh year."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

COURT SAYS MINOR MAY END MARRIAGE BOND

"Should any persons hereafter be so ill advised as to marry a minor under the prescribed age, it will be for the Court to determine if the relationship can be determined at the mere will of the infant," is the decision of Vice Chancellor Stevens at Trenton in an opinion in which he refuses to annul the marriage of Percy E. Williams, of Livingston, and Lola Maria Brokaw, who is studying to be a trained nurse at the Mountainside Hospital, Montclair.

The fact that the new divorce law, which was passed in 1907 and became operative last winter, is held to be not operative in that it leaves Mrs. Williams from being a divorced woman before either she or her husband had ceased to be a minor.

It was June 14, 1904, that Williams and Miss Brokaw were married by Squire Kitchell, a justice of the peace of Morris county. The bridegroom was at that time between sixteen and seventeen years of age and the bride was less than fifteen. The husband stated in his suit that the marriage had not been confirmed by him since he attained the age of eighteen, which is the minimum under the new law which holds such unions to be binding.

The defendant, through her counsel, filed a demurrer to the bill, setting up that the marriage was legal and valid when made; that the statute of 1907, under which Williams sought relief, became effective only after the marriage, and that any statutte which might attempt to permit the marriage to be annulled is *unconstitutional. In his opinion sus*taining this demurrer, Vice Chancellor Stevens says:

"At the time the marriage in question was contracted it was perfectly lawful. The union created by it was indissoluble, unless one of the spouses should commit certain specified offenses or crimes that would give to the other the right to terminate it. It is now sought to annul it without fault on part of the defendant, at the mere will or caprice of the petitioner. The court is slow to give to a statute a retrospective effect unless its language plainly demands it. I can find nothing in the act under consideration that is not entirely consistent with the idea that the statute is prospective only. The words plainly refer to past time anterior to the bringing of the suit, not to past time anterior to the passage of the act."

After quoting from an opinion of the Court of Errors holding that legislation in the future must be so expressed in unequivocal terms, Vice Chancellor Stevens concludes as follows:

"If hereafter any person be so ill advised as to enter into a marriage with an infant under the prescribed age, he does so with the knowledge that the relationship can be terminated at the mere will of the infant. I am unable, in the light of the above canon of construction, to find anything in the act which would countenance the idea that it was the intention of the Legislature to allow persons to affirm or annul at their pleasure unions entered into before the cast was passed and at a time when, by law, they were understood to be indestructible. The demurrer should be allowed."

YOUNG MEN BATTLE ON THE DUER STREET BRIDGE.

Backed up by seconds and a crowd of friends to see fair play, a couple of well known local young men, seated on the Duer street bridge over Green brook, on a spot in the city's grievance, Friday. They sailed into each other just as the clock struck nine and for five minutes or more had a battle royal. At the end of that time, one of the combatants was put down and out with a colic plexus blow. He was taken home by some of his pals.

The bridge was evidently picked out for the fight in order to cross the dividing line either one way or the other in the event of city or borough cops showing up. None appeared, however, and the affair was settled to the full satisfaction of all concerned. It was witnessed by a number of residents in the neighborhood.

CAKE IS A SNAKE MAN.

Is Shedding His Skin for the 28th Time.

William U. Cake, a linodeum printer of Trenton, who sheds his cuticle just like a snake, is now losing his skin for the twenty-eighth time during the fifty-three years of his life. The mysterious serpentine characteristic comes to Cake regularly every two or three years. Many doctors have examined him, but none has been able to diagnose or explain his trouble.

The attacks have come to Cake periodically ever since he was a baby, and he is now getting discouraged. During the shedding of his skin he experiences great pain.

Mrs. K., while telling her children about Adam and Eve and the beauties of the Garden of Eden, was interrupted by one of the tiny tots saying, "Oh, mamma, when those Adamses move away, let us get that place to live in."—Delineator.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE FOR ALTERING REFORM HALL

Manager W. J. Counihan, of the New Plainfield theatre, was in town Thursday for the purpose of making final arrangements for the alterations to Reform Hall. The work will be started at once and the place will be open on September 15 as a ten and twenty cent vaudeville theatre. Bookings will be made by Feiber & Shea, who have a chain of similar houses in Perth Amboy, New Brunswick, Trenton, Orange and Paterson.

In speaking of the alterations, Mr. Counihan said the interior of the old hall will undergo an entire change and that no expense will be spared in making it cosy and attractive. First class opera chairs will be placed in the orchestra and extra exits are to be cut in to insure safety. The front of the building is to be entirely reconstructed and a handsome approach added.

The regular season of the New Plainfield theatre will be opened on August 10 with Dookstader's minstrels as the attraction.

PROMISED TO KILL HIMSELF "NO MORE"

"Judge, if you let me go this time I won't kill myself no more," declared Zakiel Farrago in pleading for mercy when arraigned Saturday before Recorder Charles Sheeden at Fanwood on a charge of having attempted to commit suicide. Farraro in a fit of despondency ten days ago slashed his throat five times with a razor and was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital in a supposedly dying condition. On his release from that institution Saturday afternoon, he was taken in custody by Marshal Logan, of Fanwood, and placed in the jail there.

After a lecture the recorder released Farraro upon his promise to pay the expenses incurred at the hospital.

NEWARK WOMAN MAY LOSE $1,000.

Officer's Error In Serving Papers May Cost Mrs. Patterson Big Verdict.

Mrs. Martha B. Patterson, formerly of Omaha, Neb., but now of Newark, is in danger of losing a $1,000 suit because a Sheriff's officer in Omaha failed to make the proper return of a subpoena. Through her counsel, Simeon B. Rollinson, Mrs. Patterson brought suit for the above amount against Thomas H. Taylor. She holds five judgments for $800 each against Taylor, which the Rochester Loan and Banking Company assigned to her for $381, and assigned to her in 1893, as the recovery was on promissory notes indorsed by her husband, Richard C. Patterson.

Judge Heisley, in an opinion handed down yesterday, declares that although there is no doubt that the judgments held by Mrs. Patterson are bona fide, yet the defect in the service of the summons in the case was so serious that there was great doubt as to whether she could recover in the Omaha courts.

In the return made by the Sheriff's officer in Omaha nothing was said about any effort having been made to locate Taylor, nor was anything said about any inability to find the defendant, the summons simply being left at Taylor's house. *"Although this point as to the serious*ness of the defect in service, has not been settled by the courts of New Jersey, Judge Heisley said that such recital seemed obligatory by the laws of Nebraska.

THIEVES IN MONTCLAIR.

Haul Made from the Home of Oliver Grinnell.

The Montclair police are investigating the robbery of the home of Oliver C. Grinnell, 10 Erwin Park, Montclair. The house had been entered and jewelry and silverware worth $500 had been taken by the burglars.

Mr. and Mrs. Grinnell had spent the day in New York and had given their servant, Anna Anderson, leave to go out for the afternoon. When they returned at night the house had been ransacked. A gold watch and several stickpins had been stolen from Grinnell and a watch and several other pieces of jewelry were lost by Arthur Winter, a brother of Mrs. Grinnell.

Take Care to Sit Correctly.

It is while sitting that women most hurt their figures. Many of them seat themselves so that they sit on the tip of the spine. Let any woman who is reading this sentence now drop her paper and notice if she is sitting on the tip of her spine or four or five inches forward, causing a curve in the vertebrae. It is easy enough to know, because if the end of the spine has been made to do its work she cannot straighten herself any more in the seat, although she may be able to throw back her body more, but if the line of her backbone is as it should be she cannot pull herself up higher on the chair. This is because the weight is already placed at its proper angle.

MINISTERS AT SEA GIRT

Governor Acts as Host for 325 Pastors Representing All Denominations.

GOV. FORT PRAISES SOLDIERS.

Luncheon, Exhibition Drill, Inspection of Camp and Speechmaking the Program.

Ministers from all parts of the State were the guests Thursday of Governor Fort at Sea Girt. A number of Plainfield pastors were invited but the only divines from here were Rev. R. S. Kemble and Rev. D. B. F. Randolph.

Shocking to relate, the Fifth Regiment band, of Paterson, intermingled the strains of "Lead, Kindly Light," "The Holy City" and other sacred airs with "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," and "Merry Widow" waltzes, concluding the program with "We Won't Go Home Till Morning."

"There is no better National Guard in the United States than that of New Jersey," said the Governor to the ministers after the luncheon. "I am glad that you have been able to get here for a day and observe how disciplined and proper is the atmosphere in camp for our young men. The records at Washington will show that the statement I have made about our guardsmen is true. They are fine Americans; the best in the land. I am proud of them, and I am glad that you are.

"We have a regular army battery here, captained by a Jerseyman, and this afternoon Captain Hennessey will give you an exhibition drill, showing you how a battery behaves in action. You will see the guns manipulated, firing in action, and lots of other interesting things."

Cheers for Guardsmen.

When the Governor had concluded there were cheers and a Chautauqua salute. Then the Rev. Dr. Lyman Whiting Allen, of Newark, proposed three cheers for the National Guard of New Jersey, and they were given with a vigor of voices trained to public speaking that made the echoes ring.

Someone asked the Rev. Dr. David O. Irving, of Bethel Presbyterian church, East Orange, if all the ministers in New Jersey weren't included in the list of 325 invited there yesterday by the Governor. It is true, if sad that he found the statement he made very new to those who heard it, he said.

There are several thousand ministers in this State. There are six or eight hundred of the Presbyterian church alone."

The ministers spent most of the day in going about the camp and visiting the company streets. It was discovered that many had parishioners among the boys of the Fifth Regiment.

There were many meetings between old friends about the big tent where luncheon was served. So many were there of the men of the clergy from every county in the State that fifty or so were served on the lawn in the shadow of the Governor's cottage.

Bishops O'Connor, of Newark, and Mc*Farland, of Trenton*, and other dignitaries of the Catholic church, sent regrets. Deans Gessner and McNulty were among those who were unable to lunch with Governor Fort. Bishop Lines, of the Episcopal Diocese of Newark, was one of several of his faith to send regrets.

Herron's Trial Costly.

The recent trial of Archibald Herron will cost Middlesex county about fifteen hundred dollars. The four aldermen in the case will get $100 each per day. They were in attendance four days, making the cost to the county $800 for them. Dr. Britton D. Evans and Dr. T. M. Donohue did not testify, although on hand for the State. They helped the State frame questions on which the witnesses for the defense were examined. The two scientists for the defense were Dr. William E. Ramsay and Dr. Harry A. Cotton. The defendant's counsel, C. J. Cowenhoven, is likely to get a fee of $200 for his work, and that will make the total $1118. About three hundred dollars will cover the other costs, although the total amount may exceed $1,500, when all of the expense bills are counted in.

Not Easily Scared.

To a professor's lecture on morality his students listened with due submission and humility. In the course of his lecture the excellent man said: "My young friends, the flames of hell are paved with chamber of automobiles and chorus girls." He was horrified to hear one of the students say in a sepulchral tone: "Oh, death, where is thy sting?"—Chicago News.

He Was Sorry.

Professor Stone—"To the geologist, a thousand years or so are not counted as any time at all."

Man in the A udience—"Great Scott! And to think I made a temporary loan of two pounds to a man who holds such views!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

NEIGHBORS IN A BATTLE

A Shot-gun, Garden Shears and Horse-whip Used by Netherwood Residents.

AFFAIR ENDS IN POLICE COURT.

Mrs. Hennessey and Her Father Complain Against Patrick O'Brien and Latter Is Fined $20.

According to testimony brought out in the city court, Saturday, the upper end of Belvidere avenue was the scene of a battle royal during a neighborhood quarrel Wednesday afternoon. There were five participants all told and besides fists, some of the weapons used were a single-barrelled shot-gun, a pair of garden shears two feet long and a whalebone horsewhip. There were no casualties but two of the combatants were injured.

The complainants in the case were Mrs. Edwin Hennessey and her father, Otto Gunther. They accused Patrick O'Brien of striking them and threatening to kill both and also two of Mrs. Hennessey's children. The whole rumpus grew out of some bad feeling between the families, who live on adjoining properties, and was brought to a head by the Hennessey chickens getting into O'Brien's garden.

Mrs. Hennessey asserted that O'Brien started in to slaughter the offending fowls and when she protested he struck her with the shears. She was so badly hurt, she said, that Dr. Lufburrow had to treat her. She sent her daughter for her father and when Mr. Gunther came up on the run he was knocked down by a well aimed fist blow. O'Brien then withdrew to his home. Gunther recovered after five minutes, so his daughter said, and he went in front of the O'Brien house to declare the law would be called upon to punish his assailant.

"I don't care for the law, Chief Kiely or anybody else," is what O'Brien is alleged to have said in reply and he sallied out of the front door with the shot gun. Mrs. Hennessey and the children twenty-threed it for their own fireside, but Pa Gunther stood his ground until the muzzle of the weapon was shoved against his chest. He recalled then that he had an important engagement somewhere and left in a hurry to keep it.

When placed on the stand by his counsel, John P. Owens, O'Brien stated that he had struck Gunther and threatened to use the shot-gun but denied assaulting Mrs. Hennessey. It was she, he said, who was at the bottom of the fight. He claimed that she was intoxicated at the time and that after calling him names, lashed him across the shoulders with the horsewhip. On rebuttal, Mrs. Hennessey said she had grabbed up the whip to protect herself.

At the conclusion of the case, Counsellor Owens made an eloquent plea for his client's discharge but spoiled the effect by failing to get Mrs. Hennessey's name fixed in his mind. He called her "Mrs. Gunther" first and when she exclaimed that wasn't her title he said "all right," but the next moment referred to her as "Mrs. Kiely." He jumped from one name to the other all through his address.

"Twenty dollars or twenty days," was all Judge Runyon said when he concluded and O'Brien paid up in preference to going to Elizabeth.

ACCESSORIES.

Cretonne stocks with jabot trimming will be worn with shirtwaist suits. Belts are made to match.

Fancy Dutch collars can be purchased in any size, color or material for decorating plain dresses.

Ribbons continue to be worn in the hair. They are wound around the coiffure.

ONE BRIDE'S CAKE.

While a certain bride-to-be may not have won her sweetheart with butter cake—the recipe follows—she admits that he is most enthusiastic over it.

To make it, one creams one tablespoonful of butter. Then add a cup of sugar, two eggs, separately, stirring well after each addition; two-thirds of a cup of milk, one and a half cups of flour mixed with one teaspoon baking powder. "When nearly done pour plenty of melted butter over," sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake until a good brown.

This sounds well worth trying, and one is willing to believe it delicious.

To Wear With Lingerie Frocks.

With the simpler princess and one-piece lingerie frocks are worn fascinating bebe hats of heavy embroidered linen. Their frilly scalloped brims are supplemented with laced-edged accordion-plaited net ruches and big taffeta bows set against the square crowns lend a charming note of color to the costume. With the more elaborate confections of allovers and flouncings, the point d'esprit Charlotte Corday is considered eminently suitable. Taffeta and white mousquetaire gloves to accompany lingerie short sleeves are sometimes elaborately embroidered in delicate colors from wrist to elbow, and even the lisle stockings revealed by the low-cut canvas and suede oxfords display the same craze for the decorative.

DR. WHITNEY SERENADED BY FORMER TOWNSPEOPLE

Headed by the Hackettstown band, nearly 1,000 citizens of that town marched to the Centenary Collegiate Institute Thursday night to serenade Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, of this city. Dr. and Mrs. Whitney are guests of Rev. Dr. Jonathan M. Meeker, and his wife, at their home in the school building. Rev. Dr. Whitney was president of the institute from its founding, in 1869, to 1905, a period of twenty-six years. With his family he resided at Hackettstown from 1874 to 1895, when he resigned the presidency and established his home in this city.

In 1909 he was president-emeritus of the school, which position he still holds. Thursday night's demonstration was in honor of Dr. Whitney's seventy-sixth birthday.

A reception was held on the porch of President Meeker's home. Among those who joined in the greetings were: Rev. Dr. Robinson, pastor of the Hackettstown M. E. church; Rev. Dr. Meeker, Rev. A. O. Hammond and others. Attorney Jacob C. Allen was spokesman of the occasion. Dr. Whitney responded happily.

Rev. Dr. Meeker, who has been recently chosen president to succeed Rev. Dr. Noble, spoke briefly. Dr. Meeker was pastor of the Hackettstown M. E. church a few years ago.

BRYAN'S NOTIFICATION WILL BE NON-PARTISAN

A call was sent from Lincoln, Neb., Friday by the local committee in charge of the Bryan notification ceremonies to Democrats of Nebraska, asking that as large a representation as possible be sent to Lincoln on the day that the event occurs. Mayor Brown, Lincoln's Democratic executive, says that this call is issued in order to bring the biggest crowd ever in the town, but that in fact with the exception of the speeches, everything is to be of a non-partisan character.

To emphasize this Governor Shelton and other Republican State officials of Nebraska, have been asked to take a leading part, and an invitation was sent last night to Senator La Follette, of Winconsin, to participate as a personal friend of Bryan. La Follette is to speak at the local Methodist chautauqua at Lincoln on the evening of August 12 and will be in Lincoln during the afternoon. The latter says he has invited LaFollette to "participate in as much of the ceremonies as he may wish to."

Mr. Bryan declines to say how long his speech will be. He says he does not know, and that he supposes he can cover sufficiently each issue raised in the two platforms. The fact that he has by him during the periods of the day devoted to dictate a pamphlet copy of Taft's speech, indicates one result of the afternoon's effort—to finish the speech by Monday, and to have it ready for distribution to the press representatives by Wednesday.

What time the candidate can spare from his literary labors is devoted to the running of the farm work and selling off live stock.

HERMAN UNGER'S WILL.

Grandsons Are Among the Chief Beneficiaries.

By the will of Herman Unger, who committed suicide at his summer home on the Raritan River, near Riverside Park, filed for probate in New Brunswick, the testator leaves to the exeputors $50,000, to be held in trus, the income to be paid to his granddaughter, Herman Unger Clark. A like sum of $50,000 is held in trust, the income to be paid to another grandson, Francis H. Clark. Upon their death the principal is to be paid to their surviving child or children.

The deceased also directs that his brother, Eugene Unger, shall have the option to purchase all of his stock in the Unger Bros. Corporation at $70 a share at any time within three years of the testator's death. All remainder of the real and personal property, inclusive of his stock, subject to the provisions above stated, is bequeathed to Miss Caroline Unger, a daughter. The deceased named as executors Mrs. Clark and Eugene Unger. The will is dated February 19, 1908.

A Southern Omelet.

Bread omelet is one of the favorite luncheon dishes in an out-of-town house where the housewife is a transplanted New Orleanian. Her idea originated with a famous French restaurant in that city. A cupful of stale bread cut in dice is fried in deep fat until is a golden brown. Then two or three eggs are beten thoroughly, seasoned with salt, pepper and minced parsley, and are turned over the bread and cooked until the bottom is brown.

Prohibitionist Paraphrase.

"What we want now," said one Prohibition campaigner, "is some picturesque title of our candidate, such as it is now customary to give the head of the ticket."

"Very true," replied the other. "Why not refer to him as 'the beer-less leader?'"—Washington Star.

ANOTHER LOCAL CHARITY

Young Women of This City are Doing a Laudable Work at Riverton, Conn.

A GIRLS' FRESH AIR HOME.

Poor Girls From New York Are Afforded a Vacation Free of Charge through Liberality of Plainfield People.

A delegation of New York girls, between the ages of twelve and sixteen years of age, are now in camp near Riverton, Litchfield County, Conn., where they were taken Friday for a two weeks' sojourn Miles Roberts, of Kensington avenue, Mrs. Burton E. Moore and the Misses Ellen L. Merrill and Margaret Goddard, of this city, have been at Riverton for several days, preparing for the young people.

The "camp" is the old Miles Loomis farm, which has been in the family for six generations. The present owners do not care to sell the property, which is about three miles from Winsted, Conn., but have offered it for this charitable use. The farmhouse is ideal for such a purpose, with its large open fireplaces and its brick oven, its gigantic sugar maples more than a hundred years old and its natural beauty of isolation. Several partitions have been removed to give better sleeping accommodations.

No charity gives outings or vacations for girls between the ages of twelve and sixteen—girls too young to be employed, according to the child labor law, and too old to go to baby camps. Plainfielders are interested in the movement for vacations for these girls, and it was only a few weeks ago that a sale and lawn fete was held for the benefit of this work at the home of Miss Goddard, on East Ninth street.

THE MARCEL WAVE HAS GONE OUT.

There are more individual styles in hair-dressing at the present time than there have been for many months. Marcelling has practically gone, although it is seen at some evening affairs. With a high arrangement, the back of the hair may be marceled, leaving a soft pompadour now. The ears and coils may be arranged in the way which most becomes the face. Sometimes the hair is parted in front and puffed in a wide effect at the sides. The low coiffures are gaining favor because they correspond with the classic lines of the evening gowns that are the height of fashion. One arrangement is a moderately high, soft pompadour, reaching on the sides of the puffs and rolls that are clustered low on the neck. For a profile that is classic, this style should be adopted, but one should be careful not to place the coil too low. This arrangement is more becoming in profile than at front face. The psyche knot is also popular dressing for present writing, but is best suited for evening wear. The Parisian's idea is to give a long appearance to the head by arranging the psyche knot far out at the back. It is sometimes worn low at the nape of the neck with a very low pompadour. This style is most successfully worn by the tall, slender woman with delicate features.

A "BILL" CAMPAIGN.

"Bill" Bryan and "Bill" Taft. We call each "Bill," and where's the harm?

"Bill" has a hearty, honest, sound, expressing admiration warm.
We've had our "William" candidates, and praised them with our voice and quill,
But now's our chance to pin our hopes unto a candidate named "Bill."

"Bill" Taft and "Bill" Bryan. We call each "Bill," and where's the hurt?
"Bill" has a sturdy, whole-souled ring, and we who use it are not pert.
We've had our "William" Presidents, but revered them then, revere them still.
But now it looks as if we'll have next term a President named "Bill."

—Louisville Courjer-Journal.

Gardening More Than a Pad.

According to the annual report of the Horticultural College for Women, at Swanley, England, the interest in outdoor life among women is steadily increasing. The number of students graduated last year was sixty-eight. Before the end of six months more than half the number reported that they had secured good places as gardener teachers in charge of garden schools, head gardeners, under gardeners and market gardeners.

As their pay is, as a rule, as high as that received by men in similar places, the work is looked upon as very desirable among women who are fond of outdoor life.

He Liked This Camphor.

Little Harry had not been talking many months when he expressed himself this way upon one occasion. He had often smelled of camphor, but one day got a bottle of perfumery and was delighted. "Mamma," he said, "this funny camphor makes me good breathing."—Delineator.

PASTOR ANSWERS CRITICS

Rev. C. S. Kemble Defends the Sermon He Preached, on the Cordova Case

GIVES SOME INSIDE FACTS.

Minister Declares That South River Man Has Been Judged Too Harshly—His Sin Not As Bad As David's.

Rev. C. S. Kemble, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, who has been the object of a volley of editorial criticism since he preached a sermon last Sunday taking a merciful position in the case of Rev. Mr. Cordova, the South River unfrocked pastor, who is soon to finish his praon term. The Plainfield pastor declared that Cordova had been "prejudged by a sensational press and prejudiced by a biased Judge," and that he was not half as bad as painted.

Rev. Charles S. Kemble.

The advice given him editorially by a Newark paper has prompted him to make a reply.

"With all due respect to the editorial conscience, I cannot admit the assumption of the esteemed Newark editor," said he, "of either a superior exegetical ability or a superior knowledge of the facts in the Cordova case. First as to exegesis, Paul's injunction as the duty of restoring one overtaken in a fall does not presuppose 'works meet for repentence,' or any effort to return of the part of the sinner, it makes it the duty of the church to seek out the wanderer and endeavor to beget repentance in him.

"It applies to all sinners not as has been so generally assumed to all sinners but Cordova. As to the statement that Cordova was 'not taken in sin,' he was condemned for a continual series of faults of the gravest character.

"This involves a more intimate knowledge of the circumstances of Cordova's transgression, than is probably possessed by the editor, no one but Cordova and the Final Supreme Judge can tell how sudden or how aginous was the fall.

"No one has cared to get Cordova's side to render him even Justice, let alone mercy. Merely by assuming that Cordova's previous character irreproachable character entitles his word to some respect, I give his own explanation to me. In the first place there was no law guilty intimacy before the elopement, but on an impulse on suggestion of it by the girl's father goaded on by an enemy's suspicion precipitated an elopement that had never been planned or thought of. The fact that both reputations were already at the mercy of public opinion made this impetuous step irreversible. The fact that his marital relations had not become but had always been unhappy helped to make the separation permanent. It is not generally known but it was established before the Board of Pardons that Cordova supported his family regularly after getting safely out of the country and with no legal compulsion, and that he was only brought back under the jurisdiction of the United States courts by a decoy appeal to his affection for his little daughter who was falsely reported to him as going insane for a sight of her father.

"He did not beat his wife and children. His sentence for assault was based on unsupported statements of his wife and one instance in which in a little spat, he confesses to having thrown a glass and a tine pie plate at his wife as a result of a taunt and a dare. Now all this is submitted not to deny that Cordova has committed a crime but to establish my claim that as sentences go he has been punished already, with undue severity, and that though he has sinned he has not sinned 'above all the Galileans,' so as to be entirely beyond the pale of mercy extended to others. David's sin was greater; he was forgiven and became a saint afterwards. Give Cordova the same chance."

His Forte.

"Now," said the warden to the forger, who had just arrived at the prison, "we'll see you to work. What can you do best?"

"Well, if you'll give me a week's practise on your signature, I'll sign your official papers for you," said the prisoner.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

MURPHY RETURNS HOME

Declares Taft Will Be Next President and that Jersey Will Be for Him.

HE CALLS STATE COMMITTEE.

Headquarters for the Campaign Will Be Close to the Four Corners in Newark.

Former Governor Franklin Murphy returned Friday from a Western trip, during which, as New Jersey's member of the National Republican Committee, he had a part in the ceremonies attendant on the formal notification of William H. Taft that he had been nominated for President. At the South Broad street home last night the former Governor, as State chairman, talked on the prospects for the coming campaign and of the battle to be waged thereabouts.

"I have sent out a call this evening for a meeting of the State committee on Friday of next week, August 7," he said, "there is much in the air, but until after the State committee meets there isn't much to be said about the campaign or plans for it."

State headquarters are to be selected at Friday's meeting after organization has been effected. The members of the new State committee, with the exception of those serving at large, were chosen at the State convention of May 5. In many cases, as in that of Essex county, old members were elected for another term.

While the former Governor has been away, it has been stated authoritatively that he will be the choice of the committee for chairman if he will consent to take the leadership once more in New Jersey. He did not comment on the subject last night, but it is almost certain that he will accept the chairmanship.

Mr. Murphy went West primarily to pay his quarterly visit to his associates on the board of managers to the National Soldiers' Home. The last of these was inspected at Dayton, O., last Sunday, and from there he went to Cincinnati to attend the notification ceremonies.

Declares Taft Will Win.

The State chairman was not prepared to go into Presidential possibilities any further than when he returned from the national convention at Chicago and predicted the success of the Republican ticket. "There is nothing in the East or West, he averred, that would lead to the belief that Taft will be beaten by Bryan.

"Mr. Taft will be our next President," he said, "and New Jersey will be for him."

The principal headquarters for the State campaign to back up the national ticket and support the party's candidates for Congress, will be located in Newark. It has been decided to select a building somewhere near the Four Corners, in fact the place desired is said to have been practically secured. There is not room enough at county headquarters in the Straube building.

The State chairman will issue a call shortly after next Friday's meeting for the State convention that is to choose Republican candidates for Presidential electors.

RIBBON USED LAVISHLY ON ALL GOWNS.

Almost all the well-dressed summer girls are wearing bows of ribbon in their hair, with an end of the ribbon twined in and out among the puffs and curls, says Mary Dean. The effect is charming and generally very becoming, unless a girl is unusually tall. A very practical bow is made of black velvet ribbon combined with silver gauze. Both should be wired and formed into a standing bow, and if the wearer has dark hair, the silver gauze should be twined through the hair. If she is blonde the black velvet should be used for that purpose.

Many of the newest lingerie gowns have lace collars attached to them. Over this is worn a high stock of pompadour ribbon, high in the back and brought down low in the front, showing the lace collar. This is fastened in front with two long narrow ends, and the ends finished with a long silk tassel in a color that harmonizes with the gown. Sometimes a sash is worn matching the stock, but this is not necessary.

Leghorn and panama hats for wear with shirtwaist suits are almost universally trimmed with a huge bow of black moire or satin ribbon—preferably moire, as it is stiffer and holds its shape better. These hats are turned up at one side and on the drooping side is put the large wired bow of black ribbon which any girl with deft fingers can manufacture.

A pongee or linen coat which has shrunk or grown too small for its owner, can be made wearable and very up to date by inserting a vest of some gaily colored ribbon, and putting collar and cuffs on it of the same. It only takes three-quarters of a yard for the vest of a short coat.

The Patient Producer.

"They say your son-in-law does not appreciate the value of money."

"Yes, he does," answered Mr. Cumrox. "But I don't believe he thinks I do."—Washington Star.

JERSEY CITY IS IN A BAD WAY

Mayor Wittpenn, of Jersey City, in discussing the city's financial problem today, said:

"In view of the great reduction in ratables made by the State Board of Assessors, the State Board of Taxation and the County Board of Taxation, I can estimate that about $60,000,000 of ratables will be lopped off of last year's total. If we can keep the local appropriations for the maintenance of the city government down to the same amounts as were appropriated last year, and we have to face a loss of $60,000,00 in ratables, then the tax rate will have to go up. Last year's tax rate was $16.18 a thousand of ratables. This year it will be at least $18.50, without a dollar having been added to the city's total appropriations.

"That condition is caused by the loss in ratables. The last administration's Tax Board gained second-class railroad property at $76,000,000, and the State Board of Assessors, which now has the assessing power, has already practically reduced that total to $40,000,000, and I have heard that a second cut has been considered to $36,000,000. The State Board of Taxation lopped off $7,000,000 in ratables by its reductions on other property in Jersey City, and the county board also did a lot of reducing, so that an estimate of a $60,000,000 loss in ratables cannot be far out of the way."

The Mayor declared that he was opposed to any improvement of the Newark Plank road that would double the entire cost to the counties of Hudson and Essex. He asserted that the Public Service Corporation should be compelled to pay at least one-quarter of the cost of any improvement of that road. The Court of Chancery fixed the proportion of the Plank road case some years ago.

PLAINFIELDERS ENJOY A DAY AT THE SHORE

The explosion of a red toy balloon on the Asbury Park station platform, about the time the Plainfielders were getting aboard the train for this city Thursday, caused considerable excitement and great fright to ten-year-old Edna Smith, of this city. The little girl was standing on the platform, deeply engrossed in the antics of the "balloon," when someone touched it with a cigar or cigarette and it "bursted" with a noise like a cannon shot. Edna was thrown down by the concussion and her hair was quite singed. People who stood nearby thought she had been hurt and there was a general gathering to see what was the matter. The smoker who did the damage got away with his joke.

No accident marred the day for the Plainfielders, who found the conditions at the shore ideal, with a steady sea breeze and sun just hot enough to suit those who went to get sunburned. A large percentage of the excursionists left the sand and declared their swim the best part of the day's outing. Jollity reigned in the train going and coming, and there was no delay with the specials. The excursion made especially good time, running down in an hour and a half and back in an hour and forty minutes.

The outing crowd was the largest in the history of Trinity Reformed church excursions, and all sixteen cars of the two-section special were well filled.

EXPRESS WAGON AND RUNABOUT IN COLLISION.

An express wagon belonging to A. E. Hoagland and driven by Edward Conger, collided with a runabout on West Front street near the Babcock building Friday morning. A wheel of the latter rig was demolished but the occupants, the Misses Grace and Carrie McVey, of West Front street, escaped injury by holding fast to the seat. Patrolman Flynn assisted them in getting the runabout put to rights in order to get home.

The accident was caused by the Misses McVey stopping their rig suddenly just as Conger was about to pass them. He attempted to pull his horse to one side but the animal slipped on the brick pavement.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following real estate transfers, of interest to Plainfielders, have been recorded at Elizabeth: Highland Park Realty Co. to Jessie L. Smith, southwesterly side Sumner avenue, 250 feet southeasterly of Midway, Plainfield, $1; Harvey H. Linbarger to Maude A. Cooke, northeasterly side Park avenue, 30 feet northwesterly of Bartel avenue, Flagwood, $1; William H. Lawrence, Sheriff, to Mary P. Sullivan, southwesterly side Lafayette place, 250 feet southeasterly of West Front street, Plainfield, $1,484.28; Francis J. Dietz et ux to Maude E. Bauer, Fifth street, corner Sampson, Plainfield, $1.

His Imitation.

Mr. Hogan—Where did Oi git th' black eye? O'im just after bein' initiated.

Mr. Kelley—Into what society?

Mr. Hogan—Into th' society av me mother-in-law.—Leslie's Weekly.

FIGHTING "WHITE PLAGUE"

Miss Mamie Leahy, Cured of Lung Trouble, is Doing a Noble Work Here.

A MOUNTAIN CAMP NEEDED?

Local Society's Visiting Nurse Works In Co-operation With Board of Health Does Her Best to Stamp Out Dread Disease.

Although there is a possibility that a tuberculosis camp may be founded on the Watchung Mountains back of the city for the care of city and borough residents afflicted with "The White Plague," Health Officer Leon Thurlow told a reporter for The Daily Press today that the plan of a mountain isolation camp is not being agitated at present because of the fact that there are very few who would be willing to go to such a retreat for treatment.

"To build and maintain such a tuberculosis camp," Mr. Thurlow said, "would involve an expense of more than $3,000 a year. While Plainfield has at least its share of consumptives, they are under careful supervision of Miss Mamie Leahy, the visiting nurse of the Plainfield Tuberculosis Society, the local physicians, the Organized Aid Society, and the boards of health of both city and borough. The community does not need an isolation camp to fight the disease.

"An active campaign is being waged here against tuberculosis," Mr. Thurlow continued, "but this is not because the general health of city and borough is menaced by the disease, although the energy and effort is being made to stamp out "The White Plague" and Plainfield is working hard to co-operate with this movement, along with various cities and towns all over the State. Miss Leahy has gained herself of tuberculosis by the out-door treatment, and as the visiting nurse of the Society here, is doing a great work among consumptives of city and borough."

"I have always been interested in securing the tuberculosis camp on the mountain," Miss Leahy told me. It is very hard to persuade local people who have long trouble to agree to go to such a camp if it were founded. They are given excellent care in their homes, with the suggestions of Miss Leahy and the physicians for the most part strictly obeyed, and I do not consider them dangerous to the community. Miss Leahy says that there are only about five or six whom she can persuade to go to a mountain isolation camp."

Miss Mamie Leahy, who is the visiting nurse of the Plainfield Tuberculosis Society, was seen at her home on East Fifth street by a Daily Press representative this afternoon. She is a bright ball of enthusiasm for the work she is doing against tuberculosis, and has been especially successful since her appointment by the society about two years ago.

"Tuberculosis is spreading alarmingly throughout the country!" she said, "but the situation here is by no means dangerous. All cases of 'cough' in which a physician is summoned are reported to the boards of health, if they develop into tuberculosis, and my work is essentially a work of instruction. I go to people and give them sputum cups, impressing upon them the danger which lurks in tuberculous sputum. I tell them what they ought to eat, urge them to live out-doors as much as possible, and tell those living with them how they must be cared for.

"Tuberculosis is not as much of a 'plague' as people try to make out. I believe that there is no danger from any one who is consumptive in any home. The danger lurks in the sputum alone, and if consumptives could be made to realize this, there would be no danger, absolutely none. We don't really need a tuberculosis camp, but I like to see one started. This will only be made possible if I can persuade local people to go there and take advantage of the treatment. A local physician has said that the Watchung Mountains are as beneficial as the Adirondacks, but the idea of isolation, which is really unnecessary, I think, is distasteful."

GOOD TIMES AHEAD.

Never mind de rainstorm;
Never mind de broth;
Never mind about de win
A-blowin' no'th or south!
Gwineter end a heap o' friends
To keep us all afloat.
Never mind de weather,
Ca'se it's almos' time to vote!

Never mind de notice
Bout de rent come due;
Folk'll sen' in bo stan'in' roun'
A-shakin' hands wif you.
"Twon't be troublesome do mo'
A-borrin' a dime.
Cheer up, chillun,
Ca'se it's almos' votin' time.
—Washington Star.

"Salt Water Day" the 12th.

The annual outing of the Calvary Baptist Sunday-school will be held Thursday, August 12, at South Beach. Special trolley cars will leave the station at 9 o'clock in the morning and the excursion will return late in the evening.

TO WELCOME MAJ. MARTIN

Elizabeth Council Appoints Committee to Arrange for Demonstration.

DUE HOME ON SATURDAY.

The Nation to Welcome Victorious American Rifle Team—Ceremonies In New York City

On Arrival of Steamer.

Proud of his achievements on the Olympic range, in England, where with the rest of the American rifle team he scored a signal triumph over the teams representing all other nations, Elizabeth is awaiting to formally welcome home Major William B. Martin, formerly captain of Co. K, of Plainfield. A big demonstration will be held in the council seat in his honor some time next week and it is not unlikely that Plainfield will play an important part in it.

The Elizabeth Common Council last night passed a long resolution laudatory of Major Martin and appointed a committee to make arrangements for a monster reception when he returns. An ample appropriation has been made and it is expected that the event will mark a red letter day in Elizabeth history. The committee consists of Brig. Gen. D. F. Collins, chairman; Charles H. Moore, John P. Whelan, Conrad Hall, Frederick J. Richter, Augustus W. Schwartz, H. H. Isham, Charles F. Black, John J. Kerbrick and Carl F. Mueller.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—Next Saturday America will welcome home her victorious rifle team from the Olympic games. With the limited funds at the disposal of the committee on reception, it has been impossible to prepare and handle the demonstration which should be accorded the victors over teams from all shooting countries, but this is more than set-off by the courtesies which will be extended by the government. Representatives of the federal government in the persons of military and naval officers, of the State and city of New York, of the various militia organizations interested, and of the national board for the promotion of rifle practice and the National Rifle Association of America, together with a number of distinguished civilians interested in rifle practice, will extend to the members of the team the congratulations which they so thoroughly deserve.

The treasury department has placed at the disposal of the reception committee the revenue cutter Algonquin, largest in the service. On the morning of August 8 the reception committee and invited guests will embark and proceed to quarantine where the team will be taken from the New York. On the way up the bay speeches by distinguished officers and civilians and a luncheon will be served. As soon as the baggage can be cleared the team, with a number of others, will leave for Camp Perry, Ohio, to attend the annual rifle matches. A large party will go from Washington to New York to attend the ceremonies and many of them will proceed to Camp Perry with the team. General Fred D. Grant, commanding the department of the east, with his staff, will be on board the Mohawk, with other representatives of the army and navy, and a military band will add to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The Olympic rifle team is headed by Capt. Jesse A. Irwin, one of the most prominent figures in rifle practice and national guard work. Although a comparatively young man, he is president of the National Rifle Association and a member of the national board for the promotion of rifle practice, chief of ordinance of the State of Washington, member of the new militia board and editor of Arms and the Man, the shooting publication. The adjutant is Captain Frank E. Evans, U. S. marine corps, retired, now secretary to Senator Briggs, of Trenton. At the head of the team is Sergeant W. F. Leuschner, of the 7th New York, of Buffalo. He tied with Major Martin, of New Jersey, who had the highest score at the 1,000-yard range. Sergeant Leuschner is an old-time shot and has attended the national matches for years as an individual. Major William B. Wilting, of the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., is one of the best shots in that State. His most notable achievement was the winning of the Wimbledon cup in 1901 with 18 points handicap for shooting a magazine rifle. Major C. B. Winder, divisional inspector of small arms' practice, of Ohio, is a Spanish war veteran and a noted shot. He was on the Palma team of 1903 and made the highest score. He was a member of the Palma team of 1907 and of the Ohio State team from 1901 to 1907. He won the Leech cup in 1903, the gold medal in the national individual rifle match in 1905 and the silver medal in the national pistol match of 1905, in addition to many other national and State matches. Captain K. K. V. Casey, of Delaware, is a Spanish war veteran, and one of the best known shots *in the country. He was a mem*ber of the Palma teams of 1902, 1903 and 1907, of the New York State team from 1901 to 1904, won the Wimbledon cup in 1902 and 1907, the president's match in 1904, besides many other prizes and medals. The team is accompanied by Mrs. Drain, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Casey, and Mrs. Leuschner, and Sergeant Jeffers, of Massachusetts, and Cap*tain J. C. Semon, of Ohio, who acted* as substitutes.

OPPOSE EXTENSION OF KENSINGTON AVENUE

The proposition of the Common Council, as expressed in a resolution last month, to extend Kensington avenue from its present terminus at Prospect avenue to a point near Park avenue and Randolph road, met with vigorous opposition at Monday night's meeting.

Several communications were read, all of which were from people interested in one way or another, and who gave reasons why the plan should not be carried out. One of the protests came from the Central Realty Company, which has been developing a part of the Martine tract through which the new thoroughfare would run. The communication was signed by President C. J. Van Dyke, who stated that the company would lend itself to the plan only under certain conditions with reference to the cost.

H. J. Storrs and other residents of Kensington avenue, presented a petition against the extension and advanced the argument that the cheapness of the thoroughfare would have a tendency to lessen its exclusiveness for residential purposes and depreciate property values. They asked that the Council specify a date in September when a public hearing could be held. Howard H. Williams presented a separate petition much in the same strain.

The matter was referred to the committee on streets and sewers for consideration.

APPROPRIATE $500 TO REVISE BLDG. ORDINANCE

Following a discussion in which numerous little pleasantries were exchanged, the Common Council Monday night appropriated $500 to meet the expense of having the building ordinances of the city revised. The plan, as explained by Mr. Buxton who introduced the resolution, is to have an expert go over every clause after applying the new ones adopted by other cities to cover the up-to-date methods of construction submit the entire frame-up to the Council for adoption.

Mr. Gloak took the opportunity to ask when the subject was broached who was going to do the work. Mr. Buxton informed him that was a matter the committee would decide. Mr. Gloak retorted that he thought perhaps most of it would go for a stenographer, a remark that brought a quick response that no matter who got the money none of it would come the committee's way.

While the matter was under discussion, Mr. Gloak took the floor and opined that the $500 might be saved by taking the building ordinances recently arranged by other cities and changing them to conform with Plainfield's needs.

"We're leaders, not copyists," was all the reply Mr. Buxton vouchsafed and the canny Gloak subsided. The resolution was finally passed without a dissenting vote.

The Council also passed a resolution calling for an expenditure of $900 to install auxiliary fire alarm call boxes in the city schools. The plan is one recommended by Chief Doane and was explained in detail in the columns of The Daily Press some months ago.

MULE TEAM RAMS INTO CAB; PASSENGER AND DRIVER HURT.

Starting off on a gallop as soon as the driver left them standing in front of a Somerset street apartment, a pair of mules attached to a New York Transfer Co. delivery wagon ran amuck on Manning avenue Monday afternoon, doing considerable damage before they could be quieted. The pole of the wagon ran in under the cab, upsetting it, wrecking one wheel and tearing off one of the rubber tires. A passenger in the cab, who refused to give his name, was thrown heavily, but escaped with cuts from window glass and slight bruises. William Banks, colored, who was driving the cab, was pitched out headlong by the force of the collision and his left leg was badly strained. The cab horse was uninjured, but the mules were bruised by the collision.

The driver of the transfer wagon, seeing the team start, seized them immediately after the collision and prevented further damage. He and Banks got in a heated argument as to whom was to blame for the accident and Chief Weiss, of the borough police, had to assert his authority to prevent them from coming to blows. The damage to the cab will amount to about $15.

CITY FATHERS' ROUTINE

Many Matters of Minor Importance Occupy Time of the Common Council.

REPORTS ARE ALSO PRESENTED.

Petition to Have Woodland Avenue Flagged—To Raise $22,000 for the Contingent Fund.

Routine business transacted at Monday's Council meeting included the disposition of a large number of petitions. Charles L. Stanley, the florist, presented one asking permission to move four greenhouses from the Ginna property on Watchung avenue to his premises at 1126 South avenue. He gave the route through which the buildings would pass and stated that the work would be done by Mobus Brothers, using trucks for the purpose. The matter was referred to the Fire and Buildings committee with power.

W. A. Lord, S. Schuyler and other residents in the Netherwood section asked that action be taken to compel property owners on Woodland and Belvidere avenues and Ravine road who have not yet had flagging put down on their walks to have the work done. Referred to the street committee. Howard McElwee, of the street between Third and Fourth streets petitioned for a light and George H. Staggard asked that he be allowed to build a five-foot extension on his property at 254 East Front street. Both were referred to committee.

The *following reports were sum*marized by city officials: Tax collector, a total of $2,718.07 received during July; treasurer, a balance of $56,633.23 on hand; building inspector, thirty-four permits granted during July; street commissioner, twenty-five permits for sewer connections granted during July; clerk of the District Court, receipts for the past month, $110.89; disbursements, $48.19; balance, $62.70.

Under the head of new business, Mr. Buxton introduced a resolution calling for an ordinance to raise $22,060 for the contingency fund, the same being about nine per cent. of the total budget as prepared for the year. He also introduced resolutions calling for the borrowing of the following amounts in anticipation of taxes: Fire fund, $5,000; poor fund, $1,000; for payment of portions of brick pavement work, $2,000; for cost of sanitary sewer additions, $1,000. A resolution presented by Mr. Hibbard called for an appropriation of $200 for repairs to the trucks in the fire department.

A communication was read from W. D. W. Miller in which he took exception to a 1904 tax bill of $15.83 for personal property. He enclosed a statement which showed that he had been assessed $37 for personal property in that year and that same had been paid. The finance committee was instructed to investigate and also to look into a request from Mrs. Emily Godwin, of Belvidere avenue, who asked the return of $50.61 *which she claimed was assessed for sani*tary sewers. She stated in a com*munication that her property had* been assessed on both Belvidere avenue and Park lane.

TRAIN VICTIM LOCATED IN A ROUNDABOUT WAY

Patrolman John Kelley was standing at the North avenue station at 10:30 Monday morning when the engineer of a passing east-bound D. L. & W. express threw a tightly rolled piece of paper at him from the cab window. The officer picked it up and after smoothing it out read the following message:

"Man lying between tracks 3 and 4 near Greenbrook tanks."

Kelley notified the operator at the station and word was telegraphed to Jersey City. A return message was sent from there to Bound Brook to have the train due here at 10:55 stop and pick the man up. The victim was found as directed and the ambulance was in readiness to receive him at the station but he died before the train reached this city. The body was immediately placed back on a westbound train and sent to Dunellen, it being presumed that death ensued in Middlesex county.

Papers in the man's pockets indicated that he was Andrew Barbell and that he probably lived in Rahway. He was about twenty-five years old. It is not known how he came to be struck but it is presumed he was walking on the tracks and stepped in front of an express.

Endeavorers Hold a Picnic.

Fifteen members of the Hope chapel Christian Endeavor Society held a picnic in the Notch back of Scotch Plains, Saturday afternoon. The affair was arranged by the Misses Elsie Rimmer and Edna Eckert and Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Clark chaperoned the party.

Hunting in Russia.

Russian game statistics show that the peasants killed 25,000,000 squirrels last year, but missed the Czar. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

SUN'S [illegible] CLOUDS.

Balloonists Compelled to Shelter Faces from the Fierce Heat.

At the height of two miles the sun shines with a fierce intensity unknown below where the dust and the denser air scatter the rays which, thus diffused, lose their intensity while illuminating every nook and corner of our houses. At heights exceeding five miles this diffused light is mostly gone and the sun shines a glowing ball, sharply outlined in a sky of which the blue is so dark as to approach blackness. At the outer limits of the atmosphere the sun would appear a brilliant star of massive size, among other stars; and if one stepped from its burning rays into shadow he would enter Egyptian darkness. At the height of a mile and a half we found it necessary to shelter our faces to prevent sunburn, although the air around us was but little warmer than that of the previous night, being about 45 degrees. As the afternoon wore on and the balloon began to cool and sink, we were obliged to throw out much sand, casting it away a scoopful at a time, and just after sunset it was even necessary to empty two or three bags at once.—Atlantic.

TRAITS OF AUSTRALIAN GIRLS.

Equally at Home in Saddle or Ballroom, Says Writer.

Many Australian girls live right up in the bush, or "stations," which are miles away from any town or village, and their time is largely occupied with riding and driving; they are as much at home on a horse as a duck is in the water, and think nothing of riding 20 miles or so to pay a visit, says a writer in Woman. Household duties claim a share of their time, however, and any day they are liable to be left without servants and with a house full of visitors, but they are not easily daunted by such an occurrence. Then the bush girl comes down to the capital for the season, and far from appearing a country bumpkin or a tomboy after her free and open-air life, she is as much at home in a ballroom as any town-bred girl, as neat and well dressed as if she had never ridden bareback over wild tracts of country with little thought of appearances.

DINKELSPIEL'S EPPYGRAMS.

Dare was no fool like der ole fool fisher dot marries a young foolishness.

Efery man is any udder man's equal —unless he owes him a cubbie of dollars.

Ve all haf to contribution a leedle money to keep der school of eggsperience going.

You can fool some of der people sometimes, but you can fool yourself all der time.

Der man dot knows ven to beat a retreat iss der same man dot sometimes beats der races.

It vas vonderfully how some peoples can get deir feets tangled up in der fringe of society mitoudt ripping der fringe.

It vas said dot lufr sickness vas caused by a microbe, but I dink if any doctor tried to fix up a antidotum he vould be dialliked, ain'd it?—George V. Hobart in Chicago American.

SOME NEW DEFINITIONS.

Architect—A man who makes you believe you can't build even a hen house without him.

Broker—A man who separates you from your money.

Banker—A man who refuses your request for a loan in so smooth a way that you conclude you don't need the money.

Doctor—A man who makes you be*lieve you are sick.*

Dentist—A man who makes you forget all your other troubles.

Dressmaker—A woman who makes other women look pretty, whether they are or not.

Lawyer—A man who would make the devil a saint for a fee.

An honest man—Rarely met with in these days. The phrase is now used mainly as a joke.

DO YOUR WORK NOW.

Lose this day loitering—'twill be the same story

To-morrow—and the next more dilatory;

Then indecision brings its own delays,

And days are lost lamenting o'er lost days.

Are you in earnest? Seize this very minute;

What you can do, or dream you can, begin it;

Boldness (courage) has genius, power and magic in it.

Only engage, and then the mind grows heated—

Begin it, and the work will be completed.—Goethe's "Faust."

ABOUT PROMINENT PEOPLE.

Sousa, the conductor and composer, has never yet been persuaded to make a public speech.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth can sail a boat, ride to hounds, bind books, drive four-in-hand, run an automobile and speak five languages.

It is said that it was Charles M. Schwab's spirited singing of Scotch ballads that first drew Andrew Carnegie's attention to him.

King Leopold of Belgium, despite his age and gouty heel, rises at 6 a. m. and works for two hours before a breakfast that consists of dry bread, water, and an apple.

JOY FOR EVERY DAY

By REV. A. C. DIXON, D. D., Pastor of the Chicago Ave. Methodist Church, Chicago.

Let us analyze the joy of the resurrection morn and see if we cannot have it every day. There were seven elements in this joy, a sort of rainbow of promise.

There was the joy of receiving more than they expected. The women came with spices and oil to anoint, perhaps to embalm, the Lord. Instead of a corpse they find a king. Dejection and death, they find life. Embalming gives place to joyful worship. They are looking for difficulty in rolling the stone away; when they arrive the difficulty is overcome. The stone is away and is angel upon it. The joy of this disappointed unbelief illustrates God's way of doing. He delights in surprising us; He gives more than we can ask or think.

The Joy of Faith Confirmed.

The open sepulchre was the confirmation of every claim which Jesus Christ had made. He claimed that He and the Father are one. "Before Abraham was, I am," and His resurrection proves it. It is the stamp of Heaven upon His deity. Every doctrine He taught is every miracle He performed, every hope He inspires, is confirmed.

Joy of Light from Heaven.

Not the radiance of the angel's face, though that was glorious; not the halo about the head of the risen Lord, but the light of the exhortation, "Fear not. He is not here, but is risen." As I trace through the Bible God's "fear nots" *I find in them light for every ex*perience of life.

The Joy of Victory.

There was physical victory. Look at the body of Christ as it is taken from the cross, clotted with blood; eyes glazed in death; hands limp at the side, needing the strength of loving friends to bear it to the sepulchre. Now see Him as He walks from the tomb in the full vigor of physical manhood. I see in this the Christian with the promise and potency of complete victory over all forces that make for death.

There was political victory. That seal, perhaps affixed to the work of the mountain and water attached to the stone, none but an angel dare touch.

There was also moral victory. The forces of evil had prevailed and the sun of righteousness seemed for a while to have gone down in blood. Demons of darkness may now dance for joy. The King has been captured. Yes, but within the very walls of death He has demolished every fortress. Every day we may have a joy of anticipated physical, national and moral victory.

Joy of Telling Our Joy to Others.

"They did run to bring His disciples word." We pity the man who has a Christ that only lived, acted and died. He may admire Him as a hero, honor Him as a martyr, canonize Him as a saint, but he can never have great joy in telling others about Him. It is only those who believe Christ divine and, therefore, the Saviour from all sin and with all power in Heaven and earth who can experience ecstasy of heart in proclaiming Him unto others.

Joy of Risen Lord's Presence.

Two men are on their way home from the city, where they have buried their hopes. Sad and dejected, they are on their way home, when a stranger falls in with them and begins to explain to them the scriptures as written by Moses concerning the Messiah. Their hearts burn with a peculiar fervor. They are inspired with the Spirit. To have the risen Christ walk with us when we are not conscious of His appearance, but as the same time to reveal to us His preciousness and appear in such a way as to make our hearts burn with love and gratitude, is a joy to be coveted and experienced every day.

The Joy of Hope.

Jesus said to the women, "Go tell My disciples that they shall see Me in Galilee." It was simply a promise that they should soon meet Him. And the ascended Christ has said to us: "Just as ye have seen Me to up into Heaven, so shall ye see Me come again in like manner."

The promise of the coming of the Lord has made narrow this "star-sown vague of space," and makes it but a thin veil between us and the objects of our love. It brings us, perhaps, within a few hours of meeting our risen Lord and glorified friends. Then, ah! then, an everlasting resurrection.

Alcohol Consumes.

A patient was arguing with the doctor on the necessity of his taking a stimulant. Said he: "But doctor, I must have some kind of stimulant. I am cold and it warms me." "Precisely," came the doctor's crusty answer, "See here. This stick is cold," taking a stick of wood from the box beside the hearth and tossing it into the fire. "Now it is warm, but is the stick benefited?" The cold man watched the wood first send out little puffs of smoke, and then burst into a flame, and replied: "Of course not. It is burning itself." And so are you, when you are warming yourself with alcohol; you are burning up and using the delicate tissues of your stomach and brain.

FAVOR JOINT DISPOSAL

Councilmen Sanction Borough's Request to Use the City Sewer Beds.

CONTRACT MAY COME LATER.

Resolution Passed After a Discussion in Which Three Members Announce Their Opposition.

"It is the opinion of the Common Council that the borough of North Plainfield should be allowed to use the Plainfield sewer beds as an outlet for its proposed system and that the streets and sewers committee be empowered to prepare plans for submission to this body."

Such, in substance, was a resolution passed by the Common Council, Monday, in answer to North Plainfield's application for the privilege of connecting its contemplated sewer system with the city disposal beds, paying for the same at a rate agreeable to both sides. It was carried after a long discussion in which several of the councilmen expressed themselves as being in opposition to the plan, Messrs. Montgomery, Snyder and Frank Randolph voting against it.

The resolution was introduced at the close of one of the customary "ten-minute" recesses, which in reality was nearly an hour. Mr. Montgomery stated as soon as it was read that he would not sanction the joint disposal if the outlet was made somewhere out of the city, his inference being a trunk sewer as suggested by Mayor Fisk in a recent message. Frank Randolph followed with the opinion that North Plainfield should build its own disposal works and Mr. Snyder expressed himself as agreeing with both of them.

"I don't think that the city has a right to take in the borough," he said, "as it would have a tendency to depreciate Plainfield values. I represent a constituency in the Fourth ward and I know the people there are not in favor of this plan."

The impression prevailed among some of the councilmen that the passing of the resolution would bind the city to take in the borough no matter what sort of a contract was brought forward. Mr. Gloak explained that it would not be binding and Mr. Mygatt said:

"The resolution as drawn does not mention any contract; it merely compels the statement that it is the sentiment of the Council that it would be to the best interests of the city to allow the borough to use the Plainfield beds."

Mr. Montgomery came forward with the explanation that a committee was now at work on the trunk outlet plan and that if the resolution went through, there would be noth*ing for this committee to do.* It is the idea of Mayor Fisk, he said, to have Panwood, Scotch Plains, Dunellen, Lincoln and Bound Brook join with the Plainfields in getting to the water and if the Plainfield beds were to be occupied jointly it would shut off the possibility of this plan. He suggested that the resolution be amended so as to include "other municipalities" in order to permit the trunk project to be carried on. The amendment was lost by a vote of 8 to 6. The original motion was put immediately afterward and carried.

HEMPSTEAD MAN KILLED AT WESTFIELD STATION

Abram McLellan, whose home was at 588 Front street, Hempstead, L. I., was killed in front of the Westfield station at 2:30 this morning by getting caught between the fence and an express train, east-bound. The station drew him beneath the cars and his body was badly mangled. The accident was witnessed by railroad attaches and the remains were picked up as soon as the train passed. They were brought to Cole's undertaking rooms in this city.

McLellan was a man about fifty years old and had evidently been to Westfield in search of employment. He was seen on the station platform and walked over to the fence just before the express dashed down. It is presumed that he thought he had room enough to let it pass by crowding against the railings, not knowing of the danger.

His name was found on the fly leaf of a book of rules of the Bronx local, No. 45, Plain and Ornamental Plasterers Industry. The pockets also contained $1.02 in money, a silver watch that had been smashed to pieces, a gold horse shoe stickpin and a match. His clothing was of good material.

Grace M. E. Nine Champions.

Making four safe hits out of four times at bat, Rev. Ora J. Shoop helped the Grace M. E. church nine to victory over the Monroe Avenue M. E. church players at the Clinton avenue grounds, Saturday afternoon. The score was 12-6 and the Grace church boys are now champions in the series between the two church teams. Saturday's contest was the deciding one, each team having one victory from two previous contests.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

VOL. XL — PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1908 — NO. 33

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well as its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

WITH THE CITY'S FATHERS

Some Matters of Importance are Deferred Until the Regular Meeting in Sept.

ALL COMMITTEES ARE ACTIVE.

Another Fire House and Joint Sewage Disposal to Be Considered By the Common Council at Next Meeting.

Realizing the impossibility of holding two or more meetings during the month to take up several matters of importance now pending, the members of the Common Council are devoting their time to committee meetings with a view to getting the various matters in shape for presentation at the regular meeting on September 7, when fall and winter activities will be resumed. Some of the members are now out of the city and are unable to attend Council meetings should it be decided to hold them.

The fire and building committee is busily engaged in getting the East End fire-house proposition in such shape that favorable action will be taken in the fall. Mayor Fisk stated sometime ago that he would oppose the improvement unless the committee decided definitely on the amount to be expended for the building and equipment and the committee is now trying to reach that conclusion, bringing the probable cost down to the lowest figure. The committee will endeavor to hold a conference on Monday night, all of the members of the Council having been invited to attend.

Another very important matter to be decided this fall will be that in reference to the proposition to allow North Plainfield to join the Plainfield system of sanitary sewers. There is considerable opposition in the City Council to the plan and the Fourth ward members, especially, are expected to do all in their power to defeat the plan. One member said today that he was in favor of letting the borough take care of its own sewage, as Plainfield is doing, believing that the proposed merger is too much of an undertaking. It would necessitate a large bond issue to make improvements at the city disposal plant so that North Plainfield could connect with it and he opposed such an issue at this time. It is known that other members feel the same way about the question.

Those members of the Council who favor the plan feel that something must be done to harmonize matters and bring about the greatest good to the greatest number under the least possible friction. There will be a meeting of Mayor Fisk's special commission next week when the matter will be discussed thoroughly. It is possible that the report may not be ready for the regular meeting of the Council in September, but it is sure to be presented early in the fall. Those in North Plainfield who are interested in having the merger go through, are using their best effort to obtain favorable action.

If the borough is forced to establish its own disposal plant it may meet opposition on the part of the State Board of Health, however, Mayor Samuel Townsend stated at the public hearing on the question, that the State would not allow the borough considerable power and he did not apprehend any difficulty should the borough decide to have its own plant. There are said to be sites suitable for sewage beds in the far western corner of the borough or township, where there would practically be no objection. This was hinted at by Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley in his remarks at the public hearing.

There is still another proposition that seems to meet with the approval of all the interested municipalities, and that is the establishment of a trunk line sewer that will take in all of the towns adjacent to Plainfield. This plan was suggested by Mayor C. J. Fisk and efforts were made to communicate with the authorities in Fanwood, Scotch Plains, North Plainfield, Dunellen, Lincoln, Bound Brook and New Market for the purpose of holding a conference. This is still in the air and it is possible that such a meeting may be held in the fall and the matter then taken up with the State authorities. Of course, such a sewer would not be possible this year. It would probable take a couple of years before it could be completed.

Up-to-Date Boarding House.

Mrs. Berrien's popular boarding house, "The Plainfield," 515 Park avenue, is being refitted with the latest steam heater and with extra baths and toilets. The fine meals have established a reputation for this place. ***

—This is about the height of the fruit and vegetable season and Neuman Brothers receive fresh supplies daily of the choicest varieties grown. The prices are within reach of your income.

EXCISE COMMISSIONERS INVADE SOUTH JERSEY

The State Excise Commission spent yesterday at Millville. Mayor Frederick J. Melvin, of Cape May City, was the first witness. He declared there is nothing wrong in his town, which caused Chairman Charles J. Fisk to read to him a list of Sunday *violations. The Grand Jury last Sep*tember, he acknowledged, ignored a number of excise violations and no indictments were found.

Chief of Police George F. Hickey, of Cape May, who followed, said his force comprised nine men. He confessed there were some violations in his section, but insisted he was doing his best to prevent them. "Some people call a closed town one where you can get a drink once in a while," commented the chief, as he said Cape May was closed. "I keep the front doors closed on Sundays. The most complaints I've had have been visitors who kick because they can't get a drink."

Anglesea and Wildwood, the chief said, are clean towns, and he asserted he was positive no Sunday sales could be detected in either. As for the Hotel Stockton, Cape May, he declared it can't be beat, adding: "Of course, I mean the new million-dollar hotel."

Sea Isle City's Police Chief Charles S. Whitaker, who heads a force of one, made the same favorable report regarding his town. He had never read the bishops law, because he never had to do anything with saloons.

Prosecutor J. Hampton Fithian, of Cumberland, said there are but five licensed places in the county, in remote parts, where licenses have been granted from time immemorial as accommodations for the public. They are run carefully, he stated, and no complaints have ever been made. There has been some trouble about beer, he said, though this is gradually being overcome. The principal complaint in this connection has been with sales made in other counties for delivery in Cumberland. He added he had made several raids on unlicensed places in Bridgeton, but declared violations have been few of late. He admitted there were some clubs in Bridgeton where liquor is dispensed by the locker route.

Chief of Police Jackson, the prosecutor said there was but little drunkenness except from the "ginger fiends," who he declared are the outgrowth of prohibition. By ginger fiends he said he meant those who consumed Jamaica ginger in lieu of other alcoholic stimulants.

Joseph F. Smith, Mayor of Millville, began by saying there are a dozen or so social clubs in his town.

"Are they newspaper reading clubs?" asked President Fisk, to which the Mayor said he could not tell, as he did not visit them.

"Well, isn't it a fact there are such a large number of clubs here because there are no saloons?" kueried Mr. Fisk.

"That's right, I guess," was the reply.

"But don't the boys go home late sometimes unable to navigate?" continued the commissioner.

"I've seen some," said the Mayor, who added he also did not think *there was any prohibition in Mill*ville. Prohibition, he said, he did not think was of much benefit to any town.

Charles Bates, Millville's city marshal, testified: "We have a pretty good town here, but we capture a drunk once in a while."

Mayor Waldo F. Swayer, of Vineland, testified that his town would be prohibition if it wasn't for speakeasies.

"I don't think we have any prohibition in Vineland," said the Mayor as he referred Chairman Fisk to bear arts. "As long as the State makes it lawful to deliver in our town we can't have any sort of prohibition," he added. For forty-seven years, he said, Vineland has been known as a *temperance town, but the only tes*timonial sentiment is against licensed places.

This closed the inquiry and the commissioners adjourned to meet in Trenton next Monday.

"Salome" Dance Barred in Newark.

Carola, a Spanish dancer, who was billed to give the "Salome" dance at the German Hospital ten days' carnival at Newark, was prevented from appearing last night. Acting Captain Brown, of the 4th Precinct, who witnessed the dance at the matinee, warned the management that if Carola attempted to repeat the dance at the night performance she would be arrested. The captain was on hand with several men to see that his order was obeyed. It was the first time the dance had been attempted in New Jersey.

Chris Bock, of the borough, who spent several days last week at Barnegat on a fishing trip with a party of friends, returned Monday with about 300 fine weak fish, part of the "luck" of the party.

HURT BY CLEAVER IN BUTCHER SHOP SCRAP

Personal enmity on the part of Franz Seidler, a butcher employed at Herman Theis' market on South Second street, threw him into a frenzy of rage against Joseph Hoezel, who got his job at the beginning of the week, and on meeting the latter in the shop on Monday, he hurled a butcher's cleaver at his head. Hoezel dodged the weapon, but it struck him in the right leg, inflicting an ugly gash. The injured man swore out a warrant against his assailant the same day, and last night Patrolman Saffron nabbed him at his home on South Second street. At his hearing today, Judge Runyon held him under $200 bond to keep the peace. He furnished his own bond.

Hoezel retained W. J. DeMeza as his counsel. At the session of court today, it developed that Seidler had been discharged Monday, and Hoezel had his job. Seidler came to Theis' market early Monday morning and remonstrated with the "boss" about his discharge. As the two were talking the matter over, Hoezel entered. Seidler, it is said, seized a heavy cleaver from the chopping block and with an outburst of vile language, hurled it at his rival's head. The blade dug an ugly gash in Hoezel's leg, and he sank to the floor. Hoezel lives with Theis on South Second street, and still has his job. Seidler is a neighbor

GEBHARDT AND MARTINE HAVE A 'CONFAB' HERE

Dropping into town quietly today, State Senator William Gebhardt, of Hunterdon county, held a long conference with "Farmer-orator" James E. Martine. The situation in the State, in the Fifth congressional district and in the Senator's own county were discussed from a Democratic viewpoint.

The principal object of Mr. Gebhardt's visit, it is said, was to talk over affairs in Hunterdon but he argued long and zealously with Martine to announce himself as a *candidate for Congress in this dis*trict. He told the Plainfielder that he was pestered with many leaders and had found that it was generally believed that he would give the Republican nominee a hard fight with almost even chances of winning. Martine told him that he had positively decided not to get in the race; that he had been made poor by being the party as a perennial candidate and tat he believed that the Democrats were tired of voting for him. "It makes it look too much like a one man party," he declared.

Both Gebhardt and Martine held the opinion that there is a probability of the Democrats carrying the State this fall.

ARRAIGNED A DAY LATE.

GETS 20 DAYS FOR ASSAULT.

William Ryder, of Stebbins place, who, with John Stewart, attacked William McGrath with a club on West Second street a week ago night, was given his choice of $10 or twenty days at his hearing before Judge Runyon today. He was led back to the cell.

Ryder was supposed to have showed up at court yesterday morning, but he works on a water wagon and couldn't get off, he claimed. Detective-Sergeant Flynn took Stewart to Elizabeth to serve his time yesterday.

FIGHT FOR LOCAL OPTION.

Saloon Men and Leaguers to Make It from Trenton.

According to E. H. Curtis, State organizer for the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, who is lecturing at Trenton, both that organizations will soon establish State headquarters in Trenton and start a great temperance fight throughout New Jersey.

He declares that another local option bill will be presented to the next Legislature and that the fight will be continued until the measure be*comes a law. And when that is ac*complished, he says, the people will speedily abolish the saloons at the rate of thirty a day.

HURLED TO DEATH.

*Every Bone in Dynamo Station Em*ploye's Body Crushed.

Harry Souder, twenty years old, employed by the Atlantic City electric light company, was caught in the belting yesterday and killed. Every bone in his body was broken. Nobody knows how the accident happened. Souder was one of the oilers in the engine room.

An inquest will be held for the purpose of ascertaining whether the company has provided proper safeguards about the machinery for safety of employes.

CROWDY HAD MANY WIVES

Many "Sisters" Claim a Share in Colored "Prophet's" Large Estates.

CHOOSING HIS SUCCESSOR.

"Elder Joe," Nephew of Dead Founder of Local Foot-Washers, Calls Meeting of Colored "Saints" at Philadelphia.

Assertions by several "sisters" of *"Prophet" William S. Crowd*y, founder of the "Church of God and Saints of Christ," large "Foot-washers," who died suddenly last week in Newark, and who founded a congregation in this city at the time of his visit here two years ago, show that the "prophet" was a bigamist many times over. About a half dozen "sisters" are according claiming shares in his estate, which is known to be a large one. So far as can be learned, no Plainfield "sisters" claim any part of the estate of the inventor of the "Holy Kiss" but the local congregation is much interested in the question of who is to be his successor.

Hardly had the fact that the "Prophet" was dead been made known when there bobbed up from various sections women claimants for a share of the leader's estate, which is known to be a large one. There are several lawsuits already pending among some of the leaders of the queer sect, who demand a legal ad*justment of the "Prophet's" affairs*, and the controversy over the claims of the numerous "wives" has led almost to a disruption of the "Foot Washers."

It developed yesterday that "Prophet" Crowdy had been dead several days before his followers or the police officials of Newark were aware of the fact. His nephew, "Elder Joe," whom the followers of Crowdy in this city desire shall succeed the "Prophet," arrived at Newark yesterday, but he declared he "could not, if he would," and "would not, if he could," throw any light on the sudden death of his "all-wise" un'cle."

"Elder Joe" will not discuss the appointment of a successor to the dead "Prophet" further than to say he has called a meeting of the "Presbytery of Elders" for next month, when the new "Elijah" is to be chosen.

While the "faithful ones" at Philadelphia are enthusiastic for "Elder Joe," the majority of the elders are not so longingly inclined. "Elder Joe's" age is against him, he is a young man, while the elders say there are "Bishop" John Dickerson, "Evangelist" Dickerson and "Elder" Plummes, of Boston, as well as an "elder" who comes from Africa, and who has a name none of the "faithful" have been able to rightly pronounce, all of whom are eligible for election.

"Elder Joe" has ordered all of the stores of the church at Philadelphia closed for thirty days in honor of the dead "prophet." While the front doors of the "Church of Christ Grocery Store," "The Daughters of Jerusalem's Nor's Ark Dressmaking Department" and "The God-be-With-You Restaurant" at Philadelphia were closed yesterday, there was a side-door business going on that would have done credit to an Atlantic City saloon on Sunday.

The elders have determined that the death of the "prophet" shall not put a damper on the yearly march that is to be held in Philadelphia next month. "The Daughters of Jerusalem" will not abandon the gorgeous robes they are having made for the occasion, but in connection with them will wear some emblem of mourning for the dead "prophet."

BEHEADED BY CAR.

One man was beheaded and another's arm was crushed by a trolley car at Maywood early this morning. The man who was killed was William Schultz, 35 years old, who worked as a farmhand for H. F. Lydecker, of Maywood. The injured man is Edward Below, employed on the farm of P. J. Brinkerhoff, whica adjoins that of Lydecker.

Schultz and Below went to Hackensack last evening and, it was said, drank a good deal of liquor before they started on their return home. They boarded the midnight car on the Hudson River trolley line and rode to Maywood avenue, where they alighted. It is supposed that they were overcome by the drink they had taken and lay down on the track to sleep. Some time afterward they were hit by a car, the motorman having failed to see them lying on the track owing to the darkness.

The wheels of the car passed over Schultz's neck and he was decapitated. Below's left arm was smashed so badly that it had to be amputated when he was taken to the Hackensack Hospital.

ITALIAN QUARRYMAN HURT BY FLYING MACADAM CHIP

Struck in the left side of the head by a chip of macadam stone glancing from under the hammer of a fellow workman at Smalley's stone crusher, Dominick Cazetta, of the quarry gang, was seriously injured early today. He was felled by the blow, and the chip tore an ugly gash behind his ear, grazing the jugular vein. Terrified at the sight of the blood, members of the gang crowded around the injured man as he lay in the quarry and others ran to tell of the accident.

Clarence Smalley hustled Cazetta into his rig and drove at top speed to the borough physician's office, where the bleeding was soon checked and the wound cleaned. Several stitches were taken in the police report, but the wound was so deep and jagged that it would require fifteen stitches to close it. It was left partially open so that it can be treated, and the other stitches will be taken later.

The injured man was very weak from loss of blood, but after resting in the doctor's office, was removed to his home, where he will be confined for several days under the physicians' care. Accidents of this kind are frequent at the local quarries where the men are employed with heavy sledges. There was a similar accident about two weeks ago. The quarrymen say that it is impossible to determine which way the chips of macadam will fly.

DEMOCRATS TELL BRYAN HE IS THEIR CANDIDATE

The Democratic notification ceremonies were held at the home of the presidential nominee, W. J. Bryan, at Fairview, this afternoon, and were attended by thousands of people, including visitors from all parts of the country. As predicted by the notification reception committee, a larger crowd attended the ceremonies than greeted Bryan on the returned home from his around the world tour.

The formal notification speech was delivered at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Congressman Clayton, after which Mr. Bryan replied. A reception then followed in the State Capitol building, which Bryan and Kern greeted all who could get into the building. This concluded the formal ceremonies, but tonight Mr. Bryan will entertain the entire notification committee at dinner, which will be served on the mesch lawn at his home.

Although the official band concerts were not scheduled to begin until 10 o'clock this morning, almost every special train arriving during the morning brought one or more bands, and they paraded the streets, playing national airs. The hour at which the speeches were made were finished early this morning, and all arrangements were completed before 10 o'clock. At noon a luncheon was given at the Lincoln Hotel to the notification committee, Mr. Bryan and Mr. Kern being the hosts. At 1:30 the procession, consisting of Bryan and Kern, the notification committee, a platoon of police and a single band, moved toward the State Capitol ground for the notification exercises.

FOX TERRIER BITES BOROUGH PEDESTRIAN.

Bitten in the left ankle by a small fox terrier belonging to William H. Emmons, of Jackson avenue, yesterday afternoon, Augustus Moore, of Jackson avenue, is confined to his home today as a result of the attack by the vicious animal. Chief Marshal Weiss is waiting to see if the dog develops any symptoms of rabies.

According to Moore's story, he was passing Emmons' house late yesterday afternoon when the dog rushed down from the piazza barking and seized him by the leg. He took the snapping animal off, but not before its teeth had painfully lacerated the flesh. He reported the attack to Chief Marshal Weiss of the borough force, who went with him to the borough physician's office where the lacerations were cauterized and the ankle bandaged. Aside from a slight swelling which keeps Moore from walking, there are no tetanic complications today.

Funeral of Mrs. M. A. Goodwin.

Funeral services of Mrs. Martha A. Goodwin, who died on Monday, were held last night at 8 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Martin, 731 Amsterdam avenue, New York, and the remains were brought to this city today, where services were held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the undertaking parlors of A. M. Runyon & Son, on Park avenue. Rev. Lewis Bond, of this city, officiated. The burial was in Evergreen cemetery on Plainfield avenue.

FEAR DUNHAM MAY REPEAT RASH ACT

Adam Dunham, the young man who attempted to commit suicide at the home of his sister, Mrs. Arthur Jeffery, on West Third street, Monday afternoon, is improving at Muhlenberg Hospital and there is now no doubt of his recovery. He has not referred to his rash act since being taken to the hospital, and while he did not succeed this time in taking his life, his relatives still fear that he may make another attempt if he gets the opportunity. Every effort, however, will be made to prevent him from taking his life.

It is customary in the case of an attempted suicide to place the offender under arrest, but inquiry at police headquarters shows that no action has been taken by the police regarding Dunham. A brief report has been made by one of the policemen that the man tried to take his life. It is possible that before Dunham leaves the hospital the police may take official action and compel him to answer for the unsuccessful attempt on his life.

LOCAL CHARITY FUNDS NOW AGGREGATE $180

Too late for acknowledgment in yesterday's issue, The Daily Press received five dollars from Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace Episcopal church, for the Baby Camp fund. The clergyman has annually remembered the institution in this way and his contribution yesterday was a most welcome one.

From "M. L. R." this morning, ten dollars was received at this office for the same charity. Her liberal donation increases the fund considerably, the total amount received to date by this paper being $166.61.

These subscriptions for the Baby Camp are acknowledged:

W. 7th St. Children's Fair	$22.90
Mrs. L. M. Myers	20.00
Children's Lawn Party	16.90
In Memory of Mrs. C. C. B.	14.00
M. L. R.	10.00
Member of Charity Circle	5.00
Hugh F. Fox	5.00
Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson	5.00
"Betsy May"	5.00
"Betsy May's" Namesake	5.00
E. W. Davis	5.00
Alexander Millar	5.00
E. T. Barrows	5.00
L. M. D.	5.00
A Friend	5.00
Allison Crary VanBuren	5.00
T. T. VanBuren	5.00
Warren Chapel Jr. C. E.	5.00
Friends' School Classes	4.50
"Three Little Girls"	3.00
Silver Bay S. S. by W. D. M.	2.53
A Sympathizer	2.50
Miss M. B. Morgan	2.00
Ruth Sedgwick	1.00

For the Netherwood Fresh Air Home:

Alexander Millar	5.00
Louise C. Moore	5.00
Francis G. Moore	5.00
Silver Bay S. S. by W. D. M.	2.52
A Sympathizer	2.50
"A Friend"	2.00
A. Van Deventer	1.25

Following its annual custom, The Daily Press will receive, acknowledge and transmit to the proper officers, any contributions for these worthy charities.

SOCIETY COMEDY BOOKED

HERE FOR MONDAY NIGHT.

The first new society play of the fresh theatrical season will be "All For a Girl," the comedy by Rupert Hughes in which that brilliant young actor, Douglas Fairbanks, will make his premiere appearance on Monday night at the New Plainfield theatre. His role is that of Harold Jepson, an irresponsible, delightfully ambitious, imperturbable young fellow who is called upon to show that the basis of his love for Antoinette Hodges is not her fortune. He proves this after four acts of what has been described as the most delightful comedy written in many years.

Edward Thurnour, the general manager for the Bradshaw Grismer Company, made arrangements with Manager Counihan today for the initial production of the show here. His firm manages such stars as Miss Grace George, Robert Mantell, Thomas Wise, Louis Mann and Wright Lorimer.

Miss Sarah E. Riley.

Miss Sarah E. Riley, of 525 West Fourth street, died yesterday afternoon following an illness of several months. She made her home with her aunt, Mrs. Josephine Till. She was a member of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, and the funeral service will be held from that church Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the pastor, Rev. J. T. Diggs, officiating.

Miss Rebecca T. Kline, of Somerset street, left yesterday for a month's visit at Fairfield, N. Y.

(Continued on page 8.)

WOULD BE ASSEMBLYMEN

Six Candidates for Lower Branch of Legislature and Three Will Be Chosen.

MAJOR MARTIN IS WILLING.

Thompson, Kirstein, Pierce, Moxon and Schwartz Also Out—Acker*man for Senator and* Kirkland for Sheriff.

Candidates for the Republican nomination for Assembly in Union county are becoming more plentiful as the time limit for filing papers approaches, no less than half a dozen being in the field and as many more in a receptive mood. It is a certainty according to reliable sources that Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford, will meet with no opposition in being named for another term. The leaders say that they look upon him as a man with a good political future.

Major William B. Martin, of Elizabeth, who announced yesterday his willingness to accept an Assembly nomination, providing he was given free rein and not dictated to, it is said has an excellent chance. His popularity in Elizabeth is considered no small asset in Plainfield, where he won the populace by elevating Co. K to its present enviable standard while serving as its captain. It is known that some of the leaders have had their eyes on Martin for a long time and the statement of yesterday has given them much encouragement.

A. W. Schwartz, of Elizabeth, is recognized as having a large following at the county seat but he is not well known through the county. Frank Stutsken is another Elizabethan who is more of a "local" candidate. J. B. Moxon, of Elizabeth, is thinking favorably of a race and if willing his friends think that there is a chance of his being made speaker if the party custom is broken in his case to send him back for a third term. So far as can be learned by the local correspondent, many leaders do not see how the custom of not establishing such a precedent, and there is no quest on it is reported but that the New Jersey forces would be solidly opposed to him. A fight in the ranks is something that the organization is determined to avoid at any cost.

Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, who has previously aspired to a seat in the Assembly, is being boomed by fellow-townsmen, but as Cranford was given the privilege of selecting Pierce the second Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, R is not likely that he will stand much show. Assemblyman A. L. Kirstein, of Rahway, wants another term, but it is probable that he will meet with the united opposition of the New Idea forces.

Simply a casual outing on Saturday, the politicians say that Captain Robert Kirkland, of Elizabeth, is a sure winner for the shrievalty, and as for State Senator Ackerman, there has never been the least murmur in either camp.

"I insist on be left complete freedom of thought, speech and action if I consider such a proposition," said Major Martin yesterday. "I must feel perfectly free to be a representative of the plain people. That must be definitely understood all around before the matter goes another step. I positively will refuse to bind myself to any one man or set of men, or to any special interests.

"I am a strong ardent, strong, conscientious Republican, and of course I do not mean to carry my independence to such an extreme as to ignore the party, but I cannot have strings on me all the time if I run. If nominated or elected I should refuse to countenance any line of action which was not what I absolutely and honestly believed was for the best interests of the plain people.

"I believe emphatically in local option, and anyone who wishes to use that against me in the campaign may do so. I am not ashamed to do so. Although a total abstainer myself I am not a temperance or prohibition crank, or anything of the kind. I have no quarrel with the saloon, or with the liquor interests, or with *any other living man's personal hab*its, and there is quite enough of my business. I do feel, though, that if the people of my city or even my ward do not want a saloon among them, on account of their children or for any other reason, no other person should have the right to impose it on them.

"When I was approached at first I did not even wait to think of such a thing. I have neither the money nor the disposition to go into an expensive campaign. Money has played such an important part in the politics around here that I did not think I ought to even listen to the idea.

"However, I like to think I am a loyal Republican, and this is the first thing the party ever asked me to do, except to vote. I would feel sorry

MR. MARSH'S EXPERIENCE

Corporation Counsel Bound for Iceland Aboard Boat Which Struck a Rock.

THE VESSEL BADLY DAMAGED.

Plainfielder Witnessed the Olympic Games In London and Felt Proud of His Own Country.

Among the 226 passengers aboard the Hamburg-American steamship Oceana, which struck a rock east of the island of Inch Keith, in the Firth of Forth, at midnight Wednesday, were Corporation Counsel and Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, of this city. The boat was soon refloated and although not in a dangerous condition, it was decided to put into port at once. The vessel was anchored in the Firth of Forth, near Edinburgh. Several of her watertight compartments had been torn open, and though the passengers were in no danger at any time another steamship was sent at once to take the Oceana's place for the voyage to Iceland.

Warren Marsh, brother of the corporation counsel who is in charge of the latter's office, received a cablegram Thursday stating that he and his wife were safe and well. He evidently anticipated the fact that Plainfielders would learn through cable dispatches of the accident to the steamship.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh twice visited the Stadium while in London and witnessed the Olympic contests and they had ample opportunity to cheer heartily for the American entrants. They were fortunate enough to be present the day that Hayes, the American, won the great Marathon race. In a letter written by Mr. Marsh to a Plainfield relative he briefly described the memorable event and said that words could not describe the display of enthusiasm on the part of the 100,000 spectators, when at first the Italian flag was run up above the American, indicating that Dornando, the representative from Italy, had won, but a few minutes later when the official announcement that Hayes was the winner the Americans present went wild with excitement. Mr. Marsh says that the Italian was assisted three times in reaching the finishing line and that any fair minded person would have at once awarded the race to Hayes. He speaks in high praise of the work of the American athletes, adding that they had every reason to be proud of the country's representatives.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF C. N. ELLIOTT WELL ATTENDED.

The funeral service of Clive N. Elliott, who was drowned in the Connecticut river at Turner's Falls, Mass., on Tuesday afternoon, was held at the former home, 320 Watchung avenue, Nutley, Friday afternoon. It was in charge of Rev. J. Ogden Wisner, pastor of the M. E. church, of which Mr. Elliott and his family were members and active workers, assisted by Rev. Mr. Mackey, of Purchase, N. Y.; Rev. Elbert Clement, of Lincoln, N. J.; Rev. E. M. Gardon, of West Summit, and Brother Cannon, a member of the Wesley Praying Band, of Jersey City.

A well-deserved eulogy of Mr. Elliott was paid by Pastor Wisner in which he spoke of the loss to the home, the church and the community in general, adding: "Here lies a man that was saturated with the Word of God and filled with His Spirit." The other clergymen read appropriate Scripture selections and offered prayer. Miss Nellie V. R. Brown, soprano soloist of the M. E. church, sang effectingly, "Sometime, We'll Understand," "Never a Day so Dreary," and "The Christian's Good Night." The display of floral tributes was very handsome and there was a large attendance of relatives and friends. The burial was at Nutley. A number of Plainfield relatives and friends attended the obsequies.

Record Month for Arrests.

During the month of July, there were forty-six arrests made by the North Plainfield police, according to the report of Borough Recorder Dolliver at last night's meeting of the Borough Council. This is the largest number of arrests in any one month in the borough in a single month, but is in a measure accounted for by the fact that on several occasions there were six or seven persons taken at a single haul. The borough has made money off this increase in police activity, and the Recorder turned over $84 in fines as a result of sentences imposed.

Will Sell on Co-operative Plan.

The strip of land known as the McDonough Brotherhood tract in the West End of the city has been sold by M. F. Gano to the Co-Operative Land Delevopment Association, of 113 East Front street, and is to be sold off rapidly through a co-operative plan as a residential section.

The Bachelor's Question.

"This, Mr. Batchelior," said the proud mamma, "is just the sweetest, brighest baby in the world."

"Bright, eh?" stammered the embarrassed Mr. Batchelior, "can he—er—she—that is, can it—er—sit up and beg?"—Philadelphia Press.

PLAN A.O.H. CONVENTION

Plainfield Division to Be Represented at Biennial Meeting of Catholic Society.

AT NEWARK ON AUGUST 18.

Mayor Haussling to Extend Welcome—500 Delegates Expected—State Membership 6,608.

The biennial state convention of the Ancient Order of Hiberians will take place August 18, in the new Auditorium, 83 Orange street, Newark. It is expected that the session will be attended by about 500 delegates, representing the various organizations and 89 divisions in the State. Division No. 4, of Plainfield, will be well represented.

In the morning of the day of the convention the delegates will attend mass at the cathedral. Following this there will be an open session at which the freedom of the city will be tendered by Mayor Haussling.

At the conclusion of the open meeting the convention will convene with State President John P. Dullard presiding. State President Dullard, in his report, will give an account of the organization in the state during the past two years. He will make a number of recommendations for the consideration of the convention. One of these will be cutting down of the representatives to the state convention to two from each division. This will make the state convention a body of 200 delegates instead of about 550. Mr. Dullard believes that by this change more definite and better results can be accomplished in the way of legislation, and that the various divisions can be saved a considerable amount of money in the matter of expenses of delegates.

It is understood that Mr. Dullard will not be a candidate for re-election. His principal reason for not wanting the office again is because of his inability to give the time which he feels it demands. The most probable successor to Mr. Dullard is Captain C. A. Reilly, of Newark, the present state vice president.

The report of State Secretary Frank Deveraux, which will be submitted at the convention, will show that on December 31, 1907, the A. O. H. was organized in 18 counties, with a total of 89 divisions. The membership in the state is 6,608.

THE BEST MATERIALS FOR MIDSUMMER WAISTS.

How many shirtwaists a woman needs in preparing for her summer outing is a question that she alone can decide. It is better to avoid tailored ones of stout materials. These are all right for late spring and early autumn, but they are a trifle heavy for the middle of summer.

China silk, plain or striped, is admirable. In the dull white tones it serves better and is more stylish than white muslin. With it are worn turnover embroidered linen collars, although the negligee cuffs are untrimmed, rolled back and caught with link buttons.

If one wants to be at the top of the styles and, incidentally wants to show an exceedingly pretty corset cover, she should get one of the untrimmed shirtwaists of white cotton net. These are the coolest garments in the styles.

They are made of the wide net, which washes. Any simple model is chosen that has tucks or plaits. There is a high turnover collar and wide turnover cuffs, edged with clung.

The blouse is fastened down the front, under a grandfather frill of net and lace, and fastened through with round pearl buttons. Under the turnover collar is worn a broad cravat of colored taffeta, tied in a huge square bow in front.

Bitten by Vicious Dog.

George Wilson, ex-chief of the Rahway fire department, was badly bitten yesterday by a vicious dog owned by Frank Theberg, of 246 Main street. The dog, a large mastiff, was chained to what is called a trolley wire, to protect Theberg's stable and barn. Wilson was not aware of this.

He Explains.

"John," said the candidate's wife, "you promised me to quit chewing tobacco."

"So I did."

"Then what are those stains around your mouth?"

"That's molasses, dear. I've been kissing babies."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

He Was the Parents.

Little Bertram had always longed for a live pet, but as he lived in an apartment building, he had to be satisfied with toy animals.

Later his parents moved to the country and Bertram became the happy possessor of a kitten. He hugged it close and remarked. "At last I am the parents of a living creature!"—Delineator.

Patent Window Shutter Worker.

M. R. Culver, of Stone street, has received a patent for a window shutter worker, which promises to be a valuable article.

BOROUGH FATHERS' WORK

Much Routine Business Transacted at Meeting of North Plainfield Councilmen.

NEW FIRE BOX FOR SCHOOL.

Health Board Urges Action On Sanitary Proposal—Sewage System and Other Matters Acted Upon.

The petition for a fire alarm box in front of the Watchung School, presented at Friday's meeting of the Borough Council, signed by members of the North Plainfield Board of Education and the parents of many of the pupils who attend the school, was granted, and the box will be immediately purchased the placed in position.

The final ruling of the Council marks the culmination of a strongly organized attempt to secure better fire protection at the borough school, and was passed last night without any semblance of opposition. Two months ago, the Board of Education presented a petition for the installation of this box, but without success. After delaying a month, the Council agreed to place a box at the school and maintain it there if the Board would stand for the expense of its purchase.

Since then, the petition has been circulated, and a long list of names was signed to it at its presentation last night. The petition stated that the need of a box at the school was urgent, because the nearest fire box now is at Mountain and Westervelt avenues, and a run of four minutes was involved if an alarm from the school was sent in from this box.

A communication from Dr. A. H. Dundon, as secretary of the Board of Health, was received at last night's meeting regarding the need of sewers. At their meeting a few nights ago, the members of the Board discussed the need of sewers in the borough and it was the consensus of opinion that the sooner a system was installed, the better it would be for the general health of North Plainfielders. Mayor Townsend endorsed the action of the Board as from a body vitally interested in the matter. "The Board of Health," he said, "is the department which naturally is most in contact with the needs for this improvement. As soon as the corporation counsel returns from his trip abroad, I sincerely hope something will be done about sewers, and I hope that before many more meetings pass, we shall have something definite to announce about the installation of a system here in North Plainfield."

Councilman VanArdsdale asked what was going to be done about the extension of Watchung avenue to Somerset street, so strongly agitated several meetings ago. The Mayor replied that, pending the installation of a sewer system, he thought it well to lay over the matter, claiming that there would be considerable damage to the roads anyway, if they have to be torn up to lay a sewer. Mr. VanArdsdale took this to refer to the proposed improvement of Watchung avenue, and quickly asked: "Do you mean that there will be sewers there?" "Well, I hope so," replied Mr. Townsend, "there ought to be."

Permits for two two-story frame houses to be erected in Orchard Park were granted. One was from A. D. Edgar and the other from the Orchard Park Improvement Association. William Trembath was granted permission for an addition to his printing shop on Chatham street. H. F. Scriven and others presented a petition urging that the borough fix up Rock road, a continuation of Rock avenue above Greenbrook road, which was reported to be in a dangerous condition for traffic. The petition was laid over, for it is believed that but a short stretch of this road, if any, is within the borough limits.

Bryan the Brave.

Remember the glories of Bryan the brave! This country for years he's been trying to save; he's talked by the year, and he's talking some more; he's talked when his throat was so frightfully sore that his voice was whiskered and needed a shave —remember the glories of Bryan the brave! Some heroes have fought for their country with swords, and some for their country have squandered their hoards; and sages have written, and poets have sung, but Bryan has fought with his doubled-dged tongue. Oh, long may that weapon in majesty wave—remember the glories of Bryan the brave! The Western Chautauquas are strewn with his dead; the lyceum circuit, he's painted it red; the jawbone of Samson innocuous was as compared with the tongue that has never known pause; still the hero goes on while his enemies rave—remember the glories of Bryan the brave!—Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

No Escaping Trouble.

"Tommy—When I grow up I ain't never goin' to have ter wash me face.

Johnny—Aw, go'n' how kin yer help it?

Tommy—I'm a-goin 'ter grow whiskers all over it.

Johnny—Aw, that'll be worse. Den yer'll have to comb de knots outer yer face.—Philadelphia Press.

"What Is Death"

Fourth of a Series on Heaven by

REV. DR. CHARLES E. HERRING

Some men would define death as extinction of being. In their theory, something that was not, became, lived a few years, and now is no more. In the teaching of our Lord, death is a passing over. He spoke of the "exodus" which He should accomplish at Jerusalem." What was the exodus? It was the passage of Israel over the Red Sea from Egypt into the Promised Land. Christ's death was a passing over from earth into the heavenly world. Your death will be a similar exodus.

Paul spoke of his death as an "unmooring." He said to Timothy, "The time of my unmooring is at hand." he meant by this picture that the time had come to cut the cords which fastened him to earthly conditions would be severed; but the unmooring of a vessel is not the end of it. We can illustrate Paul's thought by the vessel which is on the ways awaiting completion. There enters into the construction of the vessel materials which the land produces; but when it is completed the time comes for its launching. This is the time when it fulfills the purpose for which it was made. It was never designed for the land but for the sea. Then it is no wonder that Paul said, "to die is gain," and "to be with Christ" in the heavenly world "is far better." Some one has illustrated the relation between this life and the next by the vessel and the stages of life through which the dragon fly passes, and the illustration is in perfect accord with the teaching of Christ and Paul.

The dragon fly in the early stages of its life is a little insignificant creature whose living element is water. It knows no other element than water; until by the very instinct of its being it climbs up a stalk in the pond. What is it doing? It is reaching up to some other element. It knows not why. It is simply following some power which was born in it. Let us imagine an intelligent trout in the same pond, calling the aspiration of the dragon fly grub impossible of realization. It was born a grub, and grubs about grub until it die a grub. Why pine for another element? But the grub keeps climbing up that stalk until finally the rational trout sees the body of the grub fall back to the bottom of the pond. You can imagine the intelligent trout now saying to himself: "That is what comes of foolish aspirations. You see here the evidence of a foolish dream. He lived a grub. He died a grub and that is the end of him."

But what really has happened? Out of that body of the grub, there has emerged a beautiful dragon fly. The old body which was his, when he was a denizen of the water, has perished; but he has not perished. He has simply emerged into another world, and never again can she live in the water. You may ask why he does not come back and enlighten the trout as to his real condition, the answer is simple. He cannot live in the former condition; and even if she intelligent trout should be brought up into his element; a film would spread over his eyes so that he could not see.

It is a beautiful illustration, and it is true. It is but another picture of the truth Paul illustrated by the unmooring of the vessel. Death is simply the passing over into another element. What of it if the body falls to the ground? The body is not the man. He has emerged. God giveth him a body. Do we wonder why our friends do not come back and tell us something of the glory of the eternal world? Our Lord came out of that world and He has declared to us its glory. We can believe Him. The dragon fly cannot re-enter the former element for his life, though the water was his first home. He is now flitting over the pond with his gorgeous colors, and in the glorious sunshine. The dragon fly trusts his instincts. Has not God implanted similar instincts in us? You feel that there must be another world as a compensation for the imperfections, and fearful failures of this life. Is that longing for another world to be unsatisfied? Is it possible that nature is not true to itself in this particular? It provides prey for the tiger, and pastures for the lamb. Does it not provide for the able longings of the human heart? Caesar when all the known world was under his power is reported to have said, "and is this all?" The human heart is but an atom of creation, but the whole universe is not able to fill it."

This world does not perfectly satisfy an immortal soul. You were not made for it, any more than a vessel was made for the ways. The launching time comes for the vessel and that is a day of rejoicing and victory. This life, too, is one of preparation. It has its joys but these are nothing in comparison with the real glory which shall be revealed in us. The grub feels in its being that it was made to climb up that stalk. It trusts its instincts and climbs and God does not disappoint it.

A certain philosophical writer thus expressed man's instinct for another life: "All the subtleties of metaphysics will not make me doubt the immortality of the soul for one single moment. I feel it, I wish it, I hope for it, I will defend it with my latest breath." It is instinctive therefore. The heart was not made for the world, nor even for the material universe. It was made to realize the great plan of God. You have instincts for another world. God will make all these hopes real. Simply trust Him, and the God who satisfied the instincts of the dragon fly grub will answer your longings beyond all your expectation.

MARTINE INVITES BRYAN

Sends Message to Nebraskan Urging Him to Make Three Speeches in New Jersey.

HE MAY CARRY THE STATE?

Farmer-Orator Naturally Thinks Bryan Has a Chance Here—Wants Him to Visit Cedar Brook Again.

Acting on his own volition, he says, James E. Martine, Bryan's closest personal friend in New Jersey, today wrote the Nebraskan requesting urgently that he visit this State during the campaign. "The Farmer-orator," renamed "Old Faithful," in his letter declared that there is to his mind a probable chance of carrying the State for the Democratic National ticket next November and that he considered that Mr. Bryan should make a personal visit to the State before November 1.

"I consider that it would be expedient for our cause that you make at least three speeches for us," wrote Mr. Martine, "and I would suggest that you speak at Newark, Jersey City and Trenton; by all means at Newark."

When The Daily Press correspondent asked Mr. Martine whether James Smith, Jr., had prompted him to do this, he stated that he had neither seen the former Senator, nor communicated with him directly or indirectly since they met at the Denver convention. "I don't need any one to tell me what I should do; I'm old enough in politics to be my own guardian," he added.

"Our party is a unit today for you," he wrote, "for no matter how much some may have disagreed before the nomination was made they stand together fighting for the good old cause. I have positive assurance that Senator Smith will warmly support your candidacy."

Mr. Bryan was invited to spend a night while in Jersey at Cedar Brook farm, Martine's home, to which he is no stranger. Three letters received within the last week by the Plainfielder from prominent and wealthy Republicans promising their vote to the Nebraskan were enclosed in the message. Mr. Martine refused to give out for publication the names of these converts as he termed them.

TO KEEP THE WHITE SWEATER IMMACULATE.

In summer a girl's sweater is her most important as well as her most useful garment. If her shirt waists are badly made, or shoes shabby, that is a minor consideration, but her sweater must be immaculate and up to date.

Every girl likes to wear nothing but white during the outing season, and great is her disgust when her mother suggests having a gray sweater for economy's sake, in the firm belief that the darker shade keeps clean longer and that all woolen goods are impossible to wash.

If proper care is taken sweaters can be washed all the time without hurting their shade and color. Fill a large bowl or basin with warm water and good soapsuds, add a teaspoonful of powdered borax to keep the wool from becoming hard and stiff.

If the sweater is white put a little bluing in the water every time it is rinsed. This will prevent it from turning a deep ivory, as all white wool materials are apt to do.

After washing wring out, then pin to a large bed pillow. Be sure not to stretch the sweater, or it will lose its shape.

Excited No Comment.

Jess—Or, course, I knew that May and Bess were bitter enemies, but do you mean to tell me they actually engaged in a fist fight?

Jess—Yes.

Tess—Why, what a scandal! I declare I—

Jess—O! nobody noticed it. They went to a bargain store t odo it.—Philadelphia Press.

A Bad Habit.

"What brought you here, my poor man?" inquired the prison visitor.

"Well, lady," replied the prisoner, "I reckon my trouble started in attendin' too many weddin's."

"Ah! You learned to drink there, or steal, perhaps?"

"No, lady; I was always the bridegroom."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Miss Sheldon With Proctor.

Miss Marie Sheldon, of Cranford, who took a prominent part in several amateur operatic productions in this city, is now the soprano soloist in a quartet on the Proctor circuit. She recently appeared at Proctor's theatre, Newark, where the quartet was well received.

SOME NEW ORDINANCES

Three Measures Enacted by Borough Fathers to Take Effect on August 20.

ALL ARE BENEFICIAL ONES.

One Regulates Carrying of Fire-Arms; One Distribution of Handbills and Third Creates New Election District.

Commencing Thursday, August 20, three new borough ordinances, unanimously passed on the third reading at the meeting of the North Plainfield Council Friday, will go into effect in the borough. One of these prohibits the carrying of weapons and their discharge within the borough limits, an amendment to it on the third reading last night prohibits the distribution of circulars in the borough, guarding against the littering of the borough streets with waste paper, and the third provides for the formation of a third election district in the northern part of the borough.

The fire-arms ordinance prohibits anybody within the borough limits from carrying a "revolver, rifle, shotgun, sword, sword-cane, dagger, dirk, knife, spear, brass knuckles," or any other weapon designed as an instrument of merriment gave rise to the most intense excitement. A number of women who were so near that they could see the young man, dropped to the platform in fainting spells and added to the confusion. Chief of Police Kiely, Sergeant H. M. Bogan, Sr. St. Mark's church, and Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, were in the midst of the throng and brought something like order out of chaos by directing the men to get everyone as far away as possible and calm the women and children. Father Bogan was one of the first to realize that the young man had but a short time to live and bent over him to administer the last rites of the church. He breathed his last just as the priest concluded.

Chief Kiely took charge of the body and started to remove it to the baggage room of the station but was held back by a railroad attache who asserted that it must remain exactly where it was until the coroner arrived. The Plainfield chief realized what that meant because of the crowd and declaring that he would be amenable to the law, instructed Patrolman John Payne, another specialist, to assist him in carrying the stretcher bearing the form. It was placed in one of the waiting compartments, the employes continually protesting that such an action was unheard of.

The Monmouth county officials viewed the body at night and gave the necessary permit for removal. It was brought to Plainfield Friday morning and taken to the home of the young man's parents.

According to the stories of those who viewed the accident, Mr. Kiely had been standing on the platform with the idea of taking the second section of the train and he became aware that his sister, Mrs. Thomas Gough, of Grandview avenue, was on the first. It was just pulling away from the station and he made a rush to get third. A friend grasped the rear of a forward car but because of the way in which he was running, he lost his balance and was thrown beneath the two platforms. Almost the next instant the wheels passed over him.

The victim of the accident was but four years old and had always lived in the borough. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kiely, of Stelner place, and was employed as a salesman by the Sapolio Company at the New York office. He was well known as a baseball enthusiast and in the winter season was prominent as a bowler. He was also fond of local tourneys. Besides his parents and sister, he leaves two brothers, Garret and Edward Kiely, both living at home.

Will Hold Prosperity Convention.

Frank W. Weed, of West Front street, is a member of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the interstate Prosperity Convention to be held in New York, August 14 and 15, under the auspices of the Union Commercial Travelers' and Travelers' Protective Association. On Friday, August 14, there will be a public convention to be addressed by leading citizens and prominent officials and on Saturday there will be a banquet, amateur sports and ball at the Manhattan Beach Hotel. The associations in charge of the affair have leased Manhattan Beach as well as the hotel for the day and they expect to have several thousand guests.

Edward A. Laing to Wed.

Announcement was made today of the engagement of Edward A. Laing, son of Mrs. Voorhees Laing, of East Front street, and Miss Bertha Brewer, of the borough. The wedding will take place early in the fall. Mr. Laing is one of the successful young merchants of the city, being engaged as a newspaper and stationery dealer.

Tess—He's a wonderful mind-reader. He told me everything in my mind in four and five minutes.

Maid—Yes, a fine mind-reader, but s'w.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

INTERESTING DATA IN JERSEY BANK REPORTS

New Jersey's savings bank resources amount to $100,405,48, according to the report of David C. Watkins, State Commissioner of Banking and Insurance. The report is based on sworn statements of the condition of savings banks at the close of business on July 15, and of trust companies on June 30.

There are twenty-six savings banks, eighteen State banks and seventy-five trust companies. The savings banks have total resources of $100,405,-448.95, with liabilities of the same amount, including surplus funds of $6,699,421.52. The amount of cash on hand in these banks is $513,-944.01.

The seventy-five trust companies have assets and liabilities amounting to $177,746,841.39, in which is included a capital stock of $16,846,-851.98. The banking houses and furniture and fixtures are valued at $5,-130,146.74. The cash on hand in these institutions amounts to $4,-162,645.32.

The eighteen State banks have resources and liabilities of $47,569,-524.94, including a surplus fund of $1,035,000.

Plainfielders Walk to the Shore.

Guylon Fountain, and his brother, Gideon Fountain, of West Seventh street, have returned from a sojourn at Asbury Park, and the journey to the shore was a novel one in that they walked from this city to Red Bank, from which point they took the train to the shore. The young men left Plainfield about 8 o'clock in the morning and aside from the fact that they stopped but once or twice for refreshments, maintained a steady pace on their tramp, reaching Red Bank the middle of the afternoon. The day was a particularly warm one and not calculated to inspire the young men with an ambition to cover the distance in the shortest possible time. However, they did not loaf on the road and considering everything made excellent time. The young men decided to walk the distance as a means of healthful exercise and not with a view of making a record.

Bound to Get So.

"What forced you to become crooked?" asked the magistrate of the prisoner before him.

"Trying to make both ends meet, your honor," was the more or less satisfactory reply.—Cleveland Leader

EXCURSIONIST IS KILLED

Wm. J. Kiely's Life Crushed Out Beneath K. of C. Train at Asbury Park Station.

HUNDREDS VIEW THE ACCIDENT.

Many Women Faint and Only Prompt Action Prevents Further Mishaps In Great Crowd On Platform.

In full view of hundreds of Plainfielders waiting on the platform of the Asbury Park station at 7 p. m. Thursday, William J. Kiely, of Stelner place, the borough, was buried beneath the first section of the local Knights of Columbus excursion train and so badly injured that death ensued within five minutes. The front trucks of one of the cars passed over his left shoulder and arm, crushing him badly and leaving his inert and helpless. A score of men rushed to his assistance while a hastily given signal brought the special to a stop before any more people reached him, but he was beyond all aid.

The mangled form was lifted from the track by Hugh Higgins and John Hines and when the big crowd of happy, care-free excursionists realized what had happened, laughter and merriment gave way to the most intense excitement. A number of women who were so near that they could see the young man, dropped to the platform in fainting spells and added to the confusion. Chief of Police Kiely, Sergeant H. M. Bogan, Sr. St. Mark's church, and Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, were in the midst of the throng and brought something like order out of chaos by directing the men to get everyone as far away as possible and calm the women and children. Father Bogan was one of the first to realize that the young man had but a short time to live and bent over him to administer the last rites of the church. He breathed his last just as the priest concluded.

Chief Kiely took charge of the body and started to remove it to the baggage room of the station but was held back by a railroad attache who asserted that it must remain exactly where it was until the coroner arrived. The Plainfield chief realized what that meant because of the crowd and declaring that he would be amenable to the law, instructed Patrolman John Payne, another specialist, to assist him in carrying the stretcher bearing the form. It was placed in one of the waiting compartments, the employes continually protesting that such an action was unheard of.

The Monmouth county officials viewed the body at night and gave the necessary permit for removal. It was brought to Plainfield Friday morning and taken to the home of the young man's parents.

According to the stories of those who viewed the accident, Mr. Kiely had been standing on the platform with the idea of taking the second section of the train when he became aware that his sister, Mrs. Thomas Gough, of Grandview avenue, was on the first. It was just pulling away from the station and he made a rush to get third. A friend grasped the rear of a forward car but because of the way in which he was running, he lost his balance and was thrown beneath the two platforms. Almost the next instant the wheels passed over him.

The victim of the accident was but four years old and had always lived in the borough. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kiely, of Stelner place, and was employed as a salesman by the Sapolio Company at the New York office. He was well known as a baseball enthusiast and in the winter season was prominent as a bowler. He was also fond of local tourneys. Besides his parents and sister, he leaves two brothers, Garret and Edward Kiely, both living at home.

Will Hold Prosperity Convention.

Frank W. Weed, of West Front street, is a member of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the Interstate Prosperity Convention to be held in New York, August 14 and 15, under the auspices of the Union Commercial Travelers' and Travelers' Protective Association. On Friday, August 14, there will be a public convention to be addressed by leading citizens and prominent officials and on Saturday there will be a banquet, amateur sports and ball at the Manhattan Beach Hotel. The associations in charge of the affair have leased Manhattan Beach as well as the hotel for the day and they expect to have several thousand guests.

Edward A. Laing to Wed.

Announcement was made today of the engagement of Edward A. Laing, son of Mrs. Voorhees Laing, of East Front street, and Miss Bertha Brewer, of the borough. The wedding will take place early in the fall. Mr. Laing is one of the successful young merchants of the city, being engaged as a newspaper and stationery dealer.

Tess—He's a wonderful mind-reader. He told me everything in my mind in four and five minutes.

Maid—Yes, a fine mind-reader, but s'w.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 16, 1908.

By REV. S. H. DOTLE.

Topic.—Lessons from the sea.—Ps. cvii, 2-31.

This psalm was written as a call to men to "praise the Lord for His goodness and for His wonderful works to the children of men." He enumerates several instances in which men have found themselves in perplexing places and have called upon the name of the Lord, who has heard them and delivered them from their distress. One of these illustrations is taken from a shipwreck at sea. A great storm is described, and the sailors, at their wits' end, call upon the Lord, and He delivers them out of their distresses. "He maketh the storm a calm; * * * so then are they glad, * * * so He bringeth them to their desired haven." What better lesson could be taught us of God's providential care of His people than this—salvation from a storm at sea and deliverance from a watery grave?

Every element of the sea may also teach us useful lessons. The blessings of the sea to mankind are innumerable, and, coming from God's creation, they come from Him. The wonderful works of God are nowhere more manifest than in the sea and its relation to mankind and the physical world. Take the relation of the earth and the sea. The sea in mists constantly rising, which form into clouds and are blown over the earth and give it its water, is constantly supporting the life of the earth and of man and beast. But finally it runs back to the sea, carrying with it the refuse of the earth and other ingredients that keep the sea clean and pure. Otherwise the great oceans would be but stagnant pools, full of death and loathsomeness. What a wonderful arrangement of God and how forcibly it teaches us a great lesson on sacrifice! It is by giving out that we receive in return. The Dead sea has an inlet, but no outlet, and what is the result? It is dead, indeed. No life exists in it. A bird cannot fly over it without falling a fatal victim to its poisonous vapors. Give and ye shall receive.

Life is also well likened to the sea. In traveling over the sea we leave one harbor for another on a distant coast. We meet storms and dangers. We behold the constant restlessness of the sea. But if all goes well we reach our distant harbor. How like life this all is! Earth is the harbor from which we start, and heaven should be the harbor which we desire to reach. But how many storms there are in life! How many dangers! In the sea voyage of life we are "oft in danger, oft in woe." How much restlessness there is in life, and many things sustained, separations from loved ones, so many trials and vexations, so many problems unsolved, all tending to make the heart and mind restless and disquieted. But the ocean liner has its pilot, and we have with us Christians over life's sea, Jesus, the Son of God, is our pilot, and if we trust Him fully no storm, no danger, no restlessness, will overcome us. He will make the storm a calm, and in gladness we go through Him shall enter into our desired haven.

BIBLE READINGS.

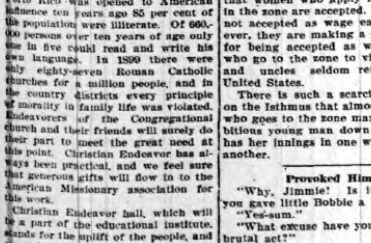
Ex. xiv, 15-21; Neh. ix, 7-12; Job xxxviii, 1-11; Ps. lxv, 1-7; Isa xxiv, 13-15; Ps. lxxxix, 1-9; Matt. viii, 23-27; Acts xxvii, 21-26; Rev. xxi, 1.

Christian Endeavor Hall.

Facing the old military road in Santurce, four miles from San Juan, Porto Rico, stands the Blanche Kellogg Institute, erected by the American Missionary Association from the gift of the father of the noble young woman whose Christian life the institute commemorates.

This same generous giver has made another promise to pay a large sum toward a Christian Endeavor hall, provided others will give $4,000. The young people's societies of the Congregational church have felt that this is a golden opportunity to do a splendid work for the Master and have interested themselves in the cause.

The work of the institute is educational, and there is need for it. When



BLANCHE KELLOGG INSTITUTE AT SANTURCE, WHICH WILL CONTAIN THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HALL.

Porto Rico was opened to American influence ten years ago 85 per cent of the population were illiterate. Of 900,000 persons over ten years of age only one in five could read and write his own language. In 1899 there were only eighty-seven Roman Catholic churches for a million people, and in the country districts every principle of morality in family life was violated. Many years ago the Congregational church and their friends will surely do their part to meet the great need at this point. Christian Endeavor has always been practical, and we feel sure that generous gifts will flow in to the American Missionary association for this work.

Christian Endeavor hall, which will be a part of the educational institute, stands for the uplift of the people, and every dollar given to it means the advancement of the cause of Christ in Porto Rico.

DO YOU CONTEMPLATE A YACHTING TRIP?

Of course, it goes without saying that persons subject to seasickness should not go upon a yachting trip, for not only will they themselves derive no pleasure from the voyage, but they will succeed in spoiling the good time of every other member of the party.

Besides, most yachts do not carry a surgeon, as large vessels do, and if you should become seasick while on one of these little pleasure boats you would be in a very bad fix, indeed. It is unwise to entrust yourself to the mercies of any well meaning, but nevertheless ignorant, person, who will administer remedies that he or she has "heard" are good, but of which he or she has had no actual experience.

If it is your first trip, however, and you consequently do not know how the sea will affect you, then by all means go, for if you have a reasonably strong stomach and sufficient will power there is no reason at all why you should be sick. Half of the mal de mer suffered by voyagers is really caused by a feeling that seasickness is a malady from which there is no escaping, which everybody suffers from, and which without doubt will fall to your lot also.

If, however, all the reasoning in the world does not prevent you from becoming sick, do not make the mistake of losing yourself up with sleeping potions, for many of these contain such drugs as cocaine, chloral and chloroform, which should never be taken except with the advice of a physician.

Stimulating drinks should also be avoided, for while they likewise have the effect of putting the patient to sleep he will wake up much worse than he was before, for in addition to the pangs of mal de mer he will now be suffering from the effects of the stimulant. An exception might be made in favor of champagne, but, owing to its cost, there is no danger that it will be widely used as a remedy.

The beneficial effect of this wine is largely due to the carbonic acid gas which it contains. Soda water also contains this gas, and so practically the same amount of relief can be obtained by using it instead.

As soon as you feel the slightest degree of discomfort, retire at once to your cabin, and go to bed. Stretch yourself at full length on one side, and if you use any pillow at all, let it be a very low one. Compose yourself to sleep, and if your stomach is really strong you will awake feeling all right.

In case you do not, however, or if you do not sleep at all, then it is best to do nothing for two hours. Just resign yourself to your fate and let the disease take its course.

By the time the stomach should be empty you will take a glass of warm water, which in most cases will be shortly ejected.

You may then take half a drachm of bromide of potassium in as large a quantity of water as you think you can swallow. If the solution is diluted enough it will stay down, but if it is too concentrated it will have the effect of making you vomit again.

In either case go to bed for another hour or so, and then repeat the dose. It should not be long before you will find yourself able to sleep, and when you awake you will discover that you are prodigiously hungry, and decide that yachting is really not such a bad sport after all.

GREAT CHANCES FOR SPINSTERS IN PANAMA.

One place in this world where women seem to be at a premium is in the canal zone. The women employed in the zone are very few in proportion of the men. Of the total in excess of 6,500 employes of the government, 207 are women. Their salary is about what the average man makes here in our cities, or in actual figures they make $73 a month.

It is not that the government prefers men employes to women, but the expense of quartering women would be so much more expensive than arranging for men that the latter are employed instead.

Many of the women are employed as stenographers, telegraphers, copyists, timekeepers and clerks, although the great majority of them are either teachers or nurses. The chief woman clerk receives a salary of $175, whereas the lowest salary is $25 to a matron. The majority of the women are nurses to the men working on the Isthmus and are provided with married quarters.

It is only in a very few instances that women who apply for positions in the zone are accepted. If they are not accepted as wage earners, however, they are making a good record for later accepted as wives. Girls who go to the zone to visit brothers and uncles seldom return to the United States.

There is such a scarcity of wives on the Isthmus that almost every girl who goes to the zone marries an ambitious young man down there. She has her innings in one way if not in another.

Provoked Him.

"Why, Jimmie! Is it true that you gave little Bobbie a black eye?"

"Yes-sum."

"What excuse have you for such a brutal act?"

"W-well, he provoked me."

"How did he provoke you?"

"He hit back."—London Opinion.

THE BREAKFAST TABLE A SUMMER PROBLEM.

The breakfast table, as well as its contents, often receives less attention than it deserves. Spotless table linen and shining silver and cutlery do their part, if permitted, but care and taste in the decoration of the table must be added, if breakfast is to be a pleasant and attractive meal. In hot weather, especially, the breakfast table should receive its full meed of care and thought, for with summer comes the disinclination to eat substantial food during the day, and breakfast ought, therefore, to supply a good foundation meal of suitable and appetizing character.

The bill of fare, of course, should be varied from day to day, and all should be in keeping with the season. Cold ham, for example, might be served on two separate mornings in the week, and on the others one or more of such dishes as the following: Fried fish; cream fish; eggs boiled, poached or scrambled; scallops or croquettes from the remains of any cold meat; fish cakes or kedgeree, all prepared from the remains of cold fish, savory tomatoes, or, occasionally, on cooler mornings, fried bacon and fried tomatoes; sardines on toast; cold tongue or other cold meat.

The croquettes and scallops could be prepared on the previous day, and would then only need frying in fat before being served or warming if already cooked. None of the other dishes mentioned will take long to prepare.

Cod fish or cold meat salad is another suitable summer breakfast dish, and the remains of cold ham might be utilized either in such form or, for a change, in the following way: Fry some very thinly sliced onions in a little hot butter; add to this the cold ham cut up into small pieces and a little boiled rice; season well, place a pinch of cayenne and, if liked, two or three spoonfuls of grated cheese; stir all together over the fire, taking care to avoid burning, and serve hot with toast. Homemade potted meat made from either fresh or cold cooked meat can be made with but little trouble and is much appreciated for breakfast in hot weather. As an alternative to the fish cakes or other hot dishes prepared from fish left over from previous meals, pickled fish might be served.

One of the best ways of preparing fish is as follows: Boil the cold fish into a fairly deep dish with a little of the water in which it was boiled; add an equal quantity of vinegar, pepper and salt, and a little herbs, let the fish remain in this pickle till required; then drain it. It should be turned several times to insure its being thoroughly saturated.

If the family is large it is better to have two or three substantial dishes, one or two hot and the others cold, rather than a large quantity of one kind. Fruit, fresh or stewed, and tomatoes and watercresses should appear at breakfast every morning in summer, these being not only especially suited to the season, but also good from a health standpoint, and "eat" from the watercress to the table, a matter well worth consideration.

Toast buttered and dry, and freshly made rolls and hot cakes, preserves or marmalade, with the usual coffee and tea, hot and cold milk, brown and white bread and butter would complete a meal certain to give more satisfaction in every way than the average uninteresting breakfast.—Philadelphia Press.

A WONDERFUL NECKLACE.

The most costly necklace in the world belongs to the Countess Henckel, a lady well known in London and Paris society, the value of which is said to be $500,000. It is really composed of three necklaces, each of historic interest. One was the property of the ex-Queen of Naples, sister of the late Austrian Empress; the second, once the property of a Spanish grandee, while the third was formerly owned by the Empress Eugenie. Not long ago a necklace composed of 412 pearls, in eight rows, the property of the late Duchess of Montrose, was sold for $60,000. The Empress Frederick of Germany is said to have possessed a necklace that is worth at least $200,000, while Lady Ilchester's necklace of black pearls is valued at about $125,000.

His Trouble.

"Poor Borroughs! He's worrying a great deal about debts."

"Nonsense! You'll never catch him worrying about his inability to pay his debts."

"I didn't say he was worrying about any old debts he couldn't pay, but about new ones that he can't contract."—Philadelphia Press.

Pleasant for the Lender.

"There," said Dubley, adding up the column of figures, "a total of $652; I guess that's all—oh, no, there's $30 I forgot. Gee! I wish somebody would lend me $682. Can you do it, old man?"

"What for?" demanded Markley.

"Why, I want to get out of debt."—Philadelphia Press.

Getting Along.

Miss Goodly—Miss Hussie goes in for everything. She's constantly doing something.

Miss Knox—Yes, but the one thing she is doing most steadily she won't admit.

Miss Goodly—What's that?

Miss Knox—Growing older.—The Catholic Standard and Times.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

School Reading In English Recommended by the National Educational Association. All These May be Taken From the Library.

First Year.

Whittier.—Snow Bound.
Lamb.—Tales of Shakespeare.
Hawthorne.—Wonder book.
Hawthorne.—Tanglewood tales.
Kipling.—Jungle book, No. 1.
Kipling.—Second book, No. 2.
Austen.—Betty Alden.
Burroughs.—Sharp eyes.
Irving.—Tales of a traveler.
Hughes.—Tom Brown at Rugby.
Aldrich.—Story of a bad boy.
Dickens.—Nicholas Nickleby.
Dana.—Two years before the mast.
Webster.—Bunker Hill speeches.
Irving.—Sketch book.
Washington.—Rules of conduct.
Farewell address.
Lincoln.—Inaugural and Gettysburg speech.
Hale.—Man without a country.
Dodge.—Hans Brinker.
Scott.—Ivanhoe.
Scott.—Quentin Durward.
Longfellow.—Tales of a Wayside Inn.
Grinnell.—Story of the Indian.
Jewett.—Tales of New England.
Warner.—Being a boy.
Shakespeare.—Merchant of Venice.
Allen.—Choir invisible.
Irving-Fiske.—Life of Washington.
D'Amicis.—Cuore.
McDonald.—Back of the north wind.
Macaulay.—Letters.
Chesterfield.—Letters.

Second Year.

Lowell.—Vision of Sir Launfal.
Scott.—Lady of the Lake.
Scott.—Marmion.
Browning, Mrs.—Lyrics and sonnets.
("Cry of the children.")
Wordsworth, Coleridge, Southey.—The Lake poets.
Shakespeare.—Julius Caesar.
Pope.—Translations from the Iliad. (book 1, 6, 22, 24).
Cooper.—Last of the Mohicans.
Irving.—Tales of a Traveler.
Fiske.—War of Independence.
Plato.—Apology of Socrates.
Warner.—Being boy studies.
Grimm.—Brave little Holland.
Froude.—Julius Caesar.
Miller, Alice T.—Little people of Asia.
Hale.—Bulfinch's Mythology.
Hawthorne.—Twice told tales.
Mulock.—John Halifax.
Scott.—Kenilworth.
Dickens.—Tale of two cities.
Brown, John.—Dr. Rab and his friends.
Roosevelt and Lodge.—Hero tales from the American Revolution.
Chester.—Gods and women.
Rolfe.—Shakespere the boy.
Stockton.—Rudder Grange stories.
Eggleston.—Hoosier schoolmaster.
Roosevelt.—Ranch life and the hunting trail.

Third Year.

Shakespere.—Richard II.
Shakespere.—Twelfth night.
Shakespere.—Macbeth.
Irving.—Legends of the Alhambra.
Eliot.—Silas Marner.
Lowell, Arnold & Mathew.—Critical essays.
Wendell, Phillips.—Lectures and speeches.
Henty, C. A.—Wulf and Saxon.
Fiske.—Political ideas.
Henty.—Young Buchanglian.
Milton.—Minor poems.
Goldsmith.—Vicar of Wakefield.
Emerson.—Essay on Friendship.
Stevenson.—Kidnapped.
Hawthorne.—Our old home.
Hawthorne.—Prophet of Great Smoky Mountain.
Dickens.—Dombey and son.
Winthrop.—John Brent.
Blackmore.—Lorna Doone.
Milton.—Paradise lost (books 1, 2).
Curtis.—Prue and I.
Thackeray.—The Newcombs.
Holmes.—Autocrat of the breakfast table.
Ebers.—Uards.
Macaulay.—Lord Clive.
Wallace.—Ben-Hur.
Dryden.—Palamon and Arcite.
Church.—Roman life in the days of Cicero.

Fourth Year.

Shakespere.—Hamlet.
Addison.—Sir Roger de Coverley papers in the Spectator.
Fiske.—Critical period of American history.
Bryce.—American commonwealth (abridged).
Carlyle.—Essay on Burns, and (poems).
Gaskell.—Life of Charlotte Bronte.
Rila.—How the other half lives.
Black.—Judith Shakespeare.
Ebers.—Egyptian princess.
Fiske.—Destiny of man.
Macaulay.—Warren Hastings.
Thackeray.—Henry Esmond.
Tennyson.—Princess.
Austen.—Pride and prejudice.
Hawthorne.—Marble Faun.
Dickens.—David Copperfield.
Coleridge.—Rime of the Ancient Mariner.
Winter.—Shakespere's England.
Huskin.—Sesame and lilies.
Spencer.—On style (part I.)
Burke.—Speech on Conciliation with America.
Emerson.—Conduct of life.
Macaulay.—Milton and Addison.
Thoreau.—Walden.
Warner.—My summer in a garden.
Emerson.—Essay on Manners.
Eliot.—Romola.

SOME HISTORIC STYLES ARE NOW THE FAD.

One essential of fashion at present seems to be that it shall be drawn from French history at some period round about the Revolution.

Paris is just reveling in the Charlotte Corday styles, perhaps fearing that the directorie would become monotonous without some variation. The contrast is very great between the simple fichu and mob-cap fashions and astounding luxury of the directoire dresses in which we have become accustomed.

Young girls are particularly well suited by the former, more specially if they have the rare type of face which looks its best without a collar, because the softly folded fichu ought to define the base of the throat without anything above it. The mob-caps are being made in lace, flowered muslin and antique embroidery, and are tied up with colored ribbons, and perhaps a couple of roses or cherries. They should be left transparent.

A very pretty get-up of this type seen recently had a skirt plain at the hips, but rather full below them (suggesting that the circular skirt is far out), made in the finest white Indian jap muslin inserted with very large interlinked circles of fine Valenciennes above a fastooned insertion of very tiny pleats. The sleeves were of muslin inserted with lace, and beneath the arms could be seen wide pieces of the same, but nearly all of th bodice was hidden by t fichu in the softest Saxe blue silk, which, coming from deep at the back, crossed the shoulers, following the line of the neck and widening in front, was crossed around the waist and fastened at the back with a few loops and two long ends.

A fold or two of tulle in the same shade was the only finish around the neck, the V in front, very small to begin with, being filled up with the tulle. A dainty little cap of lace, tied up with blue ribbon and pink roses, finished the costume.

TAKE CARE OF THE FEET.

At this season of the year the feet should be treated with the utmost care. It is at this time that chilblains begin, and they do not irritate one at any other time of the year they are apt to become tender and sore now, if not properly treated.

Twice a day they should be bathed in cool water and softened with a cooling toilet powder, which will absorb the perspiration and keep them dry.

All corns and callous places should be carefully removed, if not by a chiropodist, then at home, as soon as they have been well soaked in warm water.

If the feet are inclined to swell during the hot days bathe them frequently in hot salt water.

Wear shoes that are cooling to the feet. The stockings should be of the thinnest lisle.

Every one should keep at least two pairs of shoes for change, if a business woman she should change the shoes which she has worn during the day for another pair in the evening.

This is an important factor in the care of the feet.

UMBRELLA AND PARASOL ONE.

Parasols which may serve in all kinds of weather are becoming more and more recognized, and they may be found in all the gay colors. There are some even with knife-pleated ruffes around the edge. These last will deceive everyone, for they look like the lightest of sunshades, but are really waterproof and will protect one from the rain.

One parasol handle and frame will now do as foundation for several parasols, for the newest ones have separate covers of different colored silks to simply stretch over the one frame. Think how convenient this would be for traveling, for it would be necessary only to take a stick and frame covered with a sombre waterproof cover, which would be quite appropriate in case of rain or shine, and then, when one has reached her destination, the parasol could be turned into a light and airy thing that would suit any dress.

There are, too, some afternoon coats made of waterproof silk to wear with summer gowns for driving and motoring. It seems as though in time we will all wear waterproof clothes entirely; and indeed it would be a clever idea, for it would save a great deal of anxiety caused by the ever-fickle weather.

The new ones have a deep fringe around them of cotton thread and are large enough to hang nearly to the floor. This saves the necessity of having a valance. The spread itself acts as one.

One need not go to the trouble of crocheting such a large expanse, which takes a summer's season to accomplish, for the spreads can be bought in the shops at small prices and look as well as the hand-made ones.

MISUNDERSTOOD.

Arthur had won Zenobia—
To the jeweler said he:
"On this engagement ring I want
The letters 'From A to Z.'"

The jeweler asked no questions,
But on it to work he set;
And blowed if he didn't put on that ring
The whole blamed alphabet.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE HAT.

*This hot July sun will quickly re*duce a colored hat to shabbiness. The ribbon and flowers will fade, and the straw will sunburn in a most unsightly manner. Now it is sometimes possible to rejuvenate the whole without removing the trimming, for to do the latter you run the risk of never getting it on again in just that graceful way that the trained fingers do.

The straw may be brushed with sulphur and lemon juice or washed with oxalic acid, and the flowers retinted with a water color brush. But it is generally more satisfactory to take the article to pieces and dye the straw foundation.

There are ordinary dye stuffs that can be diluted with water or gasolene and applied with a brush. It is found that gasolene works very well with the paint mixtures, and does not injure the hat so damp or dingy after the treatment.

If a thin brim is wobbly after it is washed, take a little glue or gruyenté and pour over it a cupful of boiling water and brush the hat with a weak solution of it. Tack it to a board and dry in the sun. A hat stiffened in this manner should afterward be trimmed next to the hair with a bandeau. Gum arabic is equally good for treating Tuscan braids and in many cases will stiffen the brim of a leghorn hat. In washing a leghorn hat never apply much water, as the braid will roll up like dough and be hopelessly destroyed.

It will often be found worth while to buy new flowers, they come so reasonably this year.

If ribbons are pinioned badly with hatpins, a band of velvet can be placed next to the brim. Many hats are trimmed in this manner as a convenience. If a flower toque begins to look shabby, the top flowers can be removed and a lace toque put on the crown. Or perhaps a touch of lace must be used with the rosette at the side. Ribbons destroyed by rain must be carefully removed, and if not stained, press the ribbon dry or between a slightly dampened towel. Never color ribbons nor wash them for a hat, says the Philadelphia Press. If completely ruined, use the ribbon for other purposes and purchase new ones.

If the hat shrinks, it can often be worn by making a narrow velvet bandeau to cover the shrunken front edge of the crown. A wide-brimmed picture hat that cannot be restored to its graceful shape should have the wide brim pressed and stiffened with wires. If a straight brim, it can be pinned into a sailor shape. In an odd shape, it will require a milliner's skill to give it a jaunty appearance.

THE COMING OF THE CHIGNON.

They say the chignon's coming in.
And some are in despair,
While some upraise a joyous din—
But, faith, I do not care.
It matters not to me a pin
How woman does her hair.

No! She may pile it on her crown,
Or eke, at fashion's beck,
As now, may let it dangle down
Behind her shapely neck;
Or dye it black, or gold, or brown—
No tittle do I reck.

Let "fools rush in"—you know the rest,
With such I will not vie,
That's why how woman's hair is dressed
I view with passive eye.
Her coiffure's freaks won't be repressed,
And men are goats why try.
—Truth.

THE ANNUAL DISCUSSION.

Mother wants to go abroad; sister thinks that queer.
And they quite acridly have jawed concerning it, we fear.

Brother wants to try the cliffs; aunt prefers a lake.
And there have been some bitter tiffs with lots of sides to take.

And while each booms some chosen spot, extols its beauties rare,
Pa grins and says he'll take us not we won't go anywhere.
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

To Amuse the Children.

The question how to amuse the little folks who, going away for the summer, are deprived of many of the playthings to which they are accustomed in their own homes, is a puzzling one. A clever woman makes a practise of clipping from the magazines any illustrations which will interest the children. These she cuts out carefully, and, arranging them to the best possible advantage, pastes them on sheets of paper cambric, which are then stitched together in books, not too large to be easily handled. These picture books can find a place in the most crowded trunk and will help to while away many an hour on a rainy day.

A Delicious Beverage.

There is still another cooling and refreshing drink for housewives to make at home and serve for dinner or supper.

This is built upon a strong lemonade, which allows five lemons and a cup of sugar to each quart of water.

To every quart of lemonade is added a quart of ginger ale. This is put in a big bowl with a piece of ice. Sprigs of mint are washed, the stems bruised to bring out the full flavor and put into the lemonade when serving in small glasses.

ARE THERE MOTHS AT YOUR HOUSE?

Here is the wail of many:

"I'm distracted," said the young housekeeper. "After wearing myself to a frazzle in house-cleaning time, trying to rout moths, I find they have gotten into my storeroom closet."

"Your fight was not scientific enough," laughed the older woman. "What did you do? Stick a little camphor-ion moth balls around and think your duty done? The wily moth needs much more strenuous remedies.

"Don't look so discansolate, child; your winter wardrobe is not eaten yet. Have one rousing moth fight according to my prescription and you can hang out a flag of truce till frost comes."

Mix gasoline, gum camphor and turpentine together in the proportion of an ounce and a half of camphor and a quarter of a pint of turpentine to every quart of gasoline.

"Crush the camphor well before mixing and put the mixture into a tightly-corked jug or bottle for over night, to make well before using.

"Tomorrow bright and early take out all the clothes in your room and have them thoroughly brushed and beaten, burning the dust. Then put your mixture into a syringe and spray everything in sight. It will do no damage even to your woodwork or bedding if you happen to have any stored in there, so drench everything well.

"Shut up the room over night, putting a cloth along the cracks of the door just as if disinfecting. The next day open and air the room and sweep and dust again.

"If you think any of the things done up in boxes are affected, they should be taken out, brushed and packed with fresh lumps of camphor after the boxes have been washed inside and out with the gasoline compound.

"I have used this remedy for years, in one house where the moths had taken possession, I did each room in turn in mid-July and never had further trouble.

"Be sure to shut the room for twenty-four hours and never have a light in it until the odor has disappeared or a bad fire may result."

WHEN PAPERING ROOMS.

It is always a question as to how much paper is required to paper a room. The calculations can be more easily made if one bears in mind the following rules, recently published in Popular Mechanics: One single roll of common wall paper is eight yards long and eighteen inches wide. Ingrain, felt or cartridge paper is the same length, but thirty inches wide. A single roll of one-strip border is eight yards long and eighteen inches wide, and a single roll of two-strip border has the same dimensions, but obviously contains sixteen yards of border. Common wall paper is put up in double rolls, while the ingrain, felt or cartridge paper comes in triple rolls.

To determine how much material is needed for a room multiply the height by the length of the four sides and divide by thirty-six. This will give the number of single rolls required. Allow a yard and a half of border for each single roll of common paper.

If ingrain, felt or cartridge paper is to be used multiply the height of the room by the length of the four sides; divide the result by forty-nine. This will give the number of single rolls required. Deduct one single roll of common paper for every fifty square feet of opening.

To determine the amount required for the ceiling multiply the length of the ceiling by the width and divide by the same for the common paper. If the ingrain, felt or cartridge paper is to be used divide by forty-nine, and you will know how many single rolls will be required.

THE NOTIFICATION COMMITTEE.

How should a candidate behave
When patriots come with accents grave
To tell him publicly that he
Is now the party's nominee?

Should he endeavor to conceal
His lack of interest in their zeal
And say, with solemn upturned eyes,
"This is indeed a sweet surprise!"

Or should he cut the formal knot
And get to business on the spot,
Upsetting every well rehearsed
By saying, "Boys, I know it first!"
—Washington Star.

The Summer Coiffure.

The midsummer fashions in hairdressing shows a more marked departure from the pompadour than was apparent during the winter, says Harper's Bazar, though there is still a suspicion of it in the easily arranged style of the hair over the head; but the tendency is now to flatten the hair over the forehead and widen it at the sides and to give a full chignon effect at the back. Ribbon bands are run through the soft front hair for all dress occasions, and in consequence a small ribbon needle for drawing it through the hair is now considered a necessity of a complete outfit.

Right at Least.

The Drill Sergeant (after worrying Nesbitt for two hours)—Right about face.

Nesbitt (perfectly immovable)—Thank goodness I'm right about something at last.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Constitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1908.

REALTY RAKERS.

Following a suggestion of The Daily Press, the board of governors of the New Jersey and New York Real Estate Exchange has declared war on suburban realty boom sharks. At its meeting yesterday this body heard the complaint of a reputable real estate man of Westfield who told of alleged land fakers in that section and decided to wage a vigorous campaign against all fraudulent agents.

The law and legislation committee of the board invites the public to submit any grievances they may have against any real estate corporation that has effected lot sales in New Jersey by means of false representations, and asks that they be addressed to 26 Church street, New York city. Such complaints will be investigated and the guilty concerns will be exposed, and, where the facts warrant it, legally prosecuted at the expense of the exchange.

New York real estate concerns which advertise bargain offers in alleged Plainfield realty, which in reality is located in and about the village of South Plainfield, three miles distant from here and in another county, should take this as a warning to cease their deceitful practise.

Judge Foster, of Monmouth county, has given proof that he is fully abreast to the spirit of the times inasmuch as the punishment he administered to an excise offender at Freehold demonstrates that he is convinced that the time has come when mere fines will not serve the ends of justice in such cases. Five months in the county jail was the sentence he imposed upon a saloonkeeper who kept his place open after hours. His action entitles him to be accorded the same honorable mention as was given by the State papers to Judge Boorasem, a few days ago, when he sent a Dunellenite to jail for a violation of the Bishops' law. A little of this "medicine" in our own county might be effectual in bettering the flagrant condition of affairs in Elizabeth.

Is it not high time that the Councilmanic public affairs committee insists that the P. S. C. carry out the promise it made to give Plainfield the benefit of new rolling stock on all local trolley lines? Last fall when this corporation wanted to double track one of its lines here, the request was granted, the city receiving as a part consideration the assurance that up-to-date cars would replace the dingy ones then in use before January 1 last. The same old cars are still being operated, and now it is semi-officially announced that some dilapidated vehicles are being made over for use here. If this is the way the P. S. C. proposes to fulfill its agreements, the city should govern itself accordingly.

According to the report of State Commissioner of Banking David O. Watkins, just issued, there are 119 financial institutions in New Jersey holding deposits aggregating $238,-936,432. It is significant that Elizabeth, which has a population of approximately 70,000, reports a total of about $8,000,000 deposits, while Plainfield, whose population is but 20,000, is credited with deposits amounting to $6,000,000. Relatively speaking, Elizabeth is "a dead one" in Union county when compared with Plainfield in banking statistics.

As reported in this issue, Mayor George M. McClellan has appointed a committee of distinguished New Yorkers to co-operate in the Cleveland memorial movement started in his native State. Plainfield ranks second only to Newark in the size of its contribution to date, and this notwithstanding that the latter has a population sixteen times greater. The Daily Press acknowledges $334.-20, and fully expects that before the list is closed $500 will have been raised here.

Newark papers are boasting of the fact that the health board in that city has placed tuberculosis on the list of communicable diseases to be reported by physicians. Such has been the practise in Plainfield for several years, but then we have grown accustomed to holding the lead in progressive movements and advanced ideas.

It is a matter of sincere regret that William S. Tyler is not now a member of the Common Council.

West Ends Blank Hopewell.

The West Ends, of Somerville, scored another shutout on Saturday, when they defeated Hopewell by a score of 1 to 0 in one of the prettiest contests ever pulled off at Somerville this season. The only rally was made on an error by Wilcox in the ninth inning. Hopewell had a chance to tie the score, but a fast double-play nipped their ambition. "Smiling Jimmie" Montross pitched for Somerville, and he allowed but three hits. He displayed his old-time form and will probably continue as a fixture with Manager Conklin's colts.

AMUSEMENTS.

Among the all star contributors to the program that will be offered to the proctor patrons at Newark during the week, commencing August 10, doubtless none will be accorded a more cordial welcome than James Thornton, America's greatest and best monologuists. Violet Dale, the well-known mimetic comedienne, will appear in a picturesque musical comedy in one act entitled "A Mexican Tangle." Another pleasing feature will be a sketch entitled "Shorty," that will serve to introduce Richard Crolius and company. The three Cibelli Bros., seen here for the first time, are the possessors of unusually fine voices. "The Marshall," turn, Lightning Hopper is an artist of considerable ability and gets much merriment out the apparent animation of his pictures. New animated pictures.

Henrietta Crosman in her great success, "Mistress Nell," under the direction of Henry B. Harris in conjunction with Maurice Campbell, will inaugurate her season at the Academy of Music in New York on Thursday night, August 13. The revival of "Mistress Nell" by Miss Crosman comes at a most opportune time, and her friends and admirers are very anxious to see her once more in this swashbuckling part. As everybody knows who has followed theatricals at all, Miss Crosman came into New York several years ago with "Mistress Nell" and scored the greatest success that has ever been recorded on Broadway. Henrietta Crosman and "Mistress Nell" were unknown before the opening night, but in twenty-four hours they were both famous the country over and the play and star enjoyed a run of nearly two years in the different Broadway theatres. With Miss Crosman's appearance as "Mistress Nell" at the Academy of Music she will have played the part more than 1,000 times. It is probable that "Mistress Nell" has made more money than any other play that has been shown in this section of the country during the new productions of the year. Miss Crosman will be at the Academy for two weeks and a half, opening in "Mistress Nell" to be followed by Miss Crosman as Rosalind in "As You Like It," a part that has also become identified with her because of a long run at the Baleseo theatre. There will be matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

With a typical American drummer as the central figure, James Forbes' comedy, "The Traveling Salesman," opens the Henry B. Harris season at the Liberty theatre on August 10. The new piece is built about the life and doings of one Bob Blake, a traveling salesman, and Mr. Forbes has shown, it is said, in the new comedy the same keen insight into human nature that was evinced by his former play, "The Chorus Lady," the characters being drawn with the same vividness and power which characterized all the roles in the former big success.

Bubbling over with fun and laughter, with the stage crowded to the utmost with pretty girls who dance and sing with an enthusiasm possibly exhilarating, "The Girl Question" opened at Wallack's Monday, August 3, for an indefinite run under the management of the Askin-Singer Co. "The Girl Question" is a musical play with an absorbing story of human heart interest developed in its two acts, and with such humorous types of characters and situations that an audience is kept in an almost continual stream of laughter. It is written by Adams, Hough and Howard, authors of "The Time, The Place and The Girl," and is along the same slangy, funny lines of every day life as that wonderful success. "The Girl Question" has been staged by George Marion universally acknowledged to be a past master of stage direction and who produced "The Prince of Pilsen," "Mlle. Modiste," "The Soubrette," "The Stubborn Cinderella," "The College Widow," and dozens of other record breaking hits and Mr. Marion's name is an assurance that the play will be full of dramatic climaxes, beautiful stage pictures of color and ensemble as well as pretty, graceful dances replete with action.

East Millstone Defeats Bound Brook.

East Millstone defeated its old rivals, Bound Brook, at the latter place Saturday afternoon, by a score of 4 to 1. The contest was witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season, the East Millstone contingent being accompanied by more than two hundred friends. Bound Brook hired a league pitcher from Brooklyn for the game, but his work was not equal to that of Skillman, of Princeton University, who held the opponents safe throughout.

Somebody Being Hit.

Mr. Styles—You never took your eyes off that Meeks woman during the whole sermon!

Mrs. Styles—I know it. I knew the preacher was hitting at somebody and I wanted to see how she took it.—Yonkers Statesman.

HABERLE CYCLE CHAMPION

Plainfield Cycle Club Rider Wins Union Co. Title at Westfield Races.

WON THE MILE ROAD RACE.

Local Wheelmen Carry Off Bulk of Prizes in Ten-Mile Road Race —Haberle's Fast Time.

Sherman Haberle, of the Plainfield Cycle Club, is champion mile bicycle racer of Union county. He won his title at Westfield, Saturday, when he finished first in the one-mile road race at the meet held there under the auspices of the National Cycling Association. Haberle's time for the road mile was two minutes and eleven seconds, and he has been invited by the association officials to take part in the Vailsburg races. Haberle won his heat in the mile event in 2:02, which is considered excellent road going. He later rode in the ten-mile race, starting from scratch, and got fourth time prize, finishing in 27 minutes and 40 seconds. As winner of the championship, he received a gold title medal. Wally Smith, of Union, finished second, and Henry Surman, of Elizabeth, third. They received silver and bronze medals respectively.

Particularly good time was made in the heats for the mile race, the winners in each of the three heats covering the course in 2:02. R. L. Guttridge a local club rider, won the second heat, and Henry Surman, of Elizabeth, finished first in the third.

Haberle, one of the four scratch riders in the race, had a chance to win the race on the seventh mile, when the leading bunch sprinted past him as he fell back after setting the pace for a long stretch. He finished twentieth, his actual time being 27:40.

There were sixteen prizes in the ten-mile handicap. The first prize was a Pierce racing bicycle; second, a pair of Fisk racing tires and third, a 44-calibre revolver. The other prizes were merchandise. The time prizes were as follows: First, Crawford bicycle; second, set of Fisk racing tires; third, Morgan's domino saddle, and fourth, pair Standard Motor Cycle pedals and Sager toe clips.

The handicap race results follow:

	Hcp.	Actual Time.
1 George Lazze, Union	5	28.07
2 C. Vanderveere, Cranford	5	28.49
3 George Simon, Plainfield	5	30.13
4 Eddie Randolph, Rahway	3	28.14
5 R. Mann, Plainfield	3	28.25
6 Roy Condon, Rahway	3	28.29
7 Harry Embleton, Westfield	4	29.50
8 John Tobin, Westfield	4	30.11
9 I. D. Hoffman, Plainfield	5	31.47
10 William Campbell, Plainfield	4	30.49
11 J. C. Crowell, Plainfield	3	29.59
12 George B. Adams, Plainfield	3	27.52
13 R. Guttridge, Scotch Plains	2	30.07
14 Harry Hook, Plainfield	2	29.08
15 Joseph Todd, Plainfield	3	28.17
16 Louis Surman, Elizabeth	1	28.07
17 Henry Surman, Elizabeth	scratch	27.08
18 F. Bataille, Union	scratch	27.08
19 Walter Smith, Union	scratch	27.38
20 S. C. Haberle, Plainfield	scratch	27.40
21 M. Hinton, Plainfield	4	32.42
22 Paul Coleman, Plainfield	3	31.44

Time Prize Winners.

1. H. Surman, Elizabeth, scratch, 27.08
2. Eugene Battalie, Union, scratch, 27.37
3. Walley Smith, Union, scratch, 27.38
4. S. C. Haberle, Plainfield, scratch, 27.40

The official time races were: Referee, D. M. Adee, president N. C. A.; honorary referee, A. L. Alpers, Mayor Westfield; judges, Paul Thomas, C. R. C. A.; A. J. Wilson, Westfield; R. F. Kelsey, N. C. A.; J. D. Gullet, New York city; C. Morrison; Edgewood Park; starter, Edward Floyd, Westfield; clerk of course, Val Valiant, N. C. A.; timers, Dr. A. C. Griffin, C. R. C. A.; C. H. Dash, Westfield; scorers, Arthur Tuttle, William Locke, Frank Hubert, G. O. Tobin, J. H. Bell, all of Westfield.

The races were followed by a band concert in the public square on Broad street. Between the musical numbers several of the officers of the National Cycling Association delivered addresses. The races and concert were enjoyed by large crowds including a large delegation from this city.

The Use of Old Stockings.

It is said that old stocking legs make useful petticoats for children, but it would undoubtedly take much careful seaming to keep the unfortunate from resembling an animated patchwork quilt. But if the pieces were carefully sewed together, and if the stockings were originally white wool, a really useful and well-fitting winter skirt might be made.

G.O.P. HAD A BIG TIME

Union County Republicans Enjoy Their Annual Outing at Wittel's Grove.

CABLE FROM SEN. ACKERMAN.

Plainfielders Defeat Elizabethans at Baseball—Politics Eschewed For the Time—Largest Excursion Yet.

The annual outing of Union County Republicans to Witzel's Grove on Long Island, Saturday, was one of the most successful in the history of the "G. O. P." the ideal weather conditions combined with perfect details, made the outing one of great enjoyment for all. It was 10:40 o'clock in the morning, when the "Sea Gull" carrying 315, one more than last year, of the faithful ones, left Elizabethport for Witzel's Grove. After a delightful sail up the Sound the Grove was reached at 1:30, and the party at once adjourned to the large restaurant there where a fine dinner was served.

Immediately afterward Andrew McCardell read a cablegram, which he had received from State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, who is abroad. He expressed the wish that all would have a good time and that the party would meet with success a. the election in November. The reading of the cablegram was followed by hearty cheers. Every member of the Union county party wore a handsome badge, bearing an excellent likeness of Senator Ackerman.

The afternoon was spent in playing all kinds of games, including baseball, between Plainfield and Elizabeth. The former won the contest by a score of 13 to 0, although the result is still disputed by the county seat contingent. Andrew McCardell announced the score as official, and there was no further argument. Photographer E. F. Stone took several good pictures of the excursionists pictures.

The return trip was begun at 4:45, earlier than usual, because the party was anxious to reach Elizabethport in time to join in the reception to Major W. B. Martin, of the American Rifle Team, who returned that afternoon from England. When the "Sea Gull" reached the Port, Major Martin was there to greet the Republicans and the hearty welcome extended the second only to that given by the county seat residents at the banquet later in the evening.

The outing was notable in that politics were the least talked-of subjects. Everyone felt like giving up the entire day to pleasure and so far as known no slates were made or broken during the trip. The Plainfielders, who did not remain in Elizabeth for the Major Martin celebration, reached home about 8:20 o'clock.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY IN REAL ESTATE FIELD

Despite the past week there has been unusual activity in the local real estate market for this time of the year, and it indicates that the coming fall will be a busy one in the building line. The Central Park Realty Company, represented by Ernest T. Sharpe and Charles Hall, have sold the two-room dwelling on Prospect avenue, near Kensington, to Franklin L. Groff, president of the Mersereau Metal Bed Company, of Jersey City, the consideration being $10,000.

E. C. Biddle, contractor, of Brooklyn, has decided on plans for the erection of twelve new dwellings to cost from $7,000 to $8,000 each. Five will be erected on Prospect avenue, one on Evergreen avenue, four on Madine avenue and two on Thornton avenue. These are in addition to three new houses being constructed by Mr. Biddle on Prospect avenue, and which are nearing completion.

The L. W. Johnson Construction Company, of New York, has plans perfected for the erection of two reinforced concrete dwellings of the monolithic style, at Hillside and Evergreen avenues. They will cost $8,000 each.

Through the agency of Elston M. French, a new dwelling on Evergreen avenue, near Kensington, has been leased to Silas P. Wood, of New York, and one on Martine avenue has been leased to W. J. McCune, of the 5th Elevator Company, while the house on Martine avenue, has been leased to J. G. Sautor, a well-known artist. Armstrong Mulford, the real estate broker, has leased a house on Evergreen avenue, near Kensington, to C. L. Wilson, a New York importer. Possession of all these houses will be taken within a short time.

Neglected.

Mrs. Stiles—I do wish you'd try to keep yourself neater.

Mr. Stiles—But, my dear, you're not so carful—

Mrs. Stiles—I'm not? I'm certainly more careful of my clothes than you.

Mr. Stiles—Exactly. Whereas you should be more careful of me.—The Catholic Standard and Times.

"PRINCE" LOWERS RECORD

Charles Brower's Trotter Covers Exhibition Mile in 2:14 on Local Track.

FIVE HUNDRED SEE THE RACES.

Fair Acres Riding and Driving Club's Card On Saturday Comprised Five Events.

More than five hundred people attended the matinee races held at the driving park, Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club, and the card was one of the best offered this season by the club. It was the first time that an admission fee was charged this kind of a race meet and the proceeds were used to purchase prizes, including blankets, whips, sets of harness, etc., offered in the various races.

The feature of the afternoon enjoyed by the horsemen and interested spectators, was the fine exhibition by Charles Brower's Prince, which hovered by two seconds his own track record for a mile, which was 2:16. He covered the mile in 2:14 in one of the best races ever seen on the track and he was handled in fine style by Mr. Brower.

The card comprised five races, including a half-mile running race, and the entries were evenly matched in class. The judges were Nathan Robbins, Nelson Giles, Dr. Butler and William Lovett and William Hudson and C. E. Bellows were the starters. The summaries:

Free for All.

Aron B., A. C. Blair	1	1	1
Zip, Wm. Hurda	2	2	2
Joe McGregor, C. Torgerson	3	3	3

Time—2:24½; 2:24; 2:27.

2:30 Class.

Helen Nelson, J. Osborn	1	1	1
Sidney Leland, C. Brower	2	2	3
Benj. Butler, H. Uhrhahn	3	3	2

Time—2:32, 2:33½, 2:35½.

2:28 Class.

New Haven, Harry vanseE	1	1	2
Prince, Chas. Brower	2	2	1
Maud C., R. Edwards	3	3	3

Time—2:26¼; 2:26¾, 2:39.

2:35 Class.

Oracle, C. Brower	1	1	1
Gladys D., Alfred DeNise	2	2	3
Lady Sidnut, C. S. Smith	3	3	2
Asia, Phil. Jenner	4	dr.

Time—2:31½; 2:32¾, 2:34.

Running Race—Half Mile.

Ingraham	2	1	1
Bowery Lass, C. McCarty	3	2	2
The Conscript, Marcus Hoyt	2	2	dr.
Basquab, Harry Evans	4	dr

Time—54½ seconds, 52, 54.

HENRY J. COCHRAN IS LOCAL TENNIS CHAMPION

Henry J. Cochran, of the Plainfield Country Club, is singles champion of the city and borough in tennis, winning his right to the title by defeating Albert D. Beers, also of the Country Club, at the Country Club courts Saturday afternoon in the final round of the All-Plainfield tennis tournament begun last week. The scores were 6-3, 9-7 and 7-5. As winner of the title, held last year by W. B. Cragin, Jr., Cochran will receive the silver trophy cup offered by T. M. Day in accordance with an annual custom. Beers, as runner-up in the tourney, will receive a cup presented by the club.

In Cochran defeated Beers, who was All-Plainfield champion in 1906 and who two weeks ago won the tennis championship of the Sunday School Athletic League, in straight sets, but the scores in the last two ran to deuce games. The players were about evenly matched in the first two sets, but Cochran played the steadier game and finally won out. A good-sized gallery watched the match.

In the semi-final round, the two scorching Park Hill players were forced out of the tournament. Beers trimmed Will Barlow, Jr., in straight sets, by scores of 6-3 and 6-0, showing excellent form. Cochran took his match in this round from Monroe H. Long, the other Park Club player, by scores of 6-3 and 6-4.

PLAINFIELDERS ATTEND ROYCEFIELD HOME DAYS.

A party of local residents who were born at Roycefield, Somerset county, held a reunion at the town Saturday afternoon, when about a hundred persons from all over the State revisited the scenes of their *birth and held a most successful re*union. Those who went from here were Mr. and Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dolliver, Reuben and Mrs. Charles M. Dolliver, Mrs. M. Dunham and Miss M. Van Nuys.

Those who came to the town reunion registered their names and old Roycefield addresses in a large book and spent the day at the old schoolhouse, or walking about, visiting the scenes of their birth. In the afternoon, all gathered at the schoolhouse, where many of the old hymns were sung and addresses were made by G. Q. Dolliver, Rev. P. Beekman, Rev. LaFevre, J. Garretson and Judge L. Schenck.

"BIG GUNS" GOING ON DEMOCRATIC OUTING

Congressman Ollie James, of Kentucky, is coming August 20 to deliver a message to the State of New *Jersey from his personal friend, Wil*liam Jennings Bryan. He is going to deliver it through the Democrats of Union county, on board the good ship Sirius, on the occasion of the twelfth annual party outing a week from next Thursday. The Kentucky representative was temporary chairman of the Democratic National convention at Denver, and is an intimate friend of the Presidential nominee chosen on that occasion.

At the outing, which is to be "the greatest ever," will also be present ex-Senator James Smith, Jr., who was an ardent anti-Bryanite before the convention, but has so far reformed that he is spoken of for a place on Norman E. Mack's executive committee to help run the campaign. It wouldn't be at all surprising if the ex-Senator, whom some will persist in denoting as the boss of the Jersey Democracy, and Congressman James take advantage of the opportunity to talk over some things of vital interest to Democrats at large regarding the conduct of the campaign in the East.

Former Senator James Smith, Jr., of Newark, and Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., of Trenton, who ran for Governor on the Kinkaid ticket, are going to be present, and Robert S. Hudspeth, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, besides State Senator George S. Silzer, of Middlesex, Mayor Jacob Haussling, of Newark, and, of course, James E. Martine, of this city.

All arrangements for the outing are nearing completion. As usual the big iron steamboat Sirius has been chartered. The boat will be in charge of Captain Tom Wheeler, the oldest pilot in the service of the Iron Steamboat Company, and will put out of the Crescent shipyard dock at Elizabethport at 9 a. m. for Witzel's Point View Grove.

Music is going to be a special feature, Prof. James J. James' Band, of twenty-five pieces having been secured and a special program arranged.

MRS. HUDSON INJURED IN LIVELY RUNAWAY

Falling from her husband's rig as the team of horses were running wildly up Watchung avenue toward the mountain, Mrs. William Hudson, of Fairview avenue, driving with a party of out-of-town friends, sustained injuries Saturday afternoon which will keep her confined to her home for several days. The team, which first took fright at an automobile on Fairview avenue, got beyond the control of Charles Doty, the driver, and galloped madly up Watchung avenue and through Codington avenue, where they were finally caught by George Hummer near the corner of Somerset street.

In the carriage, which is a low, two-seated Heely phaeton with a high driver's seat in front, were Mrs. Hudson, her cousin, Miss Alice Patterson, of Boston, and Judge W. H. Wardell and his wife, of Rahway. The horses, a lively pair of black colts, were wearing a bran-new harness and were hitched too close to the rig. When they started to bolt, their heels struck, alarming them the more. Doty swung them into Watchung avenue, where they broke into a gallop, and finally, seeing that the animals had got beyond control of the man, climbed over the seat to help pull them in. As he did so, they swerved toward the curb near Mountain avenue, and threatened to crash into a telegraph pole. The Judge shouted warning to Doty and Mrs. Hudson, fearing him about, stood up in the rig to see what the danger was. The horses swerved and she was thrown to the ground, cutting her forehead severely and sustaining painful injuries of the hip, shoulder and arms. The other members of the party stayed in the carriage and were whisked away down the road. Mrs. Hudson was assisted to a near-by house from which her fall was seen, and Dr. J. H. Bechtel, Plainfield, notified. An examination showed that no bones were broken, and she was later removed to her home, where she is still under the physician's care.

Mr. Wardell and the driver swung the horses into Codington avenue and George Hummer, stopped them coming, rushed out and seized one by the bridle, this bringing them to a stop. Although the women of the party were hysterical, none were injured. The horses' heels were badly cut and their rear shoes were kicked off. The carriage was unhurt.

Seven Cent Festival at Trinity.

Under the auspices of Class No. 30, of Trinity reformed Sunday-school, a "seven cent festival" is to be held in the Sunday-school room of the church Monday evening, August 18. Horace L. Martin, Sr., is teacher of the class and ice cream and peaches will be served. You are asked to come and see what seven cents will do. The proceeds will be added to the fund being raised for the painting of the church.

BIG OVATION FOR MARTIN

Great Demonstration in Elizabeth in Honor of Member of American Rifle Team.

STATE AND NATION JOIN IN.

Street Parade, Ceremonies at City Hall and a Banquet—City Welcomes Him.

Major William B. Martin, of Elizabeth, formerly captain of Co. K, member of the American rifle team, which won the world's championship at the Olympic meet at Bisley, England, returned home Saturday and received from his native city, perhaps, the greatest reception ever given a private citizen by any municipality in this State. Elizabeth turned out en masse to welcome him home, and 100 of its most prominent residents joined in a notable banquet that concluded a most successful celebration.

On a speedy Standard Oil tug at 2:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon the local committee that had been making arrangements for the affair the past week, headed by General Dennis E. Collins and Mayor Scott, sailed out to New York bay, where they were transferred aboard the revenue cutter, Mohawk, as guests of the National Rifle Association, which had prepared a reception for the Olympic champion shots. The New York of the American line, bearing many home-coming Olympic victors, got in about 3 o'clock and the rifle team was quickly spirited aboard the Mohawk and taken up the bay.

On board there was some speechmaking and entertaining. Then Major Martin was separated from his comrades by the Elizabeth contingent and taken to the Port on the tug.

The vessel got in about 8 o'clock. It was greeted by the roar of artillery of Battery B, and the cheers of many hundreds of persons who lined the shore. A parade in which four companies of militia and many local organizations, headed by the crack Second Regiment Band of sixty-five pieces took part, started from the foot of East Jersey street. Major Martin and members of the committee, besides Senator Edmund Wakelee, as Governor Fort's personal representative, and other State officers of the baronches. The streets along the route of march were jammed with people who cheered every notable as they when the hero of the occasion went by.

The parade made its way to the City Hall, in Elizabeth, where the main exercises took place. General Collins acting as master of ceremonies. Senator Ryan presented Major Martin with an engrossed set of resolutions adopted by Elizabeth Council congratulating him on his achievement and expressing the city's appreciation of the distinction he had won for it. Senator Wakelee conveyed the congratulations of Governor Chief Executive and the State at large and enthusiastic applause followed the reading of a brief message from President Roosevelt, through his secretary. The President expressed his regret at his inability to be present and added, "but I congratulate through you Major Martin on his noteworthy achievement." The tribute was thus given local, State and national significance.

Addresses were made also by Gen. Dickin, captain of the rifle team; Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan, commander of the Second Regiment; Colonel William Libbey, assistant inspector general of rifle practice, and James E. Martine, of Plainfield. An informal reception followed, everybody taking advantage of the opportunity to shake the hand of a world's champion. The celebration ended with a banquet at Russ'.

NEW STEAMER FOR THE "HOOK" ROUTE

It is reported that the Central Railroad of New Jersey will soon let the contract for a new steamboat to be added to the company's fleet on the "Sandy Hook" route, so called from its former terminus, although the boats now run to Atlantic Highlands. To keep pace with the increased traffic the new boat will be ordered at once, it is said, and put in commission next summer.

At present the vessels of the fleet comprise the Asbury Park, Monmouth and Sandy Hook. The Asbury Park, the largest of the fleet, was commissioned four years ago, and proved one of the speediest vessels in the harbor. All of the boats are of the twin screw style.

The new boat may be constructed on the turbine principle. It may be named the Seabright.

TUCKS ON LINEN.

Lingerie waists of handkerchief linen are most attractive when hemstitched tucks are made in groups of three, with bands of dainty insertion between.

The tucks help to keep the sheer blouse from tearing too easily and the hemstitching gives it a slightly openwork effect, at once beautiful and appropriate to the fine material.

CLINTON AVE.'S VICTORY

"Brit" Martin's Ponies Put Up Fine Exhibition, Defeating High Bridge.

SOME BRILLIANT PITCHING.

Local Aggregation Wins In the Tenth Inning the Result Being Four to Three—The Box Score.

The Clinton Avenues won a well-earned victory over their rivals, the High Bridge club, on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, when they defeated the Hunterdon county boys by a score of 4 to 3 in ten innings. While the home team played good ball it was not up to the usual standard and several times throughout the contest it looked as though they were doomed to defeat. Two errors by Brit. Martin, one by Jack Martin and another by Moffett, all made at critical stages, were almost enough to lose the game, but fortune smiled on Plainfield and a victory resulted.

Honors were about even between Randolph and Kraft, the latter having a shade the best of the argument in pitching. He fanned twelve men, while Randolph got nine strikeouts to his credit. Clinton Avenue scored three runs in the first inning, and it was well that they did, for they certainly did need them later, when their opponents tied the score in the seventh inning. Kraft completely nonplussed his opponents for eight innings, having wonderful control of the ball and working a drop with a constant change of pace that made his opponents fan the breeze helplessly. One after another would walk up to the plate and receive their medicine with disgust.

In the eighth inning Plainfield through a combination of hits and errors filled the bases, but then Kraft shut the gates, put on steam and retired the side without a tally. The crowd felt sure that the locals had lost their last chance to win, but in the tenth fortune against smiled, and by a streak of the greatest luck the one necessary tally was made with only one out.

In the tenth Barnes led off with a *Texas leaguer to left field, Brit Mar*tin followed with a clean hit to the same territory, and Emery put the ball in Walton's hands, forcing Barnes out at third. With Martin on second and Emery on first, and only one out, Jack Martin came along with a scorching drive along third base line to left field, bringing his brother home with the winning run. Walton made a frantic effort to stop Martin's drive, but failed to reach it. It was then all over but the shouting and the Plainfield contingent went wild with excitement in cheering the home team.

*The contest was marked by a num*ber of brilliant plays and not a few miserable errors. Brit. Martin let an easy grounder go through him, much to his disgust, but he made up for this later when he caught a scorching line drive, which would have been good for two bases at least. Another time in taking a throw of Boelzley to catch a man running from first to second, he caught the ball, but the base-runner struck him full force, knocked him off his feet and made him drop it.

High Bridge hit Randolph pretty hard throughout the contest, but luck was with the locals. The one run scored in the sixth and the two in the seventh were presented to the visitors and were not deserved. Rightfully, Plainfield should have won the game by a score of 3 to 0 in nine innings. However, the team was glad of a victory, which practically put to rest the winning defeat at High Bridge a week ago.

High Bridge was accompanied by a large crowd of loyal rooters and throughout the contest they made things lively with their cheering. It was keen satisfaction to the Plainfielders to see the Hunterdon county boys go down to defeat and the visitors although hard losers, took the result as gracefully as possible. While in a few instances the work of Umpire Moynihan seemed to be a little off, his decisions generally were fair and impartial.

The work of Boelzley behind the rubber for Clinton Avenue is deserving of special mention. His throwing to bases and the clever way in which he caught Randolph was largely responsible for the victory.

The score:

Clinton Avenue.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Barnes, 1b	0	1	8	1	0
B. Martin, 2b	2	2	4	3	2
Emery, 3b	1	2	2	0	0
J. Martin, ss	1	2	2	0	0
Boelzley, c	0	0	9	2	0
Moffett, cf	0	0	2	0	1
O'Loughlin, rf	0	0	0	1	0
Schott, lf	0	0	1	0	0
Randolph, p	0	0	1	1	0
D. Scott, rf	0	0	0	0	0
Snyder, lf	0	0	0	0	0
	4	7	29	11	4

High Bridge.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Scully, lf	0	0	2	0	0
Walton, 3b	0	1	4	4	2
Thorpey, c	0	1	13	1	0
Swick, ss	1	1	2	1	2
Morgan, 1b	0	1	6	0	0
Ramsey, cf	0	0	0	0	0
Greenfield, rf	1	3	0	0	0
Apgar, 2b	1	1	1	1	0
Kraft, p	0	0	0	3	0
	3	8	28*	7	5

*One man out when winning run was scored.

:Thorpey out—running out of line. Clinton Ave...2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—4
Clinton Ave...2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—4

Two base hits—Walton. First base on balls—Off Randolph, 3; off Kraft, 1. Struck out—By Randolph, 7; by Kraft, 12. Left on bases—Clinton Avenue, 6; High Bridge, 5. Double plays—Barnes to J. Martin. Stolen bases—Barnes, B. Martin (2), Emery, Apgar. Sacrifice hits—Walton. First base on errors—Clinton Avenue, 4; High Bridge, 3. Hit by pitcher—Scully. Time of game, 2 hours. Umpire, Moynihan.

DUNELLEN TROUNCES NEW MARKET, 9 TO 3

The Dunellen F. C. team nine made a good start in the five game series with New Market begun at Dunellen Saturday afternoon by winning from the village nine by a score of 9-3. Miller, who slabbed it for Dunellen, would have shut on the New Market aggregation had it not been for the fact that the Dunellenites made three of their five errors in the fifth and allowed Claude Penrose, Giles and Fulton to score. Aside from this bad support, he had the village batters at his mercy, fanning seven and giving but two passes.

The Dunellenites did some first-class stick work, solving Wunderlich's delivery for fifteen hits, including two two-baggers by Garretson, and one each by Dodwell, Gardner and Miller. Fulton's three-bagger was the longest hit of the game, but the New Market players only got three other hits. The score:

Dunellen.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Lake, lf	1	0	1	0	1
Fagely, ss	0	0	3	1	1
Gardner, 1b	2	3	9	2	0
Miller, p	2	2	0	1	0
Abbott, 2b	2	3	4	1	1
Garretson, cf	1	3	1	0	0
Humley, rf	0	3	1	0	0
Van Zandt, 3b	0	0	1	2	1
Dodwell, c	0	1	7	1	0
	9	15	27	8	4

New Market.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Danz, rf	0	2	0	0	0
Elliott, lf	0	1	4	0	0
Weigman, 2b	0	0	4	1	0
Nelson, cf	0	1	1	0	0
J. Penrose, 1b	1	0	10	0	0
Wunderlich, p	0	0	0	1	0
C. Penrose, ss	1	0	1	6	4
Giles, c	1	0	4	1	0
Fulton, 3b	1	1	1	3	1
	3	5	24	13	6

New Market.....0 0 0 1 0 2 0 0 0—3
Dunellen .....0 1 0 2 1 0 0 4 x—9

Three base hits—Fulton. Two base hits—Garretson 2, Dodwell, Gardner, Miller. Double plays—Fagely-Abbott, Garner-Abbott, J. Penrose-Weigman. First base on balls—Off Wunderlich, 3; off Miller, 2. Struck out—By Wunderlich, 4; by Miller, 7. Umpires, Waglow and Churchill.

HIGHLAND A. C., FOUR AND CLIMAX A. C., ONE

The Highland A. C. and the Climax A. C. played a five inning game on Hope Common, Saturday afternoon, after the Monroe A. C. and Junior contest, the Highlands winning by a score of 4 to 1. Higgins, of the winning team, made two sensational catches of hard line drives in the outfield and Kyle nailed a hard fly and threw a base-runner out at home plate from the field. Winters, catching for the Highlands, was invincible on throwing to bases, while Coon and Mullen pulled off several fine plays. The score:

Climax.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
J. Terry, ss	0	0	0	1	0
L. Tappen, cf	0	0	1	0	0
C. Steele, 1b	0	0	5	1	0
M. Terry, lf	0	0	1	0	0
F. Storer, c	0	1	0	4	0
A. Heath, 2b	0	0	0	1	0
E. Terry, p	0	1	0	3	0
P. Emmons, 3b	0	0	1	2	1
F. Terry, rf	0	0	0	0	0
	1	1	12	7	2

H. A. C.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Hurst, 1b	1	1	4	1	0
Mullen, ss	0	0	1	1	0
Higgins, cf	1	1	0	0	0
Curtis, lf	0	0	0	1	0
Mann, 2b	1	1	1	1	1
Winters, c	0	0	4	1	0
Kyle, rf	1	1	1	1	0
Coon, 3b	0	0	2	1	0
Conshay, p	0	0	2	2	0
	4	4	15	8	1

Climax .....0 1 0 0 0—1
H. A. C. .....3 0 0 1 x—4

First base on balls—Conshay, 4; Terry, 1. Struck out—Conshay, 2; Terry, 2. Left on base—H. A. C., 4; Climax, 5. First base on errors—H. A. C., 2; Climax, 4. Hit by pitcher—Conshay, 2; Terry, 1. Wild pitch—Terry. Umpires—Walters and Stewart. Scorer—J. Mottley.

A Tip for a Taxi.

"I say, what's the usual tax for a tipsy cab?"—Punch.

PLAINFIELD A. C., 15; AND CRESCENT A. C., 3

The Plainfield A. C. defeated the Crescent F. C. on the Clinton avenue grounds, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 15 to 3. The winning club batted heavily, making fifteen hits, including four two-baggers. Slocum pitched his usual good game, his elusive slants fooling the opposing batters. A feature was the fine playing of McFadden at first base and the batting of Coriell. The score:

Plainfield A. C.

	R.	H.	E.
E. Fallon, as	3	2	1
Montross, cf	0	0	0
C. Fallon, lf	2	2	0
Preston, 2b	2	1	0
Mullen, 2b	2	1	0
Latham, 3b	2	1	0
Pope, 1b	3	3	1
Slocum, p	1	2	0
E. Luthman, rf	1	2	0
	15	15	2

Crescent F. C.

	R.	H.	E.
Gunning, c	0	1	0
Allen, 2b	0	0	1
Janeway, lf	0	0	0
Pasch, p	0	0	0
Carney, cf	0	0	1
Memmer, rf	1	0	1
Kreger, ss	0	0	1
McFadden, 1b	1	2	0
Coriell, 3b	1	2	0
	3	5	4

Crescent F. C....0 2 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—3
Plainfield A. C..0 0 0 0 5 1 1 0 8—15

Two base hits—C. Fallon, Preston, Pope, Slocum, Coriell. Struck out—By Slocum, 18; by Pasch, 11. Bases on balls—Off Slocum, 1; off Pasch, 2. Umpire, George Perry.

WESTFIELDERS DEFEAT SCOTCH PLAINS NINE, 1-0

Scotch Plains' team met its third defeat of the season Saturday afternoon, when the Westfield club won out by a score of 1 to 0. The contest was considered by far the best of the season and should have been won by the home team. Baseball luck gave the visitors a run on the only error made by the Plains. The pitching of Long, who was in the box for the home team, was gilt-edge, but two scattering hits by Doolin being made off his delivery. Ortlieb twirled a fine game for Westfield, and the excellent support by his team pulled him out of several dangerous holes. The home team gathered five hits off his delivery and a two bagger.

In the ninth inning there were men on bases when Allen made a two-bagger, but poor base running lost the 'Plains a fine chance to score the necessary tally. Ortlieb fanned seven men and Long six. Westfield obtained its one run in the fifth inning. Carlstrom drew a pass, went to second on a foul tip which the umpire called a strike and allowed the man to hold the bag. Ortlieb then went out at first on a hit to third base, Carlstron taking third. Glackner hit an easy one to Claire, who allowed it to go through him for the outfield, Carlstron scoring the winning run. The contest was one of the quickest played this season, lasting one hour and fifteen minutes.

The lineup and score by innings:

Westfield—Washburn: 3b; Doolin, 2b; Gelger, c; Miller, 1b; Carlstron, ss; Ortlieb, p; Glackner, rf; Brown, cf; Moore, lf. Scotch Plains—Flannery, 3b; Baldwin, ss; Albert, c; Fuchs, rf; Allen, 1b; Claire, 2b; Reick, lf; Eller, cf; Long, p.

Westfield .....0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—1
Scotch Plains .....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0

FUNERAL SERVICES OF WILLIAM J. KIELY.

The funeral service of the late William J. Kiely, who was killed at Asbury Park on Thursday, while returning home with Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus excursion, was held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the late home in the borough and at 3 o'clock from St. Joseph's church. The attendance was very large, it being impossible for all the friends to gain admission to the church. Mr. Kiely was well-known throughout the city and borough and he had many friends who mourned his sudden death. There was a beautiful display of floral tributes, including several set pieces sent by relatives and friends.

The services were in charge of Rev. W. H. Miller, pastor of the church. The pall-bearers were Garret Powers, John P. Powers, Joseph Burke, James Burke, William Tyson and Charles Egan. The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery. Those who were unable to attend the services at the church witnessed the last rites at the cemetery.

Great Demand for Office Help.

*Regardless of the apparent de*pression in business, there is still a scarcity of typewriters and stenographers in New York city at the present time and there are constant calls for such help, some temporary and some permanent positions. Miss Anna Gildea, of the Plainfield Burleson College, has taken a position with Charles Scribner's Sons, of Fifth avenue, Brooklyn Life.

Y. M. C. A. WINS LAST GAME

Local Team Finishes League Schedule by Defeating Trenton, 9 to 1.

WILL FINISH IN FIRST PLACE.

Best Newark Can Do Will Be to Tie the Local Association Ballplayers—Saturday's Game.

The Y. M. C. A. nine clinched first place in the State league Saturday afternoon by defeating the Trenton association team at Trenton by a score of 9-1. It was the last league game of the season for the local nine, and the record of eight wins and two defeats makes it impossible for Newark, the team next in line for pennant honors, to beat out the local boys. If Newark plays 1,000 per cent. ball for the rest of the league schedule, the Plainfielders will be tied with them for first place and a post-season series will be necessary to decide the title. No other league games were played Saturday, and the standing to date is as follows:

	W.	L.	P.C.
Plainfield	8	2	.800
Newark	6	2	.750
Orange	3	3	.500
Trenton	3	4	.429
Summit	1	5	.286

The Plainfielders nailed down the game in the first inning, when four hits scored three earned runs. R. Schoonmaker, Craig, Peacock and Loizeaux crossed the plate in this session, when Penrose proved easy. In the next inning it was the same story, for three hits brought in two earned runs, Schoonmaker, Craig and Peacock scoring again. After this, however, Penrose tightened up, and the locals could cop no more runs until the eighth. Singles by Peacock and Conway started this inning, and Loizeaux cracked out a two-bagger when he came to bat, scoring both of them.

Trenton's lone run came in the seventh. Fossett drew a pass, and stole second and third. Schermerhorn, who is a nephew of Charles Schermerhorn, the veteran telegraph operator of this city, clipped a sport single, and Fossett scored. The local nine played fast ball through the entire game, and four times robbed the Trenton players of hits by long running catches. In the second Loizeaux slapped down a hot one and traveling past first after a quick dive and passed it to Jacot, retiring Penrose. "Dave" Pond ran up on a short fly behind Craig in the third and retired Schermerhorn on what everybody thought was a safe hit. In the fourth, Scott made a long run for Welling's deep fly and Truesdale robbed Bradley of a hit by a similar play in the ninth. The Plainfielders were particularly clever on the bases and Craig and Jacot shared the batting honors by each getting three hits. The details:

Plainfield.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Truesdale, cf	0	1	1	0	0
R. Schoonmaker, c	2	1	12	0	0
Craig, ss	2	3	1	2	0
Peacock, p	2	2	0	2	0
Jacot, 1b	1	3	9	0	0
Conway, 2b	1	1	1	3	0
Pond, lf	0	1	1	0	0
Loizeaux, 2b	0	2	1	1	0
Scott, rf	0	0	1	0	0
Miller, rf	0	0	0	0	0
	9	14	27	8	0

Trenton.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Trugo, cf	0	0	2	0	0
Stewart, lf	0	0	1	0	0
Welling, 3b	0	2	2	1	0
Bradley, 1b	0	1	8	0	1
Penrose, p	0	0	1	2	0
Fossett, 2b	1	0	2	2	0
Harman, c	0	0	9	0	0
Schermerhorn, rf	0	1	0	0	0
Slack, ss	0	0	0	2	0
	1	4	27	7	1

Plainfield .....4 2 0 0 0 2 0 1 0—9
Trenton .....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1

Struck out—By Peacock, 11; by Penrose, 9. Bases on balls—Peacock, 3. Two base hit—Loizeaux. Stolen bases—Plainfield, 11; Trenton, 8. Umpire, Mr. Murphey and Mr. Hoffman.

SOMERSET'S DEMOCRATS ENDORSE BRYAN AND KERN

The Somerset County Democratic Committee met at Lake's hotel in Somerville on Saturday afternoon. On motion of Walter Linaberger of North Plainfield a set of resolutions drawn by him endorsing and eulogizing Bryan and Kern were unanimously passed.

The chairman was authorized to appoint a committee on speakers and another as a steering committee, which will bring to the voters' attention the provisions of the primary law and will map out the campaign generally.

A Profitable Trip.

"How did Harry enjoy his trip abroad?"

"Very much; he looks happy, and has gained 115 pounds."

"One hundred and fifteen pounds?"

"Yes, and she's an heiress."—Brooklyn Life.

JUNIORS DEFEATED BY MONROE A. C., 7 TO 4

Al. Squires pitched fine ball for the Monroe A. C. against the Juniors on Hope Common, Saturday afternoon, defeating the latter by a score of 7 to 4. He was given great support throughout. His clever selection of Perry's delivery were too much for the Juniors to overcome. The features of the game were three clean singles by Apgar and three fine catches by Weber, both of the Monroes, and the fine work of Lorton, of the Juniors, who has been made captain of his team in the reorganization, succeeding Walters. The score:

Monroe A. C.

	R.	H.	E.
H. Byard, 1b	0	1	0
G. Weber, rf	2	0	0
Kirkman, ss	1	2	1
C. David, 2b	1	1	0
A. Squires, p	2	2	0
T. Apgar, 3b	1	3	1
H. Lude, cf	0	1	0
A. Squires, p	0	1	0
M. Squires, lf	0	1	0
	7	11	2

Juniors.

	R.	H.	E.
H. Hand	0	0	0
Vanderbilt, 1b	0	1	1
Hansen, 2b	0	0	0
N. Hand, ss	1	0	0
Garthwright, rf	1	0	0
Woodruff, cf	1	0	1
A. Perrie, p	1	2	0
Parsh, 3b	0	0	0
V. Lorton, c	0	1	1
	4	4	3

Monroe A. C. ....2 0 0 0 0 2 2 1 0—7
Juniors .....0 3 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—4

Two base hits—Kirkman, Byard, Fritts, Lorton. Bases on balls—Off Squires, 3; off Perrie, 3. Struck out—By Squires, 7; by Perrie, 7. Hit by pitched bayy by Perrie—Weber. Umpire—Mr. Walters.

PLAY FOR THREE CUPS AT PARK GOLF CLUB

Notwithstanding that a great many members are away from town there was a good sized field out at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, to take part in the weekly competition for the President's and Golf Club trophies, as well as the challenge cups. It was an ideal day for golfing and the course was never in better condition, materially benefitted by the recent rains.

In the play for the challenge trophies, Charles B. Morse, challenger, beat Walter C. McNaughton, holder, for the Hydewood cup, by 3 up, and W. R. Faber, challenger, beat Miss Lydie Loizeaux, holder, by 2 up for trophy number three.

Charles B. Morse and E. E. Gano returned the best score, an 84, for the President's cup, while W. V. Gano's gross score was the lowest for the scratch cup. These scores were posted for the two cups:

Charles B. Morse, 98, 14-84; E. E. Gano, 90, 6-84; Dr. A. W. Anderson, 96, 11-85; W. V. Gano, 86, 0-86; J. B. Betts, 111, 23-88; W. R. Faber, 99, 9-90; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 99, 6-93; R. V. Carpenter, 113, 19-94; Walter C. McNaughton, 100, 6-94; W. E. Lough, 114, 19-95; Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux, 110, 13-97; W. V. Byard, 105, 7-98; A. W. Kenworthy, 105, 6-99.

There was only one event at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, and that was a two-ball foursome. The absence of so many members on their vacation was noticeable, but few players competed. The event was won by Mrs. A. W. Opp and Henry D. Hibbard with a score of 94, 17-77, while Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Stockton were second with a score of 100, 19-81. Following this play, as well as during the afternoon the social features at the clubhouse were greatly enjoyed and the weekly dinner-dance in the evening attracted many members and friends. After September 1 there will be more activity on the links and a number of fine competitions have been arranged for the fall months.

Another "Merry Widow."

The clever girl who knows how to guide her pencil along the canvas, producing duplicates of all the pretty girl pictures, will appreciate her work if she has among her collection the "Merry Widow" cushion. There are many printed ones, showing the "Merry Widow" in lovers' lane, beside, but such silly cushions are not pretty, though the artistic little window alone, in her original dress, is very pretty as a figure on a cushion top. The dress is of black dotted with silver, and the large black hat is covered with large red roses and red strings tied beneath the chubby chin. Red stockings and black slippers are pretty, too. This work can be outlined entirely with wash colors in silk or drawn with colored ink, black *and red. A cushion of this kind re*cently made had a three-inch border made entirely of one-inch blocks of black, edged with a delicate red line.

No Family Pride.

Sir Pompey—I say, Blaggs, you've got a fine lot of ancestors.

Mr. Blaggs—Bless yer 'eart, Sir Pompey, they ain't mine—they're the children's.—Ally Sloper.

THROWN FROM HORSE, WOMAN IS BADLY HURT

Mrs. Albin Trojan, of 511 East Front street, was thrown from a saddle horse and badly hurt while riding on West Front street, Saturday night, sustaining bruises about the back, arms and lower part of the body, beside receiving a severe cut over the forehead. The injured woman was assisted to a nearby house and later removed to her home, where she will be confined for several days.

Mrs. Trojan has been taking lessons in horseback riding and on Saturday night was accompanied by her instructor, Hugh Gormley, proprietor of the Riding Academy in North Plainfield. She was mounted on a spirited horse and the appearance of Docksteader's minstrel band frightened the animal so that she went up in the air on his hind feet, and Mrs. *Trojan was thrown with considera*ble force landing on the ground on her back. Mr. Gormley was close by and he immediately left his horse to assist the woman. The frightened horse started to run away, but was caught by a bystander.

The accident happened at the corner of Front and Grove streets, and Mrs. Trojan was carried to a house nearby where she received temporary treatment. Her injuries are not as serious as at first supposed.

DAUGHTERS OF AMERICA CELEBRATE 4TH BIRTHDAY

Following the routine business, the members of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, celebrated their fourth anniversary in Odd Fellows' Hall, Saturday night. There were congratulatory addresses by State Vice Councilor Phillip Handschuch, of Elizabeth; State Associate Vice Councilor Mrs. Grace VanCleaf, of West Hoboken; State Secretary Mrs. Amelie S. VanSciver and State Outside Sentinel Mrs. Mary Nutter, of Newark, and delegates from Star of Elizabeth Council, No. 37, of Elizabeth; Golden Rod Council, of New Brunswick; Liberty Council, of Perth Amboy.

After the speechmaking all adjourned to the banquet hall, where cake and ice cream were served by the food and welfare committee. Martha Washington Council is in a flourishing condition financially and otherwise. The council is now paying $4 a week sick benefits and $500 death benefits.

NETHERWOOD CAMPERS AT MONROE A. E. CHURCH.

In the interests of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, a special service was held Sunday night at the Monroe Avenue church, when a delegation of twenty-five New York children now at the camp, drove to the church in the large stage and took part in the service, rendering a program of recitations and gospel hymns. A large congregation greeted the camp children and much enthusiasm was shown in the work. A substantial offering was received. Miss Curry's work at the camp and in New York.

Dr. S. A. Sauerbrey, of New York, who is particularly interested in the work Miss Curry is doing among the New York poor, was the speaker of the evening, and his remarks were explanatory of the work done at the Netherwood camp during the months of July and August, and of the work at the "Little Missionary's Day Nursery" in New York city, of which Miss Curry is manager. Benjamin Hadley, secretary of the Camp Association, had an interesting talk about the summer's work and cards containing a condensed financial report were distributed.

Mansfield Smith was the leader of the meeting, and there was special music by the chorus choir of the church. Mrs. James Gilbert and Herbert R. Byard sang solos. Miss Sara Curry, manager of the camp, gave a short address, and at the conclusion of the meeting held an informal reception in the church. Many took the opportunity of meeting her and talking about the work in Netherwood and New York city.

MAGAZINE READERS

SUNSET MAGAZINE — Beautifully illustrated; prints the best and most live about California and all the Far West. $1.50 a year

CAMERA CRAFT — devoted each month to the artistic reproduction of the best work of amateur and professional photographers. $1.00 a year

BOOK OF A THOUSAND WONDERS — in book of 75 pages, containing 120 colored photographic picturesque spots in California and Oregon. $0.75

Total . . . $3.25

All for . . . $1.50

Address all orders to

SUNSET MAGAZINE

Flood Building, San Francisco

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace Work
Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing, Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. LITTELL

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

DIME

Savings Institution,

of Plainfield, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. F. Arnold, } Vice-Pres'ts
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Cope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us, to go to travel, appointing agents, collect, local work looking after our interests. $900 salary guaranteed yearly; extra commissions and expenses paid. Permanent position established. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure independence. Experience unnecessary. Horse and rig furnished free. New, brilliant lines. Write for particulars.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn

FOR AGENTS—AN OPPORTUNITY!

"THE OLD WORLD AND ITS WAYS"

BY

William Jennings Bryan.

NOW READY FOR SOLICITORS.

576 Imperial Octavo Pages. Over 200 Superb Engravings from photographs taken by Mr. Bryan.

Recounting his trip around the world and his visits to all nations. The greatest book of travel ever written. The people are waiting for it. The agent's harvest. Outfit FREE—Send fifty cents to cover mailing and handling.

THE THOMPSON PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo. T 24 2 c

W. ...

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

New Jersey Supreme Court

Notice is hereby given that a writ of attachment in the case of Peter Bain, Surrogate of Passaic County against the rights and credits, moneys and effects, goods and chattels, lands and tenements of Annie A. Heichert, at the suit of Rockefeller, for the sum of $1,000 for Right Thomas and Dollars, returnable June 2, 1908, has been served and duly executed, and was returned May 30, 1908, by the Sheriff of Union County.

TENNANT & HAIGHT,
Attorneys of Plaintiff,
8 6 5 15 Exchange Place, Jersey City, N. J.

DIED.

MORRIS—Suddenly, at Trenton, N. J., Tuesday, August 4, William Morris, brother of Mrs. John D. Forster, of No. 1 Forster place, in his 67th year.

STITES—In North Plainfield, N. J., August 6, 1908, Isaac S. Stites, in his 71st year.

KIELY—Suddenly, at Asbury Park, N. J., William J. Kiely, in his 24th year.

McELROY—In North Plainfield, N. J., August 9, 1908, Mrs. Hannah McElroy, in her 76th year.

WILLS—In this city, Aug 8, 1908, Emma Louisa, beloved wife of Frederick H. Wills, aged 61 years.

GOODWIN—On Sunday, August 9, 1908, Martha A., widow of Geo. Goodwin, aged 77 years.

OBJECTS TO THE BASS SINGER.

Vitriolic Writer Advises Us to See Any Good in Him.

But with the bass singer it is different. Here we have a normal man, entirely sound in mind, who yet bellows like a bull of Bashan. He stands up, he clears his throat, he throws back his head and his Adam's apple begins to tremble. At once there issues from his glottis a long, sinuous snake of sound. It goes down, down, down—a mad jumble of hoots, whoops and howls—leaving civilization and the diatonic scale behind it and entering the undiscovered country of the ultra-violet tones. Beside it the ultimate grunt of a bullfiddle seems like the shrill scream of a piccolo, and the mother blast of a B flat ophicleide like an oboe's jumping-off note. It shakes the building and clouds the heavens. It makes strong men quake with fear and brings sorrow to the home. And all the while the basso profundo is a sane man, who knows what he is doing. For him we urge the knout. Let him be dragged to the courthouse square and flogged. Let him taste the bastinado.—Baltimore Sun.

HOTTEST SPOT ON THE EARTH.

Musendam Peninsula Said to Hold That Unenviable Record.

The hottest place on earth is said to be the Musendam peninsula, at the entrance to the Persian gulf from the Ormuz Islands. The scenery of the Elphinstone inlet to the peninsula is grand, but desolate. The native can live in the place only from November to March. A cable station was once established on Telegraph island, but it had to be abandoned. Some of the men died, others went mad and the rest fled. In Malcolm inlet there is no sign of life. The rocks in the foreground are entirely red, the sea the most brilliant and intense blue, the distant mountains purple. The people of the peninsula are of a primitive type, and probably represent an Arab strain mingled with a far earlier stock. They live in rude stone huts, and their principal food is fish.

Better Than Watching Race.

Here is an incident related by an American who visited the great Derby race in England: "I was standing near a booth where a man was selling pork pies, and close by I noticed a spare, cadaverous boy, who was plainly yearning for something to eat. I said to the boy, 'Would you like one of those pies?', 'Would I?' replied the boy. 'Give him a pie,' I said, putting down a half-crown. The boy grabbed the pie, and it quickly disappeared. 'Give him another,' I said, and it rapidly followed the other. 'You must have been hungry,' I said to the boy. 'Yes, it's the first I've had to eat since yesterday.' I gave the boy a sixpence, when I heard a man standing by say, 'Ain't a bricK!' meaning me. 'No, he ain't,' said the boy; 'he's a Yankee.' I accepted the compliment, and was grateful for the opportunity to give one boy a good meal. It really did me more solid good than watching the 'Derby.'"

Looking at the Bright Side.

A lady residing in a quiet village in Suffolk used to take an interest in a very aged couple who were spinning out the last thread of life in "Darby and Joan" fashion, seated on either side of the fireplace. She often paid them a visit to cheer them up. The old man had been ailing, and at last a day came when the visitor found only one chair occupied. Darby was not in his usual place.

"Where is your husband?"

"Well, mum, he be gone at last."

"O, I'm sorry. That is very sad for you," said the lady, seeking to find some words of consolation.

"Yes, mum, it be sad," replied the old woman, "but you see, he were fearfully in the way of the oven."—Stray Stories.

The Canny Wooer.

It was fair time in Selkirk, and Sandy and his sweetheart were wandering round arm in arm enjoying the sights. Presently they espied a smart-looking pie-shop, which they promptly entered. Sandy ordered one pie, sat down and commenced to eat it. Meanwhile the girl looked shyly on.

"Is't fine, Sandy?" she timidly asked.

"Ay, 'tis awful fine, Jennie!" he answered. "Ye should buy one!"—Penny Pictorial.

Too Mountainous.

"Yes," said Stangey, "I tramped through Switzerland once."

"Come off!" exclaimed Dowter. "You never did!"

"Sure I did; on the level."

"That proves you're lying. It's simply impossible to tramp through Switzerland on the level."—The Catholic Standard and Times.

Recognition.

"The men who devote their time to the country's service should be recognized," said the official.

"Well," answered Farmer Cornstalk, "some of 'em should and others 'nd be more respected if they could approach the pay roll in disguise."

Another Thrust.

Eva (reading novel)—She riveted her eyes.

Dick—You don't say?

Eva—And then she dropped them.

Dick—My! My! Just like a woman. She can never nail or rivet anything securely.—Chicago Daily News.

Sea Snakes Hard to Get.

Collecting sea snakes for the scientific institutions is a difficult process. If the collector is to obtain anything like a fair proportion of the 50 odd species he must cruise through Malayan seas in a small boat and be ever on the watch. The only way to obtain a series of the species is to shoot them. Sea snakes come regularly to the surface for air, but the collector is lucky if he gets one out of every ten snakes he sees.

In Any Case It Was the Cat.

Two Columbia students rooming together took some of their meals themselves and take turns in doing the marketing. One of them brought home two chops the other night, intending them for breakfast. Some time in the night a cat stole one of the chops. This brought about the first quarrel that had arisen between the young men. They could not decide the question "Whose chop did the cat eat?"

The Basis of Good Society.

"Society," like everything else which is collectively human, is just what its units allow it to be, and this is as true inside the church as anywhere else. The need of the day is no new one—it is for men and women whose example will make them lights and beacons in our politics, our churches, our educational establishments, our "society," and in all our human relations.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Larry's Dig.

Two riveters were working on the big skyscraper. "Do yez think thor'll be a war?" said Larry. "Oi don't know," replied Denny, as he lit his pipe, "but if thor is Oi'll be at th' front." "That's what yez will be, me bye. At th' front window watching th' throops pass by." And then Larry dodged a rivet.

She Knew.

"Miss Sharpe—Flora," he stammered, "you must know why I've been calling here so much; why I sit here in the parlor with you night after night—" "I suppose, Mr. Kloseman," the girl interrupted, "it's cheaper to do that than take me out anywhere."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Playgrounds.

It's a good scheme to use the school yards as public playgrounds. They are convenient for all sections, and the plan will be indorsed by the people. A few portable devices, an awning with a few benches and a sand pile or two will fill the requirements.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Sure to Get Some.

"Anything on deposit?" asked the girl's father, brusquely. "Not exactly in my own name," replied the rising young attorney, "but I've just been appointed receiver of a bank." After this the essential "Bless you, my children," was a foregone certainty.

Just a Beginner.

Robbie—"Your Uncle George seems awful young to be a doctor." Elsie—"Yes, but he ain't a real growed-up doctor yet. I guess he's only tendin' to children first, so's to get some practice."—Philadelphia Press.

A By-Product.

A small boy, whose parents believed in the old proverb, "Spare the rod and spoil the child," ran into the house one day exclaiming: "Oh, grandpa, come out here quick! Our switch tree has a peach on it!"—Harper's.

Public Parks in German Cities.

Three German cities—Frankfort, Rostock and Cologne—have public parks covering about half their area. Berlin, on the other hand, has less than six per cent. of its area taken up by parks.

Only Two Kinds.

There are, after all, only two kinds of people in the world—those who are trying to keep their names out of the newspapers and those who are trying to get theirs in.

No Home Complete Without It.

The Thibetan Bible contains 108,000 pages. This leaves plenty of room for mother to hide her money.—Chicago Journal.

Discovered.

Puppy Dog (looking into goldfish globe)—Ha! ha! So you're some of them people what lives in glass houses.—Yale Record.

Daily Thought.

Men cannot live isolated, we are all bound together. No higher man can separate himself from any lowest.—Carlysle.

Belgium Mines Well Looked After.

The death rate among the miners is less in Belgium than in any other country.

Character Shown in Face.

An amiable face is trustworthy. If eyes are shifting and you have discovered insincerity—then beware.

Safe Rule for Guidance.

What one has one ought to use; and whatever he does he should do with all his might.—Cicero.

And Some More on Other Things.

New York spends $2,000,000 a year on grand opera; and more than that on ragtime and fool songs and plays.

Heart Disease Kills Doctors.

In Austria no fewer than 44 out of every 100 doctors die of heart disease.

EYE-STRAIN

is directly responsible for the major ity of cases of blindness today. If instead of trying to overwork the eyes, one would at once get glasses at the first warning of eye-strain there would be fewer cases of blindness at the present time.

Come to us and have your eyes examined free of charge and we will advise you what to do to save them.

Headache and neuralgia quickly relieved.

STILES & CO.,
Philadelphia Eye Specialist.
At 105 East Front Street.
Every Thursday
Hours. 11:15 to 4:30.

Vail
JEWELER AND OPTICIAN
103 Park Ave.,
calls your attention to his
Rimless Glasses.
They Look Good and
You See Good

BARTHOLOMAY
ROCHESTER
Rienzi Beer
IN BOTTLES ONLY
BOTTLED AND DISTRIBUTED BY
HENRY HAURAND,
766-68 SOMERSET STREET,
'Phone No. 2209 Plainfield, N. J.

INOTICE.
If you are dissatisfied with your paper service call on or call up
THE HUSTLER.
William H. Olmstead, 321 Watchung Avenue, near Fourth St. Successor to D.H. Blaney & Son
668-J Either 'Phone 668-J

NOTICE!
North Plainfield, N. J., July 21, 1908. David D. Smalley has been re-elected Justice of the Peace for five years and reappointed Commissioner of Deeds. Anyone having any business to transact in my line will find me at No. 32 Manning avenue ready to deal out justice to all who may apply.
DAVID D. SMALLEY,
Justice of the Peace.
7 21 1m

Blue Stone Sidewalks.
If you want the best Blue Stone sidewalks, curbs, etc., call on
J. W. Manhattan,
50 Elm St.

EDUCATIONAL.

The Hartridge School
West Seventh Street, cor. Arlington Ave.
A Private School carefully graded throughout.
Special teachers of French, German, Music, Art and Calisthenics.
All Departments of the Day School in one large building.
Kindergarten Department
In charge of two teachers.
Elementary Department
For girls through the 7th grade and for boys through the 4th grade.
Boys' Department
For boys above 4th grade.
Academic Department
Five grades—General Course and College Preparatory.
Music Department
In charge of Mr. Manfred Malkin.
Gymnasium
In-door play-room and bowling alley for rainy days.
Number of pupils in each grade limited.
EMELYN B. HARTRIDGE, Principal.
107 West Seventh Street.

Plainfield Business College and School of English.
Fall Term Opens September 1st.
Day and Night Sessions.
PROF. A. S. HERR, Prin. & Prop.
Woodhull & Martin Building.
Telephone 795-w.

The Plainfield Seminary
123 W. Seventh Street
will re-open
Thursday, Sept. 17, 1908
MISS ARNOLD, Principal.
8 19 1m

CHAS. M. SUHR
TEACHER OF PIANO.
614 E. 6th Street, Tel. 741-W

SMALLEY BROS.
147 North Ave
BUTCHERS
Our Specialty, Berkshire Pork
Try Our Berkshire Sausage Made on Premises.
Roasting and Broiling Chickens Specialty
Orders called for and delivered
Telephone 88-A

The Southern Restaurant,
232 West Second Street, corner Madison Avenue, now under new management. Meals served at all hours a la carte and table d'hote. Our own make bread and pastrys all home cooking. The choice of everything is bought for the tables Our price is reasonable. The place is now under the management of the well known New York caterer. T. H. Royster, Manager. Tel. 922-J.

J. C. POPE & CO.,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
110 E. Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing, Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for Sewer Connections.
125 Watchung Av. Rear.

L. Moraller & Son,
Watchmakers and Jewelers.
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
Fine Watch and Clock Repairing a Specialty.
219 Park Ave. Plainfield, N. J

JOHN WINZENREID.
Furniture and Freight Express.
Moving Vans and Storage.
212 Leg Place. 'Phone 646-R.

PLAINFIELD WINDOW CLEANING CO.
Renovating—Offices, stores and private residences. Service day or night. Furniture, china and glassware packed for shipping.
WM. A. KLINE, 611 W. 3d St.

Geo. H. Stagaard,
SHOEMAKER
108—CHURCH STREET—110
Repair work called for and delivered
'PHONE 1062-W.

TITUS H. LAURY
MASON AND BUILDER.
Office, 323 East Front Street.
Tile Setting, Mantel and Front Work.
Telephone 464-L.

TURKISH BATHS!
TAKE ONE
Ladies Mornings, Gentlemen Afternoons
Take Trolley to Sanitarium,
Somerset Street.

Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing.
Monthly Contracts.
Pressing called for and delivered.
EVENING DRESSES A SPECIALTY.
Ladies' Coats Cleaned, 75 cents upwards
Gents' Suits Cleaned $1.
We do our own work at
M. A. Brown's, 218 West Second St.

William H. Pope,
ELECTRICIAN.
All kinds of electrical work done at reasonable prices.
116 NORTH AVENUE.

Wm. H. Kirch,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
66 Duer Street.
Tel. 402 J.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

ALEX. LUSARDI,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits, Choice Confectionery, Nuts, Cigars, etc.
211 W. Front St. Tel. 507-W.

Meat Market.
Choice Meats, Poultry, Fish and Oysters always on hand. Sugar cured Corned Beef International Hams and Bacon.
F. Neidig, 94 Somerset St.
Telephone 721

E. B. Maynard's
Tonsorial Parlors. Electrical Massage for face and hair. Cutting a specialty. Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.
Rear 116 E. FRONT ST.
111 NORTH AVENUE.

JOHN WIRTH
(Successor to Henry Liebs.)
Bakery and Confectionery.
201-203 West Front St. Tel. No. 723.
All orders delivered at short notice.

HOAGLAND'S
Express—Baggage Transfer.
Office 205 Park Ave.
Tel. 813-W. Home Tel. 604-L.

REAL ESTATE
Bought, Sold and For Rent
J. SACHAR,
121 SECOND FLOOR, STERLING.

Difference In Coal.
All coals may look alike to some people but compare our "Lehigh" Coal with the Coal you bought somewhere else and you will see a difference.
You will notice that our Coal Burns Brighter, Gives More Heat, and Lasts Longer than any other Coal you ever bought before.
Boice, Runyon & Co.,
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials.
Park Ave. opp. North Ave.
Plainfield N. J

JOS. HARRIGAN
OLD COMPANY'S LEHIGH COAL
929 South Avenue
Telephone 193.
The best time to order your winter supply of
COAL
is now Do not forget that
NASH
is ready to supply you.
Telephones 237-W 833-J.
Evenings 371-W.
OFFICE—130 WATCHUNG AVENUE

TenEyck & Harris,
Dealers' Inn.
LEHIGH VALLEY COAL.
Office: Rowley's Drug Store, 218 West Front Street. Telephone 23-L.

Coal I have on hand some very fine Hard and Medium Coal. All kept undercover. Coal.
25 cents a ton reduction on cash orders
L. A. RHEAUME,
148 East Fourth St. Telephone 440-W
Yard 674 South Second St. Telephone 238

GORGE O. STEVENS
747 West Front St.

R. L. CLINE
(Successor to C. H. Rugg & Co.)
Best Quality Lehigh Coal
Yard and office 430 West Third St. Tel. 85

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.
We call your attention to our fine display of
New Wall Papers.
We can't describe the patterns, but they are new, striking and effective, and with our large assortment we are sure to please.
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
Woolston & Buckle,
145 North Avenue.

STRIKING COLORS
should not be sought in preference to those that have good lasting qualities, but when PAINTS
are to be had which are both brilliant and durable, take care to secure that kind.
We have all kinds and grades of Paints, Oils, Colors and Varnishes, suitable for all kinds of work at the lowest prices to be found in this city.
Jas. C. Hansen,
Dealer in Wallpapers, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, etc.
141 East Front Street
Estimates Furnished

1908 Wall Papers.
IMPORTED & AMERICAN GOODS.
C. CONOVER & CO.
Decorators, Painters and Paperhangers
Window and Plate Glass.
115 Elmwood Pl. Tel. 1145

W. S. CHEEVER
1326 Park Ave.
Painting
and INTERIOR DECORATING, WALL PAPER of every description at the Lowest Prices.
'Phone No. 538-J.

FURNITURE.
Repaired and upholstered. Equal to new. Send a postal to
HARRISON, 140 CENTRAL AVE.,
Cabinet maker, Polisher, Mattress Maker.

AZIENZA
cures pimples and all inflammation of the skin. Used by people of refinement. Medicinal and toilet—25 and 50 cents.
CREAM.

For Your Summer Vacation!
We have a full line of fresh summer articles which will please the most particular person. Everything is of the finest quality and prices that suit. Our prompt delivery to all parts of the city will please everyone.
C. M. Nagle's Pharmacy,
Front and Grove Sts. 'Phone 516.

Complete Line of
REXALL
Goods at
MILLER'S PHARMACY
Park Ave. & 7th St. Tel. 930.

Hodge's Pharmacy.
Y. M. C. A. Building.
BELLE MEAD SWEETS.
Tel. 62.

HOTELS.
HOTEL WALDORF
EAST FRONT STREET
HENRY WINDHAM, Prop.
Gottfried Kruger's Extra Beer on draught. Imported Wines, Liquors and Cigars. Hotel accommodations and private Dining-Rooms.

HOTEL KENSINGTON
Licensed
WM. J. POLLSON, Prop.
107-109-111 North Avenue.
Everything New and Up-to-date
An Inspection Solicited.

HOTEL IROQUOIS
Club breakfast from 7:30 to 10:30 a. m. Business Men's Lunch 11:30 to 2:30 p. m.
ROOMS
First floor, $1 single; $1.50 double.
Second floor, 75c single; $1 double.
Third floor, 50c single; 75c double.
A LA CARTE 6:30 UNTIL 1 A. M.
Special Sunday Dinner from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m. 50c

REAL ESTATE
RENTALS—REAL ESTATE
Geo. F. Brown,
INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE.
Commissioner of Deeds—Rents
24 Somerset St 'Phone 188

CHOICE PEACHES
This a great year for Peaches, and here are the Best Peaches of the season.
The Choicest Selection of Fruits, Melons and Vegetables, at reasonable prices.
W. W. DUNN,
THE PARK GROCER,
DUER STREET, AND LINCOLN PLACE.

STOP AT
Central R. R. News Stands
for PLAINFIELD PRESS, always on sale. Daily and Sunday papers delivered, all magazines, weekly papers, novelties, back numbers a specialty. R. R. guides, automobile road and state maps, Philadelphia papers. Fine brand of Cigars and tobacco. Open Sundays.
F. M. WAGNER, Manager.

We have on hand a large quantity of BIG TIMBER from 6x6 to 12x14 that we will offer for $20 per thousand; any length. All kinds of BEAMS from a 2x4 to 3x12 $20.
A. KANE
FILLMORE AVENUE.

McCULLOUGH'S
STEAM MILL,
31 Steiner place, North Plainfield, N. J.
R. H. McCULLOUGH, Prop.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing, Turning, etc.
Estimates cheerfully furnished.

HENRY WIERENGA
Residence 'Phone 517-J.
Furniture, Freight, Baggage Express and Liggar.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Try a box of
DOBBINS' CIGARS.
Clear Havana Nickle Tars or any kind that you desire. Manufactured at 126 North Avenue, opposite Kensington Hotel, Plainfield, N. J.

Kindling and Grate Wood.
Cedar Posts and Bean Poles. Prompt deliveries. Orders received at
99 SOMERSET STREET.
JOHN HOBUS,
P. O. Box 230.

Mountain House,
Mt. Bethel, N. J.
FRENCH RESTAURANT
Resort for Automobile and Driving Parties
A. E. BINZ, Prop.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR THE HOME COOK.

Not every housewife knows that a large bowl of fresh water placed in a room over night will absorb all the smell of tobacco from the evening's pipes and cigars, and prevent that stale smell in the morning which is so difficult to get rid of.

At the same time, all ends of cigars and tobacco ash should be cleared away before closing the room for the night. This simple precaution is quite worth while where a small flat is concerned, and where the dining-room is used in lieu of a smoking room.

Lemons which have become hard and shrunken from being kept too long may be softened by laying them to soak for a few hours in cold water. To keep the yolk of an egg from congealing it is a good plan to pour a little water over it before putting it away. When this is poured off before making use of the yolk the latter will be found perfectly soft and fresh.

The disagreeable odor of cooking greens" can always be avoided by placing a bag containing a lump of charcoal the size of a hen's egg in the saucepan with the boiling vegetables. This serves to absorb the gases, which otherwise escape and permeate the entire house. A few pieces of charcoal in the cooking pot are said to serve the same purpose.

If a grinding mill has been used in crushing spices it is seldom easy to get rid of the strong aroma which clings to the working parts. The apparatus should, however, be tried by passing a little rice through the grinder, the grains of which effectually clean the machinery.

A clean brick makes an excellent rest for teh hot iron on laundry days, as it holds the heat better than the perforated iron stands generally used for the purpose.

For really palatable milk toast, cut the bread into slices a quarter of an inch thick and toast to a delicate brown. The crust may be removed or not, as preferred.

Put the toast on a plate that can go in teh oven, and cover with a thick layer of butter. Pour over rich milk or cream and put in a hot oven until the liquid has thoroughly heated and soaked through the bread. If preferred, a sprinkling of salt can be added.

FOR THE WOULD-BE BUSINESS GIRL.

If you want to succeed you must dress the part. Don't be wasteful or extravagant in your dress, but keep yourself neat-looking and well groomed. Don't go about with a slipshod, hang-dog air, as though you and success were as far apart as he poles. If you look helpless and incompetent no one will trust you with most of any kind.

When you apply for a post, do so in a modest yet confident manner.

Business men are not looking for helpless, dependent femininity in their employes.

What they want is a well-behaved, capable business woman.

Dress as well as you can afford to, but don't make the mistake of wearing beads and laces and elbow sleeves while on duty.

Many an applicant has failed to win a position because she was untidy or overdressed.

When there is something important to be done your employer will say: "I will put it in the hands of Miss K. She looks trustworthy."

These first steps in the ladder of success are the most difficult ones to climb.

But nothing succeeds like success, you know, and when you have once made yourself known as a capable, successful worker half the battle is won.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Dainty Things for Baby.

An extraordinarily pretty baby's sacque to be worn on occasions is crocheted on the circular kimono style. Afterward narrow wash ribbon is run through the stitches radiating from the collar line. Ribbon bands keep the crocheted fabric from stretching out of shape, and the little bows that finish the ribbon at each end do their part toward decorating the diminutive garment.

One of the beauties of knitted and crocheted garments is that ribbon may be run through any of the stitches without injuring the fabric or pulling the individual parts out of shape.

The Oldest Student.

Miss Sarah Mordecai is 75 years old, but she believes that a woman is never too old to learn, and so matriculated at the Wesleyan University of Illinois, at Bloomington, lately, and will make a specialty of Greek during the summer term. She was the first female graduate of the university in 1869, and majored in Latin and Greek.

Considerate of Him.

"See here," said Mrs. Housekeeper, "you told me that work would only cost $13 and here you've sent in a bill for $14."

"Yes'm," replied the carpenter. "You see, when I came to think the thing over afterward I was afraid maybe you might be superstitious about that 13."—Philadelphia Press.

A Dream.

Dolly—Molly Wolcott told me a month ago that her new gown was going to be a dream.

Polly—Well, that is all it is, so far. Her husband won't give her the money for it.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

HARD TIMES EXPLANATION

Dr. Moldenke, Authority on Industrial Problems, Gives Reason for Conditions.

PROSPERITY IS FAR DISTANT.

Expert Gets Down to the Root of the Matter and Tells Causes of the Trouble.

Before a gathering of representative business men and contractors at the annual outing of the Master Builders' Association, Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Richard Moldenke, of Watchung, one of the commission recently appointed by President Roosevelt to investigate the natural resources of the country, asserted that the present business depression is more than twice as bad as the newspapers have reported and that a return to "good times" will not take place for at least a year.

"The coming election may bring about a betterment," he said, "but I do not look for a full restoration of business and trade affairs until twelve months or so after that. The public press has stated in the past few weeks that fully sixty per cent. of the mills and foundries in Pittsburg have resumed operations but it is not so. I have just returned from an extended western trip and know that only a few of the big plants have opened up on a respectable schedule. It will take a lot of time to improve conditions and when it does come I feel positive that there will be a better understanding between capital and labor."

Continuing his talk, Dr. Moldenke stated that one-half the present trouble has been caused by the United States Steel Corporation. He declared that when a natural slackness in the steel world became manifest, the policy should have been to lower the price of material so that the pig-iron industries could offer better rates and so keep up a normal demand.

"It has been the same way with other products," he continued, "and the shifting in the cost of brass goods is a good example. Ten copper was high and you went to purchase an article worth fifty cents, you would be charged that much plus a ratio relative to copper's rise. When copper dropped to a quotation about half what it was the previous week, you would still have to pay that fifty cents.

"This shifting in prices was always a matter that Andrew Carnegie studied and to give him full credit it must be said that he governed his rates accordingly. When trade was good and the demand heavy, his charges went up. When the demand fell off his cry was 'keep the mills busy,' and to do so he put the price of steel where cautious buyers would be induced to place their orders. It has been different with the steel corporation. You all have probably heard of the Judge Geary dinners in New York, called by the head of the big concern. The directors met at these affairs and it was while in session that they agreed to keep up prices. The result is apparent everywhere.

In another part of his talk, Dr. Moldenke laid stress on the importance of industrial education in this country. He intimated that the day must come when the fixed wage scales of workmen will have to undergo a change; in other words, the man who is worth $1.50 a day will get that much and not $4 because circumstances have fixed a certain rate. When a man has a thousand dollars to build a house, he said, and finds that because of recent increases in wages and the cost of material he will have to pay $1,500 for what he expected to get he will simply hold off. As a result, the contractor gets the wrong end of the deal first and then the employe through a lack of work.

Touching upon his recent investigations as a member of President Roosevelt's commission, Dr. Moldenke declared that the waste of the natural resources of the country is but little realized by the people in New Jersey. He stated that the timber supply will only last for thirty years because of the ruthless manner in which it is being cut and that if something is not done to husband the standing timber prices for lumber will soon be prohibitive. The use of cement, he said, is aiding in prolonging the supply. He also told how coal mining is carried on as though the anthracite beds would last forever and how thousands of tons of fuel is wasted.

"It is a common thing in Pennsylvania and West Virginia," he said, "for veins of coal five feet thick to be worked. Perhaps the bottom foot will contain an excess amount of sulphur. Because of the extra cost needed to put this ready for market, the top four feet will be removed and the ground allowed to cave in afterward, thus putting that extra foot out of reach for probably all time to come."

In closing, the speaker asked his hearers to do what little they could in preventing the waste of natural products as every little bit helped.

Dr. Moldenke is probably the best informed authority in the country on malleable iron and has devoted many years in the study of minerals and natural products.

MASTER BUILDERS HOLD A SUCCESSFUL OUTING

Combining relaxation with an opportune time for an exchange of ideas, the Master Builders' Association, of Plainfield and vicinity, conducted an all day outing and clam bake, Wednesday. The affair was held in Krausse's grove on Johnson's drive, and was attended by 100 members of the organization and their friends. The surroundings were ideal for such an occasion, although the spot was somewhat hard to reach, while the weather remained pleasant until the program was completed.

The association members and their guests assembled about noon and while Erwin Y. Neighbor, of Timbo's, and a corps of assistants were busy getting the bake in shape, an informal program of sports was carried out. A feature of this end of the outing was a tug-of-war between two teams made up of painters and plumbers. There were eight men on a side and while the opinion prevailed that the plumbers had the best of the three heats, the painters declare the result was a big victory for them. The teams were made up as follows: Painters, Howard Woolston, anchor; Clarence W. Mundy, Harry Moulton, Thomas Eganey, Harold Hansen, James Hansen, Alfred Luthman and Charles Rice; plumbers, George J. Tobin, anchor; J. J. Leahy, Nicholas Cody, Fred Masker, I. L. McVoy, Dan Hogan, William Mills and P. J. Neylon.

Another feature of the sports was a baseball game between teams representing the same crafts. Nine reputable bystanders assert on their solemn oaths that the painters won by a score of 5 to 4. The plumbers derived a lot of glory through a three base hit by John Leahy and superior fielding by Alex Milne. The two sides lined up as follows: Painters, Eganey, p; Mundy, c; Woolston, 1b; Townley, ss; Moulton, 3b; J. Hansen, 2b; Hansen, lf; Woulston, rf; Buckle, cf. Plumbers, Neylon, p; Keiderling, c; Milne, 1b; Laing, 2b; Leahy, ss; Cody, lf; Harper, rf; Wahl, 3b; Apgar, cf. Harry Moulton, Jr., was umpire.

The first part of the bake was served at 2 o'clock and Chef Neighbor did himself proud in getting everything just right. There was excellent chowder, choice' roast beef, potato salad, all manner of vegetables and a half a watermelon to every diner. After this had been disposed of there was a respite of a couple of hours and then another serving was announced. It comprised more delicious blueish, sweet corn and clams, topped off with clam broth. A corps of waiters insured prompt "deliveries" and nothing could have been improved upon.

During the intermissions, the members and guests enjoyed quoits, swings, checkers and running and jumping contests. There were also addresses by "Farmer Jake" James E. Martine, Dr. Richard Moldenke, the expert metalurgist, and Andrew Dixon, of Paterson, president of the State Master Bulireds' Association.

The affair was arranged and conducted by a committee composed of C. W. Krausse, Philip Jahn, Walter Apgar, David Dunavan, Charles Rice, I. B. Woolston and John Abbott. Besides donating the grove for the purpose, Mr. Krausse devoted the greater part of the day to looking after the welfare of everybody and is entitled to his share of credit for the success of the outing.

DEEDS AND CONTRACTS.

A Number of Interest to Plainfielders Filed at Elizabeth.

The following transfers of local real estate have been recorded at Elizabeth:

Paula Hodes et al. to Morris Lipkin, East Third street, 555 feet northeasterly of Washington street, Plainfield $1

Mutual Land Improvement Company to Mary Bradley, southwesterly side Leland avenue, corner Lorraine street, Plainfield $1

Same to same, southwesterly side Leland avenue, 100 feet southwesterly side Leland avenue, 100 feet southeasterly of Lorraine avenue, Plainfield $1

John J. K. Poillon et ux. to Charles R. Maltby, northerly side Putnam avenue, 100 feet westerly of Kensington avenue, Plainfield $1

Florence M. Abernethy to John Cathcart, corner Grant avenue and Eighth street, Plainfield $1

John Cathcart to Annie Cathcart, same as above $1

Vandelia B. Crawford et al. to Henry F. Bickel, Fifth street, corner David Jones, Plainfield $1

Mary Sullivan to Charles L. Allen, southwesterly side Lafayette place, 250 feet southeasterly of West Front street, Plainfield $1

Anthony C. Vail et ux. to Ettie H. Evans, Arlington avenue, 151 feet southeasterly of Union street, Plainfield $1

These contracts have also been filed:

Annetta C. Masker with Seaman Williams, maston work new building, Watchung avenue, Plainfield $273.22

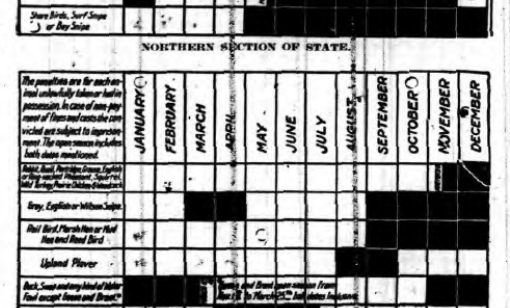
Same with Clarence L. Line, carpenter work $525

New Store.

F. M. Masker, of Watchung avenue, has commenced the erection of a store, 20x40 feet, at Watchung avenue and East Fifth street.

NEW JERSEY GAME LAWS CHARTS.

NORTHERN SECTION OF STATE.



SOUTHERN SECTION OF STATE.

P. P. A. INVITED TO HELP THE BOROUGH

Endorsing the work of the Plainfield Protective Association, "which keeps a pretty close watch on the affairs of the city and borough," Mayor Samuel Townsend urged at Friday night's meeting of the North Plainfield Council that the organization be invited to turn its attention more particularly to the borough than heretofore. The Councilmen unanimously voiced their approval of the Mayor's suggestion, authorizing Mr. Townsend to communicate with the officers, inviting them to have a representative at the various Council meetings.

"The P. P. A. has not been devoting much time to our borough affairs," said the Mayor, "and I should like to have its members understand that we "borough fathers" want suggestions and information in connection with the agitation of certain questions. I should welcome representatives of the organization as Mayor of North Plainfield, for I am glad to see the taxpayers take an interest in our work and we would welcome some of the criticism such as has been devoted to the city.

"I recently met the president of this organization, and urged him to devote some attention to borough doings.

I wish we might have representatives of the P. P. A. here at all of our meetings."

Upon motion of Councilman Smith, it was decided to extend this invitation to the organization through its secretary.

Stamp Your Edgings.

For stamping scalloped and festooned edgings at home small rolls of stamping material come in tubes ready to be applied to the cloth and pressed with a hot iron. There is enough in each tube to make ten yards of edging, and a variety of patterns is offered, ranging from the plain scallop, in several sizes, to very fancy ones. As scallops are being used for finishing the flounces on petticoats and white underwear, these would do well to take along a few boxes of these designs, for it is not always easy to get stamping done in small villages, and, then, the patterns carried in country shops are not always desirable.

Her Hated Rival.

"What was it you said about Miss Gidday?"

Mr. Goodley—I said her age surprised me greatly. She doesn't look 30, does she?

Miss Knox—No, not now. I suppose she did, though, at one time.—Pittsburg Press.

Jones—Is that cheese good?

Shopkeeper—Good! Why, it's unapproachable.—Philadelphia Inquirer

FIX BOROUGH FIRE LIMIT

Proposed Ordinance Quickly Passed to its Third Reading by North Plainfield Council.

EXTENDS PRESENT BOUNDARIES

Amendment to Ordinance of January 18, 1904, Fathered By E. P. T. Smith Will Go Into Effect Shortly.

An ordinance providing for the extension of the North Plainfield fire limits was proposed by Councilman E. P. T. Smith, chairman of the fire committee, at the meeting of the Borough Council, Friday, and was unanimously passed on its first and second readings. The ordinance comes as an amendment to the first section of the ordinance which took effect January 18, 1904.

Fixing the fire limits at more extended points in the northern part of the borough, this ordinance now makes the following fire limit for the borough:

"Beginning in the center line of West End avenue where the same intersects the middle of Green brook; thence with the said center line of West End avenue northwesterly and following the curves of the same to the borough line; thence along the borough line in a northeasterly direction to the intersection of said borough line with the center line of a private drive-way now established through the property of the Union County Investment Company, which drive-way leads to the residences of Francis de L. Hyde, et al.; thence in a general southerly direction along said drive-way and following the curve of the same to the intersection of said center line of said drive-way as now established with the center line of Mountain avenue; thence northeasterly along the center line of Mountain avenue to the intersection of the center line of Belmont avenue; thence southeasterly along the center line of Belmont avenue to the center line of Brook avenue; thence southwesterly along the center line of Brook avenue to the center line of Norwood avenue; thence with the same southeasterly to the middle of Green brook; thence down the middle of said brook to the center of West End avenue, the place of beginning."

The Kind She Preferred.

"I want to make a gift to Miss Passay," said Dumley. "I wonder what sort of animal she'd prefer for a pet."

"A man," promptly suggested Miss Knox.—Philadelphia Press.

A Scheme.

Tommy—Ma, may I play make-b'lieve that I'm entertaining another little boy?

Ma—Certainly, dear.

Tommy—All right; gimme some cake for him, then.—Philadelphia Press.

MADE-OVER CARS FOR LOCAL TROLLEY LINES

The Public Service Corporation is planning to put improved trolley cars on the city lines, which include Netherwood, Somerset and Fourth streets, and while the cars, it is said, are not to be new ones, as promised by the company, they will be a decided improvement over those now in use. The cars are now in one of the company's shops being practically rebuilt on modern lines, equipped with double trucks, and large wheels. They are about three windows longer than the cars in the service on the city lines and will have double motors.

One obstacle will have to be overcome and that is the height. The cars are higher than those in use and there is some doubt as to whether it will be possible to run them under the Watchung avenue bridge as they are now constructed. If they will not go under, thirty inch wheels will be substituted for the thirty-two inch with which all trollers are equipped. This change will not cause much trouble and there would then be no doubt as to running the cars under the bridge. It is claimed by the company that the Watchung avenue bridge is the lowest of all the new ones erected by the New Jersey Central in the city and for this reason some difficulty is experienced in planning to operate certain cars over the line.

JOHN NEAGLE SUPPLIES JULY WEATHER REPORT.

While July furnished the hottest weather experienced in the same month for the past seven years, it was also notable for other peculiarities, including a series of seven thunder storms, a hail storm, and the katydids made their appearance on the 27th. The mean temperature was 0.8 degrees above the normal, while the precipitation was 1.09 inches below the normal.

The official statistics furnished by Weather Prophet John Neagle were as follows:

Highest temperature, 100 degrees, date 12th; lowest temperature, 50 degrees, dates, 9th and 17th; mean temperature, 75.2; normal temperature, 74.5; mean maximum, 87.3; mean minimum, 63.3; number of times above 90 degrees, 19; greatest daily range, 37; total precipitation, 5.09 inches; normal precipitation, 6.09 inches; greatest amount in 24 hours, 1.19 inches, and of this amount 1.10 inches fell in ninety minutes on July 3; number of days of .01 or more of precipitation, 12; number of days clear, 12; partly cloudy, 16; cloudy, 3; dates of thunder storms, 3, 4, 12, 14, 22, 23, 24; date of hail, 12th, size of pea.

The Page—And did it please your majesty to trip me up?

Merry King—Ho! Ho! Yes. The queen says I must reform, so I just turned over another page.—Chicago News.

NEW YORK JOINS THE MEMORIAL MOVEMENT

Before starting for Winter Harbor, Me., to resume his vacation, Mayor McClellan, of New York city, Thursday announced the New York personnel of the Cleveland Memorial Committee, which will arrange for a big meeting in honor of Grover Cleveland to inaugurate steps in conjunction with the Cleveland Memorial Association of New Jersey for the erection of a permanent memorial of some kind to the late ex-President. The committee is as follows:

Francis Lynde Stetson, chairman; Lyman Abbott, E. C. Benedict, Joseph D. Bryant, Nicholas Murray Butler, John Carwalader, John G. Carlisle, Andrew Carnegie, Joseph H. Choate, William F. Cogsley, Charles S. Fairchild, John H. Finley, Richard Watson Gilder, George Harvey, W. M. Laffan, John G. Milburn, Frank D. Millet, Paul Morton, Patrick F. McGowan, Seth Low, Vivian McKelway, Herman A. Metz, De Lancey Nicoll, Adolph S. Ochs, Morgan J. O'Brien, Peter B. Olney, Alton B. Parker, Francis Key Pendleton, Whitelaw Reid, Herman Ridder, Isidor Straus, Edward M. Shepard, William F. Sloane and Egerton K. Winthrop, Jr.

Former United States Senator John F. Dryden is chairman of the New Jersey State committee and among his associates are Governor J. Franklin Fort, and former United States Senator James Smith, Jr. The Plainfield members of the committee are Alexander Gilbert, Edwin S. Hooley, William L. Saunders, Charles W. McCutchen, Samuel Townsend, Ernest R. Ackerman, W. G. Buttfield, Joseph P. Mellick and A. L. Force.

The Daily Press acknowledges contributions amounting to $334.20.

N. Y. SUN CHASTISES CONGRESSMAN FOWLER

The New York Sun scathingly rebukes Congressman Charles N. Fowler, who is seeking re-election in this district after having spent fourteen years apparently fruitlessly at Washington, for insulting the members of the last Congress. Although Mr. Fowler is chairman of the House committee on banking and currency, by right of seniority, his pet currency measure, which he has advocated for years, was turned down by the decisive vote of his colleagues, whose action was enthusiastically ratified by the Senate.

The currency law enacted by the Senate and House is now characterized by Mr. Fowler as an "ignorant, cowardly and most dangerous piece of legislation." In reply to the men who has thus assailed his colleagues in Congress and who wants the people of this district to send him back to represent them for three years more, The New York Sun says editorially:

"Mr. Charles N. Fowler, chairman of the House committee on Banking and Currency, denounces the Aldrich-Vreeland currency law as an 'ignorant, cowardly and most dangerous piece of legislation.' Admitting that the measure is not ideal in all respects, it must nevertheless be said that Mr. Fowler merits severe rebuke for the discourteous and even insulting terms in which he refers to a law enacted by the Senate and by the House of Representatives of which he is himself a member.

"Mr. Fowler's present attitude lays him open to at least the suspicion of 'undergoing a grinding tooth ache because he was not made a member of the National Monetary Commission. He probably expected to be included in the membership of that committee, and perhaps hoped that as a member he might convert his fellow members and bring them to an approval of his individual notions. Nevertheless, when his name came before the appointing power the thumb was turned downward.

"It is reported that there is to be a National Business Men's Protective Association which shall be the agency for the promulgation and dissemination of Mr. Fowler's financial theories. Those theories are to be preached to every creature, and a now blind and deluded public is to be made to understand that there is 'absolutely no difference in principle between bank book credits and bank note credits,' and that 'the masses of the people who use currency instead of checks are entitled to have just as economical and cheap credits as the rich and powerful who keep bank accounts.'

"To those of our readers who do not fully grasp the significance of these momentous phrases, we can only say that their ignorance is the soil in which Mr. Fowler hopes to do his ploughing and his planting."

Sure to Get Something.

"I will give you a penny if you'll promise to be good while I'm away, Johnny."

"Then you'll give me if I'll be good when you get back home?"

"I'll give you something if you are not good then."—Houston Post.

Natural Inference.

"There goes a dreamer of dreams," remarked the observer.

"Does his wife keep boarders?"—Birmingham (Ala.) Age-Herald.

VOTING MACHINES GOING

Sixty-six Elections Leave Only 177 of the 361 Placed About the State.

118 ELECTIONS TO COME.

Only One District Has Thus Far Voted to Retain Machine—Secretary of State's Power.

Under the Holcombe voting machine referendum law passed by the last Legislature sixty-six elections have already been held on the question of the retention or rejection of the machines. In sixty-five of the elections the vote was in favor of excluding the machines, so that in those election districts hereafter they cannot be used. One election district, that of Mannington township, Salem county, voted to retain the mechanical voter.

Between now and September 3 approximately 118 other elections upon this question are scheduled to take place. After the law of no election on the voting machines can be held, so that September 3 is the last date this year for voting on the question. Election day being November 3. The total number of voting machines in use in this State is 361. With sixty-six elections already held and others scheduled in 118 districts, only 177 machines are left in election districts wherein no petitions for an election have been filed.

The districts in which elections are to be held follow: Forty in Newark, seven in Passaic, eleven in Paterson, ten in Jersey City, ten in Orange, one in West Orange, five in East Orange, four in Camden, two in Kearny, one in Upper Freehold township, two in Freehold, one in Summit, two in Bound Brook, two in Washington, two in Red Bank and four in Long Branch. It is said in the office of the Secretary of State that only about 40 per cent. of last fall's vote, on the average, participated in voting machine balloting.

Although under the new law a municipality may reject its voting machines, the Secretary of State, who has charge of them, is not required to remove them. At least, that is the opinion now held, but the advice of the Attorney-General is to be sought on this point.

It is the purpose of the Secretary of State to leave in the municipalities where they now stand the machines that have been rejected, although, of course, they cannot be used in voting. The voting machine law puts the expense of caring for and insuring the machines upon the municipalities where they are located, and the Holcombe law made no change in this provision. Thus, under the decision of the Secretary of State the municipalities which have rejected the machines will still have to stand the expense of taking care of them.

In six districts from which the Secretary of State has already removed the machines elections were held, notwithstanding the fact that they had been taken away. These districts were in Millville, Clayton, Woodbury and Vineland. Twelve machines have been withdrawn from Jersey City, but an election on their retention or rejection will be held on September 3.

FUNNY AND NOVEL "STUNTS" MARK Y. W. C. A. SOCIAL.

Ranking as the premier of the summer's social events at the Y. W. C. A., the "Stunt Party" held last Thursday at the association building, kept the two score members who attended in gales of merriment during the evening. A feature of the program was the program rendered by a zobo band, composed of the members of the committee. Miss Margaret E. Mosher, physical director of the association, acted as the leader of the musicians and those who melodized on combs and drums were the Misses Elsie Goddard, Florence Jenning, Olive LeLany, Autumn DeLany, Louise Harral, Sarah Head and Lillian Tedderman.

Miss Marian Brown, as "Jennie Jones," and Miss Mary Campbell as "Sister Sue," won lots of applause by their rendition of Eugene Field's "Little Peach." Miss Harriet Mattison explained the Silver Bay girls' "stunt," and five of the gathering who recently spent time at the Silver Bay song-fest, Misses Elsie Goddard and Miss Marion Brown presented scenes from Romeo and Juliet and there were recitations by the Misses Ida Englehardt and Ellen Doughty.

Everyone took part in the "stunts" and informal singing was a feature. Refreshments were served under the supervision of the committee.

A Doubtful Proposition.

"Should a man go to college after fifty?"

"Well, he might pass muster at tennis," answered the expert. "But a man can't expect to do much in baseball or football at that age."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Crochet Work for the Porch.

The old-fashioned white bedspread crocheted with cotton thread has returned to favor. This has probably been brought about by the popularity of all things done with a knitting or a crochet needle.

ABODES OF TWO ARTISTS

G. W. Edwards at Bungalow on Mohegan Island, Maine, and Jonas Lie Nearby.

ARE LIVING CLOSE TO NATURE.

Mr. Edwards' Summer Home Is "Onarock," On a "Blessed Isle"—Mr. Lie's "Hut" Among the Hills in Middlesex Co.

Under the caption "Artists Near and Far Afield," Sunday's New York Herald devotes the best part of a page to the description of the work and pleasure of two well-known local artists, George Wharton Edwards of Franklin place, and Jonas Lie. The former is spending the summer with Mrs. Edwards at his charming home, "Onarock," Mohegan Island, Maine, while Mr. and Mrs. Lie have chosen the mountains back of Plainfield as a place to spend the season. There they have had erected a very comfortable hut, where they find comfort and a delightful place to study nature.

Several new sketches were presented last night for the proposed building, but while there appears to be a sentiment in favor of the improvement, the members differ to a considerable extent as to the amount of money to be expended. Amounts varying from $6,000 to $10,000, are suggested. It is said that while the West End house was built for $4,500, it would cost almost twice that sum for a similar building in the East End.

There is opposition in the Council to building the house this year, but just how much weight this will have when a vote is taken, remains to be seen. Chairman Hibbard, of the fire and building committee, is enthusiastic about the matter, but he has no definite ideas as to the cost or what the city should pay for the building. Then there is the cost of equipment, considered to be quite an expense. In the opinion of some of the members the fire department is costing the citizens enough money at present, and they are not advocates of any further expense at present. As one member expressed himself today: "Our fire department is now costing the city about $25,000 a year and one thing is sure as the years go by and the city grows it will not cost any less. If we could erect a house in the East End for about the same amount of money as the West End house I would be in favor of the improvement, but other members say that a more pretentious house should be erected, considering the wife and the character of the neighborhood, one that will meet the requirements for years to come and that means a big additional expense toward the maintenance of the department."

The members are not a unit on the proposed improvement and it is not at all likely that the matter will go through without a lively debate, pro and con. The only question being considered now is the erection of a house, no thought having been given to the matter of equipping it, and that is likely to provoke further discussion.

"Mr. Edwards' home on Monhegan, Onarock is aptly named. From it the artist must command superb views of the island reaches and of the sea. Mr. Edwards has made a study of the sea and of fisher folk, and among the pictures which he contributed to the last American Water Color Society exhibition was a deep sea fisherman in a dory. By contrast his other objects were the sparkling "Fair Amalfi" and an attractive Dutch interior.

"In describing the summer life of Mr. and Mrs. Lie, the following from the New York Herald will be of interest:

"Out on the hills in New Jersey, where the winds blow fresh and free, overlooking the flat land where towns slumber peacefully below, Plainfield, Westfield and Elizabeth to the left, the church spires rising above the roofs of the old town of New Brunswick to the right, hidden in the deep, shady woods, lies my summer camp," said Mrs. Jonas Lie. "It is a hut built by myself, with low overhanging eaves after the style of the mountain huts of my own country, Norway.

"Not a sound of the busy life below reaches this secluded little hut; smoke curls from the fireplace outside, built between the rocks, on which a kettle sings. Near by I work in the open, at present, upon a large canvas called 'The Hour of Sunset.' It depicts the last rays of the sun gilding the branches of a cedar on a hill.

"Within the hut hangs a just completed picture of a thunderstorm, with rolling cumulus clouds half hidden by the vapor; another, called 'Summer Evening,' a tender gray daisy field stretching away in the distance, and a "Fog" in the woods; while against the wall stands a large unfinished picture of "Mackerel Clouds at Sunset."

"But it is not what is but that which is to come that delights my soul," resumed the artist. "When the trees turn red and brown and yellow and glow in the October twilight, and autumn winds strip the branches of their leaves and carry them up beyond the hurrying clouds, then will I try in a measure to express my joy in it all and in the majesty of life."

After returning to Plainfield and arranging for some exhibitions here and Mrs. Lie will depart for their home country, Norway, where Mr. Lie will paint the life in the north, exhibiting in Christiania before returning. "After the Snowfall," exhibited last year in the National Academy, has been invited to the autumn exhibition of the Chicago Art Institute, and "The Heart of the Woods," now in the exhibition of the one hundred selected American paintings in Buffalo, will go from there to the St. Louis Museum.

POW-WOW, NO. 57, ON EAST END FIRE HOUSE

President R. I. Tolles and Councilmen H. D. Hibbard, H. S. Suydam, W. L. Gloak and Frederick E. Mygatt were the only members of the Common Council to respond to the call for a special conference Monday night to consider the question of erecting a new fire-house in the Netherwood district of the city. As there was not even a majority of the members of the fire and building committee at whose request the meeting was held, practically nothing could be done, and another attempt *will be made to hold a meeting Mon*day night.

Several new sketches were presented last night for the proposed building, but while there appears to be a sentiment in favor of the improvement, the members differ to a considerable extent as to the amount of money to be expended. Amounts varying from $6,000 to $10,000, are suggested. It is said that while the West End house was built for $4,500, it would cost almost twice that sum for a similar building in the East End.

There is opposition in the Council to building the house this year, but just how much weight this will have when a vote is taken, remains to be seen. Chairman Hibbard, of the fire and building committee, is enthusiastic about the matter, but he has no definite ideas as to the cost or what the city should pay for the building. Then there is the cost of equipment, considered to be quite an expense. In the opinion of some of the members the fire department is costing the citizens enough money at present, and they are not advocates of any further expense at present. As one member expressed himself today: "Our fire department is now costing the city about $25,000 a year and one thing is sure as the years go by and the city grows it will not cost any less. If we could erect a house in the East End for about the same amount of money as the West End house I would be in favor of the improvement, but other members say that a more pretentious house should be erected, considering the wife and the character of the neighborhood, one that will meet the requirements for years to come and that means a big additional expense toward the maintenance of the department."

The members are not a unit on the proposed improvement and it is not at all likely that the matter will go through without a lively debate, pro and con. The only question being considered now is the erection of a house, no thought having been given to the matter of equipping it, and that is likely to provoke further discussion.

SOMERSET TO EXPEND $30,000 ON ROAD WORK

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders made a tour of inspection of the road from Finderne to Blackwell's Mills and from Millstone to Auten's corner on Saturday for the purpose of considering the question of improving the same. After the trip the freeholders adjourned to Weaver's Hotel at East Millstone and heard expressions of opinion for and against the improvement. The contingent from Blackwell's Mills said that they could get anywhere from East Millstone if the road was made adamized between these two points.

Director Gibson said that the county would expend about $25,000 or $30,000 for good roads during the year, and no more. Applications for roads which would cost ten times that amount had been filed with the board, and somebody was sure to be disappointed. He declared that North Plainfield is kicking because the county did not spend enough money there, while Warren county wants its road improved from Watchung to Washington, and also from Watchung to Warrenville and from that point to Millington and Bound Brook. Bernards had its different roads to be connected and in fact, every township in the county had perfectly legitimate reasons to advance for the expenditure of three times the amount available for the whole county. He added that the board had conscientiously gone over all the proposed routes and would meet at an early date to determine upon the work to be done. The ultimate decision will be subject to the approval of the State Commission of Roads Gylkinson.

Almost a Total Stranger.

Friend—Hallos, Pat! I scarcely knew you with your whiskers off.

Pat—The same wid me, me bhoy; I didn't know meself when I looked into the glass, except by me voice.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

CORDOVA FREE FRIDAY TRIED TO KILL HIMSELF

Unfrocked Pastor, Who Eloped With Julia Bowne, Serving Last Days of Sentence.

HIS PLANS ARE KEPT SECRET.

South River Man Insists He Has Been Harshly Dealt With By a Prejudiced Public—May Go to Mexico.

J. Frank Cordova, the unfrocked Methodist Episcopal clergyman, who twice deserted his wife and their little children and as many times eloped with Miss Julia Bowne, his South River choir girl, is spending the last days of his four-years' term in the State prison at Trenton. He will leave the prison next Friday morning and what he intends to do only he himself knows, unless he has in some way unknown to his keepers transmitted his plans to Miss Bowne, who, with her child, is now living with her parents in Ocean Grove.

It has been freely reported that the disgraced clergyman will go at once to Newark where he will be joined by Miss Bowne and that he will marry her as soon as he can be divorced by his wife, who is now keeping a boarding house along the coast. But of this report Cordova has nothing to say to anyone. He refuses absolutely to see any one from the outside. The head keeper, George O. Browne, has made it a rule not to allow convicts to be approached against their will. To such of the prison guards who have ventured to question him on his plans for the future the unfrocked pastor has either turned a deaf ear or told them that what he intended to do after his sentence was none of the public's business.

"I have been harshly dealt with by a prejudiced and unsympathetic public and I have paid the penalty which the law exacted," he said some time ago, "and now I want the public to leave me and my life alone. I expect to attend to my business and I want other people to do the same."

The prison authorities expect, however, that Cordova will get out of New Jersey territory as speedily as a railroad train will take him after he leaves the prison doors on Friday. It is believed that he will go to New York and then probably to Mexico, where he formerly lived and where he is said to have a brother and other relatives.

He is equally uncommunicative regarding the financing of his immediate future, but it is thought that his brother will advance him funds to enable him to reach Mexico and begin life anew. When the prison doors close behind him he will have less than $25 in his possession, including the five dollar bill which is to be given to each discharged convict by the State.

During the four years Cordova has been confined in the prison he has worked almost steadily in the contract handkerchief shops, and his industry there has netted him considerable money, but the bulk of this he has expended for a correspondence school course in stenography and typewriting. He is able to take dictation at a fairly rapid rate and is a skillful manipulator of the typewriting machine.

In his studies and work Cordova has received the encouragement of the warden and his deputies, but to them he has given only the merest thanks for their friendly interest. His one desire has always been to be left alone as much as possible. The one bitter disappointment of Cordova's prison life has been the refusal of the Court of Pardons to grant him restoration to citizenship. He wanted a parole or pardon at first, but later was willing to forego any reduction of his prison time if he could only leave the institution free from the stain of disfranchisement. But this was refused him by the State authorities, in view of the seriousness of his offence.

Cordova's only recent request of his keepers is that he shall be kept at work until the night before his liberation. He says he wants no favors of any kind.

Surprise Party for Miss Terry.

A birthday surprise party was given to Miss Amanda Terry by Miss Rose Wilson, Monday, at the home of the former in honor of the sixteenth anniversary of her birthday. Miss Terry received a number of useful gifts. The evening was spent playing games and listening to vocal and instrumental music, and refreshments were served at a late hour. Those present were the Misses Rose Wilson, Florence Long, Helen Bernard, Margaret Bernard, Ruth Hall, Dorcas Benson, Marguerite Wachs, Cecile Peterson, Mabel Perry, Bessie Greeter, Beatrice Muldowney, Mary Mohan, Margaret Whyte and Mrs. A. A. Wilson and Raymond Terry, John McGarrigle, Jr., Frank Mowhari, Herman Klinsman, Charles Bremmer, William Walsh, Thomas Whyte, Thomas Pignetie, Richard Cooper, Harry Stewart, George Gage and Charles Smith.

She Was at the Seashore.

He dreamed a dream, then woke up
And laughted, for it was funny;
He dreamed his wife had written him
And did not ask for money.
—Chicago News.

DESPONDENT TRIED TO KILL HIMSELF

Dependent Because Out of Work, Adam Dunham Made an Attempt at Suicide.

HE GASHED HIS THROAT.

Found a Pool of Blood in Bath-tub, Doctor Saves His Life—Is Now In Muhlenberg Hospital.

Despondent because he has been unable to find work and, growing tired of life, Adam Dunham, aged 22 years, tried to commit suicide Monday afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. Arthur Jeffery, 975 West Third street, where he has been living for sometime. The instrument used was a razor belonging to his brother-in-law, Mr. Jeffery, and after locking himself in the bathroom and taking a position full length in the bath-tub, he gave himself an ugly gash in the throat, severing the windpipe. He did not go deep enough, however, to accomplish his purpose, and as the hospital, where he was taken, it is said he will recover.

Dunham was engaged in doing an odd job at painting Monday morning, and when he returned home at noon for dinner, complained of not feeling well. His sister advised him not to return to work but to go to his room and lie down for awhile. After shaving his dinner he went to his room.

Two or three hours elapsed and not hearing anything from him, a member of the family went to the second floor, but did not find him in his room. Fearing that something had happened an attempt was made to open the bath-room door. This was found locked and repeated calls failed to bring any response until threats were made to break the door. Then a voice was heard coming from the room: "It's too late. I have done it."

There being no other man in the house a neighbor was summoned and he broke open the door and found Dunham stretched out in the tub, with blood flowing from the gash in the throat and the razor clutched in one hand. When questioned as to why he had attempted to take his life, Dunham replied, "I'm tired of living. There is nothing in this world for me."

In the meantime, Dr. A. K. Brennan and the ambulance were summoned. The physician arrived promptly and gave temporary treatment until the man could be removed to the hospital. Upon his arrival at the latter place he was immediately taken to the operating-room and prompt action undoubtedly saved his life.

Dunham has had frequent fits of melancholia for several months and has often hinted about taking his life. One time he asked a relative whether or not the escaping gas in an automatic meter would kill a person. In view of this his relatives have constantly watched him, believing that while in a despondent mood he might make way with himself.

COASTING ON HIS BIKE; BOY IS BADLY HURT

While coasting down the Watchung avenue hill Monday on his bicycle, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Johnson, of that avenue, lost control of the wheel and was thrown with great force on the hard macadam pavement, receiving bad cuts and bruises about the body, face and hands. An automobile party of Plainfielders happening along at the time, the lad was picked up, suffering from his injuries and his face was covered with blood, placed in the machine and taken to his home. While his condition is not considered serious, the injuries are exceedingly painful and the boy will be detained at home a few days. This morning it was reported that he had rested comfortably during the night and that the chances for speedy recovery are good.

Young Johnson, accompanied by a companion, it is said, had been coasting down the hill on their wheels and were enjoying the sport greatly without any mishap. It is thought that on the last trip the injured boy must have struck a stone or rut in the road which caused him to lose control of his whee!.

Injured on a Visit to Relative.

Miss Edith Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nelson, of 1026 West Third street, who is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Mount, of Jersey City, met with an accident on Saturday which will detain her to her room for several days. She was going down the cellar stairs, when she accidentally slipped and fell the entire distance to the bottom, severely spraining her wrist and receiving several cuts about the head. She was picked up in a partially helpless condition and assisted to the first floor after which a physician was summoned. The young woman's parents were notified of the accident Saturday night and they went to Jersey City. Mrs. Nelson is still there with her daughter. The injuries are not of a serious nature.

"PROPHET" CROWDY BURIED

What, "Elijah Dead?, No He Just Sleeps" Say the Negro Saints of God.

INSIST HE'S IN THE FLESH.

"Bishop," Who Visited Plainfield Two Years Ago and Whose Followers Have a Church Here, Has Passed Away.

"Prophet" William S. Crowdy, the negro founder of the colored Church of God and Saints of Christ, who visited Plainfield two years ago with a large band of followers, holding forth here for a week, died on Tuesday of last week at the home of Sister Morris on Livingston street in Newark. It was through the visitation of the "prophet" that a local branch of the denomination was established in this city and an edifice has since been erected by the members of the faith.

When "Prophet" Crowdy was laid to rest in Woodlawn cemetery, Newark, Sunday afternoon, amid "Alleluias" mingled with tears of a thousand followers, the "faithful" said they found consolation in the thought that there great leader was not dead, but sleeping. That the mourners were sincere in their belief is not doubted, for they said yesterday that the "prophet" was still with them and that they had conversed with him in the church of God and Saints Grocery Store, 82 Livingston street.

"Bishop" Crowdy, who was none other than Elijah of old, it is alleged, is credited by his believers with having predicted the Spanish-American war, the assassination of President McKinley and the death of Queen Victoria. He was sixty-four years old when he died Tuesday last in the home of "St. Malinda," otherwise known as Sister Morris, who conducts the Livingston street store.

When she was asked yesterday morning if "Elijah" had died at her home, "St. Malinda" promptly made denial, declaring that "the man of God" was "only asleep."

"He's here in the spirit," she said, "and all who have the faith could could see him. We that believe in him can see him and we can talk to him. He can't die."

"Where was Bishop Crowdy born?" was asked.

"For Lawd's sake, man, did you never read the Bible? You didn't think he was born in Hoboken, did you?" asked St. Malinda. "Why, this man was Elijah, the prophet, and you know where he was born."

"Where has he been since the Bible was written?"

"Why, haven't you read how God lifted him up to heaven in a chariot of fire? Well, he came back again twelve years ago, just as he said he would. He said he would come before Christ, and he did. Just as soon as he got here he called us and called us together and formed this here church. His last prophecy, which was made in Plainfield a short time ago, was that he would soon pass from us and that we should expect Christ soon."

Just who or what Bishop Crowdy was is not very clearly understood by those outside the pale of the church. He came before the public's view in New York twelve years ago, declaring himself to be the prophet Elijah. He began by holding open air meetings and later engaged halls, where he taught his doctrines, which are similar to those of the Adventists, only that he professed to be on the inside track. Soon his preaching was extended to other States and he ordained others to carry on his work. A branch of the church was established in Newark, about seven years ago and now has a congregation of about 100 souls. Sister Morris is head of the work here and conducts the meetings, which are held at Broome and Baldwin streets.

MANY SALES REPORTED AT "HIGHLAND PARK."

The P. S. C. is laying gas mains through "Highland Park" and Leland avenue and will have the work finished before the macadam is laid. The sewers and city water mains are already laid, where the macadamizing is to be done.

While this is a dull season for real estate, these lots have been sold:

Frank S. Buswell, three lots at East Second street and Leland Avenue; Mary E. Smiddy, two lots at East Second street and Emerson avenue; Julia E. Mackey, two lots on Emerson avenue between East Front street and East Second street; on which she is about to build a house; W. J. Cleary, four lots at East Second street and Sumner avenue; Antonio Bollas, two lots on Emerson avenue, between Midway avenue and George street.

George D. Merkel is building a handsome home on his lots at George street and Sumner avenue. George and Peter Felmley have bought eight more lots adjoining their tract on Emerson avenue, between Midway avenue and George street, and will build four or five more houses there within a year. James Gibb has purchased two lots on Leland avenue, between Midway avenue and George street, and has erected a dwelling house there. Peter N. Layton has purchased eight lots on Emerson avenue, and eight lots on Sumner avenue.

CALL REV. MR. MATTHEWS

Scotch Plains Baptists Want Former Chattanooga Town Minister for Their Pastor.

EXPECT AN EARLY DECISION.

He Is Asked to Succeed Rev. T. Moore-Smith, Who Resigned Some Months Ago and Is a Temporary Supply.

Rev. Franklin Matthews, who has been pastor of a Baptist church in Chattanooga, Tenn., for two years, and who has been supplying the pulpit of the Scotch Plains Baptist church the past two Sundays, has been called to the pastorate of the latter church, formal action being taken by the church on Sunday, following the services. At present Mr. Matthews is sojourning in New York State and he will preach at the Plains church on Sunday, when it is expected he will publicly announce his acceptance of the call.

Mr. Matthews prior to going to Tennessee was pastor of the Baptist church at Ridgewood, this State, where he had great success. During his pastorate in Chattanooga he has been successful and large accessions have been made to the church. His only reason for leaving that city is that last winter he suffered an attack of pneumonia and his physician has informed him that the climate in Tennessee is not suited to his health and that he must not spend another winter there. His flock deeply regret his enforced change. The church of which he is pastor has a membership of nearly five hundred.

A native of Orange county, New York, where he was born thirty-five years ago, Mr. Matthews spent the greater part of his life in this part of the country, the only exception being the two years he has been in the South. He made a strong and favorable impression on the people at Scotch Plains as a forcible preacher. He is married and has two children.

If Mr. Matthews accepts the call he will succeed Rev. T. Moore-Smith, who resigned several months ago and at present has no regular charge. He is a dog fancier and the owner of a large number of thoroughbred dogs which have taken notable prizes at prominent bench shows in this part of the country. Because, it is said, he devoted so much time to his dogs, his pastoral work was diminished and his work as pastor and preacher and this led to his resignation. He is now living at Lincoln and occasionally supplies pulpits in nearby churches.

DOCKSTADER'S SHOW IS SIMPLY IMMENSE

Lew Dockstader, king of minstrel men, and his troupe of black-faced artists, came as premier attraction of the season to the new Plainfield theatre on Monday, and kept the "big house" in a good humor by a two-hour rapid fire of peppery jokes, some superb phoney-voiced singing and a lot of brand new minstrel features. The show started the eighteenth annual tour of the black-faced Dockstader organization with perpetual hand-rattles that the minstrels may well be said to be the most successful the famous minstrel-man has ever staged.

The program presented "an innovation in minstrelsy, but not a departure from this popular style of entertainment," and of the black-faced fiends there were twenty-eight. Lew Dockstader and Al Jolson got the biggest hand in the "rustic spectacle entitled 'The Possum Hunt Club,'" which formed the first half of the show. Jolson, as one of the stewards of the club, made a big hit with his song, "I'm Glad I'm Married Now,' and Dockstader was given a big reception in his two songs, "It Looks Like a Big Night Tonight," and "Bull Durham." Lots of merriment was produced by Jolson in the role of "Acie" in the sketch, "Pollies Uncle Ford or Where the Ash Rabbit," which followed the opening number, Neil O'Brien, as Bob Brewster, William H. Hallen and Eddie Mazier got the hand in "The House of Rest" and every one contributed some lively sallys in the scenic sketch, "Pollies Uncle Ford or Where the Ash Bills" appear, searching for campaign contributions.

Jolson came in for more applause by his work in an entra act, where he came on with some good monologue, whistling and singing, and rang in some good local "cracks" at home, between Midway avenue and George street.

George D. Merkel is building a handsome home on his lots at George street and Sumner avenue. George and Peter Felmley have bought eight more lots adjoining their tract on Emerson avenue, between Midway avenue and George street, and will build four or five more houses there within a year. James Gibb has purchased two lots on Leland avenue, between Midway avenue and George street, and has erected a dwelling house there. Peter N. Layton has purchased eight lots on Emerson avenue, and eight lots on Sumner avenue.

New Jersey Central

In Effect June 28, 1908.

For New York—2.17, 3.37, 5.36, 6.06, 6.29, 6.47, 7.37, 8.28, 9.04, 9.47, 10.36, 11.36 a. m., 12.36, 1.36, 2.36, 3.36, 4.36, 5.06, 5.36, 6.06, 6.36, 7.11, 8.00, 10.00, 12.19.

For Elizabeth—2.17, 3.37, 5.36, 6.06, 6.29, 6.47, 7.37, 8.28, 9.04, 9.47, 10.36, 11.36 a. m., 12.36, 1.36, 2.36, 3.36, 4.36, 5.06, 5.36, 6.06, 6.36, 7.11, 8.00, 10.00, 12.19.

Sunday—3.17, 3.37, 5.28, 7.23, 8.36, 9.52, 10.36, 11.36 a. m., 12.36, 1.36, 2.36, 3.36, 4.36, 5.36, 6.36, 7.11, 8.00, 10.00, 12.19.

For Newark—5.36, 6.29, 6.57, 7.30, 7.55, 8.30, 9.04, 9.47, 10.36, 11.36 a. m., 12.36, 1.36, 2.36, 3.36, 4.36, 5.06, 5.36, 6.06, 6.36, 7.11, 8.00, 10.00, 12.19.

Sunday—5.28, 6.22, 6.57, 7.30, 8.36, 9.52, 10.36, 11.36 a. m., 12.36, 1.36, 2.36, 3.36, 4.36, 5.36, 6.36, 7.11, 8.00, 10.00, 12.19.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—3.37, 9.52 a. m., 2.36, 5.36 p. m.

For Easton—3.45 a. m., 2.36, 5.36 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—5.36 a. m., 2.36, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—8.36 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc. (Saturdays only), 12.57, 10.58 p. m. (12.57 Saturdays only), 1.27, 3.45, 4.45, 5.53, 11.28 p. m. Sundays—8.52, 9.45 a. m., 2.30, 4.58 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—3.37, 9.52 a. m., 2.36 p. m. (Atlantic City Saturdays only), 1.27, 2.44, 3.39 p. m. Sundays—8.36 a. m., 5.45 p. m.

For Philadelphia—3.13, 3.39, 5.45, 8.13, 10.43 a. m., 12.13, 12.43, 1.39, 3.14, 5.43, 6.45, 8.10, 11.55 p. m. Sundays—1.15 night, 3.13, 5.45, 8.13, 10.43 a. m., 12.43, 1.39, 3.14, 5.43, 6.45, 9.55, 10.29, 10.43, 11.43 a. m., 12.43, 1.39, 3.14, 5.43, 6.45, 8.10, 11.55 p. m., 1.25, 1.15 night.

For Baltimore and Washington—3.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.43, 2.45, 6.45 p. m. Sundays—3.46, 10.43 a. m., 12.43, 2.45, 6.45 p. m.

Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Manager.
W. C. HOPE, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr. Gen. Pass. Agt.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.
Office open 7 a. m., closes 7 p. m.
On Saturdays open 7 a. m., closes 9 p. m. Sunday hour

NEW YORK MAIL.
Arrive—7:00, 8:40, 11:20 a. m. 2:
Close—7:00, 9:30 a. m. 1:00 2:

SOMERVILLE AND WARTO
Arrive—8:40 a. m., 1:20, 6:15 p. m.
Close—7:00, 9:30 a. m. 1:00 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.
Arrive—7:00, 8:40 and 11:20 a. m. 2:
Close—7:00, 9:30 a. m. 12:30, 1:
1:00 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR
Close—7:00, 7:15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR AND SOUTH
Close—12:35, 6:30, 7:15 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA. West of Wa
Close—12:35 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Dire
Arrive—8:40 a. m., 1:20, 6:15 p. m.
Close—7:30 a. m., 2:30, 6:00 p. m.

NEWARK—Dire
Arrive—8:40 a. m., 1:20
Close—7:30, 7:30 a. m., 1:00, 2:30

WATCHUNG, WARREN
Close—12:30 p. m.
Arrive—9:00 a. m.

WATCHUNG
Close—5:30 p. m.
Arrive—8:45 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS
Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 5:30 p. m.

E. H. BIRD, P. M.

THIS IS AN IDEAL BUSINESS GIRL.

Since women have entered the business world like a tidal wave, there is a good deal of questioning going on as to how they are treated. Half of them complain that men are rude. The others declare that all men are angels of politeness.

Some clever people have been trying to sum up the situation and they believe that the girl to whom "hats are off" in the business world, is the girl who:

Doesn't wear clothes that attract unpleasant attention.

Doesn't ogle every man she meets when she is asking him a business question.

Doesn't put paint and powder on her face instead of plenty of water and cold cream.

Doesn't think it is clever to use the latest slang.

Doesn't let men call her at any time without the prefix "Miss."

Doesn't make intimates in the commercial world, but is courteous to every one.

Doesn't listen to gossip any private affairs and doesn't tell any of hers.

Doesn't expect every man to wait on her and take the time to listen to her love affairs.

Doesn't say a man is rude merely because he is abrupt.

Amended.

In these days gone is the capacity for taking gains.—Life.

WOULD BE ASSEMBLYMEN

(Continued from page 1.)

afterward to think I had deliberately turned down the only request the party ever made. I have tried to be fair with them and live and let live, and I have often complined that more honest men did not go into public life, and help clean up some of the corruption there. It would have been simply talk if, when the first possible opportunity came to me, I turned down.

Major Martin has been urged for the place partly because of his well-known party loyalty, partly on the strength of his large personal popularity, and party because advice have been received from Plainfield and other points in the district that if he will run there are men of those places will be eager to take off their coats, roll up their sleeves and gather as many ballots for him as they can.

He has left Elizabeth till September 12, and in the meantime if he is to be taken seriously as a candidate his interests will have to be looked after by others. He will be kept in touch with the development or decline of his boom, and he says whichever way it goes, it it suits the people at large, it will suit him.

Rather Twisted.

"What does the doctor say is the matter with Mirandy?"

"He says she has pneumatic tendencies and that she is threatened with spiral trouble."—Baltimore American.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

VOL. XL — PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1908. — NO. 34

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

BEGINS CHURCH CENSUS

Rev. W. A. Therrell Now Canvassing the Borough for Religious Statistics.

CLERGYMEN BACK OF PLAN.

Information Gleaned Will Be Made Use of By the Local Pastors in Building-up Congregations.

Rev. W. A. Therrell, who has been appointed by the Plainfield Ministers' Association to take a church census of the city and borough, began his house-to-house canvass in North Plainfield yesterday, and will visit every home to secure statistics in accordance with the movement inaugurated by the clergymen to start a campaign for the Christianization of "The City Beautiful." Mr. Therrell, himself an efficient and faithful minister of the gospel, feels keen interest in the work he has undertaken, and has been successful in similar censusTaking in various other cities, where much good has been derived by learning just how many and just who the people are who do not go to church.

Rev. W. A. Therrell.

Mr. Therrell has been supplied blanks containing certain census questions which he will fill out for each home. Aside from the name and place of residence, the language and nationality, Mr. Therrell will find out how many there are in each family, what denomination they are, how many attend church and Sunday-school, how many are communicants and how many children under sixteen years of age there are in the household.

In case the family is not identified with any church or religious body, Mr. Therrell will endeavor to find out what church there seems to be a particular leaning toward, and this part of the census will be particularly valuable in the movement to get Plainfielders to identify themselves with some church home. As the answers to this question are received, the names will be turned over to the pastor in charge of the church specified so that an effort may be made to secure the family's identification with the congregation. At the conclusion of the census, the records will be filed for the use of the various pastors, who will keep in touch with their following more closely in this way.

Picnic at Washington Rock.

A party of seventy-five children from the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, some of whom were accompanied by their mothers, spent yesterday at Washington Rock on a picnic. The affair, which was most keenly enjoyed, was arranged by Harold Robert, of Martine avenue, who has been especially interested in Miss Curry's work among the New York poor, and the day was spent with games in the grove near the rock. A basket luncheon was served at noon and candy and fruit were distributed among the children. The trip to and from the rock was made in a large stage.

Two Good Dramatic Offerings.

"Paid In Full," the most pronounced dramatic success in New York last season, will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre on Thursday night of next week. The production is under the management of Wagenhals & Kemper, the original producers, and comprises a company of prominent players. The new European sensation, "The Devil," over which two New York managers are now waging a legal fight, will be seen at the local playhouse the middle of next month. It will be the Savage production.

Filed Thirty Mortgages.

Isaac P. Runyon, of this city, representing Clara Biddle, today filed thirty mortgages in the office of the county register, Elizabeth, covering several properties located in Plainfield and vicinity.

PYTHIANS PREPARING FOR ANNUAL FIELD DAY

The local K. of P. lodges have been notified that the annual Pythian field day will be held at Scheutzen Park, Union Hill, on Labor Day, and that plans have been made to make it the most successful gathering of recent years. The day's program will include a parade, competitive drill and athletic games. Perseverance and Unity lodges and Crescent Company, Uniformed Rank, will send big delegations.

The committee appointed to apportion prizes for competitive drills by companies of the Uniform Rank decided as follows: Should four companies enter, first prize, $50, second, $30, and third, $20; for three companies, first prize, $50, second, $30; for two companies, one prize, $50. If but one company appears for drill it will give an exhibition drill and will be awarded $25. The competitive drills will begin at 3 p. m.

The games committee reported having arranged the following program, open to members of the order only: One hundred yard race, 440 yard race, standing broad jump, fat men's race, three-legged race, obstacle race and a 220-yard dash for members of the Uniform Rank, with full equipment.

There will be a fifty yards' race for boys under 12 years of age, and one for girls, potato race, shoe race and other games, and appropriate prizes will be awarded the winners in each event.

Supreme Representative Rev. De Witt C. Cobb, of Salem, who was elected to the office of Supreme Prelate at the convention of the Supreme Lodge in Boston last week, will attend the field day exercises and hold his first public reception since his election. Supreme Representatives P. Frank Shanley and John H. Conger and the Grand Lodge officers of this State and New York will also be present.

CITY ENGINEER DISCUSSES THE STREET PREPARATIONS

Under the direction of City Engineer A. J. Gavett the work of putting "Asphaltoilene" on Park avenue, between Fifth and Seventh streets, is being continued today and it is the hope to use the preparation on the avenue beyond Randolph road, where there is considerable automobile and carriage travel. In speaking of the improvement today, Mr. Gavett said that he is not convinced as yet which is the better preparation of the two, Tarvia or "Asphaltoilene," that only time would prove the merits of the two.

In speaking of the relative cost of the work, Mr. Gavett said that Tarvia is the cheapest for the reason that the street gang is putting it on, while in the case of "Asphaltoilene," the city pays the company so much a yard for spreading the material, which is done under the supervision of a representative of the company, and the street gang is used to do the work, thereby making a double expense. However, he was not sure but that this preparation might prove to be the best in the long run. He feels sure that either one or the other will be a decided improvement and will eventually reduce the cost of sprinkling the streets by water, which is an expensive method of keeping the dust down.

The preparation used on North avenue is in reality a liquid asphalt and it forms a coating similar to asphalt when placed on a thoroughfare. The spreading of sand on top of it is said to be a benefit in that it forms a cushion. There seems to be no doubt but that in addition to keeping the dust down it also preserves the macadam. Equal benefits are claimed through the use of Tarvia. The work planned for will probably be completed this week.

By Wheel to Boston.

George Adams, of Netherwood avenue, a member of the Plainfield Cycle Club, started yesterday on his bicycle for Boston. He expects to ride the entire distance, adopting this method of spending his vacation of two weeks. He will take his time, not attempting to break any records for long distance riding. He will return home by boat from Boston.

Dr. D. C. Adams Called South.

Dr. D. C. Adams, of Grove street, was summoned to Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday afternoon, on account of the serious illness of Mrs. John Honeyman, the family desiring the doctor to join in a consultation of physicians regarding her illness. Mrs. Honeyman is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse and Mrs. D. C. Adams, of Grove street.

—At Neuman Brothers' tomorrow morning, 100 baskets of choice white and yellow peaches will be an offering. Low prices will prevail.

IS IT A MINERAL SPRING?

Water of Deepened Well on Chatham Street Now Has Salty Taste.

ON G. R. SCHLERETH PROPERTY

Owner's Friends Claim It Has Medicinal Value, So Some of It Is Being Analyzed.

George Schlereth, of West Second street, is much interested in the discovery of what is believed to be a valuable spring of "mineral water" into which contractors broke while deepening a well in the rear of his property at 24 Chatham street, the borough. The water is being used by several of Mr. Schlereth's friends for drinking purposes, and is declared to be beneficial. A small quantity of it is now being subjected to chemical analysis.

The water from the well, which is in the rear of the house occupied by Frank Kesselring, has heretofore been of the ordinary, non-medicinal kind, cool and thirst quenching. The supply ran low some weeks ago, however, and at that time, Mr. Schlereth had the well dug deeper. After digging about three feet, abundant water was located, but the quality of it is so decidedly "different" that the "strike" aroused the owner's curiosity and he believes he has located a mineral flow.

The water has a decided salty taste, and also seems "thick" and inclined to be oily. It is clear as crystal and even colder than the water drawn from the well before it was deepened. It seems of unlimited quantity and utterly free from foreign particles. The well contractors say that there was nothing unusual about the structure of the ground through which they dug in deepening the well, and do not attribute the taste to any mineral salt or oil in the soil.

A relative of Mr. Schlereth who is troubled with rheumatism now drinks the water regularly and declares it is beneficial, and the majority of people who sample the stuff declare it nauseating enough to be medicinally beneficial. Mr. Schlereth at first believed that the taste of the water was due to a condition of the pump pipe, and hundreds of gallons of the salty fluid were pumped off in an effort to change the taste. The water remains the same and the owner of the well says that he believes it is even improving his horses, three of which tenanted in a barn nearby drink freely of it.

MAKING DWELLING OUT OF OLD MEETING HOUSE

The meeting-house property of the Orthodox Society of Friends, located on East Front street, has been sold by Christopher Thorp, acting as an agent, to William D. Bird, formerly of West Front street, but now of Westfield. The new owner, who is a carpenter, is now completely remodeling it with the intention of transforming it into a modern dwelling for his own occupancy. A wide veranda will be built, extending across the front and around the sides of the building and it will be equipped with all the improvements.

The meeting-house, although not as old as the one on Watchung avenue, was built many years ago by the Orthodox Friends in this city. They were few in number and as they did not affiliate with the Hicksite Friends it was not long before they ceased to hold meetings there. At one time it was used by John Dalzell as a manual training school, but this did not pay and he gave up the school and went to California. Since then the building has not been used for anything. It was known to be in the market for sale. Because it belongs to a religious society the city did not impose any tax, but recently the owners were informed that as the dwelling was not being used for religious purposes it would have to stand assessment. This led to the sale of the property to Mr. Bird.

Adam Dunham Leaves Hospital.

Adam Dunham, of West Third street, who attempted to commit suicide a week ago by cutting his throat with a razor, was discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital Monday afternoon and returned home. He has recovered from the injury to his throat and expects to return to work soon.

Russell Pyatt Improving.

Russell Pyatt, the thirteen-year-old boy from South Plainfield, who was kicked in the face by a horse on Saturday, is much improved today, the physicians in charge believe he will be able to return home in the near future.

GIRL GUEST BREAKS LEG BY FALL FROM HAMMOCK

While swinging in a hammock under a tree on the lawn at the home of John McGrogan, of Manning avenue, where she was calling, last evening, Miss Edna Hummer, niece of Charles L. Force, of Mountain avenue, broke her right leg near the ankle when the hammock broke and she was thrown heavily to the ground. The girl landed nearly in a board several feet from where the hammock was swung, and her foot was forced under this walk as she fell, breaking the leg.

The ambulance was summoned but the injured girl was not removed to the hospital. Dr. Albert Pittis and Dr. G. W. Endicott were summoned and it was decided best to keep Miss Hummer at the McGrogan home until the limb could be set. This was done last night and today she was removed to Mr. Force's home.

Miss Hummer is the daughter of Joseph Hummer, of South Bend, Indiana, and was visiting her uncle. She had planned to return home Saturday, but the injury will keep her East for several weeks longer.

WILLING WORKERS HOLD A "SEVEN-CENT" SOCIAL

Under the auspices of Class 30, "Willing Workers," of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, of which Horace J. Martin, Sr., is the teacher, held a very successful "seven-cent" social in the lecture room of the church, last night, the proceeds being for the painting fund of the church. The patronage throughout the evening was generous and a substantial sum will be realized as profit.

The plan adopted by the class for holding the affair was a novel one. Ice cream, cake, peaches and candy were served; there was an "art gallery" and a prize package department. The purchase of an admission ticket for seven cents entitled the holder to a plate of ice cream and if one desired cake or peaches each dish was seven cents extra, making the cost for ice cream, cake and peaches twenty-one cents. In the prize package department, each person was blind-folded and allowed one grab for seven cents. The packages contained some very useful and pretty things, well worth the price. The admission to the "art gallery" was also seven cents. This was amusing and delighted all who visited the mysterious place. During the evening Harold Cook rendered a program of piano selections that added to the pleasure of those present. The net receipts will be between $20 and $25.

Horace J. Martin, Sr., as teacher, had charge of the affair and planned it. He was assisted by all the members of the class who are the following:

Mrs. Lafayette Rosenstiehl, Mrs. R. V. Kinney, Mrs. Roy DeCamp, Miss C. Anderson, Mrs. Frank Platt, Miss Estelle Boss, Mrs. John Abbott, Mrs. Oscar Woolley, Mrs. I. N. Wyckoff, Mrs. John Higgins, Mrs. Charles Coddington, Miss L. Scheelein, Miss A. Scheelein, Miss. Wherry, Miss Mc-Sleedstop, Mrs. William Lindsay, Miss Tena Lindsay, Miss Ella Conover, Mrs. Kirk Wiggins, Mrs. H. J. Martin, Sr., Miss Bertha Swackhamer, Mrs. Charles Butler, Mrs. Elmer P. Wheeler, Mrs. Frank Stillwell, Mrs. Wortman, Miss M. Wyckoff, Mrs. A. Hansen, Mrs. P. Minton, Mrs. George Scribner, Mrs. Steurer, Mrs. M. Friehauf.

WELL KNOWN ACTRESSES TO SEE LOCAL PERFORMANCE.

Lillian Russell, the well known actress and star of the comedy drama "Wildfire," wired the management of the New Plainfield theatre today to reserve a box for her at tomorrow night's performance of "Fifty Miles From Boston." She stated that she is coming to Plainfield with a theatre party that will include Miss Blanche Bates and several other prominent stars in the dramatic firmament.

Miss Russell's interest in "Fifty Miles From Boston" is due to the fact that her sister, Miss Imogene Leonard Westford, is a member of the cast. She interprets one of the most important roles but this is the first opportunity Miss Russell has had of witnessing her portrayal, which is said by New York critics to be her best bit of character work. Miss Bates was in Plainfield Monday night to see the premiere of "All For a Girl." She and Miss Westford are intimate friends.

Miss Helen Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Meyers, of East Sixth street, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, last night, suffering with acute appendicitis. An operation was performed by Drs. Hedges and Tomlinson and she was reported today as doing nicely.

DEMOCRATS WANT CLARK

County Leaders Will Ask Somerville Man to Run for State Senator.

BELIEVE HE CAN WIN OUT.

Friends Say He Has All the Qualifications to Wage a Successful Campaign.

Since the return of former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, from the Thousand Islands on Monday, the influential Democrats of Somerset county have been busy planning for a conference to be held early next week, when they hope to persuade Mr. Clark to accept the nomination for state senator. They look to him as the one man in the whole county who can lead a vigorous fight in the coming campaign.

His friends declare their belief that if he should accept the nomination he would be elected over Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who is to be the Republican nominee. They say that he has all the qualifications for the office, is broad-minded, liberal, well trained and would in every sense be an ideal representative of the county in the upper part of the Legislature.

Those who are interested in his candidacy visited the borough a few days ago for the purpose of conferring with prominent citizens there as to the probable acceptance of the nomination by Mr. Clark, and it is understood that they were urged to get him on the ticket if possible. With such a unanimity of opinion it is believed that Mr. Clark may decide to again enter the political arena and make the fight. It is said that the fact that Mr. Frelinghuysen, a fellow-townsman, is practically certain to get the Republican nomination, would have no weight with Mr. Clark should he desire the office.

Mr. Clark served one term as Congressman and he made an excellent record of which every one of his friends are justly proud. One prominent Democrat and personal friend of Mr. Clark, said today: "There is one thing certain, that is Mr. Clark is the only man in Somerset county who has a chance of defeating Senator Frelinghuysen. My only regret is that he is a resident of that county. He is too big a man to be buried and allowed to remain in private life. A man with such capabilities should hold some high office, where the people would get the benefit of his wide experience."

It is not known what day the conference with Mr. Clark will be held, but the leaders will appoint a time in a few days after consulting Mr. Clark's pleasure.

HANDICAP TROT TO BE FEATURE OF RACE MEET

One of the big features of the matinee race meet to be held at the driving park, Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Fair Haven Driving and Riding Club, will be a handicap trotting race, the first of the kind ever given in this city. The club will use the system of handicapping employed at the Readville track, in the races for large purses. The horses will be handicapped on past performances, starting from scratch. Six entries have been received and the race promises to be closely contested.

Another feature will be a running race, half-mile, with post entries. There will also be two other trotting races, 2:25 and 2:35 classes, a large number of entries being received in each one. Owing to the strong card to be presented the club will charge a nominal admission fee. Stages will meet all the trolleys on Park avenue, during the early part of the afternoon, taking people direct to the driving park. The club is now planning for a big race meet on Labor Day afternoon, when money purses will be offered in each class. The entries for Saturday's meet are as follows:

2:25 Class—Hon Haven, Harry Evans; Fred V., Frank Irving; Maud C., R. L. Edwards; Oracle, Charles Brower; Helen Nelson, John Osborn.

2:35 Class—Lady Sidnut, C. S. Smith; The Maid, John Osborn; Ada, Phil. Jenner; Alycetta, Myers Hodge; Gladys D., Al. DeNise; Thomas Sharkey, William Gross; Fanny L., Thos. Lawless.

Handicap Race—Ben, Butler, H. Uhrhahn; Joe McGregor, George Horgan; Sip, William Hudas; Aron II, Adam C. Blair; Sidney Leland, Chas. Brower; Lady Onward, William Gross.

William Pearson, of Liberty street, who has been detained at Muhlenberg Hospital with a severe attack of dysentery, is improving nicely and will soon be able to go home.

GOLDEN EAGLES HEAR OF ORGANIZATION'S GROWTH

Stating that the growth of the Knights of the Golden Eagle has been especially gratifying during the past year, Grand Vice Chief Sydney Hall, of Millville, took opportunity to compare this record with the membership figures of other fraternal organizations which have shown a decided falling off in membership as well as finances, at a reception to several of the grand officers of the state in connection with the regular meeting of Freedom Castle, No. 12, last night.

In speaking of the competition for new members in which the various castles in the State are engaged, Mr. Hall called attention to the fact that Millville Castle has a record of thirty-three initiations in a single night. Referring briefly to the objects of the organization, Mr. Hall took occasion to commend the work of the local lodgemen's degree team, referring to it as one of the best equipped and best drilled teams in the State. After the remarks by Mr. Hall and various visitors and officers of the local castle, a banquet was served and the meeting concluded with a jolly social hour.

At a meeting of the Past Chiefs of District No. 10, Rev. Percy Ferris, of Asbury Park, was evidently the choice for Grand Sir Herald of the district, and will be strongly supported at the election to be held Labor Day at Trenton. If elected he will succeed Morgan J. Martin, Sr., of Freedom Castle, elected last year.

Announcement was made of the fraternal visit to be paid to the Perth Amboy castle next Tuesday night. A committee from the local castle has secured a special car to take the members to Perth Amboy, and the car will leave the trolley stand at 7 o'clock. The members are enthusiastic about the visit, and it is probable that a large delegation will make the trip.

ARMED MEN WITH CARRAR AT WATCHING CREST BARN

John Carrar, the discharged gardener at the Grossmann School, Watching Crest, has secured the protection of three armed men to prevent any dispossess action by Professor M. R. Grossmann, whose barn he still occupies at a home, in company with his grandmother, wife, daughter and two sons. Waldemar Grossmann stated this morning that the man absolutely refused to leave the place, and that he could not get Constable William H. Pangborn, of the borough, to come up to the Crest and arrest the man as a trespasser, in accordance with the ruling of Justice of the Peace Stanley, at a hearing of the case Monday night.

Mr. Grossmann says that one of Carrar's friends has a shot-gun which he carries with him perpetually, and he believes that the other men have revolvers. He could not understand why the North Plainfield police authorities have not given attention to the matter, declaring that he has always had trouble in securing police protection. He is much discouraged because of the attitude of the constable toward his requests to have the gardener ousted.

According to the school authorities' story, Carrar was discharged ten days ago because of his failure to abide by an alleged agreement about some work his family was to do about the place. He was given until Saturday to leave the premises, but would not go. Justice Smalley ordered the Frenchman off the place at the hearing of the trespass complaint in North Plainfield Monday night, but Carrar secured a stay there. He claims that he has a right to stay until his month is up, and alleges that the Grossmans owe him a month's salary. He has retained John P. Owens as his counsel and it is reported that he will begin action for the recovery of this salary.

1,200 Miles Without a Puncture.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Besler, of Rockview avenue, have returned from a 1,200-mile auto tour in Pennsylvania. Mr. Besler, who recently bought the car he made the trip with, drove it himself and returned to town with the same "City Beautiful" air in the tires that he had used in their inflation before he started. The entire trip was made without sustaining a puncture.

Fast Train Hit Team.

A section gang, putting in new ties on the east-bound tracks of the Central Railroad at Cranford, yesterday, placed one tie too close to the rails. A Philadelphia express struck the tie, splintering it. The train was stopped, with no damage except to the pilot of the locomotive. After a careful examination the train proceeded.

—Advertise in The Daily Press.

MRS. KURZHALS INJURED

Local Woman Taken to New York Hospital After Accident in the Street.

PROBABLY STRUCK BY A CAR.

Details of the Affair Not Made Known to Relatives—Was On Shopping Trip.

Mrs. Theodore Kurzhals, of West Sixth street, is in the New York Hospital, New York, suffering from injuries received in an accident while shopping in that city yesterday. Just how the accident occurred or the extent of the injuries is not known by the family here.

All that has been learned is that Mrs. Kurzhals left the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Poor, relatives whom she was visiting at 259 West Twenty-fifth street, to purchase a few articles, intending to return soon for dinner, as the family had planned to take a pleasure trip in the afternoon. She had been gone about a half hour, when someone called at the Poor home and informed the family that a woman, who had given their name as reference had been injured on the street and had been removed to a hospital. They immediately made inquiry at St. Vincent's Hospital, also St. Francis' Hospital, but Mrs. Kurzhals was not there. It was then decided to try and find her through the assistance of the local police precinct. There they were told that Mrs. Kurzhals had been taken to the New York Hospital and she was found at that institution.

Word of the accident came to Mrs. Kurzhals' family early in the afternoon, when it was understood that her condition was not serious. As far as can be learned she was struck by a surface car not far from the place she was visiting; probably becoming confused in crossing a street. She was taken care of by a policeman on that beat, who summoned an ambulance and had her removed to the hospital.

The physicians in charge of Mrs. Kurzhals at the hospital were unable to give any definite statement yesterday as to the seriousness of her injuries, but the family feels sure that her condition is not critical or they would have been informed of the fact.

Mrs. Kurzhals is about sixty years old and is quite stout. For these reasons she might easily become confused in a busy street where there is a great deal of constant travel. She is of a nervous temperament and no doubt is suffering as much from the shock attending the accident as anything else. During the day the family expect to learn more definitely of her condition.

MRS EMELINE STROBELL DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME.

Mrs. Emeline Strobell, widow of Edward C. Strobell, and daughter of George Opdyke, who was Mayor of New York city during the Civil War, died at her home in New York yesterday, of heart failure. She had been an invalid for a great many years and her death was not unexpected. Mrs. Strobell was a sister of George F. Opdyke, of West Eighth street, and was an occasional visitor to this city.

Mrs. Strobell was born in New York, but lived for many years on Clinton place, Newark, where her father built a house. She was a faithful member of the Collegiate Reformed church, New York. She was married in 1858 to Edward C. Strobell, who for years was a prominent dry goods merchant in New York. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Edward A. Sheppard, of Montclair, and Miss Ella Strobell, of Madison avenue, New York, also three brothers, William S. and H. B. Opdyke, of New York, and George F. Opdyke, of this city.

The funeral service will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning from the residence of the daughter, Miss Ella Strobell, in New York, to the burial will be in Mt. Pleasant cemetery, Newark.

C. H. Morse's New Position.

Charles H. Morse, of Franklin place, formerly publication manager of the Ingersoll-Rand Company, and more recently of the Campbell Art Company, is now associated with the Robert L. Stillson Company, of New York. The company, whose office is located at 22 Centre street, New York, is engaged in the printing of advertising literature.

Westfield's Refused Injunction.

Vice Chancellor Walker at Trenton yesterday refused the application of several citizens of Westfield for an injunction against H. L. Fink, of Westfield and the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company in the case arising out of the building of a subway by the telephone corporation.

MYSTIC RAPS SPELL FISK

'Spirits' Announce That Our Mayor Will Be Next Governor of State.

HAND OUT OTHER "DOPE."

Taft Next President—Raymond Next Senator From Essex—Fort Good Governor.

A number of residents of Mt. Holly have taken up occult sciences for amusement these days and some of them have become "born believers." They have absorbed knowledge from Circuit Court Judge Frank T. Lloyd, at Seaside Park, where the judge and some of Mt. Holly's first citizens go for the summer. The judge is a student of spiritualism and has presided at a number of impromptu seances at the seashore. One of the things he has specialized in is "table rapping," and so apt have been some of his "scholars" that they have taken to "seancing" themselves at their homes there.

The other night several of them got together in a dimly lighted room and placed their hands on a small table. A couple of Burlington county "regular" Republicans were in the assemblage. They were inclined to scoff at the proceedings and when the spirit of the table responding to their influence, as it is called, they asked a series of questions with a view of disproving the reliability of the replies. By Judge Lloyd's "system" one rap on the table means "no"; two and three sharp, quick raps mean "yes." In "spelling" names the table does so by raps, also, the number of raps corresponding with the numerical position of the letter in the alphabet. For instance, in spelling Taft the table raps twenty times, pause a moment, then rap once, then six times and again twenty times. The table rapped out "Taft" a good many times during the evening and he was proclaimed by the "spirit" as "the next President." "The next best man to be Roosevelt," and several other things. But it was when the "regulars" got to quizzing about Essex county conditions that surprises came. Those who were supposed to be the real mystifiers were women and were not believed to be acquainted with north State politics so that when the table was asked "Who will be the next Senator from Essex?" it did seem mystifying the table should give the raps that corresponded with the spelling of "Raymond."

"Who would be the next Governor?" brought two reponses, the first being "Colby" and the other "Fisk." The "Fisk" answer was presumed to refer to Charles J. Fisk, Mayor of Plainfield and chairman of the State Excise Commission. Anyhow, that's the way the "seancers" decided and on the political inquiries "disclosed" that Fort has made the best Governor of the State, that he will be the next United States Senator and that Senator Samuel K. Robbins, of Burlington county, will not be the next president of the Senate. The seances are becoming quite a fad and in some houses are being held nightly.

GREENBROOK ROAD MAY BE MACADAMIZED SOON

The property owners on Greenbrook road interested in the proposition to widen and macadamize that thoroughfare the distance of a mile and quarter, from Ed. Gavin's corner to Debele's farm, have hopes that their efforts will be rewarded this fall and the Somerset County Board of Freeholders will agree to make the improvement.

The plan is to widen the street seventy-two feet, with a sixteen foot macadam and turf on either side, similar to the West End avenue boulevard in the borough. It would afford an outlet for the people of the borough to and from Dunellen and give outsiders a direct thoroughfare through the borough to points beyond over a good road.

When Freeholder Andrew Lutkins was asked concerning the improvement he expressed himself in favor of it and said that he believed that a sufficient number of the board would vote with him to put the road in first-class condition. If the county authorities decide to make the improvement the property owners along the line will dedicate enough land to make the road the full seventy-two feet wide.

Two Hairs.

"I begin to realize," said young Mr. Kallow, "that I am no longer a mere youth now that I've got a little hair on my lip."

"Yes," said Miss Knox, "and I suppose in a month or so you'll have another one."—Catholic Standard and Times.

A Chancery Proceeding.

Proceedings for divorce have been instituted in the Court of Chancery by A. C. Stebbins, of this city, against his wife, Anna M. Stebbins. Reed & Coddington represent Mr. Stebbins.

Honor of Giving Title to the Starry Banner Belongs to Captain William Driver.

FLAG AS HIS COMPANION.

The Much Treasured Emblem of Nation Is Still In Existence—It May Be Preserved at Washington.

Captain William Driver, the man who christened the American flag "Old Glory," was born in Salem, Mass., March 17, 1803.

At the age of thirteen Driver was apprenticed to a blacksmith. Instead of making plows and shoeing horses, however, the blacksmith's wife set him at work milking cows and doing light chores. In order that he might surpass the other boys of the place in personal appearance, the blacksmith's wife clothed him with a shirtwaist of unbleached goods, with great rows of ruffles down the front. Driver demurred, but the blacksmith's wife insisted that the shirt must stay on.

However, when Driver was going out through the gate it was noticed that he rolled up his sleeves; he knew that he was in for a fight with every boy in town. When he got around the corner he carefully cut away as much of the ruffles as he could, but he had to fight, nevertheless; and he came out of it all triumphant, though somewhat disgraced, as might be expected of a lad that had to lick the whole crowd just because some woman puts a ridiculous costume on him. So he ran away and went to sea.

During his first voyages at sea after a severe storm, which caused the ship to spring a leak, the men refused to work the pumps unless their wages were raised. The old captain of the ship sent Driver below for his pistols and pipe. When he brought them on deck the captain cut the boats loose, lit his pipe, sat down and notified the men they would either pump or "all hands would go to hell together." They returned to the pump and saved the ship.

He sailed with this captain for five years, who soon afterward made him mate, and from him he learned many valuables and useful lessons. He left him to become a mate on another vessel, and soon afterward trading master. At the age of twenty-one he was made master of a ship in 1824.

It was about this time that he christened the flag "Old Glory," as the little old captain had seen some stirring times under its folds and considered no name too sacred for it. He commanded different ships from that time on until he left the ocean and settled in Nashville, Tenn., in 1837. He passed through many hardships and adventures after leaving her became captain, was chased by a heavily armed "Yankee pirate" in the Caribbean Sea for six hours. He outsailed and dodged him in the dark, and saw the pirate hanged afterward.

He had considerable experience with Malay pirates and South Sea cannibals, to say nothing of the ocean storms. He left Salem once in company with six other vessels. They were caught in one of the worst snow and wind storms ever known on the New England coast. His ship alone escaped; the other six and all on board were lost. He stood at the wheel for forty-eight hours during the storm and saved his ship.

During this voyage he rescued sixty-five persons, descendants of the mutineers of the English ship Bounty, and had been taken from Pitcairn Island to Tahiti and were dying with fever. He took them back to Pitcairn Island, their original home, 1,400 miles out of his course, free. He received a very pathetic testimonial for his kindness, dated September 6, 1831, signed by their teacher, George H. Nobbs, and others.

From there he sailed completely around Australia and adjacent islands before he returned home. He afterward made two trips around the world; the last in 1836, in the ship Black Warrior, was the shortest on record for a sailing vessel, the log showing about 40,000 miles in 197 sailing days, nearly seven miles log run per hour, fair or foul weather. The trip, including eighty-nine days' stoppage in ports, made it altogether 240 days. This was his last trip to sea.

His flag "Old Glory" which had been his companion for years he packed in his camphor wood sea chest and moved to Nashville, Tenn., in 1837, where he died March 2, 1856. He gave the flag to his daughter, Mary Anne Roland, in 1837. She still has it in her possession at Wells, Nev. Its original dimension was 10 by 20 feet, blue field 5 by 6, an anchor in the lower inside corner blue field, 13 stripes and at the breaking out of the war for 13 stars, the number of States in the Union at that time. He asked to have a new star put on the flag every time a new State was admitted, but added none after the war, as the old flag had seen its day.

An effort will be made to have this flag taken to Washington and placed in the National archives and historical relics.—Salt Lake Herald.

WANT W. L. SMALLEY, JR., TO RUN FOR COUNCIL

William L. Smalley, Jr., of Greenbrook road, is being urged by North Plainfield Republicans in the First district to accept a nomination for Council. He has not given his decision as yet but there is excellent reason to believe that he will make the running if Alexander Milne, who is also mentioned for the place, decides not to file a petition. Mr. Smalley is a brother of former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, the Republican leader in North Plainfield, and has a host of political friends in the borough.

"I am not in politics," said W. L. Smalley, Jr., when asked today about his candidacy, "but I believe that it is a man's duty to serve his fellow-taxpayers when called upon to do so. I have no inclination to hold public office but should my friends insist upon my running, I am frank enough to admit that I will comply with their wishes. There must be no scratching of my nomination and if chosen by the voters I will serve them to the best of my ability."

The terms of Clifford W McGee, of the First district, and Edward P. T. Smith, of the Second district, expire this fall. Mr. McGee says that he will not take another term, and Mr. Smith is undecided. Both have rendered valuable service during their terms of office. No one among the Republicans in the Second district has announced himself as a candidate to succeed Mr. Smith.

MANILA CANNON GIFT TO NEW BRUNSWICK

Former Mayor Drury W. Cooper, of New Brunswick, has received a letter from Lieutenant Colonel William C. Butler, formerly of that city, in which he writes that he has shipped to New Brunswick two historic cannon as a gift to his native town. Mr. Cooper turned over the letter to Mayor Florence, who has written to Lieutenant Colonel Butler a letter of acceptance and has notified him that he will bring the matter to the attention of Common Council.

Nothing has been decided as yet as to where the cannon will be placed. It might be possible to have them placed about the public library on Livingston avenue. The cannon are known as Lantakas from Manila and have quite a history.

NEW JERSEY PRISON AGAIN OVERCROWDED

The State prison at Trenton is overcrowded again, despite the fact that no more federal prisoners are sent there, and those there last year have been removed to Atlanta, Ga. President Mitchell and Messrs Shurts and Connor, of the Prison Board of Inspectors, have been selected a committee to report to the Governor and ask for a new wing for the women prisoners. They also want additional cells for men.

The prison was built in 1835, with twenty-nine cells for women and 226 cells for men. In the years since, new additional cells have been provided for women, and there are now fifty-six women occupying twenty-nine cells.

There are about 1,400 convicts in the prison, and the number is increasing rapidly.

WANT TO SUBSTITUTE ARC LIGHTS FOR INCANDESCENTS.

Councilman Francis L. Montgomery, who is chairman of the lighting committee, is still agitating the question of installing a number of arc lights in the business and thickly populated sections of the city. The Board of Trade is urging the improvement and the Plainfield Merchants' Association also favors the plan. The idea is to establish fifty arc lamps, it being the opinion that for every two installed five incandescent lights could be abolished. This would mean a saving of $15 on every incandescent. The Public Service Corporation will provide the arc lights for $35 a year for each lamp.

It is Mr. Montgomery's plan to place the arc lights on Front street, between Richmond street and Grant avenue, on Watchung, Park avenues and Fourth street, where the travel is the heaviest. He does not believe that it will be possible to hold a meeting of the committee this week, but he hopes to arrange for one before the September meeting of the Council so that if favorable action is taken the lights can be installed by October 1 at the latest.

To Remove a Cinder.

If one gets a cinder in the eye and has not an eye-cup at hand to use, the offending particle may generally be removed by rolling up a piece of paper like a lamplighter, wetting the tip and going after the cinder with it. A medicine dropper, too, may be used to advantage, if available. Never rub the eye in which the cinder is; a gentle rubbing of the other toward the nose may start action in the tear ducts and carry off, the particle.

Make Use of Old Paint.

FOWLER GETTING ANXIOUS

Makes Hurried Visit to Plainfield and with Mac Murray Calls on "Uncle Dan."

UNION COUNTY AGAINST HIM.

Rank and File In This County Oppose His Renomination—Want Morris to Pick a Favorite Son.

Having been "tipped off" that the Republicans in Union county, almost to a man, are opposed to his renomination, Charles N. Fowler has been busying himself since last week in obtaining support in the Fifth Congressional district. In addition to visits to his home town, Elizabeth, and to Morris county, he has been solicitous here in Plainfield and has been to Trenton in company with State Treasurer "Dan" Toorhees, the boss of Morris county.

The Congressman journeyed to Plainfield Friday, which he visited two years ago, and had a long talk with City Clerk James T. MacMurray, the Union county lieutenant. The two took a train for Trenton and on their arrival hunted up "Uncle Dan." Afterwards, Mr. Fowler gave it out that it was a purely social talk, but as a matter of fact MacMurray pledged himself to Fowler and thereby took a position against the Union county leaders.

"Uncle Dan," in the course of an interview ten days ago, said, "Morris county elected Fowler two years ago and I guess we can do it again. This is not quite another term, and Union county leaders who say that Morris has no right to come into Union and dictate by picking a man from Union against the protest of this county's leaders. The Union bosses declare that while he would undoubtedly win in a Presidential year, the results two years ago shows that he will hurt the county ticket inasmuch as his radical Democratic opponent swept Union, the strongest Republican county in New Jersey.

A singular condition of affairs is presented here by the stand now assumed by the senior member of the MacMurray - McCardell "machine." The factory inspector is a strong supporter of the organization and has openly declared that in his opinion Mr. Fowler's nomination would be disastrous to the party. County Chairman Frank H. Smith today declined to express his views other than to say that he had found that a strong feeling exists in Union against the wisdom of nominating Fowler.

Union county, it is reliably reported, will present a solid front to Morris that that county might present. James H. McGraw, of Madison, or John H. Capstick, of Morristown, are preferred in this section but the leaders give it out that any other man from Morris will be opposed. "Tom" Hillery, they say accordingly to report, would be given a flattering vote in the convention.

The Trenton True American today said: "Congressman Charles N. Fowler, some times of Elizabeth, but more frequently of Vermont, where he owns and operates a rich marble quarry—was a visitor at the State house yesterday, accompanied by City Clerk James T. MacMurray, of Plainfield, his political confidant in the Fifth district. The pair called on State Treasurer Toorhees and became in earnest conversation with him for some time. "Oh, nothing but a social call on 'Uncle Dan;' you know we are old friends," said the Congressman when asked what the mission of his visit to the State house was. Although Mr. Fowler would not admit it, his call in "Uncle Dan" was to find out where the foxy old politician stands in reference to the Republican Congressional nomination in the Fifth district, of which Morris county is a part. Mr. Fowler is busy just now repairing his political fences preparatory to welcoming a renomination which he is seeking only to discover that there is widespread opposition to his own party to his continuance in Congress. "Uncle Dan" Voorhees, when asked regarding the renomination of Congressman Fowler, simply said: "Morris county elected Fowler two years ago, and I guess we can do it again."

"But when one tries to find out why Voorhees is supporting Fowler in preference to some other Union county Republican "Uncle Dan" winks his eye."

Do Not Neglect the 'Phone.

The story that recent experiments found the germs of tuberculosis lurking in the mouthpiece of telephones may be believed. How many persons are there who make a practise of carefully wiping the mouthpiece before using a public telephone? Yet there telephones are used by thousands of persons of all sorts and with all sorts of complaints every week. Even the mouthpieces and receivers of home telephones should be given attention every day. A housewife not given to the cleanly habit will be astonished, not to say disgusted, to find what can be removed from the mouthpiece of her 'phone if she applies a damp white cloth.

Police Magistrate—I'll give you $10 and costs.

Prisoner—I ain't no hog; your honor. Gimme the $10 and you may keep the costs.—Chicago News.

The Coroner's Jury at Asbury Park Blames Railroad Company for Neglect.

PLAINFIELDERS AS WITNESSES.

Jury Says Kiely's Carelessness Was Responsible For Fatal Accident —Verdict Reached Quickly.

Inquest into the death of William J. Kiely, of this city, who was killed by being run over at the Asbury Park station, was held Friday afternoon in the council chamber at Asbury Park by Coroner William E. Macdonald. The verdict reached by this body after about 10 minutes' consultation was in brief as follows:

"We declare that the said William J. Kiely met his death by carelessness on his own part and neglect on the part of the railroad company to use sufficient protection. We recommend that the railroad company erect a barrier between the track and the platform as present conditions only invite further accident and loss of life."

The first witness was Dr. R. S. Bennett, who viewed the body of Mr. Kiely. He testified that the skull was fractured, the neck broken, right shoulder crushed, right ribs all broken, right arm mangled and hand nearly torn away. Expressman Charles Keith, Frank Kinch, Jos. old Everton and George Stevens all gave evidence as having been near the scene of the accident and seen Mr. Kiely on the step prior to his death. According to them he had grasped the hand rails and in losing his grip with one hand swung around and fell under the train.

John J. Kenney, of this city, and one of the members of the excursion committee, said that with his family he had boarded the first section at the siding near Springwood avenue. As it pulled into the station he was on the rear end of the second car.

When it reached the south baggage room Kiely emerged from the crowd and the depot platform and grasped the hand rails of both the second and third cars. He let go with one hand and fell between the cars. Other Plainfield men who were on the excursion were John Hines, Patrick S. Kiely, chief of police of this city, but no relative to the unfortunate man, Thomas Carty and Thos. Gough. W. J. Kiely's brother-in-law, all of whom corroborated the testimony given before.

The railroad men all testified that the speed of the train was about five miles an hour.

The following letter sent a few days ago by Albert E. Kenney to the Jersey Central management soon brought a response that the company will consider the suggestions:

"I beg to call your attention to the fatal accident which we had on our excursion on Thursday last given by the Knights of Columbus, Plainfield. This excursion was free to Sunday-school children of our local parishes, and quite a considerable number of them took advantage of it.

"After the accident in which Mr. W. J. Kiely lost his life while attempting to board a moving train, we had come to the conclusion that the arrangements made for taking care of a crowd of people such as excursionists are, are not adequate either at Plainfield or at Asbury Park, and I am calling your attention to the matter so that these deficiencies will be remedied and make your patrons safe on future occasions.

"The committee representing the Knights of Columbus feel very much grieved over this accident, after they had exerted every measure within their grasp to properly care for their people, that one of their patrons in an unguarded moment over which they had no control, lost his life. It is not a wonder that he was killed, but the wonder is that many more do not meet the same fate. It was perfectly natural for this man who was separated from his friends to attempt to board the train on which he thought they were. It is the first instinct for a level headed man to join his friends even when taking a risk. We all do it so often that it is a matter of little concern to us unless it be reminded to our notice as it was in this case.

"Asbury Park is esentially a community for excursionists, whether they come in large numbers or in two's and three's, and to think that the feeble arrangements which you have at that station are adequate to handle all these years, is more than I can understand. Either have no excursions or have them properly conducted. There is no ground too valuable at Asbury Park to give up for proper facilities for railroads, and our committee will not let this matter rest until some cognizance is taken of this complaint.

"I would suggest that there be terminal tracks at some convenient point, preferably near the present station, and these tracks be used exclusively for unloading of trains of load passengers in due form, giving proper time and facilities for such purpose, and these terminal tracks be protected by fences and gates with proper officials in charge, and with proper signs designating the destination and time of each excursion. These terminal tracks could be located on both sides of the main tracks and proper tunnels under the road bed, so that people would not have to cross the tracks and that there would be no cross-overs for trains to make.

"I am taking the liberty of submitting a sketch, which to my mind would be the basis of some such arrangement, and I am not taking into consideration the fact except that the proper handling of crowds to secure them from danger, is the paramount feature of Asbury Park and other places of this kind. If think we have a right to look for this as we go out and undertake the handling of these crowds for the benefit of your railroad as much as for ourselves. We gather together large sums of money, in this instance nearly eight hundred dollars was paid to you by our committee, and this should insure every possible accommodation, and I trust that the same thing is repeated several times during the season by the people of this community. I request your consideration of these matters in behalf of our committee, and I am sure that by placing it in your hands that it will receive the attention of the proper people in due course, and will get the best results that is in the power of your company to extend. We think that you should co-operate with the people who have to deal with these crowds, and get their views on what would suit best unit them rather than construct facilities which are of a more temporary or inadequate nature."

"The same conditions that exist at Asbury Park exist at Plainfield. Women and children are brought to the station in small crowds of regular passengers, several trains pass through and scarcely one of the above know for whence they are bound or when the excursion trains comes along. Consequently there is a danger here. On Thursday morning last a local train passed through this crowd of people on the outside track nearest the platform, some persons standing within a foot of the moving train, and scarcely an officer in charge. For the Plainfield and I would suggest that permanent platforms be located away from the station for the loading and unloading of excursionists. A sketch herewith submitted would show one way to do it.

"Another season should not pass until these dangers will have been minimized to the extent that only the grossest negligence would result in injury to any person patronizing your road in these occasions."

JULY BANNER MONTH FOR JERSEY FARMERS

July was the banner month for the South Jersey farmers. They distributed more than a million dollars' worth of produce over the New England States, the Middle West and Canada. This is the unprecedented record of shipments for July from points located on the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad, a part of the Pennsylvania Railroad system.

The estimated value of the produce shipped last month from the six lower counties of New Jersey was $1,178,000, an increase over July, 1907, of $746,800. It took 2,945 freight cars to transport this produce to the various markets—nearly 20 miles of cars, if made up in one train.

To enable the farmer to market his products quickly and secure the most advantageous prices, special schedules were established, and trains known as "preference freights" were run, making time only equalled by passenger trains. The market has also been greatly widened as a result of the development campaign undertaken by the Pennsylvania Railroad in behalf of the commercial and agricultural interest of Southern New Jersey. During the winter commission merchants and buyers all over the country were supplied with lists of reliable growers and shippers in this district.

Instead of being confined, as in former days, to a nearby market, generally in an overcrowded condition, meaning poor prices, the South Jersey farmer is now in as close touch with his markets as any business man, and to the fact that his products are forwarded to destinations where he will receive the maximum price.

That the construction by the Pennsylvania Railroad of the bridge across the Delaware river has resulted in improved through-train service, and has brought the interior markets many hours nearer the South Jersey produce shipper, is seen from the large area over which the July shipments were distributed. About half of this produce, 1,232 cars, went to Jersey City and Newark, 1,015 to Philadelphia and Camden took 413, Boston 258, Buffalo 127, Pittsburg 249, Chicago 34, Indiana 4, Kansas 3, Michigan 2, Ohio 68, Rhode Island 27, Connecticut 24, New Hampshire 27, Maine 2, Massachusetts points, other than Boston, 68, and Canada 19.

A Convention Speech.

"Louder! Louder!" shrieked the delegates.

"Gentlemen," protested the presiding officer, "I can assure you that the disappointment of those who can't hear isn't a marker to the disappointment of those who can."—Philadelphia Ledger.

STOPS RUNAWAY BY AUTO

W. H. Chamberlain Overtakes Galloping Horse on Park Ave. and Blocks its Path.

PARTY THROWN FROM BUGGY.

Charles Scribner and Sister-in-Law Bruised When Rig Struck Curb On Wild Run.

Using his automobile as a barrier to the galloping horse, William H. Chamberlain, of Westfield, was finally successful in stopping the runaway belonging to Charles Scribner, of that city, on Park avenue yesterday afternoon, smashed the buggy into kindling wood, and broken free to gallop along Park avenue towards Oak Tree. Mr. Scribner and his sister-in-law, Miss Agnes Vail, were in the buggy when the horse took fright under the Park avenue railroad bridge at about 3:30 o'clock, and were thrown heavily when the frightened animal crashed into the curb on Park avenue near Fifth street. They were assisted to Dr. S. H. Lowrie's house near by, where an examination showed that the bones were broken, and were later able to proceed home in a rig hired from a local liveryman.

Mr. Chamberlain, who was with a party of friends in his auto, saw the galloping animal just before the crash, and when he saw the buggy turn over onto the sidewalk and the occupants thrown out, the harness dangling, dash on out Park avenue, he stopped his machine, persuaded the other members of the party to alight, and turning around, set off in pursuit of the horse. He easily overtook it, but as it was galloping that it could not capture it. Driving his car along beside it, he gradually forced the horse into the gutter, near Muhlenberg Hospital, making the auto act as a complete barrier after the horse's speed was sufficiently reduced. When, but were badly bruised about the face and body.

MRS. SIMS CELEBRATES HER 92ND ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Mehaly Sims, one of Plainfield's oldest known residents, celebrated the ninety-second anniversary of her birthday on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Runyon on Putnam avenue, where she has been living for many years. In honor of the event Mrs. Sims received a flood of birthday greetings and beautiful postal cards which brought her much cheer and happiness for the day.

Mrs. Sims was born in Plainfield and has always lived here. She is considered to be one of the few oldest residents and has always enjoyed excellent health for her years, though she has suffered to some extent from defective vision which makes it necessary for her to have a companion when she leaves the house.

She is the oldest member of the First Baptist church and ever since she joined that congregation has been a regular and faithful attendant at the Sunday and mid-week services and has always evidenced a deep interest. She is of a particularly happy disposition and despite her old age and infirmities attendant with it she is one of the most cheerful members of the family.

Midsummer Posies.

The midsummer hats have taken on new kids of flowers. The hollyhock has been succeeded by the dahlia.

To be in fashion one must now use blossoms, jasmine and quantities of fern.

In truth, one hat that was retrimmed for a two weeks' vacation and which proved very fetching, was made of natural colored straw and the crown and part of the brim were heaped with layers of green fern all spreading downward.

Any the brim, underneath, was a one inch strip of green taffeta. Four hatpins of imitation jade were used.

The hat was worn with a natural colored cotton linen coat suit which had green linen collar and cuffs.

Picnic Mixtures.

Dill pickles and custard
Mashed in a punch,
Are all to the mustard
For berdday lunch.
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

2D CLASS R.R. RATABLES

Decrease in Assessments Cause Big Falling Off in Revenue for the State.

THE VALUATIONS ARE HIGHER.

Tax Returns, However, Are Much Lower—State Board of Assessors Makes Its Report.

Showing an increase of $27,540,723 as compared with the valuation in 1905, the State Board of Assessors at Trenton has completed its assessments of the second class railroad property in New Jersey for 1906 and 1907, as provided by Chapter 6 of the laws of 1905. The total assessments on this property for 1907 are $74,063,057, while in 1905 the valuations were $45,522,328. The aggregate assessments for 1906 are $71,840,887, an increase over 1905 of $25,318,559. The assessments for 1907 present an increase over those of 1906 of $2,222,170.

The laws of 1903 directed that these assessments be made within three months from the date of the approval of the act, which was March 4 last. At the end of the three months, however, the valuations have not been finished and the members of the Jersey City board began mandamus proceedings to compel the State Board of Assessors to comply with the act. The board claimed that it was a physical impossibility to make all the assments on this property within the time specified. Upon the hearing on the mandamus proceedings the board showed to the satisfaction of the court that it had not been dilatory and the mandamus was refused. Following that the valuations have now been completed.

The situation leading up to this reassessment of the second class railroad property is as follows: The Legislature of 1906 passed an act removing from the jurisdiction of the State Board the assessment of second class railroad property and placed it in the hands of the local taxing authorities. Under that act the local authorities levied the assessments in their respective taxing districts for 1906 and 1907. The act of 1906 was attacked by the railroad companies and was declared unconstitutional, thus nullifying the local valuations for the two years. That can still be attached to another machine. The individual is not dead because you have buried his body.

Someone said when asked about his thought of another life: "I feel as if I am standing on a plank that reaches out into the fog, and I have got to keep walking. I can see ten feet ahead of me possibly. I know that pretty soon I shall reach the end of the plank; perhaps tonight, perhaps next week, perhaps in twenty years, but I know it will end, and I have not the slighest idea into what. I don't believe anybody else does and I don't like it."

Why does he not like it? Because he longs for the persistence of his individual life. He makes a mistake, however, in saying that nobody else has an idea of the future. The Lord knew and therefore said: "Let not your heart be troubled—I go to prepare a place for you."

Dr. Maudsley when asked his opinion as to personal immortality replied: "As I look over the world and see, not the kind of people we create as ideals, but people as they really are, all the way from bushmen and tramps clear up to the common kind of millionaire, I cannot make it seem worth while to keep on with such a universe to keep them."

At first sight, it does not seem worth while, but think it over. It may be, as Dr. Savage says: "Some of the millionaires as well as some of the tramps may have germs of possibility within them that some day will come to something really worth while to keep." This is what the Lord teaches us. It is not what a man is,—even the commonest kind of man—but what he may become that He sees, and He sees as man can see only in part of the universe to keep them."

	1907.	1906.
P. R. R.	368,855.97	$ 485,040.85
C. R. R.	187,475.99	244,633.44
P. & R.	19,298.56	19,048.52
Erie	150,324.24	219,807.18
D., L. & W.	240,471.44	325,140.73
N. Y. S. & W.	20,874.96	21,449.35
Lehigh V.	90,799.41	126,433.80
Not classified	102,685.60	141,576.72
Totals	$1,180,786.17	$1,583,130.60

It will be noticed that, although the assessment of 1907 shows an increase of more than $2,000,000 over 1906, the tax levied for 1907 is $402,343.43 less than the tax of 1906. This is accounted by the operations of the Hillery Maximum Tax Rate law which has reduced the tax rate in most of the taxing districts in the State. The tax on second class railroad property is based on the local rate in each district.

The State Board of Assessors having completed these assessments, State Comptroller West will compute the taxes due each taxing district throughout the State, then after the money is paid into the State Treasury by the companies the sum due each municipality will be distributed to it.

Tuesday, August 24, has been fixed by the State Board as a time for the hearing of any appeals that may be filed by the railroad companies from these assessments. The board is now engaged in making up the valuations of the second class railroad property for 1908, in order that these valuations may be added to the ratables of the respective districts. The taxing districts will report to the State Board their respective tax rates in order that the tax may be computed. The tax will be collected by the State Comptroller and then remited to the municipalities.

"A Place for You."

Fifth of a Series on Heaven by

REV. DR. CHARLES E. HERRING

"A place for you." That is what your Lord says about your future. It is not somebody else's place that you are to occupy in the other world, but just your place, the place adapted to your need, the place which will satisfy your individual requirements, and in which you will be supremely happy. Our Lord knew the individual needs of His disciples. There were twelve of them. They were of such varied temperaments that they should be a misfit to the world. The heaven He would prepare for them must be as different as they were; or they never would be satisfied; and, if for them, for us, too; for the Bible was written for our inspiration, and one of the fundamental revelations of our Lord was that the human soul is of infinite value in the sight of God. He taught men that God cares as much for one soul as though He had no other care; He values each man's individuality, and our Lord declares that each man's individuality will persist in the next world, for in the world, you will simply be yourself.

A Brahman of India believes that he will live hereafter, but that his individuality will be lost. He thinks of his life here as a bubble on the ocean of existence. When the bubble is individualized for the moment, but death breaks the bubble and the individual man is lost in this great ocean.

That is not the Lord's message to men. He declares that the angels rejoice over a single soul that decides for God. The angels know the eternal value of a single soul in the sight of God. That thought satisfies you as nothing else does. You would not change your identity with the richest and most favored of earth, for you would rather be yourself in eternity when you know that within you there is the possibility of indefinite improvement. Death will be like going to sleep and waking up in the morning.

The interment of a man's mortal remains does not destroy his individuality; we never bury our friends, we bury their bodies. The body is the organ of a man, as a machine is the organ of a dynamo. You can detach the machine but you have not destroyed the dynamo. That can still be attached to another machine. The individual is not dead because you have buried his body.

Someone said when asked about his thought of another life: "I feel as if I am standing on a plank that reaches out into the fog, and I have got to keep walking. I can see ten feet ahead of me possibly. I know that pretty soon I shall reach the end of the plank; perhaps tonight, perhaps next week, perhaps in twenty years, but I know it will end, and I have not the slighest idea into what. I don't believe anybody else does and I don't like it."

Why does he not like it? Because he longs for the persistence of his individual life. He makes a mistake, however, in saying that nobody else has an idea of the future. The Lord knew and therefore said: "Let not your heart be troubled—I go to prepare a place for you."

Dr. Maudsley when asked his opinion as to personal immortality replied: "As I look over the world and see, not the kind of people we create as ideals, but people as they really are, all the way from bushmen and tramps clear up to the common kind of millionaire, I cannot make it seem worth while to keep on with such a universe to keep them."

At first sight, it does not seem worth while, but think it over. It may be, as Dr. Savage says: "Some of the millionaires as well as some of the tramps may have germs of possibility within them that some day will come to something really worth while to keep." This is what the Lord teaches us. It is not what a man is,—even the commonest kind of man—but what he may become that He sees, and He sees as man can see only in part of the

The Costitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1908.

THE RAILROAD AT FAULT.

The following editorial in Saturday's issue of the Asbury Park Evening Press is of interest to Plainfielders from the fact that it outlines the views of hundreds of local citizens who visit the shore resort at frequent intervals:

"The coroner's jury in the case of W. J. Kiely, who was killed a few days ago at the Asbury Park station, upholds in its verdict the contention of The Press, that the railroad company is morally bound to provide barriers at the main station for the protection of passengers. The verdict charges the company with neglect and recommends that barriers be erected between tracks and platforms; only invite accident and loss of life.'

"No other conclusion could be reached by the coroner's jury. Mr. Kiely's death could have been avoided by proper precautions had the railroad company observed the ordinary rules that govern them at railroad stations in populous cities. The accident is liable to be repeated any day and next time it occurs the responsibility of the railroad company must be greater and more easily determined. To leave the depot in its present condition, as The Press claimed after the accident and as the coroner's jury states in its verdict, is but to invite 'further accident and loss of life.'

"Neglect in this matter is all the more reprehensible because the cost of a temporary barrier such as would answer the purpose until permanent fences are built would be insignificant. We hope the railroad company will accept the warning of this verdict grounded on equity and thorough comprehension of the public flights and take the immediate steps to remedy the dangerous condition."

WATER SUPPLY IS ASSURED.

Tuberculosis Sanitarium Threatened with Dearth Until Workmen Place New Pipe.

Because of the extremely dry weather in the central part of the State, the springs on the site of the State Sanitarium for Tuberculous Diseases at Glen Gardner, which supply that institution with water, have been so low that its use has been restricted during the last two weeks, and fears were entertained that a water famine is inevitable.

So serious was the condition that last Monday A. L. Beavers, of Glen Gardner, a member of the board of managers, ordered a pump and pipe from the city, a gang of men were set to work digging a trench and laying pipe, and by Saturday more than 1,500 feet of pipe has been laid to a stream near Rocky Run and a stream of water was flowing in the reservoir at the rate of eighty gallons per minute. The fluid is of purest mountain spring water, and is said to be never-failing. There are now about one hundred patients at the sanitarium, and the sanitary rules of the institution require a great deal of water.

SUMMER LUNCHEONS.

"A hearty luncheon salad may be made of peas and hard-boiled eggs," writes Fannie Merritt Farmer in Woman's Home Companion for August. "Cold boiled peas unseasoned or canned peas may be used. If canned peas are used, see to it that they are thoroughly rinsed with cold water and allowed to become reoxygenated. Marinate peas with a French dressing, cover, and let stand in a cold place one hour, and then mound on a salad dish. Arrange alternately around the base of the mound halves of hard-boiled eggs cut lengthwise, and crisp lettuce leaves. Garnish with mayonnaise dressing.

"Dried chipped beef is an excellent substitute for fresh meat when made into hollandaise sauce. Finely chop cold boiled potatoes; there should be two cupfuls. Add three-fourths of a cupful of dried chipped beef cut into small pieces and three canned pimentoes finely cut. Season with pepper, and add more sale if necessary, and enough cream to moisten. Turn into a buttered baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake in a hot oven until crumbs are brown. Serve at once."

AMUSEMENTS.

The program that will be presented at Proctor's Newark theatre during the week of August 17 is of such uniform excellence that it is difficult to headline any special act. Among the better known vaudevilians who will help further merriment are: Jack Norworth, fresh from his bonneymoon with a new bugst of "College Boy" songs and some of his latest parodies; William Weedy, assisted by a company of ten trained voices will present a condensed version of "The Chimes of Normandy," arranged by Mr. Wolff and entitled "Old Father Gaspard;" Tom Hanlon, Joseph Watson and company will appear in a sketch entitled "Nearly a Manager;" Bertish, a wonderful athlete, will make his first appearance here by a series of marvelous feats of strength; "The Star Spangled Banner" is a patriotic little melodrama of the late war. Another novelty will be "The Little Sailors," representing different nations with the songs and dances peculiar to each. The Gillette Sisters will offer a black face singing and dancing turn; Smith and Heagney will be seen in a comedy singing and dancing sketch entitled "Writing a Hit," introducing artistic piano playing and crisp comedy. A new series of comic animated pictures will round out the bill.

NEW THEATRE IN NEWARK.

Judging by the activity which prevails at the Lyric, the latest of new play houses of Newark, it is believed that the opening will take place in the city near future. September 19 is the date named for the opening according to the announcement made by the management.

The Lyric will be one of the finest theatres in the State and will be absolutely fire-proof; re-inforced concrete being used in all the interior. The flooring, boxes and even the rails are of this material. The local firm of architects, Messrs. Backoff & Hughes, are responsible for the design and plan of construction.

The management is in the hands of William H. Currie, the well-known theatrical manager of New York. Mr. Currie was associated with the late and well-beloved Charles H. Hoyt, and later with George H. Broadhurst, the successful playwright and manager. Dr. Aaron P. Ordway, of New York, is the owner and builder of the Lyric.

The attractions are to be strictly high-class vaudeville booked by William Morris, the most popular vaudeville agent in New York. Mr. Morris represents all the higher class of vaudeville artists. An early attraction announced is Harry Lauder, the immovable Scotch comedian.

AUGUST RECREATION.

The midsummer number of this popular outdoor magazine will appeal to all. It is very profusely and attractively illustrated. It is also timely, full of the spirit of the season and most of them very helpful to those who are seeking the different methods of recreation. A few of the leading articles, each one of them well illustrated, are "Canoeing in the Surf," "A Trip Through the Liverpool Waters in Canada," "Glimpses of Newfoundland," "Pack Horse Trip to Recreation Lake," "Building Recreation Houses," "Exploring the Wisconsin in a Canoe," "The Future of Wing Shooting," "Motor Boating on the Mississippi" and "Useful Hints for Outdoor People." This number is now on all news stands and is well worth obtaining. Outdoor News Company, New York.

To Make the Arms Plump.

A splendid exercise, and one worth a great deal to the girl who is looking forward with despair to a short-sleeved gown, is the spiral or corkscrew movement. Hold up one arm, slightly bent at the elbow, and with the other hand twist the arm from shoulder to wrist and form wrist to shoulder. This done with energy and assiduity produces soft, sinuous curves.

The windmill stroke is another capital movement. Advance the left foot, right arm up in the air, left arm hanging down, each held quite still; then make a rotary movement to the back and front of the body. Alternate this with right foot in advance and the arms in reversed position.

As Near as He Dared.

A couple of New Yorkers were playing golf on a New Jersey course on election day, when they saw a well-appearing gentleman looking at them wistfully. They asked him to join the game, which he did with alacrity. He was mild in speech and manner and played well. But once when he had made a foozle he ejaculated vehemently the word:

"Croton!"

A few wmoments later when he had made another bad play, he repeated:

"Croton!"

The fourth time he said this, one of his new-made friends said:

"I am not one to be inquisitive, but will you tell me why you say 'Croton' so often?"

"Well," said the old gentleman, "isn't that the biggest dam near New York?"

He was a Presbyterian clergyman from Brooklyn.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cleaning the Tile Floors.

Wash the floor well with ly water. Wash the floor well with lye water. It thoroughly over the tile. Sweep clean. Remove bad blemishes from tile with murnatic acid.

LIFE ON MAINE'S COAST COIN SPENT FOR DRINKS

Odors of the Pines and Views of Island Dotted Bay as Peaceful as Arcadie.

A Jerseyman, who is spending the summer in a bungalow on the Maine coast, writes as follows of his surroundings:

"Here on my porch under the pine trees I can smell the sea, among other agreeable odors, and can even outline a small section of rippled water through the tree tops.

"Over all is a 'Sabbath calm,' only the chugging of a tiny motor boat and the monotonous chirp of a tree toad breaking the stillness.

"A fitting place to spend an hour off duty, with ability to think connectedly and the charm of knowing that for a little space you can belong quite to yourself. In this busy life these rare intervals of freedom seem too far breaking. Down here in this primitive, rocky coast of Maine, overlooking tree-covered islands with their tide-burnished margins, which make a chain of beauty reaching out to sea, one seems to touch the eternal verities.

"On Jersey coast, with its long stretches of glittering white sand and towering breakers, fretting into foam, has its own peculiar charm which no one can overlook or gainsay; but there is a mysterious and powerful challenge to admiration in the sublimity of rocky stretches of coast, ominous in their possibilities of tragedy and yet so veiled in the loveliness that only lavish verdure can bestow. This last we must go far inland to find on the coast rightly belonging to summer sojourners.

"The Maine coast abounds in light houses, and those who are best acquainted with her water highways have a very sober respect for all signals displayed. The variest tyro who runs a tiny motor boat looks well to his tiller and studies the maps with discretion, for submerged rocks are at most unexpected spots in all the coves and bays and high tide may just cover a dangerous reef.

"As the month loves the candle, so humans seem to enjoy most that which has a spice of danger. The motor boats certainly make rowing look very slow, and the poorest fisherman in these parts goes out for his catch in a tight little boat, carrying a good supply of gasoline. Around the docks one sees youngsters at the foot of a New York subway oiling up and looking nicely after the machinery of these little craft with all the skill of an old hand. It is jokingly said that all native boys are 'web-footed.' One could well believe, at least, that they count on the ministration of a 'Special Providence' in their behalf, judging by the abandon of their manoeuvers on the water.

"Our bungalow commanding an extended view of bay and ocean, we have become as familiar with the sight of the motor as we were at home with the motor as we were at home with the motor as we were at home with

CLINTON AVENUES WIN

Three Hits in Succession Brought About Defeat for the Rahwegians

SCORE WAS EIGHT TO SIX.

Two Accidents to Players During the Game—Randolph Strikes Out Eleven Batsmen.

Three hits in succession in the first and second innings, netting five runs, to which were added three runs in the eighth inning, gave the Clinton Avenues a victory over Rahway at the latter place, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 8 to 6. The Plainfield boys got busy at the start and it is well they did for they certainly did need those five tallies later in the game. Clifford Randolph was, as usual, on the job, and he held the Rahwegians to six hits, besides striking out eleven batsmen and putting out a batter unassisted.

There were two accidents in which the home players figured and which delayed the contest a half hour. Early in the contest Freeman was struck on the knee cap by a foul tip, and after fifteen minutes' delay, he was able to continue. Later O'Loughlin and Armstrong collided at first base, and the latter was unintentionally spiked, receiving two cuts above the ankle. He was game, however, and after another delay, resumed playing.

Rahway scored one run in the third inning, two in the fifth and three in the seventh. It began to look as though they would win, having the lead by a score of six to five, when the Plainfielders through clever work tallied three runs and prevented their opponents from getting any more. The Clinton Avenues gathered eleven hits off of Clark, Brit. Martin, Boelzley, O'Loughlin and Randolph each being credited with two.

Although he caught a good game, Boelzley failed to get a single runner at second base, the Rahwegians being a little too fleet for him. The contest was an interesting one from start to finish and the large crowd of Plainfield rooters made it lively for the home contingent throughout. A little later Rahway will play a return game at Crescent Oval. The score:

Clinton Avenue.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Barnes, 1b	0	0	8	0	1
B. Martin, 2b	0	2	2	0	1
Emery, 3b	1	1	2	2	0
J. Martin, ss	1	1	0	1	1
Boelzley, c	0	2	12	0	0
R. Scott, cf	0	0	0	0	0
O'Loughlin, rf	0	1	0	0	0
Schott, lf	1	1	2	0	0
Randolph, p	2	2	1	3	0
	8	11	27	6	3

Rahway A. C.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Madden, rf	1	2	0	0	0
Armstrong, 1b	2	2	6	1	0
R. Potter, cf	1	2	0	0	0
Arneiter, 3b	1	0	1	3	2
L. Potter, 2b	1	0	3	0	1
Godwill, lf	0	0	2	1	0
Crosby, ss	0	1	2	2	3
Freeman, c	0	0	8	1	0
Clark, p	0	1	2	1	0
	6	6	27	9	6

Clinton Ave.....2 3 0 0 0 0 3 0—8
Rahway A. C.....0 0 1 0 2 0 3 0 0—6

Earned runs—Clinton Avenue, 4; Rahway, 3. Two base hits—Armstrong (2), Crosby (1). First base on balls—off Randolph, 6; off Clark, 2. Struck out—Randolph, 11; Clark, 6. Left on bases—Clinton Avenue, 7; Rahway, 8. Double plays—Arneiter to Armstrong, Arneiter to L. Potter. Stolen base—Boelzley. O'Loughlin, Randolph, R. Potter (2), L. Potter, Crosby (2), Clark. Sacrifice hits—Boelzley. First base on errors—Clinton Avenue, 4; Rahway, 3. Wild pitch—Randolph (2). Umpire— Mr. White. Time of game—2:20.

Somerville Wins the Series.

"Smiling Jimmie" Montross had the Indian sign on Scotch Plains at Somerville, Saturday afternoon, when he pitched for the West Ends and scored his second victory over the 'Plains team this season. The score was 4 to 2. Montross held the visitors to five hits, while nine safeties were made off of Brewer's delivery. It was a spirited contest and decided the three-game series between the two clubs in favor of the West Ends. The score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
West Ends	0 0 0 0 1 2 0 1 x—4	9	2
'Plains	1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—2	5	2

Batteries—Montross and Brugger; Brewer and Fox.

A New Coat Material.

The crepe de chine coat for wear with lingerie gowns is the newest comer in the field of wraps. It has arrived in the wake of the satin and silk jackets which have been carrying full sail ever since spring fashions first got within earshot.

Slipped God's Memory.

Five-year-old Ethel, visiting her aunt in the country, came running up from the grape arbor, holding out a small bunch of the unripe fruit. "Look, auntie," she cried, "here's some peas God forgot to put the pods on."

PLAINS CALL ACCEPTED BY REV. MR. MATTHEWS

Rev. Franklin Matthews, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who was extended a call to the pastorate of the Scotch Plains Baptist church a week ago, accepted the call at the morning service in the church Sunday, when he occupied the pulpit. The pastorate is to begin the first week in September. Mr. Matthews said, in accepting the call, that during his brief stay at the 'Plains he had been impressed with many features of the work which were encouraging. He then gave a brief talk from the theme: "We then as workers together with Him, beseech you also that ye receive not the Grace of God in vain."

Afterward the service was given up to Miss Sara Curry and several children from the Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

Mr. Matthews has been pastor of a Baptist church at Chattanooga for two years. Previous to that he was for nine years pastor of the Baptist church at Ridgewood. He was successful in both pastorates and comes to the 'Plains well recommended by various Baptist clergymen of the State. He will succeed Rev. T. Moore-Smith, now of Lincoln.

COLLINS CANDIDATE FOR ELIZABETH'S MAYORALTY

Political circles at the county seat were considerably stirred Monday, when Colonel Dennis F. Collins declared himself to be a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the Mayoralty of Elizabeth, to succeed P. J. Ryan. Although Col. Collins has been active in politics and is now the chairman of the Union County Democratic Committee, even some of his personal friends were unprepared for the announcement that he intends to seek the office of mayor in his own city. In the light of recent events, especially the State Excise Commission investigation, the announcement is of double interest.

Major W. B. Martin, of Elizabeth, who was a member of the American rifle team that competed for honors at Bisley, and who has recently been talked of as a candidate for the Assembly on the Republican ticket, announced today that he is not a candidate for the office and will not accept the nomination. "I am not at rest the many rumors about Major Martin that he is seeking office."

LARGE THRONG ATTENDS FUNERAL OF AL. HEDDEN.

The funeral service of Albert Hedden was held at the late home on West Fifth street Sunday afternoon, and was largely attended by relatives and friends, including many of the older residents of the city who had known Mr. Hedden all his life. Rev. Ors. L. Shoop, pastor of Grace M. E. church, officiated, reading appropriate Scripture selections, offering prayer and making a few remarks.

During the service, City Judge William N. Runyon sang "Some Day We'll Understand," and Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." There was a large number of beautiful floral tributes, including a set piece from the employes of the Hedden stables.

The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were Louis McIntosh, James P. Homan, J. A. Smith, Adam C. Blair, Frank Hand and Lewis A. Hummer.

PRETTY SUITS FOR THE MID-SEASON.

The popular suit of the midseason is the coat and skirt of separate colors, if not fabrics. It is suspected by the many that this combination will be the smart one for the autumn street suits. "Daring combinations will not be allowed.

A smart new one shows a gored skirt of dull blue, brown and black, shadow plaid or invisible stripe, with a long cutaway coat, single-breasted, of dull blue cloth. Round brass buttons are used like those worn by the army and navy.

Another suit has a skirt of blue and green soft-toned stripes, with a cutaway coat of green cloth also fastened with gilt buttons. The collar is of blue velvet, and the long sleeves have a design of blue velvet ribbon worked around the wrist and up the back of the sleeves to the elbow.

For cool days in the early fall, there is a most serviceable coat suit which has a skirt of blue silk voile and a smart single-breasted coat of blue taffets, with pockets trimmed in broad blue silk braid.

At the Wedding Reception.

Patience—I've certainly made an impression on that man over there; he hasn't taken his eyes off me since I got here.

Patrice—Which man?

"That one with the black moustache."

"Oh, he's the hired detective."—Yonkers Statesman.

Useful Then.

Wigg—Do you think it is lucky to have a rabbit's foot?

Wagg—I might if I were a rabbit. —Philadelphia Record.

TROLLEY MEN INDIGNANT

Slurred by Official Statements Will Themselves Investigate P.S.C. Graft Charges.

TO "CLEAN OUT" DISHONESTY.

Company Maintains That Car Crews Work Together and Motormen Get a Share of "Knock-downs."

The honest conductors of the Public Service Corporation who number practically the entire personnel of their occupation are highly indignant *today at the revelations of dishon*esty among their midst. These honest conductors have themselves de*termined to conduct an investigation* which will clean from their midst the men who have brought discredit upon them.

"We don't propose to stand for this imputation of dishonesty upon our body," said one conductor today. "The vast majority of conductors employed by the Public Service Corpora*tion are honest men and it is an out*rage that these trimmers and thieves have cast discredit upon men, who have held honorable records in this corporation for many years past."

Besides declaring that the public *was conniving with many of its con*ductors in robbing the company, officials of the Public Service Corpora*tion have asserted that for every* dishonest conductor there was a dishonest motorman, that they worked *in pairs, and that the motorman de*manded and received half of the stealings of the conductor.

The company admits that the vast majority of its conductors and motormen are honest. These men, the *company declares, should not be con*fused with the 100 or 200 men who they know are robbing them. And while the investigation is on these honest men must necessarily suffer, but the company has decided to take care of them and amply reward them for their honesty.

"Dishonest motormen and conductors have stolen more than $200,000 in the last year from the company," declared Assistant Secretary Stevenson today. Mr. Stevenson told how the company became cognizant of the fact that it was being robbed.

"There was a Swede who had been in this country only a few days when we gave him a job as a motorman," said Mr. Stevenson. "Three weeks went by and he did not come into draw his salary, so the treasurer went out and looked him up and asked him why he didn't come to the office and draw his pay.

"'Why, I got my pay,' said the Swede; 'the conductor has paid me every evening.'

"Then we started an investigation, and we found that not only were the conductors keeping all the nickles they wanted, but that the motormen had a system of keeping tab on the conductor. The motormen watches every passenger, and knows how many are transfer passengers and how many are cash fares. Then he keeps tab on the number of times the register rings, and, by deducting the difference, he knows just how much the conductor has 'knocked down' each trip, and then he totals it up for the day. When the day's work is done he demands half, and the conductor cannot 'knock down' on him. We had one crew up on the carpet, and the motorman accused the conductor of 'knocking down' on him, and the latter was then he unfolded much of the crookedness that was going on.

"Our investigations show that most of the dishonest motormen and conductors are not residents of any one place where the Public Service Corporation runs. They are what are known as 'rounders' and travel from one city to another. They work a little while in each place, until they are discovered and discharged and then go to some other city. They travel all over the country that way.

"Of course, these dishonest men bring a great injustice on the three-fourths or more of others, who are honest and who live in Newark, Paterson, Elizabeth or Plainfield, and support their families there. These men have been with us many years, and it took time for one of them would take a penny. In fact, we have many hundreds of conductors who repeatedly turn in more cash than their registers indicate. They explain that must have collected fares which they did not ring up, and they are honest and tried to turn in the surplus they find in their pockets."

The company said that it expected to cause many arrests soon, that the warrants had been prepared already, and that it had determined to drive out of the cities the gang which has been pilfering its nickels.

Very Likely.

Mrs. Aacum—So there's a new baby up at your house.

Tommy—Yes.

Mrs. Aacum—I suppose your papa's pleased.

Tommy—I guess he's pleased 'at it ain't twins.—Philadelphia Press.

Executors of Hedden Estate.

Louis D. McIntosh and Jacob Blimm, Jr., were named as executors of the estate of Albert Hedden in his will which was made just previous to his death.

CHICKEN COOP ADDITION LEADS TO FAMILY SCRAP

An inter-family scrap, including promiscuous blows and epithets, resulted on Arlington avenue, Sunday, when Louis Bender tried to make an addition to his chicken coop and ran some protecting wire over on land claimed by Hyman Sadler, who lives next door. Bender was digging a post hole near the dividing line when Sadler remonstrated with him. Max Pollock, who boards with Sadler, took his part, and got into a scrap with Bender, the latter using the shovel for a weapon, it is said. The neighborhood gave the alarm, and Patrolman O'Keefe arrested the three.

In court Monday, the Arlington avenue Russian colony was well represented, and with the aid of Morris Deutsch as interpreter, the case was threshed over at great length. A feature was the testimony of Sadler's eight-year-old niece, who was an eye witness. She helped out the complete story, including many of the epithets let fall in the course of the conflict. According to her story Pollock was knocked down 100 times in two minutes.

When the jargon was over, City Judge Runyon remarked that the testimony seemed confused. He said that he thought all three were guilty of violating the peace, but rather than make the mistake of unfair sentences, would risk extreme leniency. He dismissed the case.

CHIEF KIELY FIGURES IN SPECTACULAR ARREST

Park avenue pedestrians witnessed a regular story-book police chase and capture early Saturday evening, when Chief Kiely arrested George Gardner, the incendiary who was ordered to leave town last week. The man fought hard against arrest and was only jailed after a hand-to-hand tussle with the Chief following a chase in and out among the Saturday night crowd. At his hearing before Judge Runyon Monday he was sent "down the road" for sixty days.

Gardner was in an intoxicated condition on East Second street when Chief Kiely passed along at about 7:30 o'clock. At the time he was raising a disturbance by trying to pick a fight with a by-stander. The Chief surprised him and told him of Judge Runyon's order to leave town. "You can't drive me away from here," replied Gardner insolently, and started to move away when the Chief nabbed him. He did not put up much struggle, but as he was being led along the street, suddenly slipped out of his coat and darted toward Front street. The Chief set off after him, and the two ran in and out among the pedestrians to Front street, where Gardner was again rounded up.

As the prisoner showed lots of fight even after his capture, the Chief summoned a cab to take him to the lock-up. The door of this equipage was narrower than the entrance to the patrol, which is at present being painted, and it took all the strength of the two officers to get the prisoner inside. The fight was all out of the man Monday and he did not seem surprised when informed that arrangements would be made for his two months' sojourn in the county jail.

HORSE HAD WILD RUN WHEN SHAFT BOLT BROKE.

Taking fright when a bolt broke, allowing one side of the shaft to fall dangling about its heels, a horse driven by Ruffit J. Fisher, of Dunellen, had a wild run yesterday afternoon from Watchung, and was finally captured at Watchung and Mountain avenue in the borough, uninjured except for cuts and bruises about the legs.

Mr. Fisher, who was driving the runabout, was thrown from the rig which overturned shortly after the bolt broke, but was uninjured. The horse wrenched the other side of the shafts free and galloped along at full speed, becoming more and more frightened by the rattling shafts, which repeatedly struck against its hind legs. Tiring after its long run, the horse was easily captured at the Watchung school, and was later claimed by Fisher, who followed it on foot. The rig was badly damaged up the worst.

When Cleaning Windows.

When cleaning windows with a brush or mop on a long handle, the water runs down the handle, making the work rater unpleasant. A simple arrangement to obviate this difficulty is made of an old piece of shoe leather. Cut a disc about four inches in diameter, cut a crosswise slit in the centre and push this on the handle to within twelve inches of the brush. It should fit tightly to the handle. It will prevent the water from passing, thus keeping it away from the worker.

G. O. P. Meets September 1.

The Republican City Executive Committee will hold a regular meeting Tuesday night, September 1, to plan for the coming campaign and dispose of several matters left over from the last meeting.

ATLANTIC CITY WIDE OPEN

Beer Flowed Yesterday in Greater Quantities Than Ever Before on Sunday.

AND MAYOR FISK LOOKED ON.

Head of the Excise Commission Promenaded the Walk But Was Not Looking for Evidence.

The ups and downs of the Atlantic City "lids," about which so many standards of revolt have fluttered and so many official manifestoes have *been issued since its fate came un*der discussion, drew 50,000 additional visitors to the resort Saturday night and Sunday, according to the railroads.

The 50,000 were rewarded, for every place where drinks were disposed was sought with the dawning light, and they purveyed their liquid refreshments with an abundance which gave not a hint of the recent efforts to restrict their activities.

Bartenders were in great demand and extra bartenders were pressed into service. In many cases the proprietors themselves gave assistance.

In the fact of the tremendous patronage given to the saloons, only one man was arrested for drunkenness, and at Police Headquarters it was said that John Hardy, the solitary victim of the defiant open Sunday, had been in possession of his excess of intoxicants before the violation of the Bishops' law began yesterday morning.

The Boardwalk cafes and beach front hotels added to the total of saloon patrons a proportion of the surplus of the crowds which filled them to the walls and doors and left a thirsty, eager line outside.

Proprietors estimated that at least $100,000 was spent for liquid refreshments yesterday. Outside each "side door" could be found a waiting line of perspiring men who sought the entrances in far greater numbers than those inside sought the exits.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of this city, *President of the State Excise Com*mission, who spent the day at the resort, replied, when asked whether he was seeking evidence, that he had so much evidence already he hardly knew what to do with it all.

The sales *yesterday so far exceed*ed those of other Sundays and were in so much larger proportion to the additional influx that the doubt has been expressed whether a Puritan Sunday can be enforced.

In spite of the attendance at the bars the rest of Atlantic City was closed up tight. The amusements on the piers were the only ones open for the crowds. Noisy attractions, which ran on two of the piers last Sunday, were deserted.

FRESH AIR SERVICE AT SCOTCH PLAINS CHURCH.

The morning service at the Scotch Plains Baptist church Sunday was devoted to the interests of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp. The meeting was largely attended, and a pronounced success in every way.

Miss Sara Curry was present, together with twenty-five of the camp children. There were a number of songs and recitations by the children, which greatly pleased the audience, and a most earnest talk by Miss Curry, who, in her usual tender way, told of the great good that is being accomplished at the Netherwood camp. Miss Curry said spiritually, citing instance after instance where the two weeks' stay at the camp has been the means of the conversion of a "mother" or "father," and the complete remodeling of their home on the lower East Side of New York. The offering received at the meeting amounted to $50, and the entire service was especially inspiring and encouraging.

BOROUGHITES TENDERED A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wicht, of Greenbrook road, were tendered a birthday surprise party by a number of their friends Saturday night. About twenty were in attendance and *several hours were passed in a pleas*ant way with music, games and dancing. Supper was served at midnight.

The affair was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Antone Ammon and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Farbman. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ammon, Mr. and Mrs. Clemuck, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Ball, Miss Lillian Ammon and several others from New York and Baltimore.

All Settled.

"What yer so happy about?" demanded Tommy Jones.

"Pa jist told me I couldn't go to de matinee," gleefully replied Willie Henpeck.

"Gee! An' didn't yer want to go?"

"Sure, an' I will go, too, soon's I tell ma what pa said."—Philadelphia Press.

"You refuse to cash my check for $100?"

"Yes."

"And you offer to lend me $10?"

"I do."

"I don't understand you."

"Well, isn't $0 worth saving?"—Cleveland Leader.

MONSIGNOR STAFFORD GOES TO A NEW PARISH

Rt. Rev. Monsignor John A. Stafford, pastor of St. Paul of the Cross church, Jersey City, and formerly of Plainfield, has been appointed by Bishop O'Connor as *rector of St. Pat*rick's church, Jersey City, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Rev. Lawrence C. M. Carroll.

Monsignor Stafford is at present in Europe, having charge of the Holy Name pilgrimage to Rome, which left Newark several weeks ago. He will take charge immediately on his return.

Monsignor Stafford was for several years president of Seton Hall College previous to his appointment to St. Paul's church. He was made a monsignor by Pope Leo XIII. six years ago.

The appointee is a native of Paterson and received his collegiate education at Seton Hall. He pursued his theological studies at the American College at Rome, where he was ordained. His first charge was at St. Mary's church, this city, going from here to St. Mary's, Jersey City. He was afterward made vice-president of Seton Hall, and was acting president during an extended absence of the president, Rev. William Marshall. After a year's service in St. Augustine's church, Union Hill, Monsignor Stafford returned to Seton Hall as president, where his aggressive policy and methods merited the recognition of his elevation to a monsignorship. Two years ago he was appointed pastor of St. Paul's. A successor to Monsignor Stafford will probably not be appointed until after his return from Europe.

PLAINFIELDERS ENJOY AN OUTING AT MANHATTAN BEACH

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Weed, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Shortevant, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cutter, Lester Radford, Walter Hockridge, Fred Kirch, of this city, and Miss Longbottom, of Paterson, who accompanied the party, were among those who enjoyed the fine program arranged by the Prosperity Congress at Manhattan Beach, Saturday afternoon and evening.

There were amateur athletic events in the afternoon with prizes for the men and women contestants, followed by a banquet at the Manhattan Beach Hotel at 6 o'clock, and speeches by prominent men from all parts of the country, including Herman Metz, Lewis Nixon, Judge Moore, of Virginia, and many others. There was also a dance in the evening, the affair concluding with a fine display of Paine's fireworks.

DIED.

RILEY—On Tuesday, Aug. 11, 1908, at her residence, 525 West Fourth street, Sarah E. Riley.

DE FOREST—On Aug. 11, 1908, Florence De Forest, daughter of DeWitt G. and Josephine Potter DeForest.

WILLIAMS—On Friday, August 14, *1908, at the residence of Mrs. Wil*liam Dempsey, 640 West Third street, Olivia Williams, aged 23 years.

RUSHMORE—At Saratoga Springs, N. Y., on Saturday morning, Aug. 15, 1908, Julia Barker Rushmore, wife of J. Howard Rushmore.

VAIL—On Sixth-day, Eighth month, 14, 1908, Chester DeRoy, infant son of Clarence B. and Elverotta Cutler Vail, of 30 Norwood avenue.

HEDDEN—On Friday, Aug. 14, 1908, Albert Hedden, in his 71st year.

FLYNN—In his city, August 14, 1908, Alexander Flynn, aged 30 years.

LANGERBAHN—On Saturday, August 15, 1908, Anna, wife of the late Peter Langerbahn, aged 82 years.

OSBORN—On Monday, August 17, 1908, Annie C., widow of Joseph T. Osborn, aged 71 years.

BRITTON—Suddenly, on Monday, August 17, 1908, John Britton, in his 60th year.

MAGAZINE READERS

SUNSET MAGAZINE
best monthly illustrated, good fiction and descriptive Californiana of all the Far West. $1.50 a year

CAMERA CRAFT
devoted each month to the artistic reproduction of the best work of amateur and professional photographers. $1.00 a year

BOAT OF A THOUSAND WONDERS
a book of 72 pages, containing 120 colored illustrations of picturesque spots in California and Oregon. $0.75

Total . . $3.25

All for . . . $1.50

Address all orders to
SUNSET MAGAZINE
Flood Building San Francisco

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing, Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanlike manner. Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. LITTELL

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL

The new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. S. Arnold, } Vice-Pres'ts
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Hope, Secy and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us in their local appointing agents. Others for local work looking after our interests; duties pleasant and profitable; extra compensations and expenses, rapid advancement; good salaried position. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant, permanent position, liberal income and future. Write at once, with stamp, for particulars.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn

FOR AGENTS—AN OPPORTUNITY!

"THE OLD WORLD AND ITS WAYS"

BY

William Jennings Bryan.

NOW READY FOR SOLICITORS.

576 Imperial Octavo Pages. Over 200 Superb Engravings from photographs taken by Mr. Bryan.

Records his trip around the world and his visits to all nations. The most important book of travel ever written. The people are waiting for it. The agent's harvest. Outfit FREE—Send fifty cents to cover mailing and handling.

THE THOMPSON PUBLISHING CO.,
St. Louis, Mo. 7 26 2 c

W. L. CODDINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

New Jersey Supreme Court

Notice is hereby given that a writ of attachment issued out of the Supreme Court against the lands and tenements of Rudolph Ocsen, for the sum of Eight Thousand Dollars, returnable on the first Monday in May 26, 1908, by the Court of Union County.

TENNANT & RAIGHT,
Attorneys of Plaintiff,
868 31 Exchange Place, Jersey City, N. J.

Misplaced Switch Causes Wreck.

An eastbound coal train ran into a misplaced switch at Bound Brook, early Saturday night, wrecking ten of the heavily loaded cars of coal and blocking the main tracks until nearly midnight. The wreck train from Elizabethport was summoned to clear up the debris. The 11:28 westbound passenger train from this city carried a large supply of sandwiches and coffee from Timbo's restaurant for the members of the wreck crew.

Jack—She is an exceptional woman.

Tom—In what way?

Jack—She understands the game of baseball.

Tom—How do you know?

Jack—She finds fault with the umpire from start to finish.—Chicago News.

TAKE BETTER CARE OF EYES IN SUMMER.

Colored glasses are not beautifying, but they prevent disfiguring frowns, and for that reason women who have the slightest trouble with their eyes should wear them as a protection against summer sun. Particularly when on the beach is it important to give the sight this protection, for glare is injurious to the organ of sight and will make even a slight frown deep.

It is an interesting fact for persons who are observing to note that it is exceptional to see a child nowadays who has not one or more perpendicular lines between the brows. Whether it is that children of this generation have more nervous organization is a question for discussion, but it is true that formerly frowning lines that were a mark of age now are seen on the foreheads of young children and youthful maidens. In view of these conditions it behooves a women who cares for appearances to watch very closely for these tell-tale lines, if she has not already developed them. In either case massage and strips of plaster worn at night will do much to prevent their appearance or to keep them from growing deeper.

In applying this treatment every night the forehead should be massaged from the edge of the hair to the rows, as well as between the eyes. Many women life their foreheads constantly, making lines more or less deep across, and these are extremely difficult to get rid of once they are acquired.

Before beginning the massage the face should be bathed to remove all soil, and a generous lump of cold cream placed just above the nose and the messaging begun. To give these motions the first two fingers or either hand should be placed touching each other, then both drawn toward the eyebrows in such manner as to smooth the brow. The stroking is to be continued for five minutes or more, varying it occasionally with a rotary motion. The latter is not so good as the smoothing stroke, however.

This portion of the brow treated, the rest of the forehead must be rubbed with cream and then massaged. This movement should be a combination of the rotary and stroke that bears down and off toward the temples. It stands to reason that the flesh must not be made to sag, for it would soon droop over the brows; therefore effort is made to get it to one side, the stroke at the same time strengthening the muscles beneath the skin. This work constantly done at night will accomplish much in keeping the forehead smooth, or preventing lines already there from growing deeper.

After the massage it is well to wipe the skin with a few drops of spirits of camphor. This is astringent, bleaching and refreshing.

If wrinkles are already present strips of adhesive plaster may be used. These, after smoothing the skin, are put over in such manner as to hold the surface smooth.

But the most careful attention at night will be useless if through the day conditions are such as to continue the habit of frowning.

MRS. TAFT'S IDEAS.
ON WOMAN'S SPHERE.

Mrs. Taft is reported in the Boston Globe as saying:

"I have always believed that women should vote. I favor bestowing on them every civic right, but I should like to put in a prohibitory clause debarring them from running for public office.

"With women running for office I think the natural scheme would be disjointed and the end and aim of the home destroyed. Their voice is nearly always the voice of wisdom, and I see nothing unwomanly in their casting the ballot and exercising every right of the free citizen, but it seems that for the present it is impossible to dissociate the right to vote from the right to hold office.

"So the women who would never think of any other vocation than that of being good wives and mothers are prevented from taking their rightful share in governing the community through the fear which men have of women stepping down from their pedstal. Except in rare instances, the influence of women on politics is for their elevation.

"It is truly said that communities where women lack civic pride are in worse shape than those where man neglects his prerogative. Women should be versed in every phase of politics, and should know what everything means which has a direct bearing on the ome environment. That is my idea of purifying politics, and I think it the only practical one."

Likely Reason.

The city man was jogging on toward the summer boarding house in a rickety rockaway. The driver was glum and far from entertaining and the city man felt rather lonely.

"Fine field over there!" he ventured after a long silence.

"Fine," grunted the driver.

"Who owns it?"

"Old man Bitt."

"Old man Bitt, eh? Who are those children stacking up hay?"

"Old man Bitt's boys."

"And what is his idea in having them out there in the field on such a hot day?"

"Wal, I reckon he thinks every little Bitt helps, stranger. Anything else you want to know? Get up here, hosses."—Chicago News.

FEEDING THE BABY IN HOT WEATHER.

All careful work will go for nothing and the milk will spoil if it is not kept cold at a temperature of at least 50 degrees Fahrenheit. To keep the milk at this degree of coldness it must be on ice. Now, to put milk on ice does not necessarily mean that a costly ice chest must be bought, for if a woman is ingenious she can easily construct a simple but practical refrigerator from a soap box that will keep a 5-cent piece of ice for twenty-four hours, thus insuring the sweetness of baby's milk.

In fitting out such a home-made ice chest a wooden pail could be set in a soap box, and the box then filled with sawdust. In the pail is placed a tin bucket, large enough to hold the ice. This receptacle should have a cover, and when packed with ice should be surrounded by bottles of milk put in the wooden pail. The whole must then be covered with a newspaper, over which should be spread a piece of bagging or carpet. A bottle may be taken out only as it is required. Nothing else should be kept in this, and milk bottles should not be removed until the infants need them.

As to the care of milk—as soon as it has been modified it should be put into a cold place. It may, however, stand until the first intense heat has evaporated, the bottles, of course, being corked. While still warm, and before the germ-laden atmosphere can begin to affect the liquid, the bottles must be jut into the cold storage box.

Though baby's milk is kept constantly cold, it is not to be given to him chilled. Nothing would sooner bring on a disordered condition of the bowels. Instead, this food must be just at blood heat. This temperature is secured by putting the bottles into hot water. The original corks should not be taken out until the rubber nipples are ready to be slipped into their places.

If baby has the slightest tendency toward indigestion when the weather is warm, and he is being fed on milk, his food should be pasteurized. This process of sterilization should be done to all milk fed an infant until he is a year old, and even older.

Another important detail to be remembered is that baby, like a grown person, requires less nourishment in summer, and it is not quantity so much as quality that is to be reduced, for a child always requires a certain amount of liquid on which the digestive organs must act, but they should not work so hard as in winter, when the whole system is stronger. When the liver begins to act too frequently, a slight reduction of the quantity of cream, used in modified milk, adding as much water as cream has been taken away, will sometimes be enough to make baby well. No mother should take a nurse, though, with dysentery, and the services of a physician must be called without delay.

White Blue Serge.

As a complement to the blue serge suit there is suggested the three-cornered hat of crumpled straw, relieved with two white or pale clover-pink wings, which apparently rest lightly on the front brim and form a sole adornment of the hat. The three-cornered hat is about to enjoy a favor that it has not experienced for some time. All the three-cornered hats are not severely simple. Some of them are heavily trimed with flowers and with ribbons and laces, but the outlines of them are preserved, and these almost without exception are becoming to those who wear them.

KEEP COOL. DRINK ICED TEA.
ECONOMICAL! EASY TO MAKE!
USE Quali-Tea FOR BEST RESULTS
35c. per lb.
SOLD ONLY AT VAN DYK'S
127 WEST FRONT ST.,
Bet. Park and Madison Aves.
SO BRANCHES IN 20 CITIES.

NEW PERFECTION
Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove
Ready at any moment for cooking, baking, ironing. Does not overheat the kitchen.
A 4-in-blued stove for summer cooking. Economical and easily regulated. Three sizes.
STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(Incorporated)

NOTICE!
North Plainfield, N. J., July 31, 1908. David D. Smalley, Esq., Justice of the Peace for five years and reappointed Commissioner of Deeds. Anyone having any business to transact in my office will find me at No. 33 Manning avenue ready to deal out justice to all who may apply.
DAVID D. SMALLEY,
Justice of the Peace.
7H 1m

Blue Stone Sidewalks.
If you want the best Blue Stone sidewalks, curbs, etc., call on
J. W. Manhattan,
50 Elm St.

NOTICE.
If you are dissatisfied with your paper service call on or call up
THE HUSTLER,
William H. Olmstead, 332 Watchung Avenue, near Fourth St. Subscription to R. F. D. Route 2 $1.00
305-J Bitter. Phone 305-J

Vail
JEWELER AND OPTICIAN
103 Park Ave.,
calls your attention to his
Rimless Glasses.
They Look Good and You See Good.

BARTHOLOMAY
ROCHESTER
Rienzi Beer
IN BOTTLES ONLY
BOTTLED AND DISTRIBUTED BY
HENRY HAURAND,
66-68 SOMERSET STREET,
'Phone No. 209 Plainfield, N.J.

Flor de Timbo
Clear Habana.
Get It at Timbo's

BROWNIES

If its CAMERAS you want, we have all sizes and prices, and do Developing, Printing and Enlarging.
The Photo Store, 129 North Ave.

BARBER & ELLIS
REAL ESTATE
Fire—Accident—Disability and Automobile Liability Insurance
Offices—Room 215, Babcock Building and 328 East Second St.
'Phone 205 P. O. Box 741
7 16 1m-m th

EDUCATIONAL.

The Hartridge School
West Seventh Street, cor. Arlington Ave.
A Private School carefully graded throughout.
Special teachers of French, German, Music, Art and Calisthenics.
All Departments of the Day School in one large building.
Kindergarten Department
In charge of two teachers.
Elementary Department
For girls through the 7th grade and for boys through the 4th grade.
Academic Department
For boys above 4th grade.
Five graduates in preparation for Colleges
Preparatory.
Music Department
In charge of Mr. Manfred Malkin.
Gymnasium
In-door play-room and bowling alley for boys.
Number of pupils in each grade limited.
EMELYN B. HARTRIDGE, Principal,
167 West Seventh Street.

College of Mount Saint Mary
Watchung Mountain,
Plainfield, N. J.
Under the direction of
SISTERS OF MERCY
Preparatory Department Opens Sept. 16.
College Department Opens Sept. 23.
Preparatory department consists of an eight years' course in approved elementary course and of a four-year course in approved academic courses. Academic diploma admits to Trenton Normal School or to Mount Saint Mary's College. College department consists of a four years' course leading to the degree of A. B. or B. L. Latin, Greek, Boarders. Both boys and girls received in elementary department. Students of all denominations are welcomed. For further information address, Registrar, Mt. St. Mary's College, or Superintendent St. Joseph's Academy, Plainfield, New Jersey.
8 14 1m

Plainfield Business College and School of English.
Fall Term Opens September 1st.
Day and Night Sessions.
PROF. A. S. HERR, Prin. & Prop.
Woodhull & Martin Building.
Telephone 716-w. Send for booklet.

The Plainfield Seminary
123 W. Seventh Street
will re-open
Thursday, Sept. 17, 1908
MISS ARNOLD, Principal.

CHAS. M. SUHR
TEACHER OF PIANO,
614 E. 6th Street, Tel. 741-W

SMALLEY BROS.
147 North Ave.
BUTCHERS
Our Specialty, Berkshire Pork. Try Our Berkshire Sausage Made on Premises.
Roasting and Broiling Chickens a Specialty.
Orders called for and delivered.
Telephone 92-A. 5 1 tf

The Southern Restaurant,
232 West Second Street, corner Madison Avenue, are under new management. Meals served at all hours a la carte and table d'hote. Our own make bread and pastrys, all home cooking. The choice of everything is bought for this house. Our price is reasonable. The public is now under the management of the well known New York caterer. T. H. Register, Manager. Tel. 922-J. 1 18 tf

J. C. POPE & CO.,
INSURANCE AGENTS.
110 E. Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing, Gas Fitting, Steam Heating and Water Heating.
Contractor for Sewer Connections.
125 Watchung Av. Rear.

L. Moraller & Son,
Watchmakers and Jewelers.
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
Fine Watch and Clock Repairing a Specialty.
219 Park Ave. Plainfield, N. J

JOHN WINZENREID,
Furniture and Freight Express.
Moving Vans and Storage.
212 La Fayette Place. 'Phone 640-R.

PLAINFIELD WINDOW CLEANING CO.
Removing—Office, stores and private residences. Service day or night. Furniture, china and glassware packed for shipping.
WM. A. KLINE, 611 W. 3d St.

Geo. H. Stagaard,
SHOEMAKER
108—CHURCH STREET—110
Repair work called for and delivered
'PHONE 1062-W.

TITUS H. LAURY
MASON AND BUILDER.
Office, 323 East Front Street.
Tile Setting, Mantel and Front Work.
Telephone 464-L.

TURKISH BATHS!
TAKE ONE.
Ladies Mornings, Gentlemen Afternoons
Take Trolley to Saddlebrook,
Somerset Street.

Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing.
Monthly Contracts.
Pressing called for and delivered.
EVENING DRESSES A SPECIALTY.
Ladies' Suits Cleaned, $1 and upwards
Gents' Suits Cleaned $1.50
We do our own work at
M. A. Brown's, 218 West Second St.

William H. Pope,
ELECTRICIAN.
All kinds of electrical work done at reasonable prices.
116 NORTH AVENUE.

Wm. H. Kirch,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
66 Duer Street.
Tel. 409 J.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

ALEX. LUSARDI,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits, Choice Confectionery, Nuts, Cigars, etc.
211 W. Front St. Tel. 507-W.

Meat Market.
Choice Meats, Poultry, Fish and Oysters always on hand. Sugar cured Corned Beef. International Hams and Bacon.
F. Neidig, 94 Somerset St. Telephone 321

E. B. Maynard's
Tonsorial Parlor, Electrical Massage for face and hair, Face-door work. Children's Hair Cutting a Specialty.
Tel. No. 154-R.
141 NORTH AVENUE.

JOHN WIRTH
(Successor to Henry Lieber.)
Bakery and Confectionery.
201-203 West Front St. Tel. No. 728.
All orders delivered at short notice.

HOAGLAND'S
Express—Baggage Transfer.
Office 205 Park Ave.
Tel. 133-W. Home Tel. 949-L.

REAL ESTATE
Bought, Sold and For Rent.
J. SACHAR,
111 WEST THIRD STREET.

Difference In Coal.
All coals may look alike to some people, but compare our "Lehigh" Coal with the Coal you bought somewhere else and you will see a difference.
You will notice that our Coal Burns Brighter, Gives More Heat, and Lasts Longer than any other Coal you ever bought before.
Boice, Runyon & Co.,
Coal, Lumber and Materials.
Front Ave., cor. North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

JOS. HARRIGAN
OLD COMPANY'S LEHIGH COAL
929 South Avenue
Telephone 1025.

The best time to order your winter supply of
COAL
is now. Do not forget that
NASH
is ready to supply you.
Telephone 257-W 933-J.
871-W
OFFICE—120 WATCHUNG AVENUE

TenEyck & Harris,
Dealers' Inn.
LEHIGH VALLEY COAL.
Office: Rowley's Drug Store, 213 West Front Street. Telephone 32-L.

Coal I have on hand some very fine Hard and Medium Coal. All kept under cover. Coal.
25 cents a ton reduction on cash orders.
L. A. RHEAUME,
149 East Fourth St. Telephone 668-W.
Yard, 674 South Second St. Telephone 238.

GORGE O. STEVENS
747 West Front St.

R. L. CLINE
(Successor to C. H. Rugg & Co.)
Best Quality Lehigh Coal
Yard and office 426 West Third St. Tel. 65.

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.
We call your attention to our fine display of
New Wall Papers.
We can't describe the patterns, but they are new, striking and effective, and with our large assortment we are sure to please.
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
Woolston & Buckle,
145 North Avenue.

STRIKING COLORS
should not be sought in preference to those that have good lasting qualities, but when PAINTS
are to be had which are both brilliant and durable, take care to secure that kind.
We have all kinds and grades of Paints, Oils, Colors and Varnishes, suitable for all kinds of work at the lowest prices to be found in this city.
Jas. C. Hansen,
Dealer in Wallpapers, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, etc.
141 East Front Street
Estimates Furnished

1908 Wall Papers.
IMPORTED & AMERICAN GOODS.
C. CONOVER & CO.
Decorators, Painters and Paperhangers.
Window and Plate Glass.
115 Elmwood Pl. Tel. 1145

W. S. CHEEVER
1326 Park Ave.
Painting
See INTERIOR DECORATING. WALL PAPER of every description at the Lowest Prices.
'Phone No. 538-J.

FURNITURE.
Repaired and upholstered. Equal to new. Send a postal to
HARRISON, 140 CENTRAL AVE.
Cabinet maker, Polisher, Mattress Maker.

AZIENZA
cures pimples and all inflammation of the skin. Used by people of refinement. Medicinal and toilet—35 and 50 cents.

CREAM.

ORDER GIFTS
For Your Summer Vacation!
We have a full line of fresh summer articles which will please the most particular person. Everything is of the finest quality and at prices that suit. Our prompt delivery to all parts of the city will please everyone.
C. M. Nagle's Pharmacy,
Front and Grove Sts. 'Phone 516.

Complete Line of
REXALL
Goods at
MILLER'S PHARMACY
Park Ave. & 5th St. 'Phone 902

Hodge's Pharmacy.
Y. M. C. A. Building.
BELLE MEAD SWEETS.
Tel. 62.

HOTELS.
HOTEL WALDORF
EAST FRONT STREET
HENRY WINDHAM, Prop.
Gottfried Kruger's Extra Beer on draught. Imported Wines, Liquors and Cigars. Hotel accommodations and private Dining-Rooms.

HOTEL KENSINGTON
(Licensed.)
WM. J. POULSON, Prop.
167-169-111 North Avenue.
Everything New and Up-to-date
An Inspection Solicited.

HOTEL IROQUOIS
Club breakfast from 6:30 to 9:30 a. m. Business Men's Lunch from 11:30 to 2:30 p. m.
ROOMS
First floor, $1 single; $2.50 double.
Second floor, $1.50 single; $3 double.
Third floor $50 single; $2 double.
A LA CARTE 6:30 UNTIL 1 A. M.
Special Sunday Dinner from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m. 50c

REAL ESTATE
RENTALS—REAL ESTATE
Geo. F. Brown,
INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE.
Commissioner of Deeds—Rents
24 Somerset St. 'Phone 105.

THE CHOICEST OF FRESH VEGETABLES.
Whatever you desire in all the Fresh Vegetables of the season you will find it here—the choicest varieties, carefully selected for quality.
Sweet Corn, Tomatoes, Peas, Beets, Potatoes, Onions, Lettuce, etc., at very reasonable prices.
W. W. DUNN,
THE PARK GROCER,
DUER STREET AND LINCOLN PLACE.

STOP AT
Central R. R. News Stands
for PLAINFIELD PRESS, always on sale. Daily and Sunday papers delivered, all magazines, weekly papers, novelties, back numbers a specialty. R. R. guides, automobile road and state maps. Philadelphia papers. Fine brand of Cigars and tobacco. Open Sundays.
F. M. WAGNER, Manager.

We have on hand a large quantity of BIG TIMBER from 6x6 to 12x14 that we will offer for $20 per thousand; any length. All kinds of BEAMS from a 2x4 to 3x12 $20.
A. KANE
FILLMORE AVENUE.

McCULLOUGH'S STEAM MILL,
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield, N. J.
R. H. McCULLOUGH, Prop.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing, Turning, Etc.
Estimates cheerfully furnished.

HENRY WIERENGA
Residence, 'Phone 817-J.
Furniture, Freight, Baggage Express and Rigger.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Try a box of
DOBBINS' CIGARS.
Clear Havana Nickie Yara or any kind that you desire. Manufactured at 139 North Avenue, opposite Knickerbocker Hotel, Plainfield, N. J.

Kindling and Grate Wood.
Cedar Posts and Rail Fence. Prompt Deliveries. Orders received at
99 SOMERSET STREET.
JOHN MOBUS,
P. O. Box 236.

Mountain House,
Mt. Bethel, N. J.
FRENCH RESTAURANT
Resort for Automobilists and Driving Parties
A. E. BINZ, Prop.

LE DERNIER CERI OF SUMMER STYLES.

Sashes are always in. When femininity doesn't wear them plain she dresses them in one way or another. At times she drapes them so peculiarly that no one recognises them as sashes.

To present the most popular expression of the sash girdle is a moderately wide scarf of very supple satin, weighted at the ends by deep fringe or some sort of pendant ornaments. This is drawn around the waist, crossed in the back and secured there in some fashion so that this fold will clasp the figure closely enough the ends are brought back loosely to the front or left front, and knotted carelessly and low.

The latest Parisian examples of the all-but-town frotteur are made of sliding Liberty satin, skirt thickly pleated, but nothing like so short as they are worn here—the Parisienne short skirt reaches to the heels. Its belt is placed very high, and its long cut-way, smoking, or redingote of the same satin is unlined and falls loosely by means of clever weights. Such a skirt is worn over a very limp lingerie petticoat, and shades of khaki that verge on the orange are extremely smart.

The tiny thick ruches of tulle about the throat have been followed by those in silk.

Every smart dresser's have taken to wearing very, very narrow ones, quilled thickly like the Watteau ruche, and sometimes, especially with a transparent tulle guimpe, the ruche is made entirely of one row of small shell satin flowers tied with a bow at the back, or squarely under the chin. No gown is made with the material running over the neck, throat and arms, and the absolutely transparent effect thus given for all afternoon dresses is a bit shocking to the provincial.

A new pongee motor coat that is very practical has a yoke in the back, cut almost to the waist line, suggesting a bolero. This is cut by two box plaits springing from the neck. Watteau fashion. The fronts are double-breasted, as are most of the models.

All white handkerchiefs are not seen so much as formerly, but in colors there are shades in every imaginable color to choose from.

For instance, gray and white is the latest combination. White handkerchiefs hemmed with pearl gray or a gray background decorated with white embroideries are much favored.

Another pretty effect is produced by heavy corners of white on a colored foundation. Scallops share popularity with the quarter-inch hem as a finish.

INVEST IN A STEAM COOKER.

There is economy of fuel as well as of time in the steam cookers with which house furnishing departments are supplied. With them an entire meal may be cooked over a single burner of a gas, coal or oil stove, and without the odor of one food permeating the other foods.

The cookers are so made that no steam escapes from the various compartments into each other, nor into the room in which the cooking is being done. The meat or fish, which requires longer cooking than the vegetables, goes into the bottom receptacle. Then over it are put the various vegetables and dessert in the order of time required for their cooking. Corn, peas, potatoes, spinach and other vegetables which require a short time to become tender naturally go on the upper receptacles of the last.

With the steaming process no flavor is lost, as it is bound to be when boiling is done and many of the best cooks always use that process for vegetables. If chicken is to be cooked it may be steamed tender first, and then it may be fried brown or scalloped after cooking. Fish that is tasty when boiled is equally so cooked by steam. The same time for cooking is wanted for steaming as for boiling.

GALATEA MAKES USEFUL FROCKS.

Among the cheapest of the pretty tub jumper frocks are those made of blue and brown galatea. The material sells at a small price and washes like a collar.

It comes in good tones that do not show and will come out of the tub without being faded. Linen makes charming dresses, but every woman cannot afford many linen frocks. The good quality is the only one worth buying, and a frock of it is more or less costly.

When a girl feels she can afford only one, she should get it in rose pink or alle green in order that it may be dressy enough for afternoon wear.

This is the ideal costume for church this summer, at home or on a vacation.

Cotton duck is another material that is excellent for everyday wear, as a whole season of constant service makes little impression on it.

The reason most of these materials were not comfortable before for summer frocks was because of their heat around the neck and arms.

Paradoxical State of Affairs.

"I have written a book that everybody ought to read," said the author.

"I'm afraid it won't do," answered the publisher. "What the public seems to want now is a book that nobody ought to read."—Washington Star.

—Advertise in The Daily Press.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 23, 1908.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Vacation religion.—Mark vi, 30-46.

Christ recognized both the need and the justice of rest. The apostles had been out doing missionary work. In their absence John the Baptist was put to death by the infamous Herod. When they heard of it they gathered together and buried him in a tomb. Then they returned to Jesus "and told Him all things." both what they had done and what they had taught." They had labored faithfully and now made their reports. The death of John and its manner would naturally fill them with great distress of heart and mind. The Master, who could read the heart as well as the outward lives, realized all this and with it that they needed and deserved a rest; hence He said to them, "Come ye yourselves out into a desert place and rest awhile, for there were many coming and going, and they had no leisure so much as to eat." Thus Christ recognized that he who labors deserves a rest, a vacation, as we call it today.

The apostles were therefore to have a vacation and with Jesus with them. Oh, that Christians today in larger numbers sought the quieter places for rest and recreation and took Jesus with them! How much more profitable physically, spiritually and mentally their vacations would be! Instead of the noise and dissipation of the "madding crowd," to join "the desert place" and be with Jesus! But the tendency is just the opposite. The crowded places are sought. Conduct that we would not practice at home is freely indulged in. Jesus is left at home. The little is in a secure, safe place, while light and often immoral literature take its place. Religion is left at home, and dirting and dancing and drinking are the gods most frequently worshiped. Rest? Recreation? It is neither. Nothing living would come nearer to describing many vacations than rest.

That there is a vacation religion different from religion itself is an absurdity. Yet many believe it. How many say, "In Rome do as Rome does," and their consciences are quieted! But a religion that won't be in Rome or any other place the same is no religion. Rome went to ruin, and with it those who in Rome lived only after the fashion of Romans. It is eminently proper when in different places to follow the customs of these places in so far as they are right, but when they are wrong the line of the Christian at least should be drawn. Where no moral question is involved it is courteous to do in a strange place what others do, but when morality is involved no such obligation rests upon us, no more than if in China because we followed the custom of the Chinese in riding in a rickshaw we must also bow down before Chinese idols.

Christ and the apostles teach us that vacation religion should be religion, not irreligion. They went to a desert place to rest, but the people followed them, and they administered both to their physical and spiritual wants. How many of us follow their example? We should, for they are our examples in all things if we are Christians.

Bible Search.

Gen. ii, 1-3; Ex. xx, 8-10; Eccl. 2, 22-25; iii, 11-14; Jer. vi, 16; Matt. xi, 28; Phil. iv, 8, 9; I Pet. ii, 9-12; Heb. iii, 1-12.

Making Homes More Glorious.

Vice President Fairbanks paid the following tribute to Christian Endeavor in his speech at the Seattle convention:

"This Christian Endeavor society is a practical society. That is one of the thinks I like about it. It takes concern not only of the future, but of the present also. Wherever it is found it makes for all those things which most distinguish a high order of civilization. It is making for the good of community, state and the country. And above and beyond all else it is making more glorious and more sublime the homes of our countrymen. The work it has done is great. Before it is a work greater still to be done. The twentieth century, upon which we have entered with such splendid promise, is in God's providence to be the greatest century since the stars first sang together, a century in which science will flourish as never before, a century in which literature will make splendid advances. And I believe that *before the sun of the pres*ent century has passed its meridian we shall accomplish the greatest victory in the history of the world, and that will be the triumph of peaceful settlement over war itself. My friends, all honor to the Christian Endeavor society of the United States! Yes, all honor to the Christian Endeavor society throughout the world! I thank you all."

A Great Service.

Rev. Jacob W. Kapp, counselor of the Cincinnati union, says in the Christian Endeavor World that Christian Endeavor teaches will do a great service for the kingdom if they will do these two things: Seek if possible to win back the lapsed young people of our churches. Secondly, push the adult movement in the Sunday school.

A Christian Statesman's Word.

Hon. Alfred Deakin, prime minister of the commonwealth of Australia, in a recent address said, "Christian Endeavor is a worldwide movement which answers to a worldwide need."

In Missionary Lands.

The Irish Endeavorer is authority for the statement that there are more than 100,000 Endeavorers in missionary lands.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Recent Additions, Fiction and Non-Fiction, to the Adult Department of the Public Library.

Fiction.

Austen, Jane.—Novels and letters. Chawton edition, 12 vs.
Illustrated in color by Brock.
Benson, E. F.—Sheaves.
Castle, Agnes and Edgerton.—Flower o' the orange.
Chambers, R. W.—Some ladies in haste.
Churchill, Winston.—The Celebrity.
Croker, Mrs. B. M.—Pretty Miss Nevile.
Cutting, Mrs. M. S.—The Wayfarers.
Klein, Charles.—Lion and the mouse.
Lincoln, J. C.—Mr. Pratt.
Long, J. L.—Madam Butterfly.
McCutcheon, G. B.—Beverly of Graustark.
McCutcheon, G. B.—Husbands of Edith.
MacGrath, Harold.—The Best Man.
Major, Charles.—Yolanda.
Parkes, Mrs. E. R.—Come and find me.
Parrish, Randall.—My Lady of the North.
Parrish, Randall.—Sword of the old Frontier.
Parrish, Randall.—When Wilderness was King.
Rives, Hallie E.—Hearts courageous.
Sinclair, May.—Judgement of Eve.
Stevenson, B. E.—That affair at Elizabeth.
Tomkins, J. W.—Dr. Ellen.
Tracy, Louis.—Wings of the morning.
Wilkins, M. E.—Shoulders of Atlas.
Williamson, Mrs. A. M. L.—Woman in grey.
Wister, Owen.—Red men and white.
Wood, Mrs. Henry.—Edina.
Wood, Mrs. Henry.—Mildred Arkell.
Wood, Mrs Henry.—Mrs. Halliburton's trouble.
Wood, Mrs. Henry.—Shadow of Ashlydyat.
Wright, M. O.—Open window.

Non-Fiction.

Abbott, D. P.—Behind the scenes with the mediums.
Ady, Mrs. Julia Cartwright.—Isabelle D'Este.
Baker, Arthur.—American Esperanto book.
Brooks, Stopford.—Ten plays of Shakespeare.
Chesterton, G. K.—Heretics.
Copwer, W.—Letters edited by H. V. Lucas.
Ely, Mrs.—Second hardy garden.
Fraprio, F. R.—Castles and keeps of Scotland.
Hallock, E. W.—A tour of four great rivers—journal of Richard Smith, of Burlington, New Jersey. 1769.
Trine, R. W.—In tune with the Infinite.

Books Added to the Young People's Department.

Adams, J. H.—Harper's Indoor book for boys.
Barbour, R. H.—Crimson sweater.
Blanchard, Amy E.—Bonnie Lesley of the border.
Blanchard, Amy E.—Four corners.
Blanchard E.—Frontier Knight.
Blanchard, Amy E.—Gentle Pioneer.
Blanchard, Amy E.—Girl of '76.
Blanchard, Amyil E.—Heroine of 1812.
Blanchard, Amy E.—Loyal Lass.
Bland, Mrs. E. N.—Railway children.
Bullen, F. W.—Call of the Deep.
Daskam, J. D.—Ten of seventeen.
Drysdale, William.—Fast mail.
Drysdale, William.—Young reporter.
Drysdale, William.—Young supercargo.
Eaton, Seymour.—More about Teddy B. and Teddy G.
Johnston, A. F.—Three Weavers.
King, General Charles.—To the Front. Sequel to Cadet Days
Lang, Andrew.—Tales of the Round Table.
Lang, Andrew.—Tales of Troy and Greece.
Lothrop, Mrs. H. M. S.—Adventures of Joel Pepper.
Lothrop, Mrs. H. M. S.—Ben Pepper.
Lothrop, Mrs. H. M. S.—Stories Polly Pepper told.
Ray, Alice C.—Ursula's Freshman.
Smith, Mrs. E. T. M.—Peter the pilgrim.
Smith, Mrs. E. T. M.—Scamp family.
Stratemeyer, Edward.—Last cruise of the Spitfire.
Taggart, M. A.—Daughters of the little grey house.
Taggart, M. A.—Six girls and Bob.
Taggart, M. A.—Six girls and the tea room.
Whitney, *Helen May.—The Bed*time book.
Yerkes, Barbara.—Young savage.

Recent Additions in Fiction.

Fazin, Rene.—The Nun. (From the French.)
Lauby, Brank.—Heart of a child.
Jacobs, W. W.—More cargoes.
La Pastyre, Mrs. Henry.—The grey Knight.
Sheehan, P. A.—Lisheen.
Wilson, Henry Leon.—Lions of the Lord.
Wright, Harold Bell.—Shepherd of the Hills.

Recent Additions in Non-Fiction.

Herford, Beatrice.—Monologues.
James, W. and Grasal, G.—English and Italian Dictionary.
James, W.—English and German Dictionary.
Kennedy, C. R.—Servant in the house.
Mason, D. G., and Surette, T. W.—Appreciation of Music.
Smyth, Newman.—Passing Protestantism and Coming Catholicism.
Trollope, Anthony.—Autobiography.
Quackenbos, J. D.—Hypnotic Therapeutics.
Wallace, Dillon.—Lure of the Labrador wild.

Recent Additions to the Young People's Department.

Alderman, E. A.—Classics old and new. 5vs.
Bigham, Madge A.—Mother Goose village.
Book of drills and marches.
Holbrook, Florence. — Hiawatha primer.
Singleton, Esther. — Golden-rod fairy book.
Wilson, Gilbert L.—Myths of the red children.

GOWNS OF ONE WOMAN.

A London letters says Mrs. John Jacob Astor has just returned from Paris with an exquisite wardrobe designed in the much-discussed directoire style. They fit her to perfection; Worth and Doucet have expended hours upon them, and the result is creations of rare beauty. It is only the people who think evil morning, noon and night who see anything wrong in the "scabbard" gown. It has grace, elegance and art in every line.

Mrs. Astor's frocks are of the modified order—not cut so closely to the lines of the figure as those worn across the channel. She will set here the perfection. One is of the Old World blue Roman satin; the color matches her eyes. It is devoid of trimming save for a band of embroidery, jeweled with sapphires, which outlines the front drapery. The dress fastens on the left side with a buckle of the stones. You can imagine what a picture she will make in this, crowned by her mass of white hair. At one of the courts she will wear a white satia directoire gown, cut on the same lines as the blue, with jewels set in the style of the period.

There is no woman in English society with such an enviable capacity for making her fellow-woman look "small" and insignificant as Mrs. Astor. This is the result, not so much of her beauty as of her "style." Whether it is because she is so decorative and so fascinating it is hard to tell. People literally fight to secure her presence at their parties. Duchesses will postpone their festivities in order to give her a chance to attend. She is often followed about a room in London by a miniature crowd. Yet she is the quietest, demurest of women, with nothing of the "go" and vivacity which make her compatriots popular. The gossips say that Robert Hichens is posing for the heroine of his forthcoming novel,

Make Your Writing Table.

An excellent writing table may be manufactured from two boxes and if more pigeonholes are required four smaller boxes may be joined together on each side of the knee hole, instead of two. When nicely sand-papered, sized, stained with permanganate and finished off with varnish stain this will form a very ornamental and soloid piece of furniture, in*valuable to those who write, says* Woman's Life.

Do not be too sparing of screws; they cost very little. Begin by drilling a hole with a gimlet, then insert the screw, working it well in. The great disadvantage of all amateur work is that it is not done with sufficient care.

The Dusting Cloth.

It is made of heavy cheesecloth, dyed black and chemically treated, so as to attract the dust to it. Not only is the dust attracted but it stays attracted. It can be washed with soap and water, and this laundering does not in any way affect its attractive qualities. But it is ready to work as briskly as ever when it comes from the wash. It certainly makes the unpleasant task of dusting somewhat easier.

The band of black velvet, which is again so popular, is sometimes adorned with unusually devised embroidery, which adds color to the somber black.

Often the band is decorated with flowers; then, again, it is adorned with a design worked out in beads of glass and china.

When milady is in mourning she wears a taffeta band embroidered in dull jet beads. For evening wear the velvet band may be embroidered with rhinestones. For afternoon dresses light glass beads or ribbon are artistically arranged upon the velvet.

Of course, the colors, when there are any, should always match the dress or the trimming thereof, unless the dress be white. Then the imagination may be put into play to devise a combination of beautiful pastel shades.

Towne—I never saw a man who was so fond of entertaining as Henpeck is. It's really remarkable.

Browne—Oh, that's not so strange. You see, his wife is quite pleasant to him when there's company in the house.—Philadelphia Press.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

QUOTH THE ORATOR, "NEVERMORE."

James E. Martine, the "Farmer-Orator" of the Fifth Congressional district, has positively, peremptorily and permanently refused to run again for office. His has, he says, "been made poor by serving his party as its perennial candidate." Nobody has blame him. He has sacrificed far more than any other man in this State for the benefit of his party, and it has, every time, proved ungrateful. Even the last time Mr. Martine ran for Congress, against Charles N. Fowler, he was a Republican vote in Union that gave him a majority in that county, and had the Democrats of Warren and Morris stood by him he would have been elected.

But now that Mr. Martine will not run again, will not subject himself and to the whims of ungrateful Democrats, another man must be selected. Already an entirely new candidate has come forward, with no little acclaim. This is Joseph A. Sperry, of Roosevelt Manor, Orand Ford, a well-to-do retired steel stamp from the "Farmer Orator." He is, furthermore, a man who will last even longer than Mr. Martine, if he remains in politics till he is "made poor by serving the party as a perennial candidate."

The new candidate has not been hitherto known as an active politician, but that is no reason why he should not now come forward. He is credited with large wealth and with some degree of forensic ability. If he is nominated on the Democratic ticket James A. Martine can be counted on to speak in his behalf on every rostrum in the district, and the two, uniting their special qualifications in one whirlwind campaign, will stir up the Fifth district as it has not been stirred since the last Congressional election—Newark Evening News.

The Candidacy of Ackerman.

Senator Ackerman will be a candidate for re-election, and doubtlessly he will succeed himself, in the event of the Democrats naming any other than the redoubtable James E. Martine who, running for Congress two years ago, secured a plurality in Union against Representative Charles N. Fowler. Senator Ackerman believes the only available Democratic candidate who could defeat Ackerman if Martine declines the nomination, the present Senator will have no serious trouble at the polls.—Elizabeth Times, Democratic.

A Tale of Two Cities.

It was interesting to learn through the newspapers yesterday morning that the saloons were wider open than ever before in Atlantic City last Sunday. In fact they were closed tighter than ever before in the city of Elizabeth. In Elizabeth the law was obeyed. In Atlantic City the law was defied. The chief of police of Elizabeth a few weeks ago declared that he would use every effort to enforce the Bishops' law, but after the probing committee had been around he concluded that there is no such word as "can't" in the bright lexicon of youth, and he became active, with the result that the saloons were closed. If the saloonkeepers of Atlantic City have the right to do business on the Sabbath day, saloonkeepers in every other city in the State have that right. There is no discrimination so far as the law is concerned. But say the authorities in this town by the sea, it is impossible to enforce the law because we cannot get a grand jury that will indict the liquor sellers. The keepers of disdeputable dives, of brothels and of gambling houses are looking on complacently, for saving full well that, if the saloon-keeper is permitted to flagrantly violate the law without punishment, they ought to be permitted to carry on their business without interruption. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander would be less expensive for Atlantic City if the judge of the county court, the prosecutor of the pleas and the sheriff were dismissed from office.—Trenton State Gazette.

Open Sunday Afternoon.

Councilman William Riddle, of Atlantic City, has introduced in the municipal body of that place an ordinance, which, according to a reporter of the Atlantic City Press, would be quite harmless after 1 p. m. on the Sabbath day. Dancing, skating, bowling, baseball, loop-the-loop, knock-the-baby-down, and all forms of amusement or games will be permissive on Sabbath afternoon if the proposed ordinance is adopted. By-the terms the Boardwalk theatres will be able to rival Broadway playhouses by giving a regular matinee on Sunday, following with a Sunday evening performance no different from that on weekdays. The next text of the ordinance is as follows:

"Be it ordained by the City Council of Atlantic City that no dancing, playing nine-pins, ten-pins, bowls, or any flip-flop, loop-loop, old mill, shooting gallery, weighing scale, knock-down-the-baby games or any other playing of games, pastime diversions, shall be done or performed by any person or persons within the limits of Atlantic City between the hours of 12 o'clock midnight of any Saturday and 1 o'clock in the afternoon of the Christian Sabbath."

The point of view of the councilman is very well set forth in the following interview in the Press:

"Let the church folk have the day to themselves up until 1 o'clock. After 1 o'clock, however, and for the balance of the Sabbath, let Young America have some freedom, some way. To the average workingman Sunday is the only holiday, a day of recreation. If amusements are prohibited on this day, he gets none. But the church-going man can usually go to the theatre any night or day in the week, and his son can play ball at any time."

Atlantic City would not dare pass such an ordinance as that, of course, since it would be not only a direct slap in the face for the laws of the State, but a low one at that. Atlantic City, or any other political subdivision of the State of New Jersey can legalise by the passage of an ordinance that has been made illegal by State law. Almost any grammar school boy know that. But State law is all a low joke in Atlantic City, that it is not strange, after all, to find a councilman apparently oblivious of the fact that there is such a thing in existence. The attitude is the perfectly natural outcome of persistent and flagrant violation of the public statutes.—Elizabeth Journal.

LITERARY

It is safe to say that Edwin L. Sabin's sketch, "Bull-heads," in the August Lippincott's, will arouse tender memories in the breast of many a hard-headed business man. No fishing in later years, whether for tuna, tarpon, salmon, or any other game fish, has ever, it is safe to say, afford quite the interest inspired by the bull-head fishing of boyhood's happy days.

The August American Magazine contains an interesting chapter of unpublished political history as has appeared anywhere in years. It is the story of how Boss Croker, of Tammany Hall, helped William C. Whitney elect Grover Cleveland in 1892. It is a story of a grateful man and of how he "got even;" for, thirty years before the year 1892, William C. Whitney helped Richard Croker out of as tight a boxx as a man ever found himself in.

Tommy's maiden aunt had called attention to some of that young man's misdemeanors, thereby causing him to be punished. Tommy pondered a while, then asked, "Papa, will little sister Gladys be an aunt to my children when I am a man?"

"Yes, Tommy," answered his father, much interested. "Why do you ask?"

"'Cause she might as well get married and have a home of her own, for I don't intend to have any aunts to carry around and spoil me, making trouble for my children."—Woman's Home Companion for August.

In the August number of "Success Magazine," under the title, "A Minister's Confession," the pronounced clergyman tells of his attempt to be a man and a citizen as well as a minister of the gospel. Emerson Hough discusses America's urgent need for improvements of waterways. William Mailly, who manages the Socialist campaign in 1908, tells what Socialism really is and what it is not. His article is entitled "The Socialist Bugaboo." The subject of Orison Swett Marden's editorial is "New Thought —New Life." David Graham Evans writes instructingly about Industrial Bonds.

A novelette of unusual interest opens the August number of The Smart Set. It is called "The Diary of an Unconscious Eve," and is written by G. Vere Tyler, a writer who probably has as keen an insight into the feminine temperament as any living author. The situation on which the novel is founded is as odd—unique and daring, and the ending is so absolutely unlooked for that it will surprise even the most clever readers. A more original piece of work has not appeared in this magazine. Numerous well-known writers are represented in the issue. Particularly interesting is Elizabeth Jordan's story, "Her Letters."

"One who was not afraid, and who spoke the truth," is the summary that F. Hopkinson Smith makes of the character of Captain Thomas A. Scott, Master Diver, whose life he sketches in the August Everybody's. Captain Scott was a plain American, one of the "common people," with a heart full of the milk of human kindness, a hand ever ready to help and protect the weak. He was a real hero—the record of his life as a wrecker and diver proves this. It is full of instances of his courage and sacrifice of self, and not only inspires one with uplifts, but forces one to be an optimist.

The August number of the Metropolitan Magazine opens with a particularly interesting article, "Our Navy's Great Task," by John R. Winchell, illustrated with splendid photographs taken in shipboard. John D. Wells writes of "The Scars of War in the Shenandoah," comparing with the charm and sympathy of the battlefields of forty-five years ago to their condition today. This article brings us closely in touch with the stirring and unhappy events in which our fathers played a part. "The Southwest in Evolution," by Charles M. Harvey, is timely and valuable and explains how the desert is being made to blossom to make room for American progress.

A story of singular power and effectiveness is "The Forest of His Fathers," which Henry C. Rowland publishes in The Red Book Magazine for August. It is concerned with the great private estate in the north woods and the native woodsman's resentment against the multimillionaire owner.

The August number of The Popular Science Monthly contains the following articles: "The History of the Conservation of Energy; the Age of the Earth and the Sun," by Professor Florian Cajori; "Florissant: a Miocene Pompeii," by Professor T. D. A. Cockerell; "Crime as a Violence in Chicago and in Greater New York," by Maynard Shipley; "The Movement towards 'Physiological Psychology,'" by Professor R. M. Wenley; and "The Nature, Origin and Function of Humor," by Dr. Linus W. Kline.

The August number of the Atlantic Monthly, the first issue to appear under the imprint of The Atlantic Monthly Company, is full of fresh and delightful material. Charles D. Stewart, the well-known author of "The Fugitive Blacksmith," writes "The Story of servants, the ox. The description of the tug of war in which Billy conBilly," a stirring and full-blooded tribute to the most modest and quered his rival is as fine a piece of descriptive writing as has appeared for many months.

Unalloyed enjoyment of the water's refreshing coolness is shown on the face of the boy loofing out from the front cover of the August American Boy, and the contents of the magazine just fits in with the vacation spirit. The fine serials by Houston, Tomlinson and Optic, with Weir's story of his experiances Under the Great White Canvas continue with increasing interest.

*The methods of the "shadow dra*matia" have been subjected to many variations. Some shadow plays have been produced with living actors whose profiles have been projected on a screen. This farm is known in the United States. The Archaic form, now revived, uses figures cut out of card or wood or leather. In Arabia the shadow figures were of colored leather, through which *the light be*hind threw on the screen, which faced the spectator a dull glow like stained glass. Mr. Lindsay Sloper is to take his shadow plays through Germany —in an educational spirit—and perhaps some day they may be seen in the United States.—August Technical World.

As the country had a right to expect, the reversal by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals of the decision of the District Court against the Beef Trust Company, which involved the $23,000,000 fine has had a bracing effect on general trade. The case goes back to the lower court for a new trial, in which hysteria will probably have a smaller part than it had in the suit which has just been at issue. We need not prevent prosecution from degenerating into anything which may look like persecution.—James W. Van Cleave, President National Association of Manufacturers, in American Industries for August.

CARE OF THE EYES DURING THE SUMMER.

A great cause of eye suffering in summer is the glare from city streets built of stone. Those who must be out during the day find that the eyeballs are in a high state of irritation after the day's exposure.

In some countries blue glasses are worn, and during the heat of this summer men who really suffered from the glare had the courage to adopt this protecting method during all the hours they spent out of doors.

Women who have gone shopping during the day and walked the streets a good deal have come home with their eyes aching like a tooth and have not known what to do for the trouble.

All this irritation is quickly relieved by first bathing the eyes in very hot water, then applying a mixture of camphor julep and witch hazel.

Witch hazel diluted with water can also be dropped directly into the eye, and this treatment quickly relieves the burning feeling.

It is also helpful to bathe the eyes when coming into the house with hot water and boracic acid, using a small portion to a large quantity of water.

In hot weather days, when travelers will open car windows instead of leaving them down, as all the wise ones do, there is the constant danger of cinders, which irritate the eyeball. Those who travel two or three times a day on the trains find that their eyes are in a bad condition about this time of the year.

Here is a good bit of advice from one who knows: Restrain the impulse to rub the eye and insert a handkerchief into the corner of the eye. Close the lid and the seed will slide painlessly around the eyeball and soon come out at the other corner, bringing the cinder with it.

The best part of this remedy is that it does not leave any chance of inflammation. The oil of the seed covers the eyeball and takes out all irritation.

It is advisable for those who travel on trains constantly to carry a few of these seeds in the pocketbook.

Economy.

"Is your wife economical?" asked the intrusive questioner.

"In some respects," answered Mr. Meekton. "She doesn't believe in wasting money on cigars or expensive lunches or baseball tickets, or a number of other articles that I might mention."—Washington Star.

THE PICNIC SHELF IN THE PANTRY.

They who go a-picnicking must needs consider the question of lunch, and it greatly helps the preparations for a day's jaunt if all the packing materials and all the favorite picnic recipes are kept in one place in the kitchen cupboard, just as one keeps an "emergency shelf" for company, says Dea Beator. When summer approaches arrange also a "picnic shelf" and the preparing and packing of lunch will lose all its terrors.

There should be some big sheets of heavy brown paper, one of which, neatly folded, should be put in the bottom of the basket. This is to be the tablecloth. Then there should be a supply of paper napkins, and also a supply of paraffin paper in which to wrap the sandwiches. If one does not live near a store which sells paraffin paper, save all the linings from your cracker boxes. There should be two inexpensive salt and pepper shakers, a corkscrew for the ginger ale bottles, some drinking glasses or cups and a few knives, forks and spoons.

LUNCHEON DISH LEFT-OVERS.

When one has a supply of cold meat, stale bread and left-over stewed tomatoes or a few raw ones, a delicious luncheon or breakfast dish can be fashioned.

Put the meat through the chopper, or, if you have none, cut it into very small dice.

Season the tomatoes highly, if cooked, and add a little more thickening to make a rich tomato sauce. If raw, peel, stew, season with salt, pepper and a little onion and thicken with a tablespoonful of flour and one tablespoonful of butter. Cook the sauce hot in a double boiler until needed.

Toast the bread, butter on both sides and put a tablespoonful of the hot tomato sauce on each piece.

Stir the chopped meat in the rest of the sauce and mix over the fire until thoroughly heated. Give an extra touch of seasoning, put a liberal supply of the mixture on each piece of toast and serve at once.

Any kind of meat or poultry can be used, but cold lamb, veal and chicken are the best.—Ellen Wise, in Philadelphia Press.

Delicious Raspberry Ice.

With the return of fresh raspberries to the market, fresh raspberry ice is a possibility. Here is the rule used in one family: Crush a pint of the fruit. Bring two cupfuls of water and two cupfuls of sugar to a boil and when the sugar is dissolved boil the syrup. Add a pint which involved the $23,000,000 fine has had a bracing effect on general trade. The case goes back to the lower court for a new trial, in which hysteria will probably have a smaller part than it had in the suit which has just been at issue. We need not prevent prosecution from degenerating into anything which may look like persecution.—James W. Van Cleave, President National Association of Manufacturers, in American Industries for August.

CARE OF THE EYES DURING THE SUMMER.

A great cause of eye suffering in summer is the glare from city streets built of stone. Those who must be out during the day find that the eyeballs are in a high state of irritation after the day's exposure.

In some countries blue glasses are worn, and during the heat of this summer men who really suffered from the glare had the courage to adopt this protecting method during all the hours they spent out of doors.

Women who have gone shopping during the day and walked the streets a good deal have come home with their eyes aching like a tooth and have not known what to do for the trouble.

All this irritation is quickly relieved by first bathing the eyes in very hot water, then applying a mixture of camphor julep and witch hazel.

Witch hazel diluted with water can also be dropped directly into the eye, and this treatment quickly relieves the burning feeling.

It is also helpful to bathe the eyes when coming into the house with hot water and boracic acid, using a small portion to a large quantity of water.

In hot weather days, when travelers will open car windows instead of leaving them down, as all the wise ones do, there is the constant danger of cinders, which irritate the eyeball. Those who travel two or three times a day on the trains find that their eyes are in a bad condition about this time of the year.

Here is a good bit of advice from one who knows: Restrain the impulse to rub the eye and insert a handkerchief into the corner of the eye. Close the lid and the seed will slide painlessly around the eyeball and soon come out at the other corner, bringing the cinder with it.

The best part of this remedy is that it does not leave any chance of inflammation. The oil of the seed covers the eyeball and takes out all irritation.

It is advisable for those who travel on trains constantly to carry a few of these seeds in the pocketbook.

Economy.

"Is your wife economical?" asked the intrusive questioner.

"In some respects," answered Mr. Meekton. "She doesn't believe in wasting money on cigars or expensive lunches or baseball tickets, or a number of other articles that I might mention."—Washington Star

ENDS LIFE WITH BULLET

John Britton, in Despondent Mood, Kills Himself in Vacant Lot.

PASSERBY WITNESSES THE ACT.

Ambulance Carries Wounded Man to Hospital But Death Ensues in Twenty Minutes.

Despondent over his business affairs, John Britton, of Orange place, blew out his brains with a .38 calibre revolver in the vacant lot at Church and East Front street at about 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, and died twenty minutes after his arrival at the hospital in the ambulance. The suicide was witnessed by an Italian named Mike Marsigo, who was passing the corner at the time and who summoned Patrolman Dobson and the ambulance. Mr. Britton, who was sixty years old, was on his way to the skirt factor of Nat Levy & Co., where he has been employed for the past two years as night watchman. The revolver with which he killed himself was the one he carried while at work.

Some time ago Mr. Britton bought an express business, placing it in charge of his sons, Edward and William Britton. They paid but little attention to, it is said, and the father was compelled to secure a manager. He had two horses and wagons, but one of the horses died only a short time ago. Yesterday he closed a deal for the sale of the business to J. T. Boylan, of Regent street, and afterward remained down town for some time with his sons. He was much disappointed, it is said, over the failure of the two to make a success of the venture.

The fatal shot was fired when the man was about in the middle of the lot, crossing to Church street. The suicide held the weapon to his right temple and pulled the trigger. Marsigo heard the shot and turning, saw the man stagger and fall. Dr. Browning and Dr. Pittis came with the ambulance, but the suicide's aim had been true, and death came in a few minutes.

Britton, who has been a resident of this city for the past eighteen years, lived at 302 Orange place. He was born at Everettstown, and later lived in Neshanic for several years. He is survived by a widow, two sons, Edward and William, and a daughter, Mrs. Frank Mason, who lived with her parents.

Mr. Britton was a great sufferer from facial neuralgia and it is believed that the pain, together with depression about his business, drove him to commit suicide. He was a member of Park Baptist church, and belonged to the P. O. S. of A. and the Somerville Lodge of Odd Fellows. The funeral will be from his late home on Orange place Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and will be in charge of a delegation from th Somerville lodge of Odd Fellows.

A coincidence in connection with this fatality is the fact that Mr. Britton's predecessor as watchman at the skirt factory also committed suicide. He was John Witteman, who shot himself as he sat in the boiler room of the plant one morning just before the employes began to arrive for their day's work.

MRS. ANNIE OSBORN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Mrs. Annie C. Osborn, widow of Joseph T. Osborn, and mother of Mrs. E. S. Ovens, died at the home of the latter in the Lincoln Apartments on West Fourth street, Monday, after a long illness. She was born at Princeton and was seventy-one years of age. She formerly lived at Middletown. After the death of her husband she made her home with her daughter and for several years resided on Mercer avenue, North Plainfield. Four years ago the family moved to New York, returning to Plainfield a year ago, where they have continued to reside. Mrs. Osborne was a woman of strong Christian character and many lovable qualities. She was a member of the Church of the Holy Cross and until illness prevented was a regular communicant there. The only surviving member of the family is the daughter, Mrs. Ovens.

The funeral service was held from the home of the daughter at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Rev. G.A. Warner, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, officiating. The remains were taken later to Red Bank where Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock another service was held in the chapel at Fairview cemetery, where the burial took place.

A Dainty Hair Ornament.

Hair ornaments are returning to favor and many of the evening coiffures support huge butterflies in violet and gold. Jet butterflies, too, are much worn, and they add grace to a Psyche knot. Velvet ribbon is arranged in the hair with a flat bow on the side. This last is particularly used for the theatre and takes the place of a hat. Then, too many women are wearing their hair in huge buns in the back, round which quite broad ribbon is fastened with a bow at the top. This arrangement is far from pretty, but it has become quite popular.

EXPRESSMAN INJURED WHILE GIVING A "LIFT"

Joseph English, employed by the Hand Storage and Express Company, and engaged with a large gang carrying iron for the Public Service Corporation's new gas-holder being being erected on Watchung avenue, received a bad injury to his leg and foot about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon which will detain him at home for a few weeks.

He had been working with Hand's gang unloading iron at the gas plant, when another gang employed by the company asked him for a "lift" to move some iron sheets. While lifting one of the heavy pieces of iron he slipped his hold and fell on his leg and foot. Had the full weight of the iron, which weighed about two tons, fallen on his leg, it would have crushed it beyond help.

English was taken to the home of Dr. H. M. Lowerie on Park avenue, where he was examined and temporary treatment given. So far as the physician was able to determine there were no bones broken, but the man suffered intensely from the effects of the blow. He was later removed to his home on East Front street, refusing the offers to take him to Muhlenberg Hospital. English formerly lived in Newark and has been employed by the Hands only a few weeks.

WOVERTON CASE PUT OVER FOR TWO WEEKS

The hearing of Superintendent Arthur Wolverton, head of the Industrial Home, against whom charges of abuse have been made by S. S. Vermeule, a ninety-two-year-old inmate, was adjourned for two weeks in the city court Tuesday at the request of W. G. DeMeza, counsel for accused. The complainant came in a carriage to the court-room, arriving promptly at 9 o'clock. He is not represented by counsel.

The charge, as read by Judge Runyon, alleges that on August 1 the superintendent abused the old man, at the home, seizing him roughly by the collar and arm and throwing him down. According to Mr. Vermeule's sworn statement, he was injured by the fall and sustained a cut on the knuckle of his right hand. The superintendent did not put the case into the lawyer's hands until early this morning, so that his counsel's request for an adjournment was readily granted.

At the hearing Tuesday were Councilman W. L. Gloak, Overseer of the Poor Aleck Ayres and City Physician C. B. Lufburrow. Mr. Ayres said that the case should not properly come up in the city court, calling that the proper channel for such a charge was through him to the Common Council.

SCRAPPY POLAKS FINED FOR "PLAYFUL" FIGHTING

Patrolman Payne was standing on West Front street, Sunday, when a man rushed up to him and said that some Poles were trying to kill each other in the rear of the building at 245 West Front street. The officer pressed John Powers, of the borough, into service, and the two nabbed Joseph Motacki and Stanley Kaszobski whom they found mixing it up pretty well in the back yard of Motacki's home. Joseph Smith, another belligerent, ran into the house, but after the two prisoners had been jailed, Payne returned and found him in the rooms upstairs.

At the hearing of the case Monday, the three were fined $5 apiece. It appears that the occasion was a Polish christening and after refreshments had been served and many of the guests gone home, the three stayed to finish up a keg of lager. This done they began a fistic exercise in the back yard, designated in court as "playing." To make the "playing" more realistic, perhaps, they called each other names and shouted threats of death by knifing. Judge Runyon seemed to think that such a game ought to be discouraged in this city, and the three had to pay to secure their freedom.

TWO KINDS OF BUTERFLIES.

I saw a butterfly, one day,
Come fearlessly, but very still,
And sip from flowers in a can
Which rested on my window sill.

"Oh, tell me, butterfly," I said,
"Why do you seek this lonely spot When there are gardens where you know There's so much sweetness to be got?"

The little insect said: "Oh, rats!
Now, why do you in summer go
And seek some lonely place yourself
Where nothing's ever known to grow?

"You're not content to stay in town,
Where things are fresh, but make your plans
To go to some secluded spot
And get your victuals all in cans!"
—Yonkers Statesman.

FIRE HOUSE CONFERENCE

Councilmen Hold Lengthy Session Without Reaching an Agreement.

PROPOSITION NOW HELD UP.

Cost of the Building As Outlined at Present the Principal Obstacle in the Way of Progress.

Because the members of the Common Council cannot agree on the amount of money which should be expended for the erection of a firehouse on South avenue in the Netherwood district of the city, little or no progress was made at the conference of the members called Thursday by the fire and building committee. There was just a quorum present and the whole evening was given up to a discussion of the firehouse proposition, and sketches as presented by Chairman H. D. Hibbard.

There is no question at all as to the need of greater fire protection in the East End, but whether it is sufficiently urgent to erect a building at once and equip it and the cost are important points that the members are not agreed upon. It was suggested that if the West End house were made enough for that end of the city and had answered the purpose in that thickly-populated section, a similar one should be good enough for the East End. A majority of the members appear to be opposed to spending a lot of money for a firehouse in the Netherwood district mainly for the reason that the city cannot well afford it at pres ent.

The proposition is now held up pending further information, it being the purpose of the members to ascertain definitely, if possible, how the improvement can be made at a reasonable cost and to get plans that will answer the request of those favoring the building.

There is determined opposition on the part of some of the members to placing a show house on South avenue. They do not think that this is necessary even in the Netherwood district. If it is decided to build at all, the structure will probably be a plain one, yet large enough to meet the growing needs of that part of the city for many years to come.

There are various opinions as to what the house should cost, figures ranging from $6,000 to $10,000 being suggested as reasonable. The question of the expense of equipping the house has not been considered at all, it being the desire of the members to first dispose of the cost of the building. As stated last week, there is a feeling that the fire department is costing the city a sufficient sum now and if this is materially added to there will no doubt be protests from the taxpayers.

Failing to reach any definite decision, an adjournment was taken subject to the call of the chair for another meeting. Mr. Hibbard is especially anxious to have the matter settled before the regular September meeting so that a definite report can be made at that time and some action taken.

ALWAYS KEEP ABSORBENT COTTON.

Antiseptic cotton, besides being a toilet necessity, is used in many different ways in the home. Its absorbent qualities are excellent for any kind of skin washing that requires particular care. For instance, when the face is in an irritated condition after burning from the sun a pad of cotton is a better agent to apply which to apply healing lotions and much surface dust can also be removed with it without reddening the skin—a fact worth remembering when it is necessary to bathe the neck or face and dress quickly for dinner.

An antiseptic wash is almost essential for the mouth if the teeth are to be kept in a healthy condition. Very great damage is done to them by natural secretions, and while bicarbonate of soda in solution, used as a wash, is a preservative, something stronger is necessary. For instance, a very weak mixture of carbolic acid, perhaps a grain to a pint of water, is one of the simplest and most effective lotions that can be employed and is cooling and refreshing in effect. To use it, rinse the mouth after rushing the teeth. It is a poison if taken internally.

Water Officials May Be Indicted.

Officers of the Middlesex Water Company, consisting of John Whalen, Hamilton Kean, United States Senator Kean, ex-Governor Voorhees and Frank Bergen, may face the charge of violating the game laws of the State. They recently built a large reservoir in Clark and Westfield townships, near Rahway, and to destroy the vegetable matter along the banks have been using blue stone or crystallized vitoral, which is said to have killed thousands of fish in the reservoir.

Green—That fellow who plays the cornet is ill.

Jones—Do you think he will recover?

Green—I am afraid not. The doctor who is attending him lives next door.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

BUTCHER'S HORSE, TAKING FRIGHT, RUNS TO STABLE

A spirited horse owned by William L. Smalley, Jr., the Park avenue butcher, and in charge of Grover Schuck, ran away at 8:30 Tuesday morning from in front of a Vine street house, where the driver stopped for an order. After a long run through Lincoln place, Washington and Rockview avenues to the home of Mr. Smalley on Greenbrook road, the animal was caught near the stables. Its legs were considerably cut and bruised, the harness was broken and the butcher wagon, although badly damaged was still fastened to the horse.

The animal was frightened into running away by several boys who were chasing a small excited wagon up and down the sidewalk. The lad who was doing the steering lost control of the wagon which veered off the walk, striking the horse in the legs. The animal took fright, and breaking the hitching strap, started at a high gallop through Vine street into Lincoln place, and thence to Mr. Smalley's home, running across the fields by the stable. Schuck came out of the house a few minutes later, only to find his rig had disappeared. The damage to the wagon will amount to about $75 and the horse was badly cut about the legs during the wild run.

TRAP'S UNFAIR, AUTOISTS SAY.

Assert That Test Distances Were Short—May Challenge Hounsell's Fines.

So many automobilists have complained to the New Jersey Automobile Club of the way evidence has been obtained against supposed speeders who have been fined by Justice of the Peace William J. Housell, of New Brunswick, that today the club announced it had made an investigation. As a result of this the club hopes to prove persons have been fined who have not broken the law.

Housell placed two speed traps on the highway between Metuchen and New Brunswick, and in these many automobilists have been timed, caught and fined on charges of exceeding the speed limit. The traps were said to be a quarter of a mile long, but careful measurement by surveyors' instruments, it is alleged, show that one trap, the only one now used, is several hundred feet short of the quarter. It is contended that if many autoists who have been fined had been timed for the correct distance it would have been shown they were not violating the law.

Objections have also been made to the way in which this trap is operated. A boy, it was learned, stood at one end, and as a car whizzed by he dropped his handkerchief. This was a signal for the watcher at the other end to start to time by the use of his stop-watch. Members of the club who secretly watched the boy said that in at least one instance he waited until an auto had gone several yards into the trap before dropping the handkerchief.

No definite action toward having the cases of fined automobilists reconsidered has as yet been taken, but such action, it is said, is contemplated by the club.

Justice of the Peace Housell, replying to the reported charge of the automobile club that his traps are shorter declared today that he had nothing to do with laying out the courses. That was up to the constables, and they had, he said, the certificates of Josiah Tice, of New Brunswick, as to their correctness. The courts specifically referred to had been little disposed to each of the three convictions thereon the autoist had been given enough leeway to offset any shortage. The signaler had the right, the justice of the peace said, to stand where he chose, so long as he signaled when the auto passed the signal line. Housell declares he has the farmers and freeholders back of him and does not intend to be scared or hurried. He has paid $850 to the State in fines during the past two months.

A New and Delicious Dish.

Peel two or three large cucumbers and cut very fine with a sharp knife or run through the coarsest knives of the meat chopper. Drain off the liquid, but do not press. Rub a bowl with a clove of garlic, put in the minced cucumber and season with cayenne pepper, black pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of onion juice and the strained juice of half a small lemon. Chill all the ingredients thoroughly and just before serving stir in half a cupful of thickly whipped cream.

Bright Outlook.

Patient—The examination seems to have delighted you, doctor. I judge from your happy countenance that you can save my life.

Dr. Sawbones—I cannot promise you that, but we must perform a number of most interesting operations on you.—Kansas City Journal.

Chance for Reform.

"What do you think of the new voting machine?" queried the politician. "Do you think the voters will be able to work it?"

"I hope so," replied the former candidate on an independent ticket. "Heretofore the 'machine' has worked the voters."—Chicago News.

LOCAL MAN STAYED PANIC

Broadway Magazine Says Alexander Gilbert Saved Country from Disaster.

STEADIED MONEY SITUATION.

Used Vast Powers of Clearing House Association to Root Out Group of Scheming Speculators.

The current number of the Broadway Magazine contains a number of sketches of prominent men and women, in one of which former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, is made a subject. The article deals with Mr. Gilbert's knowledge of banking methods and gives him credita for arresting the financial panic of 1907, as the following will show:

"Who arrested the panic of 1907 and really saved the country from disaster? It is popularly believed that a few public-spirited money kings of Wall street did the trick. Bankers, who know, however, give entire credit to the New York Clearing House Association, which by protecting the solvent members and promptly rooting up the evil through which a group of speculators were able to use a few of important banks for the promotion of personal ends, steadied the financial situation and made recovery possible. The man who is at the head of an association which is the arbiter of the great volume of the commercial credit that grows out of the business transactions of the country, the most important fiscal institution of the country, must be an executive of more than ordinary calibre. Alexander Gilbert, president of the Market and Fulton National Bank, was elected president of the association in 1906, and through the trying days of the panic, concentrated his efforts and used the vast powers of the association to *avert disaster. How this was ac*complished is now a matter of history.

Mr. Gilbert is the only banker now surviving among those who were present at the first meeting of the New York Clearing House Association, which he attended in 1865. His experience through a number of periods of panic invaluable to the committee, of which he was a member during the last panic. Coupled with this experience in the Clearing House, Mr. Gilbert has a banking career of half a century. When he entered the old Market Bank as cashier before the Civil War in 1859, he had the distinction of being the youngest bank officer in New York. He was then just twenty years old, for he was born in Elizabeth, New Jersey, in 1839, and received his education there and in New Haven. Since that period he has been centerel in banking, though for a period of six years he was Mayor of Plainfield, New Jersey, where he makes his home.

His wide acquaintance with banking affairs and his intimate knowledge of men and events, supplemented by careful study of financial and business problems, have made Mr. Gilbert one of the foremost authorities in banking circles and many of his utterances have a permanent place in American financial literature. Alexander H. Gilbert is the most democratic banker in Wall street. He is at all times accessible to callers. He does not dislike being called old-fashioned, for he believes in safety as the first consideration, and in progress, only when safety is assured."

Will Repair County Roads.

Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, of Westervelt avenue, who is spending the summer at Lake Hopatcong, motored to Monday to attend a meeting of the road committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders at Elizabeth. The meeting was called chiefly to consider certain repairs and improvements to Morris avenue and two or three other thoroughfares near Chatham. After going over the matter thoroughly the committee decided to recommend that the work be done and it will be reported at the regular meeting of the freeholders on Thursday, September 3.

CARRIAGE WAITS "WITHOUT."

"The carriage waits without, my lord,"
"Without what, gentle sir?"
"Without the left-hand running-board,
Without the French chauffeur,
Without a drop of gasoline,
Six nuts, the can of fi,
Four pinions, and the limousine,
Be spark-pling and the coil,
Without the brake, the horn, the clutch,
Without the running gear,
One cylinder—It beats the Dutch
How much there isn't here!
The car has been repaired, in fact,
And you should be right glad
To find that this much is intact
Of what your lordship had.
The garage sent it back, my lord,
In perfect shape throughout;
So you will understand, my lord,
Your carriage waits without."
—Harvard Lampoon.

A Cruel Waste.

Effie (who has been exploring the ashpit)—Look, daddy, somebody's frowed away quite a good cat!—The Sketch.

FAIRBANKS PLEASING IN NEW SOCIETY COMEDY.

Douglas Fairbanks, a virile young actor who recently gained great success by his character portrayals in "Clothes" and "The Man of the Hour," was presented to Plainfielders as a star Monday. He appeared at the New Plainfield theatre in a new play, "All For a Girl," written for him by Rupert Hughes, the well known music critic and magazine writer, and which is produced by William A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer. The performance was witnessed by an enthusiastic audience made up of local society folk and a big delegation of the young star's fellow members in the Lambs Club. Emphatic approval was placed on this entire production and there were no less than six curtain calls at the close of each of the four acts.

Mr. Fairbanks is to the stage today, in the opinion of many critics, what John Drew was in the early days of his service under the late Augustin Daley—an ideal actor of polite young men. "All For a Girl" is a society comedy and while the title appears to be a misnomer because the developments seem to be "all for a man," it affords capital opportunities for the talents that earned his rise to stellar heights. His work throughout the piece was spontaneous and with the help of effective "lines" he had won the good will of the audience. He was ably assisted by Miss Adelaide Manola, the heroine, who is a daughter of the well remembered Martian Manola.

Others in the supporting cast included Jane Cooper, an, Harriett Otis Dellenbaugh, Robert Fischer, Percy Plunkett, W. J. Cossantine and John Brennan, who was the original "Hi Heller" in "Way Down East."

The gathering in the orchestra seats, Monday night, comprised many well known theatrical lights. Managers Brady and Grismer viewed the play throughout as did also Miss Blanche Bates, star of "The Girl of the Golden West" and Miss Phoebe Davis, the original "Anna Moore" of "Way Down East." Mr. Hughes watched proceedings from a box.

*Following five additional performan*ces in this State, "All For a Girl" goes into the Bijou theatre, New York, next Monday night. It is booked for a long run and will in all probability meet all expectations.

HEALTH ORDINANCE NOT LEGAL, SAYS ROBINSON

Claiming that the Board of Health ordinance requiring garbage wagons to be covered while in the city covered is not legal, Peter Robinson, a colored garbage collector, held forth upon the rights of his calling in a highly Socialistic way at the city court Tuesday, but was fined $5 for violating the ordinance by City Judge Runyon. "Look me up till I pay it," was his only comment when he heard his fate, and he was led back to a cell.

Robinson was arrested by Patrolman Dobson on West Fifth street early Saturday afternoon, and had a verbal encounter with the officer when he was "pulled in." Brought to police court, he was discharged and told to return Monday morning. He arrived at the station several hours after court adjourned, and his case was laid over until Tuesday.

When arrested for having a leaky wagon, improperly covered, was brought against Robinson, he stoutly *pleaded "not guilty" and proceed*ed to argue his case. Health Officer O'Brien read the ordinance, but the prisoner claimed it was illegal.

"Now, look-a-here," said, "does not emanate from the right source. There was an ordinance passed by the Common Council about garbage wagons in 1890, and they have no power to pass anything over that. Asked if his wagon leaked, he replied: "Certainly it leaks, now. Coming here this morning, I had to drive like Sam Hill to get to court in time, and all the caulking jarred out. How can I or any other fool in this business afford to have a special wagon made to order? It would cost me $25 to have a metal lined wagon built. Where can we garbage collectors make any money? The law sets a rate we shall charge; then the law says we must drive only good horses and attached to expensive wagons."

"Five dollars," interrupted Judge Runyon, and the oration ended with this anti-climax.

THE THUNDER MAN.

I.

De Thunder say: "I comin'
Ter shake cet sheiter down!"
I takes ter doubling wood—
I hurries ou' ter town!

II.

I hollers ter di Thunder:
"Can't stan' de likes er dat!"
De Thunder tell de Lightnin':
"Fin' whar dat nigger at!"

III.

An'—my! De Lightin' fin' me
An' de Thunder shake me so,
I'll have de shiverin' ager
Whilst I livin' yer below!
—Atlanta Constitution.

New Jersey Central

In Effect June 28, 1908.

For New York—2.17, 3.27, 4.54, 6.07, 6.29, 7.30, 8.26, 8.44, 9.29, 9.58, 10.25, 10.53, a. m. 12.19, 1.05, 1.27, 2.27, 3.27, 4.27, 5.27, 6.27, 7.27, 8.27, 9.27, 10.27, 11.27 p. m. Sunday—2.22, 3.42, 4.42, 6.45, 8.53, 9.34, 10.15, 11.27 a. m. 12.27, 1.05, 1.27, 2.27, 3.27, 4.27, 5.27, 6.27, 7.27, 8.27, 9.27, 10.27, 11.27 p. m.

For Elizabeth, 2.17, 3.27, 4.54, 6.07, 6.29, 7.30, 8.26, 8.44, 9.29, 9.58, 10.25, 10.41, 10.53, a. m. 12.19, 1.05, 1.27, 2.27, 3.27, 4.27, 5.27, 6.27, 7.27, 8.27, 9.27, 10.27, 11.27 p. m. Sunday—2.22, 3.42, 4.42, 6.45, 8.53, 9.34, 10.15, 11.27 a. m. 12.27, 1.05, 1.27, 2.27, 3.27, 4.27, 5.27, 6.27, 7.27, 8.27, 9.27, 10.27, 11.27 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—5.18, 8.56 a. m., 2.00, 5.23, p. m. only. Sundays—4.45 a. m., 2.00 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—5.18, 8.56 a. m., 2.00, 5.07 p. m. Sundays—4.45 a. m., 5.07 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc. 2.17, 8.26, 10.53 a. m., 4.27 p. m. (Saturdays only), 12.42, 5.45, 6.53, 11.27 p. m. Sundays—8.53, 9.45 a. m., 2.50, 5.07 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—3.27, 9.29 a. m., 12.42, Atlantic City and Saturdays only—3.27, 9.29 a. m., 5.07 p. m. Sundays—9.45 a. m., 1.45 p. m.

For Philadelphia—7.15, 7.30, 8.45, 9.13, 10.43 a. m., 12.13, 12.42, 1.34, 2.14, 2.45, 3.43, 4.30, 5.07, 6.00, 6.45, 7.30, 9.30, 11.30 night. Sundays—8.45, 9.03, 10.43 a. m., 12.13, 1.44, 2.45, 3.43, 4.55, 5.59, 6.44, 8.50, 11.30 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington—8.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 5.44 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 12.13, 2.45, 5.44 p. m.

Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Pass. Agt. W. C. HOPE, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POST OFFICE.

Close—7.00, 9.00, 11.30 a. m., 4.00 p. m. On Saturdays will close at hour later.

NEW YORK MAIL.

Arrive—7.00, 8.40, 11.30 a. m., 1.30, 4.00 p. m.
Close—7.30, 9.00 a. m., 1.00, 7.00 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND MARTINSVILLE.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 1.30, 3.15 p. m.
Close—7.30, 8.40 and 11.30 a. m., 1.00, 4.00 p. m.

PERTH AMBOY MAIL.

Arrive—7.30, 8.40 a. m., 1.30 p. m.
Close—7.30, 9.00 a. m., 1.00, 7.00 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR THE WEST.

Close—1.00 and 7.15 p. m.

THROUGH MAIL FOR NORTH AND SOUTH.

Close—12.30, 6.00, 7.15 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA Western Express Mail.

Close—12.30 p. m.

ELIZABETH.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 2.30, 6.40 p. m.
Close—7.30 a. m., 1.00, 4.00 p. m.

NEWARK.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 2.30, 6.40 p. m.
Close—7.15, 7.30 a. m., 1.00, 4.00, 6.00 p. m.

WATCHUNG.

Arrive—12.00 p. m.
Close—1.00 p. m.

WATCHUNG.

Arrive—3.30 p. m.
Close—6.45 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Offices open from 7.30 to 10.30 a. m.
Mail closes at 8.15 a. m.

H. H. BIRDSALL, P. M.

SWACKHAMER IN FAVOR OF LOCAL OPTION LAW.

Former Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough, who is frequently mentioned as a Democratic possibility for Congress in the Fourth District, is heartily in favor of a local option law, and he is anxious regarding about which I know little. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Swackhamer addressed Hunterdon county farmers at Clover Hill on the subject, and made a vigorous plea for the proposed legislation.

"I wish to make my position on local option plain," said the former Assemblyman in the woods of that vicinity and I am moved to speak my convictions in no uncertain way. I wish I could address the whole State on it."

FINDS GEMS IN BIRD'S NEST.

Brooklyn Girl Gets a Diamond Ring Valued at $250.

Miss Anna Dodge, of Brooklyn, who is visiting friends in Caldwell, New Jersey, in the woods of that vicinity with friends yesterday, found a diamond ring valued at $250.

Her attention was drawn to a bird's nest at the foot of a tree, and thinking it had been wantonly thrown to the ground by some small boy, picked it up. In the nest was her ring.

It is set with four diamonds of rare brilliancy. A jeweller said it is worth $250. The nest was that of a blackbird and it is supposed the bird carried the ring there.

A Summer Substitute for Meat.

In the August Woman's Home Companion Fannie Merritt Farmer gives a number of hot weather substitutes for meat. One such substitute consists of cheese and macaroni croquettes:

"Break macaroni in half-inch pieces, there should be two-thirds of a cupful. Cook in boiling salted water until soft; drain in a colander, and pour over two cupfuls of cold water to prevent pieces from adhering. Add thick white sauce made of two and one-half tablespoonfuls of butter, one-third cupful flour, one cupful of milk, one-fourth of a tablespoonful of salt and a few grains of pepper; then add one-third of a cupful of grated cheese. Spread on a plate to cool. Shape, dip in crumbs, egg, and crumbs again, fry in deep fat and drain on brown paper."

Russell Pyatt May Recover.

Russell Pyatt, the thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pyatt, of South Plainfield, who was kicked in the face by a horse Saturday night, sustaining a fractured jaw and the loss of eight teeth, was reported at the hospital today as being slightly improved and with chances for recovery. He had a comfortable night and *this morning the physicians discov*ered that his condition was not as serious as at first believed when he entered the hospital.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

VOL. XL — PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1908. — NO. 35

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

LIQUOR IN OCEAN GROVE

Even the Prim "Prohibition" Resort Fesses Up to Getting Lots of Booze.

BEER THE FAVORITE DRINK.

Long Branch and Asbury Park Far from Being Dry, So Witnesses Tell Mayor Fisk's Excise Commission.

When Mayor Fisk and his fellow excise probers finished yesterday their second day's investigation into excise conditions in Ocean and Monmouth counties the question uppermost in their minds was: "Does prohibition really prohibit?" All of the North Jersey seashore resorts, such as Long Branch, Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, except two counties which were investigated, and in the course of the testimony it was brought out that although both Asbury Park and Ocean Grove are strictly prohibition cities, a large amount of beer and other liquor is consumed there.

According to the testimony of George H. Thompson, president of the City Excise Board, there are ninety-seven government licenses in Asbury Park, eighteen of which belong to drug stores. Twenty of these licenses are at Ocean Grove. The bottling industry assumes large proportions along the New Jersey coast in the summer time, and the beer is brought into these resorts in what are known as "beer arks."

The testimony of the beer bottlers showed that thousands of cases of beer right close to the no-license and temperance section were delivered inside of it, and that all one had to do was to fill out a postal card to obtain all the beer one wanted. One bottler alone handled 600 cases of beer a week, and those who sold a couple of hundred were seemingly unlimited.

"Asbury Park is not a temperance town, and never will be. It is our belief there are many places selling this year," said Mr. Thompson. He said Asbury Park was cleaner now than it ever was.

He said that a year ago, while his commission was obtaining evidence against hotels for selling, they did not take Chief Smith into their confidence, being afraid he might "tip off" the offenders. Mr. Thompson admitted he had no proof that the chief ever did such a thing.

Just before the session closed George J. Wright, an Asbury Park hotel keeper, asked to be heard. He had a license last year. "There is as much booze sold at Asbury Park and Ocean Grove," he said, "as in any city in the State. Ninety per cent. of the people want to drink, and they get it." He said that he was coaxed for a drink every hour in the day.

Prohibition, however, found a worthy champion in Asbury Park's Mayor, F. Frank Appleby, a member of the commission. He had almost every witness admit that with proper police officials and proper police efficiency prohibition could be made to prohibit.

Ex-Mayor C. A. Atkins and Chief of Police Smith, of the Park, took the stand at the afternoon session, to refute Thompson's testimony. The police chief said he did not know how many revenue licenses had been granted this year, but thought there were less than forty. Ex-Mayor Atkins said he inquired from the revenue collector as to the number of licenses granted in Asbury Park last year, and was told that the number was nowhere near ninety. He believed that prohibition did not prohibit, and said he always favored a license.

William Birmingham, Mayor of South Amboy, was an amusing witness. He had absolutely no opinion on the liquor question, being guided, he said, by the will of a majority of his constituents. "If the majority says they have saloons enough, I'm with them, and if they say they have too many, I'm with them just the same," he said. The colloquy mentioning Mr. Backes and Mr. Fisk could not draw from him an individual opinion on the excise question.

A mild sensation was created at the morning session when S. A. Paterson, counsel for Joseph Sicalone, a bottler, questioned the legal existence of the commission. His client had no objection to being sworn, but would answer no questions pertaining to his private affairs. Mayor Fisk assured him that the commission would not pry into his private affairs, and it did not. The same objection was made on behalf of two bottlers.

Yesterday's session concluded the inquiry at Asbury Park and the commission adjourned until September 10, when the northern part of the State will be visited, probably starting at Dover.

—Advertise in The Daily Press.

VETERANS WILL ASSIST IN CANNON PRESENTATION

Upon the invitation of Augustus F. Todd, of the Dunellen Board of Education, Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., at its regular meeting, last night, decided to go to Dunellen on Labor Day and take part in the exercises attendant upon the presentation of a cannon which is to be placed in front of the public school in the borough. Mr. Todd personally appeared before the Post and extended the invitation, explaining the object. The veterans fell in heartily with the idea, and promised to assist in the proposed exercises. A committee consisting of Commander Dr. J. F. Berg and M. C. Dobbins was appointed to perfect the details for the Post.

It has not yet been decided just what the program will be for the occasion, but in addition to the part to be taken by the veterans, all of the school children of Dunellen will be present and sing patriotic airs and there will also be several appropriate addresses by prominent speakers. Mayor Harry Swackhamer together with the members of the Borough Council and other officials of the place, will be invited to be present, giving official dignity to the affair.

The old cannon, which is mounted together with a number of shells were obtained from one of the arsenals through the influence of Congressman Benjamin F. Howell and efforts of Mr. Todd, and it was learned at the time that this is the last cannon of this kind that is available for show purposes, and Mr Todd is much pleased to think that he was able to carry out his plans.

WARRING COLORED WOMEN AIR GRIEVANCES IN COURT

The trials of a "Christian lady" proved almost beyond bearing to Mrs Ella Wyckoff, colored, who is a member of Mount Olive church, yesterday morning, and she accordingly ceased praying for Carrie Johnson and Dollie Lewis, her neighbors in "Hetfield's Row," Arlington avenue, and had them brought before City Judge Runyon this morning. Repeated slurring by the neighborhood, repeated accusations of being a "backslider and a hypocrite," proved the instigation to "furl up ma Christian white wings, and just flap the Ol' Man's black wings" and neighborhood troubles, aired to the amusement of the bluecoats, were rehearsed in great detail.

Mrs. Wyckoff is a church member. Aside from that, she is Past Grand Missionary President of the Daughters of the Tents. She told Judge Runyon that "yer don' have ter be a church membuh ter join, only yer don' allow no drunken ladies ter be membuhs." But Carrie and Dollie say she is a "liver-lipped Beelzebub hypocrite," and Mrs. Wyckoff claims that the terms are not synonymous.

The testimony when the three women and Mrs. Wyckoff's husband faced the judge, soon resolved itself into a raking up of more or less veracious recitations of past perfromances which sounded like a dialect phonograph record, run off on top speed. Judge Runyon let it go on for more than a half-hour, but finally Mrs. Lewis, who ran out of epithets, lowered her umbrella, which she had been using as a sceptre in her argument, and told Judge Runyon that she "must quit talkin' and go to work." The honor then urged Mrs. Wyckoff to resume praying for her "tormentors" and uphold the tenets of her office among the tents.

The argument started with Mrs. Wyckoff's complaint that the two women had started "pickin' " on her, while she was at work in her garden yesterday morning, but before her complaint, begun after devoutly kissing the Bible, was through, Carrie and Dolly upset the plan of complaint by such interjections as "how about the time you and her had chicken from the coop-de-loo?" "Who stole that ax-head you missed?" and "Who poured that bucket of tar down my chimney from your yard last week?" When their turn came, Carrie and Dolly both testified that Mrs. Wyckoff was a "pest on earth," and the hearing developed into an anvil chorus. Amid many smiles caused by the ridiculous combination of words mixed with the most devout earnestness on all sides, Judge Runyon dismissed the case and left the court-room, although Mrs. Wyckoff's recitation of alleged "slurs" continued to run on at top speed.

Miss Katherine Ruttledge, of Franklin avenue, and Miss Elsie Burnett, of Jackson avenue, the borough, have returned home from a two weeks sojourn at Asbury Park.

—See Drake's College adv., page 4.

 8 24 7

DUNGAN NOW THE CHOICE

Somerset Democrats Fix Upon Him for State Senatorial Nomination.

CLARK OUT OF THE CONTEST.

North Plainfield Boom for the Former Congressman Falls Flat After Conferences at Somerville.

Col. Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, who is now prominently mentioned as a possible Democratic nominee for State Senator in Somerset county, following the withdrawal of Alvah A. Clark from the contest, stopped in Plainfield this morning for a short time, en route for Bernardsville, where he was called on business. While Col. Dungan was waiting at the railroad station an express train came along carrying, among other passengers, State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who has just returned from a trip abroad. He was on his way to New York.

It is now more apparent than ever that these two prominent citizens of Somerset county will oppose each other in the Senatorial fight this fall. The announcement that Alvah A. Clark does not want to again engage in politics, at least to the extent of taking the nomination for State Senator, brings Col. Dungan prominently to the front as the strongest candidate the Democrats can place in the field. It is confidently stated that he would pull the full vote of his party in the county and not a few Republican votes.

When questioned this morning as to whether he would accept the nomination, Col. Dungan replied that while he had not definitely made up his mind, he would do so within the coming week. Judging from his attitude there appeared to be no doubt whatever but that if nominated he would be prepared to make a strong fight for the honors.

Colonel Dungan was nominated three years ago by the Democratic convention through a slip in the cogs of the Democratic machine, which had Samuel S. Childs slated for a renomination.

In the interest of harmony Colonel Dungan was induced to withdraw, and it was said at the time that he had received the assurance of the leaders that he would be supported by them for the nomination this year.

A few weeks ago a boom was begun for Mr. Clark's nomination, emanating from North Plainfield. Mr. Clark was absent on his vacation, but upon his return he announced that he might accept under certain conditions. The anti-Clark faction is very strong in the county. It is now in control of the county committee, of which M. W. Scully is chairman. Its leader is Surrogate William J. Demond. Preparations began to be made for a fight in the primaries. Numerous conferences were held at Mr. Clark's office, with the result that Mr. Clark decided not to make any fight for the nomination.

Colonel Joseph S. Frelinghuysen will have no opposition in the primaries for the Republican nomination, and has already opened his campaign. The Colonels are both fighters by training and inheritance, and the fight will doubtless be to a finish, without either asking quarter. Colonel Frelinghuysen was elected three years ago over Samuel S. Childs by a majority of over 1,000.

SPECIAL SESSION OF THE SOMERSET COURTS.

Judge Schenck will hold a special session of the Somerset courts, in accordance with his custom on the last Friday of each month in the summer, next Friday morning, when it is expected that a number of matters of importance will come up for disposal.

The regular September term begins on the second Tuesday, and the following petit jurors have been summoned from North Plainfield: James F. Daley, Leander W. Hammond, Frederick E. Valentine, William H. Titus, David Moery. Warren will be represented by the following: Edward Blazier, Frederick Sanders, Frederick H. Sage, John Burnett and Edward C. Hahr.

Funeral of Somerville Resident.

The funeral of Mrs. Frances L. Allen was held last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Caroline V. Sterling, at Finderne. Rev. Harry C. Pastorius, who is acting as rector of St. John's church, Somerville, during the absence of Rev. Clarke Fiske, officiated, and the body was taken to Fairview Cemetery, Castleton Corners, Staten Island, today for burial. Mrs. Allen leaves a number of children, and was formerly a resident of New York.

—See Drake's College adv., page 4.

 8 24 7

ELECTION BOARDS NAMED

Full List for the County Completed and Announced Today.

WILL ORGANIZE AT ONCE.

The Registry Canvass to Be Made as Soon as Members Receive Official Notification.

The Union County Board of Elections and Registry today completed and announced the list of election officers for the various districts throughout the county and according to law upon notification of their appointment they will immediately organize and prepare to make a complete registry of all the voters in their respective districts. The officers appointed in Plainfield are as follows:

Republican.

First ward—First district, David Dunavan, Philip V. Van Arsdale; Second district, Horace G. Adams, Thomas Keenan.

Second ward—First district, Geo. A. Ballentyne; J. Wiswell Drayton; second district, H. D. Guinn, Robert Guttridge.

Third ward—First district, Joan Neagle, Theodore La Rue; Second district, John H. Cose, Francis Wheeler.

Fourth ward—First district, Chas. W. Runyon, Vincent L. Frazee; Second district, Abraham Anglemon, Frank Manchester; Third district, Garret T. Dunham, Edward Brown.

Democrats.

First ward—First district, Thomas L. Walsh, Michael DeCourcey; Second district, W. C. Mottley, Marvin C. Dowd.

Second ward—First district, Harry Leek, Patrick Connolly; Second district, Anthony Feil, Jacob Giese.

Third ward—First district, Thos. J. O'Keefe, J. M. McCarthy; Second district, John Moran, Richard Scott.

Fourth ward—First district, John F. Casey, Edward Bowman; Second district, Joseph H. Clarke, John D. Hiser; third district, A. B. Newman, J. C. Mattingly.

Fanwood Borough.

Republicans—William Lidgate, William Lidgate, Jr.

Democrats—Peter Ritter, Jr., William H. Carter.

Fanwood Township.

Republicans—Joseph Clark, James E. Johnson.

Democrats—George B. Keuka, James Fitzgerald.

Y.M.C.A. ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY AT FRESH AIR CAMP

Assisted by Miss Josephine Merrin, who will sing two soprano solos, the Y. M. C. A. orchestra will give a concert and musical entertainment at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp auditorium Friday night, and Martin A. Korff, leader of the organization, has arranged an attractive program of popular and descriptive music, which will be rendered by the full orchestra. The program follows:

"America," camp children and orchestra; march, Uncle Sammy," (Holzman); selection, "Plantation Echoes," (Boettger); characteristic barn dance, "Rural Festival," (Losey); vocal solo, "Sing, Smile, Slumber," by Miss Josephine Martin; serenade, "Spanish Wedding," (Pedro Sisa); descriptive selection, "A Troublesome Rehearsal," march, "Electric Wizard," (Losey); "The Star Spangled Banner."

Of particular interest is the "Troublesome Rehearsal," setting forth the troubles of the band master, when his musicians refuse to rehearse properly. The piece is especially arranged by Mr. Korff, as is the selection, "old country" melodies, preceding it. A silver offering will be taken for the benefit of the camp, where there are now about three hundred mothers and children from the New York tenement house districts. In case of rain Friday, the concert will be given the following evening.

Somebody Stole His Tools.

Walter Combs, of Madison avenue, reported to the city police last night that his kit of carpenter's tools, left at a house on West Third street where he was working, had been stolen. No clue to the identity of the thief has yet been found.

DENIES NEW EXCISE YARN

Mayor Fisk Declares Statement in Philadelphia Papers an Absolute Falsehood.

RELATES TO ATLANTIC CITY.

Alleges He Suggested "Home Rule" Sunday and Promised Grand Jury Would Find No Indictments.

Upon returning from Asbury Park today, having completed the excise probe after a two day's session, Mayor Gin. Fisk was asked to "deny a statement printed in this morning's Philadelphia papers to the effect that he had proposed that Atlantic City appeal to the Legislature for a "home rule" Sunday and that he had promised that no indictments would be found at the Grand Jury's session of those testifying during the recent inquiry. The statement in full under an Atlantic City date line, was as follows:

"One of the developments of the Sunday liquor-selling controversy is a well-founded report that Mayor Charles Fisk, of Plainfield, chairman of Governor Fort's excise commission, has an understanding with members of the Grand Jury that no indictments are to be found by that body at the special session. Chairman Fisk discussed at length with jurymen his suggestion that Atlantic City should adopt his proposal of an appeal to the Legislature for relief in the shape of a home rule Sunday bill to apply to all coast cities. This suggestion is in line with the intimation of Mayor Appleby, of Asbury Park, another member of the Excise Commission, that the probers may recommend in their report to the Governor the enactment of a law permitting the service of liquors at regularly licensed clubs and cafes. This would bar saloons."

"The whole thing is an absolute falsehood," the Mayor declared, "and I have said nothing at any time that would give any foundation for such a report. It is simply the result of an imaginative reporter wanting something to write.

"Some time ago," the Mayor continued, "I declared that Governor Fort should insist upon Atlantic City obeying the laws and that the authorities should go to any extreme to make the people there understand that violations would not be tolerated. I say the same thing now and said it should be done even if they have to order out a company of militia to do it. Nobody has been promised immunity so far as I know and the talk of my suggesting home rule Sunday for shore resorts is tommyrot."

The Mayor informed a Daily Press representative that the completion of the Asbury Park inquiry would end the commission's work until September 10. It is desired to visit Warren and Sussex counties and it is impossible to begin now because of a large number of witnesses being away. It is probable that the first sitting will be at Dover and that Lake Hopatcong will be included.

BROKE WINDOW WITH LEMON BUT DIDN'T MEAN TO DO IT.

George Martial, who confessed that he threw a lemon through the best presidential window in Myers' lunch wagon on East Second street Monday night, had a lachrymal effusion of regret for the act in the presence of City Judge Runyon at today's session of court, but was allowed to depart unmolested, because of the intercession of Nathan Myers, proprietor of the place, who refused to press the charge. With him was Arthur Moore, who works in Tierney's wagon lunch establishment nearby, and who was arrested by Patrolman Myers with the Martial boy on complaint of the restaurateur.

The prisoners were lads yet in their teens, and told the Judge that they had paid two cents apiece for two lemons the night the glass was smashed, and when they bought the lemons could not be learned, for Moore said he threw his away not fifteen minutes after he bought it, and Martial tearfully declared he was throwing his up in the air, only missed and hit the window. Myers merely brought the lads to court for a lesson, he said, and they departed much impressed by the proceedings.

Resume Drills in October.

Contrary to the custom of previous years, Company K will not resume its weekly drills until the first Monday in October. Heretofore, the company began its fall drilling in September soon after returning from camp, but it has been decided that the weather is too warm at that season of the year, hence the change.

Miss Rose Jenkins, of Ogden street, Newark, is visiting her brother, William J. Jenkins, of Manning avenue, the borough, for several days.

CONTRADICTORY TESTIMONY IN CHURCH TENANT CASE

Walls and ceiling of the city court-room are a decided shade dinner today as the result of an assorted combination of cuss-words and vile language repeated as part of the testimony in the case between Morris Abrams and Mrs. Amanda Bacon, his tenant in a house at Fourth and New streets. Judge Runyon has reserved his decision for a week, to sort over the mass of testimony, during which plaintiff and defendant seemed to agree on no single point. Both parties in the case left the courtroom after more than an hour's elapsed time, humming "Somebody Lied."

John Venable and Charles Irving, both colored, acting as trustees of the Shiloh Baptist church, recently passed all the trouble Abrams sold his place at West Fourth and New streets, to the church people, who plan to erect a building there in time. When the deal was closed, Mrs. Amanda Bacon was a tenant in the home now owned by the property. Venable and Irving, as trustees of the church, became landlords of the property, but when they were escorted to the place by the former owner on August 6 and introduced as the new landlords, Mrs. Bacon had a bilious ascension. When she learned that she must pay rent to colored landlords, it is said, she is alleged to have had some insulting and profane language to pass out to Abrams, for selling the property to the church people. On the other hand, she claims that he was second to none in the assortment of terms he applied to her. Of course neither party took the initiative, but both denied all accusation of epithets by the other party in the case.

The long-drawn-out testimony involved Mrs. Bacon, Abrams, Venable and Irving as the principals, but some interesting side lights were thrown on the case by Mrs. Bacon's son Arthur and by Mr. Ruggles, a colored washerwoman, who was at the Bacon house when the cussing contest took place. William G. De Mera represented Abrams and H. C. Runyon was Mrs. Bacon's counsel.

"KING" CARRAR OUSTED

Newark Detectives Carry Furniture Out of Watchung Crest Barn.

HEAD DETECTIVE ARRESTED.

Carrar Has Him Nabbed on Assault Charge, as Result of Conference at the Barn Last Night.

"King John" Carrar is dethroned. His "force" the Grossmann School barn, is now just an ordinary stable again. The furniture was standing out in the rain on Johnson's Drive at 2 o'clock today, but has since been moved into Mrs. Bishop's house, adjoining the school. Professor Maximillian F. E. Grossmann and his forces have won, and four Newark detectives took every stick of furniture out of the "King's palace" shortly after noon.

But "King John" was away when it all happened. He was in this city, in consultation with John P. Owens, his attorney, about a counter-motion in suit for damages done by the Kin to his furniture, as it stood in the road. "The King" acts quickly, I varned by Professor Grossmann of what might be expected to happen, he refused to move, when consulted at his "fort" last night by four detectives and the Professor, who departed with the announcement that rain or shine, the Carrar furniture would be transferred outside this noon. And it was.

The detectives are from the Shortell Detective Agency, of Newark, and one of them has been arrested this morning by Constable Clements, of Watchung, on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Blume, of Watchung, last night. The man is reported to be Mr. Shortell, the proprietor of the agency, and he is alleged to have attacked Mrs. Carrar and Princess Lizzie" Carrar in the course of the conference in the barn last night.

Professor Grossmann said this afternoon that he had acted in a most friendly way toward the Frenchman.

"He said that his wife was sick" he said," and I offered to have her come to the school as my guest until she was well enough to move into a new home. He had told him yesterday that he would have to move out last night, but when it began to rain, I said I would let him remain in the barn over night. This morning Carrar went away very early, and as it was raining, I gave the family until 10 o'clock to get out. Then we had a conference, and I finally got the four detectives to work carrying out the furniture at 1 o'clock.

John Carrar, through his attorney, will begin action for damage to the furniture by rain, for his wages, amounting to $25, and for his fire" he said, "as he was hated before Justice of the Peace Smalley, two weeks ago. The Grossmanns will be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Blume, of Watchung, at Texler's Mill tonight. G. W. V. Moy, counsel for the Detective Agency, for Professor and Mrs. Grossmann, arrested with a disorderly demonstration Monday night, will go to court, where he, as their attorney, will waive examination and take the case before the Grand Jury.

Surprised Mrs. Willard Swick.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered Mrs. Willard Swick, of West Sixth street, last night. The affair was arranged by Misses Flossie Yenton and Florence Swick. The evening was spent with games, music and dancing, after which refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Swick, Miss Mildred Swick, Miss Flossie Yenton, Miss Florence Swick, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rowland, Francis Rowland, Mrs. John Neagle, Charles Neagle, Charles Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker, Miss Grace Baker, Mr. and Mrs. William Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Hedges Keen, Miss Katie Carkhuff, Mrs. Van Cleef and Mr. Spafford.

Somerville Pastor Moves Here.

Edmund Rushmore, real estate broker of North avenue, has just rented to Rev. Dr. Edward G. Read, of Somerville, former pastor of the Second Reformed church, that place, the property at 825 Second place, this city, for a term of two years. He will take possession October 1. Dr. Read has had a long and successful pastorate at Somerville.

Jumpers to Visit Newark.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will leave tomorrow night by special trolley car at 7:15 o'clock for Newark, where the members will be the guests of Marcus L. Ward Council. The State officers will be present and all Juniors are invited to attend.

—Advertise in The Daily Press.

—See Drake's College adv., page 4.

 8 24 7

SURE-ENOUGH ICE CREAM AT CHURCH BOYS' LAWN FETE

The boys of the Church of the Holy Cross are intently watching weather conditions today with great interest for tomorrow afternoon and evening, if Dame Nature consents to her tears and warm up a bit, for the members of the club are looking for a move of the public toward the borough church grounds where the boys will have a large roomy tent erected as headquarters wherefrom they will carry on an active campaign to meet the wants of visitors.

It all sounds delectable and promising to hear of the home-made ice cream, cake and candy which will abound. After experiments with the summer freezer in camp, with "Father" to boss the job, all are solemnly assured that it is the best ice cream ever-pure cream, eggs, milk and sugar with a little flavoring thrown in, everything in right proportions and not a hint of cornstarch or gelatine material to mar the perfection of it.

The glories of an illuminated camp ground are nothing to the splendor of decorations promised for the evening of the lawn fete. "At any rate," remarked one of the boys, "Holy Cross always takes good, whether at baseball, football or basketball, dramatics or singing now, its the culinary art for ours, and first prize at the food show, a blue ribbon."

No Decision Regarding Lights.

The Councilmanic legal committee has taken no further steps of late regarding the proposition to install a number of arc lights in the business part of the city. Chairman Francis L. Montgomery has been away, as have other members of the committees and it has been impossible to hold a meeting. It is expected, however, that the committee will get together early in the fall and make a report to the Common Council.

Planning to Reopen Schools.

The North Plainfield Board of Education will hold its regular meeting at the Borough High School, Monday night, at which time arrangements will be perfected for the reopening of the schools on September 15.

—Bartlett pears, white and yellow peaches and German prunes are among the fruit offerings at Neuman Brothers' store. The assortment today will be exceptionally large and carefully selected.

—See Drake's College adv., page 4.

 8 24 7

ADVICE TO THE YOUNG HOUSEKEEPER

Take your servant into your confidence. Tell her frankly that you cannot afford luxuries; make her take an interest in keeping down the weekly books, a pride in managing without the many things you cannot conveniently afford.

And you have no idea how much a willing maid can save both in kitchen utensils and in the actual food consumed, for if you inculcate into her this necessity of saving every scrap and congratulate her warmly when she makes some inexpensive but savory dish out of her own head, you cannot conceive how enthusiastic about economy she will become. As a further stimulus start a cookery book, in which every particularly daring and economical dish emanating from the brain of mistress or maid has a place, and you will find in her anxiety to fill its pages the little maid will probably excel herself.

It is better for a young wife with limited means to keep a good general rather than two inexperienced maids. For, apart from the damage wrought by an incompetent servant, there is no doubt that, as a rule, the single-handed servant-maid takes an infinitely greater interest in her employers and their affairs than one of two.

Of course, if times are really bad, it is essential that everyone should combine in their effort to keep expenses down, and the master to the maid—as monsieur frequently overlooks his share in this matter, and only grumbles at his bills instead of trying to lessen his expenditures.

And there are so many little ways in which he can help—fewer smokes, no liquor, and a certain considération in the matter of collars and shirts.

And the moral effect of these sacrifices is immense, for if the maids realize that the master is trying to save it will impress them infinitely more than if the mistress has to do it all.

Another danger against which the young wife must be on her guard is the temptation to entertain too much; for the new centres, dainty napery and immaculate silver all cry aloud to be admired. But, little wife, having people in, even quietly, costs money; and if you have owned up from the first to being poor, nothing is expected of you beyond an occasional cup of tea, whereas, if you open your doors to people to dinner it is exceedingly difficult to draw the line, and before you quite realize your position you may find yourself involved in a series of entertainments you cannot possibly afford. And though by spending every penny you possess you might entertain just as much as your neighbors, the scarcity of ready money would soon cause you infinite anxiety, and some day when the need was urgent, you would suffer agonies of remorse over your past follies.

RELIABLE RECIPES FOR THE CHERRY SEASON.

Spiced Cherries—Boil three cupfuls of cider vinegar with one ounce of stick cinnamon and one ounce of cloves, each tied in a bag. Then add four and a half pounds of granulated sugar and boil ten minutes more, skimming well. Put in seven pounds of stoned cherries and cook slowly for thirty minutes; lift out the fruit with a skimmer and boil the syrup down until it is thick. Pour the cherries into jars and keep hot, add the syrup, then cheese and seal. These are very nice with cold meats.

Cherry Taploca—Two ounces of tapioca, one pound of ripe cherries, three heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar. Soak the tapioca for an hour or so in one pint of cold water to cover it. Then put it in a saucepan with about one pint of boiling water. Simmer very slowly till the tapioca is quite cooked. Stalk and stone the cherries, add them, with the sugar, to the tapioca. Cook till fruit is tender. Pour it into glass dish or mold, and let it get cold. Serve with milk or whipped cream.

Cherry and Cheese Salad—Beat cream cheese with a little olive oil, pepper and salt till light and creamy; form into small balls, putting in the middle of each a large sour cherry that has had the pit removed, the ball of cheese concealing the cherry may then be placed on a square saltine or any thin wafer, or it may be placed on a round of toast bread, or bread that has been fried to a golden brown. Arrange the ball of cheese in "pipe" a stiff mayonnaise dressing that has been colored green, arranging it in a pretty pattern; serve very cold on little plates.

Cherry Bounce—Mix together six pounds of large black heart cherries and six pounds of ripe Morello cherries. Place them in a wooden bowl and mash them so as to crack all the stones. Add three pounds of lump sugar, mix and put them into a large stone jar. Pour in two gallons of the best whiskey. Cork the jar up tightly, and let it stand three months, shaking every day during the first month. At the end of three months strain and bottle the liquor. The flavor improves by age.

Cherry Water Ice—Stalk and stone the cherries and pound the kernels in a mortar. Pass them through a sieve together with the fruit. Allow a quarter pound of sugar to each half pint of pulp and add finally a little lemon juice. Freeze in the usual way. The flavor of the kernels should be rather pronounced, and if not strong enough a few drops of almond extract or kirschwasser will improve it.

Canned Cherries—Stone the cherries, and if Morello or pie cherries are used, allow half a pound of sugar to every pound of cherries. Put the cherries into a porcelain-lined kettle, cover them with the sugar and allow to stand for two hours, then place over a moderate fire and bring to boiling point. Skim and can at once.

EARRINGS OF TODAY AND OF YESTERDAY.

Critics who called the earring a relic of barbarism, and otherwise slandered it in days of its disfavor, must be having a hard time now. It has been creeping back into popularity for several seasons, but now it has arrived. It also seems inclined to stay.

Americans are not quite so wedded to it as are English and Latin women, but we now sport the most fetching varieties, from the immense gypsy ring of dull gold or silver to the stud ring of real pearl.

The gypsy rings are startling, even in their modest forms; but when they are seen in the shape of great hoops of hammered gold set with emeralds, with one dangling emerald in centre, they need castanets and cards along with them.

When colored stones, as the emerald, ruby or turquoise, are worn, they are usually of the screw type, and most becoming if chosen with an eye to the complexion. The large single stones in pearl or lozenge shape, clinging flat in narrow gold rims or surrounded by tiny diamonds, are the chief favorites.

There are also earrings quite in keeping with the popular classical tunics and Greek fillets and coiffures. The artistic Russian or Greek earring are copied in beautiful gold work, some burnished or frosted, others built of three tones of gold, green, deep yellow and pale lemon.

One pair has long pearl-shaped lobes of the palest gold, covered with a repousse design in the two deeper tones, highly burnished. Another classical pair is winged angels, in the pure Greek type.

One of the most unique of these revivals is the "Lustre" earrings. This has a solitaire diamond from which hangs smaller gems by links of small diamonds that fall almost to the shoulders and away back and forth with every movement of the wearer's head.

That vain and luxury loving Queen Elizabeth of England always had rich jewels dangling from her ears above her enormous ruffs. Her favorite jewels were pearls to go with her ruddy looks, and one of the noted pictures of her by Zucchero, shows her with two large pearls in each ear with a third and larger one dangling from it.

With such royal favor ancient and modern the present prestige of the earrings has good backing. What if men scoff and call it a reversion to barbarism? It was in the most topmost age that the earring found itself. Indeed, they might be doing so yet had not the Puritans put an end to these and other masculine baubles right after the Restoration.

Quite famous were a pair of magnificent diamond earrings belonging to James I., gay and adored "Steenie," while one of the portraits of Charles I. showed his melancholy countenance between long drop pearl earrings.

Some of the sportiest of the Cavaliers who surrounded the "Merry Monarch" used to wear one earring instead of two, just as the Englishman of today wears his monocle.

BOX PLANTS NEED MUCH ATTENTION.

When the window and porches are filled with a selection of plants they will demand more attention than those in bed yard. It is a good idea to have the plants placed in shallow zinc pans, with moss packed around them at the base. This will keep the flowers damp much longer, and is helpful in summer when the crocks get very hot from coming in contact with the hot sunshine during the heated portion of the day. It is not advisable to cover the earth with moss, though his can be done if one is liable to be away from home for several days, for the moss will retain moisture too long. The most successful window boxes are those that shield the roots of plants. Some have a screen around the box, which holds moss next to the box; others have moss packed into the pans. It must occasionally be removed, cleaned and replaced. Tan bark is also used to fill pans, also sifted pebbles and frequently sand.

Soft Silk Belts.

Waist belts are especially pleasing this season, particularly the soft silk designs with a floral pattern of mauve and purple orchids, finished with a square buckle in dull gold. Other effective waist belts are in heavily plaited silk, with enamel buckles to tone, while another noticeable design is shown in the band of embroidered beading threaded with soft satin ribbon.

Expensive, Anyway.

"I suppose," said the bachelor, "its mighty expensive to have your child sick in bed so long?"

"Yes," replied Phamliman, "but then if he were well and nearly he'd be wearing out c lothes."—Philadelphia Press.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE DEBUTANTE.

A well-known society woman offers these suggestions to the debutantes of the season: Don't get too many gowns at once. The day has gone by when getting a new dress was a matter of several weeks. It can be put through very quickly now and it is much better to have an entirely fresh frock at intervals than to start with many gowns, which all, sooner or later, have had the bloom taken off them. Don't start out with the idea that all the attention shown you is a tribute to your beauty or charm. At least half of it comes from the desire of people to repay social obligations owing to your family. Even the young men who hover about you may often be actuated by the feeling that it is good policy to be attentive to old Mr. So-and-So's daughter. All this may be a blow to your vanity, but it will save you from more of a shock later on. Be duly and properly grateful for kindnesses shown you by older women. This is not only a matter of good feeling but a bit of real worldly wisdom. Next year you will not be that important personage a "bud," and then you will feel the benefit of having made the right kind of friends.

FOR THE WOMAN OF DEFT FINGERS.

White for Elderly Women—White is more and more worn by people who have arrived at the dignity of two score and ten.

Dimity on Underwear—Cross barred dimity is being much used for the hand embroidered chemises and corset covers. It has the virtues of wearing well, of being easily laundered and easy to work upon.

Neck Bows Now Match the Hat—Now if one would be quite up-to-date she must wear a neck bow to match the distinctive color of her hat.

Figured Dimity for Underwear—Dimity with tiny rosebuds, is *a favorite material for dainty under*wear.

Serviceable Traveling Coats—Attractive coats for traveling are made of black, pongee and trimmed with taffeta in black and white stripes. These are sometimes finished at either side with three pockets, one on top of the other.

The Ribbon Chain—The ribbon chain, with slides of either rhinestones or diamonds, is now the chief mark of stylish accessories. The ribbon is a half-inch black moire and from it may depend vanity box, watch or other ornament.

For New Shoes—New boots often do not take a good polish. They will do so if they are rubbed over with a lemon before they are blacked. A cut raw potato may be used instead of the lemon if the latter is not to be had.

THE FAMILY CAT.

Before going away for the midsummer holiday a family should look out for the cats which they befriend ed during the winter months.

Some people board their cats, some are given cats and some have cats thrust upon them. Those who buy will either take them away with them or board them for the summer with reliable people. The same may be said of those to whom cats are given, but the majority of the Newark families and backyards, have cats thrust upon them. Poor strays, who clamber over fences, who dart through pickets, away from a pursuing dog or small boy, and to whom a cup of milk is offered in the moment's pity. Sometimes such cats adopt a home, and we give them, reluctantly, platters of fishbones and milk that are not needed, in order to still insistent mewing. We do not actually entertain the waifs, but temporize, before shooing them off, with food which merely quiets their demands.

If one is going away, and there are one or more such incumbents, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals should be notified by telephone for advice concerning its fate, but the cat should never be turned adrift. After being domesticated it cannot forage for itself.

The presence of mangy, diseased cats is a blot on a community as well as a menace to its health.

Don't be thoughtless about this, believing that the abandonment of one or more cats is not going to matter very much in the economy of a great city. Put yourself in the cat's place. Meditate on mercy for two minutes and think out a plan for its maintenance. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will mercifully put it to sleep if you cannot provide otherwise for it.

Beverage for an Invalid.

Lemon oatmeal drink is one of which invalids rarely tire. Mix a tablespoon of fine oatmeal into a smooth paste with cold water; then pour over it three pints of boiling water, stirring well all the time. Place in a saucepan, and boil until the quantity is reduced to two pints. Set it aside to cool, and then pour the clear gruel away from the sediment. Add to this the juice of a lemon and a small quantity of powdered sugar. This may be served hot or cold, and it is good either way.

"What is the capital of Illinois?" asked the teacher.

"The letter 'I,'" promptly answered the small boy at the foot of the class.

BETTER THAN THE CIGARETTE.

Medical Man Recommends Chewing of Peppermint as Cure for Habit.

If you have a boy who has begun smoking too early, and whom you wish to cure of the habit, feed him peppermint. Dr. Clayton Jones of Silverton, Eng., writing in the London Lancet, is authority for this simple cure. Dr. Jones writes:

"To break the cigarette habit in a youth there is nothing better than peppermint drops. A youth smokes for less hurtful. A common "bull's eye" will prevent smoking for nearly an hour, so the amount of sweets used need not be great. It would be a good plan to insist upon the youth who will smoke making his own cigarettes without the aid of a machine."

HAD AT LEAST ALL THE WORDS.

Absent-Minded Minister Substituted Dictionary for Sermon.

The minister was hurrying toward his church, the Sunday morning's service being near, when he was accosted by one of his congregation whom, in his haste, he had just passed without recognition.

"We are anticipating an extra fine sermon this morning," said this parishioner, after the first greetings.

"Well, I hope I shall fulfil your expectations," warmly replied the clergyman, "for I have two in my sermon under my arm, as usual."

"That!" uttered the layman, indicating a big black volume which the preacher carried with him.

"Yes," rejoined the minister, taking from the cover the book. "George!" he then ejaculated, abruptly turning back, "I've brought my dictionary instead!"

Burden of Overeducation.

Is it not ascertaining how to make the best of one's powers, how to arrange one's stores, how to exert a sweet, quiet and fragrant influence throughout life, over all whom one meets? If an advanced education does not foster these, then it is the education we should seek, declares a writer in the Woman's Home Companion. Our difficulty is that we cannot allow time enough for seed time and harvest. Mothers are in despair if daughters occasionally drop out of school for six months or a year. We are much too apt to insist on putting all your children, irrespective of their natural bent, through the same educational factory. We do not make sufficient allowance for temperament and tendency. Great is Comus (or was it Juggernaut?) as we carry burdens, beneath the weight of which we are crushed.

Not Altogether True.

More than half of the several hundred people taking the courses at Lowell institute under Harvard professors are school teachers, are women, and these courses require an attendance three times a week. And wherever one goes the same thing is true, only as a general thing the proportion of women in such classes would be greater than one-half. This does not look as though women were wasting all their energies in the "debauch of whist." Lots of women play whist and bridge, but it is generally the majority of the Newark families and backyards, have cats thrust upon them. Poor strays, who clamber over fences, who dart through pickets, away from a pursuing dog or small boy, and to whom a cup of milk is offered in the moment's pity. Sometimes such cats adopt a home, and we give them, reluctantly, platters of fishbones and milk that are not needed, in order to still insistent mewing. We do not actually entertain the waifs, but temporize, before shooing them off, with food which merely quiets their demands.

If one is going away, and there are one or more such incumbents, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals should be notified by telephone for advice concerning its fate, but the cat should never be turned adrift. After being domesticated it cannot forage for itself.

The presence of mangy, diseased cats is a blot on a community as well as a menace to its health.

Don't be thoughtless about this, believing that the abandonment of one or more cats is not going to matter very much in the economy of a great city. Put yourself in the cat's place. Meditate on mercy for two minutes and think out a plan for its maintenance. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will mercifully put it to sleep if you cannot provide otherwise for it.

Beverage for an Invalid.

Lemon oatmeal drink is one of which invalids rarely tire. Mix a tablespoon of fine oatmeal into a smooth paste with cold water; then pour over it three pints of boiling water, stirring well all the time. Place in a saucepan, and boil until the quantity is reduced to two pints. Set it aside to cool, and then pour the clear gruel away from the sediment. Add to this the juice of a lemon and a small quantity of powdered sugar. This may be served hot or cold, and it is good either way.

"What is the capital of Illinois?" asked the teacher.

"The letter 'I,'" promptly answered the small boy at the foot of the class.

HAIR BEST PHYSICAL INDEX.

Japanese Physician Explains His Theory on the Subject.

Modern medical men declare that the danger nails afford better evidence as to the state of a person's health than the eyes or the color or texture of the skin. A very distinct gloss and a rapid growth of the nail are always, they declare, symptomatic of good circulation, digestion and general health. Dr. Matsura, the well-known physician of Tokyo, says: "I submit the claims of the finger nail to be an index of the health, prefers that of the hair as indicating better than anything else loss and gain in physical well being.

He has established from his observation that the hair grows less in volume in proportion as the health declines. He has even measured the extent of the decline by observing the decrease in the diameter of a series of hairs. Baldness, Matsura, followed his theory, declares to be due really to a constitutional weakness which does not, however, always actively declare itself even to the victim. He claims for the result of his investigations that if they do not necessarily serve the interests of pathological science, they cannot but prove valuable in the case of post-mortem examinations, inasmuch as they can decide as to the deceased person's state of health just before death.

GIVE HUSBAND WHAT HE LIKES.

New York Writer Expatiates on the Duty of a Wife.

A woman, discussing how to feed a husband, said she had cured her husband of fussiness and faddiness about his food. She said that he had to take what he could get.

Now, why should he? His work and money buy every scrap of food which comes into the house. It is the husband's right that he should have the food he likes best, properly cooked and served on the table he bought. In the house whose rent he pays, by the wife to whom he gives a housekeeping allowance as a trust fund.

He strives his very best to support his family in comfort and some degree of luxury. His wife should strive her very best to lay out the money he intrusts her with so as to secure health, happiness and content in the home.

It is a very clear bargain between husband and wife. If a man is "grumpy" at meals there's usually something the matter with the meal. The somber-tempered male begins to smile when the story of the day of appetising dish rises like incense before the altar of his appetite.

Kisses and sentiment do not compensate a man for poor cooking and monotonous catering.—New York Times.

The Mathematical Mind.

A literary worker who wished to do a large amount of reading by proxy advertised for an assistant capable of digesting the contents of a tremendous quantity of books in a very short time. While weighing each applicant's qualifications for rapid, assimilative reading he inquired carefully into his mathematical acquirements. Finally he chose the man who was most skilful at untangling arithmetical problems.

"On the surface that seems an unnecessary accomplishment in this case," he said, "but experience has taught me that anybody who is expert in figures can read any kind of literature put before him with greater accuracy and speed than the person lacking in mathematical acumen."

Saved by Premonition of Danger.

Feeling a premonition that danger was threatening his parents, Jacob Fellman left Providence Square, Montgomery county, Pa., where he had been working. He walked six miles to Norristown, boarded a train and reached his parents' home, at 1533 Germantown avenue, just in time to save them from being burned to death. As he entered the house he heard an explosion, and, running upstairs, found his mother's room ablaze.

A lamp had exploded, and the burning oil spread the flames rapidly. Fellman carried his two sisters, Yetta and Molly, down stairs, while his mother took her five-months-old baby. Then Fellman turned in an alarm.

Toward the Simple Life.

I am strongly of opinion that the next great movement in the world of spiritual and moral reform will be the gospel of the simple life. We seem in some respects to have reached the stage in our habits and morals which was reached by Rome before the final decadence that led to the destruction of the mighty empire which she had created all over the known world.—T. P. O'Connor, in T. P.'s Weekly.

His Conception of Art.

"That is my celebrated painting 'The Bullfight,'" said the great artist. "Do you admire it?"

"Well, I should say so," responded the visitor.

"Ah, I am glad that you are such an admirer of art."

"Yes, I was just thinking how many dozen juicy beefsteaks could be carved off that hefty bullock."

The Value of Statistics.

"So you think it is a good idea to give your audience much in the way of statistics?" asked one campaign orator.

"Not too much. Just enough to let him rest up and get a little hungry for another anecdote."

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE FOURTH FLOWER BOX.

We are always cautioned against the use of fresh manure in setting out plants, writes Mrs. M. C. Marshall, Pennsylvania correspondent of Floral Life. But there was a long one, reaching from post to post on an eastern porch, and about ten inches deep and wide, and it set on brackets screwed to edge of porch. I made numerous drainage holes and *covered them properly and then en*tombed it with the same thing. One way up with the black soil from under a large manure heap, intending to fill it up with the clay and sand available.

Well! when I came back to look at my box it was nearly half full of fresh manure put in by the horse stable. What to do was a puzzle, but I packed it down tight, covered it over with about two inches of finely-broken pine charcoal and filled up with the best soil available and set in my plants—in the pots at first—for fear of rot.

As soon as it was safe weather the plants, pot-grown geraniums, coleus and begonias, were slipped from their pots into the soil of the box. A late frost did spoil them after all, but in time they recovered from that, and a glorious summer and the continuous wealth of blooms till fall frosts, was a joy and delight to us all, if it didn't last forever.

ALL SORTS OF FLOWERS ADORN SEASON'S HATS.

Flower-trimmed hats continue to enjoy a remarkable vogue, and there are but few blossoms which have not been pressed into the service of Madam La Mode this season.

Sweet peas of every shade, always very decorative, with their blossoms of quaint form, their waving tendrils and their delightfully soft and harmonious coloring, are high just now in fashion's favor. They look best of all when they are massed closely on a wide-brimmed hat of white crinoline, so that the white sweet peas mingle with those in several shades of pink and purple, deep violet and pale mauve. The chief charm in this kind of arrangement lies in the way in which the flowers are deftly placed, each blossom standing erect of its stem, so that they look almost as though they were still growing.

The perfection to which the making of artificial flowers has been brought this season helps the illusion immensely, of course, and it is quite possible to arrive, as in the case of sweet pea blossoms, at many delightful contrasts and combinations of tint, and yet to keep well within the limits of those colors which Nature herself provides.

SUMMER DESSERTS.

Nectarine Mousse and Russe—To each cup of nectarine pulp allow a heaped teaspoonful of gelatine—two cups of pulp make a generous quantity. Dissolve the gelatine in a third of a cupful of cold water, then place over steam to dissolve, and strain into the nectarine pulp. Sweeten well, add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and a little raspberry or strawberry syrup. Coat the lining of a fancy mould with a tablespoonful of melted gelatine, then pour in the mousse; pack well, cover with ice, and freeze for six hours.

Make the russe in a similar manner, but fold in with the pulp a pint of whipped cream and the grated rind of a lemon instead of the lemon juice. Use also a little almond flavoring. The russe may be used as a filling for a mould lined with vanilla ice cream.

Apricot Souffle—Peel and rub nine or ten fully ripe apricots through a sieve; stir into them a cupful of powdered sugar and the beaten yolks of three eggs. Whisk together for eight minutes. Set aside until the whites of six eggs are beaten stiff, then fold carefully into the apricot and egg mixture; turn the whole into a souffle dish, sprinkle with sugar and bake in a brisk oven for six minutes.

Sherried Nectarine Pudding—Line a dish with stale sponge cake dipped in sherry, and heap on this halved and pared nectarines. Spread a meringue over the top and brown quickly by placing the pudding dish in another which is partly filled with ice water. In this way the top will brown without heating the nectarines. Serve with cream.

A GREEK.

He never heard of rarebits,
He never tasted pie,
He never ate dill pickles
Or smelled of "extra dry."
He shunned the shady masses
And the waltz's dizzy whirl;
He never wore a collar
When he went to see his girl.

Perhaps you think our hero
Was a dead one, so to speak,
But you're very much mistaken—
He was just an ancient Greek.

—Cornell Widow.

A Girl's Fin Money.

The handy girl with a needle could make pin money in making fancy collars, jabots and ties. If a girl could work she could be employed it would be the means of attracting trade, though an ambitious girl could make a house to house canvass and readily sell pretty neck fixtures. These trifles are quite expensive in the stores and few dressmakers will take the time or patience to fashion them for patrons, so there is really a good possibility for a girl to get work of this kind.

FARM REFORMS.

We've been investigated down to Pohick on the Crick,
A reckon that reform will strike us farmers pretty quick:
We want the chickens taught to lay an egg, just as they should,
Without settin' up a crackle that'll wake the neighborhood;
We want the pigs to break away from enclosures of the past—
learn to use a finger bowl and not to eat so fast;
And cows should be persuaded not to overturn the pails
When milkin' time comes round, an' not be switchin' of their tails.

We ought to make arrangements with the weather bureau, too,
For, havin' rain turned on or off, accordin' as it's due;
a mighty glorious feelin' to be lookin' toward the day
When we'll size up our bothers of our plain old-fashioned way.
When we'll sit up on a fence rail in some cool an' shady nook
An' help the corn an' 'taters grow by readin' from a book.
We've rolled our shirt sleeves down; nobody wants to do a lick
Till this farm reform has hit at Pohick on the Crick.

—Washington Star.

OF CASUAL CONCERN.

In order to encourage thrift among its employes the Northeastern Railway Company some years ago established a savings bank at which deposits as low as sixpence are received, and which, interest being paid on account up to £200 and 2½ per cent. on sums in excess of that amount, last year 1,040 new accounts were opened and £104,672 deposited. The total amount now standing to the credit of 11,002 depositors is £893,-—, representing an average sum of £4. 4s. 6d. for each depositor.

It is said to be owed to the Frogs of Western Australia that that part of the empire is English and not French. About 1800 a party of prospective French colonists landed on the west coast of Australia, but on the first morning they were alarmed by the loud croaking of the frogs, which they took for demons, and retired with all speed to their ships. Western Australia might have presented the frog to the arms of the empire, just as Rome might have preferred, instead of the eagle, the goose that saved the capital.

Most people will not be surprised to hear that no sort of bird, beast or creeping thing will touch a castor-oil plant. It seems to be a deadly poison to all the animal world. Even a goat will starve before biting off a leaf, and a horse will sniff at it and turn up his upper lip as though it was the most detestable odor on the face of the earth. Army worms and slugs of every sort, though they may eat every other green thing in sight; and there is no surer way to drive moles away from a lawn than to plant a few castor beans here and there. Even the tobacco worm will refuse to be fed on its leaves. There is hardly another instance in natural history of a plant being so universally detested by the animal world.

Following the Pan-Anglican, another great congress is to assemble in London this summer. This is the Eucharistic Congress which was first held at Avignon in 1882. It will be the greatest gathering of Roman Catholic ecclesiastics ever seen in England. The Duke of Norfolk is president of the reception committee, which is making preparations for providing suitable accommodations for the large number of clergy who will attend. There will be present several cardinals from the United States, Rome, Spain, Germany, France, Belgium and other countries. The opening sermon at Westminster Cathedral will be Cardinal Gibbons.

The Japanese were acquainted with iron from very early times. A sword that was used by one of the ancestors of the present Emperor about 500 B. C. is still in existence. Later, when the great civil war broke out in the sixth century, sword smiths and armor smits came to occupy a prominent place. Many interesting stories are connected with sword smiths, although this is no place to go into these. From this time to about 300 years ago, no noticeable progress had been made. At the beginning of the seventeenth century, when the Tokugawa dynasty came into possession of the political power and peace was restored, all branches of industry began to prosper. The demand for iron implements increased and the scarcity of iron supply began to be felt.

Too Early.

"Ponce de Leon came to America in search of eternal youth."

"Foolish, eh?"

"Rather. There wasn't a drug store on the continent at that time."

Couldn't Get Along.

"She has sued him for divorce."

"On what grounds?"

"Incompatibility of income, I understand."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

According to the Proverbs.

Wife—John, dear, which doctor shall I get for you? There's Dr. Brown across the street, and Dr. Joy two doors down—

Hub—Get Joy—Joy seldom kills.—Boston Transcript.

"Let's go forward to the main deck."

"All right, Steward, call us a taxicab."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

BALK ON ORANGE GAME

Orange Management Won't Agree to Play the Newark Contest Over.

STATE LEAGUE RELD UP.

Vacations of League Committee Will Tie Up Decision Until Next Month—Plainfield Ahead.

Complaints of unfair treatment by Acting Manager Percy Hand and Physical Director Heackel, of the Orange Y. M. C. A., regarding the disputed Newark-Orange baseball game, in the State league, interrupted by rain in the third inning at the Orange grounds August 8, will make it necessary for the matter to be again referred to the league baseball committee and will delay the decision as to State baseball championships until next month.

Manager C. L. Listman, of the local association nine, is chairman of the league committee, which includes L. M. Smith, of Newark, and R. Zearfoss, of Passaic. The disputed game never came before this committee for adjustment, but the decision to play the game over again was made at a conference held by Manager Listman, Manager "Pop" McDevitt, of the Newark team, and Acting Manager Hand, of Newark. A mutual agreement was reached at this time and it was announced that the game would be played over on the Orange diamond.

Since this conference the Orange management has refused to abide by the decision, and when Mr. Listman suggested next Saturday as the date for the game the balk was made. Thomas Creed, who is chairman of the public playground commission at Orange, has written to Mr. Listman stating that the diamond was in fit condition for play at the time the umpire awarded the game to Orange because some of the Newark players had gone home during the shower.

L. M. Smith and R. Zearfoss, the other members of the league *committee, are at present on their va*cations and Manager Listman cannot reach them. It will therefore be impossible to wait until after September 1, when they will return and the matter will formally come up before them for final decision. Until that time the game officially stands as a victory for Orange, according to the umpire's decision, and Newark has a record of three defeats and eight wins. Plainfield's record of eight victories and but two defeats, gives them a winning lead if the umpire's decision stands.

DUNELLEN MAN WEDS FORMER BRUNSWICK WOMAN

Mrs. Lillian Gill, who was formerly Miss Lillian Biles, of New Brunswick, was married on August 8 to Walter Vliet, of Dunellen, at Waymart, Wayne county, Pa., at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Biles.

Mrs. Vliet married William Gill, of Brooklyn, in New Brunswick, at the age of 16 years. After she had lived with Mr. Gill for about seven years she found that she had made a mistake in her choice, and taking her two children returned to the home of her parents, where she has resided for the past nine or ten years. Mr. Gill did not contest the suit. Mr. and Mrs. Vliet are now living at 174 Front street, Dunellen.

Mr. Vliet is a widower with three children and Mrs. Vliet has two sons, 15 and 14 years old.

Benjamin Biles, the father of Mrs. Vliet, was formerly an sexton in the First Presbyterian church at New Brunswick for about six years.

OFFER TO PATERSON.

Firm Would Build Sewage Disposal Plant for $2,000,000.

A New York sewage disposal company has investigated conditions at Paterson and has offered to build a disposal plant for the city for $2,000,000, the city to pay for the work when the plant is completed and in satisfactory operation.

The proposition will be further considered at a special meeting of the Board of Finance and the special sewerage committee on September 10.

FOR LOUNGING WEAR.

Those girls who like all manner of dainty, fluffy garments for room wear are sure to like the empire mattresses, which are made of many kinds of sheer muslin.

One of dotted swiss is very pretty. It is put into tiny tucks at the shoulders and hangs full and loose to the knees. The edges are finished with a deep ruffle of plain muslin bound with pink silk ribbon.

Around the figure, under the arms, is a line of deep buttonholes worked in the material, and through these is run a four-inch band of pink ribbon, which is tied with a bow in long ends at front.

There is a turnover collar of muslin edged with ribbon and loose, pointed sleeves of swiss, edged with ribbon and muslin.

If you are wondering what to make as a gift to a bride or a debutante decide on this. There is no doubt that it will be received with ecstatic delight.

CITY'S FIRST SCHOOL BUILDING STILL INTACT

There are few local citizens, even among the oldest inhabitants, who realize that Plainfield's original village school building is still standing and in an excellent state of preservation, yet such is a fact. It is a double house and is located on the east side of Church street, near East Second street, opposite Bartle's stone yard and belongs to the estate of Catherine Webster, deceased.

The building was erected about 1845 by William Davidson. He had previously occupied the back basement of the old First Presbyterian church, while Thomas Wallace occupied the front basement. A rather bitter rivalry always existed between the Davidson and afterward became demented and in this condition was a conspicuous character about town for many years. During the Fremont campaign he crawled into the flimsy transparency in front of the Republican headquarters over Griffeth's store on East Front street, plunged through it and landed in the street, somewhat surprised, considerably bruised, but without breaking a bone. He was an excellent teacher, loved and respected by the children, but always a little "queer."

The old church was moved to Fourth and Sycamore streets and cut into two dwellings. It was through a chance conversation with Jeremiah A. Moore, of West Fourth street, and J. R. Morrison, of Duer street, that it was learned that this building was used as the first school in this city. The old shingle, with the distinguishing mark on "Village School" on it, these words being found on a "riser" used for the steps leading to the area way in the basement. It formerly was used as a sign on the front of the building. That positive proof of this fact will undoubtedly bring to the minds of the oldest inhabitants early recollections concerning the school. Since those early days the building has been converted into a double house, a partition having been placed in the centre. The old-fashioned wainscoting is still to be seen, also the seven six inch boards being used for the purpose. Of course, it has been repaired from time to time as the necessity demanded, but other than that it is said to be practically as it was when the limited number of boys and girls in the village went there to be instructed in reading, writing and arithmetic.

MRS STRYKER'S FUNERAL.

Service at Her Late Home, Attended by a Large Gathering.

The funeral service of Mrs. Sarah *D. Stryker, widow of John H. Stry*ker, of Somerville, was held at 1 o'clock Saturday from her late home on East Seventh street, there being a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, pastor of the Second Reformed church, Somerville, of which Mrs. Stryker was a former member, officiated. It was expected that her recent pastor, Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, would assist, but the family were unable to locate him, being out of the city on his vacation. There was a large number of beautiful floral tributes. The burial took place in the new cemetery at Somerville this afternoon, the pallbearers being Rev. C. T. Anderson, A. G. Anderson and W. H. Anderson, cousins of Mrs. Stryker, and T. B. Stryker, a brother-in-law.

Found Revolutionary Relic.

While engaged in the work of excavating North avenue above Berckman street, with a view to putting that thoroughfare to grade for macadamizing, men in the employ of N. B. & A. I. Smalley, Friday discovered a cannon ball weighing about eight and a quarter pounds, which, upon examination, showed that it must have been hand-made. The ball is undoubtedly a relic of revolutionary times and is in an excellent state of preservation. It was buried several feet underground. The ball is now on exhibition at Smalley Bros.' meat market on North avenue, where it has attracted the attention of many people.

ABOUT WHITE GLOVES.

White cotton or lisle gloves for wearing with shirtwaists are cool and convenient because they may easily be kept clean.

In theory one should have enough pairs to have gloves done up on wash day; in practice most women know what it is to find just before starting out that their gloves are "nights" and not a clean pair to be found.

If the discovery is made early enough the gloves may be washed out at once and hung in an open window to dry. If even this short warning is not given the gloves may be washed on the hands with plenty of soap and rinsing and allowed to dry out on the road.

It is surprising how quickly this is done, with the heat of the hands, especially on a hot day. Cold rarely results.

Care must be taken while the gloves are wet not to touch anything or to take hold of the railing of the cars when stepping on, or that state of those gloves is worse than the first.

CRANFORD REPUBLICANS FAVOR FOWLER'S RETURN

Resolutions endorsing Congressman Charles N. Fowler as a candidate for re-election from the Fifth district were unanimously passed at a meeting of the Cranford Taft and Sherman Club held in the township rooms at Cranford Thursday. In the resolution, Mr. Fowler is referred to as "a man of exceptional influence in directing legislation and enforcing the just claims of his constituents, known and honored throughout the land as the ablest and straightest champion of financial and currency reform, the great leader of a great cause." Resolutions endorsing Robert Kirkland for Sheriff and James E. Warner, of Cranford, for township clerk, were also adopted.

The meeting room was "packed to the doors" and President Edwin G. Woodling was in the chair. He was re-elected to head the organization during the coming campaign, and these officers were also named: B. A. Towl, vice-president; B. C. Austin, secretary, and G. H. Hendricks, treasurer. An executive committee of twenty-one members was elected.

Arrangements have been completed for securing a large campaign banner, bearing portraits of the Republican candidates and the resolution, "The People Do Rule" to be hung near the Cranford depot about September 1.

CLARENCE B. LA RUE ASPIRES TO THE ASSEMBLY

At the earnest solicitation of his many friends, Clarence B. La Rue, who has been active in the county and State local option movement, has consented to allow his name to go before the primaries of the Republican party, with which party he is affiliated, as a candidate for the Assembly, and a petition in his behalf is now being circulated throughout the county for that purpose. He has received the assurance of a great many friends that he will have their united support.

In speaking about his candidacy today, Mr. La Rue said:

"In common with hundreds and thousands of other men in this county I desire to have three men in the Assembly from Union county who will vote for a measure granting the people of the various municipalities the right to determine by their own votes whether they will have licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquor issued in their communities.

"If I am nominated and elected to the Assembly I shall work and vote for such a measure, because I believe that the right to determine this matter rests with the people, and it should be in the province of the representatives of the people to grant such power to exercise their right. I would prefer that two other men with Assemblyman Pierce would stand for the nomination in the Republican primaries for whom the local option men can consistently cast their votes. Therefore, I stand for the long moment as long as the opportunity is afforded to withdraw my name and work for any other candidate who will stand for this proposition."

VETERANS NOT AFFECTED.

Civil Service Head Sees No Peril in Law that Created Board.

Dr. Willis Fletcher Johnson, president of the State Civil Service Commission, was asked Friday for his opinion of the probable effect of the civil service law upon the tenure of office-holding veterans of the army. It has been suggested by some persons that the new law repeals the old law protecting Civil War veterans from removal. Dr. Johnson said:

"The subject has not been brought before the Civil Service Commission for any official action or expression of opinion, and it seems scarcely likely that it will be. Of course, I can't say what the commission would do if it were required to act upon the subject, and I cannot speak for my three colleagues. But, speaking individually, after very careful study of the subject, I have no hesitation in saying that, in my opinion, the civil service law does not repeal the veteran act and does not affect it in any way, but leaves it in full force, just as it has been ever since it was enacted.

Not a Safe Place.

Bullyrag Lawyer—Now, I want you to answer this question very carefully. Was your father (when your mother struck him with a rolling pin) under the influence of drink?

Juvenile Witness—No, sir. He was under the kitchen table!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Anticipated.

Hubbie—My dear, if I cannot leave the office in time for dinner tonight, I will send you a note by a messenger.

Wife—You need not go to that expense, George, for I have already found the note in your coat pocket.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

DEEDS AND CONTRACTS.

Many of Interest to Plainfielders Filed at County Clerk's Office.

The following real estate transfers, of interest to Plainfielders, have been recorded at Elizabeth:

Essie R. Thompson et al. to Louise Terry, easterly side M. M. Hodge, 275 feet southeasterly of West Seventh street, Plainfield $1

Ernest Sharp et ux. to Franklin L. Groff, southeasterly side East Seventh street, 250 feet southwesterly of Leland avenue, Plainfield.... $1

Central Park Realty Co. to Franklin L. Groff, northerly side Prospect avenue, 230 feet westerly of Kensington avenue Plainfield $1

Lemuel S. Hart et ux. to Louis Trucotra, southerly side East Second street, 228 feet of Johnson avenue, Plainfield $2,200

William H. Murphy et ux. to Preston B. Davis, northwesterly side Fifth avenue, 100 feet southwesterly of Prescott place, Plainfield $1

Mary E. Hulton to Ella B. Benson, northeasterly side Central avenue, corner F. S. Neals, Plainfield ... $1

Sarah M. Shephard to First National Bank, Somerset street, corner Abram B. Dunlap, Plainfield $1

Central Park Realty Co. to Clara V. Biddle, southerly side Prospect avenue, corner Edgewood avenue, Plainfield $1

Same to same, southerly side Prospect avenue, 100 feet westerly of Edgewood avenue, Plainfield $1

Same to same, southerly side Prospect avenue, 860 feet westerly of Kensington avenue, Plainfield $1

These contracts have also been filed:

Byman Hirsh with Simon Roth, entire work new building, Watchung avenue, Plainfield $1,500

A. E. Van Born with P. A. McVoy, plumbing work, addition to 615 East Second street, Plainfield $197

Mrs. Mary Ward with H. Bevo, entire work new building, Plainfield $2,238

SUGGESTIONS FOR A HARN DANCE PARTY.

Some young people never seem to get enough exercise out of dancing until they try the barn dance on the lawn to the inspiring rhythm of a hurdy-gurdy. And some pretty *women look so bewitching in sunbon*nets and shortened skirts that it seems a pity they don't live in the country.

For such as these a rustic festival has become a favorite with hostesses who have pleasant home grounds on which to entertain.

For invitations use manila paper cut in squares and printed by hand in, or by green ink. If you are an artist in the family a few barn swallows would look seasonable in one corner of the card, as the barn dance and mayhap a barn refectory will be the leading features. The orthography for these notes rhould be pronouncedly "reformed" in character, the following being a hasty specimen:

"Dere Sue—Al the folks hereabouts air goin' to convene and jine in a farmers' festival up to my house on the afternoon of Thursday, August 6. I hope you kin come. If so, please ware your sunbunnit, caliker dress and apren. We don't want any city fixin's if we kin help it. It's goin' to be a gennywine country frolic. Your affectionate "TILDY."

As the invitations suggest, only country costumes are worn. The girls look bewitching in their gaily tinted sunbonnets and Dutch necked dresses of ankle length, made gay with ruffles or little tea aprons.

The men will, of course, wear blue jeans, coarse shirts and broad-brimmed hats of straw, with boots for the courageous.

To give color to the scene there should be several couples dressed as milkmaids and dairymen, says the Philadelphia Press, with buckets of rosy apples or cider "to piece on."

If given in the heat of summer a hay stack, half filled, should be sent for such of the guests as do not object to being seen thus en route.

The amusement is dancing and games, with a specially erected platform for those who cannot manage it on the lawn. Polkas, reels and country dances are preferred to waltzes. A portion of the program at least should be made up of these.

The supper is a real rural "spread." Candles in candlesticks made from large carrots form part of the table trimming. For side dishes to hold the relishes hollow out large cucumbers and line with tinfoil.

Fried chicken and waffles make a delicious main course for a rural dance. However, it is impracticable to serve hot dishes out of doors substitute cold sliced chicken, *bread and butter, milk biscuit, cot*tage cheese, honey, jam and jelly, doughnuts, home-made cake, cookies, milk, buttermilk or cider.

The Sweetest Sounder.

Over breakfast, Miss Dorothy, the enthusiastic ornithologist of the boarding house, discussed the merits of the nightingale, lark, thrush and so forth.

"And which, Mr. Hunker," exclaimed Miss Dorothy, "which, of all the songbirds, are you fondest of?"

"I prefer the hen, Miss Dorothy."

"But the hen isn't a song-bird at all!" objected Miss Dorothy.

"Well," replied Hunker, tapping another hard-boiled egg, "it's the only bird whose lay I care for."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"RECOGNITION IN HEAVEN."

Sixth of a Series on Heaven by REV. DR. CHARLES E. HERRING

One of the most deeply rooted longings of the human heart is the desire to meet friends and loved ones *who have preceded us into the heav*enly world;—true, the young man does not meditate much upon this subject. He is ambitious and hopeful for his life,—but the time comes in every man's experience when his friends and dear ones slip away from him and their life is never the same again. We make other friends but these never fill the gap. The only thing that satisfies us then is the hope that the separation is only for a time. Will it be that in heaven we shall love all alike, or will we be devoted to those whom we have been devoted here? Shall we recognize our own in that world? Will they know and be interested in us?

We do believe in future recognition. Firstly, because such a belief is so natural to the human heart, and we can positively assert that where there is any great longing to which all humanity bears testimony, it m ust be true. This longing to meet particular persons in the other world will exist. Socrates believed in the heavenly world; but the joy of that world to him consisted in meeting Homer, Hesiod and Orpheus. He declared that he would be willing to suffer many a death for such a privilege. Jacob hoped to meet Cato there, and the Hindu wife threw herself on the funeral pyre of her dead husband that she might continue to be his companion in the other world. Men have always and everywhere hoped that there might be recognition in the other life.

Secondly, this longing is not only natural to the human heart; it becomes more intense as the years pass and as we approach heaven's borderland.. When Browning was dying, he exclaimed, "Oh that soul of my soul, I shall clasp thee yet again, and with God be the rest." His last thought was that he might meet her whom he loved devotedly on earth. He believed that she would be his companion in the heavenly world. So confident is that life as a continuation of this? What is death? Simply a passing over. A passing out of one room of the Father's house into a larger room. We shall not take across the border our material possessions, but we shall take our character and our hallowed longings, and God will satisfy them. Your great desire is to meet that soul who was everything to you on earth. She has passed over; but she is still dear to you;—yes, dearer—as the years fly by grows more intense. Shall it be that death will miraculously change your nature so that you will lose you interest in her? Never! We can never forget our dear ones who have gone before. They are the ones your soul craves to see. Do you believe that God who has implanted such a longing in every heart will disappoint our expectation? "No, we shall love them better after death." Browning said regarding the death of a friend: "in a short time we shall be together again, for our life would be poor indeed, but for that hope."

Thirdly, there shall be recognition in the future world because we shall still be human beings there. We shall not be transformed to angels. Heaven will be a human sort of place, and for just that reason will perfectly satisfy us. It will be the place of glorified humanity.

Remember that our Lord said, "I go to prepare a place for you." If there is no such thing as future recognition, I say that it will be no place for us. God does not develop faculties in us here which shall be destroyed in the other world. We shall take with us our memories, our holy loves, and interests, for they are eternal. Whatever of information in the other life may be, we shall still preserve our personal identity.

Fourthly, our Lord said that He came not to destroy but to fulfill. That which is distinctively human in the old Testament, but it can be applied to everything that Christ touched. He came not to de*stroy these longings of human na*ture but to elevate and sanctify them.

"It was an early Christian custom," says Neander, "to celebrate the anniversary of the death of friends in a manner suited to Christian faith and hope. It was usual on this day to partake of the communion under a sense of the inseparable fellowship with those who died in the Lord. A gift was laid on the altar, in their name as if they were still living members of the church." Why? because their death-day was regarded as their birthday. Neander further says: "Christianity mitigated and refined the anguish of sorrow by the spirit of faith and hope, and of childlike resignation to that eternal love which takes in order to restore what it has taken, under a more glorious form." Here we have a belief in recognition in order to reunite the separated in a glorious state through eternity."

Heavenly recognition is a truth of the human heart, and when God's truths are written so indelibly on the soul why should we lay it care for?"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

for granted. Scripture does not labor to prove the existence of God or the immortality of the human soul. These are intuitive convictions. God writes on the human heart the great truth of heavenly recognition. There must be a God for our heart tells us. There must be heavenly recognition for the same reason. Some one has said: "If I could be sure of the future and could know my dear ones would greet me with unblemished love, my passage would be like the rain cloud in which the sun shines and makes the rainbow."

Two men were riding one cold day up the mountain side, amid the most beautiful scenery. The day was clear and over the snow covered ridge the sun shone with great splendor. It was very natural that the thought of the men should turn to the great Beyond—but that brought home to one of the men the loss of his child. "Gone, gone," he said. "Not for ever though," was the response of the other man, "you shall see her again in the brighter land." "If I only could believe that," he replied, "nine-tenths of the burden would be removed." Then the love of this life were but the one-tenth. If he could but feel that little girl again nine-tenths of the burden would be removed. He craved for what? Heaven with its glorious company of the angels? No, he was a father and had a father's love. We can hardly think that that will be changes in the other world. His great desire was to meet his own little girl. Can we conceive of the Heavenly Father not granting that request?

Contrast that lack of faith with the faith of a man who dedicated his book, "Life Beyond Death," to his son Phil, who had passed over into the other room. In that dedication there was a message to his boy, a message which he believed his boy could see and understand. The ambition of that father was not to meet Moses and Elias or Paul but to meet his own dear boy. That would be heaven for him. I cannot think that God will disappoint this longing. No, no. Christ came not to destroy our holy love. He came to complete and sanctify it.

Alas for us, who never see
The stars shine through his cypress trees,
Who hath not learned in hours of faith
The truth to flesh and sense unknown
That life is ever lord of death
And love can never lose its own.

CODDINGTON ASKS FOR WAR SINEWS

Horace Coddington, of Somerville, treasurer of the Democratic State Auxiliary Committee, yesterday sent out a call to Democrats all over New Jersey for funds to carry on Bryan's campaign in the State. The Democratic State Committee has not yet authorized *a campaign fund. Contribu*tions from the public are also asked, and all contributions will be received with thanks, regardless of how small they may be. Mr. Coddington pledges on behalf of the auxiliary committee to account for every penny received. All funds can be sent to Horace Coddington, Somerville. She following is the call:

"The above committee has been, or, a campaign contribution list to which it solicits small contributions to defray the ordinary and legitimate expenses of a campaign of publicity. The committee is addressing this request to you with a hope that your interest in the success of our party will prompt you to make a contribution, however small.

"The committee pledges itself to use this money for strictly campaign purposes and at the end of the campaign to make a public accounting of the same."

DISPUTATION.

De locus' an' de katydid
Done had er' argument.
De locus' clum a tree an' hid
An' sang all day—dat's what he did—
An' 'lowed dat he were sent
To tell de folks dat summer time
Were only t'rin' to its prime.
"No matter how much you get,"
Says he, "it will be hotter yet!"

De katydid tuned up an' said,
"Look out foh frost some night!
It gwine to come"—dat's what he said—
"Dat locus' ain' strongest de head
An' nobber gits things right!"
An' still de weather goes its way,
Not noticin' a word dey say.
Dey's jes' like folks dat whoop an' shout
An' don't know what dey's talkin' 'bout!

—Washington Star.

Real Dainties.

Nothing more quickly marks the refinement of the young girl than the care she takes of her toilet articles, especially her comb and brush. If these are kept scrupulously clean by frequent washings, it is the hallmark of neatness.

Justly Indignant.

"You say she hates their royally physician?"

"Yes; she thought she was going away from a broken heart and the doctor diagnosed her case as indigestion and cured her."—Houston Post.

WHY MARTINE ACCEPTED

"Farmer-Orator" Explains His Action in Offer of Shrievalty Nomination.

COULDN'T REFUSE COMMITTEE.

Made Him Agree to Become the Democratic Candidate and Did So With Much Reluctance.

The announcement yesterday that James F. Martine had yielded to the persuasive powers of the Union county Democrats and would once more be a candidate on the party ticket, this time for Sheriff, occasioned little surprise from the fact that only a few days ago the "farmer orator" asserted with all the earnestness at his command that under no circumstances would he accept any kind of a nomination. His capitulation to the party leaders means that he will be named beyond all shadow of a doubt and his effort to become Mr. W. H. Lawrence's successor will make the coming campaign a much more active one than has been anticipated. Mr. Martine was interviewed today and this is what he told relative to his acceptance to the pleadings of the county committee:

"This committee has succeeded in inducing me to stand for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff, and I have signed the papers signifying my intention to be a candidate. The thought at becoming Sheriff, as I have said before, was not in conformity with my inclinations or desires. It seemed a distasteful position, a position too intimate with the miseries and afflictions of the poor, but the committee bade me accept and I do.

"I don't know what the emoluments of the office are and I don't care. I have consented to be nominated in the hope that it will help to reduce Union county's debt. Democracy I realize also that while a Sheriff must perform duties repugnant and distasteful, he can do much to lighten the burden, and make easier the plight of those poor unfortunates who are forced to come within the confines of the office. That have I also in mind in giving my consent.

"And though I was reluctant to accept, having now accepted I shall enter the fight earnestly and enthusiastically. If elected I will perform the duties of the office as my conscience dictates, and in the hope of loosening the chains and lightening the burdens of the people. I believe the Sheriff's office has hitherto been ruled too much by mercenary motives. I repeat, that I shall use my best efforts to be elected, and I believe with the aid of God and an enlightened humanity we shall be successful.

"I believe there are many abuses in the office that should be mitigated and if elected I shall mitigate them to the best of my ability. So far as in me lies the power I will enforce the law."

"How about the excise law?" he was asked.

"I'll enforce the laws on the statute books, and no more. The laws are there. I believe in God and my conscience, and will do as that belief dictates."

TO MEET AT ASBURY.

Democratic State Auxiliary Committee Will Hold Conference.

There will be a meeting of the Democratic State Auxiliary Committee of New Jersey, at the Coleman House, Asbury Park, on Saturday afternoon, August 29, at 4:30, to *which all the members of the Demo*cratic State Committee, the chairman of each county committee, and the editor or representative of each of the Democratic newspapers of the State are invited to be present.

The purpose of this meeting is to hold a conference to thoroughly discuss the different phases of the campaign about to be inaugurated in *this State in behalf of the Demo*cratic ticket. Arrangements will probably be made so that those attending can have dinner together at the Coleman House after the meeting.

ABOUT THE AVERAGE MAN.

He doesn't go to church more than once a month, and always looks uncomfortable in his go-to-meeting attire. He is about five feet six inches; five feet seven inches tall. The dude calls him a "jay." In some circles the average man is known as an easy mark—in capital letters.

He would walk half a dozen miles to see a train wreck, and would run the same distance to see a fire, where he would help all he knew.

There are more men engaged in agricultural pursuits than in any other occupation, says the London Saturday Journal. There are, as a matter of fact, in Great Britain 1,071,000 working in the fields and farms and gardens out of a total of 12,134,559 men employed in the land.

So, despite the fact that for years the procession of country sons toward town houses has been maintained, the average man is still an agriculturist.

The Constitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1908.

JAMES EDGAR MARTINE.

James E. Martine's loyalty to the Democratic party has for years past been put to the test times without number. In season and out of season, as a candidate for various offices, and as a private in the ranks, he has labored incessantly, and fatigably, for the success of the body politic whose cause he espouses, and whose tenents he proclaims. If ever a champion has earned the unquestioned right to seek his ease, lay aside his armor, and rest him from "the heat and burden of the day," Mr. Martine is that man, and yet once again his party summons him to stand for office; this time for an office, the very nature of which must be distasteful to him and his unswerving devotion prompts him to disregard his preferences and plunge anew into the thick of the fray. It is a signal sacrifice which is demanded of him in this Presidential year; to stand for the Shrievalty in a strongly Republican county; to try results with an opponent who presumably will come from the county seat and is everywhere popular; and a man of less determination of character than that possessed by Mr. Martine, might well plead his long record of past services and sacrifices for his party as an excuse for refusing a further summons. He is, however, not that stripe of man, as all who know him can well testify, and the next two months will witness him swinging around the circle with all the vim, the dash and the energy which have ever characterized him in his political battles.

Whatever may be the idea of Union county citizens as to Mr. Martine's wisdom in accepting this latest call to duty, we must without exception grant that his so doing furnishes an example of loyalty to conviction and disregard of self, the like of which has not been seen among us in this day and generation.

SOME USES OF THE SUCCULENT RASPBERRY.

Both the scent and flavor of raspberries are very refreshing, and the berry itself is exceedingly wholesome and invaluable to people of a nervous or bilious temperament. Its juice is rich and abundant and, to many, extremely agreeable. The common name was given to it because of the roughness of the fruit.

Raspberry Vinegar—To four quarts of red raspberries put enough good vinegar to cover and let them stand for twenty-four hours; seal and strain it, add one pound and a quarter of sugar to each pint of juice; it is then ready for use and will keep for a long time. To one glass of water add a tablespoonful. It is much relished by the sick.

Steamed Raspberry Dumpling—Sift into a basin two cupfuls of flour, four heaping tablespoonfuls of baking powder and half a t easpoonful of salt; then work into them finely one heaping tablespoonful of butter, then add three-quarters of a cup of milk. Put two and a half cupsful of sugar, one tablespoonful of vinegar and five cups of raspberries in the bottom of a well-buttered baking dish. Cover with flour mixture, and wet it in buttered paper and steam for fifty minutes. Serve in dish in which it is cooked.

Raspberry Buns—Three-quarters of a pound of flour, quarter pound of butter, quarter pound of sugar, two eggs, one teaspoonful cream of tartar, half a teaspoonful carbonate of soda, five tablespoonfuls of milk and some raspberry jam. Rub the butter into the flour, add sugar to it. Beat up the eggs well and stir into the flour. Mix the cream of tartar and soda in a cup with the milk and stir into the mixture. If not wet enough add a little more milk. Mold into buns, place them in a buttered baking tin, make a hole in the top of each, and put in one teaspoonful of raspberry jam; drawing up the dough to cover it. Bake in a moderate oven from fifteen to twenty minutes. These are delicious.

Raspberry Shortcake—Sift into a basin two cupfuls of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt and four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then rub into them six tablespoonfuls of butter, then add one scant cupful of milk. When thoroughly mixed divide into halves; put each half into a round, buttered and floured cake tin. Separate the upper portions from the lower portions of each cake with a fork—never cut with a knife. Spread with butter, fill with raspberry filling between. To make the filling: Cut in pieces and sweeten to taste two boxes of raspberries. Let them stand for half an hour. These are range between the layers of shortcake and garnish the top with whole raspberries, also whipped and sweetened cream.

Knicker—Birds of a feather flock together. Bocker—Yes, it took several eagles to pay for my wife's hat. —Brooklyn Life.

AMUSEMENTS.

At Proctor's Newark theatre for the week of August 24. The program is fully up to Proctor standard. A partial list of those appearing are: "Our Boys in Blue," a patriotic military sensation. Seventeen soldiers in a series of spectacular maneuvers of soldier life in camp field and battle, one of the best drilled body of men in the vaudeville world today. That odd pair of comedians, Friend and Downing, will appear as "Rosenthal and Harrigan." The Three Judges will be seen in a clever acrobatic risely act. The Four Stewart Sisters, with original dancing dolls, are sure to find favor. Jules Von Tilzer will be heard in some of the latest song successes of the Von Tilzer family.

The "Klitics" are Coming.

The fifty-second annual Scottish games of the New York Caledonian Club on Labor Day, Monday, September 7, at Washington Park and Cation, Grand street, Maspeth, L. I., will be a banner day in the annals of the club on account of the large number of visiting organizations that have signified their intention of being present to take part in the parade and games, as well as by the very large number of entries that have been received from prominent athletes in all parts of the country (including Canada) for the different games and competitions. The members of the club will be accompanied in the parade by detachments from the following organizations, in full Highland dress: Scottish Highlanders (who are scheduled to give an exhibition drill at the grounds), New York; Caledonian Club, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Fraser Highlanders, of Newbrucket, Conn.; Caledonian Club, of Paterson, N. J.; Caledonian Club, of Newark, N. J.; and various other representative Scottish societies and clans.

PREPARING TO COMPLETE HOPATCONG TROLLEY LINE

Work on the completion of the trolley line started last year between Elizabeth and Union, on Morris avenue, will probably be taken up September 15. Robert D. Foote, president of the Morris County Traction Company, with J. H. Allenman, vice-president, was in Elizabeth yesterday to complete final arrangements.

Work on this line was abandoned last fall on account of the financial depression, and also on account of difficulty experienced in getting consent for a spur from the Lehigh Valley Railroad, over whose tracks the trolley line must pass. The directors of the company have succeeded in arranging for the spur, and they feel that confidence in the money market has been restored to such an extent that the work may be pushed through without further serious delay. It is estimated that the line will be completed one month after work is started. A great part of this time will be consumed in the construction of a retaining wall near the property of the Suburban Golf Club links. Here the land is very irregular in places, and such a wall will be necessary to keep the tracks clear from small landslides.

Upon the completion of the line between Elizabeth and Union, a syndicate directly connected with the Morris County Traction Company will start to develop what is known as the Hoyt property, which consists of about 100 acres near the old Meeker Inn, conducted by Eugene O'Reilly, formerly of Plainfield. Streets will be laid out and paved with asphalt, then will be built the cottages, which will be divided into lots and sold only under the restriction plan. The absence of trolley accommodations made the development of this property impractical in the past, but now that the Elizabeth-Union line is assured work on the proposition will be pushed.

As soon as the company has completed the line, it will start to make it possible to go the entire distance between Plainfield and Lake Hopatcong by trolley, by way of Elizabeth. While this may sound like rather a large undertaking, it is in reality a matter of only a short time as the laying of but five miles of tracks will be necessary. There is one strip between Morris avenue and Cherry street, Elizabeth, of about a mile, another at Summit, also of about a mile, and the longest at Morristown, where two miles will have to be laid, and the final is another stretch of about a mile between Denville and Denville. Cars are already in operation between Denville and Lake Hopatcong.

Lonely.

Mary Helen, 4 years old, is very brave, and is usually perfectly willing for her mother to leave her after she has given her bed and has given her her favorite doll. But one night after she had been left a short while she called loudly for her mother.

"Why, Mary Helen!" her mother asked, "what is the matter with you?"

"I'm tured of staying up here with nobody but God and my dolly. I want somebody with skin on," she sobbed.—The Delineator.

School Opens September 15.

The city schools will open for the fall term Tuesday, September 15, and not the previous week, as stated in another paper.

STERILIZING FOODS AN IMPORTANT ITEM.

This subject has never before been completely discussed in this column, and I believe the following instructions will be valuable to those who have not already learned the new process of preserving fruits and vegetables. Practically any kind of food, whether fruit, vegetable or meats, can be preserved in this manner and will keep an indefinite time. Personally I recommend a gumless jar, such as I have previously mentioned, as they are easily cleaned and the work is more quickly done.

To Prepare Jars for Use—Place the jars (on their sides) in a kettle of hot water. Be sure the water completely covers the jar, both inside and out, all at one time. Leave the jars in the boiling water 4 minute and roll them gently back and forth with a spoon or a fork, so they will heat through evenly. Remove them from the water and place on a dry board or table. Never place a jar on a cold, wet surface. Many fill the jars on a board in the oven to keep hot for use.

To Use the Jar—The jar and fruit must be boiling hot when fruit is poured into the jar, unless it is to be cooked in the jar, which calls for a second method, mentioned later. Fill the jar brim full, leave no space for jar, and wipe off the neck of jar quickly. Have the metal caps handy, placed in boiling water. Quickly place a cap on each jar as it is filled. A spring attachment comes with these caps, which fits over the cap; adjust one over each cap. Set the jar away. Do not turn i tupside down to test it, for this jar is going through a process of suction to close the lid. Once closed, and the jar is cold, remove the spring, screw on cap and if the juice remains the jar is safely sealed. It is best to test the jars for several days, as you would with any jar. Should a cap prove defective remove it, heat contents and put on a new cap. A cap is removed by puncturing it with a knife or nail, making it quite easy to open any jar of fruit. Lids should never be used but once. They are cheap.

Some fruits have a way of rising to the top of a jar. This is true of berries. When this occurs place the jar on its side to soak the fruit with juice, reverse the jar several times for a few days, and this objectionable feature will be overcome.

Preparing the Sterilizing Can—This can may be purchased, though almost any can will do—use the clothes boiler for the purpose, making a wooden rack to fit the bottom of the kettle. A board pierced with large holes and supported with wooden legs is often used, also an or slat rack. There are numerous kinds of lifting forks for the purpose of lifting the jars from the boiling water; but when one is not procurable lift out enough water so that the jar may conveniently be lifted with a towel. Fill the jars with fruit or vegetables, covering the vegetables with cold water. Place on rubber cap and spring. Place the jar on the wooden rack and fill the boiler with cold water to the neck of each jar. Cover the boiler with a lid and boil vigorously the allotted time. It takes various lengths of time for various articles to be properly cooked. When the fruit is in the boiler it must be vigorously boiled, not simmered, and taken out at the specified time. When the jars have cooled, try to lift the lid the next day, as this is the final test, and should it not move, the suction has been complete. Keep all articles in a dark place, but test numerous times before placing them in the cellar. Fruits are preserved whole, with or without sugar. Naturally one wishes to sweeten the fruit. A syrup is first made and the fruit, uncooked, is placed in the jars covered with the hot syrup, teh lids are attached in the usual manner and the cooking follows.—Woman's National Daily.

DOING UP LACE CURTAINS.

Lace curtains must on no account be ironed. In the country they may be stretched on the grass, pinned out every point; in town a sheet spread on the carpet will be found more suitable.

Dwellers in flats who find it difficult to dry such large articles will be glad to know that if the curtains are hung up wet at an open window over night they will be dry next morning and hang more gracefully than if dried in the usual way. Take them down next morning, fold lengthwise and pass through the mangle.

Feathers may be washed by placing them in linen bags. Dip and squeeze these in soapsudes, rinse in clean water and dry in sieves in an empty room, turning the feathers frequently to prevent them sticking together.

Queer Hatpins.

She was showing with great pride a hatpin that a friend had just brought her from Paris. It was a flower pin, the head in shape and coloring a rich red rose, every petal distinct.

"Can you beat that in novelty?" she asked. "Doesn't it look exactly as if a real rose had dropped on the brim of this black hat?"

"I can beat it," said one of the other girls, "with the pin now in my hat."

The girls looked hard before they discovered that a small ostrich plume at the side of the speaker's hat was not a tiny feather, but the head of a hatpin in this shape.

REJUNCTION PERMANENT

Vice-Chancellor Walker Renders Decision in Glazer Fat Factory Case.

FAVORS THE COMPLAINANTS.

Operation of the Plant May Be Permitted Under Certain Conditions Named in Temporary Restraining Order.

Vice-Chancellor Walker has just given his decision in the case of Miles Reusch and other residents of Alton against Theodore Glazer, in which the complainants sought to make permanent a temporary injunction restraining the defendant from continuing to operate his fat rendering plant in Alton. The decision is in favor of the complainants, and means that the court intends to make the injunction permanent. Vice-Chancellor Walker has notified Codington & Swackhamer, of counsel for the complaints, and Judge William Newcomb, counsel for the defendants, James Guttridge being a party to the decree, to that effect and has requested them to fix a date when the terms of the final decree can be determined upon and the order carried out. This, it is expected, will be done in a few days.

It is possible that Vice-Chancellor Walker may permit Mr. Glazier to continue his business under certain conditions that are lawful, as provided in the temporary injunction against him. While the decision declares the plant to have been a nuisance, an important fact is that it was allowed to continue under conditions which were construed lawful for a year and a half. The exact scope of the decree cannot be determined until after counsel appears before Vice-Chancellor Walker and agree as to the terms. According to the decision the vice-chancellor says that there is no action against Mr. Guttridge.

The action brought against Mr. Glazer was the last of several that sought to put a stop to the alleged nuisance and it attracted widespread attention by reason of the fact that practically all of the residents of Alton were interested in the case a 150 Charlotte street, in the Bronx. Mrs. Blank is a perfect stranger to her, but noticed that she was acting strangely and called her in. Later, when Miss Haskins seemed to be more herself, Mrs. Blank permitted her to leave, presumably for her home. She had very little money when she eluded the nurse in the local store, and her friends are puzzled as to how she has been defraying her expenses since.

DO NOT OVERDO IN TAKING EXERCISE.

It is difficult to impress upon women the good of exercise, but it is equally difficult to compel them not to overdo it.

Give a woman a pair of dumbbells and tell her to take a gentle exercise for five minutes every morning, and she will swing them with violence several times until her arms ache from exhaustion.

Tell her to play tennis during pleasant days, and she will play it for hours without moderation.

It is the same with every form of exercise suggested. It seems the nature of women to overdo. They do not know the value enough to comprehend its danger.

They think if a little is good more is better. They weary themselves out, deplete their heart action, give themselves acute indigestion, all because they will not do in moderation the thing that would make them well and strong.

Doctors and physical culturists say they have to fight this tendency in women more than any other one thing when they are upbuilding their blood and tissues.

A USH FOR QUINCES.

The inferior pieces of quinces can be used for making quince chips, a delicacy more delicious than jelly, and more palatable than quince preserves. Choose quinces, remove all blemishes, and cut the pieces lengthwise by the blade of a steel knife. Weigh or measure the fruit and use the same weight or bulk of granulated sugar for sweetening it. Put the sugar into a white-lined kettle and pour enough water to make a syrup that will be sufficient for cooking the chips. It should about cover the fruit. This is cooked slowly upon the back of the stove and can be placed in the oven to cook more slowly. If turns a dark red and the pieces form a jelly around the chips. This makes a good thing to spread and a glass of it carried in the lunch box is always a pleasant addition to the school lunch. The chips can be cooked slowly for two days, and will only need to be stirred but a few times to prevent them from burning, but this is a habit to cultivate, for little heat is used in preserving them.

Not the Netherwood A. C.

Manager Frederickson, of the Netherwood A. C. nine, states that his team was not the nine defeated by the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp boys Saturday afternoon. The club has no team in the field this year.

MUST NOT SELL OR GIVE CIGARETTES TO MINORS

Cardboard prints of the new cigarette law passed March 17 last have been received in this city and will shortly be posted in conspicuous places. The authorities intend to enforce the law to the letter, and the school officials will co-operate with them to the utmost.

The new law prescribes that anyone furnishing cigarettes or tobacco to persons under eighteen years of age commits a crime. The manner of furnishing the cigarettes has no bearing on the case—a person giving a minor a cigarette is an offender.

Following is the law as presented on the cards:

"Hereafter no person shall furnish cigarettes or cigarette paper or tobacco in any form commonly known as cigarettes, by sale, gift or otherwise, to any minor under eighteen years of age, under penalty of fifty dollars fine or one month in the county jail, or both, at the discretion of the court."

MISS MINNIE HASKINS IS IN BELLEVUE HOSPITAL

Miss Minnie Haskins, daughter of A. L. Haskins, auditor of the American Tobacco Company, who escaped from Cooley's sanitarium last Tuesday by eluding her nurse, with whom she was shopping at Woodhull & Martin's, is in a serious condition in the psychopathic ward at Bellevue Hospital, New York, where she was identified by her brother, A. C. Haskins, who has had the police searching for her for four days. A policeman found Miss Haskins at Pier A late Friday night. She had thrown her purse into the water and witnesses said that she declared that she would jump off the pier. She had just landed from a Staten Island ferry boat.

The fleeing woman could give no account of her wanderings since she left this city, but said she lived at 853 St. Nicholas avenue. It is known that Tuesday night, after leaving Elizabeth, she went to New York, and was seen by a Mrs. Blank of 150 Charlotte street, in the Bronx. Mrs. Blank is a perfect stranger to her, but noticed that she was acting strangely and called her in. Later, when Miss Haskins seemed to be more herself, Mrs. Blank permitted her to leave, presumably for her home. She had very little money when she eluded the nurse in the local store, and her friends are puzzled as to how she has been defraying her expenses since.

DO NOT OVERDO IN TAKING EXERCISE.

It is difficult to impress upon women the good of exercise, but it is equally difficult to compel them not to overdo it.

Give a woman a pair of dumbbells and tell her to take a gentle exercise for five minutes every morning, and she will swing them with violence several times until her arms ache from exhaustion.

Tell her to play tennis during pleasant days, and she will play it for hours without moderation.

It is the same with every form of exercise suggested. It seems the nature of women to overdo. They do not know the value enough to comprehend its danger.

They think if a little is good more is better. They weary themselves out, deplete their heart action, give themselves acute indigestion, all because they will not do in moderation the thing that would make them well and strong.

Doctors and physical culturists say they have to fight this tendency in women more than any other one thing when they are upbuilding their blood and tissues.

A USH FOR QUINCES.

The inferior pieces of quinces can be used for making quince chips, a delicacy more delicious than jelly, and more palatable than quince preserves. Choose quinces, remove all blemishes, and cut the pieces lengthwise by the blade of a steel knife. Weigh or measure the fruit and use the same weight or bulk of granulated sugar for sweetening it. Put the sugar into a white-lined kettle and pour enough water to make a syrup that will be sufficient for cooking the chips. It should about cover the fruit. This is cooked slowly upon the back of the stove and can be placed in the oven to cook more slowly. If turns a dark red and the pieces form a jelly around the chips. This makes a good thing to spread and a glass of it carried in the lunch box is always a pleasant addition to the school lunch. The chips can be cooked slowly for two days, and will only need to be stirred but a few times to prevent them from burning, but this is a habit to cultivate, for little heat is used in preserving them.

Not the Netherwood A. C.

Manager Frederickson, of the Netherwood A. C. nine, states that his team was not the nine defeated by the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp boys Saturday afternoon. The club has no team in the field this year.

BALL FANS DISAPPOINTED

Scotch Plains Team Fails to Show Up For Game With Clinton Avenues

MANAGER FRENTZ EXPLAINS.

Says He Believed Heavy Shower had Left Crescent Oval in No Condition to Play.

Nearly five hundred fans who gathered at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon expecting to see a game between the Clinton Avenues and Scotch Plains team, were doomed to disappointment, for the Plains aggregation failed to show up. The Plainfield team was on the field all ready for the game, but by hard work on the part of the management the grounds were put in good condition for play. Manager Dorflinger received no word from Manager Frentz and, of course, expected that the game would be played.

It is said that the heavy shower during the morning led Manager Frentz to believe that the Oval would not be in condition and receiving no word from Manager Dorflinger, he took it for granted that the contest would be declared off. Manager Dorflinger declared later in the day that if he had had any idea of the conditions he would have been on hand with his team. However, the local fans do not excuse him, for they say that he should have come to Plainfield, and some of the remarks made concerning the Plains management were not at all complimentary.

The teams are scheduled to play at the Oval Labor Day afternoon, and as each manager has posted $25 as assurance of good faith, it is expected the contest will take place. Failure on the part of either team means a forfeiture of the purse, in the absence of the Plains team, a nine was made up of pick-up players on the field and a practice game was played, Clinton Avenue winning in seven innings by a score of 3 to 2. "Phil" Smith, who had no game at Bound Brook, pitched against Randolph and the contest was an interesting one.

FRIEND FEARS CORDOVA IS LOSING HIS REASON

J. Frank Cordova is in Philadelphia out of work, and apparently wandering aimlessly about the city without funds, according to the pastor of an uptown Methodist Episcopal church who knows the unfrocked clergyman, and saw him at Tenth and Arch streets Friday. This pastor declines to permit the use of his name, but says he was walking along Arch street when Cordova passed him, recognized his former friend and hurriedly turned his face aside. Cordova walked rapidly up Arch street without acknowledging the greeting which the other clergyman extended to him.

"The poor man is certainly paying full penalty for his sins," said the clergyman. "His eyes have a wild glare, his clothes were greasy and dirty, he was unshaven, and altogether he looked as little like Cordova of his more prosperous days as it is possible to imagine. I believe the man is going insane."

The Rev. Dr. Ward Melville, the Pennsgrove pastor who met Cordova at the door of the jail in Trenton and helped him to take his way out of the city unobserved, said over the long-distance telephone that he had not heard from Cordova since he left him on the evening following his release; that he did not know whether he is in Philadelphia or not, and that when he saw him Cordova showed no signs of approaching insanity.

It was learned yesterday that immediately after his release Cordova wrote to Miss Bowne that he was coming to her home in North Asbury Park, but that Miss Bowne's father wrote to Cordova forbidding him to ever again meet his daughter. This, it is thought, may have had much to do with Cordova's reported loss of reason. No attempt, so far as is known, has been made by Cordova to communicate with Miss Bowne since his receipt of this letter.

Arranging the Menu.

Many meals are spoiled by not combining foods properly. It is a mistake to serve white and sweet potatoes at the same meal. It is needless wholesome to combine to combine macaroni with one or both of these two starchy vegetables. Always select a green or succulent vegetable to go with the starchy one—and do not repeat the same kind of food at one meal. For instance, do not have tomato soup, stewed tomatoes and tomato salad. Chicken soup should not be served at the same meal with chicken, no should chicken and any other meat be served at the same meal.

Suffers From Blood Poisoning.

Miss Lena Bugger, who has been employed at a home in Duer street, the borough, is detained at her home in Lincoln, with the second attack of blood poisoning of the right foot. She is under the constant care of a physician.

BALL FANS WILL HAVE FULL TICKET

Democrats Announce Party Candidates are to Be in Line for All City Offices.

MAYORALTY NOMINEE SURE.

No Time Had Been Thought of for the Place but Another Man Will Now Oppose Republican Choice.

It was announced authoritatively yesterday by a member of the Democratic City Committee, that the party will nominate a complete city ticket for the approaching election, including a candidate for Mayor to oppose Charles J. Fisk, who will again be the choice of the Republicans, but the committee is not ready to disclose the names. A meeting of the committee will be held either Thursday or Friday night, when it is expected that a decision will be reached as to the probable nominees.

The announcement that James E. Martine has consented to accept the Democratic nomination for sheriff has upset the cut and died plans of local Democracy. It was the intention of the party to nominate Mr. Martine for Mayor and, it was stated by one of the leaders today that sufficient assurance had been received from a host of Republicans that he would undoubtedly be elected. The Plainfield Democrats are completely at sea over the action of Mr. Martine, some of them going so far as to declare that he cannot hope to be elected. His decision to accept that nomination for sheriff they claim is far beneath his dignity.

Efforts were made today to learn the name of the possible Democratic nominee for Mayor, but without avail. A prominent member of the city committee said, however, that the man would be a worthy opponent of Mayor Fisk, one who would command the respect of every voter and would wage a spirited campaign.

FORMER LOCAL PASTOR AT NETHERWOOD CAMP

Rev. A. R. Dilts, of Lowell, Mass., formerly pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, gave a powerful talk at the meeting of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, held in the auditorium Sunday afternoon. He spoke from the topic word "Watch," and emphasized that his hearers should be careful of five things, the initial letters of which form the word "Watch." These are Words, Actions, Thoughts, Conditions and Hearts.

The singing of Miss May Grant, who rendered two soprano solos was a feature of the afternoon's music, which included several gospel hymns sung by the New York children. B. Whaley Frazee, secretary of the Camp committee, led the meeting and was in charge of the devotional exercises. Miss Lucie Cortell presided at the melodeon and a cornet obligato for the singing was furnished by Whitney Frazee and E. H. Guest. Mr. Frazee played "The Ninety and Nine" as the offertory.

New Jersey Corporations.

Certificates of incorporation have been granted at Trenton to the following companies:

The Great Pier Company, Camden; capital, $50,000; incorporators, Curtis T. Baker, William E. Zeller and Herbert E. Harris; to engage in an amusement enterprises.

The Talking Machine Company of New Jersey, East Orange; capital, $1,000; incorporators, Charles O. Geyer, Frank E. Ruggles and H. N. Smith; to manufacture talking machines, etc.

Anheuser-Busch Newark Agency, Newark; capital, $25,000; incorporators, Emil S. Clauss, Edward Stiefel and George Brandt; to manufacture and deal in ale, beer, porter, etc.

Mutual Benefit Real Estate, Wood Lane; capital, $125,000; incorporators, Ama E. Waters, Marius Bergevet and George R. de Montford; to deal in real estate and engage as builders, contractors, etc.

Raritan Bay Realty Company, Keyport; capital, $60,000; incorporators, Edward D. Cronin, Fred Knowlton and C. Q. Dean; to deal in real estate and do a brokerage business.

Creasem Manufacturing Company, Rahway; capital, $5,000; incorporators, Dwight W. Custer, Willis G. Lott and Herman Knubel; to manufacture creasem trousers shapers and hangers, etc.

Society of Universal Science, Rahway; capital, $5,000; incorporators, Edward C. Cronin, Fred Knowlton and C. Q. Dean; to conduct commercial and industrial schools, etc.

New El Dorado Investment Company, Middletown; capital, $125,000; incorporators, J. William Alexander, Jean Chadwick and Moses Harris; to deal in real estate, investments, etc.

The Flatterer.

"So he praised my singing, did he?"

"Yes; he said it was heavenly."

"Did he really say that?"

"Well, not exactly that; but he probably meant that. He said it was unearthly." — Melbourne Weekly Times.

HARTNETT YELLED "BOO"

And It Lead to a Mixup in Which Roundsman Higgins Was Badly Used.

CHIEF KIELY "NECKED" .....

Mistook Officer for Assailant of Patrolman Nolan and Hurled Him to Sidewalk.

In a mix-up on North avenue late Saturday night while Roundsman Morris Higgins and Patrolman Tobias Nolan were yanking Richard Hartnett, twenty-five years old, out of a hallway, the former officer was severely "necked" by Chief Kiely and hurled to the pavement through a mistake. The occurrence was witnessed by a big crowd of people but it happened so quickly that only Nolan realized his superior was in the wrong" and righted matters before the roundsman could receive further rough treatment.

Hartnett is a member of the gang erecting the Public Service gas tank and with six or seven others had been trying all evening to be real bad because they had a little beer aboard. They got into a fight with a Plainfield youth at North and Park avenues shortly before 11 o'clock, and when some one yelled the cops were coming, they ran for their boarding place in the former McVey annex. All got into the hallway and upstairs as Patrolmen Nolan and Payne came from Front street and Roundsman Higgins, in plain clothes, ran up from Watchung avenue, but just to amuse the 200 or more rubbernecks that happened around, they yelled taunts at the officers out of the windows. The latter took their medicine for the time being but Higgns and Nolan determined to wait around in the hope of getting a line of some kind on one or two of them.

Hartnett proved to be more venturesome than the rest so finally up-stairs downstairs in the vestibule he opened the door suddenly, yelled "boo" at Higgins and then darted back before he could be grabbed. It tickled the crowd so much he tried it again and once more he succeeded. Before he could return again, Higgins slipped into the vestibule and as he came back for the third time to say "boo," the officer's foot was shoved over as the door opened and it couldn't be closed. Harnett tried to shut it but without success. Finally he let go and jumped for the stairway but Higgins was after him in a jiff and got him just as he turned at the top of the landing. The ironworker forgot all about saying "boo" and saved his breath in order to hold fast to the balustrade, believing that some of his friends would come to his assistance.

Patrolman Nolan had been across the street watching the upper windows of the place and hurried across when he saw Higgins get inside the door. He quickly climbed the stairs and broke Hartnett's grip by cracking him on the wrist with his night stick. Mr. "Boo" let go so quick all three tumbled down together and went clear through the vestibule to the walk just as Chief Kiely came up on the run, having been attracted by the crowd in the street.

The chief saw the uniform worn by Nolan but failing to recognize Higgins in the dim light because of his plain clothes, thought the patrolman was having a two-cornered battle and sprang to his assistance. The first thing the roundsman knew he was thrown around the throat and then hurled over backward. The thought flashed through his mind that other ironworkers had attacked him from the rear and as he went down, he got a firm grip in Hartnett's hair and the two fell together. He was telling the prisoner close to him as a defense when Nolan realized the mistake and yelled for the chief to hold off. The command came just in time to save the roundsman any further jarring but as it was he had a very stiff neck for the rest of the night.

The fight was all out of Hartnett after the awful grip in his flowing locks. He submitted meekly to arrest and was waltzed over to Sycamore street without a parting word of consolation from the upstairs delegation that egged him on to say "boo."

When arraigned in court Monday morning, Hartnett acknowledged being drunk and admitted that he might have said "boo" and other things to the officers. Judge Runyon gave him one of the severest verbal lashings he has handed out in a long time and then imposed a fine of $15 or twenty days. Hartnett didn't have the money but his friends hustled around to get it.

One Was Enough.

"Dad," said the white-faced lad, "how many cigars does it take to hurt a boy."

"How many have you smoked?"

"That's the number," said dad, and taking down the strap from behind the door he soon convinced the boy that he was right.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Missionary—What is that six-foot box?

Cannibal—That's my lunch box.—The Bohemian.

GEORGE KIRCH NOW ON SOMERSET CO. COMMITTEE

The appointment of George Kirch, of Somerset street, who was recently chosen as member of the Somerset County Democratic Executive committee from the second district of North Plainfield was ratified at a meeting of the Board at Somerville Saturday afternoon. The meeting was held at the Ten Eyck House. Mr. Kirch succeeds Walter C. Linbarger, who became the committeeman from the third district of which he is a member when the ordinance creating this district was passed last week.

Mr. Linbarger was appointed a member of the county campaign committee at Saturday's meeting, and will work with M. W. Scully, the chairman of Somerville, and Horace Coddington, of Warren township, to secure campaign speakers and arrange for meetings. Four more members were elected to the "steering committee," whose work it is to see that all petitions are properly filed. There are now nine workers of this committee.

CANNON AND SHELLS FOR DUNELLEN SCHOOL GROUNDS

Through the influence of Congressman Benjamin F. Howell and the efforts of Augustus F. Todd, of the Dunellen Board of Education, a cannon mounted on a carriage, together with a number of old shells, have been received at Dunellen and will be placed in front of the public school in that place. Mr. Todd has been interested in the matter for some time and it was only through Congressman Howell's aid that it was made possible to get the cannon and shells. It is said that this is the last field piece available for such purposes, it having been obtained from one of the arsenals.

It is planned to place the cannon and shells in position on Labor Day and representatives of the Board of Education will visit Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., tomorrow night for the purpose of extending an invitation for the veterans to be present at the unveiling of the cannon on Labor Day and take part in appropriate ceremonies to be arranged. All of the school children of Dunellen will also attend and there will be addresses suitable to the occasion and a worthy display of patriotism on the part of the children, who will sing national airs and participate in other ways.

ALL SHOULD LEARN TO SWIM.

Every person shold learn to swim if there is any possible opportunity to do so. The tipped boat, the steamer disaster or any of the numerous accidents that will and do occur are responsible for hundreds of deaths because the hapless victims do not know how to swim. We read many simple rules that would be easy for the expert swimmer, but if women or children were suddenly plunged into deep water the timely hints would all end in a struggle. It is always the case. Some people are born with a great fear of water. To them the thought of an ocean voyage means nothing but terror and final disaster. Seldom do such people ever overcome such dread, though they should learn to swim.

It is said that some persons cannot learn. They try mnst earnestly, yet sink every time. Men are listed among these unfortunate ones. If one cannot ever learn, it is wise never to attempt it at all. Already we read of sad accidents caused by boat disasters and the man who rocked the boat has again come to the fore. But it is sincerely hoped that all will soon realize the great danger of such recklessness and not make the rocking boat business a feature of every outing.

Social Features at P. C. C.

Although a kickers' handicap was scheduled in the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, the continued absence of a majority of the members did not bring out a large field. There were, however, a number of golfers on the course who took part in general play. The social features at the clubhouse in the afternoon, together with the dinner-dance in the evening was enjoyed by a large number of members and friends. Commencing with Labor Day and continuing through the fall, there will be a renewal of activities on the course.

TURKEY MINUS CRANBERRIES.

Outlook for a Small Supply for Thanksgiving Dinners.

Cranberry sauce will be an expensive dish of the Thanksgiving dinner next November, according to growers about Burlington. They predict record-breaking prices for the red fruit, the crop in New Jersey, as well as that in Maine, being the poorest in twenty years.

The big bogs around Burlington are almost barren of berries. The one exception is the bog of Thomas G. Gandy. Late spring frosts and summer hailstorms are blamed by growers for the dearth of berries. Hundreds of men, who in former years have found employment picking, will be out of a job this season.

PLAINFIELD A.C. WINS NINTH STRAIGHT GAME

The Plainfield A. C. defeated the Monroe A. C. and won their ninth straight game Saturday afternoon on the Clinton Avenue grounds, by a score of 5 to 4. Slocum pitched for the Plainfield A. C., and for six innings he was not in his usual form, but finished the contest in fine shape. Allan Squier, who pitched for the Monroes, was in excellent condition, having the speed and curves that used to deceive his opponents in the days when he twirled for the Clinton Avenue team, and but for one bad inning would have won his game.

He kept the Plainfields from scoring for six innings, the Monroes scoring in the first, fourth and fifth innings. Their opponents won out in the seventh, scoring all their runs in that session, when Squier gave Hanson a free pass. Pope followed with a single, Luthman bunted safely, filling the bases, and Coriell hit a smashing two bagger scoring the three runs. Hann singled to right, sending Coriell to third and he stole second. Slocum filed out. Driver went out on an infield fly and Mullen singled to left scoring Coriell and Hann. Thompson obtained a single when Mullen was thrown out trying to steal third. The score:

Plainfield A. C.

	R.	H.	E.
Haun, s. s.	1	1	0
Slocum, p.	0	0	0
Driver, c. f.	0	2	0
Mullen, c.	0	4	0
Thompson, 1. f.	0	1	0
Hanson, 2b.	1	1	0
Pope, 1b.	1	1	0
Luthman, 3b.	1	1	1
Coriell, r. f.	1	2	0
	5	13	2

Monroe A. C.

	R.	H.	E.
Apgar, 3b.	0	0	1
Kirkman, s. s.	2	2	1
Allen, 1b.	1	1	0
Squier, p.	1	2	0
Woodruff, c. f.	0	1	0
Fritts, c.	0	1	0
Vail, 2b.	0	1	1
Hann, l. f.	0	1	0
Cullen, r. f.	0	0	0
	4	9	3

Monroe A. C....1 0 0 1 2 0 0 0 0—4
Plainfield A. C....0 0 0 0 0 0 5 0 x—5

Two base hit—Coriell. Bases on balls—off Squier 3, off Slocum, 6. Sturck out—by Squier 10, by Slocum 12. Left on bases—M. A. C. 7, A. C. 5. Umpire—Mr. Walters.

NETHERWOOD CAMP NINE VICTORIOUS, SCORE 7-6

A nine composed of New York boys spending the summer at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp won a hard-fought game from the Netherwood A. C. team Saturday afternoon by a score of 7-6. The game was played on a diamond near the camp grounds.

This is the season's second game and second victory since they have been at the camp. A week ago they trimmed the Fanwood boys' nine by a score of 13-6, and Saturday played like "Choints" against the Netherwood team. They started with three runs in the first and held the lead throughout the game, although their opponents nearly tied even in the ninth. Two pitchers were used, Goldsmith, who is captain and manager for the New Yorkers, and Mulkey. The Netherwood Camp nine lined up as follows: Goldsmith, Mulkey, p; Kenney, 1b; Adams, 2b; William Ott, s. s; Lester Curry, 3b; Monker, rf; Nagle, cf; Gleason, lf. A feature of the game was the playing of Lester Curry, the nephew of Miss Sara Curry, matron of the camp. He accepted some hard chances and was handy with the bat.

TYPHOID SPREADS IN JERSEY.

Physicians Criticise Health Boards Calling Them Inefficient.

Typhoid is epidemic in the southern section of New Jersey as well as in Pennsylvania. The disease is spreading rapidly, and is occasioning alarm and considerable comment, especially among physicians.

The physicians are criticising the laxity of the Health Boards in the larger towns. They do not hesitate to declare that they are inefficient. One physician in Salem commenting upon the situation said:

"The Health Boards in the different towns in this part of the State are indifferent about up-to-date sanitary fixtures and sanitation. The head of the Salem board is a clerk, a layman.

"The State sent an Inspector here a few days ago, and he, too, was a layman. I consider it a great error not to have medical men to fill these positions."

To Foreclose on Biggs.

The goods and chattels of William F. Biggs, of Greenbrook road, will be sold at a mortgage foreclosure sale by Constable William N. Pangborn, attorney for the mortgagee, at the Dr. H. A. Bunker place Friday at 12 noon. The amount due is $1,142.37, and the schedule includes live stock, farm and household furnishings.

RARITAN F. C. DEFEATS THE HIGHLAND A.C., 2-1

After having the game put away and looking like sure winners, the Highland A. C. gave the contest on Saturday to the Raritan Field Club, the score being 3 to 1. The game was played at Raritan and was witnessed by a large crowd. Conshay pitched the kind of ball that should have brought victory, allowing but four hits and fanning ten batsmen. He was also effective in striking out nine men and allowing but four hits.

The Highlands scored one run in the sixth inning. Kyle opened this inning with a two-base hit to left field, Coon sacrificed him to third and Conshay made a bid to win his own game by planting a single in right garden, bringing Kyle home with the single tally. In the eighth with two down, Conshay walked a batter. Mullen then fumbled two easy grounders filling the bases. M. Enright came to the rescue with a single, scoring two runs and winning the game. Particular fact was that during the entire contest but one fly was caught in the outfield. The score:

Highland A. C.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Hurst, 1b	0	0	9	0	2
Mullen, ss	0	0	0	2	2
Trotter, rf	0	0	0	0	0
Curtis, lf	0	1	0	0	0
Newmiller, 2b	0	0	2	2	0
Winters, c	0	1	12	3	0
Kyle, cf	1	1	0	0	0
Coon, 3b	0	1	0	3	0
Conshay, p	0	1	1	3	0
Totals	1	5	24	13	4

Raritan F. C.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Burke, ss	0	1	0	4	0
Scheller, c	0	0	9	4	0
Smith, rf	0	0	0	0	0
J. Enright, lf	0	0	0	0	0
Drake, 3b	0	1	0	2	0
M. Enright, 2b	0	2	4	1	0
Crane, 1b	0	0	13	0	0
Totals	2	4	27	11	0

Score by Innings:

H. A. C.....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1
Raritan.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 x—2

Summary:

Two base hit—Kyle. Earned runs—H. A. C., 1. First base on balls—Conshay, 2. Struck out—Conshay, 10; Ike, 1. Hit by pitcher—Conshay, 1; Ike, 1. Umpire, Sharp. Scorer, J. Mettley. Time of game, 1 hour 20 minutes.

MANY ENTRIES FOR CYCLE CLUB RACES

Entries for the amateur racing events to mark the first annual field day of the Plainfield Cycle Club on Labor Day are being received by Chairman "Jack" Hand of the club committee and some crack amateur riders from Westfield, Newark, Elizabeth and Trenton are to compete in the various events. Aside from a one-third mile race, and a ten-mile handicap, open events, there will be a special one-mile race for local riders and a match race between "Jack" Horner and Harry Warren. Athletic events will be on the day's program, too, and will include a 100-yard dash, sack race and broad jump. The officials of the meet have not yet been announced.

The junction of Park and Maple avenues will be the starting point of all the races and the place where the athletic contests will be held. The one-third mile and one mile will be run over a course from Park avenue to Maple avenue, to Front street, South Plainfield, to Oak Tree avenue, to starting point. The distance of this course is 3½ miles.

The racing events are under the auspices of the National Cycling Association and the N. C. A. rules will be used. The prizes will be jewelry and merchandise. The winner of the ten-mile road race will receive a Pierce bicycle, valued at $50; place winners in the mile will receive medals. A watch, ring and stick-pin will be the awards in the one-third mile.

Reserved Her Verdict.

A gentleman who was no longer young, and who prided himself on his handsome, a child in the presence of her parents:

"Well, my dear, what do you think of me?"

The little one made no reply, and the gentleman continued:

"Well, you don't tell me. Why won't you?"

Two little pat hands tucked the corners of a pinafore into her mouth, as she said archly, in a timid whisper:

"Cause I don't want to be whipped."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Rev. Joseph R. Daniels.

Rev. Joseph R. Daniels, 71 years old, who was pastor of the First Methodist church in Somerville from 1861 to 1863, died Saturday at his home in Ocean Grove. He was a member of the Newark Methodist Conference and of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association.

PARK GOLF CLUB PLAYER BREAKS COURSE RECORD

E. E. Gano, challenger, who defeated W. R. Faber, holder, for challenge trophy number two, at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, by 6 up and 5 to play, lowered the course record in competition, eighteen holes, returning an 83 from scratch, and also lowered the course record for nine holes with a 39. He went out in 42 and returned in 39. Considering that the course was thoroughly soaked and very low, his performance" is all the more remarkable. Bogey for the nine hole course is 40 and the kind of a game Mr. Gano was playing can be judged by the fact that he made the last hole in five, bogey being seven.

In the weekly competition for the President's and Golf Club cups, the best scores posted were as follows: E. E. Gano, 82, 0-82; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 94, 9-85; W. R. Faber, 97, 12-85; R. V. Carpenter, 104, 18-86; L. E. Lough, 107, 21-86; Dr. A. W. Anderson, 103, 9-94; Charles L. Morse, 104, 10-94; W. V. Byard, 110, 6-104.

AH-H, KERCHOO! GOSH, HAY FEVER'S HERE AGAIA

It would be a bold student of the ills flesh is heir to who would attempt to give a comprehensive pathology of the disease that is rightfully regarded as August's own. Of all the cussed, seemingly unnecessary and mysterious ailments that annoy and distress mankind there is none that excels hay fever.

Physicians throw up their hands when a case of hay fever comes to them. There is no such thing as a general form of treatment for it.

While it is in all cases alike in the regularity of its recurrence, coming about August 1 and lasting until frost, it has as many varieties as an old maid in giving reasons for rejecting her suitors in the past.

In other words, it is a disease that requires peculiar individual treatment. Usually a change of scene and air will bring more or less relief. Sufferers at the seashore may find relief in the mountains, and those living at high altitudes may breathe easier and sneeze less, or not at all, when they go to the seashore. Country people may fare better if they go into town, and country life agrees with some hay fever people when they leave the city.

A NEW AND USEFUL WATERPROOF HOOD.

All good things are devised for people who have motorcars—establishing anew the saying that to him that hath shall be given.

It seems, though, as if the new motor hood might be used even by less fortunate beings who can't skim the earth betwixt their own honk-honk and their own odorous trail of smoking gas.

It is exceedingly thin and extra-*ordinary elastic—this new water*proof hood. It folds flatly into a tiny silk rubber case no longer than a folded pocket handkerchief. In its working moments it stretches big enough over the largest hat of this season, feathers and all, and has a little curtain all around the neck to prevent rain or dust sifting in the collar.

Could anything be more convenient to carry in the motor pedestrian pocket, to be whipped out and stretched over one's sacred picture-plumed chapeau at the first drop of rain?

Perhaps some such device will finally banish the ugly umbrella to the limbo where it belongs.

Add to waterproof cloth and storm-proof boots, with some such rain-defying hood drawn over her head, a woman might walk through the pelting torrents umbrellaless and unafraid, incidentally acquiring that beauteous complexion eternal dampness gives her English sister.

Be Comfortable on Ironing Day.

Now that the much desired state of being "well-groomed" demands wrinkleless blouses and skirts—and pinafores, that is, that the laundry bills become "something fierce" to most girls, especially those who have personal charge of their own expenses. They try to "do" their own waists and break their backs over the ironing board and complain most bitterly of fatigue.

Now, though ironing is hard work, it may be much lightened by having the ironing board just the right height. It is the best position that puts the kinks in the back and the temper. Before you order the "horses" made stand erect with the iron in your hand as if ready for work, and have the horses made that height. If others use the board, or if you have to use the supports already made, put your wits at work and find some device by which to raise the board to a height convenient to yourself. Ironing day will lose half its terrors.

DEAD GAME SPORTS PLAYED MEAN TRICK

They are just a couple of sports known as the common or garden variety, and they can be seen frequently adding lustre to North avenue by the brilliancy of their presence. Most all the boys know them in some way or other, one in particular because of the wad of twine that encircles the roll of one-dollar bills he sometimes carries around for display. The other is a "good kid" when he has the coin but he is so frequently embarassed financially that it acts as a bar to close friendship.

They were on the job in custom-order raiment, Friday night, and by the exhibition of a little phony jawbelly and the application of verbal salve they induced two pretty chorus girls to take a cab ride with them after the show. The party journeyed up Somerset street to a resort built on the Rector plan of a dollar-to-look-at-the-silver and made merry while the wherewithal lasted.

It must have given out suddenly because the hosts suddenly struck a see line for town without the formality of asking the girls to come along. Nobody knows how the latter made out before the hotel embargo for the bill was settled, but it is a safe bet when a North Plainfield or Dunellen man sees Johnson's drive wandering about like ships without a compass. He manages to get them to civilization in safety and when they had fully recovered they wanted their late friend arrested on some kind of a charge, just what they didn't know, but finally gave up the idea and charged the affair up to the experience side of the ledger. It is a sure guess that a chorusdom will hereafter have the Indian sign on Plainfield because of the episode.

A large red apple will be awarded the gentle reader who can guess the names of the dead-game sports who can sprint three miles in record time when it becomes necessary.

Patents for Jerseymen.

*Patents that were issued to Jer*seymen August 18, reported by Drake & Company, Newark: Combined cigar cutter and punch, Peter J. Aagland, Jersey City; resilient wheel, S. S. Childs, Bernardsville; spinning top, I. L. Davenport, Camden; coin repository, B. vom Eigen, Newark; spirit-level attachment, A. Forster, Ramsey; shoe-tree, A. Hayden, Jersey City; mechanical movement, U. S. James, Newark; match receptacle, M. Joyce, Elizabeth; Eyeglasses, G. J. Lowrese, Newark; Portable jib crane, H. I. Maxwell and G. C. Gardner, Jr., Trenton; building-block, W. P. Meeker, Newark; Screw or hothouse, P. Minder, Newark; ext acting metal from ores, apparatus for extracting metals from ores, J. H. Reid, Newark; cord-attaching device for shipping tags, C. Rogers, Pemberton; class cutter, F. W. Scully, Plainfield; centrifugal pump, R. Kaiser, Trenton; two, regulator, O. Saugstad, Plainfield; magnetic circuit-breaker, R. Scott, New Brunswick; cooking stove, E. Senn, Egg Harbor City; wood-preserving composition, H. Stokes, Beverly; horse-tie, L. Terhune, Newark; telephone apparatus, J. H. Thompson, Trenton; typewriting machine, C. B. Yaw, Arlington.

Rain Postpones Game.

The weather conditions on Saturday caused a postponement of the ball game scheduled between Farmington and the West Ends, of Somerville, at the latter place. Later when it cleared off a contest was arranged at Somerville between the R. S. A. and the Poinsett Ivies, the latter team winning by a score of 12 to 7, seven innings. Saturday the Clinton Avenues will cross bats with the West Ends at Somerville.

Matinee Races Postponed.

The matinee race meet scheduled for Saturday at the driving park under the auspices of the Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club, was postponed until next Saturday on account of the rain. Although it cleared off about noon the heavy downpour of the morning left the track in a condition that would not permit trotting. The program as planned for last week will be given on Saturday.

MAGAZINE READERS

SUNSET MAGAZINE
Beautifully illustrated, good stories and articles about California and all the Far West. $1.50 a year.

CAMERA CRAFT
Devoted each month to the latest ideas, processes and practices of the best workers of amateur and professional photographers. $1.00 a year.

BOAT OF A THOUSAND WONDERS
eBook of 75 pages, containing 120 colored photographic views of "horses" made stand erect with the iron in your hand as if ready for work, and have the horses made that height. If others use the board, or if you have to use the supports already made, put your wits at work and find some device by which to raise the board to a height convenient to yourself. Ironing day will lose half its terrors. $0.75

Total . . $3.25

All for . . . $2.50

Address all orders to
SUNSET MAGAZINE
Flood Building San Francisco

Sanitary Plumbing

Hot and Portable Furnace
Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing,
Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner. Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. LITTELL

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL
The new barber shop at
143 NORTH AVE.
Is now open ready for business.
All the latest appointments in the tonsoria line.
EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

DIME
Savings Institution,
Of Plainfield, N. J.,
Is now receiving deposits with interest allowed on all sums from $5 to $5,000.
J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. A. Arnold, } Vice-Pres
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.
Money deposited on or before January 10th will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.
Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel appointing agents, others to open offices and look after our interest. Good salary guaranteed, paid weekly; extra commissions and expenses, paid advancement; old established house; rare chance for earnest man or woman to secure permanent, honorable, profitable income and future. New, brilliant lines. Write quick.
STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn

FOR AGENTS—AN OPPORTUNITY!
"THE OLD WORLD AND ITS WAYS"
BY
William Jennings Bryan.
NOW READY FOR SOLICITORS.
576 Imperial Octavo Pages. Over 200 Superb Engravings from photographs taken by Mr. Bryan.
Recounts his trip around the world and his visits to all nations. The great book of travel ever written. The people are waiting for it. The agent's harvest. Outfit FREE—Send fifty cents to cover mailing and handling.
THE THOMPSON PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo. 7 26 3 o

W. S. CODDINGTON,
Counsellor-at-Law
Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

New Jersey Supreme Court

Notice is hereby given that a writ of attachment issued out of the New Jersey Supreme Court against the rights and credits, moneys and effects, goods and chattels, lands and tenements of Lydia A. Mayhew, of the city of Rudolph Kirk, for the sum of Eight Thousand Dollars, returnable June 2, 1908, has been served on me, executed and returned this May 25, 1908.
TERNEY A. MAYHEW,
Attorneys of Plaintiff.
6 6 6 35 Frederick Place, Jersey City, N. J.

DIED.

STRYKER—On Wednesday, August 19, 1908, Sarah D., widow of John H. Stryker, of Somerville, in her 68th year.

EDWARDS—On Thursday, August 20, 1908, Emma P. Edwards, wife of Charles A. Edwards, and daughter of the late Amasa A. and Malvina S. Goold.

PAXSON—At her late residence, 1111 East Front street, on Friday, August 21, 1908, Katherine V., wife of James G. Paxson.

BUXTON—At San Jose, Ill., on Monday, August 24, 1908, Bentley Buxton, aged 72 years.

LUMBER FIRMS ORGANIZE

Dealers Along Jersey Central Will Weed Out Undesirable Customers.

AGREE ON METHODS OF CREDIT.

Meeting in This City Last Night Followed By Banquet at Hotel Kensington.

For the purpose of protecting their interests and weeding out the, undesirable and irresponsible contractors who have been their customers in the past, the lumber dealers along the line of the New Jersey Central, between Roselle and Somerville, met at the Hotel Kensington, this city, Wednesday, by mutual agreement formed a credit association in an informal way. No officers were elected, but it is probable that another meeting will be held in a short time to perfect permanent organization.

In the meantime the dealers will be governed by information and suggested last night regarding the method of giving credit. It was admitted by all of the dealers present that they have in the past been victims of irresponsible contractors and in consequence lost considerable money. It was stated that there are contractors who take work for practically the actual cost of a building and failing to make any profit, the lumber dealer is usually the first one to get hit. It is with a view to stopping this practice that the dealers have combined for their own protection. They hope, within a short time, to get full information as to who are responsible and who are not among the contractors in this part of the State.

Following the meeting last night the dealers were tendered a banquet at the Kensington. The following firms were represented: J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company, Boies, Runyon & Co., McDonough Brothers, of Plainfield; J. S. Irving and Tuttle Brothers, of Westfield; Bachman-Vechte Lumber Company, of Roselle; L. D. Cook & Co., of Bound Brook, and Sargeant Brothers, of Somerville.

BLINDS WOMAN WITH PEPPER TO STEAL GEMS

In a desperate effort to steal a diamond ring from the jewelry store of Nathan Schwartz, No. 1422 Third avenue, New York, Thursday, a yung man giving his name as William Armstrong, of this city, dashed red pepper into the eyes of Mrs. Schwartz, temporarily blinding her.

Armstrong entered the store and asked to be shown a diamond ring at a price not greater than $125. Mrs. Schwartz spread out several rings before him and then showed him one worth $145.

"That looks like a pretty good stone," he said. "I'll put the glass on it." He reached into his pocket, but instead of a lens he drew forth a can of red pepper and dashed the contents into Mrs. Schwartz's eyes. At the same instant he grabbed up the stone and ran out of the door.

Screaming for help and blinded by the pepper, Mrs. Schwarz managed to reach the sidewalk. The thief by this time was 100 feet away. Her cries, however, drew the attention of bandmen on a float including Detectives Sydecker and Voze, of the East Twenty-eighth street Police Station. They saw the fleeing man and ran after him. He led them up Eighty-first street, across Lexington and Park avenues, and finally, as he was rounding the corner of Madison avenue, they overhauled him.

In spite of the long run he had made, the fellow was still able to put up a hard fight. The ring was found upon him. In the Yorkville Court he was held in $1,000 bail.

Armstrong gave his age as 20 years, but refused his address in Plainfield. The city directory contains no William Armstrong and inquiry has failed to locate him.

The injury to the eyes of Mrs. Schwarz was very painful, but is said not to be dangerous.

Backing Up Grandpa.

A court-martial was held, with grandma as president.

"Johnnie," she said, "who destroyed those flowers?"

Johnnie thought a moment. Then: "Sister Kathleen," he said.

"Now, then," reproved grandpa, "be a man! Tell the truth! Say I did it."

A beaming smile of relief illumined Johnnie's countenance.

"Oh, yes," he cried, "that's right, Grandpa did it!"—Philadelphia Record.

An Eye-Opener.

Sleepy Guest—Hallos! Is it 7 o'clock? I declare I am so sleepy that I can't open my eyes.

Head Waiter (who has knocked at the door)—I'll bring you your bill, sir, if you like.—Tit-Bits.

Ido's Hollowness.

"That feller is a false friend."

"Why do you say that?"

"He don't dare no more for me than I do for him, and I know it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

APPENDICITIS FATAL TO MRS. SARAH F. STRYKER

Mrs. Sarah F. Stryker, widow of John H. Stryker, of Somerville, died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Hamilton, on East Seventh street, where she had lived for the past two years. Although she had been ill for the past two months, her death was due to a recent severe attack of appendicitis, which did not respond to the treatment given. Owing to her advanced age, being sixty-eight years, it was not thought advisable to perform an operation.

Mrs. Stryker was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ames, and was born at Canaan, Wayne county, Pennsylvania. Mr. Ames was for several years an instructor in the Military Academy at West Point, while her grandfather, Col. Schenck, was a prominent figure in the Revolutionary War, forming a company and equipping it at his own expense. Mrs. Stryker lived in Somerville for many years and while there was a member of the Second Reformed church, of which Rev. Dr. E. G. Read is the pastor.

Following her husband's death she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Hamilton, who then lived at Dunellen. Two years ago the family moved to this city and Mrs. Stryker bought the property where they resided on East Seventh street. After coming here Mrs. Stryker identified herself with the First Presbyterian church, where her daughter and husband were members. One daughter, Mrs. Hamilton, and a son, John H. Stryker, of Providence, R. I., also a sister, Mrs. E. H. Annin, of Somerville, and a brother, J. H. Ames, of Hawley, Pa., survive.

DR. DUNDON IMPERILED BY CRAMPS WHILE BATHING

Dr. A. H. Dundon, of Somerset street, who is spending his vacation at Atlantic City, in company with his friend, Dr. Richard English, of Danbury, Conn., had a very narrow escape from drowning while bathing in the surf Thursday off Virginia avenue. The doctor was a little venturesome and was swimming out beyond the ropes when he was suddenly seized with a cramp in the left leg.

Dr. English, who was a swimming close by, notices his companion's condition and hastened to his rescue. Although a good athlete and a strong swimmer he had considerable difficulty in bringing his friend to shore and then he was obliged to work fully fifteen minutes before the cramp disappeared. The doctor was thoroughly frightened by his experience and declared that when he goes in the water again he will remain in the safety zone.

FORMER BOROUGHITE STILL KEPT IN JAIL

Furman Lang, the former well known North Plainfielder, who was arrested a few months ago, charged with embezzling money by Phil Weigel, jr., for whom he worked, is still detained in jail at New Brunswick. While he will not talk for publication it is known that he feels that he is being wronged in being detained.

His friends have been trying to straighten out the muddle in which he has found himself, but the process is slow. It is understood that he could have secured bail long ago, but that he refused to leave on bail, preferring to have his case disposed of.

*The Grand Jury has been in ses*sion several times since he was jailed, but it did not conclude his case. If it took it up. It is understood that friends of the man have been trying to settle the case with Mr. Weigel, but that they cannot come to terms as to the amount of the shortage.

It is likely that nothing will be done in the case until the next term of court.

"NEW BABYLAND."

Summer Resident, Inspired by Muse, So Describes Fanwood.

A summer resident at Fanwood, who has noted that a certain Rooseveltian theory has been lived up to in the pretty suburb, contributes the following to the Daily Press:

NEW BABYLAND.

"Over in Fanwood, do you know
There is the place where babies grow?
Babies of every shape and size,
With dreamy blue and darkest eyes.
Babies with hair, and ones without,
Babies who laugh and coo and pout.
Some are wee girls, and others boys,
But all can cry, and make a noise.
Last summer not a babe was here,
And this news reached a good stork's ear,
Who laughed and said, "I'll alter this."

People need babies to love and kiss.
He flapped his wings and flew away,
Reached Fanwood on a wintry day,
Scattering babies everywhere;
He left so many, I do declare,
You cannot look to left or right
Without a babe being in sight.
If you should doubt this story true,
Some afternoon I'll call for you,
And we'll walk down the village street
To see how many babes we'll meet."
M. R. GARRETTSON ANDREW.

HUDSON TUBES TO BE READY BY JANUARY 1

From officials of the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Company it was learned yesterday that the entire chain of New York and New Jersey tunnels known as the McAdoo system will be completed and in operation by January 1 or before that date.

On the Manhattan side the work will be practically finished within ninety days. The tunnel in Sixth avenue is now completed up to Twenty-seventh street. From that point to Thirty-third street, the northern terminus, the excavation work will be done in a short time, and it is altogether probable that trains will be running between Herald Square and Hoboken before Christmas. No definite plans are announced concerning the terminal structure at Thirty-third street.

The work south tubes between the Cortlandt street terminal and Jersey City are practically finished under the river and the work of concreting and laying tracks under Cortlandt and Fulton streets is progressing at the rate of twelve feet a day. Contractors in charge of this part say they will have all the work done and the streets repaved before Thanksgiving. Trains will then be run from Cortlandt and Fulton streets to Jersey City.

On the Jersey side less than half a mile of tunnel remains to be built between Hoboken and Jersey City. This section extends along the river front and takes in the Erie Railroad station, which is nearly finished. At the present rate of progress the tubes should be completed four months all of the work between Jersey City and Hoboken would be completed, when trains may make the entire circut, taking in Manhattan points from Cortlandt street to Herald Square *and tapping all of the railroads be*tween Hoboken and Jersey City on the Jersey side.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT JOHN BRITTON'S FUNERAL

There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including delegations from Plainfield lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., and Washington camp, P. O. S. A., of this city, and Somerset lodge, No. 42, I. O. O. F., of Somerville, at the funeral service of John Britton, which was held at his late home on Orange place, yesterday afternoon at 1:30. The Rev. Dr. J. Shoop, pastor of Grace M. E. church, officiated at the house, while the Odd Fellows conducted their ritualistic service at the grave

There was a profusion of floral tributes, including large set pieces from Mr. Britton's employers, the women employes of the skirt factory, where he was employed as a nought watchman, from the two lodges of Odd Fellows, a horseshoe from Washington camp, P. O. S. of A., a pillow from the widow, bearing the inscription, "Husband," and one from three children, bearing the word "Father," and several smaller pieces from near neighbors.

The pall-bearers, all Odd Fellows, were James Clarkson, Peter Doeringer, Charles P. Meyer, Casper Wagner, John Becker and John Striker. At Hillside Cemetery, where the burial took place, Harvey Schmeyer acted as noble grand for the lodge and Fred Becker as chaplain. They conducted the Odd Fellows' service, according to the ritual of the lodge.

Entertained Sunday-school Class.

Miss Edith Roseberry, a teacher in the primary department of Hope chapel Sunday-school, entertained about a dozen members of the class at her home, 27 West Front street Thursday afternoon. The children were given a royal good time, and features of the afternoon's pleasures were a peanut hunt and a donkey party, for which prizes were awarded. Late in the afternoon refresh*ments* were served in the dining room, where the predominating color scheme was red and white. Among those present were Hugo Hartpense, Peter Cowling, Harold Ackerman, Clifford Edmunds, Ralph Brown, Charles Bradford, Rufus Larew, Peter C. Sweeney, Mrs. Rufus Larew, Mrs. Claude Roseberry, the Misses Helen, Edith, Margaret and Ida Roseberry and Miss Malda Larew.

Working His Way Through College.

Joseph Jones, colored, of this city, a graduate of the Plainfield High School, and now a sophomore at Oberlin College, is devoting his summer vacation to the sale of a set of study books, as a means of obtaining money to help him through college. He carries a letter of recommendation from Rev. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, and thus far has had good success. He evidently hopes to study medicine and make that his life work.

Returned From Europe.

H. Russell Voorhees, of Carlton avenue, traveling manager of a New York advertising agency, has returned from Europe. Mr. Voorhees has been abroad several months on a business trip, introducing American advertising ideas, and has visited the principal cities in Great Britain, France, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, etc. He states he has had a pleasant and interesting trip.

SAYS AFFINITY 'BUFFED IN'

George Wieda So Charges in Petition Against His Wife for a Divorce.

ASKS AN ABSOLUTE DECREE.

Alleges That Albert Grieb, a Former West Ender, Is the Soul Mate Who Intruded at His Home.

A petition for divorce has been filed in the Court of Chancery at Trenton by George E. A. Wieda, of Race street, the borough.

In his petition Mr. Wieda charges that he was married at the German Reformed church in North Plainfield on June 28, 1899, by the Rev. George Hauser, and that he lived with his wife at 64 Race street until December 15, 1907, when she suddenly left his house and he later learned that she had gone to New York. He charges that she has ever since remained in the metropolis with Albert Grieb, and that Grieb was her "affinity" and that he "butted" in his home just about the time she left and that ever since she left she has been living with them in New York, 161 West street, New York, as his wife.

Wieda charges his wife with a statutory crime and names Grieb as co-respondent. The petitioner says that he has two children and he asks for their custody and for an absolute divorce from his wife. Mrs. Wieda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Kelcher, of Race street.

Mr. Wieda is well known in the city and borough. He is a confectioner by occupation and, formerly conducted a business on West Front street.

Albert Grieb, who is named by the petitioner as the soul-mate of the defendant, is also well known to local people. He is a young man who resided in the West End until a short time ago.

CORDOVA WRITES OF HIS PRISON AGONIES

In a letter written to a friend in Newark and forwarded Thursday from Annandale by his classmate, Rev. S. S. Kemble, of this city, J. Frank Cordova, the unfrocked pastor, tells of the "agonies" he went through while serving his sentence in the State prison. He declines to disclose his whereabouts, because he is surrounded, he says, by many who wish him evil.

"You cannot imagine," he write, "what it is to suffer the agonies that I have for the last three years and a half, and then to have it come to a close in such an exciting manner as that of an automobile race, but what be the use to complain? It is merely a continuation of the past, for, indeed, I do not believe that there is another man living or dead who ever encountered what I have."

Cordova complains of being persecuted more than any other man. He cites the case of Mayor Belcher, of Paterson, and of the Rev. Jere Cook, who deserted a wife and family and eloped with Florette Whaley, as instances in which the persecution ceased in a short time, and then he continues:

"I sincerely thank God that I have lived through it all and that, though for one whole year I did abandon myself to worry and grief, I have lived through it and that I am not a wreck of my former self.

"I remember the time the mental agony became so intense that I forgot even my multiplication tables. I had to turn them over and over for the first time in my life and, thinking that there is nothing better than mathematics as a sort of mental gymnastics, I went in for them with very gratifying results, but it was hard. At one time I seemed also to have lost my power to spell, and I could hardly write at all, but I came by and by, though not as well as before, as this poor letter shows."

The unfrocked minister then describes some of the persons he met while in prison. Some he referred to as:

"The incarnation of the lowest form of meanness to whom nobility was an unattainable thing. These men were a riddle and an enigma to me. I could not understand how such traits can be contained in a human body. But to judge all the rest by such, as the public is prone to do, is unfair and a great error. There are many men who have with market traits of nobility. Oh! that the world was more charitable."

Double-Deck Bill Board.

The Newark Bill Posting Company is erecting a large double-deck bill board at East Third and Church streets. The upper half has been leased to Hahne & Co., of Newark, and the lower half will be used for bill posting purposes.

South Bound Brook Rateables.

The rateables in the borough of South Bound Brook have been increased about $103,000 in the Bound Brook borough the increase is about $500,000.

EIGHTEEN HOUSES TO BE ERECTED ON LOCAL TRACTS

There is a building boom on in the tract of land owned by the Central Park Realty Company, formerly the Martine property, also in the Netherwood section of the city, and eighteen houses are to be erected at once by Miss Clara Biddle, of Philadelphia, who, through her attorney, Isaac P. Runyon, of this city, filed thirty mortgages in the Union county register's office Wednesday, covering the property to be improved.

The building of these houses will be in charge of Ernest T. Sharpe, of the Central Park Realty Company, and they are to be modern in every respect. Mr. Sharpe formerly lived in Baltimore before coming to this city, and it is through his acquaintance with Miss Biddle that she decided to build several dwellings in this city. It is expected that eventually the total number of houses to be erected will reach thirty, at least. The work on the first eighteen will be started at once.

MANY SALES AND RENTALS THROUGH FRENCH AGENCY

The following sales and rentals have been made recently by the real estate agency of Elston M. French, through the Plainfield and New York offices:

The property owned and occupied by Mrs. Mary A. White, at Willow and Rockview avenues, has been sold to D. Levis Moore, of Philadelphia, who will occupy the same, after making extensive alterations and additions to the property. The house known as "The Homestead," 29 Washington avenue, owned by W. J. R. Hegeman, has been rented to Mrs. Hulda Petersen. Charles B. Pope's home, 34 Grove street, has been rented to Mrs. Mary A. White, from October 1. William L. Perrin, formerly of 9 Rockview terrace, has rented his house to Mrs. Mary C. Mulvany, of New York, and Mr. Perrin has rented the property at 44 Grove street. The property formerly owned by William Iverson, consisting of about eight acres of ground, at New Market, has been sold to Anna Hall, of New York. George T. Rogers, of Myrtle avenue, has rented his property, furnished, to Mrs. Ella Smith, of New York.

The house owned by Mrs. W. Griscom, 21 Arlington avenue, has been rented for the summer, furnished, to Walter T. McIndoe, of New York. Mrs. G. W. F. Randolph's property, 116 Carlton avenue, has been rented to William H. Wooton, who formerly lived at 734 Carlton avenue. A. J. Manning's property on Martine avenue, has been rented to John G. Saxton, an artist, of New York. Joseph W. Sanford's property, 183 Martine avenue, has been rented to William G. McCune, auditor of the Otis Elevator Company. George J. Whelan, president of the United Cigar Stores Company, has taken a three years' lease on the property owned by Mrs. Myers, 525 East Front street. Edward W. Sherer, secretary and treasurer of the Metropolitan Savings Bank of New York, has rented Mrs. L. P. ogers' property, 518 East Front. J. H. Leggett, who formerly occupied the Jewett property on Central avenue, has rented George H. Chapman's house on Stelle avenue, on a long lease.

H. L. Roberts, of Vineland has rented former Mayor Smalley's property on Willow avenue. Silas P. Wood, of New York, has rented J. D. Loizeaux's house on Evergreen avenue. William Pullard, formerly of Sidney, has rented Mrs. P. Smith's house on Westfield avenue. Ewart has renewed his lease on the property at 20 Rockview avenue, owned by Mrs. Weir-Lewis. Mr. Campbell has rented the property at 27 Rockview avenue, owned by the Haviland estate. The store adjoining Mrs. Dench's on the corner building, has been rented to H. Brinker, of New York, who is conducting a jewelry store there. Mr. Miller, of West Front street, has rented the new store erected by U. B. Crane, opposite Woodhull & Martins.

Twelve lots in Highland Park, on Emerson avenue, have been sold to Mrs. Jessie L. Smith, of Ocean Grove. The farm owned by the Highland Park Realty Company, at Millington, has been sold to Edward A. Lane, of this city. Mrs. Lane is from Ocean Grove, has purchased the Central Hotel property at Scotch Plains, from H. R. Linbarger. William R. Kastendike, of East Orange, has purchased the seventy-two acre farm formerly owned by the Highland Park Realty Company, near New Market. Mr. Partridge, of New York, has purchased the house at 27 Watson avenue, East Orange, of the Highland Park Realty Company. William Nelson, of Philadelphia, has bought a large farm in Somerset county, near Somerville. Dr. Parker, of Somerville, has purchased eight houses in Philadelphia through this agency. Elston M. French has purchased a large apartment house on East 135th street, New York, from Mrs. Smith, of Ocean Grove.

MARTINE UP FOR SHERIFF

County Democrats Prevail Upon Him to Agree to Nomination.

TENTATIVE SLATE GIVES OUT

Jere A. Kiernan, Frederick Ricke and William F. Brower the Probable Assembly Nominees.

For Sheriff—James E. Martine.
For Assembly—Jere A. Kiernan and Frederick Ricke, of Elizabeth, and William F. Brower, of New Providence.
For Coroner—Dr. Otto Wagner, of Elizabeth.

Such is the tentative slate fixed up by the Union county Democrats on their outing to Witzel's Point View Grove, Thursday the greatest political excursion that ever drew away from Elizabeth. Twelve hundred party folk were on board the steamer and the situation and chances for victory in the fall were discussed for hours.

The slate given is not merely a guess, but the formal announcement made by County Chairman William E. Tuttle, Jr., speaking for the committee. The name of Martine, for that is what it amounts to, is a complete surprise. The farmer orator declared only three days ago that he would positively not accept the Shrievalty nomination, nor any other for that matter. The committee had to use all the persuasive powers at its command to get him to change his mind, and finally succeeded.

Mr. Martine declared that, although he accepted only after being pressed hard, he meant to go into the fight to win and would wage the most strenuous campaign he know how. It means one of the stiffest fights ever seen in Union county, for Martine carried the county against Fowler for Congress by over 200 votes, and is sure to give Robert J. Kirkland, who will be the Republican candidate, the run of his life. Before this Kirkland's election was unanimously conceded. It is understood that General Dennis F. Collins had much to do with bringing about the naming of Martine.

The Assembly ticket was decided upon also after much pulverizing. Naming two men from Elizabeth is something of a departure for this county, but was probably done in view of the expected nomination of two by the Republicans. John P. Owens, of Plainfield, was in the fight for awhile, but Frederick Ricke, one of last year's candidates, was ultimately substituted. Jere A. Kiernan an Elizabeth lawyer, was induced to run only by much persuasion.

No man was slated for the nomination for State Senator, for the simple reason that no candidate was available. Martine had been mentioned for this, as he had for almost every other honor. William E. Tuttle, Jr., has been spoken of for Sheriff extensively, and there was some use of his name yesterday in connection with the Senatorship, but he has said that he will not run for any office.

The boom on General Dennis F. Collins for Mayor of Elizabeth was much in evidence. It was, in fact, the most conspicuous thing on the excursion. Most everybody wore a Collins button. A great banner bearing his portrait had the most conspicuous place in the dining-hall, overshadowing that of William Jennings Bryan. Everywhere the opinion seemed to be that his nomination was a foregone conclusion. Nevertheless, the committee is that he won't get it without a fight, for the indications are that John S. Bauer, chairman of City Democratic committee, will enter the field against him.

The excursion carried Democrats from every part of the county, most of them workers in the ranks, and the feeling seemed to be that this is going to be a Democratic year. "I believe," said Chairman Tuttle, "that we will swing Union to the Democratic side of the ledger this fall, because the rank and file is dissatisfied with present conditions."

There were, of course, the usual excursion diversions, and the big iron steamboat Sirius didn't get back to Elizabeth until about 10:30 p. m., after having gone round Coney Island on its way home to give the crowd a chance to view the illuminations.

Clever Noah.

Brown—"I say, Jones, can you tell me who was the greatest financier that ever lived?"

Jones—"No, I can't."

Brown—"Well, it was Noah."

Jones—"How do you make that out?"

Brown—"Well, Noah was able to float a company when the whole world was in liquidation. See?"—Philippine's Gossip.

Non-Reversible.

Lang—Didn't you tell me that you made yourself solid with Mrs. *Vane by asking her if she was her*self or her daughter—couldn't tell 'em apart, and so on?

Strang—I did. What about it?

Lang—Why, I tried the same gag with the daughter, and it didn't go for a cent.—Boston Transcript.

BOROUGH RATABLES JUMP

Tax Assessor Cooley Says the Tax Rate Will Certainly Be Lower.

THE INCREASE IS 30 PER CENT.

Report of Movement by Somerset County Assessors Raises Borough Property to Full Valuation.

In accordance with a general movement on the part of tax assessors throughout Somerset county, Assessor Justus H. Cooley, of North Plainfield, announced Friday that North Plainfield ratables would be subjected to an increase of 30 per cent on their present value when the next tax bills come out. He emphatically denied the rumor that this would cause an increase in the tax rate. "The borough tax rate," he said, "will be lower than last year, because of the fact that more money will come into the county, there will be a larger school money apportionment under the Perkins law."

"The property valuation in North Plainfield," Mr. Cooley continued, amounted last year to more than three millions of dollars. With this increase of 30 per cent, we will be figuring up nearly five million dollars' worth of ratables when making the assessments. This is the true valuation rate of the borough.

"Two years ago several counties raised their valuations a good deal. I suppose this increase amounts to a doubling of the county ratables. This means that these counties now are getting larger apportionment of the school money. Throughout Somerset county, the assessors have been part of this plan of increasing the ratables and have all fallen in line. The county apportionment is always according to the ratables and borough valuations are now based on true valuations.

"I cannot say now what the new tax rate in the borough will be, but it will be lower than the present rate. This is because of the money we will receive for the schools from the railroad law. Former Mayor Smalley and m yself were at Somerville last Tuesday at the meeting of the county assessors, and the increase in ratables is universal. The borough book have been left there for examination and we are to meet again the second Tuesday in September, after which time it will be possible to figure quite accurately on the probable tax rate."

HOBOKEN POLICE CHIEF FINED FOR AUTO SPEEDING

Justice W. A. Houssell's famous automobile trap on the Metuchen road, which was fixed for a few days by the law committee of the Automobile Club had charged that it was short in measurements, was working again Friday, and one of the first captures of Constable Lundy was an official looking man.

"I am the chief of police of Hoboken, Martin Daab, jr., and this is William Ochsle, a State official," said one of the men.

"Our record shows that you covered a quarter mile course in twenty-five and a quarter seconds. You will have to accompany me to the judge's office," replied Constable Lundy.

"My, my, I didn't think it was in the machine," said the policeman, admiring the car.

The constable brought the men to this city, as Justice Houssell doesn't hold court in Metuchen and the Automobile Club criticised it, but makes the defendants come all the way to this city. The chief had to pay a $5 fine.

Thomas Reilly, of Philadelphia, said that the Pennsylvania roads are so bad that he couldn't make any time on them, and that if he had been trying to make up lost time in New Jersey. His novel excuse saved him from a fine.

Justice Houssell says he is willing to co-operate in any plan that will stop the speeding of automobiles on public highways, and that if the auto club does not string the banner he will do it himself.

The Yankee Character.

A New England clergyman was taking breakfast one Sunday morning in a hotel in a little Western town. A rough old fellow across the table called to him: "Goin' to the races, stranger?"

The clergyman replied: "I don't expect to."

"Goin' to the ball game?"

"No."

"Well, where are you goin'?"

"I'm going to church?"

"Where did you come from?"

"New England."

"Oh, that explains it! That's where they keep the Sabbath and every other blamed thing they can by their hands on."—The Argonaut.

Silliens.

Silliens—I suppose second thoughts are always best.

Cynicus—Yes, especially in a case of love at first sight.—Philadelphia Record.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 30, 1903.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic—Foreign missions. Cyrus Hamlin and missions in Turkey.—I Cor. ix. 19-23.

Turkey, or the Ottoman empire, is an extensive kingdom, consisting of territories of large dimensions in Asia, Europe and Africa. The social conditions of the people vary largely, according to the part of the empire in which they live. It includes many of the phases of life, from the tent life of the Kurds to the life of the city, which is generally patterned after the life of Europe. The government of the empire is autocratic and is often called "theocratic." The sultan, as caliph, is the absolute head of the church as well as of the Turkish church, which is Mohammedan.

To set forth in anything like detail the religious conditions in Turkey would require a volume. In a general way it may be said that the people of Turkey are Mohammedan or Christian. In this ancient empire the three great forms of Christianity are represented—the Greek, the Roman Catholic and the Protestant. The Protestantism of Turkey resembles very nearly that of England and America. The supreme doctrine emphasized is Luther's great dogma—justification by faith. The form of worship is simple and nonliturgical. This is due to the opinions of the missionaries and also to the repugnance of converts to forms, which before their conversion had given them no soul satisfaction.

The territory of Turkey is well covered by missionary societies. The empire is divided among a goodly number of the great Protestant denominations, and there is no interference or overlapping, and the work is more successfully done. Among these are the Presbyterians, Methodists and the Reformed Presbyterians. Of all the A. B. C. F. M., the oldest in the field, comprises the largest territory. Turkey needs Christ badly, and we should do our part through our denominations to send Him to it.

Cyrus Hamlin was one of the conspicuous individual workers in Turkey, especially along educational lines in Constantinople. He was born near Waterford, Me., Jan. 5, 1811, and died in Lexington, Mass. His autobiography, entitled "My Life and Times," should be read by every Endeavorer. When but an infant his father died. His mother was very poor, and later on he began to learn the jewelry trade. But, discovering later a love for books, he gave up his trade and with money earned by himself alone graduated from Bowdoin college and Bangor Theological, another illustration of how American boys can do who are persistent and persevering.

In 1838 as a missionary he sailed for Turkey, and from that year until 1873 he labored in Constantinople, the Turkish capital. In 1852-4 an English clergyman traveling in the east was deeply interested in Hamlin's educational work. Hamlin was a hard student and soon mastered Armenian, Turkish and modern Greek. In the face of almost unsurmountable difficulties he established a theological seminary. His other and his enduring educational work was the building of Robert college at Constantinople. Christopher Robert furnished the money for the college, but Hamlin built it and became its first president when it was opened in 1863. In 1873 he returned to the United States and became a professor at Bangor seminary, having given nearly half a century of labor to educational missions in Constantinople.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. xxxv. 1-12; Ill. 1-7; lxii. 6-12; Nah. i. 15; Ps. xcvi. 3-10; Acts i. 1-8; xvii. 11; Rom. x. 14, 15; Acts xiii. 1-3; Rev. xxii. 17.

Under Dr. Clark's Umbrella.

Dr. Clark, the founder of Christian Endeavor, during his life at college gave a good deal of time and energy to a mission Sunday school, in which he labored and proved his power to win and help young people. Among the workers at that mission was Miss Harriet Abbott, a bright, vivacious, enthusiastic young lady of honorable New England descent. Her family reckoned among its ancestors John Alden, the friend of Miles Standish and the lover of Priscilla. Her grandfather and father had both been honored ministers. As it happened, her sisters had married ministers, and Miss Harriet Abbott has since confessed to intimate friends that she had settled it positively in her own mind that, whatever else might happen to her, she would not marry a minister—there were ministers enough in the family already.

But the work at the little school led to a pleasant friendship with the earnest young student, and one stormy Saturday evening as she walked home from the mission under the shelter of Dr. Clark's umbrella a question was asked and answered which made two lives one and gave the man who was to be the founder of the Y. P. S. C. E. the ideal helpmeet.—Irish Endeavorer.

Good Work in South Africa.

Rev. J. Tolefree Parr in a speech delivered some time ago in England said: "I found Christian Endeavor rendering the very highest service to the churches of South Africa. The Dutch have 291 societies, with 8,000 members; the English-speaking unions have 230 societies, with 4,000 members."

Sail and Rudder.

The Christian Endeavor society is the sail of a small church and the rudder of a large one.—Rev. Russell H. Conwell, D. D.

A LITTLE HOMILY ON THE BATHING SUIT.

Since the day of the bathing suit is at its height let us consider it. No longer do we tolerate horrors. We know a good suit when we put it on, and we insist upon having it.

Who has not at some time or another suffered from the cheaply run up garment bedizened with braid and superfluous anchors, and wrongly proportioned throughout?

he really perfect and supremely successful gown requires to be made to special measurement, although when a fair price is exacted, it is possible that a stock figure can fit from the better class of ready-made production. But anyone of an outside, either on the score of extraordinary slightness or the reverse, is always well advised to indulge in the mild extravagance of special measurement and make.

An odd one is in the fortunate position of being able to proclaim, French fashions in this regard are utterly useless. The average Frenchwoman rests wholly satisfied with bobbing up and down in the water, and invariably elects to wear toward the pursuit of this exercise, a indicrously long skirt, and away she goes, and grant the whole palm to our dames as particular fair sex for the innovation of the black mohair or taffeta bathing suit, preferably worn with black stocking tights with feet.

It is made in this way: The skirt is gored and finished at the hem with a three-inch lace-edged ruffle. The first flounce is fifteen inches deep, of colored taffeta, edged with a pinked ruffle. This is attached to the foundation, with buttonholes over tiny pearl buttons.

Over button silk ruffle is one of fine muslin, which is attached by sewing to the underskirt. It is headed by an inch insertion of lace and is trimmed with groups of fine tucks and a lace edge.

The introduction of the colored silk flounce under the sheer white one is a very good touch, and one that a bride who is preparing her trousseau could very well take advantage of when she is making up her petticoats at home.

THE RAINY-DAY COATS ARE GROWING FRIVOLOUS.

At what extravagancies the rainy-day coat will arrive is not established, but it seems likely that luxurious ladies may yet brave the elements clad in rubberized garments of point lace, probably buttoned with diamonds!

A rain-coat was once merely an ungainly rubber-scented garment known as a waterproof or mackintosh. Through various stages it progressed to silken texture of delicate fineness. Rain-coats of shining satin —fabric once reserved for clothing queens—will be worn by the very working girl who can afford the not exorbitant price at which they are sold.

The latest addition to the list is the crepe de chine rain-coat. It is so lightweight and delicate that only a triumph of the rubberizing process has made it thoroughly proof against rain.

It is only a step from crepe de chine to lace and velvet, so it seems not impossible that these fabrics may be the next to be converted to wet weather uses.

HINT FOR A GIFT.

Something convenient for the work basket can be made with a few cheap articles. One of my readers gave me one with a description for making same: Get an empty spool and fill the thread-space with beeswax. It will be necessary to slightly heat it to fill the space evenly and smoothly. Cover one end of the spool with a disc of red or green felt with tiny notches extending a few inches beyond the rim. It should be firmly glued in place. Fill the spool cavity with emery and attach three discs of felt threaded together with baby ribbon, to the opposite end. This makes the beeswax handy for the thread, emery at hand for rusty needles, and the convenient little felt discs furnish a place for needles, all this in a tiny package.

The Cause.

"You look sad."

"I feel an aching void."

"Been infected in love?"

"Nor been to the dentist's."—Baltimore American.

The Test.

Can either of the Vice-Presidential candidates pick a good cantaloupe?—Omaha Bee.

PREPARE TO HAVE — WINTER PARSLEY.

Parsley started outdoors in the summer, and covered with straw or other protection in late November, will be ready to pick at the end of March, and will continue to be good until seed planted in early spring is ready for picking in June, says Suburban Life. Parsley seed is very slow to germinate, but it may be hastened by soaking for a few hours in warm water before planting. The latter will keep up the supply until late fall, when it can be potted and brought in, after cutting back he foliage, to be treated like any other house plant. The best plants result from occasional transplanting and frequent cutting back, but all the leaves must not be removed at one time or the plant will die. This will be in fine shape till the outdoor supply is in condition, the following spring, thus giving parsley the year round.

Besides potting parsley roots there are two other ways of preparing it for winter use. One is to dry it. The whole plant is pulled up and hung in a dry place. For seasoning this is just as good as the fresh leaves. Or it can be picked off and stand away for winter use. This is especially nice in winter as a garnish for various dishes.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING.

Mrs. Shelby M. Collum, despite her many years, is still a figure in social doings and philanthropic work in Washington.

Miss Anna Morgan, daughter of J. Pierpont Morgan, has been investigating German institutions for workingmen in Berlin.

Mrs Clara Clemens, the daughter of Mark Twain, has made her appearance as a singer in London. Miss Clemens was studied under Mme. Marchesi and Mr. Leechetizky and has sung in public in America during the past two years.

Among astronomers of her sex Maria Mitchell, for many years professor at Vassar, has remained without a rival. She was born in Nantucket, Mass., in 1819, and the people of the town recently dedicated a memorial observatory in her honor.

Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the venerable founder and head of the Christian Science church, recently reached her 87th year, but beneath congratulations from members of her household and officials of the church there was no observance of the event.

Mrs. Florence Kollock Crooker recently celebrated the thirty-second anniversary of her service as a minister of the Universalist Church and the fourth anniversary of her pastorate of St. Paul's church, Jamaica Plain, Boston. She is the wife of the Rev. J. H. Crooker.

The new kingdom of Norway has sent to this country one of the prettiest women Washington has seen for some time. She is Mme. Gude, wife of the new Minister from that kingdom Mme. Gude is a Dane by birth, but she speaks a number of languages besides her own and Norwegian, among them English

SOME FOREERUNNERS OF THE FALL HEADGEAR.

The ostrich plume will undoubtedly be as much thought of for fall as ever, but it will be used in combination with other feathers, especially aigrettes. The way trimmings tower high and far above the crowns of the hats is one of the most distinguishing features of summer millinery. The result is a far taller structure than the bare model promises.

The uncurled ostrich feather is seen again, but in better finish than when it first came out a year or two ago. It is made to droop to arrange a handful of such feathers in fan shape. They come mostly in black for white hats and in white for black hats.

Along with the rage for expensive feathers there is a vogue for simple flowers, such as aigrettes, the daisy barbs projecting under each feather and softening it wonderfully.

The white owl is a fad of the moment, and since Paris is wearing it now with great delight we shall probably see it here for the next three months at least.

Turning Off the Gas.

In using the gas lamp or stove which is attached to the pipe by means of a tube, follow an invariable rule when through with the lamp. Always turn off the cock next to the pipe when the flow of gas comes. This will allow the gas in the connecting tube to be consumed. Otherwise the tubing might become loosened, and so if the gas is shut off by turning the cock next to the lamp or stove and the other cock is left on the pressure of the gas will be exerted on the tube and a leak, possibly serious, may result. Should the tube become dislodged there will be a flow of gas into the room, and from such cause accidents asphyxiations have resulted.

WHAT WE MUST LOOK LIKE NOW.

A corset establishment in Paris is making a corset very low beneath the waist, so that from the head downward the silhouette of the figure appears absolutely straight. The waist line vanishes; the hips are deprived of contour; the bust no longer exists. Having prohibited the graceful outline of the figure, usually so carefully preserved, the body is swathed in fabric, literally wound round and round it from under the arms to the hips.

Below the hips the material is arranged without a wrinkle, so tightly that the wearer thereof can only shuffle in her movements, after which once more several draperies are introduced, so that about the foot there are multitudes of folds calculated still further to impede easy and natural progress. So madame or mademoiselle is swathed exactly as are the little babies of Della Robbia one sees all over Florence and Italy. No doubt the corset makers got their ideas from these pictures and casts.

If it is found to be impossible to make the waist of the same measurements as the bust, the latter is usually padded to add inches to the circumference of the waist—an extraordinary reversal of the usual order of procedure. The woman, therefore, with nothing to commend her in a race for beauty except a large bust, may console herself that not hips, will surely win in these times, when all that is natural and full of, bent on painting cadaverous women, with necks half a yard long, the conturiers are now becoming morbid and seeking only what seems to fascinate a sickly imagination.

The flowing skirt of liberty, meteor, mervelleuse or crepe de chine —these fabrics are employed because of their clinging qualities—needs some repressing influence to draw them down and keep the folds in place and grasping the form close. Every dressmaker has his own method of securing the required result, some by ribbon ties, others by loops of elastic attached to the ankles.

A CURIOUS STORY ABOUT THE "LAST SUPPER."

Moldering away on the wall of the old monastery in Milan, Italy, hangs the famous "Last Supper" of Leonardo da Vinci. Like every masterpiece, the painting required many years of patient labor, and as a result of that labor it is perfect in its naturalness of expression and sublime in its story of love. In addition to these qualities, it has a history in its history that contributes not a little toward making it the great teacher that it is.

It is said that the artist, in painting the faces of the apostles, studied the countenances of good men whom he knew. He was never, however, ready to paint the face of Jesus in the picture he could find none that would satisfy his conception. The face that would serve as a model for the face of Christ must be dignified in its simplicity and majestic in its sweetness. After several years of careful search the painter happened to meet one Pietro Bandinelli, a choir boy of exquisite voice, belonging to the cathedral. Being struck by the beautiful features and tender manner of the angelic soul, the artist induced the boy to be the study for the painting of the face of Jesus.

All was done most carefully and reverently, but the picture was as yet incomplete, for the face of Judas was absent. Again the painter, with the zeal of a true lover of his art, set about in search of a countenance that might serve for the face of the traitor. Some years passed before his search was rewarded and the picture was finally completed. A few days the artist was about to dismiss the mi*serable and degraded wretch who had* been his awful choice the man looked up at him and said: "You have painted me before." Horrified and struck with amazement, the painter learned that the man was Pietro Bandinelli. During those intervening years Pietro had been at Rome studying music, had met with evil companions, had given himself up to drinking and gambling, had fallen into shameful dissipation and crime. The fact that now was the model for the face of Judas had once been the model for the face of Christ.

HOW TO DUST.

To properly dust a room it must be thoroughly done, and that means carefully done. A feather brush or a turkey wing is excellent for brushing the backs of pictures, and one or two soft cloths will serve for a cretonne mop. The furniture is dusted before the chair-board and floor. The best duster is a cotton cloth wrung out of turpentine and drier. It accumulates all dust, does not scatter it and brightens the furniture. Woolen cloths are best for the chairboard and floor.

When using polish, old stocking legs are good for applying the polish or polishing the wood. The cheap cotton ones contain little lint, are soft and serve well for this purpose. Window sills should be dusted with a clean feather brush, though cheesecloth is good for polishing them; also soft tissue paper or crumbled newspapers.

If heavy furniture cannot be removed from a room, protect the pieces with sheets. A soft whisk broom answers splendidly for cleaning upholstered pieces.

FOR THE WOMAN WHO MUST PACK.

For a girl who is going away for a summer vacation should invest a dollar in tissue paper before packing her trunk, for this inexpensive protector will be a saving to her clothes. For instance, sleeves stuffed with tissue paper proper an droils of it laid over the folds of skirts will keep them in almost pristine freshness, while without these aids they will be so crumpled after packing that they will look dowdy before being worn.

Another essential in packing is to have clothing arranged solidly in the trunk, so that the articles cannot slip, yet unless soft materials are well protected this tightness will work their destruction.

To pack to the best advantage a flat surface on which to fold garments is indispensable. Then

To fold a skirt it should be spread out smoothly, front and back together, bringing the crease at the sides. These two side folds should be laid over to the back seam, to meet there, and a roll of paper must be placed under each turn. If the skirt is still too wide to go into the trunk, another similar turn must be given to each side, and under the folds rolls of paper must be laid. These will entirely prevent the sharp crease usually seen on garments carelessly packed.

"I REMEMBER."

I remember, I remember,
The house where I was born,
And all the old, back-breaking stunts
I did in early morn.
I remember, I remember,
The musty, dusty mows,
Where I would climb to pitch down hay,
For thirty-seven cows!

I remember, I remember,
The tater-patch I "bugged;"
The hack-saw and the old sawbuck,
And the hoe I hugged.
I remember, I remember,
The grindstone that I'd turn,
Ere mother rushed me in the house
To wrestle with the churn!

I remember, I remember,
The plows, the drags, the hoes,
And how I used to follow up
The long, weed-smothered rows.
I remember, I remember,
The corn-hills I would greet
(And later rub the ointment on
The corns upon my feet!)

I remember, I remember,
The blazing, scorching sun;
The callouses upon my hands
Ere working hours were done.
I remember, I remember,
The long, unending day,
And how I used to groan my back
While pitching loads of hay!
—Los Angeles Express.

"KISSING TRAIN" THE LATEST ON THE COAST.

The week-end commuters along the New Jersey seacoast are responsible for the institution known as the "kissing train." Seashore historians differ as to whether the Central or the Pennsylvania railroad ran the original "kissing train," but each road has one, and it leaves New York about 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Everything goes smoothly until Long Branch is reached. Here several dozen happy wives greet their husbands, whose business has kept them in the city all week, with resounding smacks that make a city man feel guilty as a commuter and married. This is encountered at almost every station.

But it is at Asbury Park that the real kissing is seen, for as the train pulls into the station the number of waiting wives runs into the hundreds, usually one or two women, with a sad look on their faces leave the station when they discover that their hubbies are not on the train. The recalcitrant husbands arrive on a train about two hours later, however, each one with a box of candy or a basket of fruit under his arm, which, he has confided to the conductor, is to "square himself" with his lady-by-the-sea for, an extra hour or two spent with the boys.

TRIMMINGS MADE AT HOME.

One of the most effective and the cheapest sort of trimmings may be made by using bias bands of Arabian satin sewed up on the machine over thick white cord. It is then twisted in different shapes, for it is very supple, so that it forms bow knots and circular designs for an evening or afternoon gown. Of course, the satin is too dressy to wear on a suit or morning dress, but with a coat of filet net a more attractive trimming could not be found. The same idea is carried out in footing, which is shirred very full over a cord. This will sometimes take the place of braid.

Another inexpensive trimming is to embroider cotton canvas in a cross stitch, which takes a very short time to do. When finished it may be applied in many attractive ways to summer gowns.

"So you stole this man's ax," said the judge.

"Yes, judge. I reckons dar ain' no use tryin' ter spute de facts."

"What did you do that for? He said he would have been perfectly willing to lend you the ax."

"Yes; but you see, judge, dat man's on'y jes' moved in de neighborhood. I doesn't know him well enough ter go 'roun' ter his house fo'rryin'."—Washington Star.

LACE ON ALL THINGS.

Prominent among the most fascinating productions of the present season are the dainty lace coats, which are so delightful cool for summer wear, and which seem, moreover, to boast a distinctive charm of their own, possibly, no doubt, because of the undoubted beauty of the fabric of which they are composed.

Lace stands alone in its unapproachable loveliness, and to its many other virtues it adds that of being always in good taste, at all events where carriage costs and evening wraps are concerned. It stands to reason, for instance, that the smartest and most elaborate gowns in silk, linon, or crepe de chine, mousseline or chiffon, resplendent with embroideries, are only rendered doubly attractive by having their charms temporarily and partly concealed by a beautiful lace coat.

Carried out in ivory-white duchesse lace, with an elaborate applique design, worked on a ground of the finest Brussels net or is Irish crochet, this coat is lined with chiffon, printed with a faint design of mauve and white lilac, and clusters of roses in the palest shade of pink. The lovely lining is visible only when the coat is thrown open in front, as the color is too faint to show through the lace itself. Many prefer it not lined.

A very dainty and effective trimming formed of a wide bouillonne of white Oriental satin, passes down the sides mousseline de soie, piped with white and front of the coat, and also around the hem, above a flounce of lace, softened by the edge with frills of accordion-pleated chiffon, and finished here and there with chiffon choux.

The cape sleeves are trimmed in the same way with mousseline de soie and satin. A large collar is arranged in the same manner, which is pointed in the centre of the back, where it has something the appearance of a hood, and where it is bordered with full frills of fine Brussels point, a contrast in dentelle which is most effective. In black lace on a similar kind, lined first with white chiffon, and then arranged over white Oriental satin, this would also make a charming wrap.

DRESSING THE SMALL GIRL.

A stock of aprons, both plain ones for morning wear and pretty ones for afternoons, should be included in every small girl's outfit. They will be found a great economy in many ways.

Aprons cost comparatively little to make, and save dainty "best" frocks from spots of all kinds, while an old and rather dingy frock is immediately quite pretty by an apron of fine lawn or spotted muslin.

In Germany all schoolgirls wear during their time—an all-enveloping apron of black alpaca, and although this may not be exactly bright or pretty for a young child, it has the great advantage of protecting the frock beneath from inkmarks etc., and the child returns from school as neat as when she left home several hours before.

The fashion of wearing the hair dangling over the eyes is not a good one, and many a squint—which develops as the child gets older—can be traced to this cause.

Curls and bows dangling all round the head give a small girl a self-conscious feeling.

It is a noticeable fact that most of the girl scholars who attend the large schools abroad wear their hair neatly plaited and fastened with a bow of ribbon at the base of the tail.

This keeps the hair out of the way when lessons are in progress and is far cooler in summer than having it hanging about the face and neck. It is also an additional safyguard in many ways.

HOW TO START ROSES FROM CUTTINGS.

Women who like to experiment with roses should beg cuttings from some of their friend's best rose bushes and see what luck they have.

Oddly enough this seems to be one of the forms of gardening in which "the lucky finger" plays an important part.

Women have often written me that they take no further trouble about propagating than to break off a branch of a rose bush, stick it in good sod in the garden, cover with a glass jar and in a few weeks have a strong young plant.

A somewhat surer way is to fill a shallow box, a cheese box, will answer, with sharp sand well packed down. Into this put rose cuttings with a single joint but one leaf. Insert them almost their full length in the sand and pack it firmly about the stems.

Set the box in a larger vessel containing water, and support it so that the water reaches about a half inch of its depth. Put this dish in a sunny place and watch that the water does not sink below the cutting box and let the sand dry out.

In about three weeks the cuttings will be rooted enough to transplant into tiny pots. o leave them longer in the sand is weakening.

Reasonable Supposition.

Miss Black—Mr. Brown, does you know what a bird of paradise is?

Mr. Brown—Well, of co'se I doesn't know fuh shure, but when I gits dere de bes' word I wouldn't be a bit surprise ter disk'ver dat it was a spring chicken.—Exchange.

FADS AND FANCIES OF THE LATE SEASON.

The styles brought out at the Paris races and which will dominate the late summer and autumn fashions may be briefly summarized:

As to colors, black, gray, beige and tobacco; as to fabrics, satin, chiffon, foulard and soft weaves generally. As to weave of serge and ponge, weaves of satin. The directoire style reigned almost supreme; sleeves short and tight with deep hand frills, collars high, ruchings wide and thick.

Fashion makers predict that for American taste the directoire skirt will develop into a long severely plain tunic over another skirt of soft satin or figured silk—in other words, the overskirt.

Cashmere color effects are noted in the newest laces.

The high-pointed stock is rounding off its antics a bit and placing these softened points a trifle lower. Pretty little coats are tailored waists of net, with large dots, trimmed with bands of lace net embroidered in Oriental effects.

Those who go in for extreme fashions are wearing over elaborate sheer gowns coats of cretonne, edged with half-inch black velvet ribbon.

Stiff collars with edge of colars are new.

Negligees have caught the directoire note. Very charming they are, too, of crepe de chine, soft satin or crepe de chine with long ruffled, clinging skirt and fascinating corsage effect of lacework or embroidery.

The small note in the Dutch collar fad is to create a contrast. If the collar is one of the soft lingerie order, wear with it the tailored fourin-hand effect. If the collar is stiff, don your deatliest, laciest or fluffiest jabot with it.

Gray cod, three-eyelet ties, with mother of pearl buckles, are dainty and smart.

The coast that is looming up for smart wear is, indeed, it is not already here, has a short, shapeless front, not quite to waist line. From the hip short basques extending in beetle-wing shape or quite straight, half-way down the back. Of lace, it is worn in the skirts of crepe de chine, shantung or foulard; or with a lace skirt it will be of cloth or satin.

In fact satin coats are having a great vogue; a very soft satin, made loose, semi-fitting or fitting.

HERE'S A RECIPE FOR THE FAMOUS OLY-KOOKS.

Beat to a cream one cup of butter and two of sugar. Break in two eggs, beating well after each. Add a cup of sour milk, half a teaspoonful of salt and sifted flour to make a stiff batter. Beat well. Add a cup and a half more of hot milk and two heaping teaspoonfuls of soda dissolved in a cup of water, a little more flour and then beat until the batter blisters. Cover and set in a warm place about twenty-four hours to rise. If set about 10 in the morning it will be usually well risen by 9 the next morning. Dredge a pastry molding board with flour and turn the batter on it, remembering the dough must be as soft as can be handled, and the less handling the better. Roll the dough in sheets about three-fourths of an inch thick and cut in round cakes.

Now, with a sharp, thin knife, cut a slit in each cake and insert in the centre a plump raisin, in a bit of sliced citron and a lump of sugar, or a teaspoonful of any rich preserve. Wet the edges of the slit and press together closely. Let the doughnuts rise for half an hour, until quite light, and cook in a kettle of smoking hot fat. This may be lard or lard drippings. It should be hot enough to color a bit of bread a light yellow as soon as it is dropped in.

The oly-kooks take about ten minutes to cook, longer than ordinary doughnuts—on account of the fruit in the centre. This should be a tender, golden brown when done. Lift out with a skimmer, drain and lay on soft brown paper to absorb the fat. Roll in powdered sugar, and when cold keep away in a stone cake jar. Old-fashioned cooks sometimes soak the oly-kooks in a little Santa Cruz rum and serve them with preserved peaches. In some old Knickerbocker families they are often served during the holidays with vanilla ice cream.

A Pretty Material.

Satin charmeuse is the one fabric which seems likely to be more used than any other for evening and reception gowns this season, partly, no doubt, because of that softly clinging texture, which makes it so specially suitable for the close-fitting "four-gore" skirts of the moment, and partly because it becomes forms an ideal background for those elaborate embroideries in raised metallic tissue, which are to be seen almost without exception upon all the smartest evening frocks destined for the most important functions, and also because it drapes so exquisitely.

Swingy's Troubles.

Hungry Harvey—I ain't seen Swipesy since he stole dat pair uv shoes more'n a month ago.

Roving Reporter—No wonder. Dey pinched him.—Chicago News.

IGHT FOR KEAN'S SEAT

Many Candidates in the Field to Succeed Him in the Senate.

DIRECT VOTE WILL DECIDE.

Though the Contest Is Still in the Distance It Promises to Be a Memorable One.

Coupled with the great public interest manifested in the primary election September 22, because it will give New Jersey for the first time direct nominations, is strong concern for the primary election of next year when there will be not only direct nominations, but another revolutionary move in State politics namely, the public naming of preferences for United States Senator. Although that will be twelve months, and a little more, in the future it is a live topic now for the reason that many men will, wherever possible, be made to serve the various interests in the fight next year which will have for its object the choosing of a successor to United States Senator John Kean. Every Senator to be elected next November will have not one in the election of United States senator in the winter of 1911.

The fight for Kean's seat in Washington is already looming into view and it promises to be distinctly one of the most exciting and desperate senatorial struggles the State has ever seen. The character of the battle will be entirely new. Heretofore the United States Senators in this State have been chosen without question by the members of the Legislature. Next year the Senator will be chosen, or at least should be, by the direct vote of the people at the primary election. The members of the Legislature will merely serve as the agents of the voters to carry into effect their expressed will.

The change will be wrought by the law passed last year after a memorable fight in the Legislature. The statute enable the voters of the State to express, through the ballot box, at the primaries held previous to the election for United States Senator, their preference in candidates for that high office. The nominations for United States Senator are to be made on petitions signed by voters in each county.

It will thus be seen that any person qualified to serve as United States Senator, who duly files a petition with the secretary of State, must be placed in nomination and voted for at the primary election. The procedure will be the same as this year for the various State and county officers. After the primary election the result will be certified to the members of the State Senate and Assembly, giving the number of votes received throughout the State for each Senatorial candidate. The law also gives the form of statement, or pledge, for each candidate for the Legislature to sign.

There are two forms of statement, either of which the legislative candidate may sign. One pledges the candidate in the Legislature to "vote for that candidate for United State Senator in Congress who has received the highest number of votes in any party in the county for the position at the primary election next preceding the election of the Senator in Congress, without regard to his individual preference." The other statement is the same excepting that it pledges the candidate to vote for the Senatorial nominee who received the highest number of votes in the State.

It is not obligatory upon the candidate for the Legislature to sign either of these pledges. It will be expected that every man who aspires to the Legislature and who signs either of the pledges, will keep it. The pledge will be handed to the legislative candidate for signature when he signs his acceptance of the nominationfor the State Senate or Assembly, to whichever he aspires. This fall there will be eight candidates for State Senator who will be expected to sign such a pledge. They will be those in Camden, Essex, Gloucester, Monmouth, Salem, Somerset, Union and Warren counties. The members of the Assembly are elected for only one year and so Assembly candidates will be called upon to take this pledge until next year.

Among the Republican candidates for six more years in Washington will be Senator John Kean himself, no mean political fighter; who will make a strenuous contest to retain his seat. Then there will also be Governor Edward C. Stokes, Franklin Murphy, John W. Griggs, Everett Colby, the Essex Senator; and Governor John Franklin Fort. Others being mentioned are David Baird, the Camden county leader, and Congressman John J. Gardener, of the Second district, known all over the State as "Old Brains."

On the Democratic state there are already written those names, Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., James E. Martine, of Union county; Senator Johnston Cornish, of Warren; Supreme Court Judge Alfred Reed, of Trenton; Richard V. Lindabury, the brilliant lawyer, and Judge James P. Minturn, of Hudson county.

LOCAL YOUNG WOMAN AN ART PHOTOGRAPHER

In the art edition of last Sunday's issue, the New York Herald had the following interesting article relative to a well known Plainfield young woman:

"Never do I get accustomed to it. Each time the miracle seems repeated.' The speaker was Miss Edith Hastings Tracy, a grandniece of the late William M. Evarts and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, who has taken up art photography with success.

"This was in the dark room, tucked into a picturesque stone studio on the heights above Chatham, N. Y., with the blue Catskills toward the west and old Greylock in the dim north. Here she was drawing back and forth in a pan a roll of films and watching in the faint light filtered through the tiny red glass window the groups of people, the flowers and hay fields coming into view with perfection of detail. This picture making of the sun coming forth in the gloom was the miracle of which she spoke.

"'One of the miraculous things about it to me,' she went on, 'is that I can put these films aside for years and a touch of the sun brings them out again in another form as perfect as they are today.'

"The mystery and wonder of it all seemed to provide for the worker that interest and enthusiasm which lifts the day work into those higher regions where there is neither sense of boredom or weariness of spirit. Certainly this grandniece and daughter of distinguished lawyers, members of the late William M Evart's firm, loves her work.

"'I have no studio,' she explained. 'I prefer to take people in the midst of their own surroundings.' The moment one comes to a photographer's prepared to have a picture taken among artificial surroundings one loses something of the real self, while the charm of a photograph as a portrait lies in its naturalness, sense of character and absence of self-consciousness.

"'For these reasons I prefer to take old people and children. Both in their way have less self-consciousness, and one gets nearer to the real being. The ideal place for taking the photograph of a child is a well equipped nursery. There the child is at home, is familiar with its surroundings and not distracted by them, as in a studio. Its toys are there and it is busy with them and is not interested in you or your camera.

"'Usually when I am to make a portrait I go to the house and look over the rooms and select the most suitable for the purpose, thus forming some idea of the composition. These preliminaries save time when the picture is to be taken and prevent the victims from getting weary. If it is a child it usually has something it is specially interested in, and I give it this to play with. Perhaps I talk to it, or perhaps ignore it, but always try to take the photograph unawares.'

"A collection of photographs of children showed this engaging absorption, even creeping things seeming to have some special object in life. Other pictures showed them entertaining their mothers and pets.

"'Do you perfer taking them with their mothers?' Miss Tracy was asked.

"'Yes,' she replied, 'if the mothers do not insist on having pretty pictures of their children. The ideal attitude of a mother is, of course, looking down at the child. It inevitably gives her an enlarged nose, which is not pretty. So a mother must make a certain sacrifice for the child.

"'When the mother is not to be taken she is apt to complicate the situation by her anxiety. Such admonitions as 'Take your finger out of your mouth,' 'Look pleasant,' 'Can't you keep still?' 'Don't do this,' 'Don't do that,' do not contribute to that ease and naturalness which you are striving for. So some times it is necessary to ask mothers and nurses to leave the room while the operation is being performed—just as the doctors do.

"'With elderly people one gets the same attractive unconsciousness as with children. I took the photograph of an old gentleman of ninety, who fortunately had a sun parlor. I asked him to sit down with his newspaper while I got my camera ready so that he would not be tired. Meanwhile I took six delightful plates. When I was through I told him that was all. 'But you didn't pose me. Aren't you going to pose me?' He was almost bewildered by the thought that he had been taken and hadn't been posed.

"'All photographs are of course not alike satisfying. There is generally an outlying company of family relatives and friends who have various ideas and the right to comment. But, all things considered, I find that photographs taken at home get further beneath the superficial traits and more nearly at the person.'"

The Denial Habit.

"Now, John," said the billionaire's sister.

"Well?"

"When the rector asks if you take this woman to be your wedded wife please don't say there's no truth in the rumor."—Washington Herald.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL HERE STATUTES PUZZLING TO STATE OFFICERS

State Commission Designates Plainfield for One of Forty Locations.

REPORT MADE TO GOV. FORT.

Institutions Are Planned to Perfect Skilled Workmen in Their Respective Trades.

The State Industrial School Commission, appointed last winter by Governor Fort, has completed its investigation and made a report in which it is recommended that the State establish forty Industrial schools. Among the sites designated for one of them is Plainfield, and the fact will arouse great interest among those who would be benefited by such instruction as is proposed.

George R. Howe, of Newark, is chairman of the commission and Dr. Albert A. Snowden, of Roselle, is secretary. According to the proposed plans the night sessions will be held in the schools chiefly, although not exclusively, for young men and women who are employed at trades, the idea being to perfect them in their vocations and make them more competent in the particular lines which they are following. The schools will not be intended as places to teach various trades, but perfect young men and women in them.

The commission has been conducting its investigation for several months and the report will be pre*sented to the Legislature* next winter. If it is approved the plan is to establish the schools at once. In addition to the one proposed for Plainfield, the report recommends that two be established at Elizabeth, one for Westfield and Cranford, one for Carteret and Rahway and one for Roselle Park, Roselle Borough and Garwood.

It will be the purpose of the commission to place these schools at points where the largest number of residents are skilled workmen for it is this class of people that it is intended to benefit. It is estimated that it will cost the State $100,000 a year to maintain these forty schools. The system proposed, while containing features of those used in Massachusetts, California and Germany, is framed chiefly along the lines suggested by the commission.

ENTERPRISING MILKMAN GOT HIS SUPPLY GRATIS

John Murphy, a young and enter*prising milkman, who came to the* borough several months ago from Pennsylvania and took his departure fast Saturday without leaving his address, is being sought by Constable William N. Pangborn, who has a warrant for his arrest issued by Justice Smalley. For Arthur R. Phillips, a Grandview avenue milkman, formerly Murphy's "boss," caught the man red-handed "lifthing" bottles of milk from back porches of his customers and delivering them on his own milk route. Aside from this, Murphy, who left without even a grip-load of clothes, has not paid for his milk wagon or the horse he used in his business. Aside from running his milk business, the young fellow was employed by William W. Mills, of Madison avenue, as a tinner for some weeks previous to his get-away.

Mr. Phillips, who issued the warrant last week, said today that there was little chance of capturing the man. "He was a bright fellow," he said, "but he seems to be quicker than Jersey justice." The milkman said that Murphy, who is but twenty years old, had a good job with him at the Grandview avenue dairy, but left to go into business for himself. He had no cows, but bought his milk from borough dealers. It is said that he still owes for this milk, as well as for his horse and wagon, which, however, he left when he made his getaway.

"He used to take my customers' milk," Mr. Phillips said, "bottles and all, and deliver it to his customers. He'd come along after my man and get the milk from the houses—saved him the expense of buying it, you see. In some cases, where money was left out, he'd take the money, but leave no milk. Several of my customers complained, and finally one of them spotted him at work. Others were willing to testify, so the warrant was sworn out."

FOR THE ELDERLY WOMAN.

Select a dainty black net, one of the fine meshed kind, or get a moderately heavy black chiffon. Tuck it in groups and lay over a foundation of white chiffon or thin white silk. A dress waist of this kind will look neat with a white all-over lace yoke, outlined with black insertion or applique.

Sleeves should be long, tucked from the elbows to the wrists. There are many extremely pretty leeve models now—some genuinely picturesque: it is one's privilege to select any of the dremier models for a fine waist.

FROM THE PENCIL'S POINT.

Money may buy a house, but not a happy home.

The peekaboo waists in show windows look cool.

But nobody censures the actor whose wife supports him.

Where there's smoke there is some one or something smoking.

The prosperity of a fool may be either a reward or a penalty.

Even the man who lives upright isn't apt to die in that position.

It's a good deal easier to get engaged than it is to get disengaged.

Many a man who toots his own horn imagines that he is the whole band.

During courtship a man's word goes about 17 times as far as it does after marriage.

A married woman cares more for dress than a man; a spinster cares more for a man.

If you would keep on the safe side beware of people who try to get on the good side of you.

It's easier to write a book on "How to Get Rich" than it is to make good by your own recipes.

A man never borrows the scales of Justice for the purpose of weighing the shortcomings of his neighbor.

A married woman who says she wishes she were single again is the first to look for No. 2 as soon as she becomes a widow.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

A mean thing about swearing off is unless you do it every day or so.

A girl gets mad with you for squeezing her hand so you'll know she likes it.

There would be some sense in love affairs if nature hadn't intended otherwise.

The more friends a man has the more he'd better not ask them to do anything for him.

A girl likes to have a man not make love to her once in a while so she can say he did.

When a man makes a lot of money it's a sign his family can't spare any of it for him to spend.

A man is so proud of his brains he thinks that's why he's the best looking one in his family.

The average man can take a tremendous interest in most anything if it is of no consequence.

A woman brags about the money her husband makes so that their being poor won't seem so bad.

A woman wants her husband to hold public office so she can believe he amounts to more than she knows he does.—N. Y. Press.

GEORGIA PHILOSOPHY.

De worl's gittin' dry enough to burn, an' yit dey hollers ever' time you tu'n on de hose!

Satan still looks after his own, an' he well knows a brimstone barbecue fum des a plain fried sinner.

I hear tell dey done diskivered water in dat yuther worl' dey calls Mars. 'Pears ter me ef Georgy is in sich a state o' water dey needn't go no far fum home ter look fer it.

I ain't faultin' Providence kaze springtime so slow w-gittin' ter be'ин gittin place, but it's mighty perplexin' w'en a po' ol' sinner can't tell fer certain w'ether he got de spring chills, or de same ol' winter rheumatism.—Atlanta Constitution.

PROVERBS AND PHRASES.

Never be too much elated.—Latin.

With the good we become good.—Dutch.

Do good and care not to whom.—Italian.

Men condemn because they do not understand.—Cicero.

Don't fall in the fire to be saved from the smoke.—Turkish.

He is twice A conqueror who can restrain himself in the hour of victory. —Syrus.

QUAKER REFLECTIONS.

Even the blind beggar feels that he has an object in view.

Misery loves company, but it's a rule that doesn't always work both ways.

Some people make a mountain out of a molehill, while others are satisfied to put up a blind.

Even a woman has to pay for her experience, but she generally wants hers at bargain prices.

If you don't get the best of it, make the best of it.—Philadelphia Record.

WHEN THE OLD LADY WILTED.

Florist's Simple Explanation as to His "Remarkable" Plant.

With a firm tread and a masterful air a lady strode into the shop of a London florist. Her choice fell on a remarkably green palm in an ornamental pot.

"Will it flourish in the sunshine?" she inquired of the shop assistant, with a sharp glance from her eagle eye.

"Yes, madam" was the courteous response.

"Don't say it will if it won't," snapped she, as lably. "If it does well in the sun, will the shade hurt it?"

"Oh, no, madam!"

"What!" she exclaimed, with a triumphant note in her voice, "you've caught on sir. "You tell me if it'll thrive equally well in sun or shade." Young man, you don't know your business! Fetch your employer!"

The owner of the establishment was instantly summoned. Even he quailed before her, but she soon had him backed up his employe's statement.

"Then it's a really remarkable and accommodating plant!" she commented, waxing sarcastic. "My good man, it's both ridiculous and unnatural!"

"That's just it," interrupted the floral expert. "It's an artificial plant."

ILL HEALTH AND MORBIDNESS.

Unfortunate Result of Intense Passion for Sympathy.

One of the tendencies of ill health is to make one morbid. People who are constantly thinking about their ailments, worrying about their troubles, suffering pain, often develop a morbid passion for sympathy. They want to tell everybody of their aches and pains, to describe their symptoms, says a writer. Have you ever known a woman who has acquired the doctor habit, a woman who loves nothing in the world quite so well as an opportunity to tell the doctor of her ailments? She has poured them out to unwilling ears, to forced listeners, till she longs for some one who can really appreciate all the symptoms with her in her troubles; so she sends for the doctor or goes to see him. This becomes almost a mania with some women, who have few outside activities to divert them. Their minds naturally revert to themselves and they think of their unfortunate condition until they become saturated with the poisoned thought.

Human Pincushions.

"I was in an uptown tearoom where the scenery is all out of proportion to the scanty service," said a New York clubman. "I was dallying with some ice cream when my spoon struck a common, everyday pin in the bottom of the frozen stuff. I gave a little wave and the waiter slipped to my side. 'See, a pin in this ice cream,' I said. 'Why, I might have swallowed that.' He took the glass and disappeared. When he returned he reminded me of an undertaker, he was that solemn. 'That pin was a part of his job, sir,' I said. 'Well,' I replied, 'I am sorry for that, but it might have cost me my life. When you come to think of it.' 'Yes, sir,' said the waiter meekly. 'Then, you see, sir, most of the folks that come here just sips their ice cream and don't chew it.'"

"Rest Cure" in England.

"Sleep and be beautiful! Rest and preserve your charms!" That is what wise English women are saying to themselves nowdays and what they are doing most religiously. Many make a point of lying down for half an hour before luncheon and before dinner, or after eating, if it suits them better, on a couch heaped with cushions. And to make the rest sweet the cushions are filled with fragrant herbs and flower petals. Some very dainty women have cushions packed with rose leaves. Lavender tops are used, too, and pine needles, which have always been famed as sleep inducers. One saturday's only, 1,272 cushions, 9,445 m., 11,442 Saturdays only), 1,272 cushions, 9,445 m., 11,442 p. m. Sundays—8,552, 9,445 a. m., 3,59, 5,12 p. m.

From Lakewood and Atlantic City—11,42, 8,29 m., (12,42, Atlantic City and Saturdays only), 1,27, 4,00, 6,00 p. m. Sundays—9,45 a. m., 1,40 p. m.

From Bay Head Junction—7,23, 8,13, 10,43 a. m., 12,12, 12,42, 1,39, 2,14, 3,45, 5,00, 6,44, 9,30 p. m. Sundays—8,45, 9,53, 10,39, 11,45 a. m., 12,42, 1,44, 2,46, 3,42, 4,55, 6,39, 6,44, 8,59, 9,30 p. m. Parlor cars on all trains.

From Barnegat—7,16, 7,55 a. m., 2,00, 5,23 p. m. Sundays—7,55 a. m., 5,23 p. m.

From Wilkesbarre and Scranton—6,18, 8,56 a. m., 2,00, 5,47 p. m. Sundays—8,46 a. m., 2,00, 5,47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc., 8,27, 11,15 a. m., 2,27, 4,30 p. m. (11,42 Saturdays only), 12,42, 1,39, 2,14, 3,45, 5,00, 6,44, 9,30 p. m. Sundays—8,52, 9,45 a. m., 3,59, 5,12 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—6,18, 9,56 a. m., 2,00, 5,23 p. m. Sundays—7,55 a. m., 5,23 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scrantos—6,18, 8,56 a. m., 2,00, 5,47 p. m. Sundays—8,46 a. m., 2,00, 5,47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc., 8,27, 11,15 a. m., 2,27, 4,30 p. m. (11,42 Saturdays only), 12,42, 1,39, 2,14, 3,45, 5,00, 6,44, 9,30 p. m. Sundays—8,52, 9,45 a. m., 3,59, 5,12 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—8,27, 9,29 m., (12,42, Atlantic City and Saturdays only), 1,27, 4,00, 6,00 p. m. Sundays—9,45 a. m., 1,40 p. m.

From Bay Head Junction—7,23, 8,13, 10,43 a. m., 12,12, 12,42, 1,39, 2,14, 3,45, 5,00, 6,44, 9,30 p. m. Sundays—8,45, 9,53, 10,39, 11,45 a. m., 12,42, 1,44, 2,46, 3,42, 4,55, 6,39, 6,44, 8,59, 9,30 p. m. Parlor cars on all trains.

From Barnegat—7,16, 7,55 a. m., 2,00, 5,23 p. m. Sundays—7,55 a. m., 5,23 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington—3,40, 10,43 a. m., 12,42, 2,46, 4,44 p. m. Sundays—3,40, 10,43 a. m., 4,44 p. m. Parlor cars.

*Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Manager. W. C. HOPE, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr. Gen. Pass. Agt.

BIG BROKERAGE FIRM ANNOUNCES ITS FAILURE

A. O. Brown & Co., probably one of the biggest stock brokage firms in New York, having several branch offices in Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Chicago and many other large cities throughout the country, announced its failure shortly after noon Tuesday.

The firm was one of the most prominent in the enormous stock dealing transactions on Friday and Saturday of last week, and before the governors met yesterday to consider some of the questionable transactions, the firm's sheets had made it evident that it had transacted on Saturday a volume of business never equalled by any one house in the history of the Exchange.

The only broker before the governors yesterday was A. O. Brown, head of the firm of A. O. Brown & Co., of Broad street. Mr. Brown was there to explain why his firm had been twelve hours late in getting its sheets in the Stock Exchange Clearing House and why it had failed to make deliveries at 2:15, the stated time for deliveries, and on Friday's and Saturday's transactions combined. His explanation was accepted as far as concerned the reasons set forth in the delay, but without clearing upon the character of the transactions involved. A representative of the firm said yesterday that in the two hours of business on Saturday the firm had traded in the vast total of 1,500,000 shares. At 1:45 this volume on the market was reported as being quiet.

Hay Rides for the Campers.

A series of hay rides arranged by Mrs. Frank Hall Standish and S. A. George, gave the 300 mothers and children now at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp a most enjoyable outing Saturday. A large stage was hired for the occasion and the first party, consisting of 150 New York girls, started early in the afternoon. Upon their return, the stage was quickly filled with the boys at the camp, who rode until supper time. In the evening, the fifty mothers and helpers of Miss Curry went on a long outing in the same stage. All were fellow hay riders and the party sang songs and hymns on their trip through the residential section of town.

A Great Love Story.

The best love story ever written by Robert W. Chambers, the prince of story tellers, will begin in The New York Evening World Tuesday, Sept. 1. Mr. Chambers is the author of "The Fighting Chance," "The Firing Line," and other famous stories. His greatest work, "The Younger Set," begins next Tuesday in The Evening World."

New Jersey Central

In Effect June 28, 1908.

For New York—3,17, 4,27, 5,45, 6,02, 6,29, 6,47, 7,25, 7,29, 7,45, 8,47, 9,55, 9,00, 9,11, 9,30, 9,44, 9,59, 10,00, 10,28, 10,56, 11,00, 11,28, 12,00, 12,15, 12,30, 1,00, 1,30, 2,00, 2,30, 3,00, 3,17, 3,30, 4,00, 4,12, 4,45, 5,23, 5,29, 6,46, 7,09, 7,09, 8,45, 9,12, 9,45, 10,30, 11,30 p. m. Sundays—3,17, 3,57, 5,25, 7,23, 7,56, 8,02, 8,34, 8,45, 10,15, 10,30, 11,30 a. m., 12,00, 1,00, 1,45, 2,41, 3,09, 3,30, 4,29, 5,41, 6,35, 6,46, 8,57, 9,37, 9,55, 9,42, 10,30, 10,41 p. m.

For Jersey City—3,17, 4,27, 5,45, 6,02, 6,29, 6,47, 7,25, 7,47, 8,11, 8,26, 8,44, 9,29, 9,59, 10,56, 11,28, 12,00, 12,15, 12,30, 1,00, 1,30, 2,00, 2,30, 3,00, 3,17, 3,30, 4,00, 4,12, 4,45, 5,23, 5,29, 6,37, 6,37, 7,09, 8,45, 9,12, 9,45, 10,30, 11,30 p. m. Sundays—7,23, 8,02, 8,34, 10,15, 10,30, 11,30 a. m., 12,00, 1,00, 1,45, 2,41, 3,09, 3,30, 4,29, 5,41, 6,35, 6,46, 8,57, 9,37, 9,55, 9,42, 10,30, 10,41 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—6,18, 9,56 a. m., 2,00, 5,23 p. m. Sundays—7,55 a. m., 5,23 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scrantos—6,18, 8,56 a. m., 2,00, 5,47 p. m. Sundays—8,46 a. m., 2,00, 5,47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc., 8,27, 11,15 a. m., 2,27, 4,30 p. m. (11,42 Saturdays only), 12,42, 1,39, 2,14, 3,45, 5,00, 6,44, 9,30 p. m. Sundays—8,52, 9,45 a. m., 3,59, 5,12 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—8,27, 9,29 m., (12,42, Atlantic City and Saturdays only), 1,27, 4,00, 6,00 p. m. Sundays—9,45 a. m., 1,40 p. m.

From Bay Head Junction—7,23, 8,13, 10,43 a. m., 12,12, 12,42, 1,39, 2,14, 3,45, 5,00, 6,44, 9,30 p. m. Sundays—8,45, 9,53, 10,39, 11,45 a. m., 12,42, 1,44, 2,46, 3,42, 4,55, 6,39, 6,44, 8,59, 9,30 p. m. Parlor cars on all trains.

From Barnegat—7,16, 7,55 a. m., 2,00, 5,23 p. m. Sundays—7,55 a. m., 5,23 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington—3,40, 10,43 a. m., 12,42, 2,46, 4,44 p. m. Sundays—3,40, 10,43 a. m., 4,44 p. m. Parlor cars.

*Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Manager. W. C. HOPE, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr. Gen. Pass. Agt.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.

Office opens 7 a. m., closes 7 p. m. On Sundays, 9 to 10 a. m. and 1 hour later

NEW YORK MAIL.

Arrive—7:00, 8:40, 11:30 a. m., 2:35, 4:00, 7:00 p. m., 12 midnight.
Close—7:30 a. m., 1:45 and 4:20 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.

Arrive—7:00, 8:40 and 11:30 a. m., 2:35, 7:00 p. m.
Close—7:15, 7:30, 9:30 a. m., 12:45, 4:20, 7:15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR EAST.

Close—1:30 and 7:15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR WEST.

Close—12:35, 1:30, 7:15 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA, West of Bound Brook.

Close—12:35 p. m.

EL IZABETH—Direct.

Arrive—8:40 and 11:30 a. m., 2:35, 7:00 p. m.
Close—7:30 a. m., 1:45, 4:20 p. m.

NEWARK—Direct.

Arrive—8:40 and 11:30 a. m., 2:35, 7:00 p. m.
Close—7:30 a. m., 1:45, 4:20 p. m.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Arrive—7:15, 7:55 a. m., 2:00, 5:23 and 8:00 p. m.
Close—7:30 a. m., 2:00, 5:47 p. m.

WATCHUNG AND WARRENVILLE.

Arrive—12:15 p. m.
Close—6:30 p. m.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD MAILS.

Arrive—7:45 p. m.
Close—6:45 p. m.

Office open from 7:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

E. H. REED, P. M.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

VOL. XL — PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMEBER 3, 1908. — NO. 36

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

NEAR DEATH IN FLOOD

Borough Man Narrowly Escapes With His Life Near Fredericksburg, Va.

TRIED TO FORD A RIVER.

Raging Torrent Sweeps Horses and Wagon Away and Only Timely Assistance Prevents Fatalities.

Plainfielders have read with much interest the accounts in the newspapers of the terrible havoc wrought by floods in the South during last weeks storms, but none of them knew until yesterday that a well known boroughite came near being one of the victims. He is W. F. Williams, of Somerset street, who has just returned from a business trip to Fredericksburg, Va., during which he underwent a hair-raising experience in a river that had been transformed into a raging torrent. He barely escaped with his life and was fully two days in recovering from the ordeal.

Mr. Williams' trip called him to a large stock farm twenty miles from Fredericksburg, reached only by wagon. It was raining when he left the city and by the time he had transacted his business there was a veritable cloudburst. It was necessary for him to return North at once and he insisted on starting back to Fredericksburg despite warnings from the owner of the farm that it would be dangerous as the rig would have to ford rushing streams, bridges being a rarity in that section of the State.

The only conveyance that could be secured was a covered spring wagon used for carrying milk to the Fredericksburg creamery and the Plainfielder decided to cast his lot with the driver. They passed through three creeks in safety but at the fourth got across only after a desperate struggle, during which the water was over the body of the vehicle. At the fifth and last ford, they made the attempt to get through despite warnings from people held up by the storm and escaped with their lives by the merest chance.

The horses had barely breasted the rushing waters when the were swept from their feet. To make matters worse, part of the harness was torn from their backs and the outfit began to go down stream. Mr. Williams and the driver were repeatedly immersed from head to foot and held to the wagon only by standing on top of the milk cans and climbing to the top of the vehicle. They would undoubtedly have been drowned but for help arriving as men camped on the river bank witnessed their plight and managed to get ropes to them. With their aid in pulling, the horses finally got to the opposite bank and safety.

The exhausted men were taken to a shelter and given treatment but it was fully an hour before they were in anyway recovered. Mr. Williams' overcoat and other belongings were swept away and he was unable to make a change of clothing because of his grip being among them. The men in camp could give him none and he was forced to go on to Fredericksburg in the partially dried raiment. The remainder of the trip was accomplished in a driving rain in a hired buggy and he landed in Plainfield in the same bedraggled garments.

Funeral of Miss Little.

A large number of relatives, friends and neighbors attended the funeral service of Miss Jessie May Little, which was held from the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Little, on Sandford avenue, at 3 o'clock. Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, rector of Grace church, of which Miss Little was a member, was in charge of the service. There was a great many floral tributes from the host of friends of Miss Little and the family, including wreaths, bouquets and cut flowers. During the service Elmer D. Runyon sang, two selections very sweetly, "In the Hour of Trial," and "Sometime We'll Understand." The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Struck by Falling Brick.

An employe standing at the foot of a forty-five foot tower being constructed at the Metuchen power plan of the Public Service Corporation by Wyman & Haberle, of this city, was struck on the head with a brick yesterday afternoon receiving severe injuries. The brick was accidentally dropped off the top of the chimney by one of the workmen. Mr. Wyman, who was nearby at the time picked the injured man up and brought him to this city in his auto, where the wounds were dressed. The man's home is in Somerville and he was sent there afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Shirley, of College place, returned yesterday after their outing at Naples, Me.

MANY ENTRIES FOR LABOR DAY RACE MEET

The Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club has arranged an attractive card for the race-meet to be held at the driving park, Labor Day afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, and as a large number of entries have been received in each class, good sport is promised all lovers of racing. A feature of the afternoon will be a match running race, half-mile, for $200 a side, the horses to carry 125 pound weight. This race will be between Marcus Hoyt's "The Conscript," and Hugh Gormley's "Little Don." Another feature will be a half-mile running race, best two out of three heats, catch weight.

The club has met with great success this season with its race meets and should be supported by those interested in good sport. Every effort is being made to bring the best horses here and make the races close and exciting. The card for Labor Day is as follows:

2:30 Trot.

Tom Sharkey, William Gross; Hazelwood, J. P. Buckalew; Maud C., R. L. Edwards; Lavinia Brook, M. Harris; Andy, Frank Ayers; Helen Nelson, J. B. Osborn; Sudney Leland, J. B. Guttridge; Ben Butler, Henry Uhrhahn; Lady Sidnut, C. B. Smith.

2:28 Trot and Pace.

Bay Prince, J. P. Buckalew; Fred V., Frank Irving; New Day, H. W. Evans; Lady Onward, William Gross; Joe McGregor, George Forgerson.

Match Running Race—Half-mile.

"The Conscript," Marcus Hoyt; "Little Don," Hugh Gormley.

Running Race—Half-mile.

Ida G., William Gross; Bowery Lass, Cornelius McCarthy; Benlonhurst Queen, C. F. Yorke; Ingraham, C. F. Yorke.

TYPHOID FEVER CASES ON OUTSKIRTS OF CITY

Several cases of typhoid fever have recently developed in the West End of the city, calling for prompt action on the part of the Board of Health. The source of infection while not definitely determined, is known in all but one or two cases, to be outside of the city. Health Officer Lum, however, has the cases well in hand, and every effort is being made to prevent a further spread of the disease.

The original case was that of a man who contracted the fever in the vicinity of New York and came here ill with it, but so far as can be learned the other cases cannot be traced to him. As typhoid is not placed in the contagious disease class the Board of Health has not quarantined the local cases, but other known preventatives are being employed and constant search for sources are maintained. In a majority of cases the patients have been seriously ill, but it is believed they will recover. The Board of Health wants it known that typhoid fever is not prevalent in the city, and believes that if the truth could be learned the few cases would be traced almost entirely to outside sources.

Abrams-Bacon Case Dismissed.

Contradictory testimony about a quarrel between Morris Abrams and Mrs. Amanda Bacon at the house Mrs. Bacon rents from him at Fourth and Liberty streets caused City Judge Runyon to delay his decision in the matter at the hearing last week, but today he announced at the session of city court that he had decided to dismiss the complaint. Each party claimed the other had applied insulting epithets at the time Abrams called at the house some ten days ago to inform Mrs. Bacon that he had sold the house she was renting from him to trustees of the Shiloh Baptist church. The testimony of Mrs. Ruggles, a colored washwoman who was at Mrs. Bacon's at the time of the verbal encounter, had much weight with the judge in framing his decision. William G. DeMeza represented Mrs. Bacon and Harry C. Runyon was Abrams' attorney.

County Tax Board Busy.

The Union County Board of Taxation, of which F. H. Andrews, of this city, is a member, has been busily engaged during the past two weeks visiting several cities and towns in the county for the purpose of inspecting real estate and determining true values. Although the total valuation has been determined there is likely to be some changes and the tax rate for the year will probably not be announced before the middle of the month.

—Get a Penmanship Souvenir from Drake College exhibit, Saturday evening, 240 West Front street, near Babcock building. 9 3 4

REPUBLICANS ARRANGE TO BEGIN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

Little business of importance was transacted at the September meeting of the Republican City Committee, held last night. Considering the fact that it is still warm weather the attendance was good, but there was no disposition on the part of the members to engage in an animated discussion of the political situation. *Everything was reported to be mov*ing along smoothly.

Chairman Winfield S. Angleman was in the chair and at the suggestion of some members a committee was appointed on speakers for mass meetings to be held during the fall. These were appointed: First ward, F. Buckle; Second ward, Frank L. Holt; Third ward, Duncan W. Taylor; Fourth ward, Andrew McCardell. Amos Andrews was named as *a committee of one to provide a ban*ner, bearing the portraits of the Presidential and Vice-presidential nominees to be suspended in the business section.

As soon as County Chairman F. H. Smith returns home from his summer outing plans will be discussed relative to mass meetings and there is every reason to think a number of prominent political speakers, as well as some of the candidates will be heard here this fall. The city committee plans to wage a spirited campaign not only for the National ticket, but the local county and State nominees as well.

MILIKEN BROTHERS GRANTED RECEIVERSHIP EXTENSION.

Although the receivership of the Milliken Brothers, the former Plainfielders' concern, which became involved in financial difficulties, which has now been in force since June, 1907, expired yesterday after one extension, it has been further extended for a month to allow the working out of a plan of reorganization. The receivers' counsel, Sullivan & Cromwell, have drawn up a plan by which the company will start in again with increased working capital, and it is said that a large interest in the new company will be taken by an independent steel interest.

On confirmation of this rumor was obtainable at the offices of the receivers yesterday. Since the receivers have been in charge the company has made money notwithstanding the hard times which have fallen upon the steel industry.

August Heckscher, William L. Ward, and J. Van Vechten Olcott, the receivers for Milliken Brothers, applied yesterday to Judge Adams of the United States District Court for leave to continue business until Oct. 1, which was granted. They stated that the cash receipts from June 11, 1907 to August 26, 1908, were $3,749,773, and disbursements were $3,194,667, leaving a balance on hand August 26 of $555,106.

YEAR'S LAST SERVICES AT THE NETHERWOOD CAMP.

Christian Endeavorers from Trinity Reformed church visited the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp last night and were in charge of the open-air meeting in the camp auditorium. About twenty-five members of the church society attended, and the meeting was in charge of W. F. Oliver. The leader took for his subject "Gratitude" and his remarks were practical and inspiring. Prayer was offered by W. R. Krimey. In connection with the service of song by the camp children, Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Young sang "Thy Will be Done" and "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." Miss May Randolph acted as accompanist. "The Glory Song" was pleasingly rendered as a duett by the Misses Harriet and Anna Randall, who were accompanied by Miss Lucie Corlell.

Hughes Fawcett will be in charge of the service tonight, and tomorrow night the service is to be in charge of members of the First Baptist church, of New Market. Rev. George H. Gardner, the pastor, will accompany a large delegation from the church.

Snake Bite Kills a Dog.

Mrs. Susan Rockwell, of Washington Valley, lost a valuable black and tan dog yesterday, the result of being bitten by a copperhead snake while running about the mountains Sunday afternoon. The dog, a thoroughbred, was not only a family pet, but was loved by all the children of the neighborhood with whom it was a constant companion.

—For the benefit of housewives who want peaches for canning, Neuman Brothers have secured a big assortment to be shown tomorrow. The lot will be disposed of at $1 per basket.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Squires, of West Eighth street, are the parents of a son, born yesterday. Mrs. Squires was formerly Miss Jean Douglas.

PROBING WILL END SOON

Excise Commission Plans to Complete Labors by End of the Month.

THREE GENERAL MEETINGS

Local Option, Temperance and Liquor People Will Be Given an Opportunity to Present Their Views.

The State Excise Commission will end its labors by the latter part of September with three general meetings, where an expression of opinion will be had from all persons interested in any side of the liquor question. In the coming week the mayor and corporation attorneys of every city in the state will receive a letter from the commission asking them to attend a meeting in the Assembly Chamber at Trenton on September 28. No sworn testimony will be taken at this meeting, the idea being to have those who are present take part in a general discussion, setting forth what they think to be the views of the citizens of their respective communities on the excise question.

September 29 will be given over to the temperance and local option people. Letters have already been sent to bishops, ones of the Episcopal church; Bishop O'Connor and Bishop McFaul, of the Roman Catholic church, and the heads of the Presbyterian, Methodist and other denominations in the state, asking them to inform the clergymen under them that if they have any suggestions to make regarding the liquor traffic the commission will be glad *to hear them on that date. If neces*sary the meeting on September 29 will be carried over until the next day.

A day or two after the latter hearing the saloon men, brewers and distillers will be given the floor and asked to give their ideas on the liquor traffic. At none of these hearings will sworn testimony be taken, it being the idea of the commission to have the discussion full and free, so that the commission may get at the facts of the case, which they expect to aid them in making their recommendations.

The commissioners are familiar with conditions in every section of the State, as a matter of fact, before going to a city to hold a hearing, the commissioners knew just what testimony they would bring out regarding conditions. One more hearing will be held in the northern part of the state, that at Dover on September 10.

HUNGRY, STOLE TOMATOES; GETS TWENTY DAYS

William Totten, who claims he has been out of work and decidedly shy of meals for several weeks past, stole several cans of tomatoes from a freight car near the freight house yesterday, and was nabbed by Roundsman Maurice Higgins on com*plaint of the railroad authorities last* night. Judge Runyon sentenced him to twenty days in the county jail.

Totten, whose father is one of the stone carters on the Washington Valley road job, told the Judge that he had been out of work for more than a month, and had eaten nothing since Sunday night. He said that he was driven to desperation by hunger and took the tomatoes for food.

Asked if he had ever been arrested before, Totten said that he had served ninety days at Somerville for stealing a pair of horse blankets belonging to W. J. Conroy, of the borough. He took the blankets from the harness shop, "to get square" with Conroy, for "firing" him. He also told the Judge that he had served a sentence at New Brunswick.

Druggists Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Druggists' Association was held at the C. J. Lake residence yesterday afternoon, when reports for the year were presented and these officers were elected: President, Jasper Cadmus; vice-president, Peter B. Hodge; secretary and treasurer, B. J. Schreiner. T. S. Armstrong was chosen as the representative of the association to attend the annual convention of the National Druggists' Association to be held in Atlantic City two weeks hence, and B. J. Schreiner was elected as the alternative representative.

Mayor Townsend Home.

Mayor Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield, returned today from his summer vacation spent in the Adirondacks, and has once more taken up the reins of borough government.

Parents of Twins.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Schenck, of Regent street, are the parents of a fine pair of healthy twin sons, born yesterday morning.

SEASON'S FUND FOR BABY CAMPS TOTALS TO $244.76

During the summer months, $244.76 has been received at The Daily Press office in donations to the two summer camps for children doing such an excellent work among the poor and needy in providing the young folks with summer vacations. Of this money, $203.88 has been subscribed to the fund started in the columns of The Daily Press for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on Johnson's Drive, and the balance, $40.88, is for the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp fund. The King's Daughters' Camp is a local charity, and the city's poor and sick are given a few weeks' vacation sojourn on the mountain's crest by the City Union of King's Daughters. At Netherwood, Miss Sara Curry, a worker among the poor of the tenement-house district in New York city, has a camp for the little New Yorkers.

The King's Daughters' Camp closed last Saturday and during the months it was open 1,080 children and 283 mothers from city and borough were given vacation outings. These figures, secured from Mrs. Frank Jones, chairman of the camp committee, show a big increase in the work this year over last, when 900 more children were given outings. The money contributed to the cause through this paper will be turned over to the Camp officers immediately. Mrs. Jones, in speaking to a Daily Press reporter today, said that the accommodations at the Camp were fully taxed during the entire summer and that the camp was at present inefficient for the work on the scope planned for the adequate assistance of the local poor. "The year has been an especially hard one for the poor," she said, "and there have been many cases of sickness and need brought to our attention. As far as possible these have been accommodated at the Camp."

The Netherwood Fresh Air Camp closes Labor Day, and some of the children have already been taken back to the city. There have been on an average 200 children and several mothers at the camp all summer, and each delegation has remained at the camp about two weeks.

YOUTHFUL CYCLIST CAUGHT VIOLATING LIGHT ORDINANCE.

James Neal, a cycle club member, who is in the habit of riding his wheel nights, was haled before City Judge Runyon at the city court today charged with violating the local ordinance by riding without a light on East Sixth street last night. He arrest was made by Patrolman Thomas Flatley, who told the judge that he had warned the lad on a previous occasion about the ordinance, which is still enforced although the biking craze has died out.

The officer said that when he told Neal, who was riding with another cyclist, to light up, he jeered at him as they rode away. Neal denied this, but acknowledged that his friend, whom he knows only as "Percy," had coughed after the pair left the officer. Judge Runyon told the prisoner that he must remember policemen were not to be scoffed at in the discharge of their duty, and dismissed the case.

Pleasure Trip to Boynton.

A party of Plainfielders and several out-of-town guests enjoyed an automobile trip to Boynton Beach, yesterday afternoon, making the journey in Thompson's auto-bus. At the beach some of the party enjoyed the excellent clam chowder served there, while others spent the time tripping the light fantastic and in other ways that were afforded by the management. Those in the party were Miss Etta S. Raybert, Mrs. Geo. Mears, Mrs. Peter Nielsen, Mrs. A. C. Hall, Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, Mrs. M. L. Force, Miss Lillian A. Force, Miss Mary Seed, Miss Mary Robinson, of this city; Mrs. Robert French, of Westfield; Mrs. J. B. Dovell and daughter, Miss Marion Dovell, of Newark; Mrs. William Egbert, of Brooklyn, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Colthar.

An Approaching Wedding.

Mrs. Emma L. Baldwin, of Dunellen, has issued invitations for the wedding of her daughter, Miss Emma Edna Baldwin, to Frederick Burgess Tallamy, of West Front street. The ceremony will take place in the Dunellen Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening, September 16, at 7 o'clock. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's mother on North avenue.

Secretary Parker Back.

General Secretary Herbert E. Parker, of the Y. M. C. A., resumed his duties at th association today after a month's vacation. He returned home last night with his wife and daughter, who have been sojourning at Binghamton, N. Y. Mr. Parker has been at a conference of the Religious Work Directors' Institution at Silver Bay for the past two weeks

HUDSPETH MAY RUN BRYAN'S FIGHT IN EAST

W. J. Bryan's campaign in the east may be under the personal direction of ex-Judge Robert S. Hudspeth, chairman of the New Jersey Democratic committee. He has the appointment under advisement. This information comes from Colonel John A. Tomlinson, member of the Democratic national committee from Alabama, who was in Jersey City yesterday to call on Mr. Hudspeth. "Bob" Davis has unbounded faith in Hudspeth.

Mr. Bryan is to visit Jersey City on September 15 to confer with the party leaders in New Jersey. He will reach Jersey City early in the morning, when the conference will be held.

National Chairman Mack was in conference last night with Mr. Hudspeth, Senator Culberson, Colonel Johnson, of Tennessee; John W. Tomlinson, Josephus Daniels and James B. Kerr. He told a reporter that it would be two or three days before he announced the name of the chairman of the eastern committee.

"Oregon will declare for Bryan by a substantial majority," declared Samuel White, president elector from that State, who was a visitor yesterday at Democratic headquarters, at the Hoffman House. "The normal Republicans majority of 30,000 will be wiped out at the November election. The Republican party is torn by dissension.

"The failure of the Republican party to restrict Japanese immigration will also militate against their success, not only in Oregon, but in all the Pacific coast States, where the Jap is regarded as a greater menace than the Chinese.

"Mr. Bryan will carry not only Oregon, but also Nevada, Montana, Colorado, California and Utah."

CLINTON AVENUES TO PLAY M'NULTY BROS. TEAM

The Clinton Avenues will have for their opponents on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, the strong McNulty Bros.' team, of New York, comprised chiefly of minor league players, and it will give the locals a swifter test of their strength. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock and there is every indication that the largest crowd of the season will be at the Oval.

The lineup of the visitors will be as follows:

A. Fancher, 1b, former of Richmond, S. I.; W. Masterson, 2b, formerly of the Hudson River League; Dercsler, 3b, formerly of Brooklyn F. C.; McGrath, ss, formerly Hudson River League; W. Clarke, lf, of the North Shore League; P. Earle, of the Ontarios; McKenna or Harrigan, p. McKenna was formerly of the Eastern League and Harrigan of the Connecticut League.

The Clinton Avenues will line up as follows:

Barnes, 1b; Brit. Martin, 2b; Emery, 3b; Jack Martin, ss; Beesley, c; O'Loughlin, rf; D. Scott or Snyder, lf; Schott, lf; Randolph, p.

McNulty Bros.' team has won sixteen of the eighteen games played this season, defeating Carteret's Union team, Inwoods, Waldens, Passaic, N. Y., Cedarhurst, Parkville, Marlborough, Woodsides, Harlem A. A. and other equally strong clubs.

Nine Principals for Eight Schools.

Charles J. Baxter, formerly of this city, State Superintendent of Schools, has informed the Orange Board of Education that its appointment of Edwin S. Brady as a principal is illegal and that he may look to the city to be paid his salary. In consequence of this opinion the city has nine principals for the eight schools. Whether the services of a principal are or are not needed, the superintendent says, is a matter which the law leaves to the discretion of the school board.

Not Our John.

John Taylor, rag-time specialty artist and member of the Hunterdon county Prohibition party's official quartet, breaks into print today to announce that the John Taylor who was in the court house yesterday, was a visitor from Newark. The Plainfield John has a clean record for law and order and the similarity *in names has caused him much in*convenience in responding to inquiries from friends as to why and how he secured the $10 to pay the fine imposed.

Fishing Trip to Prince's Bay.

John J. Kenney and Charles R. Talers spent yesterday fishing at Princess Bay. They brought back a big catch of lafayettes. The trip was made in Mr. Kenney's automobile.

—Daily Press want ads pay.

WOLVERTON FOUND GUILTY

But City Judge Runyon Will Reserve Sentence Until October 6.

COUNCIL TO HEAR FACTS.

Industrial Home Manager Declared to Be in the Wrong in Treatment of 90-Year-Old S. S. Vermeule.

Declaring that Arthur Wolverton, manager of the Industrial Home, is guilty of assaulting 90-year-old S. S. Vermeule, an inmate of the Home and handling him with unnecessary roughness at the Home Aug. 1, City Judge William N. Runyon announced at the city court today that he would not pass sentence until Tuesday, October 6. In the meantime, the magistrate stated he will lay the entire matter before the Common Council and allow it to be further threshed out at the session of the city fathers next Tuesday night.

The testimony of City Physician C. B. Lufburrow, who was in conversation with S. S. Vermeule at his regular visit to the Home on Monday after the alleged assault on the old man by the manager was received at today's hearing. The physician said that Mr. Vermeule began talking about the affair as soon as the doctor entered his room, saying "The outrageous have got to stop." Dr. Lufburrow inquired what he meant and was told that Manager Wolverton had beaten the man. He said that he was shocked to hear of any such cruel treatment to a man of Mr. Vermeule's years, and stated that he would look into the matter.

Leaving the room, the doctor met the manager in the hall and the two went back to Mr. Vermeule. Mr. Wolverton told the story of the incident, denying any assault or roughness. Appealed to by the doctor, Mr. Vermeule would not deny the manager's statements, but said he was going to consult a lawyer about the matter. Dr. Lufburrow said he examined the old man and found that, aside from an abrasion on the knuckle of his right hand, he was not bruised or injured.

S. S. Swackhamer, retained as counsel by Mr. Vermeule, is out of town, and was not present at either yesterday's or today's hearing. Frank Vermeule, nephew of the old man, spoke up from the "gallery" just before William G. DeMeza started to sum up the case for the manager. He asked that he be allowed to swear him as a witness, declaring that he could testify as to the condition of Mr. Vermeule who was taken to his home soon after the accident. He said that his aged uncle is afraid to go back to the Home. Judge Runyon decided that the testimony would not be pertinent, and Mr. Vermeule, replying "All right, I'll shut up," turned and left the court-room.

In summing up the case, Mr. DeMeza claimed that the manager would have no reason for any attack upon the old man, as charged, and hinted that dissatisfaction on the part of the inmates of the Home was the only reason for the complaint. He emphasized the fact that Mr. Vermeule was not touched until Mr. Wolverton declared in his testimony, he refused to go when spoken to.

The question of the manager's actual rights as a resident at the Industrial Home was the subject of much discussion by those present at the hearing. Mr. Wolverton claims that, apart from the fact that he is paid a salary by the city, that he has the use of six rooms in the front of the building and gets board for himself and wife at the city's expense, that he has the rights of a private citizen to the front part of the house, and that inmates of the home are not supposed to come around to the front of the house at all.

Frank Vermeule stated today that warrants for perjury will be sworn out by S. S. Vermeule against Manager and Mrs. Wolverton, whose testimony was received in connection with the hearing of the case yesterday.

Funeral of J. D. Davis.

Rev. Orange Shoop, pastor of Grace M. E. church, officiated at the funeral of John D. Davis, held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Sanders, of Prospect avenue, Dunellen this morning at 9:30 o'clock. Following the service, which was touchingly simple, the body was taken to Mr. Davis' former home at Bridgeville, Del., where the interment will be made in Riverside Cemetery.

Only Routine Business.

Routine business was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the North Plainfield Firemen's Relief Association, held last night in the borough council chambers.

TRUNK SEWER CONFERENCE

Committee from City Council Discusses Project with Bound Brook Officials.

AGREE TO ENTER SCHEME.

Dunellen Previously Declared Itself Favorably and the Proposition is Now Assuming Definite Shape.

The proposition to establish a trunk line sewer as suggested by Mayor Charles J. Fisk in his message to the Common Council, which was followed by the appointment of Councilmen R. I. Tolles, Duncan W. Taylor and Charles C. Randolph and Frederick E. Mygatt as a special commission to take the matter up with the various towns in the vicinity of Plainfield, has taken definite shape and substantial progress has been made in dealing with the matter.

It was suggested by Mayor Fisk that the commission communicate with the governing bodies of nearby towns, including Fanwood, Scotch Plains, North Plainfield, Dunellen, Bound Brook, Raritan, Somerville and New Brunswick for the purpose of arranging for conferences, the idea being to establish a trunk sewer that would cover these towns. This was done after which the commission met to outline its plans which are to be presented to the different municipalities.

The first conference was held Tuesday night, August 18, at Dunellen, where the commission met Mayor Harry Swackhamer and the members of the Borough Council. The proposition as presented was favored unanimously by the Dunellen officials and they promised to lend their support and bear their share of the expense of investigation by competent engineers. It was recognized by the Dunellen people that the building of a trunk sewer would remove the objections to Plainfield's sewage beds, as it would mean the doing away with these beds which are located so near to the borough, and at the same time would afford an opportunity to sewer Dunellen. The conference was a very satisfactory one to all present.

Another conference was held at Bound Brook last night with Mayor Dr. Roberts and the Borough Council of that place, in addition to Mayor Swackhamer and the Council of Dunellen, together with W. J. Butterfield and Councilman Charles L. Nichols, of the North Plainfield Council, attended the meeting and were invited to take part in the discussion of the subject. After the presentation of the suggested plans Mayor Roberts and the Council retired to talk the matter over in executive session, explaining beforehand that the object of the work of the Plainfield officials they were entitled to know where Bound Brook stood. Following the executive session the Plainfielders were informed that the Bound Brook officials favored the proposition and were ready to stand a share of the expense for the employment of competent engineers and a thorough investigation as to the feasibility of the scheme.

Mayor Roberts informed the commission that the State Board of Health had given Bound Brook until 1911 as the time when it must stop emptying sewage matter into the Raritan river and it was recognized that other arrangements would have to be made and possibly the enactment of special legislation which would give Bound Brook the relief it will need.

It was expected that Somerville and Raritan would be represented at the conference last night, but it was learned that the officials of these towns did not receive notice in time, and besides some of the officials are away at present. There seemed to be no doubt, however, but that both of those municipalities would favor the plan. New Brunswick will also be invited to join the proposed trunk line sewer if it so desires.

Now that the Plainfield commission has received the assurance of the support of Dunellen and Bound Brook to the proposed sewer, the next step likely will be to learn the probable cost of such a sewer, where sewage beds can be located and other important facts which would naturally arise through such an investigation. The commission realizes that there is considerable opposition not only among the members of the Plainfield Common Council, but on the part of many citizens, to the proposition to take North Plainfield into the city's system of sewers, and there is a feeling that if the proposition should be put to a vote it might be defeated, hence the interest in the trunk line sewer.

Another important fact from Plainfield's point of view is that if it should be decided to take the borough in it would be necessary to issue bonds to make extensive improvements at the sewage farm, including several additional beds to take care of the extra sewage matter. In any event it would only be a question of time when Plainfield would have to expend a considerable sum of money to increase the number of beds and make improvements to care for the natural increase of sewage in Plainfield.

If a trunk sewer is established it would not only be cheaper in the end for Plainfield, but the combined cost of maintenance of the new system would be correspondingly cheaper; besides the nuisance naturally arising from having the beds in this city, would be abolished and Dunellen would also get relief.

No thought has as yet been given as to the probable location of the sewage beds. In Mayor Fisk's message he suggested a point below New Brunswick, which permit the sewering of that city. There are several points in that part of Middlesex county which would be ideal for sewage beds and where they would not be a nuisance. In the opinion of the officials of Dunellen and Bound Brook the cost of installing pipes in either town would not be heavy and Plainfield would escape this expense, it only being necessary to connect the trunk line sewer at Dunellen. The cost of maintenance would be distributed proportionately among the cities and towns benefitted according to the amount of sewage received from each place.

Thus far the commission has made no further overtures to Scotch Plains and Fanwood, other than to notify them of the proposed plan. The members feel that if the officials of these places should now come to them if they want to benefit by the trunk sewer. There is no question but that Fanwood and Scotch Plains will want to go into this sewer and will arrange for a conference with the commission. New Brunswick will probably be heard from within a short time. It is the purpose of the commission to present a report to the Common Council early this fall, as North Plainfield is especially anxious for a decision. There is still the question before the Common Council of taking the borough into the city's system of sewage, but if the trunk line plan is found feasible and is adopted, the borough would favor that and would be willing to give up the idea of getting into the city's system.

WOMAN SUCCUMBS IN LONG WALK TO THIS CITY

Kate Kennedy, aged about fifty years, who claimed Newark as her place of residence, was found prostrated in a doorstep on Spring street, Elizabeth, last night by a patrolman. He assisted her to police headquarters, where she was detained overnight. This morning when she was arraigned before Judge Mahon, and asked for an explanation of her condition and how she happened to be in Elizabeth, she recited a pitiable story.

She said that she had been living in Newark, where she was employed. Recently, through a slackness in work, she was thrown out of her position. Being out of funds as well as work, she decided to walk to Plainfield where she claimed to have friends who would assist her. She managed to walk as far as Elizabeth, where her strength gave out. Sick at heart and completely discouraged and realizing that it would be a physical impossibility for her to continue on her journey on foot, she dropped into the first handy place, where she was found by a policeman.

The woman's story was believed by Judge Mahon and it so touched his heart that he not only provided her with a substantial breakfast, but gave her sufficient money to take her to Plainfield on the trolley. She was deeply grateful for the kindness shown and assured Judge Mahon that she would find friends and comfort when she reached Plainfield. Those who happened to be in the police court when the woman was arraigned were deeply impressed with her story and stood ready to lend any assistance in their power, immediately afterward the woman left for Plainfield.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following local real estate transfers have been recorded at Elizabeth:

Isser Einhorn to Abraham Rotgun, southeasterly side West Third street, 137 feet southwesterly of New street, Plainfield $1

Central Park Realty Co. to Clara V. Biddle, northerly side Prospect avenue, 135 feet easterly of Kensington avenue, Plainfield $1

Ernest Sharp et ux to Clara V. Biddle, southeasterly side East Seventh street, 150 feet southwesterly of Leland avenue, Plainfield $1

Clara V. Biddle et vir to Ernest Sharp, southerly side Prospect avenue, 100 feet westerly of Edgewood avenue, Plainfield $1

Petra S. Pearce et al to James C. Hansen, northerly side Jackson avenue, 242 feet westerly of George street, Plainfield $400

David Hand et ux to Johanna K. Nelson, southwesterly side Leland avenue, 100 feet of E. Sharp, Plainfield $1

Attendant at September Wedding.

Mrs. Rufus Story Rowland, of Stelle avenue, will be the bride's attendant at the wedding September 10 at Point Pleasant, of Miss Marjorie Rea and Henry Hugert Laughlin, of Pittsburg, Pa. The young man and woman are members of famous steel making families in Pittsburg, and their marriage will unite fortunes of millions of dollars. Mrs. Rowland was Miss Margarita Frew, of Pittsburg.

WHAT MUST BE DONE TO BECOME NATURALIZED

Now is the time when the men who are Americans by choice and not by birth begin to worry about getting naturalized and securing the necessary papers to enable them to vote at the November election. Secretary Zlor of the Union County Republican Committee, has been deluged with requests for information on the question of naturalization, and from his fund of knowledge gained through more than a score of years in active politics, he has compiled a little booklet that tells the whole story. Here is what he has to say, addressing himself directly to "inquirers who may become naturalized."

"Free white persons and persons of African nativity and their descendants.

"No person who opposes or does not believe in organized movement.

"No person who belongs to a society that holds or teaches opposition to organized government.

"No person who belongs to a society that teaches the duty, necessity or propriety of assaulting or killing any officer or officers of the United States or any other organized government.

"No person who is a polygamist or who is a believer in polygamy can be naturalized or made a citizen of the United States.

"You can take out first paper the first day you arrive in the United States if you wish to do so and are 18 years or over, or you can wait three years and then make application. You must live five years in the United States before you can ask for your second paper.

"Your first paper must be two years old, and you must be full five years in the United States before you can ask for your second paper.

"You can get your first paper as soon after you are 18 years old as you see fit.

"You must have lived in the United States before you were 18 years old, that time counts just the same as it does after.

"A first paper taken out in one State is good in any other State. To get first paper, go to the court house in the county where you live, and the county clerk, authorized by law to do this, will make it out for you. To get your first paper will cost you $1. No witnesses are required for your first papers. You must make application for your second paper within seven years after you get your first paper, because the first paper becomes useless after that length of time.

"When you have lived five full years in the United States and your first paper is two years old, go to the clerk of the county where you live and ask for your second paper. You must bring your first paper along as it has to be left with the clerk of the court as a part of your application for second paper. You must take two persons with you who are citizens of the United States as witnesses.

"These witnesses must make oath that they know you and that you have lived in the United States all the time for five years or over, and that you have lived in the State of New Jersey one year, and that you are a good and moral man and will make a desirable citizen. The one year in the State is counted as one of the five years in the United States. A woman and minor children can get a second paper on the first paper of her husband if he has before becoming a citizen. To get your second paper will cost $1.

"A person 21 years old who has been honorably discharged from the United States army, who has served five years in the navy of the United States, who has re-enlisted in the marine corps of the United States, need not take out first papers.

"When you come before the judge to get your certificate of naturalization first, bring two witnesses you had when you filed your petition for second paper. (If witneses were not born in this country they must bring with them their citizenship papers).

"Second, be prepared to answer questions regarding the Constitution of the United States, also to name the officers of the United States and the State of New Jersey, where and how the laws are made.

"Third, be sure and have the date of your birth, the date of your arrival in this country, the date you became acquainted with your witnesses, and if you have lived in more than one State the date of your removal from one State to the other.

"Fourth, the day set apart for the naturalization of citizens at the present time is Tuesday, and is the third Tuesday of each month.

"Fifth, about ninety days is required for the inspectors to investigate the petitions for naturalization before the naturalization is heard by the court.

"Sixth, for thirty days before a general election no person can get second paper."

An Easy Diagnosis.

Singleton—I am feeling miserable, doctor. I can't get my mind on my business, my appetite is gone, and I can't sleep. What would you advise me to do?

Dr. Wise—Marry the girl. Two dollars, please.—Chicago News.

MT. BETHEL FARMERS PLAN A GRANGERS' PICNIC

The farmers of Mt. Bethel and vicinity are greatly interested in the arrangements for a grangers's picnic to be held at Mt. Bethel on Saturday, September 12, and so enthusiastic are they over the coming affair that it is likely to be an annual one. A committee has been appointed to take full charge and invitations have been sent out to all the farmers residing within easy distance of Mt. Bethel.

The program for the day will include an abundance of good speeches in which former Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer and James E. Martine may take part; a baseball game, all kinds of athletic contests to be followed by dancing in a pavilion. Everyeffort is being made to arrange an attractive program, a feature of which will be a band concert.

It is also planned to run stages from this city to Mt. Bethel making it possible for Plainfielders to attend the outing. The idea is to make the picnic a big success and judging by the way the farmers have promised their support this is now assured and it will probably equal those held annually at Verona Lake, Flemington and other points in New Jersey.

WESTFIELD CHURCH TO GET BOOK LONG MISSING

Session Book No. 2 of the Westfield Presbyterian church, that has been missing for about fifteen years, is to be returned. It is doubtful, however, if the mystery surrounding the abstraction of the missing book will be cleared.

The trustees of the church up to fifteen years ago had the complete set of sessions books, covering the records of the church from 1735, when the church was organized, and forming a complete history of the church proceedings to date.

About that time F. W. Woodruff, of Morristown, one of whose ancestors was one of the founders of the church, had the book And made extracts from some of its data. The books were then nominally in the custody of Rev. T. W. Cadwell, pastor of the church.

Several years later, Mr. Woodruff had occasion to again refer to the books, and was surprised to find that the second book of the series was missing. The book contained the records of the church up to 1800. Diligent inquiry at that time failed to bring the book to light. Rev. Mr. Cadwell disclaimed any knowledge concerning its whereabouts, stating that it had been taken from the church chest without his knowledge a short time before.

Mr. Woodruff being desirous of securing some data in the book, offered a reward of $100 for its return, and to this Rev. T. W. Cadwell, who at present is in charge of a pastorate at Atlantic City, feeling the disappearance reflected on him, added another $100. Advertisements were published in the local papers, and Rev. Mr. Cadwell has received several anonymous communications which he has answered through the papers.

Now, he has informed the trustees, his anonymous correspondent promises to send the missing book to him this week, so that he can return it to the trustees of the church.

Throughout the proceedings the unknown writer has observed the strictest secrecy, and in his last promise to Mr. Cadwell states no reward will be asked.

The trustees are awaiting the return of the book with considerable anxiety. James T. Pierson, chairman of the trustees, declares that in future the set of books will be guarded with extra vigilance to prevent further disappearances.

Plainfielders in the Philippines.

Word has been received here from Mrs. Samuel B. Pearson, wife of Lieut. Pearson, and daughter of Mrs. Daniel Vermeule, of Orange place, that she met Captain and Mrs. Yule upon their arrival at Camp McGrath, Batangas province, Luzon. She and her were en route for one of the interior posts below Batangas. Mrs. Yule was Miss May Sandford, of East Front street, and she knew Mrs. Pearson before her marriage when she lived in Plainfield. The greetings were sloppy one for it had been a long time since Mrs. Pearson had seen anyone from or near her former home. She writes that Captain and Mrs. Yule were well and had enjoyed their sea trip.

Will Undergo Eye Treatment.

Henry Dressell, of Lincoln place, has been compelled to temporarily give up his work as linotype operator in the Daily Press composing room to undergo treatment for a serious eye trouble. Winfield Cram, of Newark, is taking his place.

An Anchor to Windward.

Jeweler—You say the inscription you wish engraved of the inside of this ring is to be "Marcellus to Irene?"

Young Man (somewhat embarrassed)—Yes, that's right. But—er—don't cut the "Irene" very deep.—Exchange.

BOROUGH MAN COMPOSES A POLITICAL MARCH SONG

W. J. Conroy, the well known borough ite who was at one time a candidate for Mayor on the citizen's ticket, has composed the words and music of a stirring, political march song, which he has dedicated to Colonel Bryan. It is entitled "The Bryan March," and is now out in published form and will be used in the approaching campaign by many Democratic clubs. Mr. Conroy has written several hymns in past years but this is his first effort at marches.

The music of the composition is very catchy and is fitted to the following words:

Now stop your making noise,
And get together boys;
Your cause is just and will abide all time.
With victory in sight,
We'll rally to the fight,
And win this glorious land for Billy Bryan.

Cho.—We're out to win; we're out to win.
Sing it loud and long.
We're out to win; we're out to win.
Arouse the mighty throng.
We need not spend one cent,
With song and argument,
We'll win this glorious land for Billy Bryan.

Now, let's take off our hats,
And like good Democrats,
Gather round the Democratic shrine.
We'll humbly bow our heads,
And there renew our pledge,
And win this glorious land for Billy Bryan.

With music we will march,
With uniform and torch,
And every day present a solid line.
We'll raise our voices high
With cheers we'll fill the sky
And win this glorious land for Billy Bryan.

This land of ours is great,
We love her every state;
From Massachusetts' way to Oregon.
From Gulf of Mexico
'Way up to Idaho,
Let's win it all for peerless Billy Bryan.

He's honest, and he's true,
His enemies are few;
He stands for God and country every time.
With such a man to lead,
We'll overthrow rank greed;
The Democrats can win with Billy Bryan.

SALES AND RESTALS BY THE MULFORD AGENCY.

The following sales and rentals have been made through Mulford's real estate agency during the summer months: Mrs. Annie K. Kampman has purchased William K. Abbott's residence, 1,000 Madison avenue near Ninth street, and has taken possession; Mr. F. Bickel, of New York, has purchased the Baker homestead on East Fifth street, and will take possession as soon as alterations are completed; H. N. McEvoy, of Brooklyn, has purchased the house at 726 Kensington avenue and will take possession this Fall; Chester B. Lawrence, of New York, has rented the M. Cutchen house on Madison avenue for three years, formerly occupied by Mr. Beebe, and takes possession September 1; George T. Seabury, of New York, has rented 727 Carlton avenue, and has taken possession.

I. D. TenEyck, formerly in charge of the Industrial Home, has rented 18 Fairview avenue, and has taken possession; Ward D. Williams has rented Frank H. Smith's house on Madison avenue, and takes possession September 1; F. H. Gilchrist, of Chicago, has rented 139 DeLacy avenue, belonging to the Hyde estate, and has taken possession;

H. B. Lovell, of Plainfield, has rented the new house at Park avenue and Laramie road, and taken possession this week; Dr. H. E. Bawright, of Grove street, has rented C. A. Reed's house, 726 Watchung avenue, and takes possession this week; Mrs. Carrie W. Wilson, of Fort Edward, N. Y., has rented Mrs. Curtis Bates' house at Sixth and Washington streets, and takes possession September 10.

LIVE STOCK COMMISSIONERS GUESTS OF FRELINGHUYSEN.

The commission on live stock, which was created by the law put through the State Legislature last winter, chiefly by the influence of State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, was the guest of the senator at his home near Raritan yesterday. They were there for the purpose of getting affairs in shape to put the new law in operation.

It is expected that arrangements will soon be perfected whereby the farmers will have an opportunity of breeding a fine class of horses without great expense to themselves. Officers of the grange also met with the commission, which promises to be of great value to the farmers of the State, if they take advantage of the opportunities offered.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Babcock, of Leonardsville, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sarah R. Babcock, to Charles Potter Titsworth, of this city.

TRAMPS COMPEL BOYS TO GIVE UP THEIR CLOTHING

Clad in the discarded rags of some "knight of the road," Paul Heldenand Harry Stoller, two New York lads still in their teens, walked into the police headquarters at 2 o'clock this morning and told how two tramps had held them up at the Greenbrook banks and made them strip off their good clothes and put on old suits which were given them.

According to their story, the boys live at 371 East Tenth street, New York, and were "beating" their way to Philadelphia in search of a job. Stoller is 15 and Holden a year younger. They came through town on a freight but when their train stopped at the Greenbrook banks for water, two evil-looking knight-hoppers, who were attracted by the clothes the boys were wearing, accosted them with the order to strip and put on two old suits they had. The young fellows said that the hobos looked as though they meant business, so they complied with their request. Gathering up the boys' good clothes the two hold-up men boarded a westbound train and disappeared.

Heldenand Holden surveyed each other and concluded that they wouldn't have much of a chance getting work in the clothes left for them. They accordingly came back to this city, and as they were pretty well chilled when they arrived, they were allowed to remain at headquarters until morning, when they started off, saying that they would return to New York.

SALARY HEREAFTER FOR MIDDLESEX'S SHERIFF

The next Sheriff of Middlesex county will occupy a unique position on the list of those who have held the Shrievalty.

That, in the ordinary course of events, will not be due to any personal achievement, but chiefly to a Legislative statute promoted by Senator Wm. H. Jackson changing the emoluments of the office from a fee basis to a straight salary. This, whoever he may be, the man who succeeds Andrew S. Church will be the first Sheriff in the history of the county to receive remuneration at the rate of so much a year.

The coming Sheriff will be paid $4,500 a year. Under the new statute the County Board of Freeholders is compelled to pay the undersheriff, the warden of the county attaches of the office and also pay for the feeding of the prisoners in the jail.

That, however, is not the only distinction the new Sheriff will possess, for he already is slated for a salary which will amount to the tidy sum of $5,000 a year.

The State census of 1905 puts the population of Middlesex county at 97,036. In the intervening years since then the figures have jumped above the 100,000 mark, and according to statute, the Sheriff is entitled to a salary of $5,500 instead of $4,500. The tantalizing circumstances is that although county officials are positive, with everybody else, that there are more than 100,000 people in Middlesex, no action can be taken until the census of 1910 is turned in. Therefore, Mr. Church's successor in reality will be out $1,000 each year he is in office until the third and last year of his term.

SOMERSET REGISTRY BOARD NAMES ELECTION OFFICERS.

The Somerset County Board of Registry and Elections has announced the following election officers for North Plainfield borough:

Republicans—First district, Daniel Hulick; Second district, Wm. W. Bowley; Second district, Asa D. Pope, J. Archibald Davie; Third district, Alfred R. Tranchard and David C. Allen.

Democrats—First district, Joseph G. Wood, Fred Kohler; Second district, Isaac N. Shepherd, James Walker; Third district, Levi C. Lane and Lambert B. Bodine.

The officers for North Plainfield township are Edward Texter and W. J. Hendrickson, Republican, and Edward D. Canning and Francis Bartles, Democratic. In Warren township they are W. Howard Toms and Jacob Schomp, Republicans, and Lemuel B. Tunison and Adam E. Betzold, Democratic.

ASK FOR FURNITURE BIDS.

Equipment for Somerset's New Court House Will Soon Be Purchased.

William J. Logan, chairman of the committee in charge of the erection of Somerset county's new court-house, has issued a call for bids for the furniture for the new structure. The bids will be received at the office of the architect, J. Riley Gordon, 402 Fifth avenue, New York, September 5, from 10 to 11 a. m.

The new court-house is rapidly nearing completion and presents an imposing appearance.

"Asphalt-lene" on Grove Street.

City Engineer A. J. Gavett has had "Asphaltorene" spread on Grove street, between Front street and the bridge, believing that it will aid largely in preserving the macadam there, where the travel is so heavy.

"NOT PRIVATE PROPERTY"

Township and Local Land Owners Say Dr. Grossmann Trespass Law is too Strict.

MAP SHOWS ROADS IN TRACT.

"King" Carrar Claims Detectives Had No Right to Carry His Goods Further Than Century Road.

Township residents in the vicinity of the Grossmann School at Watching Crest are incensed over the action of Professor Maximilian P. E. Grossmann in claiming as much territory in the neighborhood of the school as private property, and assert that in moving "King John" Carrar's furniture out to Johnson's drive Wednesday afternoon, the Newark detectives, acting under orders from the school, exceeded their legal rights.

Local people, too, who own lots in the vicinity, claim that Professor Grossmann is over-stepping his legal rights in his strict enforcement of the trespass law at Watchung Crest. Thirteen years ago, when the property at Watchung Crest was owned by the Mountain Park Land Company, maps were prepared of the tract, and several lots sold on streets laid out there. The survey was made by H. C. Smith and the map, dated 1895, was filed at Somerville.

In his dispossess proceedings, Professor Grossmann did not take into account the so-called Century Road, which runs directly in front of "King" Carrar's stronghold, the school barn, forming a highway from Somerset street to Scotch Plains. This Century Road is the old highway used by township people before Johnson's drive was cut through when the Mountain Park Inn Company was in charge of the hotel, which is now the school building. When Johnson's drive was cut through, the Wooden road, connecting the drive at its nearest point with the Century road, carried most of the traffic from the west end of the road, which joined Somerset street near the old Demler's hotel, now Hugo Maul's. Another accepted road, which was never used much, was the so-called Valley View drive, between the Century road and Johnson's drive, running in a general easterly direction. Professor Grossmann is again alleged to have violated the law in carrying Carrar's furniture and household goods across this highway.

"King" Carrar and his attorney are "wise" to this violation, which will doubtless play an important part in the damage suit case started by the French ex-gardener because the rain wrought havoc with the goods, left standing in the highway near the Bishop home. Local property owners in the vicinity will doubtless bring the matter of the accepted map to the attention of the school authorities, in an effort to secure a leniency not shown in Professor Grossmann's strict enforcement of the law against "trespassers" in the vicinity of the school, situated in the centre of the Mountain Park Land Company's tract.

In speaking about the matter to a Daily Press reporter today, Professor Grossmann said: "I consider this agitation merely an antagonistic move by the township people, who want to dig up something against me. When I bought the school property, about five years ago, I bought it in good faith as one piece of land, and understood that no roads crossed it.

"Certainly no roads exist today. The old Century Road, which at one time crossed my place, is now nothing but a ditch. It is of no earthly use as a road. I certainly object to having people use it in its present condition, but will be willing to open it for the use of all, if the township will put it in passable condition and maintain it as a highway. This is the only public road I have any knowledge of which crosses my property."

OPPOSED REAPPOINTMENT OF AN ELECTION OFFICER.

At a recent meeting of the Somerset County Board of Elections there was some discussion over the appointment of Theodore Van Cleef as one of the Democratic election officers in the third district of the township of Franklin. Mr. Van Cleef has held the office for a number of years and his name was submitted to the county board by Michael W. Scully, chairman of the Democratic county executive committee, for another term, but objection was raised to his appointment because, it was alleged, he was incapacitated.

When the county board met to consider the case Mr. Scully presented evidence to show that Mr. Van Cleef was competent to do the work and a petition, signed by many Democratic voters of Bast Millstone, expressed their confidence in him. The board confirmed his appointment, although George Gerhardt, the county committeeman from that district, was opposed to him.

"Well, you are no longer poor and struggling."

"You are only half right. We are rich, but still struggling. My wife has the society craze."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

UNION'S VOTING STRENGTH

List of Polls in the County, Exclusive of Rahway, is 25,158.

PLAINFIELD'S TOTAL 4,622.

Second Class Railway Property for the Same District Shows Aggregate Valuation of $2,951,325.

The Union County Board of Taxation made public yesterday a list showing the number of polls assessed as far as returns have been made. According to this list the voting strength of the county, exclusive of Rahway, from which there have been no returns, is about 25,158.

There are 14,688 assessed bills listed in Elizabeth. The list is of more than usual interest in view of the fact that the county and city are on the eve of a political campaign that promises to be one of the hottest of recent years, drawing out every possible voter. The list is as follows:

Springfield township	294
Clark township	85
Cranford	814
Elizabeth—
First ward	1,468
Second ward	836
Third ward	1,959
Fourth ward	995
Fifth ward	1,285
Sixth ward	987
Seventh ward	1,505
Eighth ward	1,136
Ninth ward	1,230
Tenth ward	1,045
Eleventh ward	1,064
Twelfth ward	1,188
Fanwood Borough	41
Garwood Borough	247
Linden Township	332
Linden Borough	198
Mountainside Borough	92
New Providence Township	169
New Providence Borough	166
Plainfield—
First ward	946
Second ward	1,014
Third ward	790
Fourth ward	1,825
Roselle Borough	579
Roselle Park Borough	634
Summit—
First ward	774
Second ward	757
Union Township	696
Westfield	1,033
Total	25,158

The board received from the State Board of Assessors yesterday a certificate of valuation and assessment of second-class railroad property in Union county. The table shows a total of $2,951,325, and in a number of districts there is a marked increase. In Elizabeth, however, a loss is seen. The valuation in this line is nearly three thousand dollars less than that of 1907. Linden township is shown to have several thousand dollars less than last year, and Union township also loses. On the other hand Plainfield, as shown by Clark township, Fanwood borough, Garwood, New Providence, Roselle borough, and Westfield. The list by districts follows:

Clark Township	$ 9,616
Cranford Township	66,309
Elizabeth	2,377,128
Fanwood Borough	8,751
Fanwood Township	126
Garwood Borough	6,974
Kenilworth	5,925
Linden Borough	5,242
Linden Township	27 362
New Providence Borough	2,151
New Providence Township	1,659
Plainfield	192,069
Rahway	44,599
Roselle Borough	18,405
Roselle Park Borough	29,824
Springfield	3,900
Summit	98,897
Union Township	17,360
Westfield	24,522
Total	$2,951,325

INDEPENDENT GUN CLUB PRIZE WINNERS ANNOUNCED.

Dr. B. F. Leonard has been declared the winner of the season's holiday shoot recently concluded under the auspices of the Independent Gun Club. Mr. Leonard made a score of 275 out of a possible 300 at the 200-yard rifle range, and leads all other competitors for the title in class A. He will receive a gold medal, while G. A. Strong, who made 270 out of 300 in shooting during the season will receive a club badge as winner of second honors in the trophy shoot.

In Class B, the gold medal for winner goes to M. D. Dilts, with a score of 214, and W. E. Stewart, who secured 172, got second prize, a club badge. At the traps, the season's title goes to John Wirth, a handicap man. He made a score of 97 out of a possible 100. C. W. Krausse won second honors, with an 86, and L. M. VanDyke, whose score was only two points lower, finished third in the season's shooting. All will receive medals.

"I have here," said the long-haired visitor who had wandered into the sporting editor's room by mistake, "I have here a short poem I wrote on Niagara Falls.'"

"Don't say?" snorted the sporting editor. "How in thunder did you keep your paper from getting wet?"—The Catholic Standard and Times.

ANOTHER FAIR DIVISION

Frank P. Smith Said to Have Secure Settlement of His Contested Claim.

GETS BIG SHARE OF ESTATE.

Latest Story of the Famous Case Has it That He Received One-Seventh of $8,000,000.

Frank Peterson Smith, one of the Fair heirs, who for several years has been contesting the settlement of the estate of his sister, Mrs. Charles L. Fair, who, with her husband, was killed in an automobile accident in France, has been successful and recently, it is said, he received one-seventh of her $8,000,000 estate from Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mrs. Hermon Oelrichs, the amount he has been fighting for through his attorneys, Chandler & Beekman, of New York. Mr. Smith is now believed to be in Kansas, where he went immediately following the settlement.

At the time Mrs. Fair was killed, efforts were made to find her brother, who was then believed to be near Boulder, Col. He was not found at the time, but later he showed up and his first action in settlement was action to recover one-seventh of the estate, basing his suit on the fact that Mrs. Fair died forty minutes after her husband did, and therefore, inherited his fortune. To substantiate this he traveled to Europe, where the French gate-keepers at the spot where the accident occurred, expressed a desire to tell a new story, and declared that Mrs. Fair lived nearly an hour after her husband died of his injuries.

Another heir, who it is said, has benefited by the settlement, is Miss Lillian Smith, daughter of Frank Peterson Smith, and she is reported to have received $61,000 as her portion. She had been working as a servant in a boarding house at Shenandoah, Ia., and was the missing daughter of Mr. Smith, who was to himself a "lost" heir to the big estate, according to the supposition of the other heirs. Instead of being "lost," however, Smith had been busy for three years ferreting out every detail of the circumstances surrounding and following the tragic death of his sister and her husband. His search carried him to Europe, California and through New Jersey.

"The rightful heirs to the estate," said Smith in an interview during the proceedings, "are the late Mrs. Hannah Nelson, our mother, and mother of Caroline D. Smith Fair, Mrs. Joshua Leonard, William B. Smith, of Caldwell; Charles J. Smith of Boulder, Col.; Mrs. George Bun*nel, of Union; Mrs. Sarah Leffler,* now dead, whose children are Mrs. Frank Leonard and Frank J. Smith."

Suit was brought last spring by Smith, who declared that he would press his claim to the highest court if necessary. He was joined by the other contesting heirs who said that the big estate of Mrs. Fair had been taken by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mrs. Herman Oolrichs.

TO CROWN KING AND QUEEN AT LABOR DAY SHOOT.

The old German custom of choosing a king and queen at the holiday shoot at the rifle ranges will be carried out by the Independent Gun Club at its Labor Day festival in the grove, and club members, both men and women, will compete at the targets on the holiday, when there will be shooting all day. The Germans generally decide who shall be king and queen by shooting at an eagle but conditions at the local range makes this impracticable because of the danger from spent shots. Accordingly the Independents will select their rifle rulers at the 200-yard range, and the shot which strikes nearest the centre of the bulls-eye will decide who shall be king and who shall be queen.

Rifle and trap shooting will be the main attraction at the club range all day, and aside from the contest to determine the king and the queen there will be two merchandise shoots, for valuable prizes, at the rifle range and traps. The value of the prizes will aggregate $75. Dinner will be served at the grove and the holiday will be celebrated there from early until late.

Given a Birthday Party.

Harry Barton, son of Mrs. H. Barton, of West Fourth street, was given a party Wednesday evening in celebration of the eighth anniversary of his birthday. The affair was held at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Overland, of West Fourth street. Games were played, after which refreshments were served. A feature was a birthday cake bearing eight lighted candles.

Regatta at Bound Brook.

The Bound Brook Boat Club will hold its annual regatta on the Raritan river, near the clubhouse, Saturday afternoon, September 12, from 2 to 5 o'clock. There will be four events as follows: Canoe single, boat race, canoe tandem and launch race. Cups will be offered the winner in each event. The canoe races will be open to all.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Books in the Library of Interest to the Hunter.

Baker, Sir S. W.—Wild beasts and their ways; reminiscences of Europe, Asia, Africa and America.

Brock, Edward—Way of the woods.

Burrough, John—Camping and tramping with Roosevelt.

Cartwright, D. W.—Natural history of western wild animals, and guide for hunters, trappers and sportsmen.

Chapman, Abel—Hunting in Norway. (See his Wild Norway).

Cleveland, Grover—Fishing and shooting sketches.

Edwords, C. E—Camp-fires of a naturalist; the story of fourteen expeditions after North American mammals.

Gillmore, Parker—Encounters with wild beasts.

Grinnell, G. B., and Roosevelt, Theodore—eds. Trail and camp-fire.

Herbert, H. W.—Frank Forester's field sports of the United States, and British provinces of North America.

Hrsaday, W. T.—Camp-fires in the Canadian Rockies.

Hunter's handbook: containing a description of all articles required in camp, with hints on provisions and stores and recipts for camp cooking.

Kephart, Horace—Camping and woodcraft.

Mayer, A. M.—ed. Sport with gun *and rod in American woods and wat*ers.

Meunier, V.—Adventures on the great hunting-grounds of the world.

Reynardson, C. T. S. B.—Sports and anecdotes of by-gone days in England, Scotland, Ireland, Italy, and the sunny south.

Roosevelt, Theodore, and others —Deer family.

Roosevelt, Theodore — Outdoor pastimes of an American hunter.

Roosevelt, Theodore—Ranch life and the hunting trail.

Roosevelt, Theodore—Wilderness hunter: an account of the big game of the United States, and its chase with horse, hound and rifle.

Schillings, C. G.—Flashlights in the jungle: a record of hunting adventures and of studies in wild life in equatorial East Africa.

Somerset, Duke of Beaufort— Hunting. (Badminton library).

Watt, J.—Sports and pastimes of people of England.

Suffolk and Peek—eds. Encyclopaedia of sport.

United States—Agriculture department. Game laws, 1907.

Walsingham, Lord, and Gallwey, Sir R. P.—Shooting. (Badminton library).

Watson, B. A.—Sportsman's paradise; or, The lake lands of Canada.

Wells, H. P.—City boys in the woods; or, A trapping venture in Maine.

White, S. E.—Mountains.

Whitney, C.—On snow-shoes to the barren grounds; twenty-eight hundred miles after musk-oxen and wood-bison.

Shields, G. O.—Big game of North America, its habits, habitant, haunts and characteristics; how, when and where to hunt it.

REAL ESTATE BROKER ARRESTED AT ROSELLE.

Alleged Swindler Wanted at Easton, Traced by Decoy Letter, Awaits Extradition.

Chief of Police John Kinney, of Roselle, arrested Carl Von Greve, said to be one of the cleverest real estate swindlers and forgers in the country, yesterday afternoon. Von Greve is wanted by the police of Easton, Pa., on several charges. His arrest was made on two warrants issued by Recorder Gordon. He will be shooting all day. The Germans generally decide who shall be king and queen by shooting at an eagle but conditions at the local range makes this impracticable because of the danger from spent shots. Accordingly the Independents will select their rifle rulers at the 200-yard range, and the shot which strikes nearest the centre of the bulls-eye will decide who shall be king and who shall be queen.

Rifle and trap shooting will be the main attraction at the club range all day, and aside from the contest to determine the king and the queen there will be two merchandise shoots, for valuable prizes, at the rifle range and traps. The value of the prizes will aggregate $75. Dinner will be served at the grove and the holiday will be celebrated there from early until late.

Detective Johnson claims that Von Greve is suspected of having forged numerous checks, deeds and mortgages. The charge made against him by Severecol & Wright is the forging of two contracts while in their employ.

Justice Smith sent the decoy letter to Von Greve at the direction of the Pennsylvania authorities after a check signed by Von Greve and indorsed by Smith had reached a bank at Wernersby, Pa. Smith cashed the check for the real estate man last Thursday night.

HOPELESS.

"Oh, what's the use of bathing?" sighed the shapely Miss Maginn, When she found the beach deserted of its joys.

For there weren't any men around to take a maiden in;
In fact, there weren't even any buoys.

—Philadelphia Record.

MISSING PAIR LOCATED

Peter Doeringer Finds His Daughter, Mrs. C. E. Kelly, Jr., Living in Detroit.

WAS WITH WILLIAM F. BIGGS.

Going West With Mr. Kelly, Woman's Father Meets Her With Biggs in Detroit Street—A Reconciliation.

Having located his daughter, who is the wife of Charles E. Kelly, Jr., of New Market, at Detroit where she had gone in company with William F. Biggs, of Greenbrook road, North Plainfield, with whom she left her home at New Market about two weeks ago, Peter Doeringer, of Vine street, returned home last night. Mrs. Kelly came with him and she is at present at her father's home in the borough.

Biggs, who deserted his wife and five children to elope with Mrs. Kelly, *was left in a cell at the Cen*tral police station, Detroit charged with abandonment, but will probably be freed upon his promise to return to the borough and support his wife. Since his elopement, Mrs. Biggs has been obliged to sell her home and household goods by a foreclosure of the mortgage, and is now boarding with her children, the oldest of whom is a girl about seventeen years of age.

Mr. Doeringer received a letter from his daughter in Detroit early *in the week and although she gav*e no address, he was determined to find her at all hazards and at once left for the west, accompanied by Mr. Kelly, her husband. They reported to the superintendent of the Detroit police upon their arrival in the western city but just after making the report, met Mrs. Kelly, who was with Biggs, walking on State street. Biggs, recognizing the two, immediately left Mrs. Kelly, who willingly accompanied her father and husband to their hotel, where a reconcilation was effected. The trio immediately started east, and arrived in this city last night.

Speaking to a Daily Press representative about the matter today, Mr. Doeringer said that a complete reconciliation had been made between his daughter and her husband, who are the parents of a three-year-old daughter and that everybody is satisfied with the outcome. He would not state what action would be taken against Biggs, who is still being held by the Detroit police.

THE PROBABLE SLATE FOR SOMERSET'S VOTERS

With Colonel Nelson Y. Dunham, of Somerville, as the most likely nominee of the Democratic party for State Senator in Somerset county this fall, to oppose Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who without doubt will be named to succeed himself by the Republicans, some attention is being given to the minor offices to be filled in that county. For member of Assembly William W. Smalley, of Bound Brook, has decided to accept a renomination on the Republican ticket and a petition endorsing him is being circulated. It is believed that the Democrats will name as his opponent Horace Codington, of Warren township, who is a brother of Freeholder Joel Codington and practices law in Somerville.

County Recorder Theodore O. Anderson has no opposition in the Republican party for a renomination. George W. Anderson, of Bound Brook, has been mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination. He is also a practicing lawyer in Somerville and was formerly the Deputy Surrogate.

Yes, She Knew.

Lord Houghton's sister was often annoyed at her brother's indiscriminate hospitality.

"Do you remember, my dear," he asked her at dinner one day, "whether that famous scoundrel X was hanged or acquitted?"

"He must have been hanged, or you would have had him to dinner long ago," replied the lady.—Tit Bits.

Authentic News.

First Husband—What do you hear from your wife on her summer vacation?

Second Husband—The local bank reports that she is well and happy. —Life.

Oh, So Helpful.

Now, "if at first you don't succeed,"
Before again you try,
Your "friends" appear from far and near
And grin and tell you why.

—Philadelphia Press.

Above the Crowd.

Dillaway—Talk about your aristocratic descent, why, my father often had 10,000 men directly under him.

Caraway—Ah, a general?

Dillaway—Well, not exactly.

Caraway—A wholesale contractor?

Dillaway—No, an aeronaut.—London Tit-Bits.

PLAINFIELD ELKS AT LONG BRANCH DEDICATION

A delegation of fourteen local Elks attended the dedication ceremonies of the Long Branch Elks' new $20,000 home yesterday afternoon, parading with representatives of forty other lodges in connection with the ceremonies. Those who made the trip from Lodge 885 were District Deputy A. D. Findlay, who officiated at the ceremonies in cooperation with Exalted Ruler J. T. Welsh, of the Long Branch Lodge; Former Mayor J. F. Buckle, Chief P. S. Kiely, Charles Wodiston, Frank Randolph, Charles Dunham, D. J. Carney, J. H. Nichol, George J. Finger, E. C. Westcott, Henry Pedefous, George D. Steven, Erwin Y. Neighbor and William Drayton.

The dedication ceremonies were here at 3 o'clock, in the presence of 5,000 visitors. New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania lodges took part in the parade which followed, and at 4 o'clock the exercises were public exercises at the Ocean Park Casino, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. The address of welcome was made by Mayor Charles O. McFaddin, of Long Branch. The home, which formerly the Garfield Inn, has been extensively remodeled and is now a house where the "Best People" are justly proud to receive guests. The Long Branch lodge was founded six years ago.

Y. M. C. A. ORCHESTRA GIVES ENJOYABLE CONCERT

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra of twenty-five pieces rendered a highly successful concert at the Netherwood Presh Air Camp last night, and each of the seventeen numbers on the program, especially arranged by Martin A. C. Korff, the leader, was greeted with enthusiastic applause by the three hundred camp children and large number of Plainfielders who visited the camp for the concert. A substantial offering was received, which Mr. Korff turned over to the camp managers.

The concert was held in the auditorium, which was lavishly decorated with the National colors. The three hundred mothers of the children met at the camp marched into the auditorium singing "Onward Christian Soldiers, played by the orchestra, and took seats reserved for them. As soon as the children had taken their seats, the entire audience joined in singing "America."

The two soprano solos by Miss Josephine Martin were decided features of the program. She sang "Sing, Smile, Slumber," and "Take Me, Jennie Dear." Dr. J. Hersey Buchanan, at the melodeon was her accompanist, and violin obligato was played by Martin A. Korff. Whitney Frazee played a cornet solo, "Beautiful Home of Paradise," and orchestra numbers especially applauded were the descriptive march, "Empire Express," "Plantation Echoes," "Dreaming," "Sweetheart Days" and "The Troublesome Rehearsal."

Mr. Korff led the orchestra, and B. F. Hadley, secretary of the camp, acted as master of ceremonies. At the request of Mr. Korff, the camp children sang several songs after playing by the orchestra. The musicians made the trip to and from the camp in a large stage.

Somerville Man to Wed.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Winifred Ethal De Castro, of Sag Harbor, N. Y., and John T. Fritts, a jeweler of Somerville. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride at Sag Harbor, on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 9. A large number of the groom's friends and relatives in Somerville will attend the ceremony.

Valuations in Fanwood.

The real and personal valuations in Fanwood Borough and Fanwood Township, as announced by the Union County Tax Board, are as follows: Fanwood Borough—real estate, $419,210; personal, $64,972; total, $484,182. Fanwood Township —real estate, $712,890; personal, $209,230; total, $1,228,790.

Planning a Hallowe'en Celebration.

The Somerville Civic Club is looking ahead to Hallowe'en and already preparations are being made for a big parade at that time. A meeting will be held in the near future for the purpose of getting the committees to take up the work and bring it to completion. The success of the affair last year was very gratifying.

Oriental Scarfs.

Would you care to look at the jaunty Panama sailor, banded with a real Oriental scarf, showing colors of orange, red, black and blue, that ends in an immense rosette with black quills thrust from the rosette? Oh, it is only $45, but very chic and becoming; and you will also see many for early fall wear, only they are less expensive. The scarf arrangement is very good and also appears on the soft, pliable white felt sailor hat.

At the Wedding.

"Who's going to give the bride away?"

"The newspapers."—Life.

FRANK L. HOLT INDORSED THE CITY'S VALUATIONS

Second Ward Republicans Make Him Their Choice for Councilman.

MANAFORD IN THE RACE.

Has His Petition Out and Will Make Determined Effort to Succeed Henry D. Hibbard.

Frank L. Holt, of Kensington avenue, is the choice of some of the Republicans of the Second ward to succeed Councilman Henry D. Hibbard, whose term will expire this year. This action was taken last night at a conference of representatives of the party from the Second ward held at Republican headquarters in the City National Bank building.

The conference was arranged by the ward members of the city executive committee, those present being Herbert S. Guinn, Frank L. Holt, Howard C. Tracy and Robert H. McConnally. It being their desire to give all Republican voters in the ward a chance to express their opinion on the subject, Mr. Tracy had an authorized statement from Councilman Hibbard, which he read, saying that owing to a pressure of business duties and the fact that he had already served two terms as Councilman, he declined to take a renomination. This settled the rumor as to where Mr. Hibbard stands.

After an informal discussion of the situation, it was decided to accept the name of Frank L. Holt as the nominee of the party from the ward to succeed Mr. Hibbard, and there being no opposition, he was the unanimous choice of those present for the nomination. The idea was presented that the Third ward was trying to take a hand in Second ward affairs and it appeared so ridiculous to the members of the party present that it was not considered worth denying. Mr. Holt, who is a New York lawyer, is spoken of favorably by all who know him. He is said to be thoroughly qualified for a position in the Common Council and his friends believe that if elected he will make a good record. He is spoken of as a strong Independent action and one who is sure to support the best interests of the city.

The fact that Mr. Holt was endorsed at the conference last night does not mean that he will have no opposition, for it was stated after ward that Francis Hansford will be a candidate for Councilman from the ward. His petition will be out today and his friends say that he has been promised at least one hundred signers. Mr. Hansford intends to make a determined fight for the honors. It is also probable that there will be other candidates and Mr. Holt will have to fight it out in the primaries.

The conference endorsed Howard C. *Tracy, L. M. Booth, Francis Han*sford and W. Mr. Corbin as Congressional delegates; Howard C. Tracy, Robert H. McCready and L. M. Booth as members of the Republican city committee and Henry C. Dekmatel and H. C. Williams as members of the Republican county committee. Mr. Holt will withdraw from the city committee in view of the fact that he will be a candidate for the Councilmanic nomination.

Not a little surprise was occasioned when Mr. Tracy in very complimentary terms sought to have the conference endorse Congressman Charles N. Fowler for a renomination. He said that he had made a close study of Mr. Fowler's record during the twelve years he has been in Congress and believed him to be especially fitted and qualified to continue representing the Fifth Congressional district. He declared him to be the best possible candidate and expressed the hope that he would be renominated. L. M. Booth and Francis Hansford also spoke in favor of Congressman Fowler and it was the sense of a majority of those present that he be renominated for another term.

Howard C. Tracy was chairman of the meeting and L. M. Booth the secretary. Among other Republicans present were Dr. T. S. Davis and Charles H. Hand, but they took no especial part in the discussion.

HOW'S BUSINESS?

"Business is poor," said the beggar.

Said the undertaker, "It's dead!"

"Failing off," said the riding school teacher.

The druggist, "Oh, rial," he said.

"It's all write with me," said the author.

"Picking up!" said the man on the dump.

"My business is sound," quoth the bandsman.

Said the athlete, "I'm kept on the jump."

The bottler declared it was "corking!"

The parson, "It's good!" answered he.

"I make both ends meat," said the butcher.

The tailor replied, "It suits me."

—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Pa, what is a trust?"

"An excuse for a drink."—Detroit Free Press.

THE CITY'S VALUATIONS

Official Figures Announced Today Give Local Ratables as $32,699,799.

INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR.

Second Class Railroad Property in Plainfield Valued at $192,069 —Tax Rate to Be Given Out in September.

The Union County Board of Taxation has completed the compilation of the figures for the county, including Plainfield, and while there may be slight changes made by the members, after an opportunity is given taxpayers to present their grievances, if they have any, the figures give the city a total valuation of land, buildings personal property, less deduction for debt and adding the valuation of second-class railroad property of $32,699,799, a substantial increase over that of last year. Plainfield's valuation on second-class railroad property amounts to $192,069.

Yesterday the county board received from the State Board of Taxation the figures regarding the valuation on railroad property in the county, the total being $2,951,325. The total real and personal property valuation in the county is $115,615,737, a gain of $4,211,000 over that of last year. Figures given out by some newspapers yesterday were *wrongly computed and made it ap*pear that the total valuation of Plainfield's property was $34,974,970. The tax rate will be announced early in September. The detailed figures for Plainfield are officially announced here as follows:

First Ward—Land, $1,788,263; buildings, $2,104,262; personal, $850,113; deduction for debt, $10,125; total, $4,712,575.

Second Ward—Land, $2,254,072; buildings, $3,482,578; personal, $915,831; deduction for debt, $9,850; total, $6,742,625.

Third Ward—Land, $2,122,368; buildings, $2,881,317; personal, $562,906; deduction for debt, $16,000; total, $5,550,592.

Fourth Ward—Land, $1,680,065; buildings, $2,827,585; personal, $1,034,500; deduction for debt, $170,406; total, $5,371,750.

FREEHOLDER SITUATION IN SOMERSET COUNTY

The Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders is now Democratic by the same margin of six to five and the Republicans will make a bitter fight for the control of the board, which has now been in the hands of the Democrats for one year. The terms of John V. Bunn, Republican, of Bernards; Joseph Fitzgs, Republican, of Bridgewater; Peter H. Smith, Republican, of Bound Brook Borough, and Thomas E. Gibson, Democrat, of Franklin, expire this year and already there are several candidates in each ballywick out for the nomination.

Mr. Bunn is slated for a re-nomination in Bernards township by the Republicans, although W. K. Osborn also wants it. Charles P. Dunster will probably be the Democratic candidate.

In Bound Brook Borough Peter H. Smith is slated for the nomination to succeed himself and there are several Democrats who want the office.

Charles A. Houston has filed a petition in Bridgewater in opposition to Joseph Fitzgs. It is said there is likely *to be a contest in the pri*maries. John Slattery, of Raritan, has filed a petition for the candidacy on the Democratic ticket and Jacob Shurts, one of the State prison inspectors, is also said to be out for the office.

It is *expected that Thomas E. Gib*son will be renominated by the Democrats in Franklin, yet he may have some opposition. For the Republican nomination John Clark, of Middlebush, and William Zieglerman, of South Bound Brook, have been mentioned.

Ambassador's Son Local Visitor.

Walter L. Hill, of Scranton, Pa., a prominent attorney in that city, has returned home after spending a part of his vacation with Dr. and Mrs. P. B. Cregar, of Grand avenue. Mr. Hill is a son of Dr. David Jayne Hill, ambassador to Germany, and a grandson of Rev. Thomas Hill, who was a one time pastor of the First Baptist church.

Just the Man.

"What we need," said the managing editor, "is a good, snappy book reviewer."

"Yes," replied the applicant's champion, "if you want a good, sharp, exacting critic, my friend is *just the man for you. He's an un*successful author."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Honors to Spare.

When it comes to hogging honors, how about the sweet girl graduate who also becomes a June bride?—Detroit Free Press.

The Costitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1908.

MR. MARTINE REPLIES.

Replying to an editorial in these columns a few days ago, reproduced from the Newark News, James E. Martine has taken occasion to further express himself relative to his stand in the Union county Shrievalty nomination. In an interview today he declares he was neither "wheedled or cajoled" into running for Sheriff; rather urged, that he might accomplish much good for the county and State. He declares that he does not feel that "it's an awful come down" except in the sense of number of citizens who may be called upon to vote for him, the Shrievalty being a county office.

"The dignity and honor of an office depends upon what the incumbent may through his conduct make it," continued Mr. Martine. "I confess the office was not sought by me, and is not altogether to my taste. I shall do nothing dishonorable to secure the same and hope, in the event of election, to so demean myself that I may have the enviable support and favor of all."

Major Carl Lentz, the former boss of Essex county, who since his retirement from active politics two years ago, has been residing with his family at his summer home in Belmar, gave out a statement yesterday to the effect that he believes New Jersey should be classified as a strictly doubtful state by the Republicans. The major believes that Monmouth county will give a larger Democratic majority than it did last year. He also believes that Essex county and Atlantic counties this year will go Democratic. He is rather doubtful of Camden county, but feels positive if the Republicans want to carry this State this year they will have to give battle as they never did before.

IN MEMORIAM.

Bishop James Newbury Fitzgerald.
To him, the cherished friend of early years,
This offering verse I dedicate with tears,

Fain would I, sacred to his memory dear,
A temple fair or lofty column rear,
Whose brazen epitaph should long record
The words of one anointed of the Lord;
But still shall live the memory of the just
When shafts lie prone and marble fanes are dust.

True to the Master whom he loved and served,
From duty's rugged path be never swerved;
By precept and example sought to teach
Of righteousness and temperance, and preach
Of faith and love, intent to magnify
His great commission and his office high—
Exiled himself that he might spread abroad
The glorious gospel of the Son of God;
Until at last, sore grieved and wounded deep,
In loving arms he laid him down to sleep.

Weep not that thou shalt see his face no more,
Nor hear his voice again upon thy shore—
His stalwart presence bide no more with thee—
Unseen, his gentle spirit still shall be Thy Summer guest, fair City by the Sea.

—THEOPHILUS BOND.

Plainfield, N. J.

Baby Parade Great Success.

The annual baby parade was held at Asbury Park Saturday and pronounced the most successful in its history. Miss Dorothy May Trible, of New York, who appeared in a sheath gown, won the first prize, a magnificent loving cup valued at $300. The second prize went to "The Village Blacksmith, Bob Fitzsimmons." The float showed a forge, with Gilbert Duff, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Duff, of Jersey City, with his leather apron and red shirt, at work at teh anvil. Standing near was the tiniest of tiny ponies, waiting for a new set of shoes.

Garden Hints.

Spray rose trees with insecticides at once. Prevention is far better than cure where blight is concerned, and insecticide is far more effective now than it will be if used later. Sow wallflower seed for next year's flowering. The new plants will be strong and sturdy when the first frosts come in the autumn.

"Dad, you told me always to take a woman's part."

"What of it?"

"Then why kick because the college dramatic club has cast me for the fairy queen?"—Louisville Cuorier-Journal.

AMUSEMENTS.

Proctor's Theatre, Newark, to give the public the biggest and best entertainment that can be obtained is strongly evinced by a perusal of the program offered his Newark Theatre patrons commencing August 31. The stellar attractions will be a mommoth spectacular production adapted from the poem of "Sheridan's Ride." It is as its name implies a stirring war drama with a cast of forty people comprising a company of infantry, a section of artillery a detachment of signal corps, and the principals headed by Carlyle Moore, the author, who is without doubt one of the best swordsman on the stage today. The fascinating intrigue and love interest prevails throughout, the climax is reached when the battle is fought on the stage in full view of the audience with Sheridan at Cedar Creek after riding from "Winchester Twenty Miles Away." Those jovial comedians of those wearing Days' fame, Howard and Worth, are with us after a year's absence with new tales of the early doings at Wellington, Missouri. A newcomer in the vaudeville ranks, Willard Newell, will present with the assistance of a capable company a crisp comedy entitled "Last Night." Johnny Johns, the dapper little black-face comedian, bids for favor with a new budget of songs and stories. Sam Shannon and his "Quick Lunch Girls" appear in a novel and well costumed singing and dancing ensemble act. The Sterling gracefully mingle clever juggling with laughable comedy. Carey and Dupree are a sure panacea for the blues. Other acts of like calibre and a new series of animated pictures will complete the bill.

"JOE M'GREGOR" WINS RACE-MEET HANDICAP

The matinee race-meet at the driving park Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club, was one of the best of the season and attracted a large crowd of lovers of good sport. The announcement that there would be a handicap race aroused considerable interest early in the fact that it was the first of the kind ever held here. It was really the feature of the afternoon and will probably be repeated.

There were five entries in the handicap event, the horse being handicapped from scratch to 150 feet and were given a standing start. George Forgerson's "Joe McGregor" won the race with a handicap of 150 feet, in good time. He finished fifth in the first heat, but took the next two in clever style. Henry Urhahn's "Dew Butler" was second, finishing second in two heats and third in the last. The summaries:

Running Race—Half Mile.

Dick Donnelly, Hugh Gormley...1 1
Little Don, C. McCarthy.....3 3
Bowery Lass, Hugh Gormley....2 2
Time—54 seconds, 53¾ seconds.

Class A—2:23 Trot.

Fred V., P. F.....2 1 2
New Haven, H. Evans.....1 2 1 1
Maud C., R. L. Edwards....4 4 3 2
Oracle, C. C. Brower.....3 3 4 4
Time—2:28, 2:30, 2:27¾, 2:30¼.

Class B—Handicap.

Joe McGregor, 150 ft.,
George Forgerson.....5 1 1
Ben Butler, scratch,
H. Uhrhahn.....2 2 3
Sidney Leland, 75 ft.,
C. C. Brower.....4 dr.
Lady Onward, 150 ft.,
William Forgerson.....3 3 4
Helen Nelson, 100 ft.,
John Osborn 1 4 2
Time—2:40, 2:36, 2:37½.

Class C—2:35 Trot.

Lady Sidnut, C. B. Smith.1 1 2 2 2
Asia, Phil. Jenner.....3 3 3 3 3
Tom Sharkey, W. Gross.....2 2 1 1 1
Time—2:41½, 2:38¾, 2:35, 2:38¼, 2:34.

MAN AND WIFE HAVE FIERCE STREET FIGHT.

Angry words between John W. Lane, who lives on Somerset street, and his wife, May, Saturday night at their home, led to a tongue-lashing, hair-pulling and beating-up contest, which the two had carried into the street when Borough Marshal Lemuel Pope arrested them as they tried to spoil each others' looks on Somerset street near their home. Both are colored. The police have no information as to how the fracas began, but some healthy blows were exchanged in the fistic argument before the officer "broke it up."

At their hearing today before Borough Recorder Dolliver each showed the personal results of the other's low temper and quick blows. The Recorder decided that both were at fault and fined the man and wife $3 apiece. They paid up and left the court-room good friends.

What He Wished.

The freight-paying end of the matrimonial combine had been trying to rad his paper for an hour, but was frequently interrupted by his wife's remarks. Finally he gave it up.

"I wish," he said, "that I possessed the knowledge of the ancient Egyptians."

"Why?' queried his better half.

"Judging from the mummies have seen," he replied, "they understood the art of making a woman dry up and stay dried up."—Chicago News.

CLINTON AVENUES LOSE

West End Team Drops a Close Game to the Somerville Nine.

MONTROSS PITCHED GOOD BALL

Took Delight in Aiding in Defeat of Fellow-townsmen—Umpire's Decision Criticised.

The Clinton Avenues lost their first game to Somerville at the latter place, Saturday afternoon, the score being 2 to 1, and it was sweet revenge for the Somerset county fans to see their rivals bite the dust in a closely contested game. That the teams are evenly matched is shown by the fact that the Plainfield boys took the first two games by scores of 2 to 1, and neither side has had an great advantage to speak of. After Saturday's contest was well under way, it was plainly evident that Manager Dorflinger's colts were not due to win. They were not quite up to their regular form and several good chances to score were lost.

Somerville scored its first run in the fifth inning, and it was chiefly due to the dropping of two fly balls, one by O'Loughlin and the other by Dick Scott. They were so easy that the misplays caused the guilty players to hang their heads. Pitch Montross, formerly, Jack Martin making a poor throw to Boelzley. The Clinton Avenues tied things up in the eighth, when Montross after allowing the bases to be filled forced Emery home. He then closed the gates. In their half of the eighth Somerville cinched the game when Miller got a hit, Montrors drew a pass and Broggy, who had fanned every other time at the bat, drove the ball to right field for two bases bringing Miller home with the winning run.

"Old War Horse," Montross, as he is now called, took great delight in defeating his fellow-townsmen. The luck was with Jimmie and several times he worked himself out of difficult holes by his clever work. The fact that nine Plainfield players were left on bases indicates the kind of ball he pitched, and yet Randolph pitched winning ball. He allowed but four hits and was in fine form Under ordinary circumstances he would have had no trouble at all in scoring a victory.

There was considerable criticism as to the work of Umpire Dulley. At times he appeared to be off on balls and strikes, but both teams suffered alike. His judgment of a play in the seventh inning was wrong accord ing to the rules, Somerville had a man on first base and one on second and Frech was at the bat, with no outs. Frech went down to first on a missed third strike of the catcher and when Captain Martin protested the umpire refused to call Frech out. Frech made a batsman out if, while first base be occupied by a baserunner, three strikes be called on him by the umpire, unless two men are already out. Considerable time was wasted in arguing the point, but the umpire would not give in.

Features of the game were the stick work of Barnes and O'Loughlin and the work of the Plainfield infield. Barnes and O'Loughlin each got a two-base hit, and the former also got two singles, while the latter touched Montross for a single.

The work of Staats in left field for Somerville, was noteworthy. He caught seven flies, some of them exceedingly difficult, and it was largely due to his playing that the home team won the game. The score:

Somerville.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Grimes, ss	0	0	1	5	1
Giles, c. f.	0	0	0	0	0
Miller, r. f.	1	2	0	0	0
Montross, p.	0	1	1	1	0
Broggy, c.	0	1	5	2	0
Frech, 1b.	1	1	9	0	0
Wilcox, 2b.	0	0	1	3	1
M. Enright, 2b.	0	0	3	1	0
Staats, l. f.	0	0	7	0	0
	2	4	27	10	2

Clinton Avenue.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Barnes, 1b.	0	3	8	1	0
B. Martin, 2b.	0	0	0	2	0
Emery, 3b.	1	1	4	1	0
J. Martin, s. s.	0	1	1	2	1
Boelzley, c.	0	1	9	2	1
S. Scott, c. f.	0	0	0	0	1
O'Loughlin, r. f.	0	2	1	0	0
Schott, l. f.	0	1	1	0	0
Randolph, p.	0	0	0	1	0
	1	9	24	9	4

Somerville .....0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 x—2
Clinton Ave. .....0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1

Earned runs—Somerville, 1. Two-base hits—Barnes, O'Loughlin, Broggy. First base on balls—Of Randolph 1; off Montross, 1. Struck out—By Randolph, 10; by Montross, 5. Left on bases—Clinton Avenue, 9; Somerville, 8. Double plays—M. Enright, unassisted; B. Martin, Barnes to Emery to Boelzley. First base on errors—Somerville, 3. Stolen bases—Barnes, (2), J. Martin, Schott, Miller, Frech. Hit by pitcher—Giles, Montross. Time of game —1:45. Umpire—R. H. B. Dulley.

Clara—I dread to think of my thirtieth birthday.

Stella—Why, did something unpleasant happen then?—Judge.

PLAINFIELD A. C. WINS TENTH STRAIGHT GAME

The Plainfield A. C. made its ten straight on Saturday afternoon, when it defeated the Iola Club on the Clinton Avenue grounds by a score of 12 to 5. Slocum and Mulvaney the crack college twirlers opposed each other in the box and the honors were carried off by Slocum, who was given better support than that accorded Mulvaney. Each team had previously won a game, the first going to the Iolas by the score of 8 to 3 and the second to the Plainfield A. C., by a score of 3 to 0.

Anxiety to win the third and deciding contest resulted in several costly misplays by both teams. The game was witnessed by a large number of spectators. The Plainfield A. C. will play the fast Climax A. C. team on Saturday on the Clinton Avenue grounds. The score:

Plainfield A. C.

	R.	H.	E.
Driver, c. f.	0	1	1
Hand, s. s.	3	0	0
Lathman, 3b.	3	2	1
Mullen, c.	2	2	0
Slocum, p.	1	0	0
Pope, 1b.	0	0	1
Wunderlich, l. f.	0	1	1
Hanson, 2b.	0	0	1
Trenley, r. f.	2	1	1
	12	9	6

Iola Club.

	R.	H.	E.
Connolly, 2b.	0	1	1
Hallard, 1b.	1	1	3
Mulvaney, p.	2	4	0
Fare, l. f.	0	1	0
Ramsberger, c.	0	2	0
Harding, s. s.	0	2	2
Mesmer, r. f.	0	0	1
Staats, 3b.	1	0	1
Howe, c. f.	1	1	0
	5	12	8

Iola Club .....2 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—5
Plainfield A. C. .3 0 2 1 3 5 0 0 x—12

Two base hits—Ramsberger, Wunderlich, Mullen. Bases on balls—Off Mulvaney, 7; off Slocum, 1. Struck out—By Mulvaney, 7; by Slocum, 11. Left on bases—I. C., 7; P. A. C., 8. Hit by pitcher—Ramsberger. Umpires—Hunter and Mollesson.

HIGHLAND A. C. DROPS GAME TO THE ST. MARY'S

The Highland A. C. was defeated Saturday afternoon on Hope Common by St. Mary's team in a fast and well-played game by the score of 6 to 5. Connelly and Fowler and Whiters were in the points for the Highlands, while Squier and Mosher officiated for St. Mary's. Conshaw kept up his strikeout record by fanning thirteen batsmen and allowing but four hits, while Hansen fanned five and gave four hits. Squier has a strikeout record of nine and but four hits were made off his delivery.

The game was filled with excitement from start to finish, each team having a large crowd of rooters present. The play of both teams was marked by sensational fielding. Each team has now won a game. The score:

	H.	A.	C.
	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Hurst, 1b.	0	2	5	2	0
Miljen, ss.	0	2	1	0	1
Higgins, c. f.	0	1	0	0	1
Curtis, lf.	0	0	1	0	0
Howsen, 2b-p	0	0	4	2	0
Neumiller, 2b-rf	0	0	0	0	0
Corn, 3b	1	2	0	3	1
Conshay, p	1	0	0	1	0
	2	7	11	8	3

Totals

	St.	Mary's
	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Fowler, 1b	0	0	12	0	0
McClinton, ss	0	1	2	3	0
Conroy, 2b	1	1	0	1	0
S. Brown, 3b	0	2	1	0	0
T. Brown, cf.	0	1	0	0	0
Kiely, rf.	1	1	1	0	0
Squier, p.	3	1	10	0	0
Mosher, c	1	2	10	0	0
Cullen, lf	0	1	0	0	0
	6	8	27	11	0

H. A. C. .....0 0 0 0 1 0 0 2 0—3
St. Mary's .....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 x—3

First base on balls—Conshay, 4; Hansen, 1; Squier, 5. Struck out—by Conshay, 13; Hawsen, 2; Squier, 9. Left on base—H. A. C., 4; St. Mary's, 8. Double play—McClinton to Taylor. Base on errors—St. Mary's, 2. Hitby pitcher—Conshay. Umpire—John Galbraith and Near. Scorer—J. Mottley.

A French Dressing.

Three tablespoonfuls of lucca olive oil, one tablespoonful of vinegar, half a teaspoonful of salt, quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper. Mix the salt and pepper with oil. Drop in the vinegar slowly, beating continuously with a fork, and it will become thickened and creamy, like an emulsion; a dash of paprika or cayenne may be added. A few drops of tarragon vinegar improves lettuce salad.

No Occasion for It.

Tess—But didn't you scream when he kissed you?

Jess—Nonsense! Of course not; his mustache doesn't tickle as much as all that.—Philadelphia Press.

Y.M.C.A. WINS CLOSE GAME

With Three Regulars Absent. Association Boys Beat Montrose A.C., 4 3.

GAME WON IN THE SEVENTH.

Scott Pitched Great Ball and Local Nine Shows Itself to Be in Good Form Still.

Just to keep in practise in case it's necessary to trim the Newark association nine again before the State baseball championship is awarded, the local Y. M. C. A. nine trimmed the Montrose A. C. team by a score of 4-3 on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon. The visitors came from Newark, and played good ball, for the score was 2-2 up to the "lucky seventh," when the Plainfielders bunched their hits and scored two, establishing a winning lead, although the visitors also scored in their session with the stick.

The Y. M. C. A. nine was crippled by the absence of Crain, Lozeau and Pond, who are spending their vacation days in realms even more suburban than "The City Beautiful," but Manager George L. Listman, "Jack" Payne and Joseph were in uniform instead. The manager made two hits, as many as any other player, and Payne and Joseph divided the run-getting honors by each completing the circuit twice.

Scott, who has not been working in the box for several games past, did good work at the centre of the diamond, while Peacock played at short. Scott fanned nine Newarkers and gave but a single pass in the fourth. His steadiness in this session saved the local boys from defeat. The inning started with safe hits by Schaefer and Foley. McCormick was safe at first, and when Scott passed Quinn, Schaefer was forced. Right there, with the bases full and none gone, things tightened up and the next three batsmen went out in order. The visitors made three errors and the Y. M. C. A. but one. Of Montrose's mispla*ys, two were wild flings which resulted in* run-getting. Bird, Miller and Schaefer pulled off the only double play, prettily executed.

The Y. M. C. A. started the running in the third, when Payne and Listman hit safe, Schoonmaker was struck out and Joseph sacrificed, scoring Payne. In the fifth two bases on balls and a bad throw by Bird enabled Joseph to make the rounds. After winning to score in the fourth, the Newarkers found Scott for three hits in the fifth, scoring Simms. Peacock's error, after a hit by Schaffer in the seventh, gave the visitors their last run.

How it was done:

Y. M. C. A.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Listman, lf	1	1	0	0	0
R. Schoonmaker, c.	0	0	12	1	0
Jacot, 1b	0	0	7	1	0
Conway, 3b	0	2	1	4	0
Peacock, ss	0	0	1	1	1
Gilmore, 2b	0	0	2	2	0
Scott, p	1	0	1	3	0
Payne, rf	2	1	0	0	0
Joseph, cf	2	0	0	0	0
	4	8	27	11	1

Montrose A. C.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Bird, ss	1	0	0	2	1
Simms, cf	1	2	2	0	0
Schaefer, 1b	1	1	8	0	0
Foley, c	1	3	4	1	0
McCormick, p	0	0	0	5	0
Quinn, 3b	0	1	3	2	1
Miller, 2b	0	1	2	4	1
E. Potter, lf	0	0	4	0	0
F. Potter, rf	0	0	0	0	0
	3	10	24	14	3

Y. M. C. A. .....0 0 1 0 1 0 2 0 x—4
Montrose A. C. ..0 0 0 1 1 0 1 0 0—3

Base on balls—off Scott, 1; off McCormick, 3. Struck out—by Scott, 9; by McCormick, 6. Sacrifice hit—Joseph. Hit by pitcher—Schoonmaker, Quinn. Wild pitch—McCormick. Double play—Bird-Miller-Schaeffer. Umpire—C. Murphey.

Pretty New Hatpins.

The very latest hatpins consist of a dollar size miniature in the style of Louis XVI., with portraits of court beauties upon their enameled surface. Other hatpins have cone-shaped tops inset with the jewels, while still others are of beautifully jade in many various shapes and sizes. A hatpin nowadays is such a very important feature of trimming that the particular woman cannot select it with too great care. It looks almost peculiar to see anyone wearing a hat fastened merely by plain black-headed pins—in fact, there seems to be something lacking in the general aspect of her costume.

Nelson Homestead Sold.

Edward Nelson and his sister, Miss Sarah Nelson, have sold the old homestead property at West Front and Liberty streets to John P. Emmons and the latter is now completely remodelling the dwelling with the idea of making it a double apartment. He will also build a double-house on the property facing Liberty street. Mr. Nelson and sister are now stopping temporarily with Mrs. Sarah Robinson, of Sandford avenue.

REV. ORA J. HOOP TALKS ON "OUR BEST QUALITIES"

Addressing the New York mothers and children at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp Sunday afternoon, Rev. Ora J. Hoop, pastor of Grace M. E. church, delivered an original talk on "Woman." He declared the qualities for the highest type of manhood or womanhood were purity, honesty, truthfulness, independence, industriousness, cheerfulness, charity, good habits, high ambitions and good opinion, but showed how these must all be centered about faith, to be most effective and complete.

He graphically illustrated his discourse by a bundle of seven sticks each of which was labeled to typify one of the characteristics. The central and largest stick was faith, about which all the others fitted to form a compact bundle, the most useful and effective arrangement. He showed how useless each stick, or quality would be without the others and especially without the central stick and by this graphic illustration drove home a powerful lesson.

As usual, a big feature of the service, Mrs. William H. Sebring, formerly of this city, but now of Merchantville, rendered two soprano solos, "The Story That Never Grows Old" and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" in a highly effective voice, and her singing was greatly appreciated. Miss May Randolph was at the melodeon and J. D. Loizeaux led the meeting and conducted the introductory devotional exercises.

MR. AND MRS. D. B. MARTIN OBSERVE AN ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Martin, of West Third street, celebrated their wooden wedding anniversary, Saturday evening, when they entertained a large gathering of relatives and friends. Numerous gifts were received, among them being a handsome silver from the members of the Clinton avenue baptist church, of which Mr. Martin is the popular captain, as well as president of the club.

The evening was spent in dancing, singing, playing games, after which supper was served. Music for the dancing was furnished by Miss Charlotte Martin, Miss Minnie Stoeckle and Alan Snyder. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion, Japanese lanterns being placed around the porch.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin were assisted in receiving by the Misses Cline, Mrs. Ernest Dorflinger and "Jack" Martin. The Clinton Avenue Club was well represented, all but two members being present. There were also guests from Westfield, Newark, and Hoboken, and the festivities did not *a late hour, when the guests in de*parting extended their best wishes for many happy returns of the occasion.

SEVERAL GOOD MATCHES ON PARK GOLF CLUB LINKS

Several good matches in golf were played at the Park Golf Club, Saturday afternoon, when the competition for the challenge trophies and the President's and Golf Club cups was continued. It was ideal weather for golf and the course being in fine condition resulted in a number of low scores.

In the play for the challenge trophies, Walter C. McNaughton, holder, defeated E. E. Gano, challenger, by 3 and 2 to play for the Hydewood cup; for trophy number three, W. R. Faber, holder, defeated W. V. Byard, by 1 up in 18 holes, and for trophy number five, Dr. A. W. Anderson, challenger, defeated Mrs. Lydie E. Loiseaux, holder, by default. The drawings for next Saturday follow: For the Hydewood cup, C. B. Morse, holder, challenged by Walter C. McNaughton; for trophy number two, E. E. Gano, holder, challenged by W. R. Faber; for trophy number four, W. V. Byard, holder, challenged by Dr. A. W. Anderson.

These scores were posted Saturday for the President's and Golf Club cups:

Walter C. McNaughton, 91, 5-86; W. R. Faber, 98, 8-90; Dr. A. W. Anderson, 100, 10-90; W. V. Byard, 100, 9-91; C. W. E. Lough, 112, 20-92, Charles B. Morse, 105, 11-94; E. E. Gano, 96, 0-96; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 107, 5-102.

An Enjoyable Outing.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Force, of Dver street, and Mrs. Frank Wynkoop, of Dunellen, were guests Friday and Saturday of State Supervisor and Mrs. Robert D. Meeker and wife, at their cottage on Bangs avenue, Asbury Park. Besides witnessing the greatest baby parade Asbury Park ever held, the guests were given a forty mile auto ride to Long Branch, Seabright, Monmouth Beach and then over the celebrated Ridgeway road to Branchport and return.

K. OF C. E.'S. GRAND SESSION

Annual Gathering Will Commence at Trenton on Labor Day Morning.

200 PAST CHIEFS TO ATTEND.

Grand Sir Herald Horace J. Martin, of Freedom Castle, Will Be Advanced to Office of Grand Vice Chief.

The twenty-fifth annual session of the Grand Castle of New Jersey, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will convene in K. G. E. Hall, Ribsam Building, Trenton, on Monday, September 7, next, at 11 a. m., and will continue until some time on Tuesday. Grand Chief Oscar M. Condit, of Asbury Park, will preside, and about 200 past chiefs are expected to attend from the seventy-three castles of the State.

A number of important matters will come up for consideration, including several proposed amendments to the laws.

In the election of officers Grand Vice-chief Sidney J. Hall, of Millville, will be promoted to the position of Grand Chief, and Grand Sir Herald Horace J. Martin, of Plainfield, will be the office of Grand Vice Chief, both without opposition. A lively contest has already developed for the office of Grand Sir Herald, which is the stepping stone toward the highest honors in the State and a seat in the Supreme Castle of the United States. The announced candidates are Past Chiefs M. L. Ferris, of Asbury Park, and Robert P. Dingee and Frederick Giermann, of Trenton, with a good prospect of several others entering the race. The newly elected officers will be installed by Supreme Chief Eli Manchester, of New Haven, Conn., and Supreme Castle jewels will be presented to the retiring Grand Chief, Mr. Condit, and to William S. Hewitt, of Atlantic City, upon whom the rank of Past Grand Chief was conferred by the Supreme Castle in its session at Huntington, W. Va., last fall.

Grand Chief Condit and his staff have labored hard in behalf of the order and the year has been marked by substantial progress, although the gain in membership is not large, due chiefly to the many suspensions. One new castle has been instituted, at Heisleville, Cumberland county, and the castle at, Pleasantville, Atlantic county, has surrendered its charter. Twenty-eight district and twenty-two sessions of the Grand Castle for the conferring of the past chief's degree have been held by Grand Chief Condit.

Advance figures furnished by Grand Master of Records A. Clark show the following statistics:

Membership in State June 30, 1907, 7, 524; membership June 30, 1908, 7,681; gain for the year, 157.

Initiated and reinstated during the year, 867; withdrawn, 10; suspended, 528; deceased, 65; expelled or resigned, 7.

Sick brothers relieved during year, 906.

Receipts of subordinate castles: Initiation fees, $2,565.25; dues, $54,185.31; from other sources, $24,951.67; total, $81,702.32.

Expenditures by subordinate castles: Sick benefits, $21,288.67; burial of dead by castles, $5,606.04; burial of dead by funeral benefit fund, $10,600.00; donations, $561.01; sundry purposes, $24,451.76; for investment, $15,572.17. Balance on hand, $22,264.19; total amount invested, $93,185.65; total fund, $116,553.24.

In twenty-two years the Order in New Jersey has paid out for benefits (sick and death) over $495,900.00

The finances of the Grand Castle of New Jersey also make a good showing, as follows: Balance on hand, last session, $1,429.74; receipts, $2513.16; expenditures, $2,969.59; balance on hand at this session, $973.31.

The present officers of the Grand Castle are:

Sitting Past Grand Chief—William B. Kirby, Bridgeton.

Grand Chief—Oscar M. Condit, Asbury Park.

Grand Vice Chief—Sidney J. Hall, Millville.

Grand High Priest—Adam G. Bloom, Trenton.

Grand Keeper of Exchequer—Harajsead Wainright, Farmingdale.

Grand Master of Records—A. L. Clark, Trenton.

Grand Sir Herald—Horace J. Martin, Plainfield.

Grand Bard—Dr. H. G. Keeler, Tuckerton.

Grand First Guardsman—H. B. Bartlett, Bordentown.

Grand Second Guardsman—John D. P. Morgan, Blackwood.

Grand Trustees—F. A. Bates, Camden; T. M. Coffman, Camden; T. K. Eastburn, Vineland.

Representative to Supreme Castle —William B. Kirby, Bridgeton.

Superintendent Krebs Returns.

Superintendent H. C. Krebs, of the North Plainfield public schools, and Mrs. Krebs, returned home Saturday night from a delightful summer vacation. While away they attended the three hundredth anniversary celebration held at Montreal, Can. On their way home they spent a week at Lake George and enjoyed a trip through the famous St. Lawrence.

CAR DEMOLISHES WAGON

Small Boy Badly Hurt When Trolley Rams a Grocery Rig.

DRIVER SLIGHTLY INJURED.

Accident on West Fourth Street Brought About by Sudden Driving of Horse Across the Tracks.

Rammed by an eastbound trolley car on West Fourth street near Spooner avenue shortly after 9 o'clock Monday morning, a delivery wagon belonging to W. W. Wilson, the West End grocer, was completely overturned and wrecked and Walter Wilson, the proprietor's son, and Earl Huff, a 15-year-old boy who was riding with him, were thrown out. Huff, who is the son of Mrs. Helen Huff, of 207 Stebbins place, is perhaps seriously injured internally.

The accident happened when young Wilson, who was driving, attempted to cross to the left side of the street as he drove toward John street. The trolley, No. 132, which was in charge of Motorman George Weber and Conductor Alvah T. Lindabury, was coming on the left side, just back of the front wheels, completely overturning horse and rig and throwing both occupants out.

Weber brought his car to a quick stop, and went to the injured boys' assistance. Fred Schomp, a driver for Wilson, came along about that time with another grocery wagon and took young Huff to the office of Dr. Cregar, on Grant avenue. The physician's examination showed that his left lung was bruised by a rib, and he is suffering from an internal hemorrhage. No bones were broken although he sustained bruises and abraisions about the body. Wilson was badly bruised about the right hip and arm, but was able to go home. The horse was a mass of cuts and bruises, having been thrown completely over and pushed along the macadam. The wagon is a wreck. The glass vestibule of the trolley car was smashed and several windows on the side broken by the force of the collision. None of the passengers were hurt.

According to young Wilson's story, Motorman Weber sounded no warning bell. He said the car was going at a high rate of speed. Motorman Weber says that he followed the grocer's wagon for some distance, with the car, due at the Fourth street stand at 9:27, under full control. He said that he had no time to sound his bell, for the driver cut across the track sharply. Weber is a seasoned motorman, who has been employed by the trolley company for many years, and is regarded as an unusually careful in running a car.

HARVEY LOST HIS WATCH IN A WEST END MIXUP

Richard Harvey, a colored man who lives in old "Battle Row" on West Fourth street, got into trouble Saturday night with David Weinman, a carpenter and contractor, by unwittingly walking over a fresh concrete walk in front of Weinman's place on West Third street. Weinman, with about a half dozen friends engaged in a scrap with Harvey and Patrolman Vanderwyn and Scandman Higgins arrested them both. Judgment in the case was laid over until next Tuesday night by City Judge Runyon at the session of court today.

Harvey told the judge Monday that during the scrap he lost a silver watch. The time-piece, which dropped out of his pocket, was claimed at the time by Weinman, whom, he alleges tried to get it away from him, when he picked it up. In the fracas, Weinman's friends closed in on him, and he dropped the watch a second time. The colored man, who about the loss as a mere incident of the fight, and took its loss philosophically. "I don't care particularly about the watch, Boss," he said to Judge Runyon, "cause it wasn't a very expensive one. I guess the man who's got it now needs a good watch, probably more than I do."

The Judge lays considerable importance on the recovery of the time-piece and has postponed the case with the belief that it will turn up. Harvey said the case number was 337. According to Harvey's story, he was making a short cut from Fourth to Third street Saturday night to pay his butcher's bill, when Weinman remonstrated with him for walking over the fresh walk. He claimed there was no warning light and that he didn't see the walk, tried to smooth things over, and passed on. He alleges that Weinman and his friends then attacked him, scratching him about the face. Harvey fights a la Joe Gans, and broke loose his claws, and beat off his opponents afterward going to his home, where he was later arrested.

Sapleigh—A bwick fell from a building two yeahs ago and knocked me senseless.

Miss Caustique—Indeed! And does your physician think you will ever get over it?—Chicago Daily News.

CHINAWARE HURLING DECIDES WOMEN'S GRUDGE

Feminine jealously between Mrs. Mary Jetter and Mrs. Emma Burgess, both colored, who live on West Fourth street in "Deacon" Spencer Conway's house, resulted in a mutual exchange of crockery ware and a lamp at the house last night and morning. In the mix-up, Mrs. Burgess was severely cut in the right hand and left arm, by a pen-knife, according to her story. Both told entirely different stories of the scrap, but Judge Runyon decided that each was at fault and fined them $5 apiece.

Mrs. Burgess, who is house-keeper for the "Deacon," at whose home Mrs. Jetter boards, had a long list of grievances against her assailant when the two were haled before Judge Runyon today. She said that the woman was constantly "pickin' on" her and "slurrin'" her. The grudge had its foundation about three years ago, according to details furnished by the injured woman.

The fight started in the dining room at about 9 o'clock Saturday morning, when a word about the time with another grocery wagon and took young Huff to the office of Dr. Cregar, on Grant avenue. The physician's examination showed that his left lung was bruised by a rib, and he is suffering from an internal hemorrhage. No bones were broken although he sustained bruises and abraisions about the body. Wilson was badly bruised about the right hip and arm, but was able to go home. The horse was a mass of cuts and bruises, having been thrown completely over and pushed along the macadam. The wagon is a wreck. The glass vestibule of the trolley car was smashed and several windows on the side broken by the force of the collision. None of the passengers were hurt.

According to young Wilson's story, Motorman Weber sounded no warning bell. He said the car was going at a high rate of speed. Motorman Weber says that he followed the grocer's wagon for some distance, with the car, due at the Fourth street stand at 9:27, under full control. He said that he had no time to sound his bell, for the driver cut across the track sharply. Weber is a seasoned motorman, who has been employed by the trolley company for many years, and is regarded as an unusually careful in running a car.

M'CAULEY ARRESTED ON LONG STANDING WARRANT

James McCauley, a local character, who does lots of playful things whenever he has a seance with the cups, is in the borough lock-up again. Acting Chief Charles Keller nabbed him Saturday on a warrant issued last spring, when McCauley, in one of his playful moods, "pinched" a horse and rig belonging to John Kennedy, as it stood in front of Blatz's Hotel on Somerset street. The rig was later located in Scotch Plains, but Kennedy swore out a warrant for the joker, and he has just been brought to justice. He took the rig—"just for fun"—the night of April 6.

For most of the time since the warrant came out, McCauley has been rusticating in a cell at the county jail, Elizabeth. The sentence was due to another spring-time prank, when McCauley had a rough-and-tumble fight with Borough Marshal Lemuel Pope, who tried to arrest him for fighting on Somerset street one Saturday night. McCauley streaked it for Union county, and when he got across the line, turned and "beat up" Pope, just outside the borough limits. Patrolman Messler, of the city force, answered Pope's whistle for assistance and nabbed the scrapper, whom Judge Runyon sentenced to two months.

McCauley has been free for more than a month now, but has given North Plainfield a wide berth. He took a walk up Somerset street Saturday, and Keller flashed the warrant on him. He is still smiling, although a prisoner.

MEADOWVIEW KENNELS AWARDED MANY PRIZES.

At the recent dog show held at Sound Beach, under the auspices of the Fairfield Country Kennel Club, "The Meadowview Kennels," owned by A. G. Hooley, of Rockview avenue, captured many of the valuable prizes in the competition, including the following:

Lady Mallwyd, first in limit; reserve winners; Champion Lady Allister, first in open, and first in open bred in United States and Canada. The above were also winners of the Mulford cup for the best English setters at the show. Meadowview Don, first limit and winners; also cup given by the Fairfield County Kennel Club for best English setter bred by exhibitor. Dr. J. E. Hair, of Bridgeport, Conn., was judge of the show and is also owner of the Albert Kennels. He has been one of the most prominent and successful breeder of English setters in this county, as well as being a prominent physician.

The Newest Preserve Jars.

At last there comes the fruit jar which is not difficult for women to wash, broken on the lids or take them off. All three objectionable features were found in the old-fashioned kind. It will take a trial of the various kinds to tell just which ones will be the best for some close by suction, others with rubbers and many are closed and hermetically sealed by merely pressing on the lid. To escape the tedious task hertofore always presented is something to be looked forward to with pleasure.

Mrs. Mal-Aprop.

"I notice," said Mrs. Newcome, "that you call your son 'Mal,' Mrs. Sniffkins. I suppose that's short for 'Malcolm.'"

"No,'it ain't, ma'am," replied Mrs. Sniffkins, "my boy's name is a real swell one what I got out of a book. It's 'Mal de Mer Sniffkins.'"—Philadelphia Press.

MANAGER DISAPPEARS: CIRCUS OUTFIT STRANDED

A whole circus outfit, comprising forty performers, a menagerie of animals, sadly in need of food as their human comrades, are stranded in Atlantic City, anxiously awaiting the return of John S. Berger, owner of the show that was to have been given at the seashore resort for three days for the benefit of the police pension fund. The same show was given in Plainfield several months ago by Mr. Berger for a similar object, and proved a great success.

Mr. Berger, who promised the police one-half of the gate receipts if they would allow him to call the performance the "Policemen's Circus, for the Benefit of the Police Pension Fund," left Atlantic City Saturday night, and since then the troupers and the circus have been accumulating.

The police took pity on the circus company and collected $400, which was distributed so that hotels could be paid and Broadway could be reached. Soon afterward appeared Mr. Meltzgh, of Cleveland, who said he owned the "top" under which the circus was to be given, while others took charge of the animals and "props." When Mr. Keller, a New York attorney, appeared with a writ of attachment for $1,200, money Meltzgh, of Cleveland, who policemen from the sale of tickets the last blow fell. This money was paid to Berger for the purpose of settling bills of the circus, but, it is said, he borrowed the entire amount on the deposit book and so far has not returned it. The show is still sojourning at the shore.

It was learned later that Berger, who makes his home at the Hotel Albany, when in New York, was arrested August 2, last, at Broadway and Forty-second street for engaging in fisticuffs with two men who, he said, had insulted his wife. He was afterward discharged when the case was called.

CORRECTION IN COPIES OF NEW ELECTION LAW

Secretary of State Samuel D. Dickinson has forwarded to lawyers and others having in their possession copies of the amended election law to date, a communication directing them to insert a correction to the affidavit affixed to the petitions for candidates.

The petition provides that the applicant must be a member of the party to which the candidate belongs and must, further, have voted for a majority of the candidates for members of Assembly at the last election. The affidavit affixed was likewise arranged, but through some inadvertance the qualification as to party affiliation, etc., was not inserted in the printed copies and is now being added by those having the Election Law Index in their possession.

There is another discrepancy in the book in that Chapter 209 has been omitted entirely, although it is to be found in the general law manual of 1908. Chapter 209 is the section which explains the method and requirements for signing a petition for candidates and is, therefore, very important.

Through a misunderstanding of the provisions of this chapter several newspapers recently declared that petitions were everywhere required for the naming of candidates for freeholders. This is not so, the provision being as follows:

"Not less than 50 voters of any political party in any municipality of this State other than a county, may file with the clerk of such municipality a petition endorsing any member of their political party as a candidate for nomination of said party to public office in said municipality, provided that nothing in this section contained shall interfere with, or alter, the provisions of an act to which this act is a supplement, providing for the nomination of said candidates in a single borough, ward or township."

This means that, except for the Mayor and freeholder at large in old number of signers is all that will be required.

Some of the provisions of the new law are quite puzzling even to a legal mind and the lawyers here and elsewhere are now nedeavoring to familiarize themselves with them. Unfamiliarity with the law was responsible for the confusion of election boards to organize, which fact was announced recently, and it is not unlikely that other discrepancies will be found before election day.

A Dainty Idea.

The thoughtful hostess prepares sweet scents for the delight of her guest. In the clothes press there are hangings behind which scents are concealed. There is one scent-loving hostess who lines her clothes press with sachet large enough to reach from the ceiling down to the floor. The minute the door is opened a sweet odor pours forth, and all gowns come out of this clothes press deliciously scented.

The scents usually match the colors of the room, rose for the pink room, clover for the green room and violet for the blue room. But there may be some latitude in the choice of scents.

PROTEST MADE AGAINST A BABY PARADE AWARD

Charges that awards were made in at least one instance in the Asbury Park baby parade without considering the merits of the exhibits, and that a member of the Parade Committee had admitted that action had been taken in one class when the judges did not even know the contestant, have been made in an official protest lodged with the Carnival Committee by Mr. John B. Brooke, a New York business man, who is spending the summer at the New Monmouth Hotel at Deal Beach.

Mr. Brooke's daughter, Marian, three years old, was entered in Class S, which comprised floats, on Thursday afternoon last. Under the committee's ruling, entries closed on Thursday night. The entry blank was numbered 531, and presumably everything was according to the regulations. When the cataclysm appeared however, the child's name was not in it, and on inquiry Mr. Brooke learned that the book had been printed four days before the date mentioned on the entries closed.

Throughout the line of march the little girl's float, which represented a pearl cast up on the beach, elicited much applause and many friends of Mr. Brooke's family commented upon the fact that though there were nine prizes and only eleven entries in the class, this display did not receive some recognition from the judges.

As soon as the parade was dismissed Mr. Brooke made a formal protest in writing, and two members of the committee called at the hotel to see him. At the time he was out, but later one member of the committee met him, apologized on behalf of himself and his associates, and offered to have a special cup awarded to his child. His explanation was that the child's name not being in the catalogue puzzled the committee and that instead of making inquiry they had awarded the prizes as if the "pearl" float had not existed.

"It looks to me as if the committee's judges made the awards first and then viewed the parade" said Mr. Brooke yesterday. "I declined the extra cup, of course, for it isn't the prize that I wanted but merely to have official recognition of the display, which undoubtedly was that much. It seems to me that the awarding of prizes was done in a very careless manner. My little girl, in my opinion, didn't deserve first place, but the least they could have done was to give her one of the other eight. Such floats as hers is infinitely better than at least a half dozen of the others, to judge by the favorable comment of the spectators."

CHIEF DOANE BACK FROM FIREMEN'S CONVENTION

Chief T. O. Doane, of the local fire department, returned home yesterday after attending the thirty-sixth annual convention of the International Association of Fire Chiefs held at Columbus, Ohio, last week. Although the chief was "on the sick list" part of the time he was West, he spoke enthusiastically Tuesday of the royal reception given the delegates by the Columbus firemen and the exhibits of apparatus and fire-fighting paraphenalia in connection with the various sessions.

Mr. Doane spoke especially of the automobile apparatus on exhibition, saying that the automobile steamers, chemicals and hook and ladder trucks were wonders of speed and beauty. In one of the business sessions there was a lengthy discussion of gasoline and its dangers, in which the chief took active part. The sessions lasted for three days and included one trip, when the visitors inspected the various engine houses at Columbus, where the fire-fighting facilities are most complete. Upon the return trip, Chief Doane stopped off at Pittsburg and Altoona, Pa.

MEN'S TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT WATCHUNG HUNT CLUB.

Arrangements have been completed for a men's double tennis tournament on the courts of the Watchung Hunt Club, Plainfield avenue, Saturday and Monday, September 5 and 7. It will be an open tournament and the members of the Plainfield Country Club and Rahway Field Club have been invited to enter. Suitable prizes, given by the Watchung Hunt Club, will be awarded the winning team.

Play will begin Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and continue on Labor Day. The nominal entry fee will be charged for the purpose of providing tennis balls. Players wishing to enter should communicate with Daniel Ruskie, 975 Hillside avenue, or sign the entry list posted at the clubhouse. The committee in charge of the tournament consists of Wylie Brown, W. L. Righter, Eliot Cutter, Morris J. Dumont and Daniel Runkis.

Then What?

The Top-Hatted One—Hi, there! Show me the quickest way to the hospital, will you?

The Spoiler for a Fight—Well if that ain't arskin' for it!—The Sketch

"HEAVENLY RECOGNITION."

Seventh of a Series on Heaven by

REV. DR. CHARLES E. HERRING

We have already spoken of heavenly recognition as a most natural and reasonable doctrine, and yet there are those who criticise the hope because to them "even in such a glorious place there will be no room for special friendships." In that atmosphere of perfect love we shall love all alike.

We need, therefore, something more than the reasonableness of such a theory to support our faith. We need scriptural confirmation. Has the scripture, then anything to say regarding the hope that we shall meet and recognize our friends in the other world? We have already spoken of one scripture which contains this longing. It is in the words of Jesus, when He said His mission was not to destroy but to fulfill. You can apply this utterance to the greatest hope in your life. Perhaps death has come into your home and taken away a child in whom your hopes centered. Nothing in this life can compensate for that loss. Your sorrow of soul does not grow any less as the years pass. The only comfort you have is the hope that the separation is not forever. Our Lord came to earth to manifest the thought and will of heaven, and this is His message. "I came not to destroy the holy longings of the human heart; I came to satisfy, purify and complete these longings. The purpose of God's grace is to perfect our knowledge and our love and not destroy it. Our present knowledge and love will be taken up and included in a larger knowledge and love.

A certain Welsh divine was interrupted in his study by this question from his wife: "Shall we know each other in heaven?" The minister answered tersely and truthfully, "To be sure we shall. Do you think we shall be greater fools in Heaven than we are here?" It is not only true that we shall recognize and love our own in the other world. We shall love them better.

We have another scriptural support to our hope in the example of our Lord when He lived this earthly life. He came to reveal the love of Heaven. He loved all men, but it is very evident that He had a special friendship for a few. He was especially attached to twelve men and a few women upon whom He depended to realize His plans in the world. Of these twelve, He selected three who were with Him on the great occasions of His earthly life. He selected them probably because of their sympathy with His plans and purposes and because they were especially responsive to His spiritual teachings. Our Lord also spoke of the twelve in the other world as occupying twelve thrones and judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

You remember, too, as you read the life of the Lord that he enjoyed the friendship of Martha and Mary and their brother Lazarus. When Lazarus died, the sorrow of Jesus was so marked that the Jews who stood around said: "Behold! How He loved him." It was to Lazarus that our Lord said: "Go sell all that thou hast and give to the poor and thou shalt have treasure in Heaven." That was, as I take it, a special message to Lazarus that the Lord had a great mission for him; probably a mission as great as that of Paul.

He said this to Lazarus because He had a special love for him. Do you ask what has all this to do with our hope of meeting and recognizing our friends in the other world? Simply this. Christ on earth lived the ideal sinless life, but it was a human life. He revealed to us the character of the Heavenly love by His own example. How was that? By loving all men in the same way? No, not. He loved men in proportion as they were in sympathy with Him, and that is the reason for our love to men, because of their real nearness to us. You find, too, in the earthly life of the Lord that His special love to His own was more intense towards the end of that life.

There is another scriptural confirmation of the doctrine of Heavenly recognition in what our Lord had to say about the "Mammon of Unrighteousness." "Make yourselves," He says, "friends of the Mammon of Unrighteousness that when ye fail they may receive you into everlasting habitations." Perhaps this verse has never been clear to you; yet it points very strongly to the thought of the future recognition. It is the "Mammon of Unrighteousness?" Is it not money? Money that is so associated with unrighteousness in the lives of men that it is called the "Mammon of Unrighteousness." How little good is done with money compared with what might be done. Our Lord says: "Make friends of it. How? Spend it for righteous things. Make it tell for God in this world. Make it count on God's books. Make it carry out God's purposes. Spend it in giving men better opportunities for hearing the word of God. Don't spend so much on yourself, for the pleasures of your selfish self. Let your money rather work for men's salvation so that when they pass out of this life into the other they shall praise you for what you have done towards their salvation. They will say it was the consecration of your wealth to the spread of the Gospel that saved them. The time will come when you will pass into that world. Who will be there to receive you? Those whom you blessed with your money while on earth. They will bless you eternally for the blessing you have been to them with your means through which they were able to hear the truth of the Gospel. Then we shall not only meet our loved ones in the Heavenly world but those also whom we helped to send there.

Some have criticised the thought of Heavenly recognition because such partiality might introduce jealously into that world. The answer to that objection is that we don't feel jealous of others here because they are interested in their own families. We admire men because of their love of kindred. We regard such love as commendable. Why should we change in the other life?

Browning makes Pompilia say of the man who had befriended her on earth:

Oh, lover of my soul, O Soldier saint
No work begun shall ever pause for death.
Love will be helpful to me more and more.
and why not? After the Resurrection you must have tenderly our Lord said to tell my disciples and Peter." Peter was one of them but he might think that because he had denied his Lord that he was barred out from the number of the disciples; but the particular loving interest of the Lord was just the same after the Resurrection as before. Note again how tenderly He called "Mary" in the garden. Death had not changed His particular loving interest, and death will not change our love. "A woman on her death bed said to her husband: "You might be for ages by my side, and I would never notice you, much as I love you. I will have something better to do in Heaven. I will have my Savior to look to, and to talk to." What a strange conception of the story of Heaven! As if her devotion to her Lord would not intensify her devotion to her husband. We shall be men and women in Heaven and shall have human interest there as we have here. This is the only view of the other life that gives us complete satisfaction. Of course, in that world, there will be a perfect state of society, but that will not be opposed to our own family interests. If a man has the love of God in his heart today, we know that the love to his own family is intensified.

"As the moon, in moving around the earth, does not the less move with all the other planets around the sun so the saints in Heaven, who cluster, by sweet silent attraction around the Person of their peculiar attachments, will not thereby fail to move on, with all the saints round the Savior as the sun of righteousness, in the general harmony of Heaven."

It is not likely that we are to be so interested in our Lord that we shall stand inactive about Him without recognizing that there are other beings in Heaven.

Our very devotion to Him will stimulate our active interest in others and our love for them. Remember that our Lord has gone to prepare a place for us! It will suit us then. It will be adapted to our individual likes, longings and interests. We shall not adapt ourselves to it. It will be directly adapted to us. Let us rest then in this thought. You long with all your soul to meet your friends; your own flesh and blood in that world. Then God will satisfy that longing.

Tramp and Corn-Roast.

A merry party of sixteen young women from the Young Women's Christian Association enjoyed a short jump to the mountains Saturday afternoon, where a corn-roast was held. After a delightful climb up the mountains an ideal spot was found for the roast. The outing was one of the most enjoyable of the season.

Small Pickles.

Soak small cucumbers in brine (strong enough to hold up an egg) for seventy-two hours. Then soak twenty hours in clear water, making three changes. Put in crock and cover with boiling vingear. In ten days drain off vinegar, boil and again pour over pickles.

MAGAZINE READERS

SUNSET MAGAZINE beautifully illustrated, good stories and articles about California and the Far West. $1.50 a year

CAMERA CRAFT devoted each month to the artistic reproduction of the best work of amateur and professional photographers. $1.00 a year

BOAT OF A THOUSAND WONDERS a book of 75 pages, containing 120 beautiful half-tone pictureques spots in California and Oregon. $0.75

Total . . . $3.25

All for . . . $1.50

Address all orders to

SUNSET MAGAZINE

Flood Building San Francisco

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace

Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing,

Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner. Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. LITTELL

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

now receiving deposits with interest allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. F. Arnold, } Vice-Pres'ts
Jeremiah Manning, }
H. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January 10th will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY

Men and women of good address to represent us; some to travel and others to work at home for local work looking after our interests. $900 salary guaranteed yearly, extra commissions and expenses, rapid advancement, old established house. Great chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant permanent position, liberal income from start. Spare moments may be profitable. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

FOR AGENTS—AN OPPORTUNITY!

"THE OLD WORLD AND ITS WAYS"

BY

William Jennings Bryan.

NOW READY FOR SOLICITORS.

576 Imperial Octavo Pages. Over 200 Superb Engravings from photographs taken by Mr. Bryan.

Recounts his trip around the world and his visits to all nations. The greatest book of travel ever written. The people are waiting for it. The agent's harvest. Outfit FREE—Send fifty cents to cover mailing and handling.

THE THOMPSON PUBLISHING CO.
St. Louis, Mo. 7 26 3 c

W. R. CODINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

New Jersey Supreme Court

Notice is hereby given that a writ of attachment has been issued out of the New Jersey Supreme Court against the rights and credits, moneys and effects of Louis A. Reinhart, late of the county of Union, at the suit of Charles G. Foote, and directed to the Sheriff of Union County, returnable before the said Court on the first Monday of September next, which said writ was duly served and executed, and was returned May 26th, 1908, by the Sheriff of Union County.

TENNANT & HAIGHT,
Attorneys of Plaintiff.
8 8 5 15 Exchange Place, Jersey City, N. J.

DIED.

MILLER—At the home of his parents, 508 Watchung avenue, on Wednesday, August 26, 1908, Percy Morgan Miller, son of Lawrence and Grace E. Miller, aged 8 months.

WATSON—In this city, August 29, 1908, Lawrence Watson, 60 years 6 months.

LITTLE—In this city, August 29, 1908, Jessie May, youngest daughter of Charles G. and Mary E. Little.

DAVIS—At Dunellen, New Jersey, August 30, 1908, John D. Davis.

GREINER—At Somerville, on Sunday, August 30, 1908, Mary Ellen, wife of George F. Greiner, in her 35th year.

TAKE CARE OF THAT TEMPLE, YOUR BODY.

Generally one can work out the problem of increasing his vitality himself, but if he does not succeed it would be greatly to his profit to consult a physician and get direction, rather than await until he is actually ill before doing so. Many make a practice of going regularly to the dentist to have the teeth examined, in order to keep them in proper condition. How much sickness might be saved if one, feeling that his health was not what it should be, should in the same manner consult his physician to obtain help in right ways of living, that his body might be in the most perfect condition possible, says the Ladies' World. If this practice obtained there would be fewer sudden deaths from heart disease and other obscure conditions of the internal organs.

The essentials of life in every human being are a perfect nutrition. By which is meant that he should have the right kind of food, the proper amount to sustain the functioning of the organs of the body and the outlay which is used in the daily employments of the individual. A great deal has been written and preached on this subject recently, but it will have little effect if the individual does not find out what these sayings have for him. As necessary for the human machine is the right kind of food as is fuel for the furnace which heats the steam by which the engine is run. Coal to heat the boiler containing the steam is necessary for the steam engine, but a steam engine cannot be run by electricity any more than the electric motor can be run by steam. It is the opinion of many that most people are running their systems not only by not eating the right kind of food, but by eating far too much. I think that our present bills of fare are much too elaborate.

The present craze for novelties manifests itself in the culinary department in indigestable mixtures which would try the stomach of an ostrich. Youthful stomachs can for a time cope with the digestion of all sorts of things that the middle-aged stomach could not dispose of and which would be more difficult still for one advanced in years. Vitality will be proportioned to the digestive strength of the stomach. Simple, nourishing food, in the amount necessary to repair the waste that has taken place, and to provide the strength, is what one should take. Anything more clogs the system, impairs the power. The surplus of food is deposited in fat beneath the skin and around the vital organs, especially the heart, and serious damage is done. It is by individual experimentation that the problem is solved. Those who live to eat only will not live very long. The temptation to enjoy the pleasure of the palate in eating and drinking are among the ones most frequently yielded to by the customs of friendship and hospitality and our desire for display combine to dig the pitfalls of a lowered vitality, a weakened system and a premature grave.

WHAT SHE EXPECTED AND WHAT SHE FOUND.

I married quite young and expected when I started to be entirely my own mistress, mapping out my days without having to consult anybody, says Eleanor, in Home Chat. I felt I was breaking away from the ties and trammels of the "daughter at home," gaining complete freedom, and so doing a very good thing for myself. I'm afraid I was rather like the girl who expected to Sit on a cushion and sew a fine seam,

And live on ripe strawberries, sugar and cream.

But I soon found I had made a mistake—married life has its ties and trammels just as girlhood has.

John never actually said so, but I very soon found that he expected me to be at home when he came back from the office. That was surprise number one. Mother had never minded if I were late for dinner, because I'd been enjoying myself at a garden party and didn't want to hurry home. And in lots of other ways I find I have to consider others instead of only myself.

Girls talk a lot of nonsense about how they are going to manage the man they marry. And their mothers mostly merely laugh, and say they'll "learn better by-and-by." I don't think it's quite fair to the girls. It would have saved John and me many a heartache if mother had given me a good chapter of advice torn straight from the pages of real life.

A girl who marries at nineteen hasn't much practical experience of men. When she goes on her honeymoon she is rather like Christopher Columbus sailing out to discover a new world.

Hard For Him.

Mr. Jolly—It's easy to obey the Biblical injunction when one's neighbor is a pretty girl.

Miss Nexdore—But, surely, it isn't easy for you.

Mr. Jolly—O, yes; I refer to the command to "love thy neighbor."

Miss Nexdore—Yes, but the command is really "love thy neighbor as thyself."—Philadelphia Press.

His Advantage.

"The bachelor is worse off than the married man."

"How do you make that out?"

"The married man is afraid of only one woman, the bachelor is afraid of all of them."—Houston Post.

CLEVER IMITATION OF FRENCH GOWNS.

What may be classed as Parisian gowns are not of imported kinds, but clever imitations of such, says Mlle. Stantyn, in Woman's National Daily. It is claimed that many imitations show such remarkable improvement that the various changes are more appreciated than original copies. One clever dress for street wear shows the long skirt, clinging in effect, but not too much so for this material. The waist portion is cut so that the front can be turned back in lapels, very much resembling a jacket front. The left side is plain, though the right bears an immense triangle-shaped lapel.

One extremely elaborate jacket suit was fashioned of white pongee with long sleeves that closed at the hands, and upper portions made in with the waist portions from the shoulder to the line. It would be almost an impossibility for the wearer to raise her hand to her head. These sleeves were outlined with very large patterns of white soutache. Two small tabs and buttons on the back panel of the coat held the sleeves to the sides. The lower edge of the coat was plaited, each point heavily worked with soutache. The collar was a square shape at the back, a short V at the front, outlined with braid. While the back was decidedly elaborate because of the clever sleeve arrangement, the front was of conventional coat pattern, by which the lengths of braid in two-inch widths.

Keep an Expense Account.

It would be well if families would make a thorough inquiry into their financial condition and prospects. A searching analysis of this kind, set down in black and white, would be edifying to many a husband and wife, and, in most cases, could not fail to simplify their method of living, and consequently add to their happiness.

Complete frankness upon this subject between husband and wife will enhance the help-each-other spirit so essential to the perfect home. What wonder if the wife becomes extravagant when the husband gives the impression of wealth and has not bravery enough to tell her the truth about his finances? Even the "butterfly" will often change and become a real helpmate for her husband if he honestly confides in her.

QUALITY and PRICE

The two vital questions in your piano purchase are, first, quality; second, price. An unsatisfactory piano, in tone and action, is the most annoying article you can have in your home. You dislike to be expending money on it constantly to keep it in playing condition.

Hallet & Davis Pianos

Give permanent satisfaction. Come in and examine our new Style B.

We are sure you will have none other than this piano.

The Price is $350

It is Exactly Right

Write for Art Catalogue.

New Pianos to Rent. We rent only new and thoroughly dependable pianos.

$3, $4 and $5 a month.

Telephone 838-R. Est. 1830.

Hallet & Davis Piano Co.,

C. A. REID, Manager.

170 E. Front St., Plainfield, N.J.

Flor de Timbo

Clear Habana.

Get It at Timbo's

NATIONAL MINING & LEASING COMPANY

DIVIDEND NUMBER EIGHTEEN.

The regular monthly dividend of one per cent, will be due and payable to stockholders on September 1st. The amount will be paid on the face or par value of the shares of the capital stock. 10 per cent. per annum. Checks will be mailed.

E. J. CURRY, Sec'y.

Geo. H. Stagaard,

SHOEMAKER

106—CHURCH STREET—110

Repair work called for and delivered

'PHONE 1062-W.

SMALLEY BROS.

147 North Ave.

BUTCHERS

Our Specialty, Berkshire Pork. Try Our Berkshire Sausage Made on Premises

Roasting and Broiling Chickens a Specialty.

Orders called for and delivered. Telephone 88-A. 5 1 tf

The Southern Restaurant,

228 West Second Street, corner Madison Avenue, now under new management. Meals served at all hours a la carte and table d'hote. Our own make bread and pastrys. all home cooking. The choice of everything is bought for the tables. Our price is reasonable. The place to now under the management of the well known New York caterer T. H. Royster. Manager. Tel. 822-J. 1 13 tf

J. C. POPE & CO.,

INSURANCE AGENTS.

110 E. Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

A. H. ENANDER,

Sanitary Plumbing, Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

Contractor for Sewer Connections.

125 Watchung Av. Rear.

L. Moraller & Son,

Watchmakers and Jewelers.

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry Fine Watch and Clock Repairing a Specialty.

219 Park Ave. Plainfield, N. J

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.

We call your attention to our fine display of

New Wall Papers.

We can't describe the patterns, but they are new, striking and effective, and with our large assortment we are sure to please.

Paints, Oils and Varnishes.

Woolston & Buckle,

145 North Avenue.

SUMMER is nearly over WINTER will soon be here.

Now is the time to have your house painted before the frost and snow hits it. Then it will remain and be looking all right for

SPRING

Jas. C. Hansen,

is the man to do it. Consult him, he will cheerfully give you an estimate.

Dealer in Wallpaper, Paints, Oils, Glass etc.

141 East Front Street

1908 Wall Papers.

IMPORTED & AMERICAN GOODS.

C. CONOVER & CO.

Decorators, Painters and Paperhangers. Window and Plate Glass.

115 Elmwood Pl. Tel. 1145

W. S. CHEEVER

1326 Park Ave.'

Painting and INTERIOR DECORATING. WALL PAPERS of every description at the Lowest Prices.

'Phone No. 538-J.

Polk 'The Decorator'

138 North Avenue

late DECORATING MANAGER for one of New York's largest department stores, opened for business in this city at above address.

HOUSES PAINTED

that will stay painted, as we use the best materials that MONEY and EXPERIENCE will buy, and know how to put it on properly.

ROOMS DECORATED

by experts that understand their work thoroughly with late experience of some of the finest houses in New York.

WALL PAPERS

we carry in stock, consisting of Florals, Stripes, Tapestries, Two-tones, Silks, Non-Fading Duplex, also complete line of Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes, Etc. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

FREE ESTIMATES

on House Painting, Paper Hanging, Decorating, in fact anything in our line. We want business and will do anything that is reasonable and fair for it, which means saving of many dollars for you.

Call on us whether you intend placing orders or not.

POLK & CO.,

138 NORTH AVENUE

Plainfield, N. J.

FURNITURE.

Repaired and upholstered. Equal to new. Send a postal to

HARRISON, 140 CENTRAL AVE.

Cabinet maker, Polisher, Mattress Maker.

AZIENZA

serves samples and all information of locations and by people of refinement. Weekend and other trips to Cream.

CREAM.

Difference In Coal.

All coals may look alike to some people, but compare our "Lehigh" Coal with that Coal you bought somewhere else and you will see a difference.

You will notice that our Coal Burns Brighter, Gives More Heat, and Lasts Longer than any other Coal you ever bought before.

Boice, Runyon & Co.,

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials.

Pens Ave., 252 North Ave. Plainfield, N. J.

JOS. HARRIGAN

OLD COMPANY'S LEHIGH COAL

929 South Avenue

Telephone 193.

The best time to order your winter supply of

COAL

is now. Do not forget that

NASH

is ready to supply you.

Telephone 357-W. 835-J.

Evenings 371-W.

OFFICE—130 WATCHUNG AVENUE

Ten Eyck & Harris,

Dealers' Inn.

LEHIGH VALLEY COAL.

Office: Bowler's Drug Store, 212 West Front Street. Telephone 12-L.

Coal I have on hand some very fine Hard and Soft Coal. All kinds of kindlings. Yes Coal. 25 cents a ton reduction on cash orders. Coal

L. A. RHEAUME,

148 East Fourth St. Telephone 448-W. Yard, 474 South Second St. Telephone 220.

GEORGE O. STEVENS

747 West Front St.

R. L. CLINE

(Successor to C. H. Burr & Co.)

Best Quality Lehigh Coal

Yard and office 420 West Third St. Tel. 81.

Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing.

Monthly Contracts.

Prompt service called for and delivered.

EVENING DRESSES A SPECIALTY.

Ladies' Waists Cleaned, 35 cents upwards Gents' Suits Cleaned $1.50

We do our own work on the premises.

M. A. Brown's, 218 West Second St.

William H. Pope,

ELECTRICIAN.

All kinds of electrical work done at reasonable prices.

116 NORTH AVENUE.

Wm. H. Kirch,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

66 Dunn Street.

Tel. 402 J.

Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to.

ALEX. LUSARDI,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits, Choice Confectionery, Nuts, Cigars, etc.

211 W. Front St. Tel. 507-W.

Meat Market.

Choice Meats, Poultry, Fish and Oysters always on hand. Sugar cured Corned Beef. International Ham and Bacon.

F. Neidig, 94 Somerset St. Telephone 72

E. B. Maynard's

Tonsorial Parlor. Electrical Massage for face and head. First-class work. Children's hair cut a specialty.

Tel. 1st floor, 1141 PARK AVE.

141 NORTH AVENUE.

JOHN WIRTH

(Successor to Henry Rodha.)

Bakery and Confectionery.

201-203 West Front St. Tel. No. 722.

All orders delivered at short notice.

Blue Stone Sidewalks.

If you want the best Blue Stone sidewalks, curbs, etc., call on

J. W. Manhattan,

50 Elm St.

For Your Summer Vacation!

We have a full line of fresh summer articles which will please the most particular person. Everything is of the finest quality and at prices that suit. Our prompt delivery to all parts of the city will please everyone.

C. M. Nagle's Pharmacy,

Front and Grove Sts. 'Phone 518.

Complete Line of

REXALL

Goods at

MILLER'S PHARMACY

Park Ave. & 4th St. Tel. 282.

Hodge's Pharmacy.

Y. M. C. A. Building.

BELLE MEAD SWEETS.

Tel. 62.

BOTTLE.

HOTEL WALDORF

EAST FRONT STREET

HENRY WINDHAM, Prop.

Gottfried Kruger's Extra Beer on draught. Imported Wines, Liquors and Cigars. Hotel accommodations and private Dining-Room.

HOTEL KENSINGTON

(Licensed.)

WM. J. POULSON, Prop.

107-109-111 North Avenue.

Everything New and Up-to-date. An Inspection Solicited.

HOTEL IROQUOIS

Club breakfast from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m. Best new Men's Lunch from 11:30 to 2:30 p. m.

ROOMS

First floor, $1 single; $1.50 double.

Second floor, 75c single; $1 double.

Third floor 50c single; 75c double.

A LA CARTE 6:30 UNTIL 1 A. M.

Special Sunday Dinner from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m. 50c

REAL ESTATE

RENTALS—REAL ESTATE

Geo. F. Brown,

INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE

Commissioner of Deeds—Notary.

[illegible] Front St. 'Phone 588.

Tea and Coffee Values

We cordially invite you to try our Teas and Coffees, with every assurance of satisfaction in both quality and price. The best Mocha and Java Coffee and the finest Ceylon Tea, at reasonable prices. Also the choicest Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables.

W. W. DUNN,

THE PARK GROCER,

DUNN STREET AND LINCOLN PLACE.

Central R. R. News Stands

You can get it at the C. R. R. News Stands, both depots, Plainfield Daily Press, on sale at both stands. Philadelphia Morning, Evening (and Sunday Papers. Largest assortment of Magazines and Weekly Papers in the city. Back numbers procured. Brooklyn Papers, English Publications. Daily and Sunday Papers delivered. Orders left at stand receive prompt attention. Open Sundays.

F. M. WAGNER, Manager.

We have on hand a large quantity of BIG TIMBER from 6x6 to 12x14 that we will offer fo- $20 per thousand; any length. All kinds of BEAMS from a 2x4 to 3x12 $20.

A. KANE

FILLMORE AVENUE.

McCULLOUGH'S STEAM MILL.

21 Steiner place, North Plainfield, N. J.

R. H. McCULLOUGH, Prop.

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing, Turning, etc.

Estimates cheerfully furnished.

HENRY WIERENGA

Residence 'Phone 817-J.

Furniture, Freight, Baggage Express and Rigger.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Try a box of

DOBBINS' CIGARS.

Clear Havana Nickie Yara or say kind that you desire. Manufactured at 128 North Avenue, opposite Kensington Hotel, Plainfield, N. J.

Kindling and Grate Wood.

Cedar Posts and Bean Poles. Prompt deliveries. Orders received at 60 SOMERSET STREET.

JOHN MOBUS,

P. O. Box 220.

REAL ESTATE

Bought, Sold and Rented.

J. SACHAR,

122 WEST THIRD STREET.

EYE-STRAIN

is directly responsible for the major ity of cases of blindness today. If instead of trying to overwork the eyes, one would at once get glasses at the first warning of eye-strain there would be fewer cases of blindness at the present time.

Come to us and have your eyes examined free of charge and we will advise you what to do to save them.

Headache and neuralgia quickly relieved.

STILES & CO.,

Philadelphia Eye Specialist.

At 105 East Front Street.

Every Thursday

Hours, 11:25 to 4:30.

BARTHOLOMAY ROCHESTER

Rienzi Beer

IN BOTTLES ONLY

BOTTLED AND DISTRIBUTED BY

HENRY HAURAND,

66-68 SOMERSET STREET,

'Phone No. 220 Plainfield, N.J.

PLAINFIELD WINDOW CLEANING CO.

Renovating—Offices, stores and private residences. Service day or night. Furniture, china and glassware packed for shipping.

WM. A. KLINE, 611 W. 3d St.

NOTICE.

If you are dissatisfied with your paper service call on or write up

THE HUSTLER,

William H. Olmstead, 321 Watchung Avenue, near Fourth St. Successor to D. G. Haney & Son.

'Phone 4-J Either 'Phone 4-J

EDUCATIONAL.

The Hartridge School

West Seventh Street, cor. Arlington Ave.

A Private School carefully graded throughout.

Special teachers of French, German, Music Art and Calisthenics.

All Departments of the Day School in one large building.

Kindergarten Department

In charge of two teachers.

Elementary Department.

For girls through the 5th grade and for boys through the 4th grade.

Boys' Department

For boys above 4th grade.

Academic Department

Five grades—General Course and College Preparatory.

Music Department

In charge of Mr. Manfred Malkin.

Gymnasium

In-door play-room and bowling alley for rainy days.

Number of pupils in each grade limited.

EMELYN B. HARTRIDGE, Principal.

107 West Seventh Street.

Mr. Leal's School for Boys

Prepares for Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Mass Inst. of Technology and all other Colleges and Technical Schools.

Junior department accepts boys between the ages of nine and twelve years.

All teachers are men and all are College graduates.

Twenty-seventh year begins on Tuesday, September fifteenth.

JOHN LEAL, Principal.

$18 1m

College of Mount Saint Mary

Watchung Mountain,

Plainfield, N. J.

Under the direction of

SISTERS OF MERCY

Preparatory Department Opens Sept. 15.

College Department Opens Sept. 22.

Preparatory department consists of an eight-year registered, approved elementary course and of a four-year registered, approved academic course. Academic diploma admits to N. Y. State Normal School or to Mount Saint Mary's College. College department consists of a four-years' course leading to the degree of A. B. or Litt. B. Day Scholars Only. Both boys and girls received in elementary department. Transfer of pupils at all examinations are welcomed. For further information address, Registrar, Mt. St. Mary's College, or Directress, St. Joseph's Academy, Plainfield, New Jersey.

Stages will meet trolleys at Fourth street.

$14 1m

Plainfield Business College and School of English.

Fall Term Opens September 1st.

Day and Night Sessions.

PROF. S. HERR, Pres. & Prop.

Woodhull & Martin Building.

Telephone 795-w. Send for booklet.

The Plainfield Seminary

123 W. Seventh Street

will re-open

Thursday, Sept. 17, 1908

MISS ARNOLD, Principal.

CHAS. M. SUHR,

TEACHER OF PIANO.

614 E. 6th Street. Tel. 741-W

WHEN GOING ON A WEDDING TRIP.

Some thoughtful advice as to the honeymoon successes that the selection of a companion for the trip be made with care, this giving to the counsel an air of triviality.

Of course, nobody goes on a honeymoon without attention to so many fuss details.

The honeymoon is a trying period. In the first place, misguided friends seek to invest the beginning of it with terror. The rice they throw crops with telltale pertinacity. The spectacle of the hurtling shoes prompts gayety.

Seen, in their eagerness to appear as if hardened married couple, the pair are certain to betray themselves. If spoken to they are frightened as a couple of criminals at the service of a warrant.

At the hotel they are at once spotted." The clerk unable to do this would never have been a clerk. The instant recognition of their status is annoying.

No honeymooning couple should act natural. To do this is possible, if the could only remember that the mere fact of marriage was in itself not remarkable it would help some.

People are getting married every day. Some have been known to record several marriages into a short span of years.

There are countless precedents for marriage. It obtains among the best people says the Philadelphia Inquirer. Why so sedulously endeavor to bring about the conditions of the honeymoon and then act as though ashamed of success?

Let the honeymoon pair be brave. If the admission of being married can be construed as bravery, for the fact is one they cannot conceal.

They have a way about them. Their fathers and mothers had a similar way. So, while the placarding of baggage with the legend "just married and glad of it," is an extreme not to be upheld, it really is no betrayal of a secret, for there is no secret.

The honeymoon is relatively expensive. The wisdom of devoting a year's income to it and making up the deficit by life in a flat may be questioned.

Nevertheless the newly married will going to have one, and to enjoy it must forget that they are under surveillance, if they can. Beyond that they have to make their own rules.

ABOUT WOMEN THE WORLD OVER.

In London the drivers of the motor busses have to take an examination to test their proficiency in mechanical knowledge and other subjects, as evidenced by the tests given by the Royal Automobile Club. Miss Dagmar Honest is the first woman to be given a certificate and is the first woman driver.

Mrs. Helen L. Grenfell has been appointed by Governor Buchtel of Colorado a delegate to the meeting of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance in Amsterdam, June 6th. Harriet Sheik was appointed by the Governor of Wyoming a delegate to the same convention. Mrs. Grenfell served three terms as State superintendent of public instruction in Colorado.

The painter of interiors and European street scenes is Mrs. Colin Campbell Cooper, of the Sherwood Studios, the winner of numerous prizes at the Chicago Exposition, Atlanta Exposition, St. Louis Exposition and the Woman's Art Club, of New York. Mrs. Cooper studied both in New York and Paris. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper are impatiently awaiting the completion of the Gainsborough Studios, where they will make their headquarters in the future.

Mrs. Margaret K. Horn, of Indiana, has solicited the sum of $24 a month from Congress in recognition of her services during the war with the Sioux Indians. A pension bill has under consideration awarding her $16 a month as the widow of a war veteran. In the debate it was brought out that Mrs. Horn had personally rendered the government good service, for, while her husband was at the front during the Civil War, she herself in 1862 fought against the Sioux Indians, being one of the besieged at Fort Ridgley, Minn. Because of this service her pension was raised to $24.

FASHIONABLE SIMPLICITY.

The haudsomest dressed women at exclusive seaside resorts are wearing more black, white, pale tan and gray than loud colors for their suits. Hats that go with such costumes, however, are loaded with flowers, either for morning or afternoon. The best coats are very much cut away from the front, i. e. slope beginning from the bust line. There is really nothing new about such a coat, as it has been seen ever since last winter, but the best models continue to appear in the shape. Coats have grown more close fitting to suit the new skirts, and in many of the smartest ones the backs are perfectly straight and plain, calling to mind a back board which prevents a wrinkle or fold. A front sloping off to a narrow back and a back long, straight and plain sounds as well as it looks, and it is not likely that the style will attain a general vogue. It is trying to every one but a sylph, as are all the other fads of the moment. But the woman who knows is choosing the thing that suits her particular style rather than the style of the multitude.

UNION COUNTY FREEHOLDERS.

(Official).

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, August 6, 1908, at 2:30 P. M.

Members present: Director King, Freeholders Adams, Cady, Cladek, Darby, Doane, Fay, Jones, Krouse, Maurer, McGovern, Meisel, Perry, Pierson, Robison, Smith, Stephan, Swain, Wilbur and Woodruff—20.

On motion of Freeholder Cady the minutes of the previous meeting were approved as per printed copies on the members' desks.

Communications.

From Harry Hatton, as follows:

Catham, N. J., July 28.

Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Under separate cover I am sending you a sample of the result of six weeks' riding for possibly 2,000 feet twice daily, on the country road, which you are sprinkling with some preparation for laying the dust. A man in moderate circumstances cannot afford to lay out $6.50 every five or six weeks for a pair of tires, and I feel that it is no more than right that you should take the matter under consideration and remedy it, or be prepared to recompense citizens who are losers through such practices.

Very respectfully yours,

HARRY HATTON.

Enclosed with the foregoing was a bill for a pair of tires, in amount $6.50.

On motion of Freeholder Cady received and referred to the Committee on Legal Questions.

The following communication was presented and read:

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Gentlemen—Your petitioners respectfully represent that they are an organization of taxpayers and property owners of the city of Elizabeth, formed for the purpose of promoting improvements in the said city and to co-operate in all movements tending to facilitate business and promote the growth and prosperity of the city; they represent that they are in favor of and respectfully request the speedy establishment of the proposed new bridge over the Elizabeth River and that all necessary appropriations and measures should be passed by the authorities to accomplish this purpose without delay, and they further represent that the said bridge should be located at the foot of Atlantic street for the following reasons: the Atlantic avenue street is already built up on both sides with residences, and its extension to the river would merely open up for similar improvements hundreds of lots now merely used as avenue property, whereas Baltic street, the other proposed location, abuts the railroad, and the property along one side of said street belongs to the railroad company and may never be improved unless for railroad purposes.

Second, because Atlantic street has a prospect of being paved soon, making a fine highway to the bridge, while Baltic street, on account of the railroad owning half of the property may never be paved.

Third, because Atlantic street is more central, being half way between Spencer street bridge and the railroad bridge.

Fourth, because Atlantic street leads more directly to Brunswick avenue, the only open street across the river that continues straight to the factories and southward to Linden.

Fifth, because a straight highway transecting that section of the city would better facilitate traffic and promote the interests of business men and people traveling thereon.

Respectfully submitted.

CITIZENS' PROTECTIVE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION,

By GEORGE NEUREITER, President.

On motion of Freeholder Swain received and referred to the committee on Baltic street bridge.

The following petition was presented and read:

Elizabeth, N. J., May 28, 1908.

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Gentlemen—The undersigned citizens of the city of Elizabeth do hereby respectfully petition your honorable body to appoint Robert J. Hamilton bridge tender of the new bridge to be erected over the Elizabeth River at First street. Mr. Hamilton was permanently injured in the service of the volunteer fire department of the city of Elizabeth, but he is physically able to perform the duties of the position he seeks. This and his record as a citizen recommend him to your consideration.

(Signed)

DENNIS F. COLLINS,
JOHN F. KENAH,
PATRICK J. McGURN,
and thirty-seven others.

On motion of Freeholder Cladek, received and referred to committee on First street bridge.

From R. K. Summont and directed to S. P. T. Wilbur:

Gentlemen—I think it is an outrage that you as a freeholder of Union county have not done something to do away with the noise on the Washington street bridge, Plainfield. Whenever a carriage or an automobile crosses the bridge it sounds like a thunderclap. If this a freeholder, will you kindly tell me does not come under your duties as a freeholder, will you kindly tell me with whom I can take up the matter?

If it is necessary I will have a petition signed by all the property owners who reside within a block or two on both sides of the bridge.

Please let me hear from you on the above subject.

Very truly yours,

R. K. DUMONT.

On motion of Freeholder Smith, received and referred to the committee on Washington street bridge.

Reports of Committees.

By the committee on First street bridge, Westfield:

To Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to ascertain the need for and probable cost of a new bridge on First street, near Union avenue, Westfield, as requested by resolution of the Westfield Town Council, would respectfully report:

We have viewed the proposed location and find that it is situated on a new extension of First street, and there is now a temporary bridge in use, the street is a thoroughfare in a rapidly growing neighborhood, the town is now expending over $40,000 in a new school house in the immediate vicinity, and there is need for a permanent bridge to be built at this point.

We therefore respectfully recommend that a new iron beam brick arch, or reinforced concrete bridge be built at a cost not to exceed $1,200.

Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES A. SMITH,
PETER H. MEISEL,
J. LOGAN FAY,
Committee.

Freeholder Wilbur moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By committee on bridge on Broad street, Westfield:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union county:

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to examine into the need for and probable cost of a new bridge on the top of the bridge on Broad street, Westfield, to meet the grade necessary for the new brick pavement on said street, as requested by resolution of the Westfield Town Council, would respectfully report:

We have examined the proposed improvement and find the bridge is located in the centre of the main business block in Westfield, and to enable the brick paving contract to be finished in a workmanlike and sightly manner at the proper grade, it will be necessary to remove the present surface of the bridge between the curb lines, car track on both sides of the street, including concrete, brick arches and steel beams, replace with six inch beams, about twice as many as present, set steel rods for reinforcement and fill in with concrete, the town to furnish and lay the brick pavement, covering same at their own expense. The iron beams to be removed to remain the property of the county, to be used elsewhere, which would reduce the cost of the improvement about $900.

We would respectfully recommend that the alteration be made when the town is ready to have it done at an expense not to exceed $4500, against which the county credit the salvage on ten-inch beams to be used elsewhere.

Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES A. SMITH,
S. P. T. WILBUR,
GEORGE B. CLADEK,
Committee.

Freeholder Jones moved that the report be received and recommendation be adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By the committee on Munsell avenue bridge, Linden.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to view the site of the proposed bridge on Munsell avenue, near Clinton avenue, Linden, N. J., would respectfully report that it has visited the place, and finds that a bridge is required at the place named.

Your committee would recommend that a bridge be built at this place, to be twelve feet span, by about fifty feet in length, and the cost not to exceed the sum of $1,000.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY KROUSH,
JOHN H. STEPHAN,
JOHN ROBISON,
Committee.

Freeholder Adams moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered by an unanimous vote.

By committee on Dudley avenue bridge, Westfield, N. J.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to investigate the need of a bridge on Dudley avenue, near Mountain avenue, Westfield, N. J., would respectfully report that it has examined the site of the proposed bridge and is of the opinion that a bridge is necessary at the place, and your committee would therefore recommend that a bridge be built, the span to be three feet, and the length to be sixty-five feet, the covering to be of steel beams and concrete arches, at a cost not to exceed the sum of $4500.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPH PERRY,
J. N. CADY,
ROBERT C. MAURER,
Committee.

Freeholder Wilbur moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By committee on County Road Bridges, Mountainside Borough.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to investigate the need to lengthen the above-named bridges, would respectfully report that it has examined this bridge and would recommend that it be lengthened about twenty-five feet on the southeastern end, with stone or concrete walls, iron beams and brick arches, at a cost not to exceed $400.

Respectfully,
ELMER DARBY,
E. K. ADAMS.
THOS. J. PIERSON,
Committee.

Freeholder Swain moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By Committee on Pittsfield street bridge, Cranford.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to inquire into the advisability of the proposed retaining walls, Eastman street and Pittsfield street bridge, would respectfully that it has examined the bridge and the location, and respectfully recommend that the said wall be built with a pipe railing on top at a cost not to exceed $400.

Very truly yours,
E. K. ADAMS.
S. P. T. WILBUR,
THOS. J. PIERSON,
Committee.

Freeholder Darby moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By Committee on Jail Inspection: To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Jail Inspection would respectfully report that it has inspected the jail and also the books of the warden; we find the total number of prisoners committed during the month of July, 1908, to be 68; confined during the month, 132; number of prisoners in jail August 1, 1908, 50; daily average, during month, 57 18-31; treated by physician, 9.

Respectfully submitted,
E. K. ADAMS,
J. HARVEY DOANE,
J. LOGAN FAY,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Cladek, received and placed on file.

By Committee on Hummock bridge, Union Township:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Your committee would respectfully report that it has examined the old bridge and finds it rotten and in bad condition. We would recommend a new iron beam bridge with arches, twenty feet width and fourteen feet span, at a cost not to exceed $500.

Respectfully submitted,
NOAH WOODRUFF,
THOMAS J. PIERSON,
J. HERVEY DOAN.

Freeholder Krouse moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

New Business.

By Freeholder Perry:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine the bridge on Franklin road, at Branch Mills, Westfield, N. J., the committee to report at the next meeting of this board as to the advisability of widening the bridge, together with the probable cost for the work.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Perry, Cladek and Darby.

The following bills, properly audited and approved, were read, and on roll call unanimously ordered paid, viz:

Court Account—James J. Carey, $20; Dr. James S. Green, $165; T. L. Cassell, $11.52, $14.50, $70; Frederick Teipel, $77.50; Gustave Dehlein, $84; Sebastian Petras, $72, $1.20; M. W. Boyle, $50; Robert Conrad, $84; David H. Ramsey, 75; Peter V. Weaver, $81; Charles F. W. Eckhardt, $72; James Crane, $84; Geo. W. Peek, Jr., $81.25; Jas. P. Kelly, $8.12; George Alexander, $24.60; Robert Lightfoot, $4.40, $187.50; C. Addison Swift, $13.54, $500; Emily E. Williamson, P. O., $70; Thomas W. Reid, $9; Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., $3.60, $208.33; Cook, $3, $6.25, $3.75, $6.50, $4; George C. Teaney, $18.80; Henry J. Scoppe, $75; Edward S. Atwater, $500; Robert W. Hetfield, $4; Wm. H. Barton, $24.50; John A. Galatian, $53.89, $134.50; James C. Calahan, $9.80, $72.12; W. H. Lawrence, Sheriff, $4,148.33.

Bridge Account—A. C. Russell, $19; F. L. & A. Heldritter, $44.27; James G. Moore, $55.50; The W. T. Kirk Company, $13.50; Jno. S. Woods, $1.75; Edward Grace, $14; Harvey P. Harris, $20.75; Geo. C. Newbury & Son, $48, $12.10, $49.50, $48.60; Philip Jahn, $47.71, $36.73, $48.62; Peter L. Hughes, $246.36; John F. Oess, $68, $168; P. J. Pierson, $48.67; Hugh F. Boyle, $24; Charles Arny, $45, $48.75; James G. Moore, $1.75; W. H. Lester, $4, $5; Davis & Thornton, $9.10; J. L. Bauer, $130; A. E. Sandford Company, $1,719.85; Edward Devenney, $75; John Schmidt, $11.25; The W. T. Melvin H. Cleaves, $32.50; John Schmidt, $36.27; John Conrad, $46; Fred Bauer, $66; Commonwealth Quarry Company, $7.06; David H. Totten, $9; Frank Oechsner, $22.08; Stephens Bros., $4.73; Courier-News Publishing Company, $3.85; David Hand, Jr., $20; The W. T. Kirk Company, $520; Warren Travell, $1,465; The Sewell Contracting Company, $200, $50; $66.20; Arthur E. Smith, $400; David H. Voorhies, $25.50, $197.15; Albert A. Sickley, $45.15, $30, $30; F. L. & A. Heldritter, $26.25; Frank J. Cushing, $25; The W. T. Kirk Company, $35.50; Mary T. Hangarter, $9; F. W. Helms & Co., $11.70; J. L. Bauer, $40; James G. Moore, $65, $891, $15.75; W. H. Barton, $2; D. D. Winter, $59; The Weldon Contracting Company, $2.94; F. J. Hubbard, $15; A. W. Stiles, $15.50.

Public Buildings Account—William J. Fowler, $6; The Elizabethtown Water Co., $204.96; Cudahy Packing Co., $12; Theo. W. White, $4; T. F. & H. C. Sayre, $15; Manus Bros., $40; James J. Carey, $60; John R. Rankin, $8.95; W. H. Pease, $30.85; Morey-LaRue Co., $7.09; Clark Hardware Co., $2.75, $6.03; The N. Y. and N. J. Telephone Co., $12, $4, $4.80, 60c., $6.35, $9.15, $9.05, $11.35, $1.90, 90c., $6.30, $4.75, $11.85, $4.20, $5.30; Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, $22.88, $87.04, $62.72, $15.52; Johnson Service Co., $41.88; Thomas Jardine & Son, $10; Joseph Bauer, $4.63; W. H. Hulskamper, $8.64, $125; William Zimmerman, $15; Zior & Townley, $92.36, $48.90; $6.30, $4.75, $11.85, $4.20, $5.30; S. S. Thompson, $2.06; T. E. & E. Levenseller, $1; Frank A. Stratton, $6; Samuel Reibel, $2.50; Catherine Runyon, $87; The Elizabeth Ice Co., $57.18; Breckbacher Bros., $19.17.

Coroner's Account—W. J. Lawrence, M. D., $20.

Jail Account—Joseph Bauer, $36.-90; Jacob Schmidt, $1.85; W. H. Lawrence, sheriff, $622.50.

Lunacy Account—W. R. Coddington, $80.80.

Printing Account—Kee Lox Mfg. Co., $3; Underwood Typewriter Co., $47.25; Underwood Typewriter Co., $47.25; Teh Standard Publishing Company, $29.15; Alexander, MacDonald & Gerrish, $36.50; Alexander, MacDonald & Greene, $28.36; F. E. Norris & Co., $1.40; F. E. Norris & Co., $11.80; Westfield Leader, $18.25; Charles M. Affleck, $37.50.

Publication Account—The Summit Herald, $21.25; Standard Publishing Company, $21.25; Summit Record, $21.25; Elizabeth Daily Journal, $38.25; Lewis S. Meyer, $21.25; New Jersey Advocate, $21.-25; Westfield Leader, $34.25; The Cranford Citizen, $31.25; The Cranford Chronicle, $31.25; Thomas J. Scott, $31.25.

Incidental Account—W. H. Barton, $2; J. L. Bauer, $126; W. B. Rollinson, P. M., $5; James E. Warner, $8.25; J. J. Savitz, $87.50; F. Schmidt, $1.20; Fifth month of 1908, $154, $72.10; John Keron & Son, $40; W. G. Groves, $18; N. B. Levitt $24.36.

Constable Account—Edward L. Mack, $5, $100; Florence G. Stiles, $44.33.

County Road Repairs Account—The Weldon Contracting Company, $1.72, $1,269.67, $3,225.76, $726.-62.

State Aid Road Account—James G. Moore, $4636.15; The N. J. Advocate, $20; W. H. Luster, Jr., $5; The Engineering News Publishing Company, $37.50; A. L. Force, $10.-50; Scientific News Publishing Co., $15.30; E. C. Humphreys, $4, $4, $594; James C. Park, $2,560; J. L. Bauer, $200.

Committal Expense Account—S. P. T. Wilbur, $22.10; Elston Darby, $5.15; Robert C. Maurer, $9.05; J. Logan Fay $6; W. H. Swain, $6.10; Benjamin King, $10.15; Charles A. Smith, $6.45; S. B. Cady, $11; Peter H. Meisel, $14.30; John Robison, $5.50; Noah Woodruff, $8; J. Hervey Doane, $6; Henry Krouse, $11.40; John H. Stephan, $5.55; George B. Cladek, $5.55; Bradford Jones, $9.55; E. K. Adams, $7.75.

Members' Pay Account—Elston Darby, $24; Rodney Perry, $242; John Robison, $24; Noah Woodruff, $52; J. Hervey Doane, $38; J. Logan Fay, $24; Benjamin King, $44; Wills Swain, $24; Peter H. Meisel, $28; Thomas J. Pierson, $48; S. P. T. Wilbur, $18; George B. Cladek, $48; Bradford Jones, $24; P. H. Meisel, $42; John H. Stephen, $48; E. K. Adams, $46; Henry Krouse, $48.

Salary Account—James W. Fink, $75; W. R. Codington, $75; W. R. Leavitt, $125.

Surrogate's Account—Ethel Silks, $50; Rosabel Allen, $100; W. B. Parrot, $268.34; George T. Parrot, Surrogate, $16.33.

Freeholder Swain moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The Director declared the board adjourned until Tuesday, September 3, 1908, at 2:30 p. m.

S. RUSLING RYNO, Clerk.

HAVE YOU AN OLD SILK PETTICOAT?

The advent of the tunic, or, as we call it, the overskirt, has given rise to a new economy among women. This is found in a well-cut silk or satin foundation skirt to give an "air" to an overskirt and bodice of a simple striped material.

A woman who owned a smoked gray silk foundation skirt had it carefully sponged, pressed out and left untrimmed. She bought at the shops a remnant of gray and white striped cotton voile at a small price and made an overskirt and bodice of it.

For the latter she used a piece of the gray silk body lining, cutting it low-necked, taking out the sleeves and finishing the edges with a tiny point of lace.

The tunic was opened up the side, cut to points, put into a box plait at back, and were bound with a three-inch bias fold of the material.

The bodice was simply draped over a guimpe of lace and was drawn into a five-inch empire belt of gray silk fastened with old silver buttons at the back.

It was all very attractive and inexpensive. It might serve as a good suggestion for a woman who wants a new gown at small cost and possesses the necessary foundation skirt. Of course this is the item.

'Tis Thy Bridal Morning.

When a bride is married in a traveling dress the number of bridesmaids should be limited to one. If she be the bride going straight away from the church, friends do not expect to be invited to the ceremony.

The bridal bouquet is oftener than not dispensed with, a few orange blossoms being used in the trimming of the hat or toque instead.

To invite guests to the church only, and not to return to the house afterward, except under special circumstances, is not considered in good taste.

Nor to invite them to the reception and not to the ceremony.

WIT AND TACT SHOULD BE INSEPARABLE.

A genuinely witty girl is amusing—the truth is she is well liked, and the rare reputation it a natural wit is a direct compliment. The woman who endeavors to entertain company by her good nature is extremely popular, providing it is genuine; the one who strives to entertain by good sense may be esteemed enough and often envied, but is disliked only by those capable of understanding genuine worth. A witty person carries the banner, but one who carries it too far is a terrible nuisance. There is as much difference between wits and wisdom as there is between fire and water. Dainty wit is cleverly tinged with satire it is the effusion of foolish persons. There are many women who would rather lose their best friends than their opportunity to lose a good jest. So the girl who is witty and is aware of it, and who will be for persons are quick to acquaint a clever girl of her witticisms just as much as anything else—should use the quick wit for tact as well as fun-loving amusement, says Margaret Humphreyville. Never should she be quick at repartee unless it be witticism generally girlish and not a personal remark to belittle one of her hearers. If she learns to direct her wit in the right channel, she may rightfully feel proud of it, for it will be to her advantage in a great many instances, and win her many friends. Someone has said that false wit was like counterfeit money, which is a very good comparison.

PLAN NOW FOR WINTER GARDENS.

It is now time to make planting plans for the fall and winter. If you have a cellar with a dirt floor and have room to plant a which have supplied you in the spring, here is a plan by which they can be made to furnish a crop of tender shoots in the winter when the pies and sauces are most welcome.

Rapid growth is essential to insure tenderness in rhubarb. The very best can be raised in the winter, a warm cellar being the only requisite for forcing it. The roots of the plants should be dug up late in the fall with large quantities of dirt adhering to them. These chunks of earth and roots in the cellar may be piled up outdoors until midwinter, when they should be carried into the cellar and placed in a bed prepared in the earthen floor. The chunks of earth should be laid close together in rich, moist earth and covered to a depth of four to six inches.

Growth soon commences. Light is not a requisite. In a short time the rhubarb will be ready for the table. The shoots will be almost colorless and remarkably tender and palatable. A very small bed containing only half a dozen well-developed hills will be sufficient to supply a family for several weeks. Roots send up a large number of shoots and exhaust themselves in about four weeks. For an additional supply roots should be planted at intervals of two or three weeks.

PRETTY SUNSHADES FOR LATE SUMMER.

A plain sunshade of habitual rivals the handsomest of its kind when lined by mousseline de sole to which splashy cretonne roses are sewn.

When the parasol is folded no one would imagine it to be anything but white, but when it is opened and the sun shines through the thin materials the roses seems to have a faint deign or roses, almost invisible and altogether alluring.

Anyone can carry out the idea by buying a white parasol and lining it. Not many roses need be used; in fact, only a few—just a suggestion—to give the prettiest effect. They are best placed in a row about three inches above the edge of the sunshade and about two on each panel are quite sufficient. This makes sixteen in all for the average parasol.

For a more elaborate sunshade the outer border might be formed of large roses, and toward the stick the flowers might become smaller, thus making a decoration for the whole. Great care must be taken in choosing the flowers that their effect is not overdone and made ordinary.

True Unselfishness.

Remember that self is the greatest obstacle to good manners and self is always with us.

Surface polish may hide self, but scratch that surface and out it will pop, sometimes in unlovely guise.

As there is nothing harder to fight than self, the woman who aspires to be truly polite had better go to work early on thinking of others first.

Thus only can she hope to have that heart politeness which is more to be desired than the polish that comes from training, but conceals a deadly selfishness within.

More Elaborate Skirt.

A designer has brought out a new thing in the way of skirts. It is cut circular, is a trifle high-waisted and instead of having a box plait down the side it is slashed open, finished with a two-inch hem at the edge, and is then laced from side to side through silk-covered eyelets. Silk or velvet ribbon is used.

The World We Live In.

The Maid—Do you believe it's unlucky to get married on a Friday?

The Abominable Bachelor—Certainly. Why should Friday be an exception?—Black and White.

SUBMARINE FINANCE.

There was an ancient mariner,
For threescore years and ten
He'd viewed his warlike craft complete,
The happiest of men.

The government inspectors came
And marveled greatly o'er
The wonderful invention that
Was moored down by the shore.

The old inventor smiled with pride
And dreamed of wealth galore.

They sped across the ocean's foam.
The men began to think
The craft the great problem had solved.
Its wonders made them blink—
In fact, it would do anything
Required of it but—sink.

The old man was no financier;
His science was not sound.
He'd just enough to float his craft
But not a cent beyond.
You see, he'd failed to take into
Provide a sinking fund.

—Roy K. Moulton, in Judge.

Not So Bad.

Mr. Subbs (after engaging cook)—There's one other thing I suppose you should know, Miss Flannigan—my wife is a chronic invalid, confined to her room.

Miss Flannigan—That's fine! I wor afeerd she might be wan iv thim chronic kickers that ar're confined t' th' kitchen, begobs!—Puck.

Being Firm.

*Wife (displaying a large lamp*shade, recently purchased)—Isn't that perfectly lovely, my dear? And it only cost five dollars.

Husband (severely)—If you wear that to church to-morrow, you'll go alone. There's a limit to everything, including hats.

No Pride About Her.

Mistress—You have always been so careful, Mary, that I can't understand how you happened to break that vase this morning.

Mary—Well, you see, mum, I never have broke nothing, and I was afraid you would be thinking that I might want to get above my station.

As Advertised.

"What's your time?" asked the old farmer of the brisk salesman.

"Twenty minutes after five. What can I do for you?"

"I want them pants," said the old farmer, leading the way to the window and pointing at a ticket marked: "Given away at 5.10."—Judge.

Ran the Ark.

Sunday-school Teacher—Now, Willie, can you tell me who were the archangels?

Willie—I s'pose Noah must have been one of them.—Judge.

HE WAS WISE.

Grace—Now, when you ask papa, face him like a man.

Harry—You bet I will. I'm not going to give him a chance to kick.

Father to the Man.

The man who sighs for the bygone day
When a barefoot boy he ran
Is the same old boy who used to say:
"Dee, I wish I was a man!"
—Chicago Daily News.

Taking No Chances.

"Oh, the sorrow of it!" sobbed the fair maid. "Last night I refused Mr. Blank, and this morning his body was found in the river."

"Poor fellow!" murmured her girl friend. "I suppose he was afraid you might change your mind."—Chicago Daily News.

Very Likely.

Church—You know out in Pittsburg the dust and soot settle down on everything.

Gotham—I suppose the baseball fields must look like black diamonds, then?—Yonkers Statesman.

Foreign and Domestic.

His Wife (reading)—I see they had a bread riot in Spain recently.

Her Husband—Yes; and we'll have one at home soon if there isn't an improvement in your biscuits.—Chicago Daily News.

Exaggerated Language.

Son (who has been caught reading a penny dreadful)—Dahand me typer, ef there's anythin' pitcher, $1.-

Father—No, my son; there will be nothing more serious than toothache. Come, that is where the strap hangs.

A Better Idea.

Clara Winterbloom—There is only one way to vanquish all this trunk. What shall I do—fill it with papers?

Mrs. Winterbloom—No, let your father pack it.

Conversation.

"A man likes to hear hisse'f talk so well," said Uncle Eben, "dat mos' conversation looks lak' fer little people impertinently waitin' dere turns to say sumpin."—Washington Star.

PRETTY MODES OF THE MOMENT.

The quaintest bonnet shapes are appearing, regular scuttles with long drooping brims that slope downward at the back below the collar line, roofed in smoothed. The feathers of such structures are often posed at the back, to tower far above the high crowns and nod forward with every step of the wearer. Some of the drooping brims drop as far as the middle of the back.

Borders of fur are shown as several adorable little boleros in light-colored textiles, satins, etc., reaching only to a short Empire waistline and with or without little Directoire coat tails in the back. These boleros are intended to accompany sheer summer frocks, and in some cases the color scheme is emphasized in tones or dark.

Double width tulle is being used for veils with the hats that have long drooping back brims. The veils are long and the ends are knotted at the front below the bust or at the back and tied in fleecy bows that begin with the gauze of the deep ruches.

Fancy cretonnes are seen in profusion, and, although this is only a fad, some very dainty models may be noticed, with parasols to match. The plaid and fancy Ralph silks are combined very frequently, too, with this flowered material.

Soutache braiding is fashionable, but is rather expensive to buy, and takes much time to do by hand.

Summer Girls' Hobbies.

The fad of the summer girl of making her outing hat of duck's back ground for receiving the autographs of new acquaintances has been taken up upon this year by ingenious girl.

She is taking inks in various colors for her vacation this year, and instead of names being written helter skelter she will demand that signers follow a design mapped out by her to represent a ribbon trimming. There will be names in strips and names inclosed in large polka dots, the different inks being used for the co-or scheme.

Straw finger bags are excellent for general use or for shopping and are considered quite as smart as the lingerie variety. At the same time they are much more practical, and when they have outlived their use as a pocketbook can be used again as a foundation for a vanity bag.

They are quite inexpensive, as a good one costs only forty-nine cents.

JAPANESE TRAYS ARE HANDY.

The use of small Japanese trays on which to serve light refreshments certainly was a happy thought for hostesses.

When friends call for a little visit on the porch these hot days and evenings—lemonade and cake or wafers ready are the hostesses' foremost thoughts.

How many dripping tumblers have ruined gowns, even with napkin protection!

How many men—very few—are not capsized with embarrassment while endeavoring to balance cake plate and tumbler—and napkin!

It is quite the best form to place the tumbler filled with the beverage, plate and napkin on the tray before handing to guest.

These small lacquer Japanese trays are very inexpensive and can be purchased at the large department stores as well as the small Oriental shops about town.

Also a splendid idea for winter afternoon tea—is it not?

A Cheap Kitten.

"A corruptionist," said Senator Depew, "once entered a voter's house. In the voter's absence he pleaded his cause to the man's wife. Finally spying a wretched kitten on the floor, he said:

"'I'll give you $25 for that animal, ma'am.'

"She accepted those terms.

"The corruptionist, thrusting the kitten into his pocket, rose to go. At the door, he said:

"'I'm so hope you can persuade your husband to vote for me, ma'am.'

"'I'll try to,' said the woman, 'though Jim's a hard one to move when his mind's made up; but anyhow you've got a real cheap kitten there. I'm opposed to what was in yesterday an' gave me $50 for its brother.'"—Washington Star.

His First Act.

Hyks—If you had a million dollars who would you do first?

Pyke—The tax assessor.—Chicago Daily News.

Proper Enough.

Tom—Here! You've started your notes backwards. "Dr. Sir." Don't you know what sort of abbreviation is very slovenly?

Dick—No, sir. "Dr." is all right in this case. He owes me money.—Philadelphia Press.

Not the Desired Answer.

Minister (much gratified)—"And so, Saunders, you think that we ministers ought to get larger stipends?"

Saunders—"Ay. Ye see we wad get a better class o' men!"—Punch.

That Settled It.

Her—They say that people who marry soon grow to look alike.

She—Then you must consider my refusal as final.—Illustrated Bits.

An Introduction.

Opportunity, this is Miss Democracy. Miss Democracy, this is Opportunity. Here's hoping you make good friends!—Albany Argus.

GOVERNOR'S NAME HISSED

Hundreds of Men at Atlantic City Mass Meeting Resent His Accusation.

DEMAND FOR RING ROUT.

Present City Government Assailed and Ex-Secretary of the Senate Edge Named Informally for Mayor.

Hundreds of men crowded into Odd Fellows' Hall at Atlantic City Monday night and hissed and hooted every mention of the name of Gov. Fort because he had declared that Atlantic City presents the spectacle of a "saturnalia of vice" and had forced the closing of the saloons Sunday under threats of placing the resort under martial law.

In the presence of several hundred supporters of Mayor Stoy and Boss Kuehnle, Joseph W. Salus, foreman of the Grand Jury which failed to find indictments last Wednesday in May's Landing, declared that Gov. Fort's accusation that Atlantic City was lawless was an unqualified lie. He then added, amid such enthusiasm as has never been heard at a meeting at the resort:

"The good name of Atlantic City can best be served by a change in administration that will put men in office who will have the respect even of the Governor."

Mr. Salus was frequently interrupted by cries for Stoy and Kuehnle, but even in the midst of these he, in genuine political convention style, placed in nomination for Mayor the name of Col. Walter E. Edge, former Secretary of the State Senate.

Mr. Salus declared that Mr. Edge was the choice of the business and hotel men of the resort. This declaration almost precipitated a fight in the meeting, and it was only a few of the cooler and more deliberate men grouped on the platform who prevented the meeting being brought to a disorderly conclusion.

The unofficial nomination of Edge was considered by many as the beginning of a widespread movement to smash the political machine which for so many years has controlled matters in Atlantic City.

The group of leading business men who called the meeting, which was in many respects unique. Its primary object was to discuss some plan for balking in a legitimate fashion the efforts of the officials to close up the resort on Sundays and to prevent these same officials from hurling various epithets against the place. The machine leaders, it is said, were busy throughout the day rallying their forces in order to prevent this mass meeting from becoming a move to put forward a reform candidate. It was evident from the number of Stoy enthusiasts present that a part of the program was to make so much noise for the long-time Mayor of the place as to make it impossible for any other names to be mentioned with any degree of dignity.

That this plan failed, however, was due to the forceful speech made by Mr. Salus, who became so enthusiastic in his indorsement of Edge that he ripped off his coat in the midst of his oratory.

President Charles Evans of the First National Bank had been chosen as chairman of the meeting, but he did not preside, and in his place Joseph A. McNamee, cashier of the Marine Trust Company, of which Kuehnle is President, was placed in the chair, being fairly cheered into it by political adherents.

A well-known independent in politics, Eli H. Chandler, began the speech-making. His attack on the Governor was cheered again and again, and following it a motion was passed calling for a committee to draw resolutions condemning Gov. Fort. This committee was made up of City Solicitor Harry Wootton, Mr. Chandler, John F. Hall, a prominent Democrat; C. J. Adams, a real estate operator, and Magistrate Joshua Jagmetty. They are expected to present their resolutions at a meeting to be called next week.

It was at this juncture that Kuehnle, who was himself present to see that all went well according to his own forecasts, made a motion to adjourn, expecting that this would end the entire proceedings. But a large company of excited men called loudly for Salus before Kuehnle's motion could be passed. Fairly fighting his way through the densely packed masses of men, Salus was lifted to the platform.

When he reached that point of his speech in which he declared that "the statement made by the Governor that Atlantic City is a saturnalia of vice is the most infamous lie ever uttered by an official" the cheers from the hall could be heard blocks away. Salus further declared his close personal friendship for Kuehnle, although he said he differed with him politically. He also paid a tribute to Mayor Stoy, but in his peroration he loudly pronounced the name of Walter Edge, who he termed "the only man qualified to bring the city back into the list of properly governed municipalities of the country."

Leading business men at the resort took upon the meeting, which began by being a protest against Gov. Fort's strong denunciation of Atlantic City and ended by becoming an out and out demonstration for Edge, as the opening of a strong campaign for the latter's nomination. It is possible that so soon as today a committee will be formed to wait upon Edge and ask him to become the leader of the opposition against the machine.

AMBOY'S MAYOR RUN DOWN BY A PLAINFIELD AUTO

Mayor Bosschweiler was crossing Perth Amboy, was run down and slightly injured Sunday afternoon by an automobile owned and driven by John F. Hall, of Johnston avenue, an insurance agent of this city. His Honor is confined to his home as a result and the officials of Perth Amboy in the meantime are taking active steps to bring about a more strict enforcement of speed laws.

Mayor Bollschweiler was crossing Smith street, Perth Amboy, when Mr. Hall, accompanied by several friends, approached along the trolley car tracks. Mr. Hall attempted to turn out of the tracks, but the car skidded, and, striking him around, struck the Mayor and knocked him down. The machine was stopped and Mr. Bollschweiler was picked up and taken to his home. His injuries are not considered serious.

The same day Health Inspector Samuel T. Pyott of Perth Amboy, while standing in New Brunswick avenue, between two grocery wagons, was struck by an automobile in charge of L. Lake, of Spottswood, and knocked down. The machine passed over his legs. Later he was able to walk home. In speaking of the accident to himself later, the Mayor was not inclined to blame Mr. Hall, explaining that it was an accident that could not be helped.

BOROUGH SCHOOL TEACHER NOW MRS. T. A. WEAVER

Miss Pauline Wooster, for the past two years a teacher in the borough schools, became the wife of T. Ashley Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Weaver, of Rutherford, at a quiet wedding held at the bride's home at Moravia, N. Y., last Thursday. Her resignation from the North Plainfield teaching staff was formally accepted at the meeting of the Board of Education held last night, and the committee on teachers has been authorized to secure her successor.

Mr. Weaver is a brother-in-law of Frank Rowley, of Grove street, and has been for several years associated with him in the drug business in this city. He was at one time a member of Company K and has a large circle of friends in this city and borough. He will continue in the drug business at Hackensack. The young couple will make their home.

The wedding is the second victory for Dan Cupid among borough teachers this year, for Miss Adele Milne, of the Somerset street school kindergarten, gave up teaching to wed shortly after the close of school in June.

GIRLS' IDEAS OF MARRIAGE ARE CHANGED.

Marrigae is no longer the only profession for a girl; when her grandmother was young it was. Girls who did not marry then missed so much that the inducement to accept a husband at far greater than it is today.

How different are the conditions today! In every direction there are alluring possibilities of independence, absorbing occupations open to girls, which must necessarily go far to divert a girl's mind from marriage as an ambition and aim. They make even seem infinitely preferable to the unquestionable ties and restrictions of marriage. True it is that one rarely finds even successful women who have given the best of their years to the public, but the sharp stones in the road of every woman's life in an independent career.

But that does not alter the fact that in these days the numerous occupations open to women, and the need or temptation to follow them, present a constant alternative to marriage, and tend to make girls less ready to change their state, more exacting in their requirements, and incidentally make men less able or willing to incur the responsibilities of wedded life. The wider outlook on life which modern conditions involve should make girls more perfect comrades.—John Strange Winter, the novelist.

A Handy Substitute.

"Pa, Jane wants one of these new sheath dresses."

"Like th' kind you showed me in the picture?"

"Yes."

"Tell her to crawl into th' umbrella cover."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HEAVY SENTENCES FOLLOW DISORDERLY HOUSE RAID

A police raid of "The Gut," a disorderly house along the French raceway, Monday, resulted in the capture of half a dozen colored people three men and three women. Sergeant Overbaugh, with Patrolmen Nolan and O'Keefe, surprised the merrymakers at about midnight taking as prisoners Troy Gibson, Harold Dickson, John Taylor, Ethel Timms, Margaret Bowman and Ethel Henry. All were pretty well intoxicated, having made the rounds of several beer joints on three nights. When the raid was made to the interruption of a hilarious jollification by the entire sextette. At the time of the arrests, Gibson made several statements of the nature of a confession, but told the Judge this morning that they were untrue, claiming that he was drunk and didn't know what he was talking about. All confessed to "licking up" considerable booze, but Ethel Henry swore that she only had lemon soda.

In imposing the sentence, City Judge Runyon said that the punishment was in behalf of the mass of colored people, whom he believes are trying to lead decent lives in Plainfield, but who are sadly hampered in their efforts by the actions of such as the prisoners.

JUNIORS MAY ORGANIZE A FIFE AND DRUM CORPS

Steps were taken at a meeting of Plainfield Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., last night to organize a fife and drum corps among members of the order in this city. Councilor Peck appointed William F. Richards, Andrew Mulford and R. I. Runyon as a committee to confer with similar committees to be appointed by Franklin, Somerset and Benevolent Councils, at which it is believed that a corps of at least twenty-five members can be organized and this would prove an attractive feature.

It is stated that whenever either Council turns out it is obliged to hire music, and that if a corps is organized among members of the order, it would mean quite a saving in expense. Plainfield Council does not know at present what action the other Councils will take, but it seems to be the opinion that they will favor it, and will appoint committees to attend a conference.

MISS ESTELLE BOSS BRIDE OF BAYONNE MAN.

Miss Estelle Phillips Boss, daughter of Mrs. S. J. Boss, of West Fourth street, and Fred B. Vanness, of Bayonne, were married at noon Tuesday by the bride's pastor, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends. After a trip of several weeks the couple will reside on Fortieth street, Bayonne, where the groom has furnished a home.

The bride was engaged for several years as a cashier at S. Scheuer & Co.'s grocery store on West Front street. She is a member of Trinity Reformed church and active in the Sunday-school and Christian Endeavor Society, of which she has been a faithful attendant.

Will Examine U. S. Forest.

Townsend Mann, of Bound Brook, a graduate of the Plainfield High School, class '01, who is now connected with the United States Forestry Service, and who has been spending the past six months in office work at Washington, is visiting his home prior to his departure for the State of Washington, to make an examination of forest between Puget Sound and the Pacific Ocean, with a view to selling one hundred million feet of Uncle Sam's timber.

TAKING CARE OF THE THROAT.

Women are more liable to sore throat and bronchial trouble than men. Why? Because they subject themselves to changes of temperature such as would kill any man.

A man wears his stiff linen collar from rising to bedtime, except when he sheds it on hot summer days when he gets into a negligee shirt.

A woman in the course of the day may have on a surplice neckgear, a turnover of linen, a fur boa, an unlined bit of lace and a low-necked gown. What wonder she is subject to throat troubles!

We should not treat our necks to sudden changes from hot to cold; and we should clothe them so more ment is free and venetilation good.

Equally important is it that there is no undue pressure, particularly for full-blooded or apoplectic persons. Remember that the great blood vessels of the neck, the windpipe and the organs of speech are all shut up in the throat and must be treated with consideration.

A high, tight collar not only makes swallowing difficult, but also impedes the circulation of blood in the brain, therefore is dangerous.

CLAIMS UNFAIR TAXATION

S. W. Rushmore Begins Vigorous Protest Against Methods of Local Assessors.

APPORTIONMENTS ARE UNFAIR.

Will Organize an Industrial League to Bring About an Equitable Adjustment of the Municipal Levy.

Highly incensed over what he believes to be a manifestly unfair assessment of taxes in Plainfield and determined to do all in his power to correct the alleged unfairness, Samuel W. Rushmore, owner of the Rushmore Dynamo Works on South avenue, has taken steps to form an Industrial League in Plainfield, the membership to be comprised almost entirely of working people and people of moderate means. He declares that the wealthy property-owners of Plainfield are not paying their proportionate share of the taxes, adding that if they did the tax rate would be about one-tenth what it is now.

Mr. Rushmore is assessed on $56,000 personal property and says that legally the assessment is correct and he has no fault to find with it, but when he learned that the Pond Machine Tool Works was assessed on $125,000 personal property he declared with emphasis that it was an outrage and if he could help it the assessment would not be allowed to stand. He says that he is willing to take an affidavit that the Pond Machine Tool Works has a million and half dollars worth of personal property.

In speaking of the matter today, Mr. Rushmore said:

"On the present basis of assessment now employed here my share is 1-38 of the whole city and I hardly think that I am as important as all that. Just from a casual investigation I have learned that there are about twenty other property-owners in Plainfield who have been put in my class and what I want to know is by what method as of the rest of the property-owners are favored, and what benefit besides is to come up to unusual proportion. My purpose now is to organize an Industrial League and I will strive to get every workingman in the city into it. We will then be able to make a determined fight for what is right and fair.

"I have the copyists at this residence to make a complete list of the assessments from the books of the assessors as soon as I can get access to the books. I went to the office of the assessor today and requested permission to see the books, but was refused. However, I intend to see those books, get the list and then I will have something to work on."

When asked if he would take the matter before the Union County Board of Taxation, Mr. Rushmore said that he would do so in due proper way, and if necessary would go to the State Board of Taxation. He said that he would not leave a stone unturned in obtaining justice in matters of taxation. He added incidentally that he never has taken any part in local politics, preferring to attend to his own affairs. He hinted that if he was identified with *the powers that be he might be fa*vored, but he did not seek concessions in that way.

DOG MUZZLING ODINANCE EFFECTIVE ALL THE YEAR.

Many inquiries have been made within the past few days as to the time when muzzles can be removed from dogs following the proclamation issued early in the summer by Mayor Charles J. Fisk. When Chief Kiely was questioned about the matter today he said that *he is governed en*tirely by the city ordinance and owners whose dogs run at large take their chances. The ordinance reads likewise. That particular section of the *ordinance which refers to the muz*zling of dogs, reads as follows:

"Section 1. That no dog shall be permitted to run at large within the City of Plainfield, unless a good and sufficient muzzle shall be placed over the mouth of such dog in such a manner as to render biting impossible; and any person who shall permit or suffer any dog owned or harbored by him to run at large contrary to the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine not exceeding $10 for each offence."

This means that dogs must be muzzled at all times and failure to do so is a violation of the ordinance.

Sherlock Holmes!

"How did you find the sneak, sir?" asked the waiter at the cheap restaurant of the man who had dined.

"By perseverance," was the reply. "The morsel was hiding under a Brussels sprout; but I tracked him down."—Chicago Journal.

ADDRESSING THE YOUNG DAUGHTERS.

I have been asked about a topic which it seems is now bothering the newspapers, and especially the New York Times, which had a clever editorial on the subject, says Vogue. It seems that when King Edward wrote a little note to Hon Mrs. John Hubert Ward before her marriage, and sent it with the splendid bracelet which he gave her, he addressed her as Miss Whitelaw Reid. Society has its observances. These may not be according to rule, and its *grammar and its rhetoric may not be or*thodox from high school and university standards. Indeed, we remember a book called "The Queen's English," which pointed out certain faults. Royalties and fashion should adopt peculiar methods of pronunciation, and their own code of familiar conversation and address. English people can never understand our "initials," and their novelists are constantly poking fun at John G. Smith, J. G. Smith an dall the letters of that middle letter now considered so demode.

Mrs. Ogden Mills never gives her husband's middle name, and her unmarried daughter is Miss Ogden Mills in London, and not Miss Beatrice Ogden Mills. The eldest or only daughter of a family takes the maternal name only. Our ambassador is known in London as Mr. Whitelaw Reid and not as Mr. J. Whitelaw Reid. His daughter is therefore Miss Whitelaw Reid. Owing to many families wishing to preserve impress upon the world the dignity of a distaff name or one inherited, establishing a house thereby, this custom, borrowed perhaps from Spain, is the one in vogue in England. The king would never have addressed any ambassador's daughter as Miss Jean Reid, because that would imply without being strictly correct, that she were a younger daughter. Then even he would have written to Miss Jean Temple Reid. A king writes so often with his own hand, and almost always through his secretary, that the grammar of the note employing the first persons throughout and then singing Edward R. may be pardoned, built it also royal usage. As any one who had read the latest edition of the Letters of Queen Victoria can testify. In all letters of sympathy and congratulation in the queen's case, more likely the former than the latter—as she gloried in a funeral—this same form is observed.

DELICIOUS WAYS OF SERVING CRABS.

In these days when crab meat can be bought in many places ready picked, without fear of after consequences, it is a convenient and delicious combination to eat for summer lunches and suppers.

Whole hot crabs, either deviled or in farcis, are popular; to serve it cold is less well known.

Crab salad, either with French or mayonnaise dressing, is almost no variety of crabs themselves do not have to be boiled. The meat should be ley cold and served on lettuce.

Crab ravigote is even more delicious. This is served in the shell and is supplied with a safely tinned mayonnaise, to which is added a little onion and garlic, and made quite acid with lemon.

Sweet pickles, cut in thin sections lengthwise, are placed over the crabs after they are in the shells and alternating with them, in the opposite direction, are anchovies. If preferred, the pickles can be chopped through the crab meat, and the anchovies only used on top.

The cold crab is also delicious served with chopped red and green peppers, besides being artistic to look at.

While prices of this crab meat differ in different cities, it averages about fifty cents a quart, and the meat is supplied. It is safely tinned in cities several hundred miles from the coast; anywhere in fact where it can come fresh each day.

It is important to buy from a reliable dealer, and also never to use it in very hot weather. As a rule it comes in tightly covered tin buckets. A quart should fill about eleven shells of medium size.

It is better to pick over the meat lest there be small pieces of shell. The shells themselves should be thoroughly scrubbed with a rough, stiff brush, inside and opt, and put to soak in cold water for an hour or more, to remove all shfy odor.

Day Nursery Opens Sept. 8.

Now that the City Unions Kings Daughters' baby camp on the mountains is closed, preparations are being made to open the Day Nursery on Tuesday, September 8, when practically the same work will be carried on during the fall and winter months. The Union cared for an unusually large number of children at the camp this summer and those in charge are deeply grateful to the many friends who have assisted in any way. The needs at the Day Nursery will be just as great and it is hoped that generous contributions will be made in support of the charitable institution.

Enjoyed Motorcycle Trip.

Hugh Gray, of Grove place, has purchased an M. & M. motorcycle, and on Sunday, in company with Mr. Lindsey, of Compton avenue, who recently bought a similar machine, made a trip to the Oranges, Verona, Caldwell, Boonton and Lake Hopatcong. They covered the entire distance in about seven hours, including several stops.

MY EDUCATION IN A NUTSHELL.

I can say "hic, haec, hoc," and decline any verb in Latin, but I was told the other day that I mispronounced the English language and spoke it incorrectly.

I know how many segments there are in a bee's foot, and I can discourse learnedly on the origin of life, but I'm beggared if I understand much about this synthesis of forces which I call myself.

I could write you a splendid essay upon the Arts of Subsistence in former times, and describe to you in detail how our savage progenitors managed to eke out an existence, but I don't believe I could broil a beefsteak nor make a bowl of porridge. Neither can the girl I am going to marry.

I can tell you much about the chemistry of matter, but should my mother take poison I would not know what to give her.

I could dazzle you with a dissertation on the Economics of Money, but I am at a loss to know how to earn a cent of it myself.

In short, I know everything that is not worth knowing.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

A woman has lots of sense not to wear sensible clothes.

The reason a girl can fool a man is he thinks he is doing the fooling.

The time a woman can smile the most naturally is when she wants to cry.

An easy way not to be bothered by your relations is to be poorer than they are.

A man without convictions is uninteresting, but a man with them is insufferable.

When a man and a girl are flirting the reason she believes he means it is because she doesn't.

The trouble with experience as an educator is it graduates its pupils at the brink of the grave.

It's queer how much more expensive a cheap pew in church seems than a dear box at the theater.

The best way to test whether a man is a good Christian is for him to try to stop a leak in the plumbing.

No matter how proud a man is of being able to do things around the house, it never takes any useful form like chopping kindling wood.—N. Y. Press.

JUST THOUGHTS.

Many a man who knows his place is unable to keep it.

Often a man's wife is his only visible means of support.

Many a man attempts to stand up for his friends by lying.

Little drops of water make big dollars for the umbrella man.

Do people who kill time expect the dead past to bury the dead?

There would be less trouble if nobody ever gave anybody advice.

When a girl wants a man to kiss her she doesn't want him to think she does.

Dare to do right and you will soon have a reputation for being poor but honest.

After a woman has been married a few days she begins to think how much better she could have done.

Sometimes a man can tell what a woman means by what she doesn't say —that is, if she leaves anything unsaid.

MADE IN MICHIGAN.

Learning makes a man proud, but wisdom makes him humble.

Most men do as they please—after consulting their wives.

A monumental lie—under a gravestone. And sometimes on it.

Most "smart" people are like a pin, sharp at the point and small at the head.

The value of a good husband can't always be estimated by the amount of his salary.

A Michigan editor wrote a communication to his rival calling him an ass—and signed it "Yours fraternally."

A woman who ordinarily pays no attention to what her husband says will lie awake all night to hear what he says in his sleep.

Aided by the moral support of a new suit of clothes, even a weak man may rise to greatness; but it takes a strong man to maintain a respectable average when his trousers hang at the knee.

EXERCISES TO PRODUCE THE NEW FIGURE.

As the sheath dresses are to come in the fall, the hips that were left to go after training down for last winter's princess lines must go.

This is still an era of sadness for the short and fat; for only one thing remains, to start in at once to begin a short reducing diet. It will be hot work, but what is heat in the interest of a willowy shape? Besides, the more you perspire the more quickly will the coveted slenderness arrive.

Here are three exercises that will do wonders in getting rid of fat hips:

Stand erect, with the finger tips of the right hand held lightly on the right leg. Kick out the leg slowly, without bending the knees, and at the same time slide the fingers down the side as far as they will go, always remembering to keep the elbow. Bring the leg slowly back to position and repeat with left leg and hand.

Drop the hand at the side, touching with the finger tips, and kick slowly in a circular motion, slide the fingers along it and keep both elbows pressed backward.

Lastly put the finger tips on the back of the leg and kick slowly backward, sliding the fingers and keeping the muscles unflexed as in the other two exercises.

Try them morning and evening; begin by doing the fifteen minutes a time, and if you are not a sylph when cold weather comes again, at least it will not be your fault.

Besides getting thinner you will have the happy consciousness that the excessive perspiration caused by this violent exercising will beautify your skin and improve your general health.

August Weather Statistics.

Weather Prophet John Neagle, shows by his monthly statistics that the mean temperature for August was 2.2 degrees below the normal and the precipitation for the month was 1.50 inches above the normal. The statistics follow: Highest temperature, 96 degrees, on the 4th; lowest temperature, 45 degrees, on the 21st; mean temperature, 70.6; normal temperature, 72.8; greatest daily range, 37; total precipitation, 6.40 inches; normal precipitation, 4.90 inches; greatest precipitation in 24 hours, 4.05 on the 26th; greatest precipitation in 12 hours, 3.75 on the 26th; greatest precipitation in 1 hour, 2.41 inches on the 26th; accumulated precipitation for 1908, 31.08 inches; number of rain days, 19; number of days clear, 31; partly cloudy, 15; cloudy, 4; days of thunder storms, 5, 6, 7, 11; dates of fog, 6, 7; dates of meteors, 13.

Not a Bothersome Spouse.

The Heiress—But why should I marry you? I don't love you.

Her Suitor—Oh, that's all right. I shan't be at home very much, you know.—London Opinion.

New Jersey Central

In Effect June 28, 1908.

For New York—2.17, 3.37, 5.34, 6.02, 6.23, 6.37, 7.10, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 8.46, 9.29, 9.59, 10.28, 10.55, a. m., 12.01, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 5.42, 6.13, 6.45, 8.55, 9.59, 11.59 p. m. Sundays—2.17, 3.37, 5.25, 7.23, 7.50, 8.44, 9.46, 10.30 a. m., 12.01, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.13, 6.45, 8.55, 9.59, 11.59 p. m.

For Newark—2.17, 3.37, 5.25, 7.23, 7.50, 8.44, 9.46, 10.30 a. m., 12.01, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.13, 6.45, 8.55, 9.59, 11.59 p. m. Sundays—2.17, 3.37, 5.25, 7.23, 7.50, 8.44, 9.46, 10.30 a. m., 12.01, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.13, 6.45, 8.55, 9.59, 11.59 p. m.

For Elizabeth—2.17, 3.37, 5.25, 7.23, 7.50, 8.44, 9.46, 10.30 a. m., 12.01, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.13, 6.45, 8.55, 9.59, 11.59 p. m. Sundays—2.17, 3.37, 5.25, 7.23, 7.50, 8.44, 9.46, 10.30 a. m., 12.01, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.13, 6.45, 8.55, 9.59, 11.59 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—5.18, 9.15, a. m., 2.00, 5.23, p. m. Sundays—5.40 a. m., 2.00, 7.00 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—5.18, 9.15, a. m., 2.00, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—5.40 a. m., 2.00, 7.00 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc. 2.17, 5.11, 10.55 a. m., 12.42 Saturdays only, 1.00, 3.00, 4.30, 5.00, 6.13, 11.59 p. m. Sundays—8.52, 9.45 a. m., 2.00, 5.23 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—2.17, 5.29 a. m., (12.42, Atlantic City and Sundays—9.46 a. m., 1.46, 5.23 p. m.

For Philadelphia—2.17, 3.37, 5.25, 7.23, 8.13, 8.42 a. m., 12.12, 12.42, 1.39, 2.11, 2.45, 3.14, 3.44, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.13, 6.45, 8.55, 9.46 p. m., 1.15 Night. Sundays—2.17, 3.37, 5.25, 7.23, 7.50, 8.13, 8.42, 9.46, 10.30 a. m., 12.12, 1.44, 2.39, 3.42, 4.55, 5.39, 6.44, 8.55, 9.46 p. m., 12.25, 1.15 night.

For Baltimore and Washington—2.45, 11.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 6.44 p. m. Sundays—2.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 6.44 p. m.

Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Supt. W. C. HOPE, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Arrival and Departure of Mails

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.

Office opens 7 a. m., closes 7 p. m. On Saturdays close half hour later.

Arrive—7.00, 8.40, 11.30 a. m., 2.30, 4.50, 7.30 p. m. 12 midnight.
Close—7.30 a. m., 12.45, 3.30, 6.45, 7.45 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 1.30, 5.15 p. m.
Close—7.30 a. m., 1.45 and 4.30 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 and 11.30 a. m., 1.30, 7.00 p. m.
Close—7.15, 7.30, 9.30 a. m., 12.45, 3.30, 6.00, 6.45 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR EASTON.

Close—1.00 and 7.15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR WESTERN STATES.

Close—12.35, 6.00, 7.15 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA, West of Easton.

Close—12.35 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 1.30, 5.00 p. m.
Close—7.30 a. m., 2.30, 6.00 p. m.

NEWARK—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 1.30, 5.15 p. m.
Close—9.30 a. m.

WATCHUNG, WARRENVILLE.

Arrive—12.30 p. m.
Close—2.00 p. m.

WATCHUNG.

Arrive—4.30 p. m.
Close—2.00 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9.30 to 10.30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6.30 p. m.

H. BIRD, P. M.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

VOL. XL. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMEBER 17, 1908. NO. 38

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well as its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

STABBER SENT TO JAIL

Frank Mohring Committed Without Bail to Wait the Grand Jury's Action.

VICTIM IN FEAR OF HIM.

Refused to Stand Near Judge's Desk During Proceedings In the City Court.

Frank Mohring, the West Fifth street young man who on Saturday night last stabbed Mrs. Ella Hopkock as she was walking along West Front street, was arraigned in the city court this morning on a charge of atrocious assault. When his rights in the case were explained, he expressed preference for the grand jury's action instead of an immediate hearing and was committed to the county jail without bail.

Mrs. Hoppock's condition has greatly improved and though she still suffers greatly from the knife wound inflicted in her right side, she was able to appear against Mohring and press the complaint. She is in deadly fear of the man, however, and when the police officers started to bring him from a cell she was visibly agitated.

"I don't want to stand here," she said, moving away from the court room desk. "He tried to strike me when the officers brought him to me for identification Saturday night and he said then that he would kill me yet."

Despite Judge Runyon's assurance that she would be in no danger, she insisted on going to a distant part of the room and having an officer stand near her. After Mohring had been committed and was being led away, he took one glance in her direction but she quickly turned her head.

In a statement to the court afterward, Mrs. Hoppock declared that the stabbing had been committed without any previous exchange of words on the street. Mohring deliberately ran up to her, she said, and before she had any idea as to what his intentions were, the blade had been thrust into her side. Continuing further she stated that he had been at her home on New street earlier in the evening and that he had insisted on speaking to her but she refused to listen to him. She went upstairs to get ready for a shopping trip to town and while she was absent he persuaded her small daughter, Stella Hoppock, to intercede in his behalf.

The little girl was in court and when asked what Mohring had said, gave a straightforward statement.

"He asked me if I wouldn't beg Mamma to talk with him," she said, "and he told me he wanted to speak to her alone and in a dark room. I must see her that way," he said, 'because afterward I won't be around this way again for many, many weeks.' I asked mamma to talk to him but she wouldn't."

Mrs. Hoppock told the judge and Chief Kiely that she took his remark about the dark room and then not being around again for many weeks to mean that he intended to kill her.

"I am sure he meant to do it in the house," she said in conclusion, "and when he didn't get the opportunity there he selected the street as the place to kill me. When he met me near Grove street he came up quick and the knife had been plunged into my side before I had any idea of his intentions."

Mrs. Hoppock is still under Dr. Lufburrow's care and the physician declared after he had first dressed the wound that if it had been a half inch further up it would have resulted fatally.

Raymond Scribner's Funeral.

The funeral of Raymond Scribner, who died yesterday at the home of his brother, George W. Scribner, of East Sixth street, will be held at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Scribner, of West Front street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. The young man was nineteen years old and had been ill for over six months. Previous to the time the illness began, he was employed by G. H. Van Nest, the Richmond street butcher. He is survived by two brothers, George and David Scribner, and three sisters. He was a member of Trinity Reformed church.

In the City Court.

On complaint of Robert Perry, a boy living on West Seventh street, Solomon Mann, the West Third street storekeeper, was fined $5 in the city court this morning. The boy charged that Mann had ordered him away from in front of his store for no apparent cause and that when he refused to go he and his bicycle were thrown into the street. The defendant admitted the truth of the statement but declared that Perry was blocking the sidewalk and that the boy threw a brick at him when he ordered him away.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS ENROLL 2,807 PUPILS

Nearly all of the teachers in the Plainfield Public Schools are in their places, the exceptions being Miss Barlow, of the Whittier, who was out most of last year on account of illness. She will return in November. Her place is being filled by Mrs. S. L. Wardner. Miss Addie Eastman, of Lincoln School, is suffering from blood poisoning the result of a spider's bite, and she will be out a week. Miss Margaret Cory is filling her place. The classes are all in work on the regular schedule now, just as though there had been no vacation.

The total enrollment was completed today and it shows an increase of 157 over that of last year. The total figures are as follows:

High School, 345; Stillman, 319; Whittier, 237; Franklin, 367; Washington, 233; Irving, 632; Bryant, 387; Lincoln, 287; total, 2,687. The record as compared with the second day of last year shows an increase of 17 in the High School, 32 in the Stillman, 6 in the Whittier, 12 in the Washington, 35 in the Irving, 21 in the Bryant and 41 in the Lincoln. There is a decrease of seven pupils in the Franklin School.

HIGH HONOR COMES TO MISS GENEVIEVE PETRIE

Miss Genevieve Petrie, principal of the Irving School, has been selected as one of the five hundred school teachers from this country to visit and study the schools of England and the continent and the Plainfield Board of Education has granted her the necessary leave of absence. She will leave in October with the other school teachers of this country. Six weeks will be spent in various English schools studying the work and the methods in general and looking particularly at the industrial work and the method of handling the question of backward children. The appointment is considered a deserving compliment to Miss Petrie and the Plainfield schools.

The arrangement is a reciprocal one. Two years ago Sir Alfred Mosely, in co-operation with various educators in the United States, arranged for five hundred English teachers to visit this country and inspect the American schools. Each teacher will pay his or her own expenses, but arrangements have been made to open the schools to their inspection and many courtesies of various kinds will be shown them. The opportunity to visit the foreign schools is considered an exceptional one and will undoubtedly bring profit to the Plainfield schools.

CHURCH WORKERS HEAR AN ADDRESS ON AFRICA

The Women's Association of the Congregational church held its first fall meeting in the parlors of the church, yesterday afternoon, which marked the resumption of work for the winter. There was a large attendance of members and considerable interest was shown.

Miss F. S. Clark, of the Seminary, presented an interesting paper on the subject of "Africa," in which she reviewed in detail important events in the opening up of that country to missionaries and travelers, not forgetting to speak of the noble work of Livingston and Stanley. She also referred to the extension and improvement of railroads, which makes traveling in that country almost as easy as in this part of the world. She also referred to the exceptional opportunities offered missionaries to work in Africa, telling of what has already been accomplished.

During the afternoon there were piano solos by Miss Elizabeth Martin. Mrs. J. V. Beekman was the hostess and assisted by Mrs. Frank Weeks, served tea and lemonade. The table decorations were white. The social hour following the meeting was greatly enjoyed.

Gave a Birthday Party.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Wiegand, of West Fifth street, gave a party Monday afternoon in honor of their son, George E. Wiegand, Jr., who celebrated the third anniversary of his birthday. The little fellow received a number of gifts. The afternoon was spent playing games, after which refreshments were served.

—Daily Press want ads. pay.

—It will pay you to visit The Elizabeth Nursery Co., of Elizabeth, N. J., at this time, as their stock of trees, shrubs, and vines is very attractive. A postal card will bring a catalogue.  9 15 2

Continued on page 8.)

DENIAL FROM WOLVERTON

Industrial Home's Superintendent Given a Hearing by City Fathers.

MANY WITNESSES EXAMINED.

Investigation Not Yet Completed—Says He Did Not Ill-Treat an Aged Inmate.

The Councilmanic investigating committee to inquire into certain charges preferred against Superintendent Arthur Wolverton, of the Industrial Home, by S. S. Vermeule, an aged inmate, held its first session in the office of Mayor C. J. Fisk, last night. The investigating body comprises the three members of the alms committee, Mayor Fisk and President R. I. Tolles, of the Common Council.

Four witnesses were examined last night—S. S. Vermeule, the complainant; Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, the city physician; Overseer of the Poor Alexander D. Ayers and Superintendent Arthur Wolverton, of the Industrial Home. From the great amount of testimony taken, the committee has thus far decided that there is no basis for the complaint of ill-treatment or rough usage of inmates on the part of Superintendent Wolverton. However, the committee adjourned to meet again Monday night, when several additional witnesses will be examined, including Harry Adams, who could not be found in time to attend the first session.

In addition to last night's investigation, it was stated that the members of the Alms committee had previously visited the Home and personally talked with such inmates, who are competent to talk on the subject, and learned to their complete satisfaction that they are being well treated and have no cause for complaint. They declared that they are given plenty to eat and every comfort is provided.

For more than an half-hour, Mayor Fisk questioned Mr. Vermeule closely and he declared emphatically that outside of the one occasion, when he believed that Mr. Wolverton used him a little rough in an effort to remove him from in front of the grounds, he had no cause for complaint. Much of his testimony seemed to be in direct opposition to that given on previous occasions. He also denied emphatically that he ever worked in the field binding grain, adding that he would refuse to do such work.

By court questioning it was learned that Mr. Vermeule, as well as other inmates, had been given the impression that when the new superintendent took charge of the Home they would have a hard taskmaster and that they would have to do hard work. When asked who had given him this idea, Mr. Vermeule refused to disclose the name of his informant.

The testimony of Dr. Lufburrow substantiated the belief that troubles at the Home had been greatly magnified. He explained the difficulty often experienced in caring for some of the inmates. The reported ill-treatment of Bridget Cunningham was investigated and after an examination by Dr. Lufburrow it was found that there were no bruises on her body as alleged. The report is said to have been started by a woman by the name of Mrs. Suiton, who had been employed at the Home to do some work. The complaints could not be substantiated.

The investigation also brought out the fact that the alms committee that had given instructions to Superintendent Wolverton not to permit the inmates to make general use of the front lawn and the porch of the Home, that there is plenty of ground outside of this where they can roam about and their presence on the front lawn is not for the best interest of the rules governing the place.

It was after Mayor Fisk suggested that it might be well to allow the inmates to enjoy outdoor life about the front lawn under the shade trees and that it might be wise for the committee to provide settees for the inmates, that it was learned of the rule forbidding the use of the front lawn. The action was taken by the committee for the reason that they have been cases when inmates would sit on the ground near the street and ask alms of people who happened to go by. After that the new rule was made.

The testimony given by Superintendent Wolverton was practically the same as given at the hearings before City Judge Runyon. He denied that he had ill-treated any of the inmates and described the way in which he had assisted Mr. Vermeule to his feet the day he found him sitting on the front lawn. He said that he was unsteady on his feet and after being assisted he fell down. He was again assisted to his

LOCAL TAX RATE $1.40

Plainfield's Total Assessed Valuation $22,706,949, an Increase of $4,500,000.

COUNTY VALUES $118,971,114.

Union's Rate 49 Cents—Plainfield Rate Reduced Seven Points —Table of Valuations.

The Union County Tax Board yesterday completed its work of determining the personal and real valuation of property in the various towns, boroughs and cities throughout the county. The total valuation for the county is $118,971,114, as announced in The Daily Press of yesterday, and the county tax rate is 49.992 cents on the hundred. Thus far only two individual tax rates have been announced officially, that of Plainfield and Elizabeth. The rate for the coming year in Plainfield will be $1.40, a reduction of seven points over that of last year. It was the hope of the local tax board, as well as that of the Councilmanic finance committee that it could be made $1.35, but this was found impossible.

It is explained by the county tax board as well as the local board of assessors that Plainfield gets the direct benefit of every dollar received from taxation and they cite the many improvements in the city to prove this statement.

Plainfield's total valuation this year is $22,706,949, an increase of four and a half millions over that of last year. The official figures for the county as announced today by the county tax board are as follows:

	Valuation.	Rate
Elizabeth,	$52,065,175	$1.6
Clark Township,	634,618
Cranford	4,749,877
Fanwood Township	1,229,042
Fanwood Borough	492,532
Garwood Borough	1,091,366
Garwood Township	883,196
Linden Borough,	632,217
Linden Township,	4,383,262
Mountainside Bor.	344,870
New Prov. Twp.	347,659
New Prov. Bor.,	483,651
Plainfield	22,706,569	1.40
Rahway	5,596,949
Roselle Borough,	2,615,605
Roselle Park Bor.	2,459,525
Springfield Twp.	950,257
Summit	9,064,847
Union Township,	2,688,160
Westfield Town,	5,486,234

SIXTY DAYS' SENTENCE FOR A FAMILY ABUSER

Joseph Kmosko, a tailor living on upper North avenue in the Nethewood section who has been in police court several times within the past year, was sent to jail for sixty days by Judge Runyon, this morning. A charge of assault and battery had been preferred against him by his wife and son and was sustained by them to the full satisfaction of the magistrate at the hearing.

According to the testimony, Kmosko has a habit of getting drunk at regular intervals and abusing his family on returning home. He got into a tantrum one night last week and started proceedings by picking up dishes from the table and hurling them at his eldest son as he was eating his evening meal. When the boy resented this sort of filial playfulness he was knocked down and only escaped a beating by fleeing from the house. Mrs. Kmosko represented against the abuse of the son but her intervention only resulted in directing an attack against herself and she had to run outside for safety. A male relative who though he might act as peacemaker was bidded a couple of chin blows before he could take counsel with wife and family abusers.

Back to the Old Style.

The members of the local fire department donned their winter headgear this morning. The men went back to the old style of cap instead of the ones that are now being used in nearly all the large cities. The new style was worn last season but was not deemed satisfactory.

—No better olive oil in the city than that sold by Neuman Brothers. They import it themselves and guarantee it to be strictly high-grade. Sold by the gallon, half gallon, quart or pint.

Miss Laura Walker, of New York who has been spending the summer in Europe, is waiting at the home of David Thompson, of Rockview terrace.

GEO. MOY'S WITHDRAWAL

3rd Ward Republicans Praise Him for Declining in Favor of Frank H. Smith.

HIS MAGNANIMOUS DECLINATION

Convinced That Mr. Smith, Who Is Away, Had Been Placed in Field but Not Against Him, He Withdraws.

After several conferences with Republicans in his own ward and with his personal friends, George W. Y. Moy has withdrawn from the race as a candidate for county committee nomination. Petitions for Mr. Moy and former Councilman J. Stephen Higham were filed by the ward organization. Later petitions were filed for County Chairman Frank H. Smith and Deputy Tax Collector John H. Cose for the same nominations. As Mr. Smith is compelled to stay in the Adirondacks for some time and as his defeat for return to the county committee would mean his relinquishment of the position of chairman his friends urged Mr. Moy to withdraw.

When he became convinced, according to his friends, that Smith had not of his own accord entered the fight and had no intention of warring on Mr. Moy in particular, the New Idea man announced his willingness to withdraw. As Mr. Moy is the senior member of the ward's membership on the city committee and was the candidate of that ward membership, his friends argued that it was unreasonable for him to withdraw in Mr. Smith's favor on the ground that the latter had but recently removed into the Third ward from the Fourth which he has represented in the county committee for ten years. Under the rules of the county committee, Mr. Smith could have retained the chairmanship without being a committeeman but his friends knew that he would not take advantage of such a rule.

"It is a matter of fact, it is said, Mr. Smith went into the contest against his own judgment.

In a lengthy statement given to the papers today, former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, former Assemblyman Roger Murray, Mayor C. J. Fisk and David E. Titsworth, a member of Mr. Moy, which is in strict accord with the highest ideals of the New Idea movement in standing for the best men for public office, will do much to harmonize and strengthen the party in this important election."

Mr. Moy's declination has been filed with the city clerk and that removes the last vestige of a factional strike in the local campaign.

The statement referred to follows.

"Editor, The Daily Press:

"The undersigned, representing many Republicans of the Third ward who believe that the best interests of the county as well as of the city would be served by the re-election of Frank H. Smith as a member of the county committee, which in recognition of his ability has honored him by electing him as its chairman desire through your columns to express our appreciation of the public spirit shown by Mr. G. W. Y. Moy in withdrawing in Mr. Smith's favor, even though the city organization had endorsed his nomination.

"We are sure that we voice the sentiment of the Third ward Republicans in saying that this action of Mr. Moy's, which is in strict accord with the highest ideals of the New Idea movement in standing for the best men for public office, will do much to harmonize and strengthen the party in this important election.

(Signed)

"ROGER F. MURRAY,
"CHARLES J. FISK,
"A. GILBERT,
"DAVID E. TITSWORTH."

Methodist to be Episcopalian.

The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Elliott, pastor of the Methodist church at Bernardsville, has announced his intention of resigning his pastorate and becoming a rector of the Episcopal faith. Dr. Elliott was for five years pastor of the Methodist church at Roselle Park and previously was at Asbury church, Hackensack, for five years. Dr. Elliott says his change is not due to any quarrel or theological dispute, but he considers he could work better under a different organization.

Local Theatre Attractions.

Superb moving pictures will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow and Saturday, matinee and night. Manager Counihan says that the finest lot of pictures ever shown here will constitute the bill. It's a big show for a trifling price.

—All Drake graduates who are out of employment will confer a favor upon the college by communicating at once with Principal C. W. Fogarty.  9 15 3

FRIGHTFUL BURNS CAUSE PLAINFIELDER'S DEATH

As the result of frightful burns received in an explosion of alcohol at a rubber factory at Rutherford, last Thursday, Frank Grace, of Woodland avenue, this city, died yesterday in St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic. The man's body was terribly scored from head to foot and he suffered intense agony until death brought relief.

Mr. Grace was a foreman in the Rutherford factory and the nature of his work called for the close handling of alcohol amid dangerous surroundings. A slip of some sort while a mould was being opened led to the ignition of the fluid and the explosion that followed burned a number of men. Mr. Grace sustained the most severe injuries and was hurried to the Passaic hospital where he died.

Mr. Grace was thirty-six years old and came to Plainfield from Milltown. He leaves a wife and three children, the eldest five years and the youngest three months. The body was brought to his late home today and the funeral will be held at the residence Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Burial will be in Van Liew cemetery, New Brunswick.

THE TREE, NOT THE HORSE, WAS NEARLY 100 YRS. OLD

The police are continuing their crusade against violations of the shade tree ordinances and this morning had two more prisoners in the city court on charges. One of the defendants was Bertram C. Fiske, who was arrested by Patrolman Dobson for tieing his horse to a stately maple on East Fifth street. In the course of the hearing, Judge Runyon asked him if he wasn't aware that he was breaking the law in doing so. He replied that he was.

"Well, I didn't think it would do any harm" was the response; "it's nearly a hundred years old."

"What is, the horse?" asked the magistrate.

"No, the tree," replied Firstbrook, "but in that case I'll suspend sentence this time and warn you that in the future if it becomes necessary to secure your fiery steed against runaway vagaries, a hitching post should be selected and not one of the municipal shade trees."

Daniel Miller, of West Third street was charged with Detective Sergeant John Flynn's charge that he had cut the limbs from two trees in front of his house without permission. Mr. Miller explained to the full satisfaction of the court that he was acting in the best interests of the people as the limbs were hanging so low they were dangerous to pedestrians in wet weather. Sentence was suspended in his case also but with the injunction to get a permit from the tree commissioners before he did any more trimming.

TO NOMINATE FOWLER AT PHILLIPSBURG, SEPT. 28

The Republican Congressional committee of the 5th district met yesterday afternoon and appointed September 28 at noon as the time for the Congressional convention which will be held at Phillipsburg, Warren county. The Democratic Congressional convention will be held in the same place on October 1. Alexander Gilbert, of this city, was president, and H. A. Van Gilder, of Morristown, was secretary. The other members of the committee were James C. Calvert, of Elizabeth; James White, of Elizabeth; Jacob W. Welsh, of German Valley, James E. Faller, of Washington; H. A. Van Gilder, Morristown, and John I. Howe, Roselle.

Speaking of the nominations, Chairman Gilbert said:

"Fowler will be nominated without a murmur."

Object to "City Dump."

Residents of West Front street, Compton avenue, Dunellen avenue and Albert street are complaining about the condition of the "city dump," which is maintained in the vicinity of Dunellen and Compton avenues. Aside from the nauseating odor that constantly comes from the place, it is in the opinion of the residents a detriment to health. Petitions are being circulated for signers and they will be presented to the Common Council. Plainfield Board of Health and the State Board of Health with a view to putting a stop to the practice of dumping refuse there and having the place put in good condition. There have been several cases of malaria in the vicinity and the sick persons blame the dump for the trouble.

LINING UP FOR ASSEMBLY

Reported Preferences of Regulars and New Idea Men for Nominations.

SITUATION IS MUCH MIXED.

New Idea Issues Statement—Trimble Tells His Position—Kirstein Has But Little Show.

Much amusement has been caused in both the regulars and the new idea cohorts in Union county by a story emanating from Elizabeth to the effect that the Republican machine of Union county has decided upon Charles A. Trimble, of Elizabeth, Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, and Frank C. Stutzlen, of Elizabeth, and Councilman Randolph, of Plainfield, for members of Assembly." From reliable sources it is learned that the New Idea will support Mr. Pierce and Frank C. Stutzlef, of Elizabeth, and Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, while the so-called regulars may back Mr. Pierce, Augustus W. Schwartz, of Elizabeth, and Albert R. Kirstein, of Rahway.

There are two Councilman Randolphs in Plainfield—Frank W. Randolph and Charles A. Randolph—but neither has filed a petition and neither has been mentioned. Frank Randolph is a candidate for renomination to the Council in the present campaign. There is decided opposition to the so-called regulars ever to renominate Mr. Kirstein but there is said to be no allegation that he made a poor record during his first term and is entitled to another term. The New Idea and the Local Option people are united against him and there is little show for him.

In a statement issued today the New Idea men of Plainfield say that they have investigated the records of the seven candidates and in choosing the three named for their support declare that they are men of unblemished private and independent. Carlton B. Pierce's record in the Assembly is warmly endorsed, and an appeal is made to all Republicans to come out at the primaries and secure their nominations.

This is the statement of the New Idea of Plainfield:

"At the primary election to be held on September 22, 1908, the voters of Union county will have for the first time an opportunity to select, directly and without the intervention of a convention composed of delegates elected at the primaries, three candidates for membership in the General Assembly to be placed upon the Republican ticket for the election in November. This privilege has been won as the result of a struggle carried on by the supporters of good government in the Legislature for the past two years, and it is most important to the success of genuine popular government that it be exercised by all citizens carefully and intelligently.

"The names of seven candidates for the Assembly nominations will appear on the primary ballot, and after careful inquiry and consideration, we, the undersigned, deem the following candidates most worthy of endorsement, viz: Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford; Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, and Frank C. Stutzlen, of Elizabeth.

"Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford, is a New York lawyer, who has served as Assemblyman during the years 1907 and 1908. We believe, to the satisfaction of all his constituents. He has consistently supported all measures intended for the betterment of the public welfare, the direct primary law, the law authorizing voters to express their choice for United States Senator, the public utilities bill, the local option bill, the civil service law and other similar measures, and has shown himself to be a man of independence and good judgment.

"Frank C. Stutzlen, of Elizabeth, is a druggist by occupation, doing business in Elizabethport. He is considered a man of intelligence and independence. He also is in favor of local option.

"The other candidates are Charles A. Trimble, a lawyer of Elizabeth; Richard P. Henry, also a lawyer practising in Elizabeth; A. W. Schwartz, business manager of the Elizabeth Evening Times, and Alfred R. Kirstein, the present Assemblyman.

"In orders that the vote of this community may be made as effective as possible in the cause of good government, we urge all citizens to unite in support of Pierce, Thompson and Stutzlen for the Assembly nominations.

"We further urge every voter to come out and vote on primary day.

(Continued on page 8.)

SEEK AN ENGINEER NOW

Trunk Line Sewer Commission Want Expert to Make Survey.

TWO NAMES ARE SUGGESTED.

No Time to Be Lost in Engaging One—Bids Submitted for This Work at Conference Last Week.

The first real obstacle was met at the third conference of official representatives of Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen and Bound Brook held last week in this city to discuss the question of a trunk line sewer, and practically nothing was accomplished. The division of opinion arose over the selection of a competent engineer to make the preliminary survey and ascertain the advisability and feasibility of the plan. Evidently, a majority of the representatives favored Herring & Fuller, of New York, who has done similar work here, being considered probably the highest authority on the subject, but the name of Alexander Potter was presented by a member of the Dunellen Council and there being such a difference in the price for the work, he succeeded in having the matter laid over for a week to further investigate the qualifications of the engineers. Herring & Fuller have offered to do the work, including Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen, Bound Brook, Somerville and Raritan for $1,500, as omitting Somerville and Raritan for $1,200. Mr. Potter's bid for all the work was $600.

Those attending the conference included Mayor Roberts and the Bound Brook Council, Mayor Samuel Townsend, and Councilman C. L. Nichols and W. J. Hurtt, Plainfield, from North Plainfield; Mayor Harry Swackhamer and the Dunellen Council, and Plainfield's special commission consisting of President R. I. Tolles and Councilmen F. E. Mygatt, Duncan W. Taylor and Charles C. Randolph. Others present included Councilmen W. L. Glock, Herbert Buxton and City Engineer A. J. Gavett.

The previous conferences being more preliminary, it was announced that the question had now progressed to such an extent that nothing more could be accomplished until engineers are engaged and a survey made to determine the feasibility of the plan. Organization was then effected by the selection of, Councilman F. E. Mygatt as chairman, and W. J. Canfield as secretary. When the question of the employment of an engineer was presented, it was thought best to appoint a finance committee to consider this matter; also that of the apportionment of the expense of this trunk sewer.

The committee appointed for that purpose consisted of R. I. Tolles, Mayor Townsend, Mayor Roberts, Mayor Swackhamer and later Mr. Mygatt was added at the suggestion of Mayor Swackhamer. Prior to the selection of Mr. Mygatt as the fifth member, the committee of four retired to consider the question of an engineer, the object being to recommend either Herring and Fuller or Alexander Potter so that the work could go right along.

After an hour's deliberation the committee returned and stated that it had been unable to agree on an engineer or the apportionment of the expense. It was then suggested that the matter be laid over for one week, during which time it is hoped that a decision can be reached and a recommendation made to the general body. It was a source of regret to many of those present that any difference should have arisen relative to the employment of an engineer, the majority feeling that the best engineer is needed for the work.

Those who favored Mr. Potter explained that he had built the trunk line sewer extending from Summit to tidewater, which has been in operation for five years and is considered a success. This seemed to be a sufficient guarantee to them that he is thoroughly competent to handle the local proposition in a satisfactory manner. Those who favored Herring & Fuller, because of their wide experience in work of this kind, and it was argued that an opinion from the firm would be well worth the price charged.

It was apparent that some of those present failed to realize the importance of the preliminary survey and the great amount of work to be done and for this reason it was urged that the best possible engineer be engaged.

Practically the whole evening was taken up with a discussion regarding the employment of an engineer and it was impossible to make any further progress until that is settled. The finance committee agreed to meet within a few days with a view to reaching a decision so that a report can be made when the next conference is held on Wednesday night, September 16.

Before an adjournment was taken there was a brief discussion as to whether Somerville and Raritan propose to join in the movement. Mayor Swackhamer, of Dunellen, explained that he visited Somerville recently and was assured by the officials of that town as well as Raritan that they are anxious to be represented at future conferences, but would not be able to attend meetings on either Monday or Wednesday nights. After further discussion it was the opinion of those present that possibly Somerville and Raritan could arrange to have representatives at the next meeting even though the governing bodies might find it impossible to be present.

The plan as now proposed is to establish a trunk line sewer to tidewater, it being the opinion of the officials that any effort to locate sewage disposal beds in Middlesex county would be fought not only by th county, but the State Board of Health. The disposal of sewage at tidewater now appears to be the only solution to the problem and the interested municipalities are working with that end in view.

UNION'S FREEHOLDERS ENJOY THEIR CLAMBAKE

The annual clambake under the auspices of the Union County Board of Freeholders was held at Bender's Hotel, Roselle, Thursday afternoon, and the usual good time was had. A light lunch was served at noon, while the baks was being made ready by that master chef, Freeholder F. B. Cladek, Rahway, and by 3 o'clock the freeholders and their guests sat down to "a feast for a king." It was long after 5 o'clock when the enjoyable affair terminated.

All of the members of the board including Freeholders S. P. T. Wilbur and J. Hervey Donne, of this city, were present, except Freeholders Swain and Cady, of Plainfield, and E. K. Adams, of Elizabeth. County Attorney William R. Codington and County Engineer F. J. Hubbard, of this city, also attended, as well as several county officials from Elizabeth.

A year ago at the clambake, Freeholder Wilbur lost his watch, a valuable timepiece which he prized highly. Thursday he was the recipient of a watch from his fellow members, the presentation being made by Judge Codington. Mr. Wilbur was completely overcome by the gift and his happiness was complete when he discovered that he had an Ingersoll timepiece warranted to get him to the meetings of the board on time. There was another presentation to Freeholder Henry Krayer, of Roselle. Recently, his house was robbed and the board thought that an alarm clock would not be an inappropriate gift. He received it with due thanks. The whole afternoon was given up to a general good time and there was an open air dance in the early evening. A marked absence of any political gossip.

LOCAL LIFE GUARD RESCUED TWENTY TWO

Bringing with him a record of twenty-two rescues from the surf, to say nothing of fourteen assists, "Fat" Hurtt returned Thursday night after a season of lifesaving at Asbury Park. He has been one of the beach guards along the shore for established reputation for being "on the job" that made his name famous throughout the twin resorts. He will remain in town for several weeks after which he will probably go to Jacksonville, Fla., where he has an offer to be a life-guard for the winter season.

Although he tips the beam at 220 pounds and modestly acklowledges 264 when he went to Asbury at the beginning of the summer, "Fat", is one of the best swimmers that ever lived in Plainfield. He is a veritable porpoise in the water and can remain in the roughest surf for hours at a time without tiring. Some of the rescues he affected were accomplished after the hardest kind of work and on several occasions he was about exhausted after getting unconscious bathers out of the breakers. His last rescue was made on Labor Day when he saved Mrs. S. L. Goodwin, of New York, who was overcome by a huge wave on the sand bar opposite Seventh avenue, Asbury Park.

In the recent championship swimming race from New York to Coney Island, "Fat" finished a close third.

FORMER PLAINFIELD WOMAN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Mrs. Jeannette M. Johnson, wife of Russell C. Johnson, former residents of this city, died Thursday after her home, 167 West Eighty-first street, New York. She had been ill more than three years. She endured with patient fortitude and calm resignation.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were well known locally before their removal to New York and the news of the latter's death was received with much regret. Mr. Johnson is a brother to Andrew W. Johnson, of Duer street, and a cousin to Mrs Sarah Randolph and Miss Grace Johnson, also of Duer street.

The funeral was held at the late residence Saturday afternoon at 12 o'clock. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

Miss Cowin, of Brooklyn, is being entertained at the home of Mrs. C. C. Cowin, in Elizabeth street, Bound Brook.

W.C.T.U. IS ENCOURAGED

Excellent Reports and Helpful Address at Annual Meeting of the Local Association.

MRS. TOMLINSON PRESIDENT.

Receipts for Year $643.44—Mrs. Emma Bourne, the State President, Gives a Talk.

Officers were elected, reports presented, a reception tendered to the oldest member, Mrs. Mehala Sims, and other interesting features, comprised the annual meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, held in the rooms on Madison avenue, Thursday. The reports showed the union to be in good condition as to number and finances. Miss Mary Howlett, treasurer, reported the receipts for the year to be $643.44 and the expenditures $634.38, leaving a balance of $9.06.

In the election of officers, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse retired in favor of Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, who is also the county president. The officers chosen are as follows:

President, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. P. H. Bennett; recording secretary, Mrs. T. C. Bodine; treasurer, Miss Mary E. Howlett; honorary vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Yates, and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse; superintendent Loyal Temperance Legion, Mrs. Alvah TenEyck; evangelistic and alms, Mrs. Gilbert VanNest; flower, Mrs. John Manly; literature, Mrs. L. A. Udell, Sabbath observance, Mrs. M. White; scientific temperance instruction, Miss Anna Claypoole; social meetings and red letter days, Mrs. I. N. West; soldier and sailor work, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins; Sunday-school, Mrs. M. Winter; press, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins; work for foreigners, Mrs. Jacob Voehl.

During the afternoon Mrs. Emma Bourne, State President, made a short address in which she reviwed the success of the local option movement especially in the west and south and in her opinion where prohibition prevails the moral tone of the communities and the people has been greatly benefitted. She gave encouraging news.

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson planned to conduct a symposium on "Does Prohibition Pay?" but so much other business was crowded in that little time was left for this, although it was touched upon to some extent in a way that tended to show that it does pay.

An interesting feature of the afternoon was the reception given to Mrs. Mehala Sims, aged 92 years, who is the oldest member of the Union, and Mrs. Augusta Roll, who is also one of the oldest members. They were each presented with bouquets of flowers and they received the congratulations of their many friends. Following this a memorial service was held for the eight members who died during the year. They were: Mrs. John Runyon, Mrs. Shotwell, Mrs. Sarah D. Stryker, Mrs. H. H. Lowrie, Mrs. P. M. French, Mrs. Mary J. Hawkins, Mrs. Nelson Runyon and Mrs. Boice. Mrs. Tomlinson spoke briefly of the life of each one.

There was an encouraging feature present in the report of Mrs. Alvah TenEyck, superintendent of the Loyal Temperance Legion, referring to the anti-cigarette club formed among the boys of the legion, the object being to fight against the manufacture and sale of cigarette. Mrs. TenEyck also reported the distribution of temperance literature and presentation of Bibles to members for faithful attendance. The legion is rapidly growing membership.

The reports of all the various departments of the Union showed steady progress and the members close the old year and begin the new one under favorable auspices.

ISRAEL C. PIERSON DIES AFTER TWO WEEKS' ILLNESS

Following an illness of two weeks with an apoplectic trouble, Israel C. Pierson, one of the city's best known residents, died at his home on Watching avenue Monday night. He had been failing steadily for several days and the end was not unexpected.

Mr. Pierson was sixty-five years old and was a native of Westfield. He removed from there to Plainfield in 1875 and had lived here ever since. He was connected with the actuary department of the Washington Life Insurance company and was held in high esteem by his business associates. He had never taken any active part in civic affairs but was greatly interested in the work of the Crescent Avenue church, of which he had been a member for many years. Beside Mrs. Pierson, who was Miss Edgar, of Westfield, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Malcolm McKenzie and Miss Mabel E. Pierson, both of Plainfield.

Pumping Station a Success.

The new Southside sewer pumping station which has been in operation more than a month seems to be giving excellent satisfaction, and is doing all that was expected of it by the street committee.

MANGANO FOUND GUILTY

Union County Jury Finds That He Murdered Dominick Cervasi in February.

TRIAL LASTED TWO DAYS.

His Counsel Will Ask For a Reprieve Pending an Appeal —Retells Congratulated.

Dominick Mangano, accused of taking the life of Dominick Cervasi on February 16, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the Court of Over and Terminer late Wednesday at Elizabeth. Sentence was at once imposed by Supreme Court Justice James J. Bergen, who presided at the trial, the week beginning Monday, October 26 being set for his electrocution. Mangano's counsel, William R. Wilson, will at once apply for a reprieve pending the outcome of an appeal.

If sentence is carried out, Mangano will be the first Union county man to die in the electric chair, and the first local man to face death for crime in nine years, the last being Rosel, who was found guilty of killing a farmer.

When the jury returned its verdict this afternoon, after an hour and a half deliberation, Dominick Mangano sat stolidly gazing into space and seemed devoid of emotion. Even when the court imposed sentence he maintained the same demeanor, although scores gazed at his sinister features and studied his low brow, shifty eyes, weak chin and same half-open mouth.

Earlier in the day he had gone on the witness stand in his own defense and had sworn that he did not kill his godfather, stating further that he was absent from the scene of the crime. He also testified that he had not threatened a friend of his if the latter "peached." He showed no nervousness while on the stand. His counsel endeavored to show that the best of feeling prevailed between him and his relative, while the prosecution strove to establish beyond a doubt that Mangano's cheating at cards and a subsequent row formed the motive for the fatal stabbing and shooting in Peterstown. Whether an earlier feud in Italy had anything to do with the crime did not develop from the testimony.

An array of negress and Italians were gathered in the courtroom during the trial, and while the jury was deliberating laughed and chatted while the accused sat friendless and alone. Peterstown, the city's famous "Bowery," and the home of all the interested parties had a picturesque representation in attendance. The trial was the briefest in the county's history, lasting but two days. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., the assistant prosecutor, was warmly congratulated on the way he assisted in the conduct of the State's case.

GOOD DIGESTION IS NECESSARY TO BEAUTY.

"To look young and keep your beauty you must have good digestion," says a beauty culturist. "We feed our patrons upon herbs; we give them greens and we advise them to take meat freely. The sugar woman gets out of sorts she lives upon dandeloin greens; she mixes sweet herbes; she doctors herself with the fruits of the earth, and she recovers. Outdoor life is everything for the woman who wants to keep young.

"Her walk gives away the woman who does not want people to know how old she is. Usually she loses her elasticity. And she takes to high heels and stilted walk. Wear conventional clothing and be elastic in your gait; in that way you will look younger.

"I advise women generally to join a dancing class. By taking the steps one can keep up one's elasticity winter and summer. I gave a class of four women who took three lessons a week to learn the gypsy fandangoes and the Spanish dances. They find that they breathe better, feel better and are more healthy generally from this exercise."

To Make a Violet Perfume.

A delightful perfume can be made to resemble the delicate odor of violets. Put a few drops of genuine oil of rhodium on a lump of sugar, grind it in a glass mortar or bowl and mix thoroughly with powdered orris root. It will take but a few drops of the oil for a large bulk, and but one drop of oil for an ounce of powdered orris root. It is very lasting.

Terrill Road About Finished.

The work of macadamizing Terrill road from Greens brook a distance of about one mile, which will make it a county aid road, is nearing completion. It is expected that it will be finished within the next two weeks. The road is exceptionally well built and will be one of the most attractive thoroughfares in that part of the city.

Installing a Coal Bunker.

VanZandt & Voorhees, of Park avenue, are having a modern coal bunker installed in their yards by the R. H. Beaumont company, contracting engineers, of Philadelphia. Its capacity for all sizes of coal will be about one thousand tons.

REV. F. T. B. RANDOLPH

President of Middlesex County Sunday School Association.

MANY EXCELLENT TALKS.

Rev. Dr. W. H. S. Demarest Makes Address on "The Home and the Sunday School."

The forty-fourth annual convention of the Middlesex County Sunday-school Association which was held in the First Baptist church, New Market, Thursday brought together the largest gathering of Sunday-school workers in the history of the county and was considered the most successful. The entire day was given up to a consideration of every phase of Sunday-school work and helpful addresses by prominent religious workers. The concluding session was held last night, when following the final reports, etc., the address was made by Rev. W. H. S. Demarest, president of the association, his subject was "The Home and the Sunday school." He treated in a masterly way the relations that should exist between the home and the Sunday school, showing to what great extent one is dependent upon the other and the Sunday-school is to be made a success.

Features of the morning session were the addresses by Miss Angie Wray, county elementary superintendent, on the subject of "Two Ways of Reaching the Child," and Miss Rose Scott, county primary superintendent, on "Teaching Material." In the latter address Miss Scott took occasion to speak of the harmful influence of the comic supplements. She declared that they put ideas into the minds of children that were not for their best interest and often counteracted the influence of the Sunday-school teacher. She urged all to do their best to discourage the entrance of the comic supplment among children.

The program for the afternoon included reports from Our State Executive Committee," E. W. Barnes, of Perth Amboy; round table on the card answers, conference led by Rev. W. T. Dorward, of Stelton, "An Impression of the Louisville Convention," by E. W. Barnes, of Perth Amboy, the annual address; "The Debt of the School to the Older Scholars," Rev. Milton S. Littlefield, pastor of the Bay Ridge Presbyterian church, of Brooklyn, concluding with the election of officers and fixing the place of next meeting. This will be at the Methodist church, Sayreville. The afternoon session closed with an address by Rev. E. M. Fergusson, State secretary on "Fifty Years of Progress," and "Graded Lessons, or What the Action of the Louisville Convention Means to the School," by Mrs. J. Woodbridge Narnes, former International field worker.

The following officers were chosen for the coming year:

President, Rev. F. T. B. Reynolds Spotswood; first vice-president, Rev. W. J. Shumaker, Dunellen; second vice-president, Rev. H. J. Belting, New Brunswick; third vice-president, Rev. John F. Fenton, Metuchen; recording secretary, Joseph Thorne, Metuchen; corresponding secretary and treasurer, Daniel Wray, New Brunswick; executive committee, William Edgar, Woodbridge; W. A. Crowell, Metuchen; E. R. Proctor, Perth Amboy; H. B. Zimmerman, New Brunswick; L. C. Hoffman, Cranbury; J. G. Burdick, New Market; D. Dixon, Sayreville; adult department superintendent, Rev. H. N. Jordan, New Market; county primary superintendent, Miss Angie Wray, New Brunswick; teacher-training superintendent, Prof. T. G. VanKirk, Metuchen; member State executive committee, Edward W. Barnes, Perth Amboy; adult class work superintendent, Rev. E. F. Garst, New Brunswick. Township secretaries, Howard J. Butcher, Cranbury; George P. Farr, East Brunswick; Charles P. Brown, Madison; James P. Burrows, Monroe; William Appleate, New Brunswick; Howard De-Hart, North Brunswick; Joseph Clark, Perth Amboy; David J. Perrine, Piscataway; Charles A. Whitlock, Raritan; Charles W. Fisher, Sayreville; William M. Emmons, South Amboy; P. D. Emmons, South Brunswick; William H. Pratt, Woodbridge.

Miss Angie Wray, county primary superintendent, then named the following as district superintendents: Miss Laura Scudder, Cranbury; Miss Anna Fitts and Miss Beulah Stults, East Brunswick; Miss Anna Cox, Madison; Miss Florence Emmons, Monroe; Miss Anna Knox and Mrs. Lyle VanNuis, New Brunswick; Miss Susie Crabiel, North Brunswick; Mrs. A. H. Hubbard, Perth Amboy; Mrs. Charles D. Martin, Piscataway; Miss Irene Mason and Mrs. Peter Letson, Jr., Raritan; Mrs. Anna R. Fisher, Sayreville; Miss Henrietta McKenna, South Amboy; Miss Cora Wright, South Brunswick; Miss Grace Huber, Woodbridge.

There was special music at the evening service by a quartet comprising the Misses Cora Dayton and Anna Dayton and Wade Palham and Walter Hazelton. The delegates and all who attended the convention were entertained at dinner and supper by the members of the home church and a large committee in charge of Mrs. D. Walter, Mrs. Walter Clawson and Miss Sofield served the two meals and everyone was delighted with the entertainment.

FOWLER GETS BUSY NOW

Begins His Campaign By Sending Out, Under Frank, 1,000 Copies of his Speech.

HAS SOME "TESTIMONIALS."

He Encloses Commendations for His Bill Which Congress Overwhelmingly Defeated.

That Charles N. Fowler does not regard his election to Congress as a certainty is evidenced from the fact that he has inaugurated a vigorous campaign. Friday a thousand copies of his currency speech in the House of Wednesday, April 29, together with letters of commendation from Lyman J. Gage, Andrew Carnegie and Horace White, formerly editor of the New York Post, were distributed from door to door. In these letters Carnegie is quoted as calling the Aldrich bill a "makeshift." The speech is being distributed in official House of Representatives envelopes.

Fowler's nomination is almost a certainty, although he has many enemies within the party in Elizabeth and Plainfield, and in Warren and Morris counties. In view of the fact that this is a Presidential year and regarded by te Democratic leaders of the Fifth district as uncertain, they are now putting forward their best endeavors to name a candidate at the Elizabeth hall in Philipsburg, October 1, that will lessen Fowler's chances. They say that the farmers of Warren and Morris are tired of Fowler and want a change.

As yet there seems to be no Democratic candidate in the field. William R. Wilson, as Elizabeth lawyer, and fromer Prosecutor, has been mention, but Mr. Wilson, it is said, will not accept. Henry H. Isaac, of Elizabeth, and Joseph A. Sperry, of Cranford, are also possibilities. If Warren or Morris can put up a strong man they will be supported by the local delegates.

EXCISE PROBERS HEAR ALL ABOUT HARD CIDER

Applejack and hard cider came in for the attention of the members of the State Excise Commission at a sitting at Dover Thursday. It was the testimony of Prosecutor Henry Huston, of Sussex county, corroborated by Sheriff Judson K. Gunn, of the same county, that was familiar with the subject that there were more cider drunks than any other kind. No licences are needed to dispense cider. Sunday laws do not interfere with its sale.

Every official who was on the stand yesterday testified to the popularity of the present excise law which provides that saloons shall keep screens down during prohibited hours. Every farmer in the apple country throughout has a supply of cider on tap at this season of the year, and in many cases it is hard enough to make things hum when a few glasses of it have been stowed away. They, too, there is the famous old Jersey Applejack and cider look some what alike, and the home supplies of both, together with the ease with which liquor may be sold during hours when saloons should be closed apparently contribute to make the present excise laws popular.

Mr. Huston said that he believed there should be an amendment to the excise law adding cider to the list of "vinous, spirituous, malt and other liquors" which may only be sold under a license.

The testimony showed that it wasn't difficult to get a drink on Sunday at Lake Hopatcong, and that there were boats sailing liquor to campers and boarders along the shore. It was brought out, too, that there were twenty-five prosecutions by Prosecutor Charles A. Rathbun, of Morris, last year for violation of excise statutes. Most of these were for keeping speakeasies in the middle distance.

It was shown that there are 164 licenses in force in Morris county. There was evidence submitted to prove that the drug stores in Morristown and other municipalities of Morris county sell as much or more liquor than the saloons and hotels.

Warren county's fifteen liquor dispensaries are mostly in Phillipsburg—three-fourths of them are there, in fact. Assemblyman Joseph Firth is Mayor of that place.

Among those called by President Charles Fisk yesterday were Prosecutor John L. Blair Reiley, County Clerk Charles Hoagland and Sheriff Andrew Merrick, of Warren county, Prosecutor Rathbun, County Clerk Daniel S. Voorhees and Sheriff Geo. Shaw, of Morris, and Prosecutor Huston, Sheriff Gunn and County Clerk Harvey S. Hopkins, of Sussex. Commissioners Howe, Rice, Backes and the attaches of the commission were busy until late considering the testimony of the day.

ROBBED HIS SAMARITAN

Petman Robinson Repaid Physician's Kindly Act by Stealing His Money.

DOCTOR TREATED HIM GRATIS.

During His Absence from Room, Plainfield's "Worst Boy" Got Away With $7 and a Penknife.

Base ingratitude of the brand first mentioned in the Biblical story of the viper that stung its benefactor was revealed in the city court Friday morning, when Petman Robinson, Plainfield's "worst boy," was arraigned on two charges of theft. He was arrested on a charge of stealing a bicycle belonging to Dr. W. Kempton Browning's daughter and selling it for $3, but while the police were questioning him, yesterday, they stumbled upon another bit of wrongdoing. Dr. Browning was the victim in this case also but he took the circumstances as a good joke on himself.

Two weeks ago, the Robinson boy ran a fish hook in one of his fingers and he went to the Browning home to have it extracted. The physician placed him on a chair in a rear room in the house in order to get the advantage of a good light and after extracting the hook managed to locate the offending bit of metal. It became necessary for the doctor to go to the office for some additional dressing preparation and while he was absent, Petman went on an exploring expedition. Mrs. Browning had inadvertently left a bowl on a sideboard and a costly pearl handled penknife was close by. The boy appropriated the money and the knife and was back in his chair when the physician returned.

"Never mind the pay," the doctor said when Petman asked what his charge was for removing the fish hook; "you're a pretty good boy and we'll call it square."

The money and knife were missed the same night and Petman was suspicioned but as there was no direct evidence against him the police were not informed. Petman was not content with robbing the physician to this extent, however, but returned last Tuesday and stole the bicycle that led to his arrest. The story of the $7 and the pen knife came out when he was being questioned and it was included in the charge against him.

When the prisoner was brought before Jdge Runyon Friday he pleaded guilty to the two complaints and was held in $500 bail. With him at the time was arraigned Everitt Eastham, a bicycle dealer in whose place he sold the stolen wheel and to Charles Wilson, a customer of Eastham's who had purchased it from him. They proved to the satisfaction of the magistrate that they were innocent of any wrongdoing in buying the machine and charge was not pressed against them. Petman and two colored boys, Horace Martin and Morris Somerset, to whom Petman had given part of Dr. Browning's $7, were in court also and after a severe lecturing were warned not to take money in the future unless they knew where it came from and whether or not it was stolen.

Robinson's parents have ceased in terfering in his behalf, and he will be committed to Elizabeth, pending the action of the Juvenile Court.

EARLY MORNING FIRE CAUSES $1,000 DAMAGE

A one-story building belonging to William D. Thickstun and located at 308 and 310 Liberty street, was badly damaged by a fire that broke out shortly before midnight last night. The structure is used for different business enterprises, a restaurant conducted by James Thorston, a grocery store belonging to Victor Baunio, a bicycle repository owned by Nathan Segar and a shoe store run by Dominick Najgo. The fire started from a range in the restaurant and cleaned out that part of the building and badly damaged Baunio's stock of odds and ends. The blaze was discovered by John Madden, who was returning from a social gathering, and who turned in an alarm from box 12-94 a. m.

The department reached the scene in remarkably short time and quickly had the flames under control but the men worked an hour before the recall was sounded.

The damage to the building is placed at $500 while a similar amount is divided between Thornton and Baunio on their stocks. Baunio being the heaviest loser of the two.

All Depends.

We look at the snails as they go
Down the long garden path in a row.
And we candidly say
In a plying way
"Now, are they not terribly slow."

But put yourself in a snail's place,
The point of view alters the case.
Their belief may be strong.
As they slide along.
That theirs is a terrible pace.

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

TO GET AFTER TRUANTS

Superintendent Krebs, of the Borough, to Enforce Compulsory Attendance Law.

IT'S A FINANCIAL QUESTION.

Revenue from State Depends on Number of Children in Attendance—The Law's Provisions.

Radical changes regarding the compulsory education act were made by the Legislature of 1908, and it is the purpose of the local public school authorities to see that they are strictly enforced. Heretofore, the age limit regarding compulsory attendance of children at school has been fourteen years, but the change in the law has raised the age to fifteen years, and in addition to this pupils must attend school until they are seventeen if they have not completed the Grammar school course.

In other words, all pupils must attend every day and hour that the schools are in session" until they are seventeen, unless they have completed the grammar school course prior to that age. Grammar school graduates under fifteen must go to the high school until they are fifteen. Even then they must attend until they are seventeen, unless they are "regularly and lawfully employed in some useful occupation or service."

Superintendent H. C. Krebs, of the North Plainfield Public Schools, in speaking of the new law today, said:

"The borough schools will carry out this law strictly. Notices to parents have been printed and the truant officer will call at the homes of all children included in the law, whose names are on the school census but not on the school registers.

"The State appropriation for every day's attendance of each pupil for the coming year is ten cents, or $18 per year. Every pupil who does not attend school therefore deprives the taxpayers of $18 of State money, which means $18 additional for the district to raise by local tax. A strict enforcement of the law will therefore reduce tax bills, and is thus of direct concern to every taxpayer."

OF CASUAL CONCERN.

A story, told by the late Ira D. Sankey on himself, has been revived since the evangelist's death. One day he entered a Swiss shop and asked to see some music boxes. The salesman graciously showed him a number, but none was what he wanted. "Have you none that play sacred music?" he asked. "Why," answered the salesman, "we have some that play a kind of a half-way sacred music." "What?" inquired Mr. Sankey. "Oh, Christy Minstrels and Sankey hymns; I can't imagine what the people see in them, but we sell thousands of the boxes that play them. We have enormous orders for these boxes," continued the salesman, "from every part of Europe," and then he added, apologetically, "it's a matter of business, you know, with us."

Of the swans on the upper Thames the London Times says: "T. Abnett, of East Molesey, the King's swan master, on Saturday completed the marking of the young swans on the Thames between Southwark bridge and Henley. There are between 500 and 600 swans on the Thames and in the course of the swan marking about 200 cygnets were discovered, each of which had a mark placed on its bill to identify it. Those belonging to the King, who owns about a third of the swans on the Thames, have a diamond-shaped mark scratched on the upper beak with a knife. Those belonging to the Vintners and Dyers' companies, who own the other two-thirds, have been respectively marked. In November a number of these cygnets will be fattened for the King's table at Christmas."

A short line between Clark's Summit and New Milford, Pa., which will eliminate the many curves and grades between the two places, costing about $7,000,000, is the latest improvement by the Lackawanna Railroad. This line will be a four-track line, and will be one of the largest improvements planned by the road. Tunnels, the longest two miles long will be made under mountains. Bridges or viaducts over the entire breadth of valleys will be constructed. In fact, the work of construction will go on as if mountains and valleys were unheard of things.

She Was There.

"Miss Kitty, I've ehard it said that a kiss without a mustache is like an egg without salt. Is that so?" asked the young man, who was desperately smitten.

"Well, really," answered Kitty, "I don't know—I can't tell—for in all my life I never—"

"Now I know, Miss Kitty."

"Never ate an egg without salt," continued Kitty. — San Francisco Bulletin.

Understood at Last.

Lawyer—How is it that you have waited three years before suing Muller for calling you a rhinoceros?

Countryman — Because I never saw one of the beasts till yesterday at the zoo.—Fligende Blaetter.

The Social Element In the Life of the Other World.

Ninth of a Series on Heaven by REV. DR. CHARLES E. HERRING

What a strange place heaven will be if each soul is to sit in solitary contemplation of the glories of Christ through all eternity, and yet that was the idea of the dying woman who thought that in the heavenly world she would have no knowledge of her devoted husband though he were sitting by her side because her entire thought would be centered in her divine Redeemer. The truth is that when we love the Lord our God with all our hearts, our love for others will be intensified, and especially for those who are near and dear to us.

In the very nature of the Divine Being, there is this social element. As we conceive of God, He is a Trinity of Father, Son and Spirit, and the whole Bible is a revelation of the unfolding of God in these relations. The Father loves the Son and the Son loves the Father, and They both send the Holy Spirit to the earth. The divine plans for the world are the result of the counsel of these three persons. The Son can do nothing of Himself but what He seeth the Father do. Then our Lord says that the Spirit will not speak of Himself but shall glorify Me and shall bring the things that I have taught to your remembrance." The whole plan of redemption is not the work of the Son simply; but the work of the Father and the Holy Spirit likewise. This is not only true of the fact of redemption but also of creation and providence. "What the Father does, He does by the Son and through the Holy Ghost."

What does all this prove? Does it not point to the social element in the very character of the Godhead? God made man in His own image; so when man craves communion and fellowship with his particular friends, it is because it is a part of His eternal nature; for social life is an element of the divine character. It is said of Adam that he did not find Eden a paradise until Eve was given to him in his worship. Heaven will be a paradise to us as we mingle with our own people in singing the praises of God.

Heaven to perfectly satisfy us must be the place where every element of our nature will find its perfect employment. Those whom we have loved here must be not love less in the world to come. Why should we imagine that an entirely new set of conditions will be ours in that world.

There will be a change. Here we know each other in part and because of the partial knowledge there is misunderstanding. In that world, we shall know even as we are known and because of that perfect knowledge, we shall have perfect relations with each other.

Do you have asked: what about the children in that world? Shall they grow beyond all your recognition. I imagine we shall all grow more and more in that world but the children will always be our children, and there will be something about them that we shall recognize.

The Father says I cannot make all this clear to you now but Heaven will satisfy you in this respect. I have no doubt that some new power besides that which we already possess will be ours in that world and this power enables us to recognize them, for Scripture assures us that "we know not what we shall be." There are dormant powers in us then, which we believe are capable of indefinite expansion. We know of possibilities in particular seed we plant in the soil. We know that from our experiesce; but our infinite possibility we do not know because it has never been revealed to us.

The recognition of our friends in that world will not be only through the remembered features of their bodies but through the irradiating characteristics of their souls; when we awake and our new senses sweep the historic generations of the redeemed, we shall know the great souls with many designs for various crocheted articles are to be had in all needlework departments. Crocheted insets for waists and gowns, the narrow insertions used for setting seams together and crocheted tops for buttons will occupy many a woman's veranda days this summer.

How Are Her Teeth?

Young man, before you marry, take particular notice of the teeth of your intended wife. Aunt Peggy tells us now that the organs of mastication are certain indicators of a wife's inclination to roam or not to roam. "If you want a home body," says the aged high priestess, "marry a girl whose teeth grow close together. If the teeth are distinctly separated, your wife will go gadding about all the time. She may love her home, but she won't stay there. She will want to be traveling. The greater the distance between her teeth the greater her inclination to wander abroad."

Ppor Henpeck wrote his epitaph
On his departed better haph:
"Here lies my wife
To save my life
I cannot weep. It is to laph."

introduce him to this and the other ancient believer and to assist him to find out and to recognize among so great a multitude old friends and earthly relatives."

This instruction of the saints will be to powers and faculties in us that are not ours today. Then new powers shall be granted to us of which today we can form no conception We are like the caterpillar know of the new powers it shall possess when it develops into the gorgeous butterfly; but the powers are lying dormant in the caterpillar. Someday it shall know. Someday it will follow the instincts of its nature and God will not disappoint it.

Some one tells us the story of the little boy who asked his father: "What is poetry?" The father answered; "Poetry is the most beautiful thing in the world." "Show me some poetry," said the boy and the father showed him that the boy could not see its beauty even when the father read some of it to him. The boy said: "I can see how the Heaven is beautiful with all its stars, and how mother's face is beautiful," but he said: "father, I can't see how this poetry is beautiful." Then the father said: "I can't explain it now but when you are older you will understand how beautiful poetry is." The father with all his knowledge and love could not make it plain to the bedeveled brother of the boy. It was simply a question of waiting. How we shall know our dear ones in the other world has not been perfectly revealed to us, because such knowledge is impossible to us as was the beauty of poetry to the little boy. There are other problems that perplex us. We wonder at the strange providences of God. Why do things happen so if God is interested in us and is watching over us. The answer is the answer of the father to the little boy. You shall understand by and by. This thought should comfort us today that we shall be different in the other world in the sens that we shall be perfect there where we are imperfect here for there every thing shall be perfected, even our friendships.

The Charm of Billie Burke.

There was no thought of Billie Burke when Clitavet and De Flers first "Lucien Watteau" or "L'Amour Veille," as it was entitled in the French. But when Charles Frohman read the curious adventures of the will-o'-the-wisp, love-sick Jacqueline —it was Miss Burke, not Jacqueline or Miss Burke as Jacqueline that danced about in his fancy. Mr. Frohman thinks Miss Burke the one woman in the world for the part—a strong statement from one who manages so many actresses, all of them nationally and some of them internationally popular exponents of charming womanhood. But the rare talents of Billie Burke is an exuberant, frolicsome display of impulsive girlishness that always stops this side of the line of mere entimentality. She never suggests a hoyden. In "Love Watch," at the Lycem her unmistakable freshness of look and frankness of manner, her self-reliant air of innocence, carries her over scenes that might be risque in hands less deft. She cats what the word ingenue must mean if the manifold parts it became handled about in stageland. She inspires an impression of flower-like innocence and beauty which would not call for particular mention but that in her case the charm is of ingenuous girlhood directed by a good common sense of proportion.

THE RETURN OF OLD-FASHIONED STITCHES.

The fancy for crocheting and for filet lace which has struck the commercial world with such force that the old-time stitches familiar in long past generations. Among other things, women long unfamiliar with the crochet hook are making crocheted table mats for the polished luncheon table. At the women's exchange and in fancy shops there has been such a demand for the work that many a woman is earning good pin money by the means. Plate doylies, centerpieces and smaller and larger mats for the serving dishes come in entire sets at what seem fabulous prices for the average woman.

Made at home in odd minutes, the work is easily accomplished and has the merit of keeping the fingers busy without straining the eyes. Pattern books with many designs for various crocheted articles are to be had in all needlework departments. Crocheted insets for waists and gowns, the narrow insertions used for setting seams together and crocheted tops for buttons will occupy many a woman's veranda days this summer.

INFERNAL MACHINE MAILED TO GOVERNOR

Post Office Department Holds Up Deadly Device Directed to Fort.

WOULD-BE ASSASSIN FOILED.

"Get Right With God" Inscribed Sent Day After the Famous Proclamation.

The fact that an infernal machine threatening possible death to Governor John Franklin Fort failed to reach its destination became public today. The machine was sent to the Governor the day following his proclamation regarding Atlantic City and the calling out of the State troops should the officials there fail to observe the laws. Fort intiled to the information obtained the package lacked two cents postage to carry it to Governor Fort. It was posted at Philadelphia.

The postal officials in the Philadelphia postoffice fearing that the package contained some explosive material, judging by the way it was made up, wrote to Governor Fort, explaining the matter and asked for instructions, adding that they would be glad to open the package and forward to him anything they might find therein of value. The Governor immediately gave them the authority.

The address on the package was placed thereon from letters cut out of a newspaper. Inside the large outside envelope was a blue one and this contained a tin-foil tube in which there was a quantity of highly explosive material. Great care had *to be exercises in opening the pack*age.

Accompanying the package was a letter, written in a poor hand, and this contained a tin-foil tube in which there was a quantity of highly explosive material. Great care had *to be exercises in opening the pack*age.

Accompanying the package was a letter, written in a poor hand, and this contained the following: "Get right with God," and "You will know me better after you receive this package," together with other threatening language. It was directed to the Governor at his Sea Girt home. When Mr. Fort was questioned about the matter today, he simply replied: "I have nothing to say. I think the package explains itself."

STATE'S JUNK PILE COST HALF A MILLION

Just what disposition to make of the voting machines that are scattered about in the various municipalities of the State is a problem that Secretary of State Dickinson is anxious to solve. The local authorities do not want them, the State authorities also do not want them, and Colonel Dickinson, their custodian, says he has no place to put them.

The State of New Jersey spent about $500,000 for these machines (in the last three years), but every place they were tried they met with disfavor, so much so that many towns and cities have voted to discontinue using them altogether. The chances are that these machines will eventually find their way into the junk heap, unless some other State can be found that is willing to experiment with them, but the people of New Jersey say they do not want any more of them.

Attorney General McCarter is in Europe, but is expected home in about ten days, and Colonel Dickinson says he hopes then to get a solution of the troublesome question.

MISSING BOY SOUGHT BY THE LOCAL POLICE

The local police today sent out a general alarm for John Edward Connolly, the fifteen-year-old son of Edward Connolly, of Richmond street, who has been missing from his home since Tuesday last. He left on that day with the intention of going to Easton on a pleasure trip and has not been seen since. He has never been in the habit of remaining away from home and his parents are greatly worried over his continued absence.

The boy is about five feet four inches in height, has a dark complexion, black hair and blue eyes. He wore a blue cap, coat and shirtwaist and brown knickerbockers. He graduated from the city grammar school last June and will next year commenced a commercial course in a business college next week.

Planning a Race Meet.

The Fair Acres Riding and Driving Club is planning to hold another of its successful race meets at the driving park on Saturday, September 26.

WARRANT FOR ARREST OF MRS. H. E. MUNROE

A warrant was issued at Reading, Pa., Friday, for the arrest of Mrs. Harriet E. Munroe, of Washington, owner of the copyright of the entertainment, "The Scottish Reformation," which was given in Rhodes Opera House at Boyertown, Pa., last January, when 1711 persons or more than four hundred present were burned to death. Mrs. Munroe is well-known here, where at Hope chapel she gave "The Scottish Reformation." "Oliver Cromwell," and other entertainments of a similar character, meeting with great success.

Mr. Munroe was not present at the entertainment given at Boyertown, but it is alleged that she employed incompetent help and that they caused the disaster. The prosecutor is Frank Moyer, who lost a daughter in the fire. Mrs. Munroe's attorney at Reading agreed to accept service and the case will be presented to the Grand Jury next week. Dr. Thomas J. B. Rhodes, owner of the opera house, is now under arrest for criminal negligence.

HOPE'S BOYS CLUB IN ANNUAL SESSION

At the semi-annual business meeting of the Hope Methodist Boy's Club, held in the Sunday school rooms last Friday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing six months: President, Clinton Firstbrook; first vice-president, Clarence Hoffman; second vice-president, James Hennessey; secretary, Arthur Hoffman; treasurer, Harry Kenney; chairmen of committees, entertainment, Howard Firstbrook; membership, Earl Hoff; lookout, Alfred Patterson; game, George Myers; initiation, Bertram Smith; athletic, George Gage; light, George Patterson.

The retiring president, Harry Kenney, was in the chair and the various officers present reports. They showed the club to be in a flourishing condition, both as to membership and finances, and that the work is progressing favorably.

Following the business session, a bean supper was served in charge of the entertainment committee. During this part of the proceedings, addresses were made by Rev. L. R. Howard, C. Herbert Condict and the new president, Clinton Firstbrook. The entertainment committee was composed of Clinton Firstbrook, George Gage, Joseph Muir, Harry Stewart, Bertram Smith, Clarence Hoffman and Harry Kenney.

WETUMPKAH INN OPENS ITS DOORS ON OCTOBER 1.

Another creditable hotel is shortly to be added to the number which Plainfield enjoys. E. G. Hulling, of Asbury Park, having announced that the Wetumpkah Inn, will be formally opened at West Seventh and Washington streets on Thursday, October 1. It promises to provide an up-to-date resort for people who prefer boarding to housekeeping when all the conveniences of a private home are to be obtained.

The commodious building to be occupied as the Inn is the Arthur Miller property which was until recently used by the Hartridge School. Extensive alterations are being made. The rooms will be arranged single and ensuite; with or without private baths. The very best cuisine is to be a feature of the house.

For twenty years Mr. Hulling has been proprietor of The Hotel Waldron, one of the most popular resorts in North Asbury Park and is thoroughly experienced in the business.

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS' SUCCESSFUL DIME SOCIAL.

Under the auspices of the Women's Relief Corps a dime social was held in Reform Hall, Friday, to which was invited the members and friends of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. During the evening there was an informal program consisting of phonographic selections by Mrs. Andrew Cox, piano duets by Miss Clara Smith and Mrs. Jennie Berman; readings by Mrs. William Gibbons and brief remarks by Commander J. F. Berg, Comrades I. L. McVoy, Samuel Reese and Mrs. I. L. McVoy, of the Corps. An added attraction was the "fortune telling" booth, from some sofa pillow sold. This bore the names of many persons who paid a nominal sum to have them worked on the pillow. The proceeds from the affair netted $16. The committee in charge comprised Mrs. Andrew Cox, chairman; Mrs. Frederick Wenzel, Mrs. Jennie Bergman, Mrs. Sarah Mattox and Mrs. S. R. Struthers.

Surface Transit.

"Step lively, please," said the conductor.

"If I were young enough to do that," responded the aged passenger, climbing aboard, "I'd walk and beat your car."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Instructing Rollo.

"Father," said little Rollo, "what is a dead game sport?"

"A dead game sport, my son, is usually a man who is putting on airs one day and trying to borrow $10 the next."—Emily Tupper Bendit in Philadelphia Inquirer.

BRAKEMAN FARLAY CRUSHED TO DEATH

A strange accident caused the death Friday afternoon of John Farlay, a brakeman, and resulted in severely injuring engineer Charles Boyer, who was operating drill engine No. 325, on the Central Railroad, at Perth Amboy. The fireman, Harvey Adams, escaped unhurt.

The engine on which Farley was brakeman was engaged in shifting cars on the south side of B dock, and the first car behind the engine was a heavy steel, coal laden gondola. Farlay stood on a step on the rear of the drill engine's tender between that and the buffer of the first car.

For some reason yet unexplained the coal car suddenly began to give a series of jerks and before the engine could stop the gondola left the track. Farlay had no time to escape from his perilous position. His head was about level with the coupling buffer of the car and his skull was crushed like an eggshell.

The gondola car bounding over the roadbed swung the engine to one side and the coupling pin broke. The car remained on the dock but the engine with engineer Boyer in the cab, toppled over the edge of the dock and fell thirty feet to the ground, where it was almost a total wreck.

Boyer was pinned under the engine and was terribly bubned and scalded before rescuers could get him free. Word was sent at once for assistance and Dr. E. W. Philips attended to Boyer's wounds. It is believed he will survive his hurts.

A. G. Pickersgill, who is the acting coroner at Perth Amboy, has been unable to find what caused the coal car to jump and leave the rails, and will pursue the investigation. He permitted the brakeman's body to be taken home.

Farlay had been employed eighteen years by the Central Railroad. About twenty minutes before his death a severe bump between cars on another track knocked out the front wheels from their fastenings on the car attached to a tender, and the wheels bounced up on the tender steps.

Farley, who witnessed the crash, remarked to a companion:

"If I'd been standing on those steps nothing could have saved my head being crushed."

At the time while he met death in such a manner as he had mentioned, He was the sole support of his aged parents and for their sake never married.

STEAMSHIP SERVICE FOR ATLANTIC CITY

Long cherished plans of linking Atlantic City to New York and Philadelphia with a steamship service, to carry freight and passengers, is to be realized next March, when the Atlantic City Steamboat Transportation Company will put a service into operation which will be kept up all year. The service to Philadelphia will at first be freight only, but later on passengers will be transported. To New York both freight and passengers will be carried.

The company is capitalized at $250,000, has chartered steamships and leased landing places. The officers are Jacob Bothwell, manager of steel pier, president; vice president, Thomas J. Ryan; secretary, Howard J. Cloud; treasurer, Henry W. Cleft. These officers are members of the board of directors, which includes Charles Cahill, Republic Rubber Works, Philadelphia; E. I. Chandler, attorney; Thomas Small, Camden, and William J. Melony, Atlantic City general manager.

"These boats," said Mr. Melony, "as now arranged, will leave here and Philadelphia at five o'clock p. m. in the afternoon and will reach their destination twelve hours later. The New York branch will cover the trip in seven hours and the round fare will be three dollars. The boats will draw seven feet of water, and the line will help the resort in getting an appropriation for a deeper channel over the bar."

THOUGHTS.

Do you know that your thoughts rule your life,
Be they pure or impure in the strife?
As you think, so you are
And you make or you mar
Your success in the world.
By your thoughts.

Are your thoughts just and true
every hour?
Then your life will attest with great power.
If it's love that fills your heart,
Then all hate must depart
You will find all success
In good thoughts.

Are you kind in your thoughts to all?
Then but kindness to you must befall;
As you sow, so you reap
In a measure so deep.
Either pleasure or pain,
By your thoughts.
—Emily Tupper Bendit in Philadelphia Inquirer.

GRAIN THIEF CAPTURED

Colored Boy Admits Pilfering Oats and Corn from Freight Cars.

SEVERAL OTHERS IMPLICATED.

Sewer Contractor Who Is Alleged to Have Purchased the Stolen Goods Also Taken Into Custody.

Continued thefts of oats and corn from cars placed on sidings at the Richmond street freight station led to the arrest Friday of Horace Martin, a colored boy living on Fillmore avenue. He is the first of a coterie of East End youths who will be apprehended for the offenses as there are five or six of them concerned in the depredations, covering a period of two years, have cost local grain merchants many hundreds of dollars.

Martin was taken into custody by Detective-Sergeant John Flynn. He readily admitted his guilt and said that he had pilfered several bags of oats from cars and had sold them to Michael Mango, an Italian sewer contractor, who has an office and stores on Richmond street. It has been the custom of boys in the neighborhood, he said, to make a little "easy money" in this way as Mango would pay twenty-five cents a bag for all the corn and oats brought to him. The contractor was immediately arrested by the officer and was arraigned with Martin in the city court this morning.

Mango stoutly denied that he had purchased anything from the boys at any time, but Martin declared that he had and that he could procure several of his companions who would swear to the same thing. Judge Runyon accordingly released the juvenile defendant in the custody of the detective-sergeant to get some of them and the case will be held in abeyance until the other boys are procured.

Percy S. Dayton, who has been one of the heaviest losers by the depredations, was in court, this morning and declared that he would spare no expense in prosecuting the receivers of the stolen grain. He told Judge Runyon that practically every car consigned to him would be broken into either before or after his employes started to unload. Frequently two bushels would be taken while drivers were carting the contents to his mill but despite *systematic watch the culprits escaped de*tection. The other dealers had suffered the same way, he continued, and that there were that a dozen or more boys living in the East End who had horses never purchased feed supplies in the regular way.

The Martin boy is the son of the late Special Officer Thomas Martin, and was in the city court Friday when Patman Robinson was tried. He admitted receiving part of the 27 stolen from Dr. Browning's home by the youngster who has a dozen or more counts charged against him.

Borough Schools Open Tuesday.

In preparation for the opening day all pupils who have never attended the public schools of the borough, are requested to appear at the office of the supervising principal in the Somerset School Monday morning, between 9 and 12 o'clock, so that they may be registered and classified. The high school and grammar departments open at 8:20, the other departments at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning. A general teachers' meeting has been called for Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Warren Township Board of Education, which last year transported a number of pupils to the Bound Brook High School, will this year run the stage to the Bound Brook line at 8 o'clock. It is expected that seven pupils will attend. Guy D. Peck, of South Stirling, has the contract.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION IN SOMERSET CO. ELECTS.

Mrs. J. A. Powilson, of North Plainfield, was on Wednesday re-elected superintendent of primary work of the Somerset County Sunday-school Association at its forty-ninth annual session held at Bound Brook. There were 177 delegates present, representing forty-three of the eighty-eight Sunday-schools of the county. There were thirty-seven visitors. Assemblyman W. W. Smalley, of Bound Brook, was elected president of the association for the coming year. The vice-presidents are Judge L. H. Schenck, of Somerville; Thomas D. Wesley, of Pluckemin, and Rev. J. A. Bliss, of Somerville. The other officers are as follows: Corresponding secretary and treasurer, Rev. J. J. Scott, of Bound Brook; recording secretary, Rev. J. J. Scott, of Lamington; State executive committeeman, James L. Griggs, of Somerville.

Will Attend a Convention.

Judge and Mrs. William Newcorn, of West Front street, left today for Bridgeport, Conn., where Mr. Newcorn goes as a grand representative from the State to the Grand Council of the Improved Order of Red Men. The convention will continue until Thursday of next week, after which he and Mrs. Newcorn will enjoy a trip to Maine.

THIS CONSTITUTIONALIST

The Costitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published a-

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 17, 1908.

A GREAT NEWSPAPER.

Mr. Scudder has just cause for pride in the achievements of that very excellent daily, the Newark Evening News, which has just observed its twenty-fifth birthday. From a place of small importance in New Jersey newspaperdom, his paper has firmly established its right to be ranked an easy first among the many creditable journals of New Jersey. In fact it occupies a field all to itself for it alone covers the news of the day in every city, town, village and township in New Jersey. Its news is gathered thoroughly, selected well and edited carefully. Its editorials have made it a power in New Jersey political life and in consequence his journal is a factor to be reckoned with at all times by the powers that be. To it more than to any other source may credit be given for the chance for better government and higher political ideals in this State. And all this is solely due to the wisdom shown by the proprietor in engaging the very best newspaper men to editorially direct his most profitable investment.

ITALIAN TRACK WALKER SUCCUMBS IN HOSPITAL

Pasquale Retino, the New Jersey Central track-walker who was injured near Westfield Monday morning, when the cylinder-head of a B. & O. "flier" blew out, and crushed his legs, died at Muhlenberg Hospital in the afternoon. Aside from the fact that he lost one leg by amputation, necessitated by the severe wounds, he was unable to rally from the terrible shock and this caused his death.

*Retino was walking along the main eastbound track toward Westfield, when the "flier" running close to fifty miles an hour approached him. He did not take any extra precaution to escape possible accident and just as the train neared him the cylinder-head of the engine blew out, striking the track-walker full force, crushing his legs. The blow tossed him a distance of several feet and he was picked up in a dying condition and brought to the hospital in this city.*

In the meantime word was sent to the man's wife at Westfield, and she accompanied by her child reached the hospital after the man died. The wife was in the reception room waiting to see her husband, and it was a difficult task for the superintendent to break the news to her. When she learned that her husband had died she was prostrated with grief. The remains were taken to the home in Westfield today, where the funeral will be held.

Towels For Porch Chairs.

The careful housewife who religiously adorns the backs of the porch chairs with white crash towels may unpin these articles and transfer them to more useful ends. There is now in the shops a special little chairback towel to protect the back of the chair from leaning heads—or the back of the head from backs of chairs, however you put it.

It is a small thing of Turkish toweling, serviceable dark brown in color, with a gay bit of border, all finished and ready to put on the chair.

They're inexpensive and so practical that even the summer boarding house window of piazza chairs might afford to equip themselves therewith.

$300,000 Casino.

Long Branch, in all probability, will have a casino that will rival the one at Deal, which has become so popular. Property owners of the Elberon and West End station of Long Branch met at the Cedar avenue home of Albert Friedlander, where a permanent organization was effected by the election of Myron H. Oppenheim as president and Daniel W. Wardell as secretary. It is proposed to expend $300,000 for a casino. In a fortnight a special committee will be ready to report definite plans. It is proposed to have the casino ready for occupancy next season.

Bicycle Trips.

Fifteen members of the Plainfield Bicycle Club rode to the Vailsburg track on Sunday afternoon. Twelve of the members expect to start for Washington, D. C., on their wheels on Sunday, September 20. They will stop at Wilmington, Del., and at Baltimore, Md. After spending a day in Washington they will start on their return trip.

Montclair Horse Show.

The third annual horse show at Montclair will be held at that place on Saturday, October 10. There are twenty-three events on the program and in addition to the cups and money prizes the usual ribbons will be awarded to the first, second and third in each event.

AMUSEMENTS.

Proctor's Newark theatre during the week commencing Monday, Sept. 14. Nat Wills, late star of "A Son of Rest" and other musical comedies, will be heard in an original monologue. The famous Bryne Brothers of "Eight Bells," fame and company, will present a laughable acrobatic comedy, entitled "A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps." Ed Blondell and company will be seen in a side-splitting farce, "Back to Loe; Bay." Viola De Costa, assisted by a well trained sextette of male voices, will present a singing sketch entitled "In the Latin Quarter. The Arlington Comedy Four, a quartette of youthful voices that blend tuneful singing with clean comedy. The Four Keatons with Joe Myra, Buster and Baby Jingles, will prove a mirth provoking as ever in their "Watch the Table." Dan Scott, a newcomer, will be seen in a series of imitations of famous singers. Dolliver and Hafris, two young and graceful gymnasts, will be seen in a pleasing trapeze act. New animated pictures.

BELLIGERENT HUSBAND FORGIVEN BY THE FAMILY

Aaron Reed, a resident of Fritz place who is in bad standing with the borough police, threw the neighborhood about his home in an uproar late yesterday by starting to annihilate his family. He returned to the house with a load of liquor aboard and began operations by using his wife for a punching bag. He had pummeled her about the rooms and was in fair way to send her to the hospital when a daughter interfered.

The young woman was promptly knocked down and only escaped severe punishment by retreating hastily to a neighbor's house, where she sent a telephone call for the police. When the cops reached the scene, Reed had made himself scarce and continued in hiding until late at night. He evidently had scouts abroad as when the bluecoats gave up the search, he returned to the house with a flag of truce and induced the family to agree to a compromise. He promised to be good if they would make no complaint against him so the cops were called o.f.

Reports from the neighborhood this morning indicate that the white dove of peace had settled down upon the Reed domicile.

Signs With Big Production.

Peter Winn, of this city, who has been connected with the stage force at the New Plainfield theatre, signed Saturday as electrician with William Brady's big new production, "A Gentleman from Mississippi." The show is now in reeharsal in New York and will open next week. Beside supervising the electrical effects, Mr. Winn will be seen as an "actor," dashing out on the stage in one scene to use his strong right arm in ejecting the "villian."

Children Should Be Neat.

A waste paper basket should form part of every nursery equipment. Children should be taught to put into it all scraps of paper, cuttings from dolls' dressmaking and any other little odds and ends that would otherwise litter the nursery floor.

It will teach them an excellent lesson in tidiness, and be good training—especially for the girls—for the day when each will have a home of her own.

While children are young it is comparatively easy to teach them to be tidy; but the lesson is hard to learn in later life.

The Newest Ribbons.

In the world of ribbons the latest arrival is the cretonne. This comes in quite a wide width and is used for sashes, borders of gowns, coats and parasols, as well as for millinery purposes. Cretonne ribbon is too heavy for hat trimming, though it is charming used as a trimming for frocks and coats.

The material it decorates should be a sort woolen or one of the novelty mixtures rather than linen or silk. The last named fabrics combine more suitably with cretonne that comes by the yard.

About Monograms.

A young woman whose husband's initials are "H." and "S." decided to combine them in a monogram and in the future marked his linen with the S mark, which was not a bad idea, but she happened to tell it in a crowd and a witty girl responded by saying: "That is clever; I'll be put down for 30c." And the funny part is it looks very much like her initials.

Modern Methods.

"I got a postal from a candidate today," said the first farmer.

"To what effect?" inquired the second farmer.

"Asked me to consider myself slapped on the back and my baby kissed. Seems he's conducting a card index campaign."

A Quick Soup.

Put through the meat chopper the cleaned roots and tough outside stalks of two bunches of celery. Catch all the liquor as well as shredded celery in a bowl. Stir this into one quart of thin, well-seasoned sauce. Cook five minutes and strain into a tureen.

DENOUNCES "X-SCIENCE"

Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy's Religious Teachings Strongly are Arraigned.

REV. DR. HERRING'S SERMON.

New Creed, He Says, Is a Denial of Historic Facts of Christianity

—Says She Distorts Bible.

In the course of a sermon Sunday night, devoted to his impressions of a recent visit to a Christian Science church service, Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, strongly condemned the teachings of Mother Eddy. He declared that they were a denial of historic Christianity, and were a direct contradiction of the teachings of the Bible.

Rev. Dr. Herring said:

My purpose tonight is to give some impressions of a visit to the Christian Science church in Boston. This church is certainly a most beautiful piece of architecture and its great dome reminds one very forcibly of St. Paul's, London. The great audience room with its two galleries on each side and its three galleries in the rear, it is said, seat 6,000 persons. Perhaps it can hold that many people but it seemed to me that five thousand people in that church would give very little breathing space for each individual. The morning service is held on Wednesday evening in the large auditorium. It was certainly surprising to see three-quarters of this great room filled. I believe, however, that this is the only "Science" church in Boston and therefore all Boston "Scientists" must attend this one church. The only sermon that is preached in the Christian Science church is Mrs. Eddy's book. This book is both pastor and preacher. The only need, therefore, the pulpit has is a reader. These readers first read a passage from the Bible and then a selection from Mrs. Eddy's book. Before reading the selection from the book the reader must give its title and mention the author. "Science and health with key to the Scriptures by Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy."

The order of service was as follows: Singing, reading, silent prayer, Lord's Prayer, singing, testimony and singing. There was no benediction. There were a number of testimonies. People confessed to being cured of nervous dyspepsia, epilepsy, rheumatism and, had even, I question, mentioned two ladies as to the similar movement in Boston which is called the Emanuel church. They said they knew nothing about it as "Science" was good enough for them. I found that these people were pleasant and perfectly satisfied that they had the real thing and teh only thing. Mrs. Eddy says that she discovered this panacea for the ills of life in 1866. She discovered that the "divine mind and its ideas are the only accualities." "Sin, sickness and death not being the ideas of the divine mind cannot have any reality. They are simply the ideas of our mortal minds and should be forever banished from our thoughts." Mrs. Eddy claims to have received these truths directly from Christ. No human tongue suggested the contents of "Science and health" to her nor can tongue or pen overthrow it. Whatever men now think of it, its truths will remain for the Christ-inspired to discern and follow. Mrs. Eddy claims that wherever Jesus went He demonstrated the power of Divine Science, and the greatest need of the age is for His disciples literally to follow his commands, to heal the sick and raise the dead to cleanse the lepers and to cast out devils. I believe that this command is on the cover of every book of Science and health. "Mortal mind," she claims, is "flesh that is opposed to spirit." It is "human error that is opposed to goodness and truth." It is her thought that if you read medical books you will be sick. Where there are less doctors and less thought on sanitary subjects there are better constitutions and less disease. "What on abuse of nature," says Mrs. Eddy, "to say that a rose, the smile of God, can produce suffering!" Rose only. "It is profane to fancy the sweet*ness of clover and the breath of new* mown hay can cause nasal pangs." She claims that "one disease is no more real than another." "All disease is mental." A believer in Science "Disease is a form of belief." "Sickness is a dream from which the patient needs to be wakened." Therefore we "should rise in rebellion against disease." In regard to surgery "until the advancing age admits more efficient and supremacy of mind, it is better to leave the adjustment of broken bones and dislocations to the fingers of a surgeon. Surgery is the last branch Christian Science will be able to teach."

Mrs. Eddy's glossary to her book is remarkable. She tells you in that glossary the meaning of certain expressions in Scripture, "for the literal and material reading is the reading *of the carnal mind which is en*mity against God." "Proper names therefore do not have their ordinary significance." The "Euphrates" you means "a river" so all the Lexicons that you have ever read have declared; but to Christian Science, it *means the "divine science encompas*sing the universe and man." "Eve" is the mother of all living but to Science "Eve" stands for "mortality, a little belief in life, substance and intelligence in matter." But listen to this interpretation. "Adam" means "a dam or an obstruction to the truth." In Hebrew, the root meaning of Adam' means red, and refers to the earth, but Mrs. Eddy has no use for Hebrew roots.

Does the method of Christian Science heal people? Of course it does. But they claim theirs in the was par excellence, for Mrs. Eddy says Christian Science is "the soul of divine philosophy and there is no other." Christian Science is not the search after wisdom. It is wisdom. It is God's right hand grasping the universe." Professor Angell declares that "mesmerists, mental healers, medicine men, priests, and philosophers, one and all, succeed by playing upon the imagination in producing remarkable changes in bodily health. He declares that insomnia, neuralgia, alcoholism and asthma have all been healed in this wy but there is little or no proof that diseases caused by bacilli such as consumption, small pox, bubonic plague, cases of fracture are helped by this method.

Dr. Moll, of Berlin, testifies that there are fifty or sixty patients sent annually from the French hospital of the Salpeletre to the grotto of Lourdes when the hospital fails to cure. There is something in the mental suggestion of the place that cures where the hospital fails. If suggestion cures, what need have we for a "metaphysical theory which denies the existence of facts of consciousness?" which denies common sense and the historic facts of Christianity. It is because it denies these historic facts of Christianity that it falls under the ban of the church not because it effects cures of the body. Mrs. Eddy claims that "prayer to a personal God is a hinderance." She would substitute "principle, eternal and harmonious," for our conception of "Our Father." She asserts that "God cannot become finite and so be limited within natural bounds." But Paul tells the Phillippians that the Lord "emptied Himself of the divine glory and took the form of a servant." The *fact of sin and atone*ment, which truth is the great truth of the Bible, is denied by Christian Science, for there is no sin that needs atonement "the sense of sin must be lost."

The "only reality of sin, sickness and death is the awful fact that unrealities seem real to human be*ings until truth strips them of their* disguise." "Evil is an illusion." "Error has no real basis." But Christ never said that sin was an illusion. Christ came not to redeem men from the conception of sin but from the awful fact of sin. Mrs. Eddy would say that disease and death bear the same relation to reality that darkness does to light. Darkness is the absence of light but sin is the result of positive will to sin, and so Scripture teaches it. You have been thinking of the angels as God's messengers. Christian Science says that you are wrong. They are God's messages.

Heaven is not a place to the Christian Scientist, it is a state, and yet our Lord said to His disciples the words that have been of such comfort to us. "I go to prepare a place for you." In Heaven there is no personal immorality to a Scientist. If there is no personal immortality or personal existence then longing one has for recognition in that world will not be realized. The New York Sun once said that Christian Science that it is "the strangest and most incongrous movement which could have been started in a period of advancing enlightment. It is a mixture of pseudo science, superstition and mysticism." But it is more than that. It is a system of error, denying the body strikes not only one but the great foundations of the Christian faith. It denies the personality of God and calls Him a Divine Principle. It says that "prayer must not be uttered to the flesh." "Belief that man is made better by praying is an evil." It declares that the Holy Sprit is divine science. It denies the atonement, for there is no sins needing atonement. Yet His name was called Jesus because his mission was to save His people from their sins and He saved them by the shedding of His blood. Jesus did heal the bodies of men but His great purpose in the world was to redeem men from sin. Paul was ready to suffer the loss of all things and suffer imprisonment and death for he was conscious that his light affliction worked out for him eternal weight of glory. His ambition was not to be cured of bodily ailments. He was ready to carry his thorn in the flesh that he might win Christ and know the power of His resurrection. To him the cure of bodily ailment was not the main thing. He never could have been the hero that he was if he had not been willing to suffer scourgings for Christ. The very thorn he carried in his flesh was to him a means of spiritual grace. I believe that the methods of Christian Science can and do heal certain ailments of the body. I believe that others by mental suggestion of some sort do the same thing but I refuse to surrender the great truths of the Bible and of history to Christianity for the strange teachings of Mrs. Eddy.

The Little Minister.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. McCrea, of Central avenue, are parents of a son born to them Saturday morning.

WATCHUNG CLUB HORSES AT BERKSHIRE MEETING

The Watchung Hunt Club was well represented at the fall meeting of the Berkshire Hunt Club held at Lenox, Mass., on Saturday, and Charles W. Fisk's "Apple Jack" was successful in winning the President's cup, a handsome solid silver trophy which is prized highly. This event was a three mile steeplechase and "Apple Jack" won the cup by taking the last jump in fine style. This was one of the stella attractions of the meet.

Among the Plainfield horses entered were these: Charles W. Fisk's "Apple Jack;" Hart Farlee's "Samurai;" H. A. Bourne's "Bessie Fullem," and "Double O;" Rufus C. Finch's "Mercy Me," and "Race Heart," and W. C. Eogerson's "Rollo."

In the steeplechase event for the President's cup, "Rollo" was third. In the one-and-a-half mile hurdle race, "Double O" was the favorite, but he fell at the last hurdle and lost out, much to the disappointment of his backers. H. A. Bourne's "Bessie Fullem" was second in the mile race on the flat and "Mercy Me" finished third in a hurdle event.

The Plainfielders who made the trip to Lenox were royally entertained by the Berkshire Hunt Club, a dinner being given in their honor Saturday night. They reached home Sunday night accompanied by their *entries. Several horses from the lo*cal club are entered in the events at the Elkwood Club race-meet at Long Branch next week.

EDWARD A. LAING WEDS MISS BERTHA E. BREWER

Miss Bertha E. Brewer, of Stone street, the borough, and Edward A. Laing, of East Front street, were married at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck at his home on West Front street. The early hour was chosen in order that the couple might catch the morning train in an extended wedding trip. The couple was attended by Miss Ida B. Ayers, of Somerville, as bridesmaid, and Burlin J. Banks, of this city, as best man.

The bride wore a travelling gown with hat to match, and the bridesmaid's gown was of crepe de chine. She wore a large picture hat.

The ceremony was a simple one and immediately afterward Mr. and Mrs. Laing left in an automobile for Westfield, where they boarded the 10:15 train for New York. They will continue their wedding trip on the New York Central to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, from which point they will go to Toronto, the Thousand Islands, Montreal, Quebec, the White Mountains, Portland, Me., and Boston and then home by boat to New York. Upon their return they will reside at 724 Watchung avenue for the winter.

*The groom is engaged in the sta*tionery business on West Front street, and has been successful. He is a member of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E.; Anchon Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M.; Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, and Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M.

COUNTY'S TAX RATE IS FIFTY CENTS ON $100

*The Union County Board of Tax*ation in session at Elizabeth, today, announced the official rate of taxation, both personal and real to be $118,971,114, an increase of four and half millions over that of last year and the county rate for the coming year will be 49.953. The board is still at work determining the rates to be established in the various towns, boroughs and cities.

It is impossible to say at this time what Plainfield's rate will be, but from unofficial sources it is reliably stated that it will be close to $1.35. Last year's rate was $1.47, and it is known that efforts have been made to bring the local rate down to as near $1.35 as possible. It would seem, it is said, from the increase in personal and real valuations in this city that the hope of the local taxing board may be realized.

An Approaching Wedding.

Mrs. Alexander Campbell, of East Second street, has issued invitations for the wedding of her daughter, Miss Jessie Scott Campbell, to William Henry Tuers, of East Second street. The ceremony will take place at the bride's home on Tuesday afternoon, September 29, at 6 o'clock. The young couple will afterward make their home on Jackson avenue, Netherwood.

Motorcycle Accident.

Albert Matthews, of the borough, has been compelled to send his motorcycle back to the factory for repairs, because of an accident which befell him a few days ago. While riding out Park avenue, Mr. Matthews was thrown from the machine and suffered a number of severe cuts and bruises. The machine was put out of commission.

ELKS ANNUAL OUTING PROVES A BIG SUCCESS

The annual clambake and outing of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., Saturday afternoon, proved to be the most successful yet conducted by the organization. The attendance was close to the 200 mark and included a large delegation from Somerville while there were other visitors from Elizabeth, New Brunswick and New York.

The affair was held on the grounds of the Watchung Spring Water Company off Mountain avenue and continued from 10 o'clock in the morning until late in the evening. After the games were the principal diversions and kept everybody busy until the bake was served at 4 o'clock. Everything was steamed up in Rhedi, Island style under the supervision of "Al" Staats and Chef Erwin the Neighbor.

A baseball game between picked men made up from Plainfield and Somerville Elks was a big feature of the day. The locals had a battery composed of George Dupee and "Bill" Counihan, pitcher, and Walter McVaughton, catcher, while the pothers for the visitors were covered by Chester Cawley and Charles Wenckes. Each side rang in so many fielders that it was impossible to get the run of the lineup. The kindly scorekeeper claims that Somerville won on points because each side made nine runs.

The outing was arranged and conducted by a committee composed of Edson C. Westcott, George O. Stvens and Lawrence Marshall.

PLANS FOR ITALIAN EVANGELISTIC WORK

Plans are about completed for the establishment of an Italian Evangelistic Association in this city. Quarters have been leased on East Third street next to the Park chapel and it is expected that within a few weeks everything will be in readiness to hold meetings there. Fourteen denominations, including religious workers from this city and Bound Brook, are interested in the movement and in the hurry to get home as soon as possible, the wreck on the road was taken just outside the city. Instead of bringing up in Springfield as they had planned, they found themselves in a "pocket" at Pleasantville. The machine was turned around and at 7 o'clock had reached Westfield, where the change in motive of attendants. This work is the outgrowth of steps taken by members of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church about a year ago to provide Protestant services for such Italians as are not identified with any denomination. Canvass was made and the results showed that there are hundreds of Italians in this city and vicinity who did not belong to attend any church.

PLAINFIELD SOCCER TEAM SHUTS OUT THE METUCHEN.

The Plainfield Soccer Football Club opened the season on Saturday playing its first game with the Metuchen Club. The local team played in fine form, considering it was its first game. The ball was passed from one to another in championship style, and it is hoped that before the season is over Plainfield will draw conclusions with the best teams in New York and New Jersey.

In the first half, Plainfield scored three goals, two by J. Mitchell, inside right, and one by George McCombie, outside left. In the second half three additional goals were scored, one by J. Mitchell, inside right, one by R. Cale, outside right. J. Jamieson also scored one from center, making a total of six for Plainfield, while Metuchen failed to score.

The Plainfield team lined up as follows:

Goal, A. Stevenson; full-backs, Craig and L. Gould; half-backs, S. Turner, J. Craig, A. Cowley; forwards, J. Jamieson, J. Mitchell, R. Cale, S. Sutton, George McCombie. Linesman, D. Edington; referee, Fred Cross. Two forty-five minute halfs. Next Saturday the Plainfield club will play the strong New Brunswick F. C. on the South Second street grounds.

Y. M. C. A. NINE WINS TWO STRAIGHT GAMES.

The Y. M. C. A. played a double header on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, defeating the Highland A. in the first contest by a score of 7 to 0 and taking the second from the Mono A. C. by a score of 14 to 1. The Newark Y. M. C. A. team cancelled the game scheduled with the local association later in the week. Manager Listman was unable to get an out-of-town team on short notice. The first contest went seven innings. Jack Peacock held the Highlands down to one hit, made by Higgins, in the seventh. He got ten men and only twenty-seven men faced him in the seven innings.

Members of the Grand Jury.

Edwin S. Hooley, Dr. H. K. Carroll and Morris Abrams, of the borough, have been drawn on the Somerset County Grand Jury for the coming term. Charles Wheeler was chosen from North Plainfield Township.

AUTOISTS IN A CRASH

Judge Runyon and Two Other Plainfielders Hurled from Wrecked Machine.

THEY BARELY ESCAPE INJURY.

Magistrate Rendered Partially Unconscious by Contact With Flag Pole at Hickory Tree Cross Roads.

As the climax to a series of mishaps which befell them in a business trip by auto to the State Hospital at Morris Plains, Saturday afternoon, City Judge William N. Runyon, John A. Gaffney and Thomas M. Muir, met with an accident in which they narrowly escaped serious injury. The sudden breaking of the cylinder in the engine of their machine, demolished the entire mechanism and swung the car into a flag pole at Hickory Tree cross roads, a small village 7 miles south of Madison. All three men were hurled from the auto and Judge Runyon, who was driving, was thrown against the pole, rendering him partially unconscious. His companions rolled clear of obstructions, receiving only a few slight cuts and bruises. They immediately went to the aid of the disabled magistrate. With the help of villagers who were attracted to the scene by the crash, he was assisted to the home of Hiram Whistlecraft, on the Morris county turnpike, where he was revived by first-aid remedies. He was later given all possible attention and proceeded homeward by train and had fully recovered by this morning. The wrecked auto was lifted into a cornfield and later towed to Madison by garage employes.

The eventful trip was commenced at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and proceeded without incident until just before the asylum building was reached, when a front tire exploded. The auto was shoved to one side of the road to await the coming of a repair man from a Morristown garage but this was telephoned. The delay was overcome after an hour's delay and on concluding their business at the State institution, the Plainfielders commenced the returned trip. It was dusk when they passed through Morristown and in the hurry to get home as soon as possible, the wrong road was taken just outside the city. Instead of bringing up in Springfield as they had planned, they found themselves in a "pocket" at Pleasantville. The machine was turned around and at 7 o'clock had reached Westfield, where the change in motive was given by the auto engine that something was wrong. Judge Runyon immediately slowed down and was just at the cross roads when the crash occurred.

The entire mechanism seemed to smash and was rendered impossible for the reverse to work. The driver attempted to keep the car in the road but it wobbled as though the steering gear was gone and before any of the frightened occupants could get a firm grip, the flag pole in the center of the green was hit. Muir was in the rear and landed on the grass while the others were pitched forward and Judge Runyon came in contact with the pole. But for the fact that the speed had been reduced he would undoubtedly have been fatally hurt.

The crash made by the breaking machinery and the collision was heard by residents in the vicinity and a dozen or more men were quickly on the scene. A question directed at one of them enlightened the autoists as to where they were, a fact that was missed at the time of the accident. Madison was gotten on the telephone and an auto sent out took the three men into the town. They proceeded from there over the Lackawanna to Newark and reached home late Saturday night. A garage employe declared the misstep in the engine to have been caused by a lack of oil in the cylinder.

Birthday Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Terry, of Park avenue, entertained a few of their friends last Friday evening in honor of John Terry's birthday. A delightful evening was spent playing games, music and singing. Among the guests were Miss Anna De Haven, of Scawaren; Miss Florence Tappendorf, of Elizabeth and the Misses Florence Johnson, Sadie Terry, Harriette Terry, Alice Hooper, Mrs. W. S. Terry, Mr. and Fred Mellick, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Terry, Mr. Orville Freeman, Mr. Frank Kelly, Andrew Conway, Monroe Terry, John Terry and Frank Terry.

Firemen Return.

William McCullough, Captain Edmund H. Terry and David Tenny returned from Atlantic City on Saturday night. They have been attending the State meeting of the New Jersey Firemen's Relief Association. Chief Howard Woolston and his wife will remain a week longer.

Women's Tennis Tournament.

Play for the women's singles championship tennis tournament will begin on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. All entries should be made to Miss Sarah Schuyler, 319 East Seventh street, telephone number 265-J, not later than Friday night.

'TWAS A BASEBALL GAME

Bachelors Show the Benedicts, at Watchung Hunt Club, How to Play.

IT WAS AN AMUSING CONTEST.

Single Men Pile Up Ten Runs While Married Ones Get Four—

Many Features of the Struggle.

Numerous baseball games have been played in Plainfield this season, but none that compared with the one witnessed at the home of the Watchung Hunt Club, Saturday afternoon. Foolishly thinking that they could win, the married members of the club challenged those of single blessedness to a contest, the losing team to pay for the dinners.

The married men depended on Lockwood and Butler as their pitchers, while Gilbert Fletcher as a backstop, assisted by W. B. Tyler, who captured the foul balls. Duncan Bulkley, who can pitch some, was in the box for the single men and Morris Dumont was the receiver. Morris admitted that he had not played a game in fifteen years, but he was on the job and nothing escaped.

The bachelors started the first inning by making three runs, but this did not discourage their opponents, having overcome more difficult obstacles than that. In the third inning they succeeded in getting a run, which was scored by Mr. Dickinson. When half way home from third he fell down and rolled in. The umpire declared him safe. The game was growing a little monotous from lack of runs and the bachelors thought they would chalk up three more, which they did in the fifth inning. To this they added two in the seventh, and two in the eight, while the married men annexed one in the seventh and during a great rally in the ninth tallied two more, making a total of four.

Gordon Abbott, who handled the indicator, was suffering from a severe cold and it was difficult for the players or the large number of spectators to hear his decision. This often complicated affairs and threatened to break up the game.

There were no end of amusing incidents. For instance, Bruce Lachlan who has the reputation of being with Roosevelt's Rough Riders was supposed to play centre field, but he insisted in standing on second base, leaving the centre garden unprotected. When at the bat he held his stick as though he was about to shoot a Filipino, and when called out on strikes, declared that "those pesky foul strikes were a nuisance for a man could never tell when he was out."

On several occasions, Duncan Bulkley, who throws left-handed, caught base-runners, and Harry Lovell again threatened to break up the game by declaring: "Mr. Umpire, I insist that the pitcher is balking." Frequently, Umpire Abbott found it necessary to change his decision to the players, but no serious objections were offered.

Harvey Fisk gave an exhibition in the ninth inning with "Apple Jack." After hitting the ball, he started to make the circuit. The hurdle over Ottersen, who covered first base, knocking him off his pins and cleared second base, and short-stop with several feet to spare, never stoping until he reached the third station. He complete demoralized the whole infield and it was several minutes before the players recovered their composure.

Despite the quantities of oatmeal water supplied the players were frequently overcome and a waiter was in constant attendance with a large bottle of smelling salts. The game was concluded shortly before dark and the teams adjourned to the clubhouse where the victors and defeated ones enjoyed a dinner at the expense of the latter. The score of 10 to 4 in favor of the bachelors has been placed in a conspicuous part of the clubhouse, but the married men declare they will reverse it next year.

This is the score of the game:

Bachelors.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Wildey, s. s.	2	2	1	0	0
Wells, r. f.	2	1	0	1	0
Brown, 2b	0	0	2	3	0
Dumont, c	2	2	8	4	0
E. Stockton, 3b	2	0	0	0	2
Mellick, 1b	0	0	12	0	1
H. Fisk, r. f.	1	1	0	0	0
Ivins, c. f.	1	2	1	0	0
Bulkler, p	0	0	2	14	1
	10	6	27	23	5

Benedicts.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Fletcher, c	0	0	6	3	1
Ring, 2b	0	1	6	2	2
Lockwood, p, lf	1	0	0	7	5
Rae, s. s.	0	0	1	3	1
H. E. Bulley, 1b	1	2	3	0	0
Ottersen, 1b	0	1	3	7	1
Lovell, 3b	0	1	1	1	2
R. Lachlan, c. f.	0	0	0	0	1
W. B. Tyler, c. f.	0	1	0	0	0
Greason, r. f.	1	2	0	0	0
	4	9	24	17	7

Bachelors .....3 0 0 0 3 2 2 x—10
Benedicts .....0 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 2—4

GOTHAMITES VS. QUAKERS IN R.R. BALL CONTEST

Employes at the New York and Jersey City offices of the New Jersey Central journed to Philadelphia, Saturday afternoon, to witness the second game of the series between the representative teams from the Metropolitan end of the line and the team from the Philadelphia offices of the company. No more loyal band of rooters ever cheered the Giants on their victory, than those which cheered for the inter-city team.

The defeat administered by the Philadelphia team at Communipaw on August 15, still rankled in the breasts of the New York-Jersey City boys and they were determined to win, which they did by a score of 6 to 3. Excitement throughout the contest was at a high heat. When the dust had cleared away in the ninth inning the New Yorkers found victory tucked away in their bat bag.

During the contest the entertainment committee of the Philadelphia association looked out for the comfort of the visitors, and ice cream, coffee and sandwiches being served on the field for the rooters who could not tear themselves away. The more sedate and reserved found ice cream, coffee and sandwiches in abundance at the clubhouse nearby. There was also music and bowling as extra attractions.

Edward Conover, chairman of the baseball association committee, had charge of the New York-Jersey City arrangements, while F. T. Dickinson, chairman of the association and assistant to W. G. Besler, was here, there and everywhere, looking out for the comfort of all. Edward Dunn, chairman of the board of governors, was another busy man in helping to make things pleasant. Those who took the trip appreciated the company's courtesy in furnishing free transportation to all employes, two coaches being attached to the 1 o'clock Philadelphia hourly train. The return trip was started at 6:16, the train stopping to let the employes off at their own stations. The score by innings is as follows:

N. Y.-J. C.....0 2 2 0 0 0 2 0 0—6
Philadelphia ....0 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 1—3

Batteries—Seifht and Culvert; Riley and King.

HAVERLY REMOVED FROM HOSPITAL TO HIS HOME

Charles Haverly, of East Front street, Scotch Plains, who was injured at the Elizabeth Avenue Station, of the New Jersey Central, at Elizabeth, Monday, was removed to his home from Alexian Brothers' hospital, during the afternoon. When taken to the hospital he was unconscious but when he came too he insisted on being taken home. He was placed in a trolley and Dr. Cooper, of Westfield, accompanied him to Scotch Plains.

Mr. Haverly has been employed by the New Jersey Central for a number of years to do repair work about the stations. It was while carrying a heavy piece of timber across the tracks in Elizabeth that a train came along and struck the end projecting over the tracks. The force of the blow knocked Mr. Haverly down and besides receiving cuts about the face and head, it is said his legs were injured. Although his injuries are not considered serious it will be several weeks before he will be able to resume work.

MEN'S SINGLES RESULTS AT THE COUNTRY CLUB.

The men's singles championship tennis tournament was started at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, when the preliminary, first and second rounds were played. In the preliminary round H. L. De Forest defeated H. S. Brown, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2; W. B. Cragin, Jr., defeated H. J. Cochrane, 6-4, 6-2, and T. M. Day won from J. D. Williams by default.

In the first round W. L. Righter deefated W. Lester Glenney, 8-6, 6-1; Owen H. Fleming, defeated Daniel Runkle, 6-0, 6-0; J. R. Shoemaker defeated C. A. Ludlow, 6-3, 6-3; W. B. Cragin, Jr., defeated H. E. De Forest, 6-0, 6-0; C. B. Tyler defeated T. M. Day, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1; W. Wadsworth defeated L. M. Mead, 6-2, 6-1; A. D. Beers deefated Arthur Lovell, 6-0, 6-1, and S. W. Merrihew, defeated T. M. Day, 3d, 6-2, 6-0.

In the second round W. L. Righter defeated Owen H. Fleming, 6-2, 6-1; W. B. Cragin, Jr., defeated J. R. Shoemaker, 6-0, 6-0; W. Wadsworth defeated C. B. Tyler, 6-3, 6-3, and A. D. Beers, 6-2, 6-2. The semi-finals and finals will be played on Saturday.

Falls Heir to $50,000.

Miss Lillian Frain, eighteen years old, of No. 35 Clover street, Newark, has fallen heir to $50,000 left by her uncle, George McEvoy, who died recently in New York. The estate is a valuable one, the widow receiving most of it, but a nephew also gets $100,000.

Wool Gathering.

Nurse (announcing the expected) —Professor, it's a little boy.

Professor (absent-mindedly) —Well, ask him what he wants.—Boston Transcript.

BIG FIELD OUT ON THE COUNTRY CLUB'S LINKS

The largest field since last spring was out at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, there being more than seventy-five contestants on the course. The weather conditions were perfect for the contests and many low scores were returned throughout the day. The scheduled event was the weekly competition for the fall handicap cups, Class A and B, and the competition was close. In Class A, Arthur won the first three points with a net score of 74, while R. S. Rowland finished second with a 76 and R. G. Morse with third with a 77.

The play among the Class B contestants was just as close. C. W. King taking first three points with a net score of 77, George S. Clay two points with a 78 and W. F. Merrill one point with a 79. The scores of the point-winners follow:

Class A—Arthur Murphy, 84, 10-74; R. S. Rowland, 85, 7-76; R. G. Morse, 91,14-77.

Class B—C. W. King, 104, 27-77; George S. Clay, 105, 27-78; W. F. Merrill, 104, 25-79.

Following the play in the evening *the weekly dinner-dance was enjoy*ed by a large number of members and guests. These weekly social functions have been exceptionally popular with the members and now that a majority have returned from their summer outing they are more largely attended than ever.

SATURDAY'S GOLF ON PARK GOLF COURSE

The interest in the play for the challenge trophies, as well as the weekly competition for the President's and Golf Club cups, at the Park Golf Club, continues. On Saturday for trophy number three E. E. Gano, holder, defeated Dr. A. W. Anderson, challenger, by 2 up, and for trophy number five, Leon R. Thurlow, challenger, defeated W. V. Byard, holder, by 2 up.

A large field engaged in play for the President's and Golf Club cups, the eligible scores being as follows: Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 96, 11-85; W. V. Gano, 89, 0189; W. E. Lough, 110, 20-90; Leon R. Thurlow, 100, 8-91; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 99, 7-92; Walter C. McNaughton, 93, 1-92; E. E. Gano, 92, 0-93; Dr. A. W. Anderson, 109, 7-93; W. V. Byard, 102, 9-93.

STANDING OF TEAMS.

With a percentage of .805 the Y. M. C. A. team still leads the local baseball teams. The standing to date is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Pc.
Y. M. C. A.	17	4	.809
St. Mary's	11	3	.785
Plainfield A. C.	20	8	.714
Clinton Avenue	13	7	.659
Highland A. C.	14	8	.636
Mono A. C.	9	6	.600
Scotch Plains	10	7	.588
Crescent F. C.	8	6	.571
New Market F. C.	9	8	.529
Monroe Avenue	11	10	.523
Dunellen F. C.	10	10	.500
Ionia Club	8	8	.500
Lincoln A. C.	6	7	.461
South Plainfield	6	8	.438
Jr. O. U. A. M.	6	13	.315
Climax A. C.	2	11	.153

GRANDMOTHER'S GINGERBREAD

A well-made gingerbread is much better cake on certain occasions than a fruit cake, and is quite superior to a coarsely made cake. A chocolate icing is particularly nice on a molasses sponge cake flavored with ginger. To make this cake put into a bowl two cupfuls of molasses, a cup and three-quarters lard and butter mixed or all butter, a tablespoonful of ginger and the same amount of *hot water poured over a tablespoon*ful of soda. Stir in enough flour to make a batter about as stiff as for a sponge cake.

It should be soft enough to spread out when poured in a biscuit pan. As gingerbread burns easily, it should protected at top and bottom. An asbestos griddle set under the pan is a protection against scorch. When the cake is done lift the pan out of the oven without jarring, and let it remain in the tin until nearly cold. For the icing, stir two squares of unsweetened grated chocolate with two to five tablespoonfuls sugar. Add three tablespoonfuls of boiling water, and stir the mixture over the fire until smooth and glossy. Spread on evenly while the cake is a trifle warm, then let it remain in the pan until cold. Cut in squares and, when the icing is hard, lift it out.

Complain of West Front Street.

Owners of automobiles and horses who use West Front street to a considerable extent are complaining about the bad condition of the thoroughfare, especially that portion of the avenue. They declare that there is not a more important road leading in and out of the city and yet the street committee fail to keep it in as good repair as such constant travel demands. There are many who would like to see the street treated with either Tarvia or "Asphaltollene" believing that either preparation would tend to preserve the roadbed.

CLINTON AVE. DEFEATED

Rahway, Putting Up Great Game, Makes Things Merry in the Seventh Inning.

SCORE WAS THREE TO NOTHING

Home Club Got but Four Hits Off Plainfield Twirler— To Play Another Game.

The Clinton Avenues were taken into camp by Rahway at the latter place, Saturday afternoon, the score being 3 to 0. All of the damage was done in the seventh inning, when by a combination of a couple of hits, a couple of free passes by Randolph and a foozle by Jack Martin the Rahwegians succeeded in getting three runs over the pan. This was all they got, but it was enough to win a contest that was marked by close and exciting play throughout. In spite of the error by Jack Martin he and Emery were the particular stars, especially the latter, who had five assists without an error, besides getting a hit.

The home club could get but four hits off of Randolph, and it seemed as though the Plainfield aggregation was entitled to win. However, Clark, who allowed five hits, had his opponents completely mystified and they failed to bunch their bingles at the time when they were the most good. It could be difficult to find two pitchers more evenly matched.

The Clinton Avenues went to Rahway with just nine men and Manager Dorflinger did not have a substitute to take O'Loughlin's place, when the latter broke his finger sliding to second base. "Billy" pluckily played the game out, although he suffered great pain. Rahway played a snappy game from start to finish and it was evident that they did not intend to let victory get away from them if possible. The teams have played three contests and Rahway has taken two of them. Another game has been scheduled to be played on Crescent Oval in October. The score:

Rahway.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Alberts, c. f.	0	0	2	0	0
Goodwill, l. f.	0	1	3	0	0
Armstrong, 2b	0	1	4	1	1
R. Potter, 1b	0	0	5	0	1
Crosby, s. s.	0	1	1	1	2
L. Potter, c.	0	0	2	1	1
Madden, r. f.	1	0	2	0	0
Freeman, p.	1	0	0	6	0
Clark, p.	1	1	1	2	0
	3	4	27	7	5

Clinton Avenue.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Barnes, 1b	0	0	14	0	0
R. Martin, 2b	0	1	0	2	0
Emery, 3b	0	1	1	5	0
J. Martin, s. s.	0	1	2	2	0
Boelsley, l. f.	0	1	3	0	1
O'Loughlin, r. f.	0	1	0	1	0
Scott, c.	0	0	1	0	0
Schott, l. f.	0	0	2	0	0
Randolph, p.	0	0	1	1	0
	0	5	24	13	2

Rahway .....0 0 0 0 0 0 3 x—3
Clinton Ave.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0

Earned runs—Rahway, 1. First base on balls—Off Randolph, 5; off Clark, 1. Struck out—By Randolph, 3; by Clark, 4. Left on bases—Clinton Avenue, 11; Rahway, 6. Wild pitches—Randolph and Clark. Stolen bases—Randolph, Armstrong, R. Potter, Freeman. First base on errors—Clinton Avenue, 5. Hit by pitcher—Clark. Time of game—1h 50m. Umpire—Mr. White.

AUTO LOSES A WHEEL, OCCUPANT THROWN OUT

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Miller and son, Russell, of Orchard place, figured in an automobile accident near New Brunswick, Monday, in which Mrs. Miller received a severe shaking up and at first was thought to have been severely injured. But for the fact that the machine was being driven at a moderate rate of speed the result might have been much worse.

The party had been to South River and were on the return when the right front wheel became loosened in some way and dropped off. The auto ran a moderate rate of speed and Mrs. Miller was thrown out but the others kept their seats. Mr. Miller, who was driving, quickly brought the machine to a stop before any further damage was occasioned.

Mrs. Miller was given attention in the neighborhood and was afterward able to return home by trolley. The shaking up she received left her in a nervous condition and she had not fully recovered today.

Military Prisoner Escapes.

Sergeant Arthur Rice, who is under a three years' military prison sentence for forgery, escaped from the guardhouse at Fort Hancock on Saturday night. He has not yet been captured. Rice was recently court martialled and found guilty of having issued forged brass checks, such as are used at the post exchange for payment of purchases and often circulated as coin among the men.

THE HAPPY WIFE OF A HAPPY HUSBAND.

It is not always the wife who stands behind her husband's counter or shares his office or labors with him, shoulder to shoulder, who is the greatest help to a man.

Many women distinctly feminine, and, to all appearances, hopelessly unbusinesslike, are first-class aids to their busy husbands and they seldom or never enter the shops, offices, or factories over which their husbands rule.

A woman blessed with the faculty of saying or doing the right thing at the right moment is bound to be a help to her husband. The woman who can make herself indispensable to her husband as his social mentor and coentertainer has many pleasures which the less tactful sisters miss.

Everyone recognizes as a bore the woman who is forever quoting the clever sayings of her husband and dwelling at length upon his good points, his success in business, and so on, but the wife who knows when to drop a hint that counts is really worth while.

No matter how lovingly united or how sweet their accord, husband and wife rarely have the same temperament, tendencies or tastes.

Their needs are different; their manner of looking at things is not identical, and in varying ways their individualities assert themselves.

Compromise makes matrimony not only union, but unison and unity.

The spirit of compromise does not mean continuous self-surrender and self-sacrifice; it does not mean ceasing to be a voice and becoming an echo; it does not imply or justify the loss or individuality, it means simply the instinctive recognition of the best way out of a difficulty, the quickest tacking to avoid a collision, the kindly view of tolerance in the presence of weakness and errors; the courage to meet an explanation half-way, the generosity to be first to apologize for a discord, the largeness of heart that does not fear a sacrifice of dignity in surrendering in the interests of the highest harmony of the two rather than the personal vanity of one.

THE BILL OF FARE.

The shortcake waits a moment on its way,
The watermelon hath a henceward trend,
The cantaloupe drops in, but not to stay—
The prune alone is faithful to the end.

—Cleveland News.

The shortcake hits your pocketbook for fair,
The melon strikes you near the belt, you see;
The cantaloupe is water mixed with rind,
The prune, I guess, is good enough for me.

—Yonkers Statesman.

O, lucky bard, there is no doubt that you
From boarding-house arrangements are immune;
I've bucked the game—so henceforth I exclaim:
"New Year's wish for me the festive prune!"

—Nashville American.

And why this talk of prunes and other things,
The while we say goodby to summer heat?
Thrice blessed the man whom tardy fortune brings
Enough, no matter what it is; to eat.

—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Gee, what a bluff you boys are putting up
About these summer things for folks to eat,
When all the while it was the brimming cup
That helped you put these verses on their feet.

—Florida Times-Union.

Women and Mountain Climbing.

The English Alpine Club has a canon in its bylaws that prevents women from becoming members, but the French Alpine Club admits any woman who proves herself worthy of making a record. Mrs. Bullock Workman has from 21,000 to 25,000 feet to her credit, and Miss Peck has gone to the Andes to beat her own record, which few men have equaled. Lucy Walker ascended the Matterhorn long before it was roped in; Mrs. E. P. Jackson and Miss Flossie Morse, the latter only 12 years old, have climbed Illimani. Peck has way of climbing. The Mazamas Club of the Pacific takes in the wives and sisters of the members, and women as well as men have made splendid records in the West.

Weakened on a Bet.

"Tell yer, I did."
"Will yer swear?"
"Yus!"
"Take yer oath?"
"Yus!"
"Bible oath?"
"Yus! Gran'ma's Bible!"
"Bet a penny?"
"Nar!"—Independent.

Attended Grangers' Picnic.

The Grangers' picnic held at Mount Bethel Saturday afternoon and evening was attended by a large number of Plainfielders. The affair was a big success and is to be made an annual outing.

FORM REPUBLICAN CLUB

North Plainfield G.O.P. Voters Organize with B. A. Hegeman as President.

SIXTY MEMBERS ENROLLED.

Alexander Milne and Dr. J. H. Cooley Vice-Presidents—To Hold Several Mass Meetings.

The Borough Republicans have organized to insure a sweeping party victory at the polls, having formed Monday night the North Plainfield Republican Club, of which former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., is president. At an enthusiastic meeting held last night at Saengerbund hall by more than 100 party workers, whose all factions joined harmoniously, officers were elected and plans made for the political fight.

Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley was given a rousing reception when he called the meeting to order. After stating the object of the call, he called for nominations for officers. Stephen B. Joseph offered the name of Henry C. McGee for temporary chairman and the latter's election was made unanimous. Mr. McGee made a ringing speech in which he pointed out the dangers of over-confidence and urged the Republican voters to unite for the supremacy of Republican principles and get the election of their chosen candidates in borough, county, State and nation.

Following his brief speech Chairman McGee called for nominations. Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., was nominated for president by John Schenck, and was quickly chosen for that office. Alexander Milne and Dr. Justus H. Cooley named by W. L. Smalley and Fred Williams, respectively, for the positions of first and second vice-presidents, were likewise chosen without opposition. Albert Tranchland was elected secretary, and on motion of Councilman William C. Smith, Councilman Lemuel B. Woolston was selected as treasurer.

The organization will be known as the North Plainfield Republican Club and from now until after the election will have its headquarters in Saengerbund hall, where several big mass meetings will be held. The building will be open every night to the club members. Sixty voters were enrolled last night as charter members, and double that number are expected to become members when the next meeting is held on Monday night, Sept. 21. President Hegeman did not attend the meeting last night but he has accepted the position and will announce his committees in a day or two. Arrangements have already been made to place a large transparency in front of the club headquarters.

RAILROAD STATION IS ROBBED DURING NIGHT.

When Station Agent Elwell opened the Central Railroad station at Califon Monday, he found the office had been ransacked by thieves during the night.

Entrance had been effected by removing a pane of window glass and unlocking the sash. Express packages were opened and the contents taken. The value of the packages are yet undetermined. A small amount of change in drawer was looked.

Last week theieves entered the freight station and stole a box of bologna. The next day the box and part of the contents were found in the woods, near the tracks between Califon and Hoffmans. A fire had been kindled there, and it was thought the theft was the work of tramps. Friday night thieves entered the Middle Valley freight station and stole twelve hams and two cases of corned beef. Entrance was effected by forcing the door.

Isaac H. Hoffman's creamery at Hoffmans, was also entered by forcing a lock Friday night. The thieves helped themselves liberally to milk and carried away some lactometers and measuring rods.

Plainfield A. C. Defeats Marion A. C.

The Plainfield A. C. defeated the Marion A. C. team of Lincoln avenue, Clinton Avenue grounds, Saturday afternoon, in a one-sided seven-inning contest by a score of 22 to 3.

MAGAZINE READERS

SUNSET MAGAZINE beautifully illustrated, good stories and articles about California and all the Far West. $1.50 a year

CAMERA CRAFT devoted each month to the artistic reproduction of the best work of amateur and professional photographers. $1.00 a year

ROAR OF A THOUSAND WONDERS a book of 75 pages, containing 120 colored and half-tone pictures upon spots in California and Oregon. $0.75

Total . . . $3.25

All for $1.50

Address all orders to SUNSET MAGAZINE, Flood Building, San Francisco

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing, Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner. Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. LITTELL

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $5,000.

Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. S. Arnold, } Vice-Pres
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January 10th will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us. Income to travel appointing agents, others for local work, looking after our interests. $900 salary guaranteed yearly; extra commissions and expenses, rapid advancement, old established house. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant, permanent position, liberal income. Further, New, brilliant lines. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS, 23 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

AGENTS—AN OPPORTUNITY!

"THE OLD WORLD AND ITS WAYS"

BY

William Jennings Bryan.

NOW READY FOR SOLICITORS.

Imperial Octavo Pages. Over 200 Superb Engravings from photographs taken by Mr. Bryan.

Recounts his trip around the world and his visits to all nations. The greatest book of travel ever written. The people are waiting for it. The agent's harvest. Outfit FREE—Send fifty cents to cover mailing and handling.

THE THOMPSON PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo. 7 26 3 6

W. R. CODDINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

DIED.

VAN HORN—At Newark, N. J., September 9, 1905, Margaret, wife of William Van Horn.

GRAYDON—Suddenly, at her residence, 221 West Eighth street, Hannah C. Graydon, widow of William Graydon.

BROWN—On Wednesday, September 9, 1905, Eliza Brown, widow of Thomas Brown.

PIERSON—At Plainfield, September 10, Israel C. Pierson, in the 65th year of his age.

GUYRE—*At Dunellen, N. J., on Sat*urday evening, September 12, Charles L. Guyre, aged 21 years and 8 months.

WEEKER—On Monday, September 14, 1908, Abby A., wife of George Weeker, in her 38th year.

Pegan Now Warden Dodd's Guest.

Herman Robinson, the colored boy who has a habit of annexing everything of value that isn't chained down, was taken to the county jail at Elizabeth yesterday, to await the action of the Juvenile court. The police are taking steps to have him committed to the Jamesburg Reform school as he is considered incorrigible.

JACK THE OLDEST DOG ALIVE.

He Was Born Nineteen Years Ago, But Refuses to Think of Dying.

Jack, a mongrel terrier, but a breed worth while, has been so used to fighting all his life that he will not die. Not he; he refuses to think of it, says the Boston Globe.

His father was a cross between an Irish terrier and a skye terrier and his mother a smooth-haired fox terrier. Glorious combination, a terrier of the terriers. He was born in Newton Lower Falls in March, 1889.

Bought for $5, his owner, to keep the peace in the family of Noah A. Plympton of Wellesley Hills, said that he had brought him home for the baby. On those terms and on those alone was he admitted to the household, which he has ruled since to such an extent that the members are grateful that he does not know about the discussion which so nearly kept him from the place where he belonged.

Faithful, affectionate, good to look at, with his expressive eyes and shaggy hair, intelligent to a degree, good-tempered, though quick to resent an insult like the accident of having moved one's foot anywhere near him, Jack has been a cheering companion and a devoted friend.

And Jack has had the unique honor of being present at a Wellesley college function, to which no man ever has been admitted. He came home decked out with ribbons.

CARRIES WIRELESS IN POCKET.

Boy Who Can Telegraph Home as He Walks Along the Road.

Walter J. Willenborg is a boy who has decided to conquer the problems of wireless telegraphy. He has his own laboratory adjoining his bedroom. He has constructed a wireless receiving station at the top of the house.

Curious to see what could be done on a small scale, says St. Nicholas, he invented and made a portable telegraphic station that he could carry about in his pockets. From the top button of his coat he hung a slender wire that reached to the ground and so arranged that when he walked along a country road the wire would trail upon the ground behind him.

In his pocket he carried a little battery. On a bit of board as big as your hand he placed a complete wireless transmitting apparatus, induction coil, buzzer and all, supporting this fairy telegraph station by fastening it to a belt around his waist.

From this traveling station he sent messages from a country road to his folks at home eight miles away in town, telling them where he was and where he was going and that he would reach home in time for supper.

War Is Evil

War suspends the rules of moral obligation, and what is long suspended is in danger of being totally abrogated. Civil wars strike deepest of all into the manners of the people. They vitiate their politics; they corrupt their morals; they pervert even the natural taste and relish of equity and justice. By exciting us to consider our fellow creatures in a hostile light, the whole body of our nation becomes gradually less dear to us. The very names of affection and kindred, which were the bond of charity while we agreed, become new incentives to hatred and rage when the communion of our country is dissolved.—Edmund Burke.

Arctic Dog Life.

Nowhere in the world has the dog such unrestricted right of way as in our most northerly possession—Alaska. In winter, when the more than 600,000 square miles of territory are sealed up in solid ice, dogs are almost the sole means of getting from place to place—in fact, they seem necessary to life itself.

The aristocrats of Arctic dog life are the mail teams in the service of the United States government. They are to-day a superior breed to the dogs employed some half dozen years ago before great gold discoveries demanded increased mail service.—St. Nicholas.

Could Find the Way.

The theater was in an unfashionable, congested part, and the visitor from afar had much difficulty in finding it. To the man in the box office he made complaint. "You have no direction painted up to point the way. At the end of this villainous street is a notice, 'To the Baptist Chapel,' but never a word as to your theater." The man at the pay box weighed his words. "The chapel-goers may need directing; our patrons find the way easily enough." There may or may not be a moral to the tale!

Estimated Age of the Earth.

The highest authorities place the total number of years elapsed since, in the light of best geological evidence, man first appeared upon earth at 240,000. Of this, 74,000 belong to the pre-glacial epoch, 100,000 years to the glacial, 44,000 to the interval between the glacial epoch and the prehistoric and neolithic, 10,000 years to the two last named epochs, and 6,000 years to the time elapsed since the beginning of the historic period in Egypt.

Exempla Gratia.

"It is not enough," said the man who was fond of moralising, "that a man should be prudent most of the time; he must be so all the time. The foolish action of a few minutes may spoil the prospects of a lifetime."

"That's so," put in Henpeck, "it only takes a few minutes to get married."

COULD DIE HAPPY.

Mr. Doolin—Pat.
O'Houlihan—Yis, Mike.
Mr. D.—I'm dying.
O'H.—Yis sire, Mike?
Mr. D.—Without revenge on Terry Googin for what he said about me when Bridget chucked him to be my bride.
O'H.—Thrue for you, Mike.
Mr. D.—Pat!
O'H.—Yis, Mike.
Mr. D.—Aire yis still me frind?
O'H.—I aire, Mike.
Mr. D.—Whin I'm gone will yer see that me Bridget marries Terry?
O'H.—I will, Mike.
Mr. D.—Sind fer th' priest, Pat.

Who Was the Man?

While walking upon an unfrequented path I met an aged man who was carrying two lighted lanterns. Recognizing him, I cried:

"Ah, Diogenes, isn't it about time you gave up your search for an honest man?"

"Friend," answered he, "I am often tempted to desist; but you mistake the object of my quest; I found an honest man several centuries ago. I am hunting now for an absolutely truthful woman."

And he passed on, weeping; for he had far to go.—Life.

The Reason.

The speaker was plainly excited.

"Why in thunder!" he shouted, "did you misrepresent the points of that dog you sold me? You claimed that he was a coon-dog—a coon-dog! Why, he couldn't trail a polecat across a tennis court."

"Well, well, well!" muttered the person addressed, "that's strange—very strange. While it is true that I have never hunted coons myself with that dog, I was certain that he was a coon-dog because he wasn't worth a cuss at anything else."—Judge.

Saved the Pie.

Our Landlady—It's the strangest thing in the world! Do you know, our dear old pet cat disappeared very suddenly yesterday. Excuse me, Mr. Rudolph; will you have another piece of rabbit pie?

Mr. Rudolph (promptly)—No, thank you!

Our Landlady (an hour later)—That's three more pies saved. This season will be a profitable one indeed!

Not the Same at All.

Harrygirl—Clara, dearest, you are the only woman I ever really and truly loved.

Clara Dearest—You said that very same thing only last week to May Blossom. She told me so herself.

Harry—True, but that was only a dress rehearsal; this is the first performance.

FRANKNESS.

Asker—Is your wife entertaining this season?

Tellit—Not very.—Chicago Daily News.

His Foolish Fear.

"The only thing I am afraid of, darling," he said, "is that we shall not be able to live on my salary."

"Pooh!" replied the brave girl, "don't let that worry you. Remember that I shall not be a mere, useless luxury, as many a man's wife is. Didn't I earn $7.40 writing for the children's department of a ladies' magazine last year?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

It Might Pay.

Great Editor (meditatively)—I wonder if it wouldn't pay for us to start a religious department in our Sunday edition?

Managing Editor—It might. I've got a scrapbook at home full of first-rate jokes about bishops.—New York Weekly.

Business with Pleasure.

Richman—And you intend yours to be a cemetery of moundless graves?

Cemetery Promoter—Precisely so, sir. The graveyard has long been the pleasure resort of countless people and our idea is to create a combined cemetery and golf links.

More Than Surprised.

Bacon—We were tramping through the woods, last summer, and suddenly we came to a lake four miles wide!

Egbert—And you were surprised?

"Surprised? Why, we couldn't get over it."—Yonkers Statesman.

The Proper Relation.

"I say," said the disgusted old toper, "where's this prohibition business going to end? Is legislation being directed by the grandmothers?"

"No," said the cackling idiot, "by the antis."—Baltimore American.

The Material Convenient.

"There seems to be such uncompromising hostility in this Congo affair. Can't the disputants stretch a point?"

"They ought to; it is all over rubber,"—Baltimore American.

HARRY K. LISTER
161 NORTH AVENUE.

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE A VICTOR or an EDISON TALKING MACHINE IN YOUR HOME?

ASK ABOUT OUR EASY PAYMENT PLAN.

RECORDS AND SUPPLIES FOR ALL MACHINES.

Vail JEWELER AND OPTICIAN

103 Park Ave.,
calls your attention to his
Rimless Glasses.
They Look Good and You See Good.

KODAKS AND SUPPLIES
Developing, Printing and Enlarging.
The Photo Store,
129 North Avenue.

JOHN WINZENREID,
Furniture and Freight Express.
Moving Vans and Storage.
312 Lee Place. 'Phone 640-R.

TITUS H. LAURY
MASON AND BUILDER.
Office, 323 East Front Street.
Tile Setting, Mantel and Front Work.
Telephone 464-L.

The Rayo Lamp
Cannot be excelled for its bright and steady light, simple construction and absolute safety. Equipped with latest improved burner. Made of brass throughout, and nickel plated. Every lamp warranted. Write to nearest agency if not at your dealer's.
STANDARD OIL COMPANY, Incorporated.

HOAGLAND'S
Express—Baggage—Transfer.
Office 205 Park Ave.
Tel. 833-W Home Tel. 648-L.

DR. WORMLEY,
DENTIST.
Removed to 308 E. Third St., Plainfield, N. J.
8 13 1m

TURKISH BATHS!
TAKE ONE
Ladies Mornings, Gentlemen Afternoons
Take Trolley to Sanitarium, Somerset Street.

Announcement to the Public!
I beg to announce that I will open a First-Class Ladies' Tailoring Establishment at
327 Watchung Avenue on or about Sept. 12. Hoping you will give me a call. Respectfully PHILLIP COHEN
LATE OF FIFTH AVENUE

PLAINFIELD WINDOW CLEANING CO.
Renovating—Offices, stores and private residences. Service day or night. Furniture, china and glassware packed for shipping.
WM. A. KLINE, 611 W. 3d St.

NOTICE.
If you are dissatisfied with your paper service call on or call up.
THE HUSTLER,
William H. Olmstead, 321 Watchung Avenue, near Fourth St. Successor to D.H. Maney & Son
68-J Either 'Phone 68-J

COAL DEALERS.

Difference In Coal.
All coals may look alike to some people, but compare our "Lehigh" Coal with the Coal you bought somewhere else and you will see a difference.
You will notice that our Coal Burns Brighter, Gives More Heat, and Lasts Longer than any other Coal you ever bought before.
Boice, Runyon & Co.,
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials.
Park Ave., opp. North Ave.
Plainfield N. J.

JOS. HARRIGAN
OLD COMPANY'S LEHIGH COAL
929 South Avenue
Telephone 193.
The best time to order your winter supply of
COAL
is now. Do not forget that
NASH
is ready to supply you.
Telephone 357-W.
Evenings 371-W.
OFFICE—686 SOUTH SECOND ST.

TenEyck & Harris,
Dealers' Inn.
LEHIGH VALLEY COAL.
Office: Bowley's Drug Store, 218 West Front Street. Telephone 22-L.

Coal I have on hand some very fine Hard and Medium Coal, All kept under shelter. Prices Right. Coal
25 cents a ton reduction on cash orders
L. A. RHEAUME,
148 East Fourth St. Telephone 448-W.
Yard, 674 South Second St. Telephone 326.

GEORGE O. SEVER
747 West Front St.

R. L. CLINE
(Successor to C. H. Rugg & Co.)
Best Quality Lehigh Coal
Yard and office 430 West Third St. Tel. 95.

Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing.
Monthly Contracts.
Pressing called for and delivered.
EVENING DRESSES A SPECIALTY.
Ladies' Waists Cleaned, 35 cents upwards
Gents' Suits Cleaned $1.50
We do our own work at
M. A. Brown's, 218 West Second St.

William H. Pope,
ELECTRICIAN.
All kinds of electrical work done at reasonable prices.
116 NORTH AVENUE.

Wm. H. Kirch,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
66 Dean Street.
Tel. 608 J.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

ALEX. LUSARDI,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits, Choice Confectionery, Nuts, Cigars, etc.
211 W. Front St. Tel. 507-W.

OYSTERS! OYSTERS!
They R in Season. The Very Best
Also Choice Meats, Poultry and Fish. Hams and Bacon.
F. Neidig, 94 Somerset St. Telephone 781

E. B. Maynard's
Tonsorial Parlors. Electrical Massage for face and hair. First-class work. Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.
Tel. No. 754-R.
141 NORTH AVENUE.

JOHN WIRTH
(Successor to Henry Lotka.)
Bakery and Confectionery.
201-203 West Front St. Tel. No. 725.
All orders delivered at short notice.

Blue Stone Sidewalks.
If you want the best Blue Stone sidewalks, curbs, etc., call on
J. W. Manhattan,
50 Elm St.

DRUGGISTS.

For Your Summer Vacation!
We have a full line of fresh summer articles which will please the most particular person. Everything is of the finest quality and at prices that suit. Our prompt delivery to all parts of the city will please everyone.
C. M. Nagle's Pharmacy,
Front and Grove Sts. 'Phone 516.

Complete Line of
REXALL
Goods at
MILLER'S PHARMACY
Park Ave. & 8th St. Tel. 393.

Hodge's Pharmacy.
Y. M. C. A. Building.
BELLE MEAD SWEETS.
Tel. 62.

HOTELS.

WETUMPKA INN
Cor. East 7th & Washington Sts.
Open October 1st
NEW IN ALL ITS APPOINTMENTS
Management formerly of Hotel Waldron, 7th Avenue, Asbury Park, N. J.
WRITE FOR LITERATURE
at either above addresses.
E. G. HULLING, Prop'r.

HOTEL WALDORF
EAST FRONT STREET
HENRY WINDHAM, Prop.
Gottfried Kruger's Extra Beer on draught. Imported Wines, Liquors and Cigars. Hotel accommodations and private Dining-Room.

HOTEL KENSINGTON
(Licensed.)
WM. J. POULSON, Prop.
107-109-111 North Avenue.
Everything New and Up-to-date
An Inspection Solicited.

HOTEL IROQUOIS
Club breakfast from 6:30 to 9:30 a. m. Business Men's Lunch from 11:30 to 2:30 p. m.
ROOMS
First floor, $1 single; $1.50 double.
Second floor, 75c single; $1 double.
Third floor, 50c single; 75c couble.
A LA CARTE 6:30 UNTIL 1 A.M.
Special Sunday Dinner from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m. 50c

BEST VALUE IN GROCERIES.
Our stock of Groceries is constantly renewed with the purest and finest of goods.
Every table delicacy that you desire may be obtained at a moderate price.
Also the choicest fruits and vegetables of the season.
W. W. DUNN,
THE PARK GROCER,
DUER STREET AND LINCOLN PLACE.

Central R. R. News Stands
You can get it at the C. R. R. News Stands, both depots, Plainfield Daily Press, on sale at both stands. Philadelphia Morning, Evening and Sunday Papers. Largest assortment of Magazines and Weekly Papers in the city. Back numbers procured. Brooklyn Papers, English Publications. Daily and Sunday Papers delivered. Orders left at stand receive prompt attention. Open Sundays.
F. M. WAGNER, Manager.

We have on hand a large quantity of BIG TIMBER from 6x6 to 12x14 that we will offer for $20 per thousand; any length. All kinds of BEAMS from a 2x4 to 3x12 $20.
A. KANE
FILLMORE AVENUE.

McCULLOUGH'S STEAM MILL,
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield, N. J.
R. H. McCULLOUGH, Prop.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing, Turning, etc.
Estimates cheerfully furnished.

HENRY WIERENGA
Residence 'Phone 817-J.
Furniture, Freight, Baggage Express and Rigger.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.
Try a box of
DOBBINS' CIGARS.

JOHN WIRTH
(Successor to Henry Lotka.)
Bakery and Confectionery.
201-203 West Front St. Tel. No. 725.
All orders delivered at short notice.

Kindling and Grate Wood.
Cedar Posts and Bean Poles. Prompt delivering. Orders received at
60 SOMERSET STREET.
JOHN MOBUS,
P. O. Box 320.

REAL ESTATE
Bought, Sold and For Rent.
J. SACHAR,
721 WEST THIRD STREET.

SMALLEY BROS.
147 North Ave.
BUTCHERS
Our Specialty, Berkshire Pork.
Try Our Berkshire Sausage Made on Premises.
Roasting and Broiling Chickens a Specialty.
Orders called for and delivered.
Telephone 53-A. 5 1 tf

The Southern Restaurant,
232 West Second Street, corner Madison Avenue, now under new management. Meals served at-all hours a la carte and table d'hote. Our own home bread and pastrys, all home cooking. The choice of everything is bought for the tables. Our price is reasonable. The place is now under the management of the well known New York caterer, E. H. Royster. Manager. Tel. 321-J. 1 18 tf

J. C. POPE & CO.,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
110 E. Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing, Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for Sewer Connections
125 Watchung Ave. Rear.

L. Moraller & Son,
Watchmakers and Jewelers.
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry
Fine Watch and Clock Repairing a Specialty.
219 Park Ave. Plainfield, N. J

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.

We call your attention to our fine display of
New Wall Papers.
We can't describe the patterns, but they are new, striking and effective, and with our large assortment we are sure to please.
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
Woolston & Buckle,
145 North Avenue.

SUMMER
is nearly over
WINTER
will soon be here.
Now is the time to have your house painted before the frost and snow hits it, then it will harden and be looking all right for
SPRING
Jas. C. Hansen,
is the man to do it. Consult him, he will cheerfully give you an estimate.
Dealer in Wallpaper, Paints, Oils, Glass etc.
141 East Front Street

1908 Wall Papers.
IMPORTED & AMERICAN GOODS
C. CONOVER & CO.
Decorators, Painters and Paperhangers, Window and Plate Glass.
115 Elmwood Pl. Tel. 1145

W. S. CHEEVER
1326 Park Ave.
Painting INTERIOR DECORATING. WALL PAPER of every description at the Lowest Prices.
'Phone No. 538-J.

Decorating of quality
Is our business. Our prices are moderate in consistency with
FIRST-CLASS WORK.
The latest, most up-to-date ideas and suggestions in Foreign and Domestic Wall Hangings, ranging from inexpensive to highest grade made.
POLK & CO.
138 North Avenue,
Plainfield, N. J.

FURNITURE.
Repaired and upholstered. Equal to new. Send a postal to
HARRISON, 1230 CENTRAL AVE.
Cabinet maker, Polisher, Mattress Maker.

AZIENZA
cures pimples and all inflammation of the skin. Used for sale by all druggists. Medicinal and toilet—50 and 25 cents.
CREAM.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

To clean leather, such as purses, handbags, suitcases, undressed leather and colored kins, use a reliable wallpaper cleaner. Mix as directed and apply in the usual manner, rubbing one way only.

Save old paraffin from jellies and use like, melt and mold in party pans, and it will be useful for smoothing the irons.

In the country and small towns, where gas or electric light is not to be found, hang a lantern from a hook screwed into the bottom of an upper window sash on the outside. The light in the room may be regulated by raising or lowering the shade. This obviates the heat and odor produced by a kerosene lamp in the room.

Afternoon tea is the simplest of social functions. All that is really demanded is a cup of tea, thin bread and butter, and, if you choose, a little plain cake. To these on the weekly reception day one usually adds scones, tea cakes, sandwiches, lemon, sugar and cream, with the tea equipage. Also, if you like, a plate of fancy biscuits.

A careful housewife has nailed a small strip of white wood over her gas range into which are screwed half a dozen dresser hooks. On these she hangs her cooking fork, iron spoon, egg spoon, small strainer and a cooking knife, and finds that having them all ready to hand saves many steps.

Candles will burn slowly and steadily through the evening if they are kept on ice all day.

DETAILS FOR THE CAREFUL WOMAN.

Scotch plaid is quite a smart finish for the up-to-date sweater. The collar, belt, cuffs and often the bands down either side of the front are of the varihued material.

Voiles and panamas trimmed with ribbon make exceedingly smart gowns.

Big dots worked in color are favorite trimming for the turnover linen collar. The edge is frequently button-holed in similar color.

A white serge suit stitched in black was a striking costume at a recent tennis tournament.

Hairline stripes will be much worn this fall for tailored suits. Mohairs and serges are favorite materials.

Undoubtedly the pansy suggested the combination of yellow and purple which has appeared in some of the stunning evening gowns.

Cravenetted sateen is used for an inexpensive but decidedly useful automobile coat. This material not only looks well, but is both dust and shower proof.

Following the lead of cretonne, silkoline is ingratiating itself with the makers of clothes. It is an especially pretty material for the kimono, being so soft and clinging that it is a fair substitute for China and India silk, and then it comes in such charming, big, rosy designs.

It is inexpensive, too, costing but fifteen cents the yard. Ribbon or bias silk —very soft—featherstitched for catstitched to the edges, adds a look of real elegance.

TO DO NOT FROWN IF YOU WISH A SMOOTH SKIN.

If you want to keep a smooth forehead that will not only add to your looks but give you the reputation of being good tempered, don't frown.

This ugly facial contortion is a habit with a great majority of women. It does not mean wrath or displeasure. It often begins with some slight eye trouble and it often means perplexity.

A woman frowns when she is puzzled or when she is turning over some question in her mind, or when she faces the light or is intently listening.

The frown does not help and it should be abandoned. It makes more wrinkles than trouble, and a wrinkled brow not only gives seeming age but mars the prettiest set of features or the most charming expression.

If you frown because of your eyes, go to an oculist.

If you frown from habit, change your habit. Don't say you can't stop frowning, for you can stop anything if you put your mind to it.

PLAIN BORAX HAS MANY WORTHY USES.

For the shampoo use one teaspoonful to two quarts of warm water. It acts directly on the scalp, keeping it in a healthy condition.

As a dentifrice and mouth wash borax is unexcelled. It cleanses the mouth, hardens the gums and relieves cankers. In using it for the teeth make a powder of one ounce each powdered borax and pulverized castile soap and two ounces of precipitated chalk.

Bags made of cheesecloth, about eight inches square, filled with oatmeal, some powdered borax, pulverized castile soap and a little powdered orris root and used in the bath are delightfully refreshing.

A box of powdered borax is indispensible at the toilet table and as a disinfectant and will prove a valuable aid in procuring cleanliness at the kitchen sink and if it were more frequently used a great amount of waste might be prevented in the larder.

Miss Ethel De La Mater, of Watchung, is visiting her father at Rosendale, N. Y.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 20, 1903.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic—Commending our society.—II. By supplying church workers.—II Tim. ii. 1-2; Prov. xxii. 6.

The first method suggested for commending the Christian Endeavor society was that of church attendance. Church attendance naturally suggests church work as a second means of commendation. Church attendance should always be supplemented with church work. It should and will inspire us to this end. No one can worship God long "in sincerity and truth" without desiring to enlist in the Lord's work in the church. The work of the church and the need of workers will frequently be emphasized from the pulpit, and then will come the opportunity of the true hearted Christian Endeavorer to offer himself in the Lord's service.

To have a part in the upbuilding of a church spiritually is a great privilege. It is nothing that should seem irksome to us. It is nothing of which we need be ashamed, for "we are colaborers with God" and with the best Christian saints who have ever lived. As in the days of the Master, "the harvest is great and the laborers are few."

It is not possible to elect every member of a church to some office, nor, indeed, to give each one a definite work to perform. But to those who are willing service will come. God wastes no fit material. If we need and want a secular position we seek it, but how seldom we do this in the church! We are like the idlers on the street who in Christ's parable said they were idle because no man gave them work—a poor excuse! Work does not usually seek men; they must seek it. But why will we be idlers in God's house for this poor excuse? If you are given no specific duty to perform, seek work.

A zealous young man wanted a Sunday class in connection with a certain church. He decided to seek a class. Nor did he go to the slums. He had one scholar in view in the best section of his church, and around him he gathered six or seven others. He taught them faithfully and led every one of them to Christ. He is now an elder in his church, and his boys, now young men, are teachers in the Sabbath school and leaders in the Christian Endeavor society.

Do not say there is no church work for you to do. Don't wait for something to turn up. Turn it up. Do you miss any one from the church services? Visit him, and if he is sick or in trouble tell the pastor. Have young people come into the church, call upon them and make them welcome. Are there "shut ins" in your congregation? Visit them with a few flowers, a kindly smile, and read and pray with them. Does the Sunday school superintendent need teachers? Go and offer your services to him and help train up the children and teach others what you know about Christ and the Bible. If you can't find anything else to do, go to your pastor and say, "Pastor, if there is anything that you want done and no one else wants to do it, I'm the one to do it for you." If real live, active Christian Endeavorers were thus working along lines initiated by themselves and performing duties assigned to them, the church would soon wake up to the fact that Christian Endeavor means something. Every church organization is but a part of the church life. It is not an end in itself, but a means to an end—the building up of a church. What is your society? Is it living for itself or for the entire church?

BIBLE READINGS.

Zech. iv, 6-10; Eccl. xi, 10; xii, 1; Mark ix, 38-41; Matt. xxv, 31-46; Acts i, 1-11; John ix, 4; I Cor. xv, 58; Gal. vi, 1-10; I Cor. v, 11-13.

The C. E. Parent Church.

The very striking "charge to the church" made by Dr. Smith Baker when Rev. Jesse Hill was installed as pastor of the Williston church, Portland, Me., contained the following sentences touching the position of that church as the parent church of our society:

"Williston church is the most historic Protestant church in the world today. Its name is repeated all over the earth in the languages of young people in forty different nations. It stands for the old evangelical truths, not because of its greatness or wealth or age, but because in the providence of God it was the birthplace of the greatest evangelical movement for the spiritual salvation of young people in the history of the world. On the Pacific coast, in the teeming west, in the sunny south, in England, Scotland, Germany, France, China, Japan, Africa, South America, Mexico and the islands of the sea, Williston is repeated ten times more than any other church as standing for the old faith of Christ and the church."

Aggressive Evangelism.

The Christian Endeavor society has had twenty-seven years of unprecedented victory, but the best years are yet to come, says the Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman of Philadelphia. I have no hesitation in saying that from my point of view the door of opportunity which is widest open is that which leads into aggressive evangelistic effort. Every pastor may be strengthened and every church inspired to better service with a Christian Endeavor society on fire with a passion for souls.

Endeavor.

One made life's flowering field a trampled plot
A hideous battleground,
Where evil hosts were slain.
Another came and
A dreary, desolate plain
And made a garden spot.
—James William Jackson in Epworth Herald.

SOME ODDITIES OF THE PRESENT FASHIONS.

Large jet hatpins are very much worn of either round or egg-shape, the latter the size of a pigeon's egg, and the former that of a golf ball.

Venetian bead necklaces are having a great vogue, the delicate colors and combinations serving to enhance any costume to which they are allied. Smaller beads, worked after the old-world style into chains and necklaces, are also in great request.

Hand-painted chicken-skin fans are prime favorites of the moment, designed on Louis Seize lines, while a Pompadour model, almost round in shape, is accounted of the utmost elegance. The hand painting usually depict some dainty Watteau design.

The cult of color may be termed one of the leading modistic features of the moment. We not only go back to past ages in search of subdued artistic tints, but contrive to combine them in clever ingenious fashion to modern expressions of shades, variously called old blue, vieux rose, empire green and buff brown. These, in reality, although bearing strong resemblance to their ancestors, are quite latter-day products.

One cannot help but wonder whether the fascination that inevitably lingers around antique productions rests on real intrinsic value or whether romantic sentiment has no a large word to say in its favor. Personally, I rather incline to the side of the more genuine worth of old world workmanship; more individual interest was put into it, and where one piece was then turned out thousands are now required.

Modern lace, however beautiful, naturally lacks the soft, subduing influences of age; but whether this will ever come to these latter-day dentelles is a fact only to be proved by future generations. An expert in the cause has grave doubts, but argument being that the flax now employed lacks the superfine quality of yore, while some needles found concealed and forgotten in an old needlepoint lace outfit, revealed in finitesimal proportions quite unprocurable today.

Some old Venetian tape-lace, also, was shown us, worked, we were told, in a damp cellar, the humid atmosphere being necessary to keep the thread in the requisite limp condition. Such a state of things would not be permissible in these days, with hygiene officials stalking in our midst, and, as most will agree, very good thing, too.

KEEP THE WAISTLINE ABSOLUTELY NEAT

Though the up-to-date girl has given up the greater part of her day to frills and furbelows, she is more strictly tailored than ever in the hours she devotes to that peculiarly American costume, the shirt-waist suit.

And a trim, becoming costume it is; that is, when it is trim. But slovenliness is the curse be a badly adjusted collar, cuffs that are broken or not immaculate, the wrong kind of a tie, above all, a gaping waist line, and the style that often gives the shirtwaist girl more of an air than the same girl in a ball-room, is fatal.

Most unpardonable is the waist line that is not taut. here is no necessity for it. Ordinary care effectually prevents the blouse and skirt slipping connection.

There are numerous patent arrangements for keeping skirt and waist together; there is also the unfailing one of hooks and eyes.

After the initial bother of seeing that every skirt in one's wardrobe is supplied with a good-sized hook, an inch on each side of the middle of the back, with two eyes corresponding on the blouse, all future trouble is avoided.

If the hips are large and apt to push the belt up, it is well to add another hook and eye at each of the under-arm seams. This prevents all possibility of slipping.

For the girl who hates to sew there is a rather new invention that gives the hook and eye effect without needle and thread. Sets of safety pins with hook and loop can now be bought for keeping skirts from slipping.

The pins with the loop are fastened through the waists with the loop down. The other two have a pointed hook. These are adjusted on the inside of the skirt band oppsite the looped safety pins, into which they slip.

That is all there is to it! So simple an arrangement that a sloppy waist line is inexcusable.

SUPERSTITIOUS.

With me no signs or omens count,
I have no superstitious fears.
"The seventh day" is nothing to dread,
If only food enough appears,
I would not fear to spill the salt.
Or walk beneath a ladder's scope,
I put no trust in clairvoyants,
Or what the racing men call dope.

I do not stoop to pick up pins,
I'm very sure 'twould do no good.
I often make a vapid boast,
And then neglect to knock on wood
Such signs and omens cut no ice
With me, I tell you here and now—
But when Myrtilla stamps her foot,
I'm sure there's going to be a row!
—Somerville Journal.

36 HOURS IN OPEN BOAT WITH CORPSE

FISHERMAN RELATES EXPERIENCE IN WINTER STORM OF LAKE SUPERIOR.

COMPANION DIES SUDDENLY

Oars Are Lost and Little Skiff Is Driven Before Terrific Gale—Survivor Finally Reaches Shore Over Ice.

Houghton, Mich.—Thirty-six hours in an open boat with a dead companion in one of the worst winter's storms was the experience of Eric Peterson, the fisherman who walked half dead into Hebard's lumber camp at Point Abbaye. Peterson arrived in Houghton on his way to St. Joseph's hospital at Hancock. He was little worse for his terrible experience, except that his hands were swollen and his feet stiff and painful.

Peterson is a Finnish fisherman who lives at the Betsey river in Keweenaw county, five miles from Gay. He is about 45 years of age and gives the appearance of rugged health and strength such as a man must have to live through a midwinter storm on Lake Superior two nights and a day in an open skiff with no more protection than that afforded by ordinary clothing and continual exertion to keep warm. From his story it is gathered that he, August Bell and Jacob Saari went to Gay for supplies.

They went in a flat-bottomed skiff, 14 feet long, provided with one pair of oars. They secured a load of provisions at Gay and in the evening started to row back to their home. Saari had a sore hand and could not take his turn at rowing, so he decided to lighten the boat and they put him ashore. He walked home.

Peterson and Bell rowed out into the storm, which was then blowing pretty strongly, but they gave it no thought, having made the trip before in all kinds of weather. It soon became too strong, however, for them to make headway against, and to add to their danger they lost their oars. There was nothing to it for them but to let the wind have its way, and the little skiff was driven before the gale.

The Ice Collected Around the Skiff.

Peterson soon felt the effect of the cold and he called to Bell to come toward him so that they might lie down together to keep warm. Bell did not answer.

"I moved over and touched him and felt his pulse. There was no use."

That is the way Peterson told the story of his friend's death. The man was apparently numbed by his privations and did not appear to realize what he had gone through. He was asked if he felt any horror of being out of the casket and onto the floor and against the mourners' feet. At the time a quartette was singing "Let Me Up, Oh, Jesus," and a mild panic ensued before the guests realized what was taking place.

Houston was killed on the railroad. On the morning of that day his intended bride, Mrs. Julia Ritchie, former wife of "Bob" Ritchie, the escaped murderer of Michael McGodin, procured a marriage license in the county clerk's office for the ceremony, which was set for that evening.

Sharp Teeth Save Life.

Nutley, N. J.—The sharp teeth of Mabel Swenson, ten years old, saved the life of her chum, Minnie Arnott, when the latter's foot caught in a "frog" while the girls were walking along the Erie tracks near here.

Miss Arnott could not release her foot nor untie the knotted lace. While she was struggling with the knot the whistle of a train was heard. The girls became frantic. Then Miss Swenson threw herself on the ground and with her teeth severed the lace. It required only a second to release Miss Arnott's foot and she stepped to the track just a moment before a train rushed by.

American Education Best.

At the examinations recently held in Pekin for official degrees men who had studied in American universities received the highest honors. Out of a large number examined, only seven got the highest degree obtainable, and of these five were graduates of the University of California, while the other two had studied in Japan.

DOG WITH STICK OF DYNAMITE CHASES MAN

RETRIEVES EXPLOSIVE TOSSED AMONG JAMMED LOGS—BANG! DOG GONE!

Bay City, Mich.—"Good doggie. Nice doggie. Drop that stick of dynamite!"

Thomas Olmstead, lumber jobber, from his lofty perch in the branches of a towering elm sought to soothe his pet. But the dog only wagged his tail with greater vigor and set his teeth the harder on the explosive he had retrieved from a log jam.

"Drop it, Shep! Drop it!" called William Butler, Olmstead's companion, who had fled to a neighboring field.

When the dog heard Butler's voice, he relaxed his vigil beneath the tree in which Olmstead had sought refuge. Then he ran toward Butler.

Olmstead Climbed a Tree.

Bang!

"Dog gone!" murmured Olmstead, as he slid down the tree trunk.

Olmstead and Butler, who reside at Standish, set out in the morning to break a log jam in the south branch of Pine river. They were accompanied by Shep, noted for his ability as a retriever. When Olmstead tossed a stick of dynamite among the logs, Shep brought it back. Olmstead climbed a tree and Butler dashed to a near field.

"When that dynamite exploded," said Olmstead, "Shep just naturally disappeared."

WOLVES HOLD MEN IN TREE.

Hungry Beasts Howl All Night at the Freezing Captives.

Port Arthur, Ont.—Compelled to cling to the branches of a tree all through a winter night, with the thermometer below zero, without food or warm clothing, as one had his clothes partially torn from his back, with a pack of 20 ravenous wolves howling around the tree from dusk until daylight, was the fate of two lumbermen from this city in Silver mountains.

The men were Patrick and William Murphy. All through the night the wolves kept up their howls, waiting for the treat which did not come, and they did not disperse until daylight came and the men were able to get a few shots at them, killing one of them, for which they collected $135 in bounty.

For several weeks wolves have been very ferocious in the woods around here, but no fatalities have been reported so far. The wolves are bold enough to attack men, owing to the scarcity of rabbits and other small animals.

Corpse Rolls on Floor.

Wheeling, W. Va.—When the funeral services over the remains of William Houston were being conducted at McMechen, the floor of the house gave way and the corpse rolled out of the casket and onto the floor and against the mourners' feet. At the time a quartette was singing "Let Me Up, Oh, Jesus," and a mild panic ensued before the guests realized what was taking place.

Houston was killed on the railroad. On the morning of that day his intended bride, Mrs. Julia Ritchie, former wife of "Bob" Ritchie, the escaped murderer of Michael McGodin, procured a marriage license in the county clerk's office for the ceremony, which was set for that evening.

Sharp Teeth Save Life.

Nutley, N. J.—The sharp teeth of Mabel Swenson, ten years old, saved the life of her chum, Minnie Arnott, when the latter's foot caught in a "frog" while the girls were walking along the Erie tracks near here.

Miss Arnott could not release her foot nor untie the knotted lace. While she was struggling with the knot the whistle of a train was heard. The girls became frantic. Then Miss Swenson threw herself on the ground and with her teeth severed the lace. It required only a second to release Miss Arnott's foot and she stepped to the track just a moment before a train rushed by.

American Education Best.

At the examinations recently held in Pekin for official degrees men who had studied in American universities received the highest honors. Out of a large number examined, only seven got the highest degree obtainable, and of these five were graduates of the University of California, while the other two had studied in Japan.

A GIRL IS KNOWN BY HER STATIONERY

In these days of fads and fancies a girl is known by her stationery almost as well as by her given name. Many fashionable girls select a certain color and type of writing paper and never vary it for years and years, and the idea is a good one. It stamps a girl as having individuality of her own.

All personal stationery for social notes should have the writer's monogram on it. Some girls still cling to the three initials—others have their Christian names printed out in full, such as "Elinor," "Muriel," etc.—while still others prefer to have the address of their home in place of either initials or name. What ever the inscription it should be stamped in gilt, silver or colored letters of a dull tone. Bright red monograms on white paper are never seen.

Should the girl in mourning will be found a black-bordered paper in four widths. The heaviest, or No. 1 border, is used for deep mourning, the border growing narrower as the grief lightens her mourning, and just before she goes into colors she uses a pure white paper with what is known as the Italian border—the tiniest little black line possible all around the paper.

The young girl graduate who writes reams and reams to all the girls in her class will find money in her pocket by using a note paper, or more of what is called "foreign note paper." This is extremely thin and the envelopes which match it are lined, so that the writing on the letter itself will not show through to enlighten the inquisitive eyes of the long suffering.

Eggshell paper was much used for several years, but of late it has given way to what is known as a cambric or organdie paper. The eggshell paper, while it was very dainty, was extremely hard to write on, the rough finish refusing to take kindly to the ink. This cambric paper has a soft, smooth finish and can be bought in all colors.

While talking about colors it is well to remember that only the palest of shades is used. The blues are dull, gray blues—not a copenhagen shade. The pinks have just a suggestion of the dawn in them—not a raspberry hue—while the lavenders used are colored like the palest asters, not the purple shade. Greens, yellows and such odd colors are extremely bad form. It is always safe to have white paper, unless as mentioned above, you wish to have some individual paper.

Matching the paper in tone, if not in actual color, must be selling way, says the Philadelphia Press. The women in the smart set always seal their letters. Many of them have a small die for the seal matching the monogram on the paper, reduced several sizes, while many other use a device with a single initial on it.

If you happen to be a girl who is called upon to write many short notes a great convenience will be found in the note cards, which should match your regulation stationery. These cards are about four inches square, made of medium-weight bristol board, like a visiting card would be. They should have your monogram just as your note paper does and envelopes to match. These cards are bought in packages of twenty-five and are great time savers.

BORDERED MATERIALS DESERVEDLY POPULAR.

The bordered materials have been most alluring this season, and it has been by great strength of will that we have passed by the counter where they are displayed. The greatest reason for such laudable renunciation is that we were not quite certain how to handle the goods. Of course it was an experiment to manufacture these bordered materials, for how can a mere counter know what a woman is going to like; but he made a good guess this time, for the bordered materials have offered much attraction.

These materials have inspired pattern makers and they have exercised their best efforts to suggest ways and means of making up this pretty stuff. The results have been admirable and a pretty little dress, pictured today, is one of their achievements.

There are but two ways of making a skirt of bordered material, says Anna Kent. The first and most usual method is to use the width of the material for the length of the skirt, while the border forms a cross-wise trimming. The flat material is laid in plaits to adjust it to the waistline. These plaits must be stitched flat at least hip-length; from that line the facing plaits form sufficient fullness at the footline. This has a very clumsy sound, but, after the stitching is neatly done, all superfluous material is cut away from the under side and the effect is very much like that of a gored skirt so far as the lower edge.

The other way to handle bordered material in a skirt is to use the material lengthwise, the bordered edge lapping in plaitlike effect over the edge of the preceding gore. This is a little more difficult to handle, but it is adopted by women too stout to wear cross trimming.

Waists may be sometimes cut on the bordered material so as to include the design, but more frequently the border is cut off and used as band trimming.

WARDROBE NECESSARY FOR A HOUSE PARTY.

It is pretty hard to tell just what costumes will be needed at a house party, as the program varies so greatly with different hostesses, but there are several dainty outfits that will seldom come amiss.

In some fashionable households the hostess appears at breakfast in a charming negligee of lace and silk, and in others the short skirt and shirtwaist are adopted. This is usually the case when the head of the household is of athletic tastes and leaves the table for the tennis court or the golf links. The average week-end guest cannot go amiss if she takes a negligee along.

A becoming tea gown will add immeasurably to the comfort of the guest, as she will wish to don something loose soon after her arrival. This should best be of some soft silk which does not crush readily when packed. It may be made on strictly empire lines and lightly trimmed with lace, or be wholly of net or chiffon untrimmed; but elaborated with a sleeveless lace coat. Some of the daintiest summer tea gowns imaginable are allover white muslin embroidery. Their short waists are defined with filet bands, and their wing sleeves are of the same lace. Because they may be packed into the minimum of space they are ideal garments for week-end visits. It must not be supposed, however, that the summer tea gown is in any respect a negligee, nor is it intended for any place save the drawing-room several hours preceding dinner.

A lounging robe of some description should always be included among the week-end luggage, for while some hostesses place Japanese kimonos and slippers in each guest chamber, this is by no means invariable rule. The safest way is to keep on hand a thin flowered silk negligee, which may be rolled into a wad and be none the worse for such treatment, or else have a short jacket of lingerie materials and use it as an accompaniment to the silk dress of the traveling gown.

It is always a mistake to rely upon a hostess for either a bathing costume or a riding habit, as neither is likely to fit even if extra ones chance to be on hand. If a woman is devoted to either diversion and knows that she will have an opportunity to indulge in such sports, she should either crowd the proper garb into her box or express it ahead. The same rule applies to the golfing costume, for, although any short skirt and jacket will answer temporarily, it is far better to have something at hand that will withstand a journey over the links, as no hostess cares to introduce at the clubhouse a guest whose white shirt and shoes are begrimed with dust or stained with grass.

THE "POMP" IS GOING AND WE'RE GLAD

The summer girl's head no longer looks as if it had been blown up by an air pump all around. Instead, directly on the top, there is a rachet that effect.

The pompadour bulging widely from every point of the head is distinctly out of it. While many women still cling to the hair raised from the brow it has ceased to be a towering mass of Marcelling.

The newest pompadour is soft in effect rather than stiff. Often the "rat" is arranged well toward the back, so that the hair is on an inclined plane, even drooping slightly over the brow.

The Psyche knot is very fetching when worn by a young face with regular features. It makes a snub-nosed girl look like one of those squat cream jugs that our grandmothers doted on.

If a roll is used in the back it is happily not allowed to droop. Nothing was more distinctly bad style than the Niagara Falls effect in hair dressing, flopping almost to the collar.

While the stiff puffs are no longer in the first fashion, the woman who thinks it worth while to bother with an elaborate coiffure in hot weather, still wears loose loops, made by twisting strands of hair over the finger and pinning them into place.

Some of the new puffs are pulled down over the temple at one side.

Stray locks are frowned upon. Not even the summer windstorm is considered a justifiable excuse for a dishelved head.

It is smart, but not especially becoming to the average woman, to part the hair to one side and brush it back loosely over short rolls, with one side bulging more than the other.

Waves are looser and not so regular as in the ordinary marcelling.

The girl whose hair defies even the curling iron in summer should by all means wear a rat. It keeps the hair from falling in a dejected mass on the forehead.

What Really Counts.

The candidate, he kissed the baby, rubbed the heads of Sam and Sue; he swore the twins were beautiful and wished that he had two—but that doesn't count. He asked about the corn bread that he vainly tried to chaw and forthwith begged a recipe, of course, that tickled mawbut that doesn't count. But just before he left he winked and then closed up his jaw, and slipping out behind the barn he took a drink with paw—and that's what counts.—Carson City (Mich.) Gazette.

MOTHS IN THE HOUSE MEAN MUCH TROUBLE.

Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom from moths. This year is marked more than usual by the presence of the destructive insects, and the housewife who has not instituted a search for them would do well to delay no longer.

The common clothes-moth (Tinea Pellionella is its important-sounding scientific name) measures only half an inch from tip to tip of its wings, which are grayish yellow, with indistinct tawny-colored spots. The female moth is not particular where she lays her eggs, but favored spots are the winter garments, a downy blanket, a rug or an inviting fur. Early in the egg, she dies, happy in the thought—if she thinks—that her progeny will be numbered by the scores, if not by the hundred, and that they all will have plenty to eat.

It is these tiny eggs which are especially to be feared, as they are practically invisible. We may pack away the winter woolens so that the moths cannot reach them, and that is indeed wise, but are we sure that the moths have not effected a lodgment in them, leaving eggs there? If the eggs are present, they will hatch into tiny grubs, which feed on what is within reach, and then move on to get a new supply. In time the moth, provided with a pair of wings, will fly on into the outside world to cause more trouble.

The moth does not like the odor of camphor or cedar, so will not lay her eggs where it is, but the eggs once laid to such odor will prevent their hatching. Dr. Howard, the eminent entomologist, in giving directions for an anti-moth campaign, says that the best way is to take out, brush and air articles to bestored. Then put them into large pasteboard boxes such as tailors use to send home clothes in, and gum a strip of wrapping paper around the edge, so as to seal up completely. The moth cannot get in to lay her eggs, and when the garments are taken out to be worn one will not be annoyed with the scores that moth-preventives are apt to leave.

If you have packed away the winter garments safely, having first thoroughly beaten, brushed and aired them, be sure to make sure that there can be no moth eggs in them, your mind may be at rest. If you have not gone through this process, you had better take the garments out and treat them in the way described. Anything woolen not to be packed should be beaten and brushed and put on the clothes line as soon as possible. Burn sulphur candles in the closets where these woolen articles must continue to be kept. Wipe the walls with a solution of carbolic acid, and when possible, wipe the garments themselves off with gasoline. Having done this, it is safe to say that you need not fear moths.

DELICIOUS FRUIT SALAD.

There are several different ways of preparing a grape fruit salad. For one, cut the fruit in two, remove the seeds and with a pointed pair of scissors snip the membranes that hold the centre core in place and the pulp to the walls, then remove all together. Fill the cavity in the centre with powdered sugar, moistened with maraschino, sherry or grape juice. Let stand in a cold place for several hours before serving. When ready to serve put a Maraschino cherry in the centre of each half.

Serve a half fruit to each guest. White grapes cut up and seeded are often added to the pulp, which is nearly always served in the grape fruit shell. At this season fresh sour cherries are often substituted for the Maraschino.

Another grape fruit salad is made by removing the pulp from halved grape fruit, discarding all the pith. This done, return the pulp to the skin, put a tablespoonful mayonnaise dressing on each half and serve on lettuce leaves. Chopped nuts may be added to grape fruit pulp or chopped celery when in season.

To Seek Excise Law Changes.

John J. White, of the Marlborough-Blenheim; Daniel S. White, of the Hotel Tremont, and Dr. J. B. Thompson have been appointed members of an Atlantic City citizens' committee to urge remedial excise legislation. Other members of this committee include Joseph W. Salus, Louis Buehnle and Walter E. Edge.

Pretty Chamber Furnishings.

Now that applique is so fashionable, a pretty style for curtains, bureau scarfs, etc., can be made inexpensively, by sewing on linen, crash or cotton, designs cut from an old flowered lawn dress. For the bureau make candlestick shade to match, mounted on buckram and bound with ribbon to harmonize.

To Serve With Salad.

Beat two eggs without separating; add one cupful of vinegar, one teaspoonful of salt, dash of cayenne, half a cupful of sugar and a quarter of a cupful of melted butter. Mix well and cook in a double boiler. Stir constantly until the dressing has thickened, then cool and serve. This dressing may be thinned with either cream or oil.

Umbrellas for traveling are shown with the stick which unfastens in the middle and pulls out; when closed it shortens the umbrella by one half, thus making it easy to carry.

BUTCHERS TO COOPERATE

Local Dealers Plan an Organization to Use Their Own Meat Scraps.

WILL HAVE RENDERING PLANT.

Permanent Officers to Be Elected Next Week and Details of the Business Worked Out.

Believing that they are being paid an insufficient price for their meat scraps, the butchers in Plainfield and North Plainfield have taken steps to use the bi-products themselves and derive the profit. A meeting was held in the parlors of the Iroquois hotel, Monday, at which a co-operative organization was decided upon and a form of agreement discussed. Another session will be held next Monday night at which a permanent association will be formed and officers elected.

The butchers at the present time sell all the bones, suet and other leavings from meat to one of the wholesale beef houses which pays whatever price it wants to fix. On the other hand, the market men have to buy all their supplies from the same concern or one of its rivals, and again they have to submit to whatever charge is made. This makes the retailers get the wrong end both ways and is what led to the plans for the co-operative disposal of their scraps.

The plans in view include the renting or purchasing of Fred Endress' rendering plant near South Plainfield where the bones and suet will be made into tallow. This has a ready market in New York and with a competent manager in charge can be made to pay a handsome profit. At the conference last night it was suggested that the business could also be extended to include the purchasing of hides from the farmers in this vicinity and it will be discussed at the next session.

NDICT CRIMINAL LAWYER IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Henry H. Cook, Middlesex county's most prominent criminal lawyer, was indicted by the Grand Jury at New Brunswick Monday, charged with attempted extortion. It is alleged that Mr. Cook, being an officer of the court, demanded a sum of money from one Mary Guillon, of South River, under threat of criminal prosecution of the woman, without any authority of his office so to do.

Mr. Cook has practiced in the courts at New Brunswick for many years, and is to defend a murder case today and another next week. The charge caused a big sensation in court circles yesterday. It is understood that the matter was brought to the attention of the rand Jury by Mrs. Guillon's husband.

The Guillons allege that the charge, which was to be suppressed if they would pay the money, was selling liquor without a license.

GATHERING MATERIALS FOR SWEET SACHETS.

When going on a clover-gathering expedition the morning may be taken for cutting down the stalks and laying them together in a pile. Then after lunch the stalks can be stripped dropping the leaves and flowers into the receptacles made ready for them. After the clover is gathered it is dried thoroughly by spreading it out thinly over newspapers and putting in the sun, but care must be taken that it is not in the wind, where it might be blown away. Several days are required for the drying, and the leaves will break to powder when all the juice is sapped out.

When the leaves and bloom are ready for cases, any material that si desired may be chosen for making sachet holders. It must be thin, of course, and no cotton is put in for padding. The bag does not need to be entirely filled, for a thin layer spread over the surface when the case is laid down flat is quite sufficient. Cases may be made just the size of bureau drawers, and small ones are nice, too, for slipping into trunks. Among home linens the sweet clover cases are delicious.

SEEING NELLY HOME.

In the sky the bright stars glittered,
On its back the auto shone,
It was in Aunt Hetty's auto carriage
I was seeing Nelly home.

On my head a soft form landed,
Landed like a pond'rous time,
Down the bank we bounced and bounded—
I was seeing Nelly home.

Bits of me and scraps of Nelly
All along the way were strewn,
And I knew in many pieces
I'd be seeing Nelly home.

Tenderly they gathered Nelly,
Scooped me up from off the loam;
In an ambulance my remnants
Saw my Nelly's fragments home!
—New York World.

SPEAK YOUR MIND ONCE IN A WHILE.

If we "talk over" our friends' faults and failings with other people we forget the right to find fault with them direct. And to be on such a footing with the people near to you that you can find friendly fault with them and they with you is good for every one concerned.

There are times when you must speak, when you ought to speak, when it will clear the air and put things on a better footing if you do speak.

We can't go far wrong if, when we find fault, we remember that if the tables were turned hard things might quite truly be said about ourselves. We are all living in houses of glass—but we should never make any progress if we waited to be perfect before finding fault with other people who are not perfect, either.

When we have learned to give and to take criticism with entire good humor, "with malice toward none and charity toward all," we shall be several steps on the way toward being comfortable people to live with.

For bottled-up grievances make it exceedingly difficult to live in love and charity with our neighbors. They are irritated with us—we don't know what and they don't know why we are cool to them. Obviously, it would be much better if they could speak out, and we could speak out, too.

What happens generally is that in some moment of irritation they speak very plainly. And we retaliate in "you're another" sort of way, trotting out a grievance of our own to show that certainly they have no reason to find fault.

CHARACTER TOLD IN THE EYES.

If eyes are placed too close together the owner is jealous and critical.

If eyes are far apart the owner has a fine memory and broad intelligence.

Deep set eyes show melancholy and moodiness.

Protruding eyes show self-indulgence.

Wide open, round eyes mark a mind that is not developed, is credulous and serious about small gossip. The owners have no self-control.

If the eye is very oval, almost almond shape, with the outward droop shaped to a point, look out for a crafty and subtle nature.

Gray eyes are those of intellect and a well-balanced character. They show unselfishness and a strict sense of justice. When they are put below a broad, high forehead, they denote great talent.

Brown eyes, with a touch of hazel, show courage, intelligence and affection.

When the hazel eye has an arched eyebrow, its shows a fickle temper.

Velvety brown eyes show intense feeling, and are not often to be trusted.

A glittering black eye expresses meagre intelligence and often physical courage.

Very pale blue eyes are said to always show deceit and cruelty.

Violet blue eyes are loving and ardent, but impetuous, and do not show a high order of intellect.

Miss Clemens' Tribulations.

Miss Clara Clemens has come to the conclusion that things want adjusting in this world. "Need I mention," she writes, "that if I refer to the glaring injustice of having to go about labeled 'Mark Twain's daughter' when I am doing my best to pursue a career of my own? I am not, of course, a genius, and that is what makes me so tired. I have a mind to scour Europe for a secret hiding place," she continues, "and when I have found it take to bed for, say, a couple of years and arise—a genius. For the bed habit is a recipe of father's success. While I have been tiring myself out in an endeavor to rise to the heights as anybody else's daughter he has lain in bed and thought things and got out of bed and told them to loaf around on a lecture tour or tramp lazily through Europe. That's why I am looking for a really comfortable bed."

A Momentous Occasion.

"So you expect to be called on for a speech at the next campaign?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "And it's one that is going to require a great deal of consideration."

"It will be a lengthy effort, then?"

"No. Exceedingly brief. When the collector of campaign funds comes around I've got to say 'yes' or 'no.'"—Exchange.

The New Style.

"I ain't such a big man with you these days," remarked the constituent. "You don't drop around to pat me on the back like you used to."

"Oh, see here, now," responded the candidate, "yours is one of the most prominent cards in my index ystem."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

G. O. P. Campaign Song.

Now the Plump Plutocrat
Pledges us to Stand Pat.
Else we will rue it.
Sure! But we'll fry his fat
Ere we can do it!
Can't Stand Pat
Without some Fat—
No use a-trying!
—New York World.

WEALTH IN SANDS OF OCEAN.

Cheap Mining the Problem That Has to Be Faced.

From Shasta to San Diego, all the way along the shores of the Pacific ocean there is gold in the black sand which, for the greater part of the length of the state, underlies the gray and yellow sand of the beach. This has been known to mining men for a score of years or more, but ever since they found it out they have been completely baffled in all efforts to get it.

The values in the sand are low, not more than 25 cents per ton, and the sea washes heavily over all manner of structures which are set up on the beach to separate the sand from its gold. These were the two principal obstacles to be overcome:—To find a machine which would withstand the storms of winter and the tides of summer and at the same time be delicate enough to draw the gold from the black mass of the beach.

At last, however, the riddle has been solved, despite the wrecking of one or two machines, which after work was commenced, and a recent clean-up of one day's run of 1,000 tons of black sand paid $200 over and above all expenses. The full value of the gold in the sand, could it have been entirely removed, would have been $250. The actual amounts taken out was about $235 worth, making the cost of handling that 1,000 tons of sand a trifle more than three cents a ton, the cheapest mining yet known to man.—Technical World Magazine.

SOME LARGE FRENCH FAMILIES.

Official Statistics Give Figures That Are Rather Surprising.

Small families are the rule in France, but there are some striking exceptions. The following data were taken by Consul Chapman Coleman of Roubaix from the latest official statistics of the population of France. According to these statistics the total population of France is 38,250,716. The female sex exceeds the masculine in numbers, the figures being, respectively, 19,533,899 and 18,816,889. On the other hand, an excess in the number of unmarried is shown on the masculine side, the respective figures be 9,917,178 and 9,114,356. There are 2,384,897 widows and divorced women, as against 1,005,884 widowers and divorced men.

The number of French families is 9,721,127, of which 1,314,772 are without children; 2,249,387 have but one child; 2,018,665 have two; 1,246,264 have three; 748,841 have four; 429,799 have five; 248,159 have six; 138,769 have seven; 71,841 have eight, and 33,917 have nine children. These figures represent, in a rapidly decreasing proportion, the number of families having a large number of children.

For about two-thirds of the families of France the average number of children does not exceed three; while for about 1¼ per cent. of them the average number is seven, and for less than one per cent of the families, eight children. Twenty-four families are recorded, however, as possessing 17 and 34 as possessing 18 children.

How Fast Wind Travels.

Most people at some time or other have used the expression "went like the wind," wishing to convey the idea of extraordinary velocity.

Coming down to actual figures, however, the wind is such a speedy traveler after all, says the Boston Transcript. The month of March more than any other in the year has a windy record, so the figures supplied by the local weather bureau station for the month will do to illustrate the fallacy of the expression.

From the first to the thirty-first the wind movement as registered at the top of the federal building was 8,336 miles, or an average of 278 miles a day for 30 days. That is an average of only 11½ miles an hour, a speed which even a slow moving freight steamer approaches.

Education and Matrimony.

A teacher in one of the local grades was speaking to the mother of one of her girl pupils not long ago about Lizie's frequent absences from school.

"You know she won't be promoted," pointed out the teacher, "unless she is more regular in her attendance."

"Yes," put in the other, "and I don't want her to be promoted. I want her to stop school and then when she gets older she'll get married, as every girl ought to. My two daughters that stayed in school aren't married yet and the two that didn't finish up at school could have been married about four times, and when she did marry she was only 19. I'm going to take this one out of school and bring her up right."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Baby's Quilt.

A most attractive baby's quilt is made by putting two thicknesses of lamb's wool between surah silk. The quilting, instead of being made with stitches, is caught in place by large roses made of ribbon. Ribbon is also used in the style of art nouveau to decorate the border of the quilt. Usually it is made in long green stems, terminating each petal of the flower being a loop of the ribbon caught at the point by a single stitch. Quilts of such an elaborate nature are used as coach covers for the baby indoors and not wear anything quite so exquisite.

A Noble Lover.

"Darling," said the American heiress, "it is not true, is it, that you want to marry me for my money?"

"No, dearest," answered the duke de Rasges et Parches, "but I don't hold it against you."—Baltimore American.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

Being good is an awful complacent job.

He who marries a rich wife makes a poor husband.

The more a man shaves himself the more he talks about his barber.

The girl you kiss under the mistletoe acts as if it would be much better somewhere else.

When you see a man advertising his virtues it's to keep your attention off his real character.

When a girl gets engaged she is sorry she can't talk in a million telephones all at once.

A bustle is a great protection to a woman who sits down suddenly, especially if it isn't artificial.

Your wife will believe any explanation you make for being out late if she knows nobody else will.

A boy can be a lot prouder of his father for not dressing out of style than for being one of the big men of the world.

One of the most useful things about men going into politics is it's sufficient warning to the public not to trust them.—New York Press.

WEATHER WISDOM.

A bright yellow sky at sunset means wind.

If the full moon rise red, expect wind.

When the sky is particularly full of stars, expect rain.

A rainbow in the morning is a sign of rain, but one in the evening indicates fine weather.

A morning fog usually clears away before noon; an afternoon fog has set in for the day.

If the cat lies with her back to the fire, there will be a squall.

The 12 days immediately following Christmas are said to denote the weather for the coming year, one day for each month.

The day of the month on which the first snowstorm appears is believed by some people to indicate the number of snowstorms the winter will bring. For instance, if the first snowstorm is on November 29, there will be 29 snowstorms in the winter.

ABOUT PROMINENT PEOPLE.

Mme. Patti speaks Italian, Spanish, Russian, German, French and Portuguese perfectly and, of course, her English is faultless.

Emperor William is going to make crusade against the introduction into the German language of so many words from other languages.

Mrs. Jan Kubelik, wife of the famous violin virtuoso, recently said that she did not mind how many women kissed the violinist because it was a tribute to his genius.

Queen Taitu, the consort of Menelik, is an elderly and dignified woman, good looking according to the Ethiopian point of view, and a great stickler for etiquette.

Although his famous silver mine has yielded him $18,000,000, Pedro Alvarado, the "Mexican Croesus," has been so extravagant that he has run into debt, and has been constrained to lease his property for 15 years to an American syndicate.

JUDGE'S DECISIONS.

The beam in most men's eye is L

There are social lions in asses' skins.

On shipboard a man finds it hard to hold his own.

False teeth help many a man to keep a stiff upper lip.

A man often burns his fingers when he has too many irons in the fire.

Many a man wears a long face from continually crawling through knotholes.

When a man has one foot in the grave he's mighty glad he was born a biped.

Some people trip themselves up in their frantic effort to put their best foot foremost.—Judge.

UNCLE IKE MURMURS.

I doan't mind seein' people take advantidge of their opportunities onless I hapen to be one of them opertunities myself.

If you git plumcots when you cros a plum an a apercot wat do you git when you cros the country with a raleroze?

A feller the uther day wuz cussin' a uther feller fer lyin' to him an befour hede hin talkin' to me 5 minnits he had lide to me 8 times hisself.

The older I git, the more respeck I hav for a feller that hasnt lost mi frendship bi callin me a ding-swizzled fule.—Strickland W. Gillilan.

WAITRESS THRASHES PUGILISTIC PATRON

HURLS OUT CAPTIOUS DINER WHO BEATS HER BOSS AND THE MAN CASHIER.

Waterbury, Conn.—Miss Bessie Hogan has been an athletic and social leader in fashionable waitress society ever since she carried 16 meals on one tray to hungry prisoners in the courthouse on a day so cold and slippery that not a waiter dared to take as much as a cup of coffee across the street. But Miss Bessie has won new athletic laurels. She "fired" from the restaurant, where she serves, but never stands and waits, a person who had thrashed the proprietor and the man cashier.

Miss Bessie, who is 25 years old, weighs 150 pounds and stands five feet nine inches, not measuring one of the loveliest pompadours in Waterbury. She had placed a portion of chicken livers and mushrooms before Miss Bunny De Grey, a favorite on the New England vaudeville circuit, and was conversing pleasantly, as is her wont, with Miss De Grey, when the person entered the restaurant.

Hurled Him into the Street.

He was large and unpleasant of visage, and he bore a cargo of alcohol that had listed to starboard. He ordered three boiled eggs. After opening them he said he had "asked for eggs, not fricasseed chicken." He made so many other radical remarks that L. W. Hale, the restaurateur, started to put him out. In a second Mr. Hale found himself under Miss De Grey's table, with much of chicken livers and mushrooms scattered over him.

Frank Hanley, the cashier, left his accounts, rushed at the disagreeable person and took the count.

"I'm going to clean out this place," yelled the intruder.

Miss De Grey fled, shrieking. Other women and men at the tables shivered with fear. Calmly Miss Bessie rolled up her sleeves. She got a neck and neardthigh hold of the unpleasant person, ran him face forward, about 15 feet and hurled him into the street without taking the trouble to open the door.

"What's your name?" asked the police surgeon, called to headquarters to pick pieces of glass from the egg critic.

"I am ashamed to tell you," said he. "Just to think—a woman—"

Miss Bessie remains at her post of duty, simple, unaffected still.

NAUGHTY MEN WITH HATS.

They Drop 'Em Near Pretty Hello Girls' Skirts and Then—!

Pittsburg, Pa.—A small army of telephone girls have made formal complaint to Superintendent of Police McQuaide that the feminine weakness to lift skirts when they see a rat is known to men in offices near the Bell telephone exchange in Seventh avenue, and is being utilized in a mean manner. A committee of the Bell's girls called on McQuaide, and the speaker came right to the point, saying: "We girls have to pass those warehouses and big wholesale houses as we come to work in the morning. The men and boys catch rats in traps during the night and they always manage to drop them out of the traps about the time we telephone girls are going past. Nine times out of ten the rat will try to escape by getting under our skirts and—"

"I see, I see," said McQuaide, rubbing his hands.

"Sir!" almost screamed the little speaker.

"I mean that I will see that there is no more of this," stammered McQuaide.

Forces Hens to Sign Pledge.

Champaign, Ill.—The night of 40 drunken chickens lying helpless opposite his door has caused George Henson of Urbana to insist that all applicants for positions in his henhouse must hereafter sign the pledge.

When Henson threw away a quantity of fermenting cherries the chickens eagerly ate them. They all became so helpless that they could not stand without the assistance of a fence or a tree. Next morning all were afflicted with headaches, and egg laying was suspended for several days after the bout.

Every fowl has now been forced to sign the pledge on pain of instantly being turned into fricasseed chicken.

French India imports about $1,250,000 and exports about $5,000,000. The colony has a population of 245,000, of whom only 1,100 are Europeans.

USE ALL THE LINENS IN ROTATION.

How provoking it is to find certain of the sheets and napkins wearing out before the rest and from no steady use, so that when you need a large number for company occasions you find they do not match in appearance.

Equally inconvenient is it to find one of the sheets and your garments—shoes, collars and shirtwaists—becoming suddenly too worthless to keep rotating at the laundry. Perhaps this is because we always select our favorite, or, in the case of the household linens, it may be because we use the same sets over and over by mere chance.

The solution to the difficulty is explained by the bride of a year. She says: "My husband taught me the trick of keeping everything rotating. He had at least six pairs of everything, and when he kept on one thing too further use, but he always bought a new pair and worked them into line. It was just the same with his collars and cuffs and shirts and all—the ones that came home from the laundry each week he put at the bottom of the pile, and the ones he was always carrying out the plan of rotation in his belongings—only I do it now for him.

"I remember visiting once where the hostess took me into her linen closet while she put away the clean things, and she put the fresh sheets and pillow slips and towels at the bottom; only I think she kept every thing in dozens, for I remember her saying that it brought the 'wear' as she called it—more evenly on each of the dozen pieces. I've been doing that way myself ever since."

PRETTY SIDEBOARD COVERS IN COLORS.

Useful covers for table and sideboards are of blue linen, hemstitched, and edged with Irish peasant lace.

The linen may—in fact, must—be coarse, and it is very inexpensive. Blue does not soil easily, while the lace is all that could be desired—made of linen thread and quite inexpensive.

If the cover is intended for the sideboard the lace and hemstitching need be only 3 inches deep; the sleeve serving for the side nearest the wall. The hems of these covers should be about two inches broad.

Covers in colors are particularly adapted to seashore and country houses, but covers of natural linen edged with white lace are handsome enough to be used anywhere.

The Irish peasant lace is a really beautiful fabric, though it is too heavy for any purpose save for household furnishing.

IF YOU NEED A NEW HAT NOW

If occasion demands a new hat, not one of fall type, but a new one for general wear to take the place of the dilapidated summer one, then get one of the rough white straws that with the Charlotte Corday crown should be trimmed with ruffes of ribbon, and if white plumes are worn the hat will be given a much neater appearance, though some hats lately seen have depended wholly upon glossy white satin ribbon upon the dull white straw, and for all necessary trimming, and certainly it is a style to be recommended. However, in recommending this hat one must bear in mind that the coiffure must be considered, for the hat must be padded by artificial means to fill out the spaces below the hat brim, which would look somewhat grotesque unless the finishing touch was imparted by the wearer.

The Ever Popular Shantung.

As was only to be expected, the neat tailor-made shantung suit has gone apace, and has successfully achieved all the eclat predicted. Even the heavier ribbed quality, which, truth to tell, tailors far and away the best, is the perfection of coolness, as the extra substance enables the cloth to be dispensed with. The colorings, more particularly the green and cinnamon tones, are to be admirable, and our best couturieres do not so far evince any inclination to the other than severe in style with these shantung suits eschewing the elaborate to be displayed with a moderate length circular flaring style fitting the figure closely.

Bad Gin.

Mrs. Podunk—I don't think it's outrageous to send our fleets over to Japan.

Mr. Podunk—Oh, shaw, ma! It's just on a friendly visit. Why is it outrageous?

Mrs. Podunk—Why, them sailors will be full on them Japanese Jiujitsu ishas the hull time.—Judge.

Wasn't Precociously Bright.

Judge—Madam, this court as it disputable proof that your age is as yet you say you are only 24. How do you explain that?

Witness—Well, your honor, I can only say that I was 6 before I learned to count.—Boston Transcript.

An April bride will be inconsiderate not very intelligent, but fairly good looking.

CALL ALL TO GETTYSBURG.

Every Surviving Soldier Who Fought There Wanted in 1913.

The initiative steps toward the proper celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg on July 1, 2 and 3, 1913, were taken by a meeting of citizens in the court house at Gettysburg last night. It was decided that the movement shall be headed by the State of Pennsylvania and be of national importance and scope.

One of the features will be to have all of the veterans who participated in this fight transported there and furnished subsistence by the States to which they belong.

So Unlike Him.

"Yes," he said, "I've had a couple of drinks."

"The idea!" exclaimed his wife; "why do you tell me that?"

"Why, it's the truth."

"I know; that's why I can't understand you telling me it was."—The Catholic Standard and Times.

International Scrap.

The Nobleman—You bought me—ah—bat, you know, and you would buy a hat.

The Heiress—Yes, and what I'm sore about now is that I neglected to wait for my change.—Cleveland Leader.

LINING UP FOR ASSEMBLY

(Continued from page 1.)

A primary election cannot accomplish its true object unless every voter will come out and do his duty as a citizen. Be sure to draw a line with a black lead pencil through the name of every candidate for whom you do not wish to vote. If you do not do this, and the ballot contains the names of more candidates for an office than are to be chosen, your vote will count for nothing."

In a statement issued today, Chas. A. Trimble, of Elizabeth, who is waging a hard campaign for the nomination, tells where he stands on current questions including taxation, election laws, public utilities, grade crossings, anti-monopoly laws, bimonthly pay roll and the excise question. He says that he favors local option.

Assemblyman Kirsten, it is said, stands a less show of a nomination than Assemblyman John R. Moxon, of Elizabeth, would have, had he not announced that he is not a candidate.

DENIAL FROM WOLVERTON

(Continued from page 1.)

feet and then. Mr. Wolverton said, he escorted Mr. Versmuth to the Home. Mr. Ayres simply explained to the committee what he knew of conditions at the Home and told of the changes made since Mr. Wolverton took charge as superintendent.

New Jersey Central

In Effect September 10, 1908.

For New York—2.17, 3.37, 5.36, 6.02, 6.19, 6.37, 7.37, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 5.30, 5.36, 8.44, 9.29, 9.59, 10.29, 10.55, a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.00, 2.42, 3.42, 4.42, 5.42, 6.23, 7.27, 8.44, 9.29, 10.29, 11.29 p. m. Sundays—2.42, 3.42, 4.45, 5.53, 7.29, 8.45, 9.13, 10.13, 11.13 a. m., 12.13, 1.13, 2.13, 3.13, 4.13, 5.13, 6.13, 7.37, 8.27, 9.27, 10.31, 11.28 p. m.

For Newark—2.17, 3.37, 5.36, 6.02, 6.19, 6.37, 7.37, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 5.30, 5.36, 8.44, 9.29, 9.59, 10.29, 10.55, a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.00, 2.42, 3.42, 4.42, 5.42, 6.23, 7.27, 8.44, 9.29, 10.29, 11.29 p. m. Sundays—2.42, 3.42, 4.45, 5.53, 7.29, 8.45, 9.13, 10.13, 11.13 a. m., 12.13, 1.13, 2.13, 3.13, 4.13, 5.13, 6.13, 7.37, 8.27, 9.27, 10.31, 11.28 p. m.

For Elizabeth—2.17, 3.37, 5.36, 6.02, 6.19, 6.37, 7.37, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 5.30, 5.36, 8.44, 9.29, 9.59, 10.29, 10.55, a. m., 12.00 noon, 1.00, 2.42, 3.42, 4.42, 5.42, 6.23, 7.27, 8.44, 9.29, 10.29, 11.29 p. m. Sundays—2.42, 3.42, 4.45, 5.53, 7.29, 8.45, 9.13, 10.13, 11.13 a. m., 12.13, 1.13, 2.13, 3.13, 4.13, 5.13, 6.13, 7.37, 8.27, 9.27, 10.31, 11.28 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—5.18, 9.25, a. m., 2.00, 5.25, p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 2.03, 7.05 p. m.

For Easton—5.18, 9.25 a. m., 2.00, 5.25 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 2.00, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Bound Brook and Asbury Park, etc.—3.37, 8.11, 10.55 a. m., (12.45 Saturdays only) 1.37, 4.32, 6.44, 8.55, 11.55 p. m. Sundays—8.52 a. m., 2.30, 8.13 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—3.37, 9.29 a. m., (12.42, Saturdays only), 1.37, 4.32, 6.39 p. m. Sundays—9.45 a. m., 4.45 p. m.

For Philadelphia—7.12, 7.29, 8.45, 9.13, 10.43 a. m., 12.13, 1.13, 2.13, 3.13, 4.13, 5.13, 6.14, 6.44, 8.50, 9.46 p. m., 1.15 night. Sundays—8.45, 9.13, 10.13, 11.13 a. m., 12.13, 1.13, 2.13, 12.42, 1.44, 2.46, 3.42, 4.55, 5.39, 6.44, 8.50, 9.46 p. m., 1.15, 1.16 night.

For Baltimore and Washington—8.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.46, 3.42, 4.55, 6.44 p. m. Sundays—8.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.46, 6.44 p. m.

*Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Mgr. W. C. HOPE, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr. Gen. Pass. Agt.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.

Office opens 7 a. m., closes 7 p. m.
On Saturdays close half hour later.

NEW YORK and WEST.

Arrive—7.00, 8.40, 11.30 a. m., 1.20, 4.05, 6.20, 9 p. m., 12 midnight.
Close—7.30 a. m., 2.30 a. m., 1.00, 3.30, 6.05, 7.45 p. m.

SOMERVILLE and BARTON

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 3.15 and 7 p. m.
Close—7.30 a. m., 1.45 and 4.30 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct

Arrive—7.00, 8.40 and 11.30 a. m., 1.20, 7.00 p. m.
Close—7.15, 7.30, 9.30 a. m., 12.15, 3.30, 6.05 p. m.
THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR EAST
Close—2.00 and 7.15 p. m.
THROUGH FAST MAIL
Arrive—11.30 a. m.
Close—12.15, 6.40, 7.15 p. m.
PENNSYLVANIA, West of Harrisburg
Close—12.30 p. m.
PHILADELPHIA—Direct
Arrive—7.00 a. m., 1.20, 4.05, 6.20, 9 p. m., 12 midnight.
Close—7.30 a. m., 2.30 a. m., 1.00, 3.30, 6.05, 7.45 p. m.
NEWARK—Direct
Arrive—8.40 a. m., 3.15 and 7 p. m.
Close—7.30 a. m., 1.45 and 4.30 p. m.
WATCHUNG
Close—5.30 p. m.
Arrive—8.40 p. m.
SUNDAY MAILS
Office open from 9.30 to 10.30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6.15 p. m.

R. H. BIRD, P. M.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

VOL. XL — PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMEBER 24, 1908. — NO. 39

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

NOMINATE SCHWARTZ, PIERCE AND KIRSTEIN

Regulars' Candidates for Assembly are Nominated as is the Rest of their Ticket.

THOMPSON IN FOURTH PLACE.

Returns Come In Slowly—Elizabeth Polls Big Vote but Not So Elsewhere—The Results.

Here follows the vote polled at the respective primaries by the successful candidates for nomination in Union county yesterday:

For Senator—Ackerman, R., 8,277; Hyer, D., 5,852.

For Sheriff—Kirkland, R., 7,996; Martine, D., 5,806.

For Assembly—Pierce, R., 5,021; Kirstein, R., 3,360; Schwartz, R., 3,144; Thompson, R., 2,638; Stutzlen, R., 1,934; Trimble, R., 1,401; Henry, R., 1,107; Brower, D., 5,552; Reike, D., 5,533; Kiernan, D., 5,524.

For Coroner—Degenring, R., 8,216; Wagner, D., 5,770.

Despite the tremendous pressure brought to bear by the Local Optionists and Colbyites, A. K. Kirstein was renominated at the Republican primaries in Union county yesterday for the General Assembly. His running mates will be Assemblyman Carlton B. Pierce, who was high man on the ticket, and Augustus W Schwartz, all of whom were the candidates of the regular organization. Throughout the county, Thompson, of Westfield, ran a close fourth and much of his success was due to the work of his friends within the organization.

That Senator Ackerman is the choice of all Republicans for another term was shown amply, his vote being a distinct compliment. Captain Robert Kirkland also made a splendid run in all parts of the county, particularly in Elizabeth, where he lives.

Bible's Great Progress.

The topic for mid-week meeting this evening in First M. E. church will be the shortest prayer in the Bible. This is the third in the series of talks by the pastor in "Great Progress of the Bible."

Peaches, Bartlett pears, Damson plums and grapes are among the fruit specials at Neuman Brothers. A new, big assortment shown every day at reasonable prices.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES.

For Senator,
Frederick Hyer.

For Sheriff,
James E. Martine.

For Assembly,
W. F. Brower,
J. A. Reike.
Frank Kiernan.

For Mayor,
Walter L. Manning.

For Coroner,
Otto Wagner.

For Board of Education,
P. B. Goodfellow,
Ira G. Hulburt.

For Freeholders,
James P. Colvin,
Casper Waglow.

For Council,
W. T. Banks,
J. F. Connonlly,
J. H. Harkins,
William Tunison.

For Collector,
P. J. Reville.

CHESTER A. CAWLEY WEDS MISS JENNIE WINK

A pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wink in Somerville yesterday, when Mr. Wink's sister, Miss Jennie Wink, and Chester A. Cawley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cawley, were made husband and wife. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. William S. Cranmer, pastor of the First Reformed church, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the couple. The bride was attired in a Rajah blue traveling suit and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. After the ceremony refreshments were served, after which the couple boarded the Harrisburg flyer for a six weeks' trip to California.

The bride has long been popular in Somerville social circles. The groom is the manager of the W. H. Cawley Co. plants in Somerville and Flemington. He is a charter member of the Lodge of Elks and of the Somerville A. C. and is high in Masonic circles.

Hurt By Breaking of Ladder.

George Quinn, a mason, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning, suffering from several fractured ribs and contusions received in an accident. While ascending a ladder at the McDonough Brothers' new building on Madison avenue, the rungs broke and threw him to the ground. He was taken to the hospital in an automobile by his brother-in-law, Frank McInerny.

—Daily Press want ads. pay.

Plainfield Republican Primary Results.

	Totals 1st Ward	Totals 2d Ward	Totals 3d Ward	Totals 4th Ward	Total City
FOR SENATOR: Ackerman	271	306	218	408	1,157
FOR SHERIFF: Kirkland	220	305	207	409	1,141
FOR ASSEMBLY: Kirstein	159	48	58	432	697
Pierce	191	288	178	368	1,025
Schartz	156	78	41	316	587
Thompson	35	228	125	42	430
Stutzlen	27	215	113	24	379
Henry	12	35	21	42	110
Trimble	19	21	21	27	88
FOR FREEHOLDERS: Doane	226	296	212	406	1,139
Wilbur	224	283	210	407	1,124
FOR MAYOR: Fisk	222	300	204	406	1,132
FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION: Buckle	204	245	167	266	1,029
Tyler	197	297	272	157	923
FOR COMMON COUNCIL: Tolles	224				224
Hanaford		30			30
Holt		232			232
Taylor			209		209
Randolph				405	405
FOR COLLECTOR: Townsend	226	305	209	409	1,149
FOR CORONER: Degenring	225	298	209	430	1,062

AWARD $4,000 DAMAGE

Verdict Given as Compensation for Injuries Sustained by Little Girl.

BATTLE OF THE PHYSICIANS.

Craig A. Marsh and Walter L. Hetfield Winners in Legal Sparring; Fight With A. A. Clark.

In the Middlesex Court at New Brunswick yesterday afternoon a verdict for $4,000 was given Ellen Rafferty, the 7-year-old daughter of James S. Rafferty, of Lincoln, who was thrown from a trolley car on February 21 last while trying to board it. The suit had been a battle of expert testimony, doctors for the girl claiming that she had been permanently injured, as she was suffering from a growth in the brain, while the company's doctors claimed that she was suffering with throat trouble, and could be relieved by a simple operation.

Dr. F. M. Donohue, of New Brunswick, examined the girl in open court yesterday morning, and declared positively that the child had adenoids. Dr. Frank C. Ard, of this city, throat specialist, testified that he made a thorough examination of the girl Monday night, and that she did not have adenoids. A half dozen other doctors gave conflicting testimony in the case. Among the other physicians testifying for the plaintiff were Drs. F. J. Mooney, of Brooklyn, and Charles Lufburrow, of this city.

Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., was associated with Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh as counsel for the plaintiff. Former Congressman A. A. Clark was counsel for the defense.

FANWOOD BOROUGH KNOCKS OUT KIRSTEIN

Thompson, Pierce and Schwartz were favorites with Fanwood borough Republicans yesterday. The results of the party rplimarics in that borough follow:

REPUBLICAN.

For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 27; for sheriff, Robert J. Kirkland, 27; for members General Assembly—Richard F. Henry, 2; Albert F. Kirstein, 7; Carlton B. Pierce, 23; Augustus W. Schwartz, 11; Frank C. Stutzlen, 4; Lloyd Thompson, 19; Charles A. Trimble, 5; for coroner—Adolph Degenring, 26; H. G. Young, 1; for members Board of Freeholders—John Robinson, 24; for delegate State convention—S. W. McAneny, 22; for delegate to Congressional convention—A. D. Beeken, 18; for member county committee—Dr. F. W. Westcott, 22; for justice of peace—H. P. Robinson, 26; for members Borough Council—F. J. Palmer, 23; W. W. Outwater, 24.

DEMOCRATIC.

For Senator—Frederick Hyer, 3; for sheriff—James E. Martine, 3; for members General Assembly—Brower, 3; Kiernan, 3; Rieke, 3; for coroner—Wagner, 3; for member Board of Freeholders—Charles H. French, 3; for members Borough Council—H. D. Knight, 2; Charles Sternheim, 2; for delegate State convention—Wright Babcock, 1; for delegate Congressional convention—Lucien Ashley, 1.

SOMERSET DEMOCRATS WAGE A VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN.

Already the Democrats of Somerset county are getting ready to wage a great battle at the polls in November. Three mass-meetings have been arranged for this week. One will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Voorhees' Hall at Rocky Hill, one on Thursday evening at the same hour in the school house at Hamlinton, and one in Holcombe's Hall at Neshanic on Friday night. At all of these meetings the speakers will be former Congressman John J. Fitzgerald, of New York; Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, the Democratic nominee for State Senator, and Clarence J. Garretson, the Democratic nominee for Assembly.

Mission Workers Meet.

A rally service of the Home Mission Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church was held yesterday afternoon at the home of the president, Charles F. Dayton. A large number of members responded to the roll call. Plans of work for the coming year were discussed and preparations for filling a barrel to be sent to a missionary in the West was begun. Many of the articles sent are made by the ladies. During a pleasant social hour refreshments were served.

CITY PRIMARY SURPRISES

Democrats Name Manning Against Fisk and Kirstein Wins for Assembly.

BUCKLE'S SPLENDID VOTE.

Fourth Ward All Regular—New Idea Wins in Second and Third—Democrats' Complete Ticket.

Plainfield's first direct primary election yesterday was replete with surprises and not the least among them was the nomination of a complete city ticket on the part of the Democrats.

The regulars' candidates for general Assembly nomination, Kirstein, Pierce and Schwartz, won a signal victory although the Second and Third wards went against them, Pierce excepted, the last named being supported by the New Idea and the Local Optionists as well.

The Fourth ward was solid for the regulars' ticket and much was due there to the efforts of Andrew McCardell, Herbert Buxton and William Newcorn.

In the Second ward the Colbyites won easily with Frank Holt as their candidate for the Common Council manic nomination. In that ward, Lloyd Thompson defeated Kirstein for a place on the Assembly ticket. Thompson, in fact ran a close fourth in the race in this city, as he had many friends in the regular organization.

Former Mayor James F. Buckle received a larger total vote than former Councilman William S. Tyler for member of the Board of Education, but as there are two vacancies both are nominees.

Walter L. Manning will be the opponent of Charles Fred Fisk at the general election on November 3, as the result of yesterday's primaries. The Democrats have a complete set of candidates for all other municipal offices.

State Senator E. R. Ackerman, as the candidate for renomination made the best showing on the Republican ticket. Robert Kirkland, the sheriffalty candidate, was a close second. In one respect, Mr. Pierce made the best showing for Assembly but when it is considered that he was opposed the laurels go to Kirstein who was bitterly antagonized by both the Colbyites and the Local Optionists.

REPUBLICAN.

First Ward—First District:

For delegates to State convention—A. T. Raymond, 97; C. H. Wetzell, 97. For delegate to Congressional convention—Robert Newcorn, Crane, 150; Walter C. McNaughton, 147; Herbert D. Templin, 150. For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 150. For members of General Assembly—Richard F. Henry, 9; Albert F. Kirstein, 102; Carlton B. Pierce, 129; Augustus W. Schwartz, 102; Frank C. Stutzlen, 21; Lloyd Thompson, 29; Charles A. Trimble, 13. For Sheriff—Robert J. Kirkland, 147. For members Board of Freeholders—J. Hervey Doane, 151; S. P. T. Wilbur, 150. For Coroner—Adolph Degenring, 150. For Mayor—Charles J. Fisk, 150. For members Board of Education—full term—James F. Buckle, 143; for unexpired term—William S. Tyler, 124. For collector—William R. Townsend, 151. For member Common Council—Ralph I. Tolles, 150. For members county committee—Amos Andrews, 149; James F. Buckle, 146. For members city committee—Amos Andrews, 150; James F. Buckle, 148; Armstrong Mulford, 151.

First Ward—Second District.

For delegates to State convention—A. T. Raymond, 54; C. H. Wetzell, 54. For delegates to Congressional convention—William E. Dunn, 74; John M. Lewis, 74. For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 75. For members General Assembly—Richard F. Henry, 2; Albert F. Kirstein, 57; Carlton B. Pierce, 62; Augustus W. Schwartz, 54; Frank C. Stutzlen, 6; Lloyd Thompson, 6; Charles A.

Continued on page 8.)

Democratic Ward Results

Senator, Hyer—
First, 17; Second 24; Third, 15; Fourth, 39; total, 95.

Sheriff, Martine—
First, 21; Second, 24; Third, 18; Fourth, 40; total, 103.

Freeholders—
Colvin, 6, 14, 11, 18; total 69.
Waglow, 6, 14, 11, 23; total, 54.

Assembly—
Brower, Kiernan and Reike, each, 17, 24, 15, 39.
Total for each 95.

Coroner—
Wagner, 3, 11, 15, 38.
Total, 67.

—Daily Press want ads. pay.
—Advertise in The Daily Press.

CARPENTERS BADLY HURT

Scaffold Gives Way, Throwing Three of Them Thirty Feet to the Ground.

ALL TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

One of the Victims Injured Internally and May Possibly Die—Reside in Brooklyn.

By the breaking of a scaffold on a house being erected on Martine avenue, three carpenters were thrown to the ground and badly hurt, one of them perhaps fatally, yesterday afternoon. They were extricated from a mass of wrecked timbers and hurried to Muhlenberg Hospital, where it was said this morning that the recovery of one of them was uncertain.

The man most severely injured is Ludwig Johnson, of Brooklyn, who sustained a fractured ankle and possible internal hurts. He was caught beneath some of the timbers and was pinned down until help came. The other men are Albert Johnson, also of Brooklyn but who has been stopping at the Hotel Belmont, and John Benson, of the same city. Albert Johnson's right leg was fractured and Benson has contusions over the entire body.

The house where the accident occurred is one of a number being erected by the Central Realty Company. Most all the workmen are from out of town and the building is supervised by Ernest Sharp, the president and manager of the concern. The scaffold was erected by the men who were injured and was located just above the second story, a distance of about twenty-five or thirty feet from the ground. The carpenters had been at work on it all afternoon and were just about to quit for the day when the break occurred.

An investigation showed that the supporting braces had been insecurely put up. They were fastened to the side of the house and the nails pulled out, dropping the entire platform. The crash brought a lot of workmen to the scene and the ambulance was summoned as the work of rescue took place.

Ludwig Johnson was taken to the hospital first and the other two were given temporary treatment while awaiting the vehicle's return.

COLBY'S MAJORITY APPROXIMATELY 1,200

Reliable reports from Newark at 2:30 this afternoon indicate that Everett Colby has defeated Judge Thomas L. Raymond for State Senator.

With some districts yet to be heard from his majority is placed at approximately 1,800 over the regular organization candidate. Twenty-one districts are missing.

William Fellowes Morgan, the Colbyite candidate for sheriff, is in the lead and his nomination is probable. According to the best information obtainable at 2:30, the Republican Assembly contest is still in doubt, the regulars claiming a victory.

The regular Republicans dispute Mr. Colby's claims and are confident that Judge Raymond has won.

At 2:45, a reliable dispatch from Newark announces that Mr. Colby's majority is about 1,200. Mr. Morgan's majority is placed at approximately 1,50. At 3 o'clock there was still four districts to be heard from, Mr. Colby had 900 majority. These missing districts will approximately add 300 to his vote.

WESTFIELD.

Republican.

First ward—For Senator, Ackerman, 198; for sheriff, 199; for coroner, Degenring, 200; for members General Assembly—Pierce, 71; Kirstein, 6; Schwartz, 8; Stutzlen, 47; Trimble, 12; Thompson, 187; Henry, 9. Third ward—For Senator, Ackerman, 119; for sheriff, Kirkland, 119; for coroner, Degenring, 188; for members General Assembly—Pierce, 52; Kirstein, 14; Schwartz, 2; Stutzlen, 18; Trimble, 18; Thompson, 109; Henry, 5.

Work for Harmony.

The friends of W. L. Smalley held a conference on Monday and agreed to meet a number of Republicans, who were to decide what best course was advisable for the party to persue in regard to the councilmanic nominees. Such a meeting was held without any definite action being taken. Mr. Smalley stood ready to drop from the contest if it was deemed best for party harmony.

—Daily Press want ads. pay.
—Advertise in The Daily Press.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

For Senator,
Ernest R. Ackerman.

For Sheriff,
Robert Kirkland.

For Assembly,
C. B. Pierce,
A. F. Kirstein,
G. W. Schwartz.

For Coroner,
Adolph Degenring.

For Mayor,
Charles J. Fisk.

For Board of Education,
James F. Buckle,
William S. Tyler.

For Freeholders,
S. P. T. Wilbur,
J. H. Doane.

For Councilmen,
Ralph I. Tolles,
Frank Holt,
Duncan W. Taylor,
F. W. Randolph.

For Collector,
W. R. Townsend.

EASY FOR REGULARS IN FANWOOD TOWNSHIP

In Fanwood township, the result in the Republican camp was much one-sided, the regulars winning an easy victory with Kirstein, Pierce and Schwartz as their candidates for General Assembly. John Robison was renamed for Freeholder, while George H. Johnston was again nominated for county committee. There were no contests in the Democratic ranks and there was no cutting done. Eighty-one votes were cast in the Republican box, while fourteen were found in the Democratic box, two of which were rejected.

These were the results of the primaries:

REPUBLICAN.

For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 81. For sheriff—Robert J. Kirkland, 81. For members of the General Assembly—Richard F. Henry, 2; Albert F. Kirstein, 62; Carlton B. Pierce, 70; Augustus W. Schwartz, 52; Frank C. Stutzlen, 2; Lloyd Thompson, 17; Charles A. Trimble, 7. For Coroner—Adolph Degenring, 81. For member county committee—George H. Johnston, 63. For delegate to State convention—Edward L. Hand, 38. For delegate to Congressional convention—Ernest Clark, 36. For Chosen Freeholders—2 years—John Robison, 69; For township committee—3 years—Winfield S. Terry, 80. For township clerk—3 years—Edward L. Hand, 81. For Justice of the Peace—5 years—Charles Ball, 3. For Constable—1 year—William Terry, 26. For Surveyors of Highways—1 year—Thomas O. Whitmack, 15; Andrew Schaffer, 18. Four pound keepers—1 year—John Mair, 27.

DEMOCRAT.

For Senator—Frederick C. Hyer, 12; for sheriff—James E. Martine, 12; for member of the General Assembly—Wilber F. Brower, 12; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, 12; Frederick Rieke, 12; for coroner—Otto Wagner, 12; for member county committee—no candidate; for delegate to State convention, no candidate; for delegate to Congressional convention, no candidate; for chosen Freeholder—2 years—Charles French, 12; for township committee—3 years—Ferdinand Schmidt, 1; Thomas Bruckman, 1; for township clerk—3 years—no candidate; for Justice of the peace—5 years—Charles Haberly, for constable—1 year—Horace Pangborn; for surveyors of highways—1 year—George E. Mosenoir, Samuel Lee; for pound keepers—1 year—James R. Lambert.

Appropriations approved by both parties: Repair roads, $2,500; repair sidewalks, $300; support poor, $500; fire department, $200; police department, $100.

Dunellen Resident Dead.

Peter Mchrod, one of Dunellen's oldest and best known citizens, died at his home on North avenue, shortly before none today. He was in his eighty-fifth year and had lived in Dunellen a long time. He leaves a wife, one son, John Merschrod and a daughter, Miss Mrschrod, living at the home.

Plan Dime Social.

A Dime Social will be held tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Weber, of 408 West Third street. It will be under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Heyse chapel and the proceeds will go to the organ fund. All members of Heyse chapel are cordially invited to participate in this affair.

SHOOTS WIFE IN BED; THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Early Morning Tragedy at Home of Louis Kiehl on Rock Avenue.

WOMAN WILL PROBABLY DIE.

Husband Believed She Was Accepting Attentions From Charles Thomas who Boarded With Them.

Actuated by what he believed to be faithlessness on the woman's part, Louis Kiehl, a motorman on the Netherwood line of the local trolley, returned to his home at Rock avenue and Fourth street at 2 o'clock this morning and fired two bullets into his wife as she lay in bed asleep. He then turned the weapon upon himself and blew out his brains, dying almost instantly. His wounded victim was hurried to Muhlenberg Hospital but her death is said to be only a matter of time.

One of the bullets struck the woman in the right temple and passed downward, emerging below the jaw. The other one entered the right breast and is lodged somewhere in the organs, the physicians being unable to locate it exactly. She has remained unconscious since she was shot.

The tragedy was carefully planned by Kiehl and it is known that he wrote a farewell letter to a friend yesterday afternoon. It was inscribed in German and was found on his body after it was taken to an undertaking establishment at Dunellen. The contents have not been given out.

Kiehl and his wife had only been married eight months but they had quarrelled nearly all the time because of the husband's jealousy. He frequently accused her of being intimate with Charles Thomas, a boarder at their home, who they induced to come out from New York to live with them. To his neighbors, Kiehl stated on frequent intervals that he and his wife were not married but the police have learned that this is not so. The ceremony was performed in New York and both Thomas and Augustus Sutterlein, of West Front street, were witnesses. The woman was a widow, her name then being Amelia Fuller.

Kiehl was of a taciturn disposition but he openly discussed his wife's alleged fondness for Thomas. He referred to it frequently and while his neighbors or friends saw nothing to substantiate his allegations the subject was always uppermost when he talked. His work kept him out late at night and when he returned home early this morning his plans to wreak vengeance had been completed.

Mrs. Kiehl was sleeping in a bed room on the first floor. He evidently proceeded directly to her and fired the first bullet after 'careful aim. The report aroused Thomas who occupied a room upstairs. He had barely awoke and was still wondering what the noise was when he heard the second shot. He started downstairs as fast as he could go but had taken only a step or two when the third report sounded clear. Kiehl's body, lying in the center of the room greeted his gaze as he entered the bedchamber and another look showed the bloodstained face of the wife framed by her pillow.

Without investigating further, Thomas hurried to Lawrence Kerwin's hotel next door and a boy was dispatched on horseback for the nearest physician. He returned with Dr. Platt, of Dunellen, who pronounced the man dead, but found Mrs. Kiehl breathing regularly. He gave temporary treatment and then had her taken to the hospital in the ambulance.

Kiehl was forty-five years old and came to Plainfield from New York five years ago. He had always been employed by teh trolley company and the local superintendent declared him to be one of the most reliable men in the service. He was sober and industrious but mingled but little with the other employes. He was not the Fourth and Somerset street lines for a long time but was recently transferred to Netherwood. The only known relative is a sister-in-law, Mrs. Liable, living in New Market.

The scene of the affair is just over the line in Middlesex county and the local police took no action after the first investigation. Chief Kiely was notified by the neighbors and Roundsman Higgins was sent to the

(Continued on page 8.)

EXAMINES P.O. SITE
Commissioner Field, of Washington, Spends Two Days Looking Over the Ground.

OFFERS ARE MUCH TOO HIGH.

Government May Order Condemnation Proceedings—Only One Bid Within the Limit as Submitted.

William Fletcher Field, commissioner from the Treasury department at Washington, arrived in Plainfield Wednesday for purpose of inspecting various sites for the proposed Federal building to be located here, with the purpose of making a recommendation to the Government. There are six bona-fide offers of sites, but in all but one instance the prices asked far exceed the amount allowed for the purpose of a site, which is twenty per cent. of the $100,000 appropriated by Congress.

The only available site, considering the price, is the Embury property at East Front and Church streets, which can be had for $8,926. This property is 111.70x167 and is on the southeast corner of East Front street. The other offers are as follows:

Watchung avenue, East Second and East Third street, 375x150, offered by Charles S. Lyman, $300 a foot. East Second street, between Park and Watchung avenues, 160x147, offered by David T. Kenney, $42,000. Another offer by Mr. Kenney of the above property, but with a passage way to East Front street, 160x147, offered for $58,500. Northeast corner of Watchung avenue and East Front street, 160x147, known as the Durlach property, $60,000. One property offered, though not considered, was that of John Manley on the East corner of the driveway to the railroad station and Park avenue, 143x157, the price being $60,000. The reasons for not considering this site is that it is not on a corner, as required by the proposals.

As is to be expected, Mr. Field did not discuss the relative merits of the different properties offered as sites, neither did he give any idea as to which one he would favor. The only information he gave out was that the Embury property was the only available one when the price is considered. He thought that for $20,000 sufficient land could be obtained at East Front and Church streets upon which the building could be built. This would leave $80,000 for the building.

Of the large number of proposals contained in the Act of Congress authorizing the purchase of lands for the erection of Federal buildings, the one referring to Plainfield is the only one in which the Comptroller of the Treasury is authorized to acquire land by purchase or through condemnation proceedings and contract for the erection of the building and the equipment of the same. This is interpreted to mean that once the site is obtained the work of putting up a building would be comparatively easy so far as the letting of contracts, etc.

When asked how the offers here compared with those in other places, Mr. Field said that he found them to be much higher in Plainfield. He said that some people seem to think that as soon as it becomes known that the Government wants a site for a Federal building they immediately jump the prices, believing that they are going to get a big thing out of the sale.

It was explained by Mr. Field that the Government can condemn property desired for a site and in this way get land for much less money. He said that this was an easy matter. In cases where larger sums than authorized are recommended for the purchase of property, Mr. Field said that Congress is always waiting to investigate and learn the reasons therefore. For this reason the department always prefers to get property within the specified figures and negotiate a bargain on that basis. This obviates considerable trouble and expedites the work of erecting a Federal building.

Made Supervising Engineer.

Hervey K. Doane, son of Chief and Mrs. T. O. Doane, who has been in the employ of Burns & McDonald, contractors of Kansas City, Missouri, has just been promoted to the position of supervising engineer, and has been put in charge of the construction of a big water plant at Cottonwood Dolls, Kan. The work will involve the laying of six miles of iron pipe, the erection of a powerhouse and the building of a concrete reservoir, sixty-five feet high and one hundred feet in diameter. It will require about four months to complete the job. Mr. Doane was graduated from Rutgers College, two years ago and since then has made rapid progress in his profession as civil engineer. For a time he was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad on their tunnel work in New York. His recent promotion is considered a high honor.

Fred Harding, who has been the tower operator at Roselle on the New Jersey Central, has been transferred to the town near Berckman street, and Frank Kline has been transferred to Cranford Junction.

Considering the question of a site for the Federal building in this city, there is some comment concerning the difference in the prices as submitted by the owners of the Embury property at East Front and Church street and the one owned by the Durlach estate at East Front street and Watchung avenue. The Embury property is offered for $8,926 or $80 a foot. The Durlach property, which is a block away, is offered for $60,000, or $400 a foot.

By purchasing an additional strip of land adjoining the Embury property, making the whole purchase price about $20,000, it is alleged that a satisfactory site for the Federal building could be obtained. According to report Commissioner W. F. Field, who was in town this week for the purpose of inspecting the various site for recommendation, will likely favor the Embury property. The Durlach land could be obtained through condemnation proceedings, but the Government, it is said, dislikes to follow that method for obtaining land. The Durlach property is assessed at $20,000, which is supposed to represent the total value under the law.

During his stay in the city, Mr. Field called on real estate men and many others who are interested in the proposition, including the merchants, with a view to learning their opinions regarding a suitable site for the postoffice building. These opinions will have considerable weight in the recommendation to be made.

COURT HOUSE RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION

Work on Somerset county's new white marble court house has progressed so rapidly during the past few weeks that it is quite possible that the contractor will have finished his job in about a month, if the work moves on the same rapidly as it has recently. This does not mean, however, that the edifice will be ready for occupancy in four weeks because there are many things to be done before the new structure is ready for use. It is expected, nevertheless, that the December term of the county court will be held in the new court house.

Work on the steps leading to the main entrance is being completed this week and the copper covering to the dome is still to be put on, besides the finishing of a number of other portions of the building. The new structure makes a most imposing appearance and is the admiration of all visitors to the county seat. Motorists on a slight seeing tour in variably stop and for a few moments view the handsome building.

Yesterday one or two of the historic elms in front of the court house were removed so that a better view of the structure could be had from Main street. It is understood that the remainder of the trees are to be allowed to remain, as they form a landmark in that portion of the town.

The building committee in charge of the work on the new court house is already making preparations for the furnishings. Recently, at a meeting in the office of the architect in New York, the contract for the furniture was awarded to the Deby Desk Company of Boston at its bid of $16,800, the lowest. There were many bidders and the bids ranged from that sum up to $22,000.

It is said that the cost of the new court house complete will be about $325,000.

W. L. SMALLEY, JR., SELLS HIS PROPERTY, "SUNNYSIDE."

Councilmanic candidate William L. Smalley, Jr., of the borough, Thursday completed negotiations for the sale of all but a small part of his property, "Sunnyside," located on Greenbrook road. The purchaser is T. H. Harrington, a New York wholesale butcher, who will take possession within a month.

The deal includes the residence on the place which was formerly the Stine homestead and which Mr. Smalley had entirely remodelled and fitted with all modern improvements. The farm comprises sixty acres but the former owner reserved twelve acres directly in the corner of Greenbrook road and West End avenue where he will reside. The location is an ideal one, as a beautiful grove of trees will be in the front yard, and Mr. Smalley will build an artificial lake in a hollow on the west side of the site for the house.

The deal was consummated through the agencies of Charles H. Lyman and Armstrong Mulford.

Y. M. C. A. Boys' Reception.

Extensive alterations are being made in the Y. M. C. A. at present. The boys rooms are being refitted with handsome rugs and new window seats. New games have been bought and a pool table has been set up in the amusement room. The work is expected to be completed October 1, and on that day a reception will be held for the members and their friends. About the same time an announcement of the work for the boys' department will be made.

PEDEFLOUS MUST ANSWER
Proprietor of Mountain Resort Indicted for Selling Liquor on Sunday.

HIS HOTEL IS WELL KNOWN.

Owner of Popular Hostelry Patronized by Automobile Parties, to Appear in Court Next Saturday.

Included in a batch of indictments returned by the Somerset county grand jury at the conclusion of its session, Friday afternoon, was one which has caused a mild sensation locally. It is against Henry Pedeflous, proprietor of the hotel on the Warrenville road, which is famous througout the metropolitan district for its mushroom dinners and which has been a resort for automobile parties since suburban outings became popular.

The indictment charges Maison Henry Pedeflous with violating the excise law in dispensing liquor on Sundays, the offense constituting a "disorderly house." Several instances are specified in the investigation has been conducted with absolute secrecy and when the announcement came today it occasioned no little surprise. County Detective George Totten was in the city this morning for the purpose of proceeding to the hotel and notifying the proprietor but it was said over the 'phone from the hostelry that no official word had been received up to 2 o'clock. It is understood that Mr. Pedeflous will be summoned to appear at Somerville to answer to the charges one week from today.

The Pedeflous place is one of the best known in the State and gained fame by the admirable mushroom dinners prepared by its chef. The mushrooms are raised on the premises and are also sold throughout the city. When the Bishop's bill was passed it was currently rumored that it was not observed on the valley road as strictly as its originators would have it but there was never any attempt at official investigation. The Excise Commission, of which Mayor Fisk is the president, did not make any inquiries in this vicinity in its tour of the State but Madame Grundy worked overtime in declaring that the mushroom farm would get into the limelight somewhere along the route. The commission passed it by, however, and nothing more was heard until Friday's indictment.

SOME JERSEY DRIVERS TO ATTACK AUTO LAWS

George E. Blakeslee, a prominent automobilist and club member of Jersey City, stated that the Joseph S. Frelinghuysen bill would be attacked, and, if necessary, it would be carried into the United States Supreme Court, as automobilists of New Jersey are convinced that the license fee, fixed by the law at $15, is excessive and an unjust tax on those entering the State, who must pay the tax as an additional fee.

"If you live in New York and want to come into New Jersey," he said, "you must hand up this license fee of $15 if you only drive a block. We can drive in any State except Pennsylvania without paying a fee, and if other States accord this privilege to New Jersey auto owners, we contend that New Jersey should make the same concession." We feel, too, that the license fee is too high. There is no reason why we should pay a $15 license fee for a 30-horse power car when trucks and other heavy vehicles drive over the roads without being required to pay any license fee. We do no more damage to the roads than they do.

"A committee of eight has been appointed, five from the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey and three from the State Dealers' Trade Association, which has thoroughly canvassed the situation. We have retained ex-Governor Griggs and Thaddeus Terry, of New York, to test the constitutionality of the New Jersey law, and we are prepared and determined, in case of adverse decisions, to carry it through to the United States Supreme Court. We are confident of winning, for we have carefully gone over the ground with counsel."

Nat Goodwin to Build a Theatre.

Nat Goodwin, who is credited with having made a fortune from his investments in Canada lands, has announced he will build a theatre in Los Angeles and make that city his permanent home. Mr. Goodwin declares the construction of the building will be begun within a few months, unless he should suffer financial reverses, which he does not expect will be the case.

Somerville's Tax Rate $1.53.

Assessor Bogart T. Conkling, of Bridgewater township, Somerset county, yesterday announced the tax rate in his district for 1908. It is many points lower all the way through. In Somerville the rate is $1.53. Last year it was $1.90. In other parts of the township $1 as against $1.22 last year.

DR. FRANK S. WELLS WEDS
Miss Anna T. Wooden, Dentist's Bride, Ceremony Being Performed by Rev. Mr. Shaw.

WAS A QUIET CEREMONY.

Only Attendants a Niece and Nephew of the Bride—Couple to Reside on Grant Avenue.

Miss Anna T. Wooden, daughter of Mrs. Eliza Ann Wooden, of Orchard place, and Dr. Frank S. Wells, of Grant avenue, were married at 6 Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother in the presence of a few guests. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of which the bride and groom are both members. The only attendants were Dorothy Wooden, as flower girl, and George Woodgrin, as page. The former is a niece and the latter a nephew of the bride.

The bride was gowned in white Liberty satin and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The couple, preceded by the flower girl and page, entered the parlor where the Loehengrin Wedding March was rendered on the piano by Miss Ethel Morris, a niece of the groom. After the ceremony congratulations were offered and supper was served. Later Dr. and Mrs. Wells left for a wedding trip to Philadelphia and Washington. They will reside on Grant avenue upon their return.

The home was attractively decorated for the occasion, there being a profusion of palms and potted plants, the color scheme being green and white. In the parlor where the ceremony was performed there was a large wedding bell of green and white.

The bride received a large collection of gifts, including a handsome diamond pin from the groom, silverware, cut glass and linen.

The groom has been a resident of this city for many years and is engaged in the practice of dentistry. He is prominent as a member and worker at the Seventh-Day Baptist church. Mrs. Wells is also active in church work and both have a host of friends.

NEED NOT PRAY IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

State Superintendent C. J. Baxter, of the Public Schools, has just rendered a decision that children attending public schools need not participate in the religious exercises in the schools unless their parents wish to have them do so. He says that no child will be compelled to take part in the prayers in school if his parents object.

The decision is the outcome of a case brought by Arthur Watts, of River Edge, whose two children, aged 8 and 11 respectively, attend school there. He objected to their taking part in the prayers and Bible reading in the school, with the result that the children were told either to stay away from school or pray with the other children.

They stayed away from school and Mr. Watts carried the case up to the State Superintendent.

THE KNEISEL QUARTET TO APPEAR IN PLAINFIELD SOON

Joseph McIntyre, of Watchung avenue, whose chamber music concerts last season attracted such widespread interest among lovers of music, announces that he will give four concerts this winter at the Casino, the first of which will be on Thursday, November 12. There will be the usual trio with an assisting artist.

There will be unusual interest in the announcement that Mr. McIntyre has arranged to bring the famous Kneisel quartet to Plainfield on Wednesday, November 16, and judging by the number of subscriptions received the quartet will be assured by a capacity audience. The quartet appeared here ten years ago. It is considered the best now appearing in this part of the country.

The dates for the other two concerts have not been definitely decided upon as yet, but they will be given early in the New Year, and will be of as high character as those in the past. Mr. McIntyre expects to bring some well known soloists here which will add to the attractiveness of the concerts.

Soon to Be Married.

The marriage of William A. Mettler, of Somerville, and Miss Ida F. Koetz, of Vineland, will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koetz, at Vineland, Wednesday, October 7, at 6 o'clock.

Money's Worth.

"Then you don't object to these 'Merry Widow' hats?"

"No; they kinder make me feel I'm getting something for my money, which is not always the case with my wife's investments."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FRED B. TALLAMY WEDS
Miss Emma E. Baldwin.

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends in the Dunellen Presbyterian church at o'clock last evening, Miss Emma Edna Baldwin, daughter of Mrs. Emma L. Baldwin, of Dunellen, and Frederick Burgess Tallamy, son of William Tallamy, of Watchung street, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. W. Casselberry, the bride's pastor, with a double ring service.

Miss Baldwin was attended by her sister, Miss Annetta E. Baldwin, as maid of honor, while Percy Henry, of New York, cousin of the groom, was best man. The Misses Anna Acer and Iva Dayton, both of Dunellen, acted as bridesmaids and the ushers were Bertram F., William J., and Louis V. Tallamy, brothers of the groom, and George F. Miller, of Dunellen. The bridal party was completed by John Cole, of Newark, uncle of the bride, who gave her in marriage. The wedding march was rendered by Robert Humpston, brother-in-law to the groom.

Miss Baldwin's gown was of Lear lace over white taffeta, trimmed with Lear lace and insertion. She wore a tulle veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of bride roses. The maid of honor wore white net trimmed with valenciennes lace and insertion and carried white carnations. The bridesmaids wore sussine silk over pink taffeta and carried pink carnations.

The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. R. Hetfield, on North avenue, Dunellen, which was attended by many guests from Plainfield, Dunellen and other places and at its conclusion Mr. and Mrs. Tallamy left for a brief honeymoon trip. On returning they will reside temporarily with the groom's parents and later will make their home on Morris street.

The decorations at the church were of potted plants and ferns while at the house they were of smilax and pink and white carnations.

Mr. Tallamy is a mason by occupation and is associated with his brothers in business. He has a wide local reputation as a vocalist and at the present time is tenor soloist in the North Presbyterian church, 143d street, New York. His bride has also been a resident of Dunellen.

In an exchange of gifts in the bridal party, the groom gave the bride a ruby ring, the best man pearl cuff buttons, the ushers pearl scarf pins and the organist an amethyst scarf pin. The bride's gifts to her attendants were pearl brooches.

WOULD HAVE SEPT. 30 NAMED AS A HOLIDAY

A movement has been started by members of the Greenwich Tea-Burning Monument commission to have September 30, which is the date of the dedication of their monument, declared a general holiday, so as to enable the patriotic societies of the state to attend the parade planned. As the situation stands just at present, many of the societies which desire a full attendance in the parade on that day, find that a large number will be unable to get the "day off," and they do not desire to be represented by a few of their members.

The monument is to commemorate the memorable occasion at Greenwich, when the first blow was struck by New Jersey against the crown. During the summer of 1774 a cargo of tea, on board the ship Greyhound, in command of a Captain Allen, came up Delaware bay, bound for Philadelphia. The captain, however, fearing the displeasure of the Philadelphia patriots, ran his ship up Cohansey creek, which runs through Cumberland county, and stopped at Greenwich, where the tea was stored in the cellar of one Daniel Bowen.

Here it remained until late in November, when a party of young men of the town, disguised as Indian "braves," as their Boston neighbors, gathered at Bowen's cellar, hustling the tea from the house, they offered it upon an adjoining lot as a fitting holocaust.

Later on, the matter was taken up by the Philadelphia merchants, owners of the tea, and prosecution instituted, but the jurymen who presided proved to be too good patriots to bring in a verdict in favor of the Tories.

Descendants of the Ewing boys, who took part in that adventure of the early revolution, afterward moved to the vicinity of this city, where many of their children are found today.

THE GREAT RIVALRY.

Candidate, he come along.
Talkin' night an' noon.
Glee club sing a purty song;
We jines in de tune.
Hab a mos' convincin' way;
Speeks dey mus' speak true;
"Mista man, yo' candidate," say,
"I gwineter vote for you!"

'Nuther candidate draws nigh;
Has a band dat's great.
Say dat opposition try
To swamp de ship o' state!
An' now de question dat I note
A risin' th'oo de land,
Is dis: "Which wins, de people's vote,
De glee club or de band?"
—Washington Star.

LOSES $5,000 BY FIRE
Blaze at Eugene Van Court's Oak Tree, Supposed to be of Incendiary Origin.

THE SUSPECT A COLORED MAN.

Investigation Being Made by Authorities—Two Horses and and a Cow Were Killed.

Fire, believed to be of incendiary origin was responsible for the loss of the large barn of Eugene Van Court, at Oak Tree, at midnight last Wednesday and two valuable horses, a cow, several wagons and farming implements were all destroyed by the flames before they could be rescued. The loss is estimated at $5,000. While the cause for the blaze is not definitely known, suspicion points to a colored man, formerly employed by Mr. Van Court, and who was discharged a few days ago.

The man in question would occasionally go on a spree and when in this condition was considered a dangerous character about the neighborhood. Since he was discharged he had not been seen in the vicinity of his former place of employment, but it is said that he was observed because of the fact that he lost his job. Mr. VanCourt has reported the matter to the authorities and they have been requested to be on the lookout for the man, who is described as being tall and slender and unusually black. His clothing was ordinary and the man has the appearance of being rather shiftless.

It was about midnight that Mr. VanCourt was awakened by the fire in his barn and hurriedly dressing himself he at once aroused his neighbors as best he could. Within a short time the people in the immediate vicinity had gathered, but despite their best efforts they were unable to save any of the contents of the structure. It is believed that the fire had been burning at least ten minutes before it was discovered by Mr. VanCourt and this gave it such a headway that it was impossible to extinguish it, especially as there was no adequate water supply available. The blaze illuminated the sky for miles around and was plainly visible in this city.

Mr. VanCourt is one of the best known citizens at Oak Tree, being engaged in the coal and farming business there. It is said that he discharged the colored man because of inefficiency.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN OF EDWARD M. WALDRON.

Aroused by the crackling of flames, Frank Taylor, a colored coachman, with his family, barely escaped from their living apartment in the barn of Edward M. Waldron, once candidate for Mayor of Newark, on his estate near Lyons Station, about midnight, Wednesday night. The barn was totally destroyed, and firemen had hard work to save the Waldron residence, which is about one hundred feet from the burned structure.

Taylor and his family were sound asleep when the flames awoke them, and, finding his egress from the floors cut off, the coachman raised the front window and, with his family, jumped through it to the ground. None of them were injured, and Taylor speedily sounded an alaram and awoke the Waldron family.

How the blaze started is not known. The coachman was unable to save any of his household effects.

Three horses, a pony, two cows and several carriages and coaches were consumed in the flames. Firemen from Basking Ridge and Bernardsville were summoned, and upon arriving at the blaze, directed their streams upon the house.

Pending the arrival of the firemen, neighbors assisted in removing the furniture from the residence and piled it at the extreme end of the lawn. Mr. Waldron's two children were taken to the home of William S. Kearn nearby and sheltered and neighbors secured from the dairy of Luther Childs a number of buckets. These were utilized by a bucket brigade to enable water being dashed against the heat blistered side of the house nearest the barn.

The loss is placed by Mr. Waldron at about thirty-five hundred dollars, covered by insurance.

NELSON RUNYON OFFICER OF 30TH N. J. VOLS. ASSN.

Veterans from all over New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York congregated in Somerville Wednesday to attend the eighteenth annual reunion of the Thirtieth Regiment, New Jersey Veteran Volunteers. The address of welcome was made by Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan, the Democratic candidate for State Senator, and Mayor Somerville, of Somerville, the commander of General Wadsworth Post, No. 75 G. A. R., responded. An address was also made by Rev. Audley J. Bliss, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Somerville.

These officers were elected: President, Dr. James D. VanDerveer, of North Branch; vice-president, Nelson Runyon, of Plainfield; secretary and treasurer, James Bowman, of South Branch.

"BUSY BEES" TO ENTERTAIN FOR DAY NURSERY'S BENEFIT.

Under the auspices of the "Busy Bees," an entertainment entitled "A. R. R.," will be given at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday night, September 25, at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the Plainfield Day Nursery. The "Busy Bees" who will take the entertainment are as follows: The Misses Bernice McClintock, Elsa Schwed, Marguerite Woolston, Beebe Smith, Lucile Ewart, Margaret Ewart, Florence Berkhan, Helen Berkhan, Marguerite Berkhan, Marjorie Burtis, Helen Fowler, Mary Bryan, Anna Warnock, Margaret Russell, Geraldine Dunn, Mildred Burnett, Nattie Selby and Frances Caldwell. They will be assisted by the Misses Hazel Walters, Mary Woolston, Grace Woolston, Ethel Fowler, Florence Fowler, Helen Fowler, Mary Berkhan, Gertrude Berkhan, Myra Hamson, Ida Englehardt, Marguerite Barker, Marjorie Hart, Hattie Nischwitz, Miss Helen George will preside at the piano. A feature will be a "Dream Dance."

His Reason Was Good.

"Let me ask you one question," said the leader of the suffragettes to an attentive masculine listener. "Would you give up your seat in a street car to a woman?"

"No, ma'am," the man replied, "I would not."

"And why not?" the suffragette demanded.

"Because I'm a motorman," the man replied.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Changes in Business.

L. Moldesky, the shoe dealer, and J. J. Greenwald, dealer in bicycles, have jointly leased Crane's store on East Front street, formerly occupied by George Miller as a candy store and will take possession at once.

New Music Store.

H. V. Lough will engage in the musical instrument business at 150 East Front street, Marcus Silbert's new building, about October 1. He will make a specialty of pianos, phonographs and records.

Patents for Plainfielders.

William McIntosh, of the borough, chief engineer for the New Jersey Central, has been granted a patent for a draft gear for a railway car, and William Ayers, of this city, has been granted a patent for a corn popper.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 27, 1908.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic, Home missions. The cry of the city.—Gen. xviii, 16-33.

Most people who live in the country and in small towns and have traveled but little or none at all have the impression that cities are nothing but cesspools of sin and iniquity. The newspapers are to some extent responsible for these false views. A few crimes are committed, and these are blazoned forth in a few politicians engaged in crooked work, and these are given great headlines; a few couples apply for divorce, and prominent places are made for these. But, after all, how few are the criminals in comparison to the millions in cities who are upright and honest—how few political rascals when balanced beside the thousands who honorably perform their civic duties! And how few are the divorce cases when compared with the thousands and thousands of homes where married life is not a failure! Cities are well churched, and the most active, consecrated Christians dwell in our large cities. The pastors of these churches are most faithful and energetic. There is absolutely no comparison between the work done by a city pastor and one whose pastorate is in the country or a small town. Moreover, city pastors do not, as many suppose, preach anything else but the gospel. The best gospel sermons to be heard today are heard from city pulpits. These are facts and need to be emphasized before we look at the other side of the picture.

While the best people as a general thing live in the cities, so also do the worst. The attractions to evil are great. The environments for success fully commit sin and crime in great populations is also evident, and hence the criminal classes seek shelter in the cities, and one of the great disadvantages to the progress of the gospel in America's cities today is the large percentage of foreigners who have come to them in recent years. This is especially true of New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. Colonies of various nationalities are herded together in these centers of population. This increases the difficulty of making our cities Christian.

There is one thing, however, about city missions. The Christian people who live in the cities consider the work their own special field and appeals are made for money outside the cities themselves. In the cities already mentioned this is true and also of Pittsburg, which is fast becoming a great center for foreigners of all kinds. The cry of the cities for help is such it has never yet reached in our very worst American cities what it did in Sodom and the cities of the plain. More important still, our great cities contain churches and Christian workers capable and willing under God to evangelize the most discouraging elements. In our large cities especial efforts are frequently made to reach the indifferent and unsaved, such as the Torrey movement and the great simultaneous evangelistic meetings held under the leadership of Dr. Chapman in our large cities. The various religious denominations, through their ecclesiastical bodies, labor earnestly for city evangelization. Many individual churches have special missions and do splendid work. The outlook is not discouraging. Vice and sin are driven from the public gaze. Life and property are defended by the splendid police forces of our larger cities. The gospel is making headway into the hearts and lives of men. Let us trust in God and go forward to win our cities for Christ.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. lxxxvii, 1-6; cxxii, 1-9; cxxvii, 1; Jonah i, 2; Acts i, 8; vii, 1-8; Luke xix, 41-44; Rom. x, 14, 15; Acts xvii, 16-21; Rev. xxii, 3-6.

What We Stand For.

This is Dr. Clark's definition of "What Christian Endeavor stands for:"

"Christian Endeavor is a providential movement and is promoted by societies composed of young people's societies both sexes found in every land and in every section of the evangelical churches. Its movement for active members demands faith in Christ, service for Christ and loyalty to Christ's church. Its activities are as wide as the needs of mankind, are directed by the churches of which the societies are an integral part and are carried on by carefully organized committees embracing all the members. Its strength lies in the voluntary obligation of its covenant pledge and its adaptability to all classes and conditions of men. Its ideals are spirituality, sanity, enthusiasm, loyalty, fellowship, thorough organization and consecrated devotion."

Educational Endeavor.

The Endeavorers belonging to Christian churches in Texas have for several years united in their efforts for the purpose of aiding young ministers in obtaining their education. Their aim now has enlarged itself, and they have undertaken to raise in ten years the sum of $10,000 to endow in the Bible college of the Texas Christian University a chair of practical Christian work. The aim will provide for instruction in modern methods of work and Christian Endeavor societies and Sunday schools as well as the church.—Home Herald.

The Devil's Playground.

Secretary Shaw has been stirring things up in Kentucky. Among some objections, he said, "We must remember that if we have no place which we wish to fill we should give to the work of the Master and in the church, the devil will furnish them just as large a playground as they need and all the work they can do."

Do the Departed Know Their Friends on Earth?

Tenth of a Series on Heaven by REV. DR. CHARLES E. HERRING

We are told in the twelfth chapter of the Epistle to the Hebrews that the departed are so interested in our affairs as to be "martyrs" from which we get our word "martyrs." They witnessed for God while on earth. Therefore they are inspirations to us. We see the result of their heroic faith and it inspires us, but the picture that the writer of the Epistle paints tells us more than that the record of their lives is an inspiration to us. They are interested in the race we are running and therefore they are gathered about it in such numbers that it seems in the writer's vision that it is full of witnesses about the Greek games. One of the reasons for their interest is given in the last verse of the preceding chapter, "They without us shall not be made perfect." The departed, therefore, are interested in us. They are interested in us for our own sake related to them. They are interested in our success for they are blessed with us. Paul said to the Ephesians that the angels and principalities in the heavenly places learn through the church the manifold wisdom of God. The eyes of the angels and the saints are upon the progress of God's Kingdom on earth.

Saints that pass out of this world into that glorious land do not forget about us. They cannot. It is no evidence that because the dead do not know our friends departed, they do not know us. They have risen to a higher life and have been endowed with new faculties. We look down on the lower orders of creation and understand them where those do not understand us. It is probable that our friends from their higher plane look down and see and understand us a great deal better than we can understand them and their glory.

May it not be that our friends who have left behind them those who have such intimate relations with the older saints in that world and with the angels of God that they are instructed by them in spiritual things and in the plans of God regarding us. We know that our friends are interested in us today because "love never faileth." "What God hath joined together, no man can put asunder, not even the grave." Love abides in the other world. More than that, Love will be intensified and perfected in that plane. If our departed ones love us, they will also be interested in us. The early church held this as an important article of their faith and therefore embodied it in the creed. They included this thought when they said, "I believe in the communion of saints."

Cyprian of Carthage after a great pestilence had stricken his city, spoke to his people these words of comfort: "Why hasten we not to see our country, to salute our parents? There is a vast multitude of them that are dear to us, await our arrival, a multitude of parents, brethren and children, who are now secure in their own salvation and anxious only about ours." Perhaps our friends are unseen around us for

"Millions of spiritual creatures walk the earth
Unseen both when we walk and when we sleep."

But says someone, if my friends are interested in my welfare, why is it that I have not more definite knowledge of it? Why do they not communicate with me? Perhaps they cannot.

We are imprisoned in that planet. Heaven will be the place of our liberation. We are surrounded that the spiritual world is around us but our eyes are sealed. There is no reason why those in that higher plane of existence should not know us for in that world they are freed from the limitations of this life.

You question, I know, the perfect happiness of our friends in the other world if they have knowledge of our present condition, for such knowledge must include our sufferings and our sins. Would it not be better for them not to know us in our troubles? Perhaps this will answer the question. They think of us probably as the mother thinks of the troubles of her little girl who has broken her doll. It seems a great loss to the child but to the mother it appears a real loss and that when her little girl grows older she will smile at her childish grief. The loss of the doll is not really a great loss. Our dear ones see our sorrow in the light of God's great plan. The mother comforts the little girl in her sorrow but that sorrow does not break her heart because she knows. Our friends know of our sorrow as a passing sorrow because they see what life in all its fullness means.

It is absolutely incredible that our friends should forget us after they have passed over. What should you think of a man here who had been suddenly elevated to a position of trust forgetting his old associates. Life here is continuous with life there. If so then the same old but holy interests will continue in that world.

PULLMAN CAR TEST FOR A REAL LADY.

A man once observed that if ever he was in any doubt as to whether or not a woman was a lady he always asked her to lunch with him. Table manners, he asserted, were one of the surest indications of breeding, or lack of it. Personally, I do not agree with him in his contention that table manners are an unfailing sign of gentle birth and loveliness of character, for I have seen harpies with faultless table manners, and I once met an Italian countess chase a few peas around a saucer with her forefinger until she landed them on her fork.

A surer test than the luncheon table, I think, is the dressing room of a Pullman car. If a woman has a yellow streak it is sure to come out there. She is hot and tired and uncomfortable. She is among strangers whom she will never see again, and for whose opinion she cares nothing, and if there is anything "piggy" in her nature it is going to assert itself.

There are two kinds of women who face the mirrors in Pullman car dressing room a nightmare. One type is represented by the woman who is knowingly selfish, ill mannered and indelicate, and the other by the woman who is ignorantly so.

For instance, there is the woman who leaves the water sloshing in the washbasin when she has finished bathing her face, and the soap soaking in the bottom. When we were urchins, most of us, I fancy, have been well "cuffed" for just such tricks as this, but one grown woman after another will do this sort of thing in a dressing-room. In one case she does not care, and in the other because she does not know. But whatever the reason, the task of cleansing and wiping the basin is more than unpleasant for her successor.

There's the woman who uses the drinking glass for her tooth brush with quite the freedom that she would were it her individual glass. Instead of pouring the water upon her brush she dips the brush in the water, leavidg, when she has finished, a rim of tooth powder or paste around the glass for some one else to remove.

Hair may be a woman's crowning glory, but the only condition under which it can be regarded as such is when it is attached to her head. If there is any thing more nauseating than loose hair it is dandruff, and the woman who leaves her combings in the public comb or brush or in wads upon the shelf should be taken by the ear and made to dispose of it.

The lady who draped her red-roan or iron-gray switch over the faucet of the hot water spigot does not appeal to one, nor does she who covers the hooks with her petticoats and monopolizes the one chair with a traveling bag the size of a young trunk.

There's the woman who stands in front of the mirror arms akimbo, her numerous toilette articles spread out on the crowded shelf, arranging a ball-room coiffure of braids and puffs, while less self-assertive souls, with their "straight-fronts" in one hand and their suit cases in the other wait wearily for a chance to jump in and twist their hair up in a doughnut.

Cleanliness is always admirable, but, somehow, it seems less so when a large and conscientious lady gets up at day-break to take a spotless bath in the ladies' dressing room and prolongs the operation until the last call for breakfast.

There's the woman who uses a fresh towel each time she wets the tip of her fingers. She seems intoxicated by the sight of so much clean linen. The dressing room may be crowded with women who also hope to use towels, but the towel fiend makes inroads on the supply in the rack until economy is necessary.

There's the woman who glares at each newcomer as though she were an intruder, and the one who loses her jewelry and stares suspiciously at the occupants of the room to see upon which one's face guilt is written.

There's the woman who explains carefully and in detail why traveling makes her ill, and the lady who cherishes the belief that the whole world is trying to get on speaking term with her.

The woman who takes awful smelling medicine out of the drinking glass in comfort is to be pitied, but the pinkness of the occupants of the dressing-room, nor does the lady who uses her atomizer with the abandon of a fireman at a blaze.

The majority of women travelers have an idea that the way to dress in comfort is to get up early, very early. This would be entirely satisfactory if every other woman did not have the same theory. I tried it once myself and found every other woman in the car dressing room at 4:30. It made the day twenty-four hours long and we nearly fainted before breakfast was ready.

As a matter of fact, one has more room if she waits until the last minute to make her dash for the dressing room; and while the place may look as though a cyclone had struck it, it is infinitely better than being elbowed into a corner by women travelers who mean to "have their rights."—Philadelphia Press.

Candidate's Stunts.

Bryan can sit on his lawn with his legs crossed, tailor-fashion. That is more than Taft can do.—Augusta Chronicle.

THE STORY OF "SUNNY" EMPRESS OF RUSSIA

"The most beautiful queen on any throne," she has long been called." Kellogg Durland thus begins his life story of the Tsaritsa of Russia in the Woman's Home Companion. "She is tall and stately; her hair is luxuriant and rich in color. Eyes that some call blue and some call gray look out through long, dark lashes, and in them lies a great sadness, an appealing wistfulness touching with respect, a silent melancholy. Yet as a child she was known as 'Sunny.'

"The life story of 'Sunny' has never been told in English. This is curious, because there probably is not a person in the world who would not like to hear the wonderful romance of how a poor little princess became a great sovereign, the co-ruler of one of the vastest empires on earth, the mistress of a fabulously rich and bewilderingly extravagant court, and perhaps the most powerful woman in Europe. 'Sunny' was the childhood nickname of the poor little princess, and after a quiet girlhood, where there was a constant struggle to maintain appearances, she was courted by a wayward gallant, who was heir to a mighty crown. Despite the protests of the royal wooer, and he, putting aside the less noble loves of his reckless, youthful days, pledged himself to her—persistently courted her against wide opposition—turned a deaf ear to the councils of emperors and queens, who tried to disconcert the match, and, after years of battling with diplomatic intrigue and personal restraint, he carried his purpose, married the German princess, who was truly the bride of his heart, and raised her from the obscurity and poverty of her own petty court to the throne of Empress. This is the story of Princess Alix of Hesse, whom Nicholas II made Tsaritsa of Russia."

THE SECRET OF ONE MILLINER'S SUCCESS.

An Eastern millinery establishment made its success by placarding the price tags. "We will tell you the truth." It was soon discovered that the clerks in charge were young women of exceptional artistic temperament. Each child business the establishment was to tell customers the truth regarding hats. If a would be purchaser placed a hat upon her head she was told it was not becoming—if it happened not to be—and even when it was pleasing to the wearer the clerk would say: "I suggested a patron, "do you do this?" "Because," came the reply, "women are tired, soul sick of being told so many flattering things about the purchase of a new hat. If we can't please a woman we do not want to sell her a hat. To be will do us more harm than good." "I presume you have the artist here who matches the hat to the soul?"

The dealer smiled. "No, we are not fortunate enough to have her, but we have girls who match the hat to the gown, the shoes and the complexion, something that many women are unable to do for themselves. Now here we have a soft white hat trimmed with green. It is something that practically any woman with a clear complexion could wear. Where nette with a swarthy complexion would add ten years to her age to wear the hat. We know the ones who can wear all colors. Our girls have studied the color schemes." And hasten the day that this method may become general. It is a few weeks and the question of a hat will again confront us. But really some of them are altogether charming. I saw some good hats last week with high crowns, narrow tilted brims, and the ribbon and quill trimmings at the left side was particularly good.

Sashes Gaining Favor.

About mid-spring were first worn in Paris, over the blue serge sheath skirts, those pretty Neapolitan sashes that have such a knack of elegance. They were generally made in soft black satin wound round the waist and brought forward to fall very low in front after being lightly looped or knotted half-way. The coloring was widespread black or dark blue blending harmoniously into a happy effect. Now, all at once, seashore coquettes are wearing these scarf belts over their white dresses and have taken in violet colors—deep violet or blue or black, contrasting strongly with a pet pongee, linen sore or pure white linen.

Neither Scored.

"Why did their marriage prove mutually disappointing?"

"He married her because she was poor and could make her own gowns, and she married him because he was rich and she wouldn't have to."—Puck.

Wedding Invitations Out.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Powelson, of Pluckemin, have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Mary Louise, to Rev. Ben Powelson, to Theodore Grey Rowe, of Newark. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride on Saturday afternoon, September 26, at 4 o'clock.

Experienced.

"Never mind, dear," he said reassuringly, as she raised her sweet face from his shoulder, and she both saw the white blur on his coat. "It will all brush off."

"Oh, Charlie," she burst off, sobbing, hiding her face again upon his whitey shoulder; "how do you know?"— Somerville Journal.

"AT HOME" SOON AGAIN

Next Tuesday Governor Fort will be "at home" again in the State house at Trenton. During his absence the rooms of the executive department have been redecorated and otherwise improved and the finishing touches are now being put on.

By Saturday night the Governor's private room, and the rooms of the private secretary and executive clerk will be ready for occupancy. The improvements in the large reception room will not be completed until a week later.

The walls of the Governor's room have been painted a light chocolate, and the ceiling a delicate cream color. Plain, but artistic frescoing embellishes both. A new oak floor, of narrow boards placed in herring-bone fashion, has been laid. Around it is a border of cedar. The floor will be highly polished and partly covered with handsome rugs.

No new furniture is to be bought for any of the rooms, but the old has been newly upholstered, and otherwise rejuvenated.

The rooms of the secretary and clerk have been considerably brightened. The walls and ceilings have been painted in terra cotta and cream and new carpets will be laid.

The reception room is to have a new floor and new rugs. Its walls have been painted bronze green and the ceiling will be cream color.

Although the department will present a beautiful appearance in full, new dress the cost of the improvement will not be large.

Philadelphia Pepperpot.

Take a knuckle of veal and six pounds of mixed tripe that has been soaked in cold water an hour or two. Boil in large separate pots well covered with water, tie which a little salt and half a small red pepper have been added. Boil gently until tender; it will take nearly all day for the tripe. When cold take it is a good plan to leave the tripe in the water in which it was cooked over night), cut in pieces the size of large dice, add some of the veal. Skim the grease from the two broths and put together in one large pot; four lbs. meat well and put in with the liquor. Add six large white potatoes and four onions cut in pieces, with a bouquet of soup herbs containing plenty of sweet marjoram, sweet basil and summer savory. Add also a dozen and a half each cloves and allspice.

Cook about two hours. About half an hour before serving add dumplings about the size of marbles, made by mixing flour, shortening, salt and water. These should not be too stiff. Thicken gently with flour and butter rubbed together. It should be about the consistency of rich cream when done, and full of the vegetables seasonings and dumplings.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following local real estate transfers have been recorded at the county clerk's office at Elizabeth: Lillie M. Magee to Louis Fay, westerly side Lyman place, 10 feet from Front street, Plainfield, $1; Charles D. Pope et ux. to Joshua D. Loizeaux, lot 14, block C, "Map of E. M. French," Plainfield, $1; Peter H. La Tourette et ux. to George W. Gano, northeasterly side Lyman place, 100 feet from Front street, Plainfield, $1; George W. Gano et ux. to Richard Garabrant same as above, $1.

Right Up to Date.

A citizen of culture and poetic taste went to a public library and asked for Shelley's "Prometheus Unbound."

He was rather taken back when the librarian replied with great hauteur:

"We don't keep any unbound books in this library."—Youth's Companion.

Dressing the aHir.

Since the hair has been dressed low on the back of the nck, daggers of gold, silver, tortoise shell and even celluloid are offered for sale in the shops. They are about six inches long and the ends are twisted to prevent them from falling out.

The Boy's Idea.

"Pop!"

"Yes, my son."

"I heard you tellin' ma that she must economize."

"Yes, my boy."

"Well, I can tell you where to begin—on the soap!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Work Cut Out For Pa.

Tommy—Pa, did you really mean it when you said you'd whip any one that broke that rose?

Pa—Just come here, sir, and I'll show you.

Tommy—Don't show me. Show Bridget; she just broke it.—Philadelphia Press.

The Fraud.

The Husband (during the quarrel) —You're always making bargains. Was there ever a time when you didn't?

The Wife—Yes, sir; on my wedding day.—London Spare Moments.

Last Year's Hat.

Do not despair if last winter's hat has a low crown, for I saw quite a number heightened with an armful of tiny rosettes made from one long length of ribbon and sewed over the very top of the hat and along one side, after which the remaining portion of the crown was hidden with ostrich plumes.

LAUNDRY UTENSILS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

An ice cream freezer which is actually no bigger than the proverbial pint of cider is a fetching little piece of furniture. At first sight it suggests nothing more practical than the kitchen of a doll's house, and it doubtless would bring unbounded delight to a small girl. The little freezer isn't much to brag of, but even ever, for with it you can freeze a pint of cream as easily as you can beat up an egg, if not quite as quickly. As a family institution the pint freezer isn't much to brag of, but even so that depends upon the size of the family. For just two, however the tiny can filled with delicious ice cream or sherbert would be very much better than none at all. To tell the truth, unless one of the two had the ice cream appetite of a small boy the supply would be abundant. The little freezer would be very much easier to handle than one of the big, clumsy affairs which will hold half enough ice cream for a Sunday school picnic, besides being cut down in the matter of cooked ice consideration which is worth noting, since the cracking of the ice is one of the most tedious parts of freezing the cream.

This little freezer, however, was not originally manufactured so much for the benefit of the cook as for the nurse. For the invalid who craves a little pure ice cream or frozen custard, it is invaluable. The nurse can easily crack the necessary amount of ice and freeze the cream herself, the price of the freezer is $1.25, and it may be found in the house furnishing department of a large down-town hardware store. On the same principle are those handy added advantage of being large enough to use the family rules if there are a large number to be served.

Among the other conveniences which have been designed to lighten the labors of the housewife is a mayonnaise mixer. This is not especially new, though there are many housekeepers who do not know that these convenient contrivances are to be had, and find it almost impossible to make mayonnaise without the assistance of a helper to pour the oil slowly.

This utensil has a funnel-shaped oil cup which allows the oil to be added a little at a time. The mixer may also be used for beating eggs or cream and has an advantage over the ordinary egg-beater in that it is firmly screwed to the edge of the work table. With the old-fashioned egg-beater it is almost necessary to have a second person to steady the mixing bowl while using the egg-beater in order to avoid a catastrophe.

Frying is a deep fat, if properly done, is a much more wholesome way of frying than the ordinary fry, or more properly, the "saute." Many cooks think this method troublesome because they lack the proper utensils. The ordinary wire baskets for the purpose are altogether too small. convenient method of draining the food when done is provided. As soon as the potatoes or croquettes are brown the basket can be lifted immediately and adjusted at a height of several inches above the frying pan to allow the fat to drain off. With the wire basket removed the pan can be used as an ordinary frying pan.

Flowers on the Table.

Those who have country houses or greenhouses attached to their houses in town are fortunate because they can always have a supply of flowering plants growing in pots both in and out of season, and there is no more charming decoration for the middle of the table and other parts of the house. But if these luxuries be denied us, the next best thing is to contract with a florist to keep the house supplied with flowering plants and cut flowers all the year round for a fixed sum. Then as soon as the blossoms begin to fall the pots will be taken away and replaced with fresh ones. A flowering plant in full bloom undoubtedly makes the best centrepiece for the table. The pot should be put into a silver, brass or china jardiniere, or if none of these be wicker baskets would look dainty and pretty and little glass vases full of cut flowers may be ranged round it.

What Mother Used.

The bride resolutely dried her eyes on her lace-trimmed handkerchief.

"So my muffins are not like mother's, are they?" she said, sniffing resignantly. "Well, tomorrow he shall have muffins like mother's."

"Now you have hit it!" exclaimed the young husband enthusiastically. "Those muffins are exactly like mother used to make, only a little thicker. How did you do it, dearest?"

"I will give you the recipe," replied the bride coldly. "I used oleomargarine for butter, cold-storage eggs, put alum in the flour and added chalk and water to the milk—for if you will recall, your mother lived before the pure food laws."—Judge.

Handy Spiral Holder.

The spiral photograph holder is useful for holding notes. Fasten it on the wall and in it can be slipped the unanswered letters. It is very convenient for holding pencils and pens, also a small ruler. The same little contrivance fastened on the door under the shelf will hold knives, meat forks, egg lifters and other long handled kitchen articles one prefers keeping in the pot cupboard to displaying above the sink.

TWO-CENT POSTAGE WITH ENGLAND SOON

As the result of an agreement between this country and Great Britain, the letter postage rate between the United States and Great Britain has been reduced, and beginning October 1, the rate demanded will be two cents an ounce or fraction of an ounce. The following order has been received by Postmaster Elliott Bird from John R. Meyer, Postmaster-General:

"Order No. 1667—It is hereby ordered that commencing on the 1st day of October, 1908, the postage rate applicable to letters mailed in the United States, addressed for delivery in any place in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, shall be two cents an ounce or fraction of an ounce.

"Letters unpaid or short-paid shall be dispatched to destination, but double the deficient postage calculated at said rate shall be collectable of the addressees upon the delivery of the unpaid or short-paid letters."

Postmaster Bird says that this reduction in the postage rate between the two countries will undoubtedly greatly increase the volume of business.

The matter of a "penny postage," as it is called in England, has been under consideration for some time, and so far back as last July President Roosevelt approved Postmaster-General Meyer's course in urging a "restricted union with England."

TRENTON FAIR.

For Monday, September 28, the opening day of the Great Inter-State Fair, the management has programmed its $1,000 baby show and parade that will not only be a distinct feature of the Fair, but an event that will rank with anything of the kind ever promoted in this country. The classes are as follows: Baby show—handsomest, fattest, smallest, twins, triplets. Baby Parade—baby coach, including costume of child, doll coach and go-carts, novelty vehicles, any decoration, costumes in fancy dress, costumes burlesque. Four to six prizes, consisting of valuable articles of jewelry, etc., are given in each class. The winners also receive the coveted blue ribbon. Each child entered will receive a souvenir prize. No entrance fee is charged. Parents are given free admission to the grounds and grand stand. Entry blanks and information in relation to the show and parade can be secured by addressing Frank McCullough, box 717, Trenton, N. J.

The running races will present fast polo ponies for amateur riders. The Bicycle runners of this class in New Jersey and Pennsylvania have been entered, and some fine sport is assured.

The vaudeville program for the week is about completed. It is made up of Lucier and Darrow; Dutzell Schreyer in his leap from a bicycle through space into a shallow tank of water; medley of popular songs by Winkler's Second Regiment Band; the Three Tumbling Toms; America's first bicycle race for cash prizes; real Arabian horse and camel races; genuine Western relay races with lady riders going four miles and changing mounts at the end of each mile; New York Scottish Highlanders' Pipe and Drum Band; Hansen Ben Allen in his whirlwind dance; the Loyce Troupe in comedy acrobatic acts; the three Renards, aerial human whirling tops; the five Boises, world's greatest long leaping and casting artists, Irish in Wedding Brothers' Circus, and Mme. Norick in a triple somersault automobile act, the sensation of Europe and the first performances in the United States.

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE OF WESTFIELD REPUBLICANS.

For the purpose of conducting a campaign on behalf of the national candidates, William Howard Taft and J. Sherman, Charles N. Codding, chairman of the Westfield Republican executive committee, has appointed a committee of forty Republicans, ten from each ward in the town. This committee will be known as the Taft and Sherman Campaign Committee, and is as follows:

First Ward—Hugh Talbot, W. J. Kennedy; Andrew A. Smith, George B. Dickerson, M. B. Dutcher, James O. Clark, J. Fred Wright, Wray Edwards, George T. Cruttenden, Dr. C. M. Fagley.

Second Ward—Sidney L. Kniffen, Harold Thompson, E. S. F. Randolph, Curtis Beard, Jr., A. A. Moser, Theodore R. Harvey, Robert L. Smitley, Isaac Seeley, Walter J. Lee, William Affeck.

Third Ward—A. L. Russell, Fred S. Mills, R. T. Mills, J. G. Tenerck, George H. L. Morton, A. H. Meyer, L. M. Pearsall, R. P. Grant, John McCormick, L. G. Venn, Louis C. Gantz.

Fourth Ward—George Gaisler, Ed. C. Hunter, John Leidy, George Peek, Jr., Charles D. Losee, John C. Hall, Charles C. Hall, Charles Clotworthy, Mark Webster, Jerry Wright, Preston W. Ross.

Then!

"Do you consider that Louise falls in love easily?"

"Well, as a rule she succumbs after about a hundred dollars' worth of theatre tickets."—Life.

The Costitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 24, 1908.

BALL CLUBS' WRANGLES

Breach of Agreement Alleged for Calling Off Clinton Ave.-West End Game.

QUESTION OVER THE GROUNDS.

Similar State of Affairs Responsible for Cancelling Scotch Plains-Clinton Avenue Contest.

The fifth and deciding baseball game to decide the supremacy of the Clinton Avenue and Somerville teams will not be played, according to the decision of Manager Bogart Conklin, of the West Ends. Manager Dorflinger received a telegram from Mr. Conklin Monday stating that he would not play the game in this city, and Manager Dorflinger will not go to Somerville. The Clinton Avenues will play the Y. M. C. A. nine the second of a series of three contests for the city championship on Crescent Oval at 3:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon.

When the series between Plainfield and Somerville was arranged, there was a signed agreement as to percentage, grounds where games were to be played, etc., and it was agreed that should each team win two games the fifth would be played on the grounds drawing the biggest crowd and best receipts. The first game was played at Somerville and the receipts were about $75. When the second game was played at Crescent Oval, the total receipts were about $152. The third contest in Somerville netted practically the same amount as the first and last Saturday's receipts were about $80. This would indicate that more money is obtainable here.

Evidently not wishing to play the contest here, Mr. Conklin said that if Manager Dorflinger would agree to raise the prices of admission to the Oval, making the general admission twenty-five cents and ten cents extra for the grandstand, he would bring his team here. When the management refused to do, believing such action to be unfair to the local fans who have been paying fifteen cents with ten cents extra for the grandstand. It is understood that Manager Conklin said that he lost about $12 on Saturday's contest. If this is so it is probably due to the fact that he engaged two semi-professional players to take the places of local men, the new players causing the added expense. It is regretted that Manager Conklin has taken such a stand relative to the windup of a successful series, but all fair-minded fans believe that he should abide by the agreement.

A similar condition exists between the Clinton Avenues and Scotch Plains, the latter failing to play a schedule game here one rainy Saturday, when the weather cleared sufficiently to permit the contest. There was an agreement between Manager Frentz and Manager Dorflinger, to the effect that each team was to play for a $10 guarantee.

This favored both clubs alike, Manager Frentz objected to this percentage after two games had been played, requesting a larger guarantee. The Labor Day game was arranged on a fifty per cent. basis, each team posting $25 as a guarantee of good faith. It is not likely that these teams will meet again this year. It is conceded that the biggest money is in Plainfield, yet in both instances Managers Frentz and Conklin have decided to break agreements when everything seemed to favor their teams.

Nearly Burned to Death.

While playing about a bon-fire with several companions Saturday afternoon, Louis Wyckoff, the four-year-old son of Isaac Wyckoff, of 90 Grove street, was accidentally pushed into the flames by one of the boys and his entire right side was frightfully burned, before the neighbors could extinguish the blaze. Dr. A. H. Dundon was summoned and he made the lad as comfortable as possible. He suffered intensely from the burns, but prompt medical attention undoubtedly saved his life.

Fined $5 for Stealing Apples.

Ephraim Boice, a fine apple orchard at South Plainfield, has been the mecca for many lovers of the fruit, and he has suffered a great loss in consequence. A few daysago three men were observed in the orchard and they were filling sacks with the apples. Mr. Boice gave chase and succeeded in capturing one of the men. He was taken before Justice W. E. Smith at South Plainfield and a fine of $5 was imposed. The other two men are said to be known and it is expected they will be arrested within a day or two.

AMUSEMENTS.

No actor ever started on his career as a star with greater eclat than Mr. George Arliss at the Belasco. Beyond all the sensational developments as to the American rights of "The Devil" and the remarkable impression left by the Hungarian play itself, lies the personal artistic triumph of Mr. Arliss. If the author had had an intimate knowledge of Mr. Arliss's gifts and methods, he could not have devised a character that gives him more subtle opportunities than this insinuating and fascinating Prince of Pleasure and Evil in modern guise. It is safe to predict that the association of Mr. Arliss and "The Devil" will be a long one, for the demand for roles at the Belasco breaks all records.

One of the means by which David Belasco arrives at the incomparable artistic finish, characterizing all his plays lies in the perfect harmony which obtains at rehearsals. A case in point is daily illustrated during the preparation of "The Fighting Hope," the play by William J. Hurlburt in which Mr. Belasco is to present Blanche Bates this season, for its metropolitan premiere at the Belasco Stuyvesant theatre, September 21. Not only does Mr. Belasco supervise every detail of production, but, as in the writing of his plays, when he actually lives the characters his imagination creates, he becomes an actor to the finger tips and instills his enthusiasm into his fellow players.

The sixth season of the Hudson Theatre has been inaugurated by Henry B. Harris by the presentation of Robert Edeson in "The Call of the North." Mr. Harris who is responsible for the presentation of James B. Foes' comedy, "The Traveling Salesman," the biggest hit of several years, has followed this up by placing another big success to his credit in Mr. Edeson's new vehicle. "The Call of the North" which is in four acts with its locality in the most northerly part of the Hudson Bay Company's territory, was written by Mr. George Broadhurst, and is founded on Stewart Edward White's story, "Conjuror's House." Mr. Harris has given the play one of his usual fine scenic productions, the settings together a cast to support Mr. Edeson which is one of the best of the year. These players include De Witt Jennings, Francis Byrne, Lawrence Eddinger, David Torrence, Macey Harlam, Grant Mitchell and Burke Clarke; Marjorie Wood who will have the chief feminine role, Olive Oliver, Beatrice Prentice, and Helen Dahl.

At Proctor's Newark Theatre during the week commencing Monday, Sept. 21, Mr. Robert Hilliard and company in a powerful dramatic sketch full of heart interest and pathos entitled "Convict 8778." Mr. Hilliard's portrayal of the released convict struggling against the inevitable "ticket of leave" is without a peer in the realm of vaudeville. The Six Musical Cutty's in their incomparable musical melange. This talented family play various string and brass instruments with a dash and vim that makes them prime favorites wherever they appear. The Mirzkoff Troupe are five whirlwind dancers who have electrified Europe with a series of dancers peculiar to their native Russian Steppes. Ward and Curran, will be seen in the latest edition of their side splitting travesty, "The Terrible Judge," Mathews and Ashly will present a worthy successor to their "Smash up in Chinatown," with brand new parodies. Barry and Walters, two clever conversational comedians, the Flying Martins in a rapid fire trapeze act, Burt and Bertha Crant, colored singers and dancers, and new animated pictures.

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK ALREADY A CITIZEN.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, the great contralto, whose place of residence is in Caldwell, appeared in a new role yesterday. Without flourish or announcement of any kind she made her entrance before Judge Ten Eyck, in the Court of Common Pleas at Newark, and applied for citizenship papers.

The diva tried to get papers last June, but was told then that they were not necessary as she was married to an American and so became an American also.

Her counsel, Algernon T. Sweeney, her counsel, however, made the application as a matter of form, and Judge Ten Eyck ruled, as stated a the time he would, that such a ste was unnecessary for the reason stat ed.

When called to the witness stand also as a matter of form, the great singer was asked a few questions as to her marriage to William Rapp which she said took place in Chicago about three years ago. She said i her rich voice, softly modulated for the occasion, that she was born in Austria and had been in this country about ten years. She wanted th papers in her own name, she explained, so that an inheritance due to her son may be obtained from Germany.

"I know that I am a citizen now, almost the great singer, "but this is such a glorious country that I would really like to feel that I was a part of it myself."

After former Judge Sweeney has submitted briefs, she departed with her husband, who had also sworn to her marriage, and Henry Wolfsohn, her manager.

WESTFIELD LOSES TO PLAINFIELD Y.M.C.A.

The Y. M. C. A. turned the tables on Westfield at the latter place, Saturday afternoon, winning by a score of 9 to 6. Both pitchers were hit hard, but Peacock kept the hits well scattered, while Orthelb was touched for eight times. Will Schoonmaker led the team in batting. Out of five times at the bat he secured five hits, including a two-bagger. Tobin's catch of Peacock's hard line drive in the sixth inning was a feature. The association boys got three runs in the second by good stick work and two errors; three in the fifth by clean hitting and man hit by pitched ball; one on the sixth by two hits, a stolen base and error by Carlson and two in the ninth by two hits, a base on balls, a stolen base and a sacrifice.

Westfield tallied one run in the second by a single and twobagger; two in the third by getting four hits, one in the fourth through two hits and an error by Gilmore and two in the eighth by an error, two hits and a sacrifice. The score:

Y. M. C. A.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
W. Schoonmaker, cf.	2	5	3	1	1
R. Schoonmaker, c.	2	0	7	0	0
Peacock, p.	1	1	0	4	0
Conway, 2b.	0	1	1	3	0
Gilmore, 2b.	1	1	4	2	1
Tobin, rf.	0	0	1	0	0
L. Dodge, s. s.	0	1	1	4	1
Russell, r. f.	2	1	0	1	0
Scott, l. f.	1	0	0	0	0
	9	10	26	16	3

Westfield.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Miller, 1b.	1	2	8	1	1
Carlstrum, s. s.	1	1	2	0	1
Brown, c.	0	1	9	4	0
Carlson, 2b.	1	1	2	2	1
Ortlieb, p.	1	2	0	0	0
Tobin, c. f.	2	2	3	0	0
Williams, l. f.	0	0	0	0	0
McMahon, 1b.	0	0	2	5	0
Brewer, r. f.	0	1	1	1	1
	6	11	27	12	4

Y. M. C. A.	0	3	0	0	1	0	0	2	3	—9
Westfield	0	0	1	2	1	0	0	2	0	—6

Struck out—By Peacock, 6; by Ortlieb, 7. Stolen bases—Y. M. C. A., 3; Westfield, 4. Two-base hits—W. Schoonmaker, McMahon. Bases on balls—Peacock, 2; Ortlieb, 1. Hit by pitcher—R. Schoonmaker, Carlson.

Umpire—Mr. Kenney. Time—1h. 50min.

SOME CLOSE CONTESTS AT PARK GOLF CLUB

Excellent scores were returned by the large number of golfers out at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, and the competitions were exceptionally close. There was continued interest in the play for the challenge trophies. For the Hydewood Park challenge cup, W. C. McNaughton, holder, defeated W. R. Faber, challenger, by 2 up and 1 to play; for trophy number two, E. E. Gano, challenger, defeated C. B. Morse, holder, by 2 up and 1 to play, and for trophy number four, L. R. Thurlow, challenger, defeated Dr. A. W. Anderson, holder, by 3 up and 4 to play.

These scores were posted for the President's and Golf Club cups, handicap and scratch event:

Leon R. Thurlow, 92, 9-83; W. E. Lough, 103, 19-84; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 93, 8-85; Dr. V. Gano, 99, 9-89; Louis K. Hyde, 99, 9-90; W. Byard, 101, 10-91; W. C. McNaughton, 94, 2-92; C. B. Morse, 104, 12-92; Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux, 102, 10-92; Dr. A. W. Anderson, 102, 8-94; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 100, 6-94; Paul Parker, 99, 4-95; Charles A. Reed, 100, 2-98.

WHITEHOUSE DEFEATS GARWOOD A. C., 7 TO 6.

The Garwood A. C. team was defeated by the Whitehouse Station club at the latter place, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 7 to 6. Harney, the home pitcher, twirled great ball and with proper support would have shut the visitors out, who did not earn a run. The score by innings:

Whitehouse	1	0	2	2	0	0	2	0	x	—7
Garwood A. C.	0	1	0	3	0	0	0	2		—6

Batteries—Harney and Matthews; Dushanek, Farrell and Hansgen.

Basketball League.

Since the fact became known that Plainfield is to have a professional baseball team this winter there has been some talk about the probability of forming a league of professional teams to include Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Trenton, Paterson, New York, Yonkers, Catskills, Albany and Schnectady. It is not likely that such a league will be formed, however, as the team that is to represent Plainfield has not sufficient financial backing to undertake the proposition. The Plainfield A. A. now touring New York State, Massachusetts and Connecticut, will return home in time to open the season October 10.

Muriel—Would you marry for money?

Carsone—Not I; I want brains.

Muriel—Yes, I should think so, if you don't want to marry for money. —Brooklyn Life.

DEFEATED IN ELEVENTH

Brit Martin's Fine Drive for Three Bagger Gives Somerville Victory.

SOME BRILLIANT FIELDING.

Snappy Contest Throughout Replete With Great Plays.

Score Was 7 to 6.

With a garrison finish of the hair-raising variety that recalled the old days between Plainfield and Somerville, the local team was down to defeat Saturday afternoon before the West Ends, of Somerville, on Crescent Oval, the final score being 3 to 2. It required eleven innings to decide the contest and that the result was in doubt until the last man was out.

In the last inning Brit Martin drove the ball far into left field for what was thought to be a three-bagger and possibly a home run, but in trying to steal third he was caught and he spiked Harris, almost putting the latter out of the game. Had Martin been satisfied with two bases there is a possibility that Clinton Avenue might have won. Succeeding batters got on base, but were unable to open tie the score to say nothing of winning out.

There were constant flashes of brilliant fielding on the part of both teams, Plainfield making two double plays and Somerville one. It was a pitcher's battle throughout with the odds slightly in favor of Montross, although Somerville got eleven hits, while Randolph gave only eight. "Smiling Jimmie" proved to be stronger in the latter part of the contest, while Randolph appeared to weaken a trifle. He was ably supported by the catching team and Seery, of Elizabeth, caught a fine game, permitting no steals and throwing a runner out at second on a foul fly.

The Clinton Avenues got busy on the jump and scored a run in the first inning by good clean hitting, a total of four singles netting the tally. They were blanked in the second, but again scored in the third. In the meantime Randolph was pitching magnificent ball and prevented his opponents from scoring until the eighth. Everyone thought the contest would finish with a score of 5 to 0 in favor of Plainfield, but they did not count on the subsequent rally by Somerville, which was largely due to the stick work of Harris and Lloyd, the new men. In the eighth they got two runs over the pan, doing the same in the ninth. Two hits and an error by Emery were responsible for the break. After that, "Jimmie" Montross covered himself with glory by his fine pitching. He tightened up and despite the fact that he was occasionally touched up the locals could not score again. When Brit Martin was thrown out at third the decision was close, but it was the opinion that Harris caught him.

Jack Martin was right there with the mellow, securing five bingles, but they did not come at the right time, and then Jack in trying to reach second was caught, whereas if he had emained at first, he might have been brought around. Gilman, who returned to right garden, got a slight run on error in the seventh gave Somerville a mighty boost in getting that extra run.

Both teams played snappy ball throughout and it is seldom that a contest here has been marked by such brilliant fielding. The whole Plainfield infield put up gilt-edged ball, while the battery worked well. The outfield, with the exception of Gilman's error, was all that one could ask for.

There were many fans present who shared with Montross in victory, and while they did not want to detract from Randolph's fine work, they were glad to see "Smiling Jimmie" make good. He was steady throughout and with the kind of support given him, he was entitled to victory. Each team have won two games and according to the agreement the fifth and deciding contest will be played on Crescent Oval Saturday. The score:

Somerville.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Grimes, ss.	0	0	2	9	2
Lloyd, cf.	0	0	0	0	0
Harris, 3b.	0	1	2	1	0
Montross, p.	0	0	1	2	0
Bruggey, c.	1	2	8	8	0
Frech, 1b.	0	0	11	0	0
Miller, rf.	0	2	0	0	0
Weil, 2b.	1	1	2	2	0
Stagts, lf.	0	2	5	2	0
	3	8	33	16	2

Plainfield.
Barnes, 1b.	0	0	13	0	1
B. Martin, 2b.	2	2	2	5	0
J. Martin, ss.	0	2	1	5	0
Seery, c.	0	1	13	1	0
D. Scott, cf.	0	0	1	0	0
Gilman, rf.	0	1	1	0	1
Schott, lf.	0	0	2	0	0
Randolph, p.	0	0	0	1	0
	2	6	33	12	3

Somerville	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	1	—3
Plainfield	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	—2

Two base hits—Harris, B. Martin. First base on balls—Off Randolph, 3; off Montross, 1. Struck out—By Randolph, 10; by Montross, 8. Left on bases—Plainfield, 8; Somerville, 9. Double plays—B. Martin to J. Martin to Barnes; Weill to Grimes to Frech; Bruggy to Weill. First base on errors—Plainfield, 3; Somerville, 2. Hit by pitcher—Bruggey, Weill. Time of game—2:15. Umpire—Moynihan.

FINE MATINEE PROGRAM AT THE DRIVING PARK

The free matinee race-meet at the driving par, under the auspices of the Fair Acres Riding and Driving Club, attracted a large crowd to the track, Saturday afternoon. There were three races, two trotting and one running event. Class A, five starters, did not fill, but the other races were run off in good time and the sport was enjoyed greatly. Next Saturday there will be a race-meet for prizes and some of the best horses in this part of the State will be entered. The summary of Saturday's races follow:

Class B—Trot.

Tom Sharkey	5	4	3
Oracle	3	2	1
Zipp	1	1	4
Who is It	2	3	5
Maud C.	4	5	2

Time—2:27¾, 2:28½, 2:27½, 2:29¼, 2:33.

Class C—Trot.

Ben Butler	1	1	1
Lady Sidnut	2	2	2
Asia	3	3	3

Time—2:40¾, 2:38, 2:38½.

Running Race.

Polly Watt	1
Bowery Lass	2

Time—1:22.

RAHWAY DEFEATED BY SCOTCH PLAINS

Scotch Plains' team had no trouble at all in taking the second game in the series of two with the Rahway F. C., at Rahway, Saturday afternoon, the score being 10 to 2. Clark, who was in the box for Rahway, was touched up for a total of eleven hits, including a three and three two baggers.

"Warry" MacLaughlin had the goods, allowing but five scattering hits. Rahway scored two runs in their half of the second inning on a wild throw of MacLoughlin to first base to catch a runner. After that the Plains team settled down and held the home team to the two runs. MacLaughlin fanned five men and Clark three. The score:

Scotch Plains.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
C. Montross, c. f.	0	0	0	0	2
Baldwin, s. s.	3	2	0	1	1
Alberts, c.	3	1	4	0	5
Frentz, 2b.	2	3	0	2	0
Allen, 1b.	0	4	11	0	15
Flannery, 2b.	0	1	0	0	0
Reick, l. f.	0	0	0	0	2
Vanderolit, r. f.	0	0	7	0	0
McLaughlin, p.	0	0	1	2	0
	10	11	12	5	27

Rahway.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
J. Albert, r. f.	0	2	0	0	1
Goodwin, l. f.	0	0	0	0	5
Armstrong, 3b.	0	2	0	0	0
R. Potter, 1b.	0	0	0	0	15
Crosby, s. s.	0	0	0	0	1
Miller, c. f.	1	1	1	0	1
Clark, 2b.	1	2	1	1	0
Freeman, c.	1	0	0	3	0
Clark, p.	0	0	1	0	0
	2	5			27

Scotch Plains	2	0	2	0	2	0	2	0	0	—10
Rahway	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—2

Three-base hits—Baldwin, Frentz. Two-base hits—Frentz, Allen, Flannery.

The Inter-State Fair.

For Monday, September 28, the opening day of the Great Inter-State Fair, the management has programmed a $1,000 baby show and parade that will not only be a distinct feature of the fair, an event that will rank with anything of the kind ever promoted in this country. The classes are as follows: Baby show—handsomest, fattest, smallest, twin, triplets. Baby praade—baby coach including costume of child, doll coach and go-carts, a novelty prize. No entrance fee is charged. Parents are given free admission to the grounds and grand stand. Entry blanks and information in relation to the show and parade can be secured by addressing Frank McCullough, box 717, Trenton, N. J.

Mrs. J. Stout-See a Bride.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Jane Stout-See, widow of George See, at one time a resident of this city and president of the Common Council. She was married to Edward B. Thayer, of Jersey City, on Saturday at the parsonage of the Claremant Presbyterian church, Rev. Francis Morgan officiating. The bride is the daughter of the late William Stout, for many years a resident of East Front street. She is well-known here, where she has many friends.

TYPHOID FEVER FATAL TO T. EVERETT SHERWIN

Following an illness of two weeks with typhoid fever, Thomas Everett Sherwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Sherwin, of Westerrelt avenue, died early Sunday morning in Muhlenberg Hospital. His condition had been critical for several days and the end was not unexpected when it came shortly before 9 o'clock.

Mr. Sherwin was in his twenty-fourth year and had always been a resident of Plainfield. He was draughtsman by trade and at the time his illness began was employed by the W. T. Kirk Company. For several years previous he was connected with a New York firm. He is survived by a wife who was Miss Edna Kennedy, daughter of Isaac Kennedy, of West Front street. He also leaves a sister, Anna, and two brothers, Walter and Robert Sherwin. Walter Sherwin is an actor and at the present time is with a company in Oregon, having left for the Pacific coast several weeks ago. The young man was a member of the First Baptist church and had been identified with its work.

TUSSORE IS QUITE JUSTIFIABLY POPULAR.

Tussore is being put to many uses among others to summer suits for little lads. Another eminently satisfactory manifestation of the fabric is as the covering of the newest sun umbrellas—not parasols nor shades, but real umbrellas—writes our London correspondent.

Men are ordering them as well as women for foreign holidays and country wear in England, and as they are light in the hand and pretty as well as practical, they are an enormous improvement upon the old white with green lining sunshades beneath which caricaturists usually depict the traveler abroad. The sexes can share the possession of sun umbrellas with clothes to match made of tussore, and feel cool and happy in their comfortable habiliments.

The cut in sunshades, it always appears to me, is as much a matter of drifting toward the right choice instinctively as is that of handkerchiefs, hosiery, belts and gloves. No one lays down the law and says you are to use colored silk handkerchiefs or white gauze ones, or the subduedly gay bandana, but one finds all the fastidously dressed women doing so—the ninon ones for day wear, the gauze ones for evening affairs and the bandanas for tucking inside the tailor-made coat or the long-knitted golf coat that is the outdoor woman's present joy.

The tussore umbrellas are sold in all colors. There is no need for women to be curtailed in their choice, therefore, though men must choose some variation of the dust-shade to match their clothes.

RAHWAY MAYOR PERPLEXED

Writer Tells of Find Bottle in Ocean Containing Note with Executive's Name.

Mayor C. B. Holmes, of Rahway, was the recipient Saturday of the following letter through the mail, bearing date of Keyport:

"Something you probably never expected to hear from again has turned up almost at your door, only a few miles from your home town, in the shape of a bottle holding a note reading as follows: 'This bottle, thrown from North German steamer about midway between Liverpool and New York. Finder kindly let writer know when and where found. (Signed) Dr. Charles B. Holmes, Rahway, N. J.'"

The letter to the Mayor further explained that the bottle was found by August Menzel, a fisherman, who hauled it ashore on the beach, between Lawrence Harbor and Keyport, and concludes, "If you want the papers either come here after them or write me and I will send them to you." Signed, H. O. Bauer."

Mayor Holmes says he is at a loss to know if some one is trying to play a joke on him. He says he has been on board the steamer mentioned.

PLAINFIELD AND BRUNSWICK TEAMS BOTH FAIL TO SCORE.

The Plainfield A. A. played an exciting game of soccer football on the Clinton Avenue grounds, Saturday afternoon, with the New Brunswick eleven. After two forty minute halves, neither side had scored and the game was a draw. The weather was not ideal for the game, it being too warm. At the conclusion of play both teams showed the result plainly and the players were mighty glad to quit. The Plainfield A. A. lined up as follows:

Stevenson, goal; Craig and Gould, fullbacks; J. Craig, D. Edinton and S. Turner, halfbacks; Jamieson, Mc Comb, Sutton, Mitchell and Cooley, forwards. Next Saturday the Plainfield team will play Metuchen in this city.

At the closing exercises of a Syracuse school a little girl was asked: "Who is the head of our government?" "Mr. Roosevelt," she replied promptly. "That is right," said the teacher, "but what is his official title?" "Teddy!" responded the little miss, promptly.—Wasp.

TAX RATES IN COUNTY

Plainfield Lowest Among Cities, its Figure $1.40 Being Seven Points Decrease.

RAHWAY IS THE HIGHEST.

Small Boroughs and Townships Have a Small Increase—The Rates in Detail.

The Union County Board of Taxation, having completed its work in revising the assessments placed upon property in the county by local assessors, has announced the tax rate for the various municipalities. A general decrease is fixed in the larger cities, with the exception of Summit and Elizabeth. The rate for the former increases four points, and the rate in the latter remains the same as it lasts year, 1.46.

Of the cities in Union county, Plainfield has the lowest tax rate, 1.40, a decrease of seven points from last year's rate. Rahway pays the highest rate in the county, 1.93. This is a decrease from 2.00 in 1907. Most of the small boroughs and townships throughout Union county have a small increase in tax rate.

The total valuation of property in the county this year is $118,977,114, as against $114,454,000 in 1907.

The report of the County Board of Taxation follows, showing comparative rates for each taxing district of Union county in 1908 and 1907:

	1908.	1907.
Clark Township	.78	.82
Cranford Township	1.38	1.53
Elizabeth	1.46	1.46
Fanwood Township	1.51	1.44
Fanwood Borough	1.62	1.53
Gorwood Borough	.89	1.52
Kenilworth Borough	1.26	1.29
Linden Township	.95	.85
Linden Borough	1.14	1.11
Mountainside Borough	1.24	1.25
New Providence Township	1.64	1.56
New Providence Borough	1.76	1.40
Plainfield	1.40	1.47
Rahway	1.93	2.00
Roselle Borough	1.57	1.40
Roselle Park Borough	1.25	1.25
Springfield Township	1.31	1.55
Summit	1.86	1.52
Union Township	1.12	1.32
Westfield	1.77	1.79

TENNIS TOURNEY AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

The women's tennis tournament for the championship of the Plainfield Country Club, was begun on the club courts, Saturday morning when the preliminary, first and part of the second rounds were completed during the day. The result of the matches up to today is as follows:

Miss Helen Simpson defeated Miss Helen Harman, 6-3, 6-1; Miss Barbara Fleming won from Miss Katharine Titus by default; Miss Campbell defeated Miss Louise Booth, 6-0, 6-2; Miss Louise Andrews defeated Miss Eudora Sullivant, 6-3, 6-3; Mrs. Francis Frost defeated Miss Ursula Rowland, 6-2, 6-0; Mrs. R. S. Rowland defeated Miss Edna Brown, 6-0, 6-1; Mrs. S. F. Weaver defeated Miss Caroline Martin, 6-1, 6-2.

First round—Miss Campbell defeated Miss Andrews, 6-3, 6-3; Mrs. Francis Frost defeated Mrs. R. S. Rowland, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3; Mrs. S. F. Weaver defeated Mrs. Daniel Runkle, 6-1, 1-6, 6-1; Miss Wadsworth defeated Miss Merrill, 6-1, 6-2; Miss Sarah E. Schuyler defated Miss Anna Barchy, 6-2, 6-3.

Second round—Miss Barbara Fleming defeated Miss Helen Simpson, 6-1, 6-3; Miss Sara E. Schuyler defeated Miss Wadsworth, 6-0, 6-1. The playing off will continue today.

WE CANNOT CONTROL THE LIP MUSCLES.

It's a strange thing that men who can control their eyes cannot similarly manage their mouths.

So says a scientist who has made mankind his study.

"By mouth I mean the muscles of the lips," he continues. "Nearly always, in moments of excitement, exaltation, depression or emergency, these muscles twitch perceptibly. And this cannot be guarded against, because it is unconscious.

"Most people are trained to avoid saying too much with the eyes, and this becomes habitual. But few know that, to an observant person, the lip muscles are more expressive than the eyes.

"If, for instance, I suspect a man of lying to me, I don't watch his eyes, I regard his mouth closely. If his lips do not change their expression I feel justified in believing him. But let there be the least twitch or tremble, which is a sign of nervousness—well, I'm instantly on the alert.

"The wearing of a mustache is no safeguard against this weakness, because the lower lip is still exposed, and it is quite as much of a telltale as its higher companion. Indeed, the lower lip, in most cases, gives the mouth its character, the upper lip merely following suit."

BRIDEGROOM-TO-BE IN JAIL

Cops Arrest John Toth on Theft Charge on Eve of His Wedding.

LANGUISHES IN A CELL.

Admits Stealing Silverware From Truell Hall After Trunkfull is Found in His Room.

John Toth, a young Austrian who is quite well known about the city, and Sophie Dabriski, a servant girl employed by a Netherwood family, were to have been married Sunday. Plans for the wedding were all complete and a large part of the guests came around to witness the ceremony but they were disappointed. Instead of playing the role of bridegroom, Toth became a prisoner late Saturday night and was locked up at police headquarters on a charge of stealing $500 worth of silverware from Truell Hall. He is still languishing in a cell while his lawyer, John D. Owens, is seeking a bondsman in order to have the ceremony take place some time this week.

Toth was employed by Mrs. Truell at the hall until three or four weeks ago. Last spring the latter was robbed of a large amount of silverware and though the police gum-shoed around on the case for a long time they were unable to locate the thief. Chief Kiely did not "give up the search entirely, however, and a few days ago got a tip that led him to believe that the missing silver might be found in Toth's room at the home of Joseph Kmosko, 1,321 North avenue, where he boarded.

On Saturday afternoon, the police head had Mr. Truell swear out a search warrant and with Detective Sergeant Flynn he proceeded to the Kmosko place to make use of it. Practically all the missing property was located and Toth was immediately placed under arrest. He admitted his guilt at a hearing before Judge Runyon and bail was fixed at $500.

DAVID DOW'S GOLIATH WINS "WEST END CUP"

Entries from the Watchung Hunt Club figured prominently in the inaugural race meet at Red Bank, Saturday, under the auspices of the newly organized Monmtuh County Pony and Steeplechase Association. The association is composed of society people in the neighborhood of Red Bank and with the exception of one race the horses were all ridden by the owners and their friends.

In the first race for the Rumson cup for polo ponies, Peter Hauck, Jr.'s Fancy (Wilder), finished second, and in the second race for the West End cup, two mile steeplechase, David Dow's Goliath, won; W. C. Eckerson's Rollo (Alpers), was second. In the fourth race for the Monmouth county challenge cup, three miler steeplechase, Chris Camp's Maid of All Work (Fisk), finished second, and Peter Hauch, Jr.'s Modest (Wilder), was third. Wilder rode John Shield's Hunter Raine in the fifth race for the Deal cup for hacks and hunters, and came in second, and Fred Alpers up on Peter Hauck, Jr.'s Chinch, finished second in the sixth race for the Elberon cup. In the seventh and last race, Jersey Sweepstakes, Fred Alpers up on H. A. Bourne's Bessie Fullem, was second, and Markus C. Finch's Demi-tasse finished third.

YOUTH HELD WITHOUT BAIL ON YOUNG WOMAN'S CHARGE

Following a hearing in borough police headquarters before Justice David D. Smalley, Saturday night, Harry Higgins, of West Fourth street, was held without bail on Miss Eliza Voehl's charge that he had attempted to assault her. He was taken to Somerville but it is probable that his counsel, William G. DeMeza, will have bonds fixed by Judge Schenck today.

The hearing brought out the fact that Higgins and Miss Voehl have been close friends for several weeks and they had been out walking on several occasions. She has also been seeing him postal cards, highly perfumed and silk-bedecked, at the rate of five and six a day. Her complaint is based on an occurrence that took place as they were strolling along upper Somerset street early Friday night. Higgins denied any criminal intent but admitted placing his arm around Miss Voehl's waist to embrace her.

The authorities do not regard the case in a serious light but as the young woman's father is persistent in pressing the charge they were compelled to conform with the legal phase of the matter which prohibits the justice fixing bail. The defendant is eighteen years old and his accuser is a few months his senior.

A tranquil-minded man in the White House may yet prove to us that Bombastes Furioso didn't really do anything more than make the rafters ring with Teddy echoes. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

NEW JERSEY CENTRAL VETERANS ENJOY OUTING

Charles A. Schermerhorn and Joseph A. Haynes, of this city, were among the members who attended the annual reunion and clambake of the Veterans' Employes Association of the New Jersey Central, held at Pleasure Bay, Saturday. There were 150 members present from the New Jersey and the L. & S. Divisions.

Among the guests were Vice-President and General Manager W. G. Besler, General Superintendent Huntington, General Passenger Agent W. C. Hope, General Freight Agent E. M. Snyder and Benjamin Chapin, the last named of Newark. All of the invited guests made brief addresses, congratulating the members of the association. After enjoying a fine bake, a photograph of the group was taken and the afternoon spent in an informal manner.

TRINITY SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY DAY EXERCISES

The Rally day services held Sunday afternoon under the auspices of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, were among the largest attendance in recent years, there being 432 members of the school present. The informal program was in charge of the superintendent, F. E. Smith. A feature was the rendition of several selections by an orchestra, composed of Miss Lillian A. Force, piano; C. L. Spier and Dyckman Winkler, violins. The orchestra also assisted in the singing of the hymns by the school.

Another feature was a soprano solo by Mrs. E. D. Young. Part of the program that was of great interest to all was the reading of a letter from Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, in which he deeply regretted his inability to be present, and extending congratulations to every member of the school. There was also a short address by Rev. Dr. P. Johnson, acting pastor, and a ten-minute review led by Superintendent F. E. Smith. Last year the attendance at rally-day was 415 and the increased numbers yesterday was gratifying to all.

W. L. GLENNEY SCORES IN COUNTRY CLUB EVENT

The weekly competition for the Fall Handicap cups at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday attracted a large number of golfers to the course, and a number of fine scores were made. In the Class A event, W. Lester Glenney won first three points with the low score of 74 net, while H. D. Hibbard finished second with a 76 and C. C. Burke, Jr., was third with a 78. In Class B, A. E. Barclay finished first with a net score of 75, George S. Clay was second with an 80 and H. F. Fox third with an 86.

The best scores returned for the day were as follows:

Class A—Junior Glenney, 78-4-74; H. D. Hibbard, 83, 7-76; C. C. Burke, Jr., 93,15-78; J. A. Lane, 96, 15-81; S. H. Patterson, 98, 15-83.

Class B—A. E. Barclay, 96, 21-75, George S. Clay, 106, 26-80; Hugh F. Fox, 108, 22-86.

LARGE GATHERING AT CHARLES PAWSON'S FUNERAL

The funeral of Charles J. Pawson, whose death occurred after a long illness, was held Sunday afternoon at his late home on East Second street. The service was conducted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey and was attended by a large gathering of relative and friends, including delegations from Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Greenbrook Council, Royal Arcanum, of which he was a member. There were numerous handsome floral tributes. Burial was made today in Fairmount cemetery, Newark.

The young man was twenty-seven years old and beside his wife and mother, is survived by two brothers, Arthur and Joseph Pawson, and one sister, Miss Carrie Pawson.

Birthday Lawn Party.

In honor of the anniversary of her birthday, a lawn party was given to Miss Theresa Uhrhahn at her home on Regent street, Saturday night. There were about twenty-five guests, including several from out town. The lawn was attractively decorated and illuminated for the occasion. The company enjoyed playing games and an informal program of music was rendered. During the evening supper was served on the lawn. Miss Uhrhahn was the recipient of many gifts and the best wishes of all for many happy returns of the day.

Theatre's New Attache.

Willard Hexter, of Philadelphia, has been appointed advertising manager of the New Plainfield theatre in place of John A. Lawrence, resigned. Mr. Hexter is a theatrical man of wide experience and for several seasons past has been connected with road companies.

WASHINGTON AVE. BRIDGE REPAIRS TO BE MADE

Following a conference Monday of Mayor Samuel Townsend and other North Plainfield officials with the bridge committees of the Union and Somerset County Boards of Freeholders, at which the engineers from both counties were present, it was decided to make extensive repairs to the Washington avenue bridge. This matter has been under advisement for several weeks by Mayor Townsend and interested citizens in the borough and upon their invitation the freeholders and engineers were asked to attend a conference.

The bridge on Washington avenue was thoroughly inspected and the necessity for repairing it was apparent. The freeholders requested the engineers to draft plans for suggested improvements and submit them to both boards, after which another conference will be held to determine on what is to be done.

As now constructed the bridge has a plank roadbed and the idea is to pave it with concrete material, making it practically noiseless. Attention will also be given to the spans, which are now considered too wide. It was suggested that they be shortened and this will probably be done. There is a great deal of travel over this bridge and the freeholders are impressed with the fact that it should be rebuilt along modern up-to-date lines. At present the spans are so wide that the structure has been known to sway with heavy travel. This will be eliminated in the changes as planned. The freeholders also inspected the Westervelt avenue bridge with a view to making repairs in the planking which is in bad condition.

NEW JERSEY CORPORATIONS.

Certificates of incorporation have been granted at Trenton to the following companies:

The Continental Ozone Company, North Bergen: capital, $500,000; incorporators, Frank M. Ashley, William H. Bull and Frank C. Gruen; to prepare from withdrawn products and preserved, store, etc., the same by and through ozone, oxygen, etc.

East Coast Land Company, Atlantic City: capital, $2,000; incorporators, Walter G. Howell, John P. O'Brien and W. Fletcher Daum; to deal in real estate, etc.

Joseph Fergg Company, Newark: capital, $100,000; incorporators, Frank Martin, Anthony Fergg and Sidney Stein; to manufacture brewers' supplies; contract for building breweries, etc.

National Chemical Laborator; Camden; capital, $100,000; incorporators, F. R. Hansell, William F. Eidell and John A. MacPeak; to engage as chemists, durggists, etc.

Pope-Hartford Auto Company, Newport; capital, $50,000; incorporators, Benjamin C. Fincke, Henry E. Hol; and Charles A. Dickson; to manufacture automobiles.

Union Cafe Company, Rahway; capital, $500,000; incorporators, Joseph Regan, George F. Considine and John R. Considine; to conduct hotels, restaurants, cafes, etc.

United Mercantile and Realty Exchange, Rahway; capital, $50,000; incorporators, Edward D. Cronin, Fred Knowlton and G. Q. Dean; to do a general commission merchants and selling agents' business.

United Woolen Mills Company, Rahway; capital, $125,000; incorporators, Edward D. Crosin, G. Q. Dean and Fred Knowlton; to manufacture woolen and worsted goods, cloth and other fabrics.

William Plaut, Oil and Fertilizer Company, Chatham; capital, $10,000; incorporators, Andrew Wilson, William G. Badgley and Schuyler M. Cady; to deal in florist supplies, seeds, flowers, plants, fertilizers, etc.

Gilbert Lumber Co., Gilbert Inc., Camden; capital $75,000; incorporators, Homer J. P. Hampton George W. Rurode and William H. Rees; to manufacture writing machines, typewriters, typewriting materials, etc.

American Security Contract Company, Trenton, capital, $100,000; incorporators, Daniel J. Peck; T. J. Mitchell and E. A. Gabryel; to deal in stocks, bonds, investments, etc.

Hunt Club Active.

The Watchung Hunt Club is planning a number of social functions to be held at the new clubhouse during the fall and winter. The club is already growing in popularity as an ideal place to dine and frequent dinner parties are given there. A little later the club will inaugurate its weekly hunts, which are always popular with the riding members. The hounds are in fine condition and a successful season is anticipated.

Esteemed Explained.

"These delegates who nominated you gave you credit for being a man of great wisdom."

"Yes," answered the candidate, "that's because they knew in advance that I was going to agree with their opinions."—Washington Star.

One Exception at Least.

"No," declares Mr. Nagget, "there never was a woman on earth who could refrain from turning around to rubber at some other woman's clothes."

"No?" remarked his wife sweetly. "Didn't you ever hear of Eve?"—Philadelphia Press.

MANY ARE ARRAIGNED BEFORE JUDGE SCHENCK

In the Somerset county courts in Somerville Monday many alleged offenders, indicted by the last grand jury were arraigned before Judge Schenck. The following pleaded not guilty and were held in bail to appear for trial next Monday: Charles A. Carroll, charged with carrying a concealed weapon; Henry Hudson, Sunday selling; John Richards, breaking and entering, larceny and unlawfully taking a horse; John Shipley, malicious mischief; George Fisher, atrocious assault; Savanus Carkhuff and Johanna Savelinski fornication and two charges of lewdness; Pietro Cappozoli, breaking and entering; Michael Verardi, illegal sale of liquor; Walter Bingle, illegal selling and Sunday selling; James McLaughlin, assault and battery; Charles Hendershot, larceny.

Those pleaded guilty and will appear Friday for sentence: George Allison, charged with carrying a concealed weapon; Henry Scott, Sunday selling; John Giafrancesco, carrying a concealed weapon; Domenica Delandria, carrying concealed weapon. Louis Clenger, charged with assault and battery; Philip Brown, atrocious assault and battery. Mrs. Susan Dagland, disorderly house, and George Gannon, assault and battery, were discharged.

"UNCLE BILL" AMUSED BY RIGS IN A MIX-UP

A team of horses drawing a heavily loaded farm wagon belonging to George Siebert, of Greenbrook road, was pulling out of the alley adjoining Scherer's grocery store Monday when the animals began to slide down the brick-paved incline. It was impossible to hold them in and they swung against an Eastern Bottling company delivery rig driven by Thomas Hill. The pole of the farm wagon was bent between the spokes of one of the bottling vehicle's wheels and in a jiffy there was a peach of a mix-up.

One of Siebert's horses got its front feet through the wheel spokes and the team went down in a hopeless tangle. Inside of three minutes there were something like thirteen million men and one lone woman superintending the job of clearing away the wreckage but it took ten minutes to do it. The skirted director was Mrs. Perry Cohl, who suggested the plan that got Siebert's animals free without injuring them.

While the excitement was at its height, "Uncle Bill" Waldron, of the borough, viewed the proceedings from a high seat on the farm wagon.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION AT ELIZABETH OCT. 2, 3

An examination of candidates for public school teachers' certificates has been announced by J. A. Shafts of Westfield, Union county superintendent of schools. It will be held at the Court House, Elizabeth, Friday and Saturday morning, October 2 and 3, beginning at 9 o'clock on each day.

Following is the order of subjects: Friday morning, arithmetic; geography and penmanship; a. m., orthography, grammar, reading; Saturday morning, Third grade, theory and practice, school law, U. S. history, civil government; fourth grade, theory and practice, school law, history of education, elementary algebra; first grade, algebra, school law, history of education, plane geometry.

Saturday afternoon: Third grade, elementary composition, temperance physiology; second grade, composition, bookkeeping, physiology; first grade, physics, general history. Special certificates: Saturday, theory and practice of teaching, school law of New Jersey, kindergarten, drawing, manual training, domestic training, music, ancient languages, modern languages, inventional geometry.

YOUNG HOPEFUL SPOILS HIS MOTHER'S COMPLAINT.

William Berkowitz, a fifteen-year-old boy, was defendant in the city court, Tuesday, charged by Mrs. William Gray, of Watchung avenue, with striking her son, probably about six years old. Berkowitz admitted that he had slapped the youngster but explained that he did so only after Gray had applied an insulting term to him that reflected on his religion.

"That's what I did," piped up the Gray hopeful, coming from behind his mother's skirts; and then he repeated the epithet that is presented by members of the Hebrew faith.

"Is that so?" queried Judge Runyon with a threatening scowl; "well, this case is dismissed right now and I want to say for Master Gray's benefit that he had better be a little more careful of his language."

Mrs. Gray realized there was nothing to her complaint before the magistrate concluded and lost no time in escorting her boy out of the court room.

TO STOP "SHOPLIFTING"

Merchants Association Proposes to Have the Next Offender Prosecuted.

BAD ACCOUNTS CONSIDERED.

Counsel Ordered to Get After Those Who Do Not Pay Debts—Prefer Embury Tract for P. O. Site.

The Plainfield Merchants' Association, at its September meeting, Monday, decided to solicit names to a petition to be forwarded to Washington recommending the purchase of the Embury property at East Front and Church streets for the Federal building. This action was taken after a full discussion of the subject. In the opinion of the merchants the site is considered an ideal one and the price asked for the land was declared to be reasonable. The association will lend its influence toward placing the new postoffice building there.

The association took up the question of shoplifting which has been increasing at an alarming rate during the past few months and it was decided that in the future all persons caught stealing goods from stores of merchants who are members of the association will be arrested and prosecuted to the full extent of the law by the association. This was decided to be the best method of effectually stopping the practice.

Since the organization was formed considerable progress has been made by the merchants in preparing a list of bad accounts and the merchants have a complete list of people who are rated as poor pay. Last night W. S. Angleman was engaged as counsel to collect all bad accounts and in this way it is hoped to clean up bad debts which have been running for a long time.

A representative of the New York and Plainfield Transfer Company was present and agreed to put on another wagon to improve the express service between the two points, provided the merchants would give the concern full support. This was agreed to and another wagon will be placed in the service. The members expressed themselves as well pleased with the service, declaring it to be as satisfactory as that of the U. S. Express Company and at cheaper rates.

There was also a discussion regarding the proposed auto-bus line between Plainfield and South Plainfield, and progress was reported. The week's business was considered and the association will invite representatives of the Plainfield newspapers to make a trip over the proposed line with a view to deciding on the feasibility and advisability of establishing such a service.

J. G. Vanderhoef, C. L. Stanley and Herman Schwed were appointed as a committee to solicit names to the petition favoring the Embury property for the postoffice building and Messrs. Levy, M. C. Van Arsdale and J. Hervey Dean were appointed a committee to arrange for a smoker to be held on Monday night, October 19.

Children's Frocks.

Cute little frocks of ginghams or linen for small girls are made with a full skirt gathered to a belt, attached to a blouse waist which simulates a front closing by means of a box pleat down centre front decorated with large buttons.

The neck is finished with a Peter Pan collar and silk tie, and a breast pocket is added on the left front. Just like a grown-up waist.

The sleeves are three-quarter length full bishop, confined by band cuffs. This model is well adapted for school wear and made from woolen fabrics.

EVERETT SHERWIN'S FUNERAL.

Service at His Parent's Home in Charge of Dr. Chambliss and Dr. McCrea.

The funeral of T. Everett Sherwin, whose death occurred in Muhlenberg Hospital Sunday after an illness with typhoid fever, was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Sherwin, of Westervelt avenue. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, the young man's pastor, assisted by Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea. There were numerous handsome floral tributes, among them being several set pieces.

Burial was made in Hillside cemetery, the following young men, who were fellow members of Mr. Sherwin in the Orange Field Club when it was a factor in local athletics, acting as pall bearers: Luther Shepard, Harry Hook, Arthur Caleen, Daniel Randolph, Albert Yaegar and Jerry Manning.

Monroe A. C. Victorious.

In a well played and interesting game the Monroe A. C. defeated the Iola A. C. Saturday afternoon by a score of 5 to 3. This makes three victories out of five games played for the Monroes and Saturday's result was all the more enjoyable because it was accomplished with the regular lineup of the Iolas, including their crack battery, Hall and Linke. Vail and Pangborn formed the battery for the Monroes.

MISS EMMA LINDSAY A SEPTEMBER BRIDE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lindsay, of Mountain avenue, was the scene of a quiet wedding at 6 o'clock Monday evening when their daughter, Miss Emma Lindsay, was made the wife of Arthur Lindsay Smith, of Hanover, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Dr. E. P. Johnson, of New Brunswick, acting pastor of Trinity Reformed church, and was witnessed only by the relatives of the two families.

Miss Lindsay was gowned in embroidered mulle princess and carried white asters. She was attended by her sister, Miss Jean Lindsay, while her brother, James Lindsay, was best man. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Susie Glover, of Red Bank. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left last night for a trip to Washington, D. C., and will visit two weeks. At the conclusion they will make their home in Newark. Mr. Smith is but slightly acquainted in Plainfield but his bride is very well known. She is a member of Trinity Reformed church and has been active in its organizations.

FAIR ACRES' RACES SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The Fair Acres Riding and Driving Club has arranged an unusually attractive card for the matinee fete to be held Saturday afternoon at the driving park. There will be one event for pacers, one for trotters, one for trotters and pacers and a half-mile running race. Full entries have been received for each event, including some of the best horses to be found in this part of the State. The running race will be run off in three heats, the winners of the first and second to be matched in the third heat. In this race the first prize will be a saddle and the second prize a bridle. In the other classes the first prize will be a set of harness and the second a fine whip.

The races will start promptly at 2 o'clock and as the track is in first-class condition there will be a good opportunity to see some fine sport. The entries are as follows:

Class A, Pace—Lady Onward, Joe McGregor, Bay Prince, Zip; Aaron B. Class B, trot and pace—Lady Sidnut, Ben. Butler, Sidney Leland, Asia, Katie M., Flora Gentry. Running race, half mile; first heat—Polly Watt, Slipper, Bim, Little Dee; second heat—Bowery Lass, Conscript and Bahnquada.

FORMED A NEW CIRCLE.

Girls of West End Tabernacle Organize to Carry On Missionary Work.

The girls of the West End Tabernacle have organized a secret circle to be known as the "Look Up" and which will have missionary work for its cardinal object. The following are the officers elected for the ensuing year: Superintendent of the work, Miss Agnes VanNorden; president, Miss Helen Taylor; vice-president, Miss Edna Stryker; secretary, Miss Florence Taylor; treasurer, Miss Agnes VanNorden.

The circle is composed of the following charter members: The Misses Bertha Stryker, Mary Roth, Mamie Gary, Grace Taylor, Maud Lancaster, Florence Taylor, Dorothy Modick, Edna Stryker, Maude Ryan, Helen Taylor. Meetings will be held every Thursday afternoon at 3:30 at the girl's homes. The members greet each other by a secret handshake.

LaVere's Band for Montclair.

Ben La Vere, the local bandmaster, has been engaged to furnish the music for Montclair's annual horse show to be held on October 10. His selection was made through members of the executive committee who were greatly pleased with the band he provided for the Plainfield horse show. Mr. La Vere has had several notable engagements the past season, exclusive of his Sunday concerts at Lake Hopatcong which have become one of the features at the resort.

MAGAZINE READERS

SUNSET MAGAZINE beautifully illustrated, good stories of life on the Coast, California and all the Far West. $1.50 a year

CAMERA CRAFT devoted each month to the artistic reproduction of the best work of amateur and professional photographers. $1.00 a year

ROAD TO A THOUSAND WONDERS a book of 75 pages, containing 120 colored photographs of picturesque spots in California and Oregon. $0.75

Total . . . $3.25

All for . . . $2.50

Address all orders to

SUNSET MAGAZINE

Flood Building San Francisco

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner. Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. LITTELL

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL

My new barber shop at

14 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsoria

EDWIN D. MAYNARD.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits on interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. F. Arnold, } Vice-Pres
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January to the will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us at home or travel, appointing agents. Old line co. Large commissions. Expenses advanced. $900 salary guaranteed yearly; extra allowances and expenses, rapid advancement, old established house. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant, permanent position, liberal income and a future. New, brilliant lines. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn

FOR AGENTS—AN OPPORTUNITY!

"THE OLD WORLD AND ITS WAYS"

BY

William Jennings Bryan.

NOW READY FOR SOLICITORS.

576 Imperial Octavo Pages. Over 200 Superb Engravings from photographs taken by Mr. Bryan.

Recounts his trip around the world and his visits to all nations. The greatest book of travel ever written. The people are waiting for it. The agent's harvest. Outfit FREE—Send 4 cents to cover mailing and handling.

THE THOMPSON PUBLISHING CO.,
St. Louis, Mo. 7 26 8 c

W. H. CODINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Office corner of Park avenue and Second street.

DIED.

SCRIBNER—Tuesday, September 18, 1908, Raymond Scribner, son of William H. and Jennie Scribner, aged 19 years.

DICKSON—At the home of his parents, 106 Duer street, North Plainfield on Tuesday, September 15, 1908, John Herbert, infant son of John and Margaret A. Dickson.

PAWSON—On Friday, September 18, 1908, Charles J., son of Elizabeth and the late Richard Pawson, aged 27 years.

RUSHMORE—Suddenly, September 17, 1908, Sarah Mekeel, beloved wife of Isaac W. Rushmore.

SHERWIN—On Saturday, September 19, 1908, T. Everett, son of Horace M. and Elizabeth W. Sherwin, in his 24th year.

Crap Game Nets $30.

Thirteen boys captured in the crap game raid on Richmond street, Sunday, were arraigned before Judge Runyon at this morning's session of the city court. They acknowledged their guilt and were fined $3 each. All paid up after the financially-embarrassed ones had negotiated loans from their more fortunate companions.

VERSE WORTH READING.

In Memory of a Humorist.
(Artemus Ward.)

Is he gone to the land of no laughter,
The man who made mirth for us all?
Proves death but a silent hereafter
From the sounds that delight and appall?

Once closed, have the eyes no more duty,
No more pleasure the exquisite ears?
Has the heart done o'erflowing with beauty
As the eyes have with tears?

Nay, if aught can be sure, what is surer,
Than that earth's good decays not with earth?
And of all the heart's springs none are purer
Than the spring of the fountain of mirth,
His that sounds it has pierced the heart's hollows,
The place where tears chose to sleep,
For the foam-flakes that dance in life's shallows
Are wrung from life's deep.

He came with a heart full of gladness,
From the kind-hearted land of the west;
When our laughter, but not with mere madness,
Shake and joked with us, not in mere jest.

For the man in our heart lingered after,
When the merriment died in our ears,
And those who were loudest in laughter
Are silent in tears.
—Swinburne.

The Real Folks.

Folks that likes you—them's the kind
Worth a journey long to find,
'Cause it's something purty fine
To be standin' up in line
Where the chosen congregate
In the councils of the great.
Yet fame, somehow, doesn't seem
To bring mutual esteem.

I'll admit it must be good
For to have it understood
That you're one o' the select
Few considered 'mighty correct,'
Havin' people near an' far
Bowin' low an' sayin' "sir"
Must be mighty soothin', still
'Druther hear jes' "Howdy, Bill!"

Folks that whispers in your ear
Compliments that ain't sincere;
Folks that use ye fur a day
Then laugh an' turn away—
How we strive their praise to win,
Only to return again
To the fellers that stan' true—
Folks that likes you 'cause they do.
—Washington Star.

Sitting Out the Dance.

Time, the fiddler, plays the tune,
Merrily we prance,
Various the things we hear
Sitting out the dance.

What is Cupid and his word,
Love and all romance?
Gossip of the hallway stairs
Sitting out the dance.

What is fame bedimmed by slurs
Slander's deadly lance?
Gossip of the kitchen stairs
Sitting out the dance.

What are sermons finely spun,
Beats and creeds and chants?
Gossip of the golden stairs
Sitting out the dance.
—McLandburgh Wilson, in New York Sun.

Honesty.

When through the tangled wilderness of human doubts and fears,
Sorely pressed, in sin I wandered,
Human peace at once I squandered,
And in this helpless misery I wasted many years.

At last the storm broke on my track, my heart seemed free again;
But when I sought the quiet peace,
And bade the pain and turmoil cease,
The way seemed blocked and hedged about by many hands of men.

I thought to find a way without where I might rest awhile,
But even in this quiet spot
The words of men in riot shot,
Because a man turned back from sin and tried once more to smile.
—Elizabeth Allen Mallory.

The New Age.

When navies are forgotten
And fleets are useless things,
When the dove shall warm her bosom
Beneath the eagle's wings,

When memory of battles,
At last is strange and old,
When nations have one banner
And men have one fold,

When the Hand that sprinkles midnight
With its powdered drift of suns
Has hushed this tiny tumult
Of sects and swords and guns;

Then Hate's last note of discord
In all God's worlds shall cease,
In the conquest which is service,
In the victory which is peace!
—Frederick Lawrence Knowles.

The Boy and the Sunbeam.

"I am washing my face in the sunshine,"
Said the baby who played on the floor,
Where a great shaft of light through the window
Of gold spread its generous store.
"I'm washing my face in the sunshine"—
He laughed in his innocent glee;
And the wee sturdy chap made a picture
Twere well worth a journey to see.

The mother bent over and kissed him
As only a mother knows how;
And she whispered a prayer as she kissed him:
"May it be with you ever as now,
May you turn to the sky and its shining,
Till the journey before you is done,
A face that is honest and happy
And bathed in the light of the sun!"

You Can Never Tell.

One man smokes and tobacco and lives one hundred years.
Another man
Chews all he can,
And thus our moral queers.

One chap consumes no liquor and lives for years; but then
Here comes his pop,
A human,
And puts us out again.

We learn in life some lessons they didn't teach at school.
For living long
Or being strong
There is no hide-bound rule.
—Washington Herald.

To Thee.

As soft as the down on the butterfly's wing,
As light as the foam on the sea,
As warm as the kiss of the summer sun
Is the thought I am sending to thee.

As bright as the rosy-tipped temples of Morn,
As sweet as the flowers on the lea,
As swift as the flight of the homing dove
Is the thought I am sending to thee.

As strong as the rush of the tempest fierce,
As fair as the moon o'er the sea,
As pure—not as gold in the miser old
Is the thought I am sending to thee.

HARRY K. LISTER
161 NORTH AVENUE.

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE A
VICTOR or an EDISON TALKING MACHINE
IN YOUR HOME?

ASK ABOUT OUR EASY PAYMENT PLAN.

RECORDS AND SUPPLIES FOR ALL MACHINES.

Vail
JEWELER AND OPTICIAN

103 Park Ave.,
calls your attention to his
Rimless Glasses.
They Look Good and You See Good.

KODAKS AND SUPPLIES
Developing, Printing and Enlarging.
The Photo Store,
129 North Avenue.

JOHN WINZENREID,
Furniture and Freight Express.
Moving Vans and Storage.
212 Lee Place. 'Phone 549-R.

TITUS H. LAURY
MASON AND BUILDER.
Office, 323 East Front Street.
Tile Setting, Mantel and Front Work.
Telephone 464-L.

The Rayo Lamp
Cannot be excelled for its bright and steady light, simple construction and handsome design. Equipped with latest improved burner. Made of brass throughout and nickel plated. Every lamp warranted. Write to nearest agency if not at your dealer's.
STANDARD OIL COMPANY, Incorporated.

HOAGLAND'S
Express—BAGGAGE and FURNITURE MOVING.
Office 205 Park Ave.
Tel. 833-W Home Tel. 648-L.

E. B. Maynard's
Tonsorial Parlors. Electrical Massage for face and hair. First-class work. Children a Hair Ladies' Tonsorial Specialty.
Tel. No. 794-R.
141 NORTH AVENUE.

TURKISH BATHS!
TAKE ONE
Ladies Mornings, Gentlemen Afternoons
Take Trolley to Sanitarium, Somerset Street.

Announcement to the Public!
I beg to announce that I will open a First-Class Ladies' Tailoring Establishment at 327 Watchung Avenue on or about Sept. 12. Hoping you will give me a Respectfully PHILLIP COHEN
LATE OF FIFTH AVENUE

PLAINFIELD WINDOW CLEANING CO.
Renovating—Offices, stores and private residences. Service day or night. Furniture, china and glassware packed for shipping.
WM. A. KLINE, 611 W. 3d St.

NOTICE.
If you are dissatisfied with your paper service call on or call up:
THE HUSTLER.
William H. Olmsted, 331 Watchung Avenue, near Fourth St. Successor to D. H. Bonnyfoot
325-J. Ritter 'Phone 388-J

New Jersey Central

In Effect September 10, 1905.

For New York—7.17, 8.37, 6.08, 6.02, 6.29, 6.57, 7.25, 7.29, 7.45, 7.47, 7.55, 8.00, 8.11, 8.30, 8.36, 8.41, 8.59, 9.00, 10.02, 10.56, 11.56, 12.06, 12.19, 12.42, 1.06, 1.27, 2.27, 2.44, 3.09, 3.42, 4.12, 4.45, 5.53, 6.29, 6.45, 7.09, 7.21, 8.27, 9.30, 10.49, 11.29 p. m. Sundays—2.17, 3.37, 5.25, 7.23, 7.58, 8.52, 9.34, 9.46, 10.16, 10.39, 10.46, 11.06, 11.37, 11.45, 2.41, 2.09, 2.20, 4.29, 5.41, 6.30, 6.45, 8.12, 8.57, 9.42, 10.28, 10.41 p. m.

For Newark—6.36, 6.29, 6.57, 7.06, 7.25, 7.29, 7.47, 8.11, 8.26, 8.44, 9.28, 9.58, 10.55 a. m., 12.07, 1.09, 2.09, 2.27, 3.41, 3.42, 4.12, 4.45, 5.53, 6.29, 7.37, 8.27, 9.31 p. m. Sunday—7.23, 8.52, 9.34, 10.16, 10.39, 10.46, 11.06, 11.40, 2.09, 2.45, 3.41, 3.30, 4.29, 5.41, 6.46, 8.12, 8.35, 9.42, 10.28, 10.41 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—6.36, 9.34 a. m., 2.09, 5.23 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 2.09, 7.06 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—8.18, 8.58 a. m., 2.09, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc.—7.17, 8.37, 10.56 a. m., (12.42 Saturdays only), 1.27, 2.42, 4.45, 5.53, 11.28 p. m. Sundays—8.52 a. m., 2.30, 8.12 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—2.37, 9.34 a. m., 12.42, (Saturdays only), 1.27, 2.44, 2.30 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 1.45 p. m.

For Philadelphia—7.13, 7.39, 8.45, 9.13, 10.43 a. m., 12.13, 12.42, 1.39, 2.27, 3.45, 4.54, 5.50, 6.45, 8.50, 11.15 p. m. Night Sunday—8.45, 9.53, 10.39, 10.43, 11.42 a. m., 12.12, 1.44, 2.45, 3.45, 4.50, 5.39, 6.44, 8.50, 9.46 p. m., 11.25, 1.15 night.

For Baltimore and Washington—8.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 4.44 p. m. Sundays—8.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 6.44 p. m.

*Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr. W. C. HOPE, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.
Office open 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. Closes 7 p. m.
On Saturdays close half hour later.

NEW YORK MAIL.
Arrive—7:00, 8.00, 11:30 a. m., 2:30, 3:30 p. m.
Close—7:30, 9:30 a. m., 12:00 m., 2:30, 4:00, 6:30 p. m., 12 midnight.
Close—7:30, 9:30 a. m., 1:00, 2:30, 4:00, 7:15 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON.
Arrive—5:40 a. m., 1:30, 3:15 p. m.
Close—7:30 a. m., 12:00, 1:15 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.
Arrive—7:30, 8:40 and 11:30 a. m., 3:15 p. m.
Close—7:15, 7:30, 9:30 a. m., 12:15, 2:00, 4:00, 7:15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR EAST
Close—1:00 and 7:15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR WEST AND SOUTH.
Close—12:30, 6:30, 7:15 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA, West of Easton.
Close—12:30 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Direct.
Arrive—6:40 a. m., 2:30, 5:40 p. m.
Close—7:30 a. m., 2:30, 6:00 p. m.

NEWARK—Direct.
Arrive—6:40 a. m., 2:30, 5:40 p. m.
Close—7:15, 7:30 a. m., 1:00, 2:30 and 6:00 p. m.

WATCHUNG AVENUE.
Arrive—12:30 p. m.
Close—3:00 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.
Office open from 9:3 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6:15 p. m.

Advertisements
—FOR—
New York Herald,
World, Times, Sun, Journal, Telegram, American, Brooklyn Eagle
—and—
Newark Evening News
Received at
The Daily Press
AT REGULAR OFFICE RATES.

GORMLEY'S Riding School
DEALER IN
Hunters and Saddle Horses
Special attention given to Ladies and Children. Horses broken to saddle and harness. Also Horses Boarded.
HUGH GORMLEY, Prop.
Kensington Ave., Tel. 194

WASHINGTON ROCK SPRING WATER
Bottlers of high-class soft drinks, Ginger Ale, Soda Water and Pure Spring Water, and Siphon Goods. Private families and parties' patronage is solicited.
Henry Pedeflous,
TELEPHONE 670-R
Hotel Pedeflous, Plainfield

JOS. F. BURKE
Successor to Mrs. John Brown
General Contractor and Grader
Cesspools and Vaults Cleaned
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Positively the only Odorless Excavator in the City.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Leave orders at
J. T. Vail's, North avenue. Phone 204
Postoffice Box 715.
For prices, address
FRANK BURKE, Manager.

STATIONERY AND TOYS.
HARPER,
411 PARK AVENUE.

Geo. H. Stagaard,
SHOEMAKER
108—CHURCH STREET—110
Repair work called for and delivered
'PHONE 1062-W.

MANGO & DIENNO
Sewer Contractors & Cesspool Builders
Stoppages in house connection to main sewers removed at any time, Sundays included, when necessary.
Office and residence 320 Richmond St.
Tel. 663-J. 9 15 1m

Difference In Coal.
All coals may look alike to some people, but compare our "Lehigh" Coal with the Coal you bought somewhere else and you will see a difference.
You will notice that our Coal Burns Brighter, Gives More Heat, and Lasts Longer than any other Coal you ever bought before
Boice, Runyon & Co.,
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
Park Ave. and R. R. Yard.

JOS. HARRIGAN
OLD COMPANY'S LEHIGH COAL
929 South Avenue
Telephone 193.
The best time to order your winter supply of
COAL
is now. Do not forget that
NASH
is ready to supply you.
Telephone 337-W
Evenings 371-W.
OFFICE—686 SOUTH SECOND ST.

TenEyck & Harris,
Dealers' Inn.
LEHIGH VALLEY COAL.
Office: Bowler's Drug Store, 218 West Front Street. Telephone 23-J.

Coal I have on hand some Coal. The Hard and Medium Coal. All kept under sheds. Prices right. Coal
25 cents a ton reduction on cash orders
L. A. RHEAUME,
146 East Fourth St. Telephone 149-W
Yard, 876 South Second St. Telephone 198

LARGE & STEVENS
747 West Front St.

R. L. CLINE
Successor to C. H. Rugg & Co.)
Best Quality Lehigh Coal
Yard and office 630 West Third St. Tel. 81.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing.
Monthly Contracts.
Pressing called for and delivered.
EVENING DRESSES A SPECIALTY.
Ladies' Waists Cleaned, 35 cents upwards
Gents' Suits Cleaned, $1.50
We do our own work.
M. A. Brown's, 218 West Second St.

Wm. H. Kirch,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
66 Dace Street.
Tel. 402 J.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

ALEX. LUSARDI,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits, Choice Confectionery, Nuts, Cigars, etc.
211 W. Front St. Tel. 507-W.

OYSTERS! OYSTERS!
They R in Season. The Very Best
Also Choice Meats, Poultry and Fish.
Hams and Bacon.
F. Neidig, 94 Somerset St.
Telephone 211

JOHN WIRTH
(Successor to Henry Fiefke.)
Bakery and Confectionery.
201-203 West Front St. Tel. No. 733.
All orders delivered at short notice.

PRUGGISTS.
For Your Summer Vacation!
We have a full line of fresh summer articles which will please the most particular person. Everything is of the finest quality and at prices that suit. Our prompt delivery to all parts of the city will please everyone.
C. M. Nagle's Pharmacy,
Front and Grove Sts. 'Phone 516.

Complete Line of
REXALL
Goods at
MILLER'S PHARMACY
Park Ave. & 4th St. Tel. 388.

Hodge's Pharmacy.
Y. M. C. A. Building,
BELLE MEAD SWEETS.
Tel. 62.

HOTELS.
WETUMPKA INN
Cor. East 7th & Washington Sts.
Open October 1st
NEW IN ALL ITS APPOINTMENTS
Management formerly of Hotel Waldron, 7th Avenue, Asbury Park, N. J.
WRITE FOR LITERATURE
at either above addresses.
E. G. HULLING, Prop'r.

HOTEL WALDORF
EAST FRONT STREET
HENRY WINDHAM, Prop.
Gottfried Kruger's Extra Beer on draught. Imported Wines, Liquors and Cigars. Hotel accommodations and private Dining-Room.

HOTEL KENSINGTON
(Licensed.)
WM. J. POULSON, Prop.
107-109-111 North Avenue.
Everything New and Up-to-date
An Inspection Solicited.

HOTEL IROQUOIS
Club breakfast from 6:30 to 10:30 a. m. Business Men's Lunch from 11:30 to 2:30 p. m.
First floor, $1 single; $1.50 double.
Second floor, $1 single; $1 double.
Third floor, 50c single; 75c double.
A LA CARTE 6:30 UNTIL 1 A. M.
Special Sunday Dinner from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m. 50c

THRIFTY HOUSEKEEPERS will appreciate our splendid assortment of Groceries, Fresh Vegetables and Fruits. Everything carefully selected for Best Quality and sold consistently low in price.
Prompt, Free Deliveries.
W. W. DUNN,
THE PARK GROCER,
DUER STREET AND LINCOLN PLACE.

Central R. R. News Stands
You can get it at the C. R. R. News Stands, both depots, Plainfield Daily Press, on sale at both stands, Philadelphia Morning, Evening and Sunday Papers. Largest assortment of Magazines and Weekly Papers in the city. Back numbers procured. Brooklyn Papers, English Publications. Daily and Sunday Papers delivered. Orders left at stand receive prompt attention. Open Sundays.
F. M. WAGNER, Manager.

We have on hand a large quantity of BIG TIMBER from 6x6 to 12x14 that we will offer to $20 per thousand; any length. All kinds of BEAMS from a 2x4 to 3x12 $20.
A. KANE
FILLMORE AVENUE.

McCULLOUGH'S STEAM MILL,
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield, N. J.
R. H. McCULLOUGH, Prop.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing, Turning, etc.
Estimates cheerfully furnished.

HENRY WIERENGA
Residence 'Phone 517-J.
Furniture, Freight, Baggage Express and Rigger.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.

Try a box of
DOBBINS' CIGARS.
Clear Havana Nickle Tars or any kind that you desire. Manufactured at 138 North Avenue, opposite Kensington Hotel, Plainfield, N. J.

Kindling and Grate Wood.
Cedar Posts and Bean Poles. Prompt deliveries. Orders received at
60 SOMERSET STREET.
JOHN MOBUS,
P. O. Box 229.

REAL ESTATE
Bought, Sold and For Rent.
J. SACHAR,
121 WEST THIRD STREET.

SMALLEY BROS.
147 North Ave.
BUTCHERS
Our Specialty, Berkshire Pork. Try Our Berkshire Sausage Made on Premises.
Roasting and Broiling Chickens a Specialty.
Orders called for and delivered.
Telephone 68-A. 5 1 tf

The Southern Restaurant,
232 West Second Street, corner Madison Avenue, now under new management. Meals served at all hours a la carte and table d'hote. Our own make bread and pastrys, all home cooking. The choice of everything is bought for the tables. Our price is reasonable. The place is now under the management of the well known New York caterer, T. H. Rorster
Manager. Tel. 823-J. 1 19 tf

J. C. POPE & CO.,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
110 E. Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing, Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for Sewer Connections.
125 Watchung Av. Rear.

L. Moraller & Son,
Watchmakers and Jewelers
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry
Fine Watch and Clock Repairing a Specialty.
219 Park Ave. Plainfield, N. J

FURNITURE.
Repaired and upholstered. Equal to new. Send a postal to
HARRISON, 140 CENTRAL AVE.
Cabinet maker, Polisher, Mattress Maker.

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS.
We call your attention to our fine display of
New Wall Papers.
We can't describe the patterns, but they are new, striking and effective, and with our large assortment we are sure to please.
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
Woolston & Buckle,
145 North Avenue

SUMMER is nearly over
WINTER will soon be here.
Now is the time to have your house painted before the frost and snow hits it. Then it will look fine and be looking all right for
SPRING
Jas. C. Hansen,
is the man to do it. Consult him, he will cheerfully give you an estimate.
Dealer in Wallpaper, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc.
141 East Front Street

1908 Wall Papers.
IMPORTED & AMERICAN GOODS.
C. CONOVER & CO.
Decorators, Painters and Paperhangers
Window and Plate Glass.
115 Elmwood Pl. Tel. 1145

W. S. CHEEVER
1326 Park Ave.
Painting
and INTERIOR DECORATING. WALL PAPERS of every description at the Lowest Prices.
'Phone No. 538-J.

HIGH ART WALL PAPER
We have for your approval everything up-to-date, artistic and novel in and furnish first-class men to put same on your walls. We also do Painting and Frescoing. Our prices are positively lower in consistency with First-class work.
WALL HANGINGS
POLK & CO.
138 North Avenue, near depot.

REAL ESTATE
RENTALS—REAL ESTATE
Geo. F. Brown,
INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE.
Commissioner of Deeds—Rents.
24 Somerset St. 'Phone 198.

PEASANTS OF SOUTHERN ITALY.

Bear Burden of Poverty with Resignation and Fortitude.

During three months spent in the southern Italian provinces, I saw enough to make me wonder why the people have borne the burden so long. In several of the towns through which I passed there were pointed out to me caves cut into the solid rocks of the hillside where people are living. In one such cave house in Scili, Sicily, there was a rough bed on one side of the cave, on the other an oil press turned by a donkey. Often I have seen houses whose walls were constructed of brush and mud and the roofs made of rough tiles or thatched with straw. The peasant has been most patient, naturally light-hearted and long-suffering, he would cheerfully eat a piece of black bread and an onion for his morning meal, corn-meal mush seasoned with a little olive oil and bread for dinner, boiled potatoes and a piece of goat's cheese with more black bread at night; and then, at the close of his humble repast, stoop down and touch the ground with his hand and kissing it, thank God for his favors. In some of the remoter towns the simpler-minded people continue to do so. But contentment under such conditions could not exist so long as there was no contact with the outside world. Whether the land-holders desire it or not, progress is bound to come.—Antonio Mangano, in Charities and The Commons.

RULES FOR SUCCESS IN LIFE.

Apportion Day's Work, and Give Every Energy to It.

The over-scrupulous and methodical individual who can neither sleep nor take a vacation until all the affairs of his life are arranged would mind himself that this happy consummation will not be attained in his lifetime, says Lippincott's. It behooves him, therefore, if he is ever to sleep, or if he is ever to take a vacation, to do it now, nor need he postpone it indefinitely.

The day's work should be started with the resolution that every task shall be taken up in its turn, without doubts and without forebodings, that bridges shall not be crossed until they are reached, that the vagaries of others shall amuse and interest, not distress us, and that we shall live in the present, not in the past or the future. We must avoid undertaking too much, and whatever we do undertake we must try not to worry as to whether we shall succeed. This only prevents our succeeding. We should devote all our efforts to the task itself, and remember that even failure under these circumstances may be better than success at the expense of prolonged nervous agitation.

Responsibility.

Some one has said truly that responsibility walks hand in hand with capacity and power. Little is expected of the incapable. The very mention of duty, task, responsibility weighs like a burden upon the minds of weak men and women. Every one must have met men of good parts who will sedulously dodge anything like a responsibility. They shun everything like responsibility though high rewards may be offered. The mere thought of being held to strict accountability dismays them, and no remuneration and no honor are great enough to tempt them to leave the pleasant ways of peace to undertake a course which involves contention or strife, or even serious prolonged attention.

Another Role.

"Speaking about game tenderfeet," drawled Amber Pete as he skinned a cinnamon bear, "reminds me that the 'Human Pincushion' in the circus sideshows was the gamest that ever hit this settlement."

"Game, eh?" echoed the advance agent for the Mastodon Minstrel show.

"Wall, I should smile. The boys told him if he didn't make good as the 'Human Pincushion' they were going to shoot him full of holes at the first performance."

"And was he frightened?"

"Not a bit, pardner. He said if they shot him full of holes he'd do away with the 'Human Pincushion' heading and bill himself as the 'Human Porous Plaster.'"

Be Ready for Your Luck.

The mistake which the generality of people make is in not being ready for their luck when it comes. While they are in their usual humdrum occupations, it is up the chimney and down the next street. The really lucky people are those who lie in wait for their luck and seize it, and cling to it till the moment when the sleeping Furies awake and, hurling themselves on them, snatch it out of their hand. To toy with their luck, as so many people do, to treat it as if it were something that could wait till to-morrow, is to court inevitable disaster.—Woman's Life.

Curiosity.

Mr. Stubb—Yes, Maria, 20 years is supposed to elapse between the third and fourth acts.

Mrs. Stubb—Do tell! Then we must certainly stay.

Mr. Stubb—Ah, you are interested in the play?

Mrs. Stubb—Yes; I want to see the change in the style of hat the heroine wears.

Innocence.

The cat had just eaten the canary. "I hated to eat the foolish thing," remarked the cat, "but when a bird breaks out of its cage and flies down your throat what can you do?"

NEW TROLLEY CAR MYTH

P.S.C. Officials Consider Present Ramshackle Ones are Good Enough for Plainfield.

TO IMPROVE THE SCHEDULE.

To Make Change of Station a Fixture by Having All Cars Meet at Fourth Street and Watchung Avenue.

Upon the invitation of the Council the committee on public affairs, which has undertaken the difficult task of obtaining a satisfactory trolley schedule for the local city lines, Superintendent Gettings and Mr. Gilmour, of the Public Service Corporation, attended a meeting of the committee Thursday. Aside from the fact that the officials agreed to rearrange the local schedule so that the Netherwood, Fourth and Somerset street and Arlington avenue cars will connect at Watchung avenue and Fourth street, they would promise nothing.

Their attention was called to the dilapidated condition of some of the cars on the local lines, but the officials had the courage to declare that these cars are of good type and are satisfactory to the company. They failed to see where the people of Plainfield have any "kick coming," and alleged that the service is first class and the condition of the cars are all right.

The attitude of the company's officials was a surprise to the committee and it is to be hoped that Plainfielders are getting all that they can expect in the way of improvements. The committee, however, is on the warpath and before it gets through with the Public Service Corporation there may be a change in the situation.

One member of the committee in speaking of the matter, said that the Common Council has sufficient power and authority to bring the company to terms and as soon as it learns the true condition of affairs it will be in a position to see where the common knowledge that the company is not strictly living up to the terms of the franchise granted by the city and there are ways and methods of making it do so.

Superintendent Gettings informed the committee that all of the cars operated in the city are of the double truck type, but he did not explain the rickety and dirty condition of these cars.

As to the change in the schedule whereby the Plainfield cars will meet at Watchung avenue and Fourth street, this will not interfere with the operation of the Netherwood cars through to Grant avenue during certain hours of the day. The change is made chiefly for the benefit of the school children who are obliged to use the trolleys, and who have had trouble in connecting with the Arlington avenue cars on their way to the High School. The public affairs committee will continue its investigation and when a report is made it will be a complete and thorough one touching every phase of trolley conditions in the city.

WARREN'S WORKERS GATHER FOR A PICNIC

The members of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel, to the number of thirty-one enjoyed an all-day picnic at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gavett in Washington Valley Wednesday, making the trip to and from the chapel in a large stage. The women left the chapel at 9:30 o'clock, arriving at their destination in good time.

Mrs. Gavett was waiting for her guests having arranged a day of pleasure for them. During the forenoon the women spent the time playing all sorts of games; at noon all adjourned to an attractive spot on the grounds where a box luncheon was enjoyed. Mrs. Gavett in addition provided hot coffee. After lunch the company listened to several excellent selections read aloud by Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, after which other games were played, while some of the guests found pleasure in a ramble about the mountains. Before the start for home was made Mrs. Gavett supplied her guests with great quantities of beautiful flowers from her garden. It was nearly five o'clock when the party reached home, but all agreed that the day had been one of great pleasure. This afternoon the society holds its first fall meeting in the chapel.

Horse Owner Now an Autoist.

Arthur Stevens, of Grandview avenue, owner of the race horse "Garry Owen," has foresworn driving in favor of automobiling. He purchased a 40 h. p. Buick machine yesterday and is now busy mastering its intricacies.

Reading Room in the West End.

For the benefit of the men in the West End of the city, a reading room will soon be opened at the West End Tabernacle, where may be found periodicals pertaining to all branches of work. Further notice as to the time of opening the reading room will be announced.

PLAN JUVENILE COURT

County Probation Officer Confers with Judge Runyon and Chief Kiely.

IDEA FAVORABLY RECEIVED.

Mrs. Williamson Takes Occasion to Reply to Some Criticisms —Explains Several Cases.

Mrs. Emily Williamson, the county probation officer, came to Plainfield Saturday for the purpose of conferring with Judge Runyon and Chief of Police Kiely in regard to establishing a juvenile court in Plain*field. Mrs. Williamson* explained that it would be much better to dispose of all youthful defendants here instead of sending them to Elizabeth and there coming in contact with hardened criminals. She expressed the opinion that one day a week, presumably Saturday, could be set aside for the purpose and that Judge Runyon be on the bench.

The plan met with the approval of both officials consulted and it is probable that the matter will be taken up at once by the county authorities. Heretofore, the nearest thing to a local juvenile court has been the appearance on Saturdays of Captain Irwin, Mrs. Williamson's assistant, to receive reports from probationers.

Following the conference, Mrs. Williamson took occasion to make reply to some of the criticisms directed toward her because of her interference in behalf of several Plainfield boys who the police wanted sent to the Jamesburg reform school. They were known to be habitual offenders but when ready for committment would be released on probation, only to return to Plainfield to continue their old ways. One case in particular is that of Petman Robinson, the colored boy, who has committed a score of thefts. Mrs. Williamson declared that she was actuated by influential Plainfield people who harassed her to do something for an offender because the parents asked them to. She declared that she was recently let down on every side and that she asked the judges to release the prisoners in her charge after she had been informed that facts in the cases were greatly misrepresented.

BASKETBALL TEAM IS READY TO OPEN SEASON

John G. Otken, manager of the Plainfield A. A. professional basketball team, that is to play a series of seventy games during the winter at Saengerbund Hall, has taken the team on a two weeks trip through New York State, in preparation for the opening here on Saturday night, October 10, with the St. George A. C., champions of Hudson county. The team will also play games in Connecticut and Massachusetts before returning home, meeting teams at Schnectady, Troy, Geneva and Buffalo. In Connecticut games will be played at South Norwalk, Winsted and Middleton and in Massachusetts at Easthampton.

If the team is in good condition a game may be played with the Boston A. A. This five is considered the best in that part of the country having defeated the Crescents, of Harvard and numerous other fast teams. They also played a fine game with Company G team of Gloversville, N. Y.

On October 17, the Plainfield A. A. will meet the Yale University five at Saengerbund Hall and on succeeding Saturday nights only the best teams in this part of the country will be brought here.

Students at Drake College.

*The following pupils have been en*rolled at the Drake Business College. Commercial: Short-hand course—the Misses Eva M. Stillwell, Fannie Pollack, Katherine Moham, Rose Rothberg, Ethel Greenfield and Frederick Clarke and Lewis Moynihan. Commercial course—the Misses Roberta Cozzens, Mary Beale, Bessie Mann, Mora King, Frederick Pederson, Prinston Archbold, Louis McKee and Arthur Kinzle. Special penmanship course—Julius Linke, Andrew Olsen, Victor Houston, Alfred C. Davis, G. W. Bjeler and David Cohan. Shorthand course—the Misses Helen Borrun, Lillian Huelsen, Josephine Peterson, Anna Kreutzfeldt, Anna Fantan, Margaret Higgins, Sadie Couter, Bessie Rosenson, S. McGinley, Katherine Andrews, Katherine Kelly, Kate Kantrowitz and Edward Bremble, Martin Whelan, Louis Siegal, F. Weigman and William Morris.

Wedding Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Overland, of West Fourth street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Fannie, to Richard C. Meeker, of West Front street. The ceremony was performed at Newark in April.

Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Blair, of East Second street, have issued invitations to the celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Wednesday night, September 23, at 8 o'clock.

ENGAGE SEWER ENGINEER

Hering and Hall to Make Survey for the Proposed Trunk Line Sewer System.

NEW COMMITTEE IS NAMED.

Chairman Mygatt Appoints Representatives to Look After Work—Contract Price Agreed On.

Substantial progress was made Wednesday with the proposition to establish a trunk line sewer to include Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen, Bound Brook and East Bound Brook, as previously outlined. Although Somerville and Raritan were not represented, assurances were received that these towns want to join in the movement and will arrange to attend future conferences.

Upon the recommendation of the finance committee appointed a week ago to investigate the question, it was unanimously decided to engage Hering & Fuller, of New York, as engineers to make the preliminary survey, in preference to Alexander Potter, who offered to do the work for $600. Hering & Fuller's price for all the towns, exclusive of Somerville and Raritan was $1,200 and $1,500 if these two towns are included. The recommendation of the committee, which was reported by Chairman R. I. Tolles, was adopted through a resolution offered by Mayor Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield.

This apportionment of the expense for the preliminary investigation was approved by a vote:

Plainfield, $500; North Plainfield, $300; Dunellen, $100; Bound Brook, $225; East Bound Brook, $25; Somerville, $225; Raritan, $125.

Somerville and Raritan withdraw the apportionment will be as follows: Plainfield, $525; North North Plainfield,. $325; Dunellen, $125; Bound Brook and East Bound Brook, $225, which makes a total of $1,200. Under the first named apportionment the expense will be $1,500.

It is understood that Hering & Fuller are to look to each municipality for its share of the expense, and it is further agreed that this amount is to be added to the general tax levy for the trunk sewer if it is decided to build the same.

*It was suggested that an engineer*ing committee to be comprised of a representative from each municipality, be appointed by Chairman F. E. Mygatt., and he made the following selections: Plainfield, Councilman C. C. Randolph; North Plainfield, Joseph O. Osgood; Dunellen, Lewis T. Churchill; Bound Brook, E. A. Lloyd; East Bound Brook, Hugh Pierce. Later this committee met and organized by selecting Mr. Osgood as chairman. It will be the duty of the committee to confer with Hering & Fuller and furnishing the firm such information as it may desire. The firm will meet the committee tomorrow night when steps will be taken toward starting the work.

Upon the recommendation of Mayor Townsend, the chairman will also appoint a legal committee at his pleasure to handle such questions as may arise from time to time. As nothing further can be accomplished until a report is received from Hering & Fuller, it was decided to hold fur*ther conference at the call of the* chair.

The work of Hering & Fuller will not only include a preliminary survey of the territory to be included by the trunk sewer, but the report will contain facts and figures as to the feasibility and advisability of the scheme and the question as to the best location for sewage disposal.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. ISAAC W. RUSHMORE.

Mrs. Sarah M. Rushmore, wife of Isaac W. Rushmore, died suddenly at her home on West Seventh street, Wednesday. She had been in failing health for several months but the end was not expected. Heart failure is ascribed as the cause.

Mrs. Rushmore was born in York town N. J., seventy-one years ago, her maiden name being Sarah Mekeel. She had made her home here for a long time and had been active in the charities of the city, especially in the Children's Home. She was also identified with the affairs of the Crescent Avenue church, of which she was a member.

Mrs. Rushmore was twice married and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. James W. Murray, by her first union, and Mrs. Edward Patterson. There are also two step-sons, Robert and Townsend Rushmore, of Plainfield, and a step-daughter, Mrs. Edmund Wood, of Trenton.

The funeral will be held at her late home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the burial will be private.

An Alibi.

"Emerson," said the Boston mother, sternly, "you've been in the pantry. I found your schools books there."

"Mater," replied the wise boy, "I'm surprised at your lack of acumen. You have frequently observed that I get as far away from my books as possible during recreation hours. Ergo, if my books were in the pantry I must have been elsewhere."—Philadelphia Press.

STATE S. S. CONVENTION

New Jersey Association to Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary at New Brunswick.

ON NOVEMBER 17, 18 AND 19.

Historical Session to Be a Feature —Sketch of Progress of the Association.

The New Jersey Sunday-school Association will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary in New Brunswick November 17 to 19, in connection with its annual convention. The main sessions will be held in the Second Reformed church of that city, and a number of prominent Sunday-school workers will be among the speakers.

An historical session will be held Wednesday afternoon, November 18, in the old First Reformed church of New Brunswick, in the graveyard of which lie the remains of the association's first president, Theodore Frelinghuysen. The addresses on this occasion will include a review of the life and work of the former secretary, Rev. Samuel W. Clark, and his wife, by their son, Rev. Dr. Joseph Clark, the present secretary of the Ohio Sunday-school Association, and an address on "The Future of the Association" by Rev. Frank A. Smith, of Haddonfield. Among the other speakers will be Marion Lawrence the international general secretary, of Chicago; Dr. W. A. Duncan, of Syracuse, N. Y., founder of the home department movement; Rev. Dr. James Le Fevre, of Somerville; Professor John H. Raven, of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, and Rev. Milton S. Littlefield, of Brooklyn, who will act as convention doctor later.

The first feeling of need for advance and fellowship in Sunday-school work came as the result of the revival of 1857, and the New Jersey Sunday-school Association was organized in the Second Presbyterian church of New Brunswick, November 3, 1858. That edifice has long since been demolished and the Soldiers' Monument at the head of Livingston avenue, now marks the site whereon it stood.

The secretaries of the first convention was former Chancellor William *J. Magie, of Elizabeth, and the tem*porary presiding officer, Governor William A. Newell, later the founder of the United States Live-saving Service. Among the vice-presidents was the late Professor George H. Cook, of New Brunswick, founder of the New Jersey State Geological Survey. The first work of the association was *to gather the statistics of the Sun*day-schools and complete the organization of county associations. Annual conventions were held from this time until 1882.

The methods of work were developed by the secretary, Rev. Samuel W. Clark, of this city, who served without compensation. In 1882 Mr. Clark, who had been absent for two years, was recalled and put on a salary. He continued to superintend the work of the association up to the time of his death, February 27, 1892, when the executive committee called Mr. Fergusson to its service. From 1883 to 1903, the association held conventions triennially. The convention of 1886 was held in the Roseville Methodist Episcopal church and that of 1903 met in Peddie Memorial First Baptist church.

One of the most important advances made by the association occurred in 1884, when the summer school was established at Asbury Park. Each year since then it met every summer and has educated thousands of Sunday-school teachers in the methods of graded work. Because of a variety of factors it has been possible for the State association to accomplish results in Sunday-school reform that are made it for years one of the leading Sunday-school States in the union. Among the lines of work that have originated here is the primary union started in Newark February 19, 1870; the cradle roll, started in Elizabeth in 1877; the home school, started in 1880; for the conversion of scholars, first proposed in 1896, and beginners' lessons for mall children in 1897.

Some of the leading Sunday-school workers of the United States have served as officers of the New Jersey association, among them being Bishop John H. Vincent, Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut, of Bloomfield; Rev. Dr. George K. Morris, of Cleveland, O.; Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of Plainfield; Professor W. F. Sherwin and Dr. George W. Bailey, of Philadelphia, now chairman of the executive committee of the World's Sunday-school Association.

New Fall Suits.

Empire and directoire effects are decidedly a feature of the advanced fall suits, while braid and buttons are the favored frimmings. Soutache is used extensively and large handsome buttons are added as decorations.

The skirts are in many cases pleated, differing very little from those worn last year, and the coats are long—averaging three-quarter length—the fronts on the way to display a vest, but straight up and down.

There is no rounding off at the corner at lower front edges.

C. E. CONVENTION PLANS

Program for the Annual Sessions at Atlantic City, Beginning on Oct. 7.

President Sproull Provides for Many Helpful Addresses and Other Strong Features.

For the second time the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union is to hold its annual convention in Atlantic City. The first occasion was in 1888, and now after a lapse of twenty years, it will again assemble during next month. There will be a three days' session, beginning October 7, on Young's pier an auditorium. The program committee, of which Rev. Dr. P. T. Pockman, of New Brunswick, is chairman, has been busy since the State committee meeting in Trenton, in April, arranging for the meetings, and has completed an interesting program.

The district secretaries' conference will be held Wednesday morning, October 7, conducted by Miss Ida B. Stephens, of Hackettstown, State secretary, assisted by A. J. Shartle, secretary of the Pennsylvania Union. The afternoon will be devoted to a junior and intermediate workers' conference, led by Mrs. Ida Dukes, of Camden, State Junior superintendent, when Arthur A. Chapin, of Trenton, will speak on "The Use of Objects and Charts in Illustrating Junior Topics." The last session of the present executive committee will be held from 6 to 7:45 o'clock, when the members will be entertained at a formal dinner. At the night session, William Phillips Hall, of New York, the "Business Men's Evangelist," will speak on "Endeavor Evangelism."

A sunrise meeting will be held Thursday morning at 6:45 o'clock, conducted by President John T. Sproull. This will be followed by a consecration service for State, county and local union officers. The convention proper will open with the address of welcome by Atlantic City Endeavor officers and response by Mr. Sproull. A quiet hour will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, of Philadelphia, will follow. The remainder of the morning session will be devoted to reports of the State press and colored work committees and a series of study classes for junior, prayer-meeting, lookout, evangelistic, social, Sabbath observance, missionary and Bible study committees. Reports will be submitted at the afternoon session by the State correspondence, fourth, missionary and Sabbath observance departments by the respective chairman and an address on "Opportunity in the East. Responsibility in the West" will be given by Rev. C. A. R. Janvier, chairman of the personal workers' committee, of Philadelphia.

Thursday night the reports of the State secretary, Miss Stephens, and the State treasurer, Arthur H. Pierson, of Westfield, will be presented and greetings from New York Endeavorers extended by Rev. Dr. E. F. Hallenback. The usual reception to delegates will be held at the close of the session.

A "Morning Watch" meeting will be led by President Sproull early Friday morning. Rev. Walter B. Greenway, of Jersey City, formerly president of the Essex Union, will read the annual report of the State Bible study committee, after which there will be a "Quiet Hour" service conducted by Dr. Tomkins. The report by Rev. Abram Duryee, of Hackensack, and a question box conducted by President Sproull on "Our Problems" will end the session.

Mrs. Dukes at the afternoon session will lead an open parliament on "Junior and Intermediate Work." This will be followed by the usual junior exercises, in which 500 local juniors will take part. Rev. Dr. P. T. Pockman, of New Brunswick, will deliver the annual address to the juniors.

The closing session at night will include the annual presentation of banners for gifts to missions and increase in membership. The audit, resolution and nominating committees will report and the election of officers held. The retiring State presidents now are Rev. W. D. Strultz, of Manasquan; Rev. A. W. Anderson, of Hammonton, and A. Henry Moore, of Jersey City. The first mentioned, if President Sproull refuses to serve another year, will probably be the choice new State leader.

An address by William Shaw, of Boston, the general secretary of the United Endeavor Society, and the closing roll call and consecration service will end the three days' session. Jacob H. Hall will have charge of the convention music and will lead a chorus composed of local Endeavorers. A number of outlines to points of local interest will be arranged for the delegates during the convention.

The chairman of the local committee is Rev. George D. Jones, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Protestant church, and Rev. John McMillan is vice-chairman. A. R. Baxter, of Trenton, is transportation manager. Mr. Sproull went to the convention city yesterday to complete arrangements for the accommodation of the delegates.

RESOLUTIONS OF W.C.T.U.

Women Temperance Workers Approve of "Home Rule" in Excise Matters.

THEY PRAISE GOVERNOR FORT.

Demand Enforcement of Anti-Cigarette Law—Mrs. Tomlinson *Hits the Saloon*keepers.

Resolutions urging the adoption of a local option law in New Jersey, a curfew for the different municipalities, endorsing Governor J. Franklin Fort, especially in his vigorous measures against "spiritual wickedness in high places," the Atlantic City, and urging the enforcement of the cigarette law, were adopted at the annual convention of the Union County W. C. T. U., at Cranford on Thursday.

In her remarks to the convention during the afternoon session, Mrs. H. H. Tomlinson, county president, said: "Too many of our legislators are not upon their knees before God, but the saloonkeepers have their ears to the ground and many of them believe that victory for the temperance forces is certain."

It was the sense of the convention that Assemblyman Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford, should be supported in his efforts to obtain a renomination and re-election. On the other hand Assemblyman Albert F. Kirsten, of Rahway, was condemned for the position he took on local option.

The election of department superintendents was as follows:

Local Temperance League secretary, Mrs. Erythe Currie, Cranford; work among foreigners, Mrs. Lucina, Cranford; anti-narcotics, Mrs. W. Andrews, Elizabeth; citizenship and franchise, Mrs. P. H. Bennett, Plainfield. evangelistic, Mrs. L. Manning, Dunellen; Flower Mission, Mrs. M. L. Underhill, Rahway; literature, Miss E. L. Starr, Westfield; medal contests, Mrs. E. H. Fuller, Rahway; mothers' meetings, Miss Barker, Rahway; medical temperance, Mrs. August Schmidt, Elizabeth; observance of Sabbath and Sunday schools, Mrs. M. Winter, Plainfield; press, Mrs. W. W. Scott, Elizabeth; unfermented wine, Mrs. Woodward, Elizabeth; penal and reform, Miss Keron, Elizabeth; systematic giving, Mrs. Brewer, Westfield; railroad, motor and firemen, Mrs. S. A. Parse, Plainfield; scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. L. Irving, Cranford; social meetings and red letter days, Mrs. William Francis, Elizabeth.

MISS ROGERS' BROTHER IS IN SEARCH OF HER

Further inquiry has been made regarding the whereabouts of Miss Anna Rogers who, for a short time, was engaged as a teacher at the Drake Business College, and who suddenly disappeared from the city the latter part of July. The latest query comes from Rev. Clem L. Rogers, brother of Miss Rogers, who is pastor of the Sutherland Presbyterian church, Sutherland, Neb. He wrote to Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, and has evidently not learned that Miss Rogers was located at Muskeegon, Mich., where she is supposed to be teaching in a school.

The first inquiry about Miss Rogers came a week ago from her mother, Mrs. R. L. Rogers, of Virginia, who in a letter said that she had not heard from her daughter in several weeks and desired information as to her whereabouts. She appeared to be greatly disturbed about the matter. The letter was received by A. S. Herr, of the Plainfield Business College, and he turned it over to those in charge of the Drake Business College, having heard that Miss Rogers was employed there. Nothing aside from the fact that the woman left the city could be learned at the college, but later it was ascertained that the woman was in Muskeegon, Mich.

Miss Rogers was engaged at the Drake Business College about July 20 to teach typewriting and stenography. She appeared to be competent and was well liked. Just before August 1 she asked for her coming month's salary, explaining that she was in need of the money. The request was granted, and the following day she disappeared. While in town she boarded with friends on North East Fifth street, and while there she made many friends. However, it was noticed that at times she acted queerly, but nothing special was thought of this at the time. No explanation as to why she left Plainfield has been given.

Walked to Munsey, N. Y.

Leslie Dewilson and Arthur Dunnigg enjoyed a novel outing a few days ago, when they walked from this city to Munsey, N. Y. The distance required two days. The young men left here at 5 o'clock in the morning and reached Paterson at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, where they remained until the following morning when they continued their journey.

DENIED HER A DIVORCE

Throwing Old Shoe at Hubby, Fatal to Mrs. Dunn's Petition in Chancery Court.

MR. DUNN WAS THE VICTIM.

Chancellor Says That He Was the Object of All the Cruelty—Her Testimony Disproven.

In the Court of Chancery at Newark, Thursday, Vice-Chancellor Stevens handed down a decree denying Mrs. Olive Blanche Dunn's suit for divorce against her husband, Wesley J. Dunn, a driver in the Plainfield fire department. The petition was asked for on the grounds of cruelty and desertion.

In rendering his opinion in the case, the vice-chancellor stated that instead of Mrs. Dunn being a very much abused person, the husband had been a victim of considerable cruelty. Dunn stated in court that his wife had thrown an old shoe at him on one occasion and that she would not allow him to spend any money for individual wants. Mrs. Dunn vigorously denied his allegations and said that he squandered a great deal of the family's income in his own way. This he declared to be false. There were counter charges of infidelity and at one point in the taking of testimony, the vice-chancellor and Plainfield physicians became involved in a lengthy argument over the submission of medical testimony. The court intimated that one of the doctor had given wrong dates in connection with his treatment of Mrs. Dunn.

The case has been pending for a long time and the decree was handed down only after a careful consideration of all the testimony submitted. Mrs. Dunn was represented by W. F. Anglemun and W. G. DeMezae, while Codington & Swackhamer looked after the husband's interests.

Mrs. Dunn is at present living with her mother, Mrs. Henry J. Bickel, at 674 West 182d street, New York, and Dunn resides at 62 Westervelt avenue, this city. The Bickels were also formerly local residents.

OLD ASSAULT CHARGE HEARD IN CITY COURT

An echo of an assault committed last July was heard in the city court Friday morning, when John Kuhn, or "Cooney," was arraigned on a charge preferred by Charles Smith, an auto driver. The complainant went to the police the day after the affair took place but "Cooney" was not apprehended and Smith had to go to New England with his employer for the summer. He returned to town a few days ago.

According to the story told Judge Runyon this morning, Smith and "Cooney" made some bets on a pool game and the former lost out. He paid part of his wager and the remainder, amounting to about $60, he said he would make good as soon as he got it. "Cooney" refused to wait and told Smith that if he didn't produce the mabuma he would "beat him up" every time he saw him. He kept his promise by thumping the chafeur on two occasions and another day Smith caught him as he was in the automobile with his employer.

"Cooney" pleaded guilty to the charge when asked for his side of the story but explained that he wanted to care Smith more than anything else. He was held in $150 bonds to keep the peace.

BOROUGH TAX RATE IS FIXED AT $1.88

Official announcement was made Friday that the tax rate in North Plainfield for the coming year will be $1.88, a twenty per cent. decrease over that of last year, when it was $2.68. The rate is made up from the following figures: County tax, 54 cents; State school tax, 20 cents; Borough school tax, 66 cents; special school tax, 48 cents.

The fact that there is a substantial decrease in the borough rate is gratifying to the taxpayers. Mayor Samuel Townsend has frequently been in session with the Somerset County Tax Board and with the assistance of Dr. Justus H. Cooley, the borough assessors, made every effort to bring the rate down.

There has been a notable increase in valuations throughout the whole county. North Plainfield's real and personal valuation is announced to be $4,48,700.

Wedding Invitations Out.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Maud Louise Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Davis, of Somerville, and George Van Nest Veghte, of Millstone. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride Saturday afternoon, Sept. 26, at 5 o'clock.

REBUKES SOCIETY WOMEN PROBERS' REPORT READY

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson Says Some Drink Wine, Smoke Cigarettes and Gamble.

W. C. T. U. Head Repeats Story that Some Plainfield Church Women Put Wine in Their Sauce and Drink Liquor.

SHE IS GREATLY SHOCKED.

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, of this city, president of the Union County Women's Christian Temperance Union, in an address before the twenty-fourth annual convention of the union in St. Paul's M. E. church, Cranford, Thursday, denounced the use of liquor in sauces and the drinking of wine by women.

She deplored the fact that this was being done by women who are members of churches, and said that an officer of the union, who lives in Plainfield, and who was present at the convention, informed her only a few days ago that she was greatly surprised to hear of church women in Plainfield who not only drank wine but used it freely in sauces and the making of pies.

The remarks by Mrs. Tomlinson were construed by a reporter attending the meeting as though a member of the organization, who lives in Plainfield and who was in the audience, put liquor in her sauces and also drank wine. In an interview with Mrs. Tomlinson, this morning, the county president, denied absolutely the story which appeared in the New York newspapers this morning in which she was quoted as accusing a member of the union of using liquor. She said she "could truthfully say without fear of contradiction that there is not a single member of the union in Plainfield who would be guilty of such practice, and she added, the story in the New York newspapers on this subject is a deliberate falsehood."

"I know the reporter who attended the meeting and furnished the story," said Mrs. Tomlinson, "and I was one of the first to give him a welcome. I regret now that he was present. The statement is a ridiculous one and if it were not for the fact that it places me only myself but the union in such a false light, I would not make the effort to deny the story."

The county president in her remarks to the convention did denounce in no uncertain terms the playing of bridge whist by women, adding that it is a common occurrence for them to gamble in this game. She urged that indulgence in root beer be stopped, and that physicians in prescribing this beverage as well as cider for their patients were often responsible for placing them on the road to drunkenness as a confirmed habit. The cigarette habit among women also was sharply condemned.

In referring to the efforts being made in behalf of local option and prohibition, she declared that the saloons were responsible for several thousand murders a year, the making of thousands of criminals and that it was time the church awoke to the fact.

Mrs. E. C. Dutcher, spresident of the Dunellen Union, also spoke about women and girl cigarette smoking and said that this practice had grown to such an extent as to sadden her heart; that here was work for women.

Rev. Stanley Davis, of Elizabeth, made the address last night, his subject being, "The Modern Demorrius." In the course of his remarks he attacked Gen. Dennis F. Collins, Democratic candidate for the mayoralty nomination in Elizabeth, citing the fact that he is an officer of the Peter Breidt Brewing Company, of Elizabeth. His candidacy is bitterly opposed by the Elizabeth branch of the Anti-Saloon League, of which Mr. Davis is secretary.

The report of Corresponding Secretary Mr. M. L. Rarick, of Dunellen, indicated that 157 local meetings had been held during the year just ended and that fifty-seven public meetings had taken place. The work of the Willard W. C. T. U. at Elizabeth during Old Home Week was spoken of, and the report referred to the fact that the work of the year had been assisted by 31 speakers.

The report of Mrs. Mary T. Cox, of Cranford, the treasurer, showed that the union now has 500 members; that the receipts for the year amounted to $322.43, and the expenditures, $284.43, leaving a balance on hand of $37.65.

The following officers were re-elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Plainfield; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. L. Rarick, Dunellen; recording secretary, Mrs. T. C. Bodine, Plainfield; treasurer, Mrs. Mary T. Cox, Cranford. Honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. Scriven-Stoddard, Elizabeth; Miss Julia A. Barker, Rahway.

Improvements at the Hospital.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital has had a substantial concrete walk laid from Park avenue and Randolph road to the hospital building and the driveway is also being improved with a block pavement which will considerably lessen the noise of wagons and other vehicles that have business at the institution.

Councilmanic Committee Investigating Wolverton Case Finishes Its Work.

THE LAST WITNESS IS HEARD.

Harry G. Adams Gives Version of Alms' House Superintendent's Alleged Cruelty.

The Councilmanic committee, comprising C. C. Randolph, W. L. Gloak, D. W. Taylor, H. B. Suydam, Mayor Charles J. Fisk and President R. I. Tolles, appointed to inquire into conditions at the Industrial Home and more especially the charges made by S. S. Vermeule, as Legislative Inman agent, that Superintendent Arthur W. Wolverton, practically completed its work of investigation Monday, and a report will be presented at the October meeting of the Common Council, as requested by City Judge W. N. Runyon.

The investigation was continued last night, chiefly for the purpose of hearing Harry G. Adams, of Orange place, who was near the Industrial Home the day Superintendent Wolverton is alleged to have treated Mr. Vermeule in a rough manner, and it was the desire of the committee to get his version of the affair.

In the first place, Mr. Adams was shown a draft of the testimony he was supposed to have given at the hearing in the city court, on charges preferred by Mr. Vermeule. When questioned as to whether he made certain statements in the manner in which he is alleged to have seen Mr. Wolverton take hold of Mr. Vermeule, Mr. Adams repudiated this part of the testimony and said that if it was in error in part the whole testimony alleged to have been given by him was worthless.

This testimony was then laid aside and City Stenographer G. B. Wean was summoned and asked to take the story from Mr. Adams verbatim the other testimony having been prepared chiefly from memory following the hearing in the city court.

According to the story of Mr. Adams, he was walking near the Industrial Home on the day in question. He noticed a man cutting grass on the front lawn, and an aged man was sifting nearby on the terrace. The next instant he heard an outcry and saw the man who had been cutting grass and who was said to be Mr. Wolverton, "yank" the other one Mr. Vermeule, and push him on the gravel pavement.

At this point, at the suggestion of Mayor Fisk, Mr. Adams gave a practical demonstration of the alleged attack on Mr. Vermeule. With one hand he grabbed the Mayor in the back of the neck and with the aid of the other almost "floored" him, to indicate just how Mr. Vermeule was handled as he saw it. The exhibition was enjoyed by the Mayor, as well as the other members of the committee.

Mr. Adams said that he was about fifty feet away from the scene of the trouble, when he heard Mr. Wolverton shout: "Hey! you, get off that grass, you don't belong here." He *then stated that he saw Mr. Ver*meule fall and Mr. Wolverton picked him up and appeared to give him a shove to hasten him on his way to the Home.

He then went to the home of Charles Peterson, nearby, and there he had a talk with Mr. Peterson as to what he had witnessed. He refused to tell what Mr. Peterson said to him. On his way back Mr. Vermeule hailed him and asked for his name. At first he declined, but when Mr. Vermeule said that he would get *his name, he consented to tell, al*though he disliked the notoriety it would bring him. Yet, he considered the action of the superintendent as terrible and said that he was perfectly horrified at the sight.

At this point in the proceedings, Mr. Adams was shown the testimony alleged to have been given by him at the police court hearing, and he replied: "I would like to meet the man who wrote that and I would dress him out. I never said that. I saw the superintendent grab Mr. Vermeule by the neck and not the arm and I certainly did see him strike the aged inmate to the ground."

When questioned closely Mr. Adams explained that "maybe Mr. Vermeule fell the second time from his own weight." Mr. Vermeule told him that he intended to sue the city for continued outrages. "I certainly think that Mr. Wolverton did abuse Mr. Vermeule, although I have no especial interest in the case other than to see justice done all concerned. I want you to understand that I am as good a Republican as anyone here. No anti-ring for mine."

This concluded the taking of testi*mony from Mr. Adams and he was* excused. One thing that had weight with the committee was a letter received from Miss Elizabeth Tiffany, of this city, who is one of the State inspectors working under the direction of the State Charities' Aid. She praised the improved conditions at the Industrial Home, which she visited after the change in superintendents, nor reflecting on the former superintendent. She referred to the class of inmates there and the difficulty experienced in making them understand that they must keep clean and take baths regularly. She spoke favorably of the new superintendent and his wife and added that a majority of the inmates assured her that they were being well treated.

In addition Chairman Randolph, of the Alms committee, produced the signed statements of seven inmates at the Home, to prove that the conditions there are satisfactory, that an abundance of food is served. Little credence was put in the state*ments of Bridget Cunningham, who,* according to Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, the city physician, is mentally unbalanced.

After the completion of the investigation the committee got together and formulated the report to be presented in October.

VAUDEVILLE HOUSE SOON TO BE OPENED

Manager W. J. Counihan today made plans to have the proposed al*terations to Reform Hall commenced* at once. They will be pushed through with all possible vigor in order to transform the building into a modern and commodious vaudeville theatre. Among the features of the improvements will be the erection of fire escapes and the opening of new exits.

The management of the new house will be controlled by the New Jersey Amusement Company, an organization formed by Mr. Counihan and in which he is associated with M. L. Shannon and S. W. Cunningham, of Plainfield, and Sam Harris, the New York theatrical magnate. The company yesterday signed contracts with Keith & Proctor to furnish all the vaudeville numbers for the Plainfield house. This places Mr. Counihan in practical control of the local amusement field as the big attractions are covered through his associations with Klaw & Erlanger for the New Plainfield theatre and the new vaudeville house will command the "continuous."

The opening date for the remodelled Reform Hall will be announced as soon as possible. Two performances a day will be given and women and children will be catered to especially.

HIS FORTUNE GOES TO ORANGE INSTITUTIONS

Six charitable organizations of the Orange and the Episcopal church are beneficiaries under the will of Jonathan J. Broome, the New York wholesale dry goods merchant of the firm of Butler, Broome & Clapp, who died in Saranac Lake on August 9. He lived for many years on Broome Memorial, a new avenue, East Orange. He and his wife built the Grace church parish house, Alice Broome Memorial, in memory of their daughter, and among the bequests in the will filed yesterday is one of $10,000 as an endowment for this building, the Orange Memorial Hospital, Orange Orphan Home and Bureau of Associated Charities will receive $2,500 each; the Orange Y. M. C. A., $2,000; the Record ambulance, $500, and the House of the Good Shepherd, $1,000.

Pending the settlement of the estate $20,000 is to be given to Mrs. Broome, who also receives the remainder of the estate after bequests of $80,000 to relatives are paid. The residuary estate is to be held in trust by the executors, Mrs. Broome, Jay C. Young and William Read Howe, and the income is to be paid

The New Nighties.

Buttons and buttonholes are passe on the newest nighties, for all are made chemise fashion, furnishing a bit of exercise for the fingers, according in and out of them. All have the kimono sleeves and are cut in one, or at the most, two pieces. Chemises have come back into fashion and even the stout woman can wear them if she cut them from a pattern with very little fullness about the hips. Drawers are well fitted about the hip line, with circular ruffles, buttonhole about the edge. One of the newest wrinkles about a chemise is not to join the shoulder seams. Finish it off with buttonhole edge and work a buttonhole on each side and slip dainty ribbon through them, thus tying the shoulder together with a little bow.

Engineering Committee Busy.

The engineering committee, comprising representatives from Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen Bound Brook and South Bound Brook, has been in consultation with Herring & Fuller, of New York, regarding the preliminary survey for the proposed trunk line sewer and the New York engineering firm is already preparing to start the work. Upon the completion of the survey and the report another conference of the representatives of the various municipalities will be called.

Hard Lines.

On returning thanks for a Christmas turkey a Billville editor says: "Our only regret is that we had to sell half of it in order to get wood enough to cook the other half." —Atlanta Constitution.

CITY PRIMARY SURPRISES

(Continued from page 1.)

Trimble, 9. For Sheriff—Robert J. Kirkland, 72. For members Board of Freeholders—J. Hervey Doane, 75; S. P. T. Wilbur, 74. For Coroner—Adolph Degenring, 75; For Mayor—Charles J. Fisk, 72. For members Board of Education—full term—James F. Buckle, 71; unexpired term—William S. Tyler, For collector—W. R. Townsend, 75. For member Common Council—Ralph I. Tolles, 74. For members county committee—Amos Andrews, 74; James F. Buckle, 72. For members city committee—Amos Andrews, 73; James F. Buckle, 73; Armstrong Mulford, 75.

Second Ward—First District.

For delegates to State convention —Arthur Lovell, 221; Howard H. Williams, 221. For delegates to Congressional convention—Levis M. Booth, 218; F. W. Hanaford, 211; H. C. Tracy, 213. For Senator—*Ernest R. Ackerman, 219 For mem*bers General Assembly—Richard F. Henry, 18; Albert F. Kirstein, 28; Carlton B. Pierce, 195; Augustus W. Schwartz, 17; Frank C. Stutzlen, 213. For members Board of Education—full term—J. K. Buckle, 160; unexpired term—W. S. Tyler, 213. For collector—W. R. Townsend, 218. For member Common Council—F. C. Henaford, 25; Frank L. Holt, 16. For city solicitor—Harvey, 1; James Buckle, 1. For members county committee—Henry C. Dekmatel, 221; Howard H. Williams, 220. For members city committee—Arthur Lovell, 221; Robert H. McCready, 220; H. C. Tracy, 218.

Second Ward—Second District.

For delegates to State Convention —Arthur Lovell, 10; Howard H. Williams, 87. For delegate to Congressional convention—William Wallace Cerill, 56. For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 97. For members General Assembly—Richard F. Henry, 20; Albert F. Kirstein, 29; Carlton B. Pierce, 74; Augustus W. Schwartz, 7; Frank C. Stutzlen, 56; Lloyd Thompson, 53; Charles A Trimble, 3. For Sheriff—Robert J Kirkland, 57. For members Board of Freeholders—J. Hervey Doane, 56; S. P. T. Wilbur, 56. For Coroner—Adolph Degenring, 57. For Mayor—Charles J. Fisk, 57. For members Board of Education—full term—James F. Buckle, 35; unexpired term—W. S. Tyler, 56. For collector—W. R. Townsend, 57. For member Common Council—F. W. Hanaford, 25; Frank L. Holt, 56. For constable—W. G. Cook, 2; W. M. Alling, 2. For members county committee—Henry C. Dekmatel, 57; Howard H. Williams, 87. For members city committee—Arthur Lovell, 57; Robert H. McCready, 86; H. C. Tracy, 84; E. E. Irenbonger, 1.

Third Ward—First District.

For delegates to State convention —F. H. Andrews, 222; Leslie M. Daniel, 222. For delegates to Con*gressional convention—Marcus L.* Dawson, 122; Norman W. Carrie, 122; William M. Waerty, Jr., 123. For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 121. For members General Assembly —Richard F. Henry, 9; Albert F. Kirstein, 29; Carlton B. Pierce, 97; Augustus W. Schwartz, 2; Frank C. Stutzler, 66; Lloyd Thompson, 72; Charles A. Trimble, 2. For sheriff—Robert J. Kirkland, 121. For members Board of Freeholders —J. Hervey Doane, 125; S. P. T. Wilbur, 124. For coroner—Adolph *Degenring, 122. For Mayor—Char*les J. Fisk, 120; R. J. Depew, 1. For members Board of Education—full term—James F. Burkle, 106; Otis Hovey, 1; unexpired term—W. S. Tyler, 188. For collector—W. R. Townsend, 123. For member Common Council—Duncan W. Taylor, 121. For constable—L. E. Waring, 1.

For members county committee—J. Stephen Higham, 118; Frank H. Smith, 123; For members city committee—Edward V. S. Cox, 122; J. Stephen Higham, 126; G. W. V. Moy, 121.

Third Ward—Second District.

For delegates to State convention —F. H. Andrews, 87; Leslie M. Daniel, 87. For delegates to Congressional convention—Gilbert H. Fletcher, 86; W. H. Scott, 86. For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 87. For members General Assembly—Richard F. Henry, 212; Albert F. Kirstein, 29; Carlton B. Pierce, 112; Augustus W. Schwartz, 12; Frank C. Stutzlen, 47; Lloyd Thompson, 52; Charles A. Trimble, 9. For sheriff—Robert J. Kirkland, 86. For members Board of Freeholders—J. Hervey Doane, 87; S. P. T. Wilbur, 86. For coroner—Adolph Degenring, 87. For Mayor—Charles J. Fisk, 84. For members Board of Education—full term—James F. Buckle, 813; unexpired term—W. S. Tyler, 84. For collector—W. R. Townsend, 86. For member Common Council—Duncan W. Taylor, 87. For members county committee—J. Stephen Higham, 85; Frank H. Smith, 84. For members city committee—Edward V. S. Cox, 87; J. Stephen Higham, 86; G. W. V. Moy, 82.

Fourth Ward—First District.

For delegates to State convention —Herbert Buxton, 114; W. L. Hetfield, Jr., 113; William Newcorn, 113; Frank D. Randolph, 114. For delegates to Congressional convention—Robert A. Meeker, 114; J. P. Laire, 114. For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 115. For members General Assembly—Richard F. Henry, 7; Albert F. Kirstein, 89; Carlton B. Pierce, 94; Augustus W. Swartz, 87; Frank C. Stutzlen, 7; Lloyd Thompson, 11; Charles A. Trimble 10. For sheriff—Robert J. Kirkland 115. For members Board of Freeholders—J. Herver Doane, 111; S. P. T. Wilbur, 113. For coroner—Adolph Degenring, 115. For Mayor—Charles J. Fisk, 112. For members Board of Education—full term—James F. Buckle, 108; unexpired term—W. S. Tyler, 64. For collector—W. R. Townsend, 115 For member Common Council—Frank D. Randolph, 114; For members county committee—Herbert Buxton, 114; Andrew McCardell, 112; Harry C. Runyon, 114. For members city committee—Herbert Buxton, 115; W. L. Hetfield, Jr., 114; Andrew McCardell, 113; Harry C. Runyon, 115.

Fourth Ward—Second District.

For delegates to State convention Herbert Buxton, 191; W. L. Hetfield, Jr., 191; William Newcorn, 191; Frank D. Randolph, 191. For delegates to Congressional convention—Rutherford B. H. Dalley, 16; George T. Leighs, 190; Otto Moor, 189. For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 191. For members General Assembly—*Richard F. Henry, 8; Albert F. Kir*stein, 179; Carlton B. Pierce, 186; Augustus W. Schwartz, 16; Frank C. Stutzlen, 11; Lloyd Thompson, 15; Charles A. Trimble, 1. For sheriff—Robert J. Kirkland, 191. For members Board of Freeholders—J. Hervey Doane, 193; S. P. T. Wilbur 192. For coroner—Adolph Degenring, 193. For Mayor—Charles J. Fisk, 192. For members Board of Education—full term—James F. Buckle, 190; unexpired term—W. S. Tyler, 32. For collector—W. R. *Townsend, 192. For member Com*mon Council—Frank D. Randolph, 191. For members county committee—Herbert Buxton, 191; Andrew McCardell, 191; Henry C. Runyon, 191. For members city committee—W. L. Herbert Buxton, 191; W. L. Hetfield Jr., 191; Andrew McCardell, 191; Harry C. Runyon, 191.

Fourth Ward—Third District.

For delegates to State convention Herbert Buxton, 101; W. L. Hetfield, Jr., 101; William Newcorn, 100; Frank D. Randolph, 101. For delegates to Congressional convention—George R. Greenleaf, 101; Harry E. Saydor, 101; John C. Tasnor, 101. For Senator—Ernest R. Ackerman, 102. For members General Assembly—Richard F. Henry, 1; Albert F. Kinstein, 64; Carlton B. Pierce, 80; Augustus W. Swartz, 53; Frank C. Stutzler, 6; Lloyd Thompson, 16; Charles A. Trimble, 10. For sheriff—Robert J. Kirkland, 101. For members Board of Freeholders—J. Hervey Doane, 102; S. P. T. Wilbur, 102. For coroner—Adolph Degenring, 102. For Mayor—Charles J. Fisk, 101. For members Board of Education—full term—James F. Buckle, 95; unexpired term—W. S. Tyler, 61. For collector—W. R. Townsend, 102. For member of Common Council—Frank D. Randolph, 100. For members county committee—Herbert Buxton, 102; Andrew McCardell, 102; Harry C. Runyon 102. For members city committee Herbert Buxton, 102; W. L. Hetfield, Jr., 102; Andrew McCardell, 102; Harry C. Runyon, 102.

Second district of the Fourth ward twenty-five Republican ballots were rejected because they were not marked; election officers declaring that they should be thrown out on that account. In the third district of the Fourth ward five two ballots were rejected, apparently for the same reason. The election officers said that the county board of elections would have to decide the matter.

DEMOCRATIC.

First Ward, First District.

For Delegate to State Convention —J. P. Owens, 3. Delegate to Congressional Convention—J. P. Gwens, 5; Frederick C. Hyer, 14. For members of the General Assembly—Wilber F. Brower, 14; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, 14; Frederick Rieke, 14. For Sheriff—James E. Martine, 16. For members Board of Chosen Freeholders—James Colvin, 3; Casper Waglow, 3. For Coroner—Otto Wagner. For Mayor—Walter L. Manning, 5. For members of the Board of Education for full term—P. B. Goodfellow, 5; for unexpired term, Ira G. Hurlbut, 5. For collector—P. J. Reville, 5. For member of the Common Council—W. T. Banks, 2. For Constable—P. V. Weaver, 1; T. Timby, 1.

First Ward, Second District.

For Delegate to State Convention —W. T. Banks, 3. For Delegate to Congressional Convention—W. T. Banks, 3. For Senator—Frederick C. Hyer, 3. For members of the General Assembly—Wilber F. Brower, 3; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, 3; Frederick Colvin, 3; Caspar Waglow, 3. For Coroner—Otto Wagner, 3. For Mayor—Walter L. Manning, 3. For members of the Board of Education, for full term—P. B. Goodfellow, 3; for unexpired term, Ira G. Hurlbut, 3. For Collector—P. J. Reville, 3. For member of the Common Council —W. T. Banks, 3. For members of County Committee—W. L. Hetfield, Sr., 3.

Second Ward, First District.

For Delegate to State Convention —J. E. Martine, 13. For Delegate Erick Rieke, 3. For Sheriff—James E. Martine, 5. For members of Board of Chosen Freeholders—Jas. Colvin, 13; Casper Waglow, 13. For Coroner—Otto Wagner, 13. For Mayor—Walter L. Manning, 13. For members of Board of Education, for full term—P. B. Goodfellow, 13; for unexpired term, Ira G. Hurlbut, 13. For Collector—P. J. Reville, 13. For member of the Common Council—J. Connelly, 13. For Constable—Frank Erwin, 1.

Second Ward, Second District.

For Delegate to State Convention —Joseph Harrigan, 1. For Delegate to Congressional Convention—Joseph Harrigan, 1. For Senator—Frederick C. Hyer, 11. For members of the General Assembly—Wilber F. Brower, 11; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, 11; Frederick Rieke, 11. For Sheriff—James E. Martine, 11. For members of Board of Chosen Freeholders—James Colvan, 1; Caspar Waglow, 1. For Coroner—Otto Wagner, 11. For Mayor—Walter L. Maning, 2. For members of Board of Education, for full term—P. B. Goodfellow, 1; Ira G. Hurlbut, 1. For Collector—P. J. Reville, 1. For member of the Common Council —John F. Connolly, 2. For Constable—Hazekiah Rand, 1.

Third Ward, First District.

For Delegate to State Convention —J. H. Harkins, 5. For Delegate to Congressional Convention—Joseph H. Harkins, 5. For Senator—Frederick C. Hyer, 9. For members of the General Assembly—Wilber F. Brower, 11; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, 11; Frederick Rieke, 11. For Sheriff—James E. Martine, 13. For members of Board of Chosen Freeholders—James F. Colvin, 5; Caspar Waglow, 4. For Coroner—Otto Wagner, 9. For Mayor—Walter L. Maning, 5. For members of the Board of Education, for full term—P. B. Goodfellow, 4; for unexpired term, Ira G. Hurlbut, 3. For Collector—P. J. Reville, 4. For member of the Common Council—Joseph H. Harkins, 5. For members of County Committee—F. J. Shattle, 1; Joseph H. Harkins, 5. For member of City Committee—F. J. Shattle, Jr., 5.

Third Ward, Second District.

For Delegate to State Convention —F. J. Shattle, Jr., 6. For Delegate to Congressional Convention—F. J. Shattle, Jr., 6. For Senator—Frederick C. Hyer, 10. For members of the General Assembly—Wilber F. Brower, 6; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, 6; Frederick Rieke, 6. For Sheriff—James E. Martine, 6. For members of Board of Chosen Freeholders—James Colvin, 9; Caspar Waglow, 6. For Coroner—Otto Wagner, 6. For Mayor—Walter L. Maning, 6. For members of the Board of Education, for full term—P. B. Goodfellow, 6; for unexpired term, Ira G. Hurlbut, 6. For Collector—P. J. Reville, 6. For member of the Common Council —J. H. Harkins, 6. For members of County Committee—F. J. Shattle, Jr., 6. *For member of City Com*mittee—John Moran, 6.

Fourth Ward, Third District.

For Delegate to State Convention —Ira G. Hurlbut, 2. For Delegate to Congressional Convention—Ira G. Hurlbut, 2. For Senator—Frederick C. Hyer, 5. For members of the General Assembly—Wilber F. Brower, 5; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, 5; Frederick Rieke, 5. For Sheriff—James E. Martine, 5. For members of Board of Chosen Freeholders—Jas. Colvin, 2; Caspar Waglow, 2. For Coroner—Otto Wagner, 5. For Mayor—Walter L. Maning, 2. For members of the Board of Education, for full term—P. B. Goodfellow, 15; for unexpired term, Ira G. Hurlbut, 5. For Collector—P. J. Reville, 5. For member of the Common Council—William Tunison, 15. For Constable—Larry Patterson, 1. For members of the County Committee—A. D. Newman, 1.

Fourth Ward, First District.

For Delegate to State Convention —D. J. Galbraith, 1. For Delegate to Congressional Convention—D. J. Galbraith, 1; S. H. Schlief, 3. For Senator—Frederick C. Hyer, 13. For members of the General Assembly—Wilber F. Brower, 19; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, 19; Frederick Rieke, 19. For Sheriff—James E. Martine, 20. For members of Board of Chosen Freeholders—J. F. Colvin, 9; Caspar Waglow, 3. For Coroner—Otto Wagner, 18. For Mayor—Walter L. Maning, 12. For members of the Board of Education, for full term—P. B. Goodfellow, 15; for unexpired term, Ira G. Hurlbut, 8. For Collector—P. J. Reville, 11. For member of the Common Council—William Tunison, 9; J. Hoessert, 2. For member of County Committee—S. H. Schlief, 6.

Fourth Ward, Second District.

For Delegate to State Convention —P. J. Reville, 7. For Delegate to Congressional Convention—James Colvin, 7. For Senator—Frederick C. Hyer, 15. For members of the General Assembly—Wilber F. Brower, 15; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, 15; Frederick Rieke, 15. For Sheriff—James E. Martine, 15. For members of Board of Chosen Freeholders—James Colvin, 11; Caspar Waglow, 11. For Coroner—Otto Wagner, 15. For Mayor—Walter L. Maning, 10. For members of the Board of Education, for full term—P. B. Goodfellow, 10; for unexpired term, Ira G. Hurlbut, 10. For Collector—P. J. Reville, 10. For member of the Common Council—William Tunison, 10. For Constable—Robert Murray, 3.

SHOOTS WIFE: KILLS SELF

(Continued from page 1.)

house but had no authority to hold Thomas as a witness. Prosecutor Berdine, of New Brunswick, was told of the affair over the telephone and said detectives would be sent to Plainfield at once.

If it is true that Kiehl married the woman as the witnesses allege, the ceremony was illegal as he is survived by a wife who has been confined in the Morris Plains asylum for several years. Friends who knew him well assert that he never mentioned any second marriage. The police have no suggestion to make as to why Kiehl did not shoot Thomas as well as the wife and there are some who are inclined to look on the affair in the light of a mystery.

SUMMIT.

Republican.

First ward: First district—Senator, Ackerman, 84 for sheriff, Kirkland, 84; for coroner, Degenring, 84; for members General Assembly, Pierce, 76; Kirstein, 30; Schwartz, 31; Stutzlen, 41; Trimble, 13; Thompson, 45; Henry 11. Second district—For Senator, Ackerman 30; for sheriff, Kirkland, 30; for coroner, Degenring, 30; for members General Assembly, Pierce, 30; Kirsteln, 19; Schwartz, 18 Stutzlen, 6; Trimble, 2; Thompson, 13; Henry, 2.

Second ward: First district—for Senator, Ackerman, 77; for sheriff, Kirkland, 77; for coroner, Degenring, 77; for members General Assembly, Pierce, 36; Kirstein, 31; Schwartz, 32; Stutzlen, 15; Trimble, 8; Thompson, 26; Henry, 10. Second district—for Senator, Ackerman, 120; for sheriff, Kirkland, 120; for coroner, Degenring, 120; for members General Assembly, Pierce, 99; Kirstein, 29; Schwartz, 24; Stutzlen, 87; Trimble, 7; Thompson, 74; Henry, 12.

R

RAHWAY.

Republican.

First ward—For Senator, Ackerman, 122; for sheriff, Kirkland, 119; for coroner, Degenring, 121; for members General Assembly, Pierce, 59; Kirstein, 104; Schwartz, 87; Stutzlen, 4; Trimble, 6; Thompson, 7; Henry, 3. Second ward—for Sena*tor, Ackerman, 65; for sheriff,* Kirkland, 65; for coroner, Degenring, 65; for members General Assembly, Pierce, 26; Kirstein, 60; Schwartz, 114; Stutzlen, 114; Trimble, 1; Thompson, 10; Henry, 7. Third ward—for Senator, Ackerman, 127; for sheriff, Kirkland, 127; for coroner, Degenring, 127; for members General Assembly, Pierce, 85; Kirstein, 85; Schwartz, 26; Stutzlen, 29; Trimble, 26; Thompson, 29; Henry, 17. Fifth ward—For Senator, Ackerman, 62; for sheriff, Kirland, 61; for coroner, Degenring, 62; for members General Assembly, Pierce, 57; Kirstein, 47; Schwartz, 45; Stutzlen, 3; Trimble, 10; Thompson, 13; Henry, 4.

Stay Wins in Atlantic City.

In the heaviest nomination vote ever polled in Atlantic City, the new primary law proved a failure so far as the election of officers is concerned yesterday. Partisan members of election boards who challenged voters to the limit held up the lines and hundreds of citizens failed to get in their ballots.

THOUGHTS FOR BARGAIN TIME.

At this time of year the economically minded women often encounters a difficult problem, namely, how to utilize to full advantage sale remnants she has picked up. Many a woman just now is wondering how she can justify her purchases and turn them to practical account.

Some of us are very quick and decisive in our attitude toward sales, and when we have secured what we want our anxiety is at an end. But there are other women who cannot resist tempting bargains in the shape of odd lengths of silks, laces, ribbons, etc., but when the sales are over they are sadly perplexed as to how to make them up. Of course, if we buy imported models no matter how soiled, and have them cleaned, we shall find ourselves possessed of a real asset, ready for use without further trouble or effort. And one must say these are perhaps the best things we can buy at sales. But, on the other hand, the woman who has a clever helper, may work wonders.

For the young girl cheap remnants of voiles and cashmeres will make admirable house frocks and the muslin of fine lawn are wonderfully effective. Embroidered fabrics can be treated in the same way if the length be insufficient for a whole frock. Fashion today lends itself admirably to the assistance of the economically minded in this respect. There is no very hard and fast rule. This is a consolation to those of us who have a very limited dress allowance.

Mrs. John Derst, of Savannah, Ga., who was formerly Miss Elcena Hartfelder, of Lincoln place, is visiting her brother, George Hartfelder, in the borough. Mrs. Derst returns to her former home after an absence of many years and wonders at the *growth of the place during her ab*sence. Her husband is the leading baker an confectioner of Savannah.

Mrs. E. F. Page, of Truell lane, returned on Monday from her summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dayton, of Clinton avenue, have returned from their annual vacation.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

VOL. XL. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1908. NO. 40

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authority."—Madison.

ENDEAVORERS' PROGRAM

Three Days' Session at Atlantic City Will Include Important Meetings.

STUDY CLASSES' SESSIONS.

New Jersey Christian Endeavor Societies to Deliberate on October 7, 8 and 9.

For the three days of the twenty-second annual convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union a varied and interesting program has been prepared. The convention will be held at Atlantic City, opening Wednesday, October 7, and closing on Friday night, October 9. Details are in the hands of committees from the Atlantic City C. E. Union, the city union of Atlantic City and the program committee, of which Rev Dr. P. T. Pockman, of New Brunswick, is chairman.

The sessions will be held on the steel pier. Members of the reception committee wearing badges will meet all trains arriving in Atlantic City between 8:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. each day of the convention. Delegates are requested to make themselves known to members of this committee, who will see that they are directed to the headquarters of the registration committee at the First Baptist church, Pacific avenue, where badges may be secured and from which delegates will be escorted to the auditorium on the pier. There will be no registration fee charged, this year.

Both the Central and Pennsylvania roads have granted a reduced rate of one and three-fifths on the certificate plan. For persons in this vicinity the amount saved is so trivial as to be of no advantage.

The program for the three days include several addresses by prominent men, though there are not so many of such addresses as in previous years. Instead there are study classe in committee work, a question box, open parliaments and other features which will make it in a measure a school of methods. It will be a "working" convention.

The provisional program follows

Wednesday, October 7.

9:30 a. m.—District Secretaries' Conference—Led by Miss Ida B. Stephens, State Secretary, assisted by A. J. Shantle, State Secretary Pennsylvania C. E. Union.

2 to 5 p. m.—Junior and Intermediate Workers' Conference—Led by Mrs. L. Ida Dukes. Address—"The Use of Objects and Charts in illustrating the Junior Topics."—Arthur A. Chalker.

6 to 7:45—Supper and meeting of executive committee.

7:45—Praise service.

8—Devotional.

8:15—Address—William Phillips Hall, evangelist; F. H. Jacobs, singer.

Thursday, October 8.

6:45 to 7:30 a. m—Sunrise meeting. Consecration service for executive committee, State, county and local union officers—Led by State president.

9—Song service.

9:15—Devotional.

9:20—Address of welcome.

10—Response.

10:15—Quiet hour—Led by Rev Floyd W. Tomkins, S. T. D., of Philadelphia.

10:45—"Story of the Press," by A. H. Johnson, superintendent.

11—"Work Among the Colored People," by Bishop Alexander Walters, D. D., of New York city.

11:15 to 12:15—Study classes on Junior work; prayed meeting, Look out—Evangelistic, Social—Sabbath observance, Missionary, Bible study.

2 p. m.—Devotional.

2:15—Correspondence department.

2:35—Fresh air department.

2:55—Missionary department.

3:20—Address—"Opportunity in the West, Responsibility in the West by Rev. C. A. I. Janvier, of Philadelphia.

4:30—"Christian Citizenship and Sabbath Observance," by Rev. F. W Johnson, D. D.

7:30—Song service.

7:45—Devotional.

8—Report of State secretary, Miss Ida B. Stephens.

8:30—Report of State treasurer, A. N. Pierson.

8:50—Address by Rev. Dr. E. Hallenbock.

9:30—Announcements.

9:30 to 10:15—Informal reception for delegates only.

Friday, October 9.

6:45 to 7:30 a. m.—Morning watch—Led by State president.

9:15—Bible study—Rev. W. B.

9—Devotional.

9:15—Quiet hour—Led by Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, S. T. D., of Phil-

(Continued on page 4.)

HOPE SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS DELIBERATE

The teachers of Hope Chapel Sunday-school met last night at the home of the superintendent, G. H. Condict on Central avenue, to discuss plans for the year and, in particular, to arrange for the Rally day services to be held next Sunday. A plan of giving banners to the classes having best records in attendance and in bringing in new members was adopted. A committee was appointed to arrange for welcoming and enrolling the new members who might come on Rally Day. Many other matters of interest to the school were discussed, and a most enjoyable social evening followed.

Beside the Rally services of the Sunday-school, Hope chapel will have special rally day services in the church next Sunday, both in the morning and the evening. The evening service will be conducted by the young people of the Christian Endeavor Society. The service will not differ greatly from that usually held Sunday evenings, except that the young people will do most of the speaking, and will be in charge. The song service will be especially emphasized.

Sunday will be the seventh anniversary of Rev. L. R. Howard's coming to Hope, which gives additional reason for special features at the church services. In the seven years of Mr Howard's pastorate many changes have taken place at the chapel. One hundred and ninety-one have been added to he church roll, and one hundred and eighteen lost therefrom, making a net gain of seventy-three. There have been one hundred and twenty-two baptisms, seventy-seven weddings and one hundred and twenty-one funerals. In the buildings there has been some notable changes an addition practically every year. A great variety of clubs and classes have been organized, many of them continuing still, and many others having been kept up to meet a special need, or as long as competent leaders could be had for them, and then disbanded. The object has been to be doing all that could be done for the community, with the resources at command, all of the time.

Following is a list of some of the organizations in active existence at the chapel and the officers:

Ladies' Aid Society, president, Mrs Robert Hanghlitter; Ladies Missionary Society, president, Mrs. Herbert Condict; Ways and Means Committee, chairman, James Penny; Y. P. S. C. E., president, Miss Bertha Jones; Junior Boys' Club, leaders, George Whyte and James Penny; Boys' Club, president, Clinton Firstbrook; leader, G. H. Condict; Young Men's Club, president, Frank M. Rimmer; Men's Club, president, Thomas Hendry; Church choir, leader and organist, Mrs. L. B. Howard. Superintendent of Sunday-school, G. Herbert Condict; assistant superintendent, Ira W. Travell.

The Sunday-school has fifty-one teachers to look after its needs and yet the call is out for more teachers.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL BOYS AT RUTGERS.

Herman Newmark, of this city, has just entered the freshman class at Rutgers College, after only one year of work in the Plainfield High School. He was graduated from the Stillman Grammar School just a year ago. During his one year in the high school he did extra work, taking six subjects instead of four. He studied other subjects during the summer, and this fall passed all his entrance examinations, except solid geometry and physics. This is the record time through the high school to college.

Harry Srager, who is now a senior at Rutgers, entered college after two years' high school work, and Isidore Kunzman this year goes to college without entrance conditions, with three years of high school work in his preparation. Many other pupils have made college entrance in three years; very few in two years, and only the one in one year's time.

Will Discuss Many Topics.

The October meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in the rooms on Park avenue, tomorrow night. The following subjects will be presented for discussion: Adoption of revised constitution, plans for year's work, sufficient publicity, adoption of a new adding machine by representatives of a company desiring to locate here, the trunk sewer project and transportation to and from South Plainfield and Metuchen. It is earnestly requested that all members and any others interested will attend.

"An Old Town by the Sea."

"An Old Town by the Sea," will be the subject of an illustrated lecture to be given at Hope chapel, Friday night, October 9, at 8 o'clock by Rev. L. R. Howard. A nominal admission fee will be charged.

—Daily Press want ads. pay.

COUNIHAN AT WAR WITH BILL POSTING CO

W. J. Counihan and M. J. Shannon, proprietors of the Majestic theatre at Perth Amboy, and the Newark Bill Posting Company, are at war and the first real battle will be fought in the district court there tomorrow. The former claims that the Newark company tears down bills which they post, while the latter *avers that the theatre people dam*age their lithographs and post on their boards.

Saturday night there was trouble over posting on the boards at Reardon's store and an arrest followed. The theatrical men counsel in court yesterday told of the war between his clients and the Newark company and said that Messrs. Counihan & Shannon were the only people in the east who had nerve enough to buck the Newark company and start a plant of their own.

Mr. Stricker said that the Newark Bill Posting Company were doing all they could to get even and had even sent letters to theatrical companies that the Perth Amboy bill posting was not done properly. The counsel also stated that at least twelve of his clients' billboards since the present trouble had been maliciously defaced.

The question as to whom has a right to the privilege of the boards *in question will be threshed out to*morrow, and the case of the Newark Bill Posting Company for trespassing and malicious mischief, was adjourned until after the district court case, as the result of the criminal charge depends on Judge Lyon's decision. The police court case was set for 8 o'clock Friday morning.

DR. MITCHELL GOES TO CHICAGO CHARGE

Rev. Dr. Charles Bayard Mitchell a former pastor of the First M. E. church, this city, but more recently pastor of the First M. E. church, of Cleveland, where he performed a great work, has assumed the pastorate of St. James' M. E. church, Chicago, succeeding Bishop Quayle. The new charge is one of the largest and most important in the West.

Dr. Mitchell's pastorate in Cleveland has been longer than that of any other Methodist minister in the city. The first half of it was spent in the old Prince church, Euclid avnue and East Ninth street. The building of the new structure and removal to the present location, marking memorable epochs in his work.

On Thursday night, September 24, the members of the Cleveland church gave Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell a farewell reception. The edifice was thronged with people all of whom extended their best wishes to the pastor and his wife in their new field of labor. Dr. Mitchell was pastor of the First M. E. church, this city, from 1888 to 1892, and he was eminently successful in his work here.

ALEXANDER IRVINE TO SPEAK AT Y. M. C. A.

Alexander Irvine, author, preacher and teacher, will be the speaker at the first men's meeting of the fall series to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Sunday afternoon. His topic will be "The Influence of Books on Character." The remarkable results which have attended Mr. Irvine's work as a Sunday evening speaker at the Church of the Ascension, Fifth avenue, New York, mark him as one of the religious leaders of the time. His preaching has attracted to this church one of the most cosmopolitan congregations in New York.

Highly criticised at first Mr. Irvine is now regarded even in the most conservative circles as a leader in the forward movement going on in the city churches. Mr. Irvine is a frequent contributor to the standard magazines. The current number of "Success" is featured by his article on "A Church Waiting for Progress." Special music will be furnished at Sunday's meeting by the association orchestra under the direction of M. A. Korff.

John E. Watson a Benedict.

Local relatives and friends were notified by letter today that John E. Watson, of Grant avenue, and Miss Nancy Stair, of Ponda, N. Y., had been married Monday. The young couple are now on their honeymoon but will return to Plainfield within the next few days. The announcement came as a great surprise as Mr. Watson gave no hint of his intentions when he went away.

Junior Class Elects.

These officers were elected by the Junior Class of the Plainfield High School, yesterday: President, Harry VanZandt; vice-president, Howard Runyon, secretary and treasurer, Miss Margaret VanZandt.

SOCIETIES PLAN PARADE

Many Catholic Organizations to Be in Line for Mt. St. Mary's Dedication

REVIEW BY BISHOP M'FAUL

Societies at Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan and Other Places Will Send Big Delegations.

At a joint meeting of committees from Catholic societies in Plainfield, North Plainfield and surrounding towns, held in T. A. B. hall, last night, final arrangements were made for attending the dedication ceremonies of Mount St. Mary's College on October 15. All the organizations will be present in a body and will participate in a parade in the city and borough previous to marching to the "Picture Lands," where the new building is located. Appropriate music will be engaged by the local societies and those coming from other places will bring their own.

The organizations that were represented at last night's meeting and which will have practically their entire membership at the ceremonies, were the following: Watchung Council, No. 552; Division No. 4, A. O. H., St. Mary's T. A. B. Society and St. Mary's Holy Name Society, of Plainfield; St. Joseph's Holy Name Society, of North Plainfield; The Polish and Italian societies, of Plainfield, North Plainfield and South Plainfield; and all the Catholic societies at Somerville, Bound Brook, Raritan, Perth Amboy, Westfield and Cranford, and delegations from the Knights of Columbus at Elizabeth and New Brunswick.

The parade will form at St. Joseph's church in the borough and after marching through several streets will proceed to the college. The societies will be reviewed there by Right Rev. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, who is to be in charge of the dedication. Other prominent dignitaries in the diocese of Newark and Trenton will be in attendance. The societies will be addressed by the bishop before the return to Plainfield is commenced.

The college building is practically completed at the present time and has been occupied for several weeks. It is one of the handsomest buildings in Somerset county and the total cost of erection will be close to a quarter of a million dollars.

PURE COMEDY PREVAILS IN "TIME, PLACE, GIRL."

A large advance sale is reported by Manager Counihan for "The Time, The Place and The Girl," the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre for Friday night. It is a comedy drama set to music, with its acting possibilities enhanced by half a dozen unique but thoroughly consistent characterizations.

For instance there is the philosophical young "sport" with a mine of wisdom expressed in clean and down-to-date slang, the nurse, worldly-wise but withal a gentle woman; the proud and petulant heiress who is tamed by the sport; the Italian laborer who provides much sentiment; the coal heaver who is "just" to be married in the declassy man-about-town whose wild oats are harvested as gamely as they were sown freely.

With these types cleverly exploited the production keeps safely out of the conventional rut. The distinguishing by comedy rather than clowning, though a bit or two of burlesque are interpolated to heighten the comedy.

Odd Fellows to Entertain.

Queen City Lodge, No. 224, I. O. O. F., will hold its first entertainment for the fall and winter tonight. The lodge plans to hold one entertainment every month and only the best talent from the metropolis will be engaged. All Odd Fellows will be welcome. The entertainment committee comprises A. J. Ford, chairman; D. C. Patterson and Geo. R. Laird.

Endeavor Union Meeting.

A special meeting of the congress of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union will be held Thursday evening, October 1, at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. parlors. Plans for the State convention which the fall rally meeting will be discussed. An announcement of importance in regard to the Union county Union will be made.

East Second Street Improvement.

Woolston & Buckle, who own the property at 132 East Second street, adjoining the Hand stables, have planned to tear down the house now encumbering the lot and erect a large brick structure to be occupied as a livery by Harry McDonald. The old building was purchased today by Alex Kane and he has contracted to have it razed by October 15.

NEW JERSEY MISSIONARY INSTITUTE TO MEET HERE

The North Jersey Missionary Institute which has heretofore held a three days' institute in North Jersey, has planned this fall to have a series of one day institutes in six different cities in this part of the State, the general management and scope to be the same. The cities decided upon are Paterson, Jersey City, Newark, Orange, Elizabeth and Plainfield. The date for the meeting to be held at the First M. E. church, this city is Friday, November 13.

The First M. E. church was favored because of its central location and Miss Harriette R. Halloway, executive secretary for Plainfield, has asked the officers of the church for the privilege of holding the institute there. The session will convene about 2 o'clock in the afternoon with an intermission at 6 o'clock for supper to be served at the Park Club. An evening session will be held for two hours, to be conducted by stereopticon or moving pictures.

The membership is to be drawn from the churches of Plainfield and possibly, if they desire, Dunellen. Sunday-school officers and teachers, officers and members of Young People's organizations, Women's Missionary Societies and all other similar organizations are desired, while pastors of churches will be welcome. The purpose of the institute is to deepen and arouse the missionary motives and aims, especially among the younger members of the church and to help promote increased study of missions.

ENTRIES ANNOUNCED FOR SATURDAY MEET

The Fair Acres Riding and Driving Club will hold a matinee race meet at the driving park, Saturday afternoon, when a card of four races will be given. Suitable prizes will be offered in each event and the club will charge a nominal admission fee. Arrangements have been made to have stages meet all trolley cars on Park avenue, thus affording easy access to the park.

The four classes have all been filled with well-known horses and fine sport is assured all who witness the races. There will be one running race, which has been so popular with the patrons of the park. The entries are as follows:

Class A—Lady Howard, William Gross; Jos. MacGregor, George Forgerson; Zipp, William Huda; Ivan hoe, William Huff. Class B—Who Is It, John Osborn; New Haven, F. W. Suydam; Tom Sharkey, William Gross; Fred V., Frank Irving; Oracle, Charles C. Brower; Hand C., B. L. Edwards. Class C—Lady Sidney C. S. Smith; Benjamin Butler, Henry Uhrahahn; Sidney Ieland, J. B. Gustridge; Asia, Phil. Jenner; Katie M. Al. DeNise. Running race—Bowery Lass, Cornelius McCarthy; Polly Watt, Leslie Tingley; Slippery Elm, Thomas Brantingham; The Conscript, Marcus Hoyt; Bah Squada, Harry Evans.

WOMAN IMPOSTER CAUGHT BY THE POLICE.

Patrolman Charles Flynn this morning caught the woman who has been going about the city begging soliciting contributions for the Day Nursery. She was arrested after he had recognized her from the description furnished and learned that she had asked for money in two East Front street stores.

The woman was taken to police headquarters. She at first denied being an imposter but afterward broke down and admitted that she is the person who has been getting money on the Day Nursery plea for several weeks. A book found on her had "Day Nursery" inscribed on the front and it contained the names of a number of people with the contributions they had made. They amounted to $9 in all.

The woman had no excuse to offer for her action. She said she had a husband and was not in needy circumstances. She would have been locked up but the Day Nursery officials refused to press a complaint against her when they were notified.

The woman was taken before Judge Runyon this afternoon and released after he had told her but for the fact that she was in the hands of charitably disposed women she would be held for the Grand Jury.

—Neuman Brothers' store is headquarters for fruits and vegetables. An exceptional big assortment tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Saunders, of Lyon Farm, are enjoying a month's pleasure trip to Montana and California. On their return they will stop at several places of interest before reaching home.

MISS JESSIE CAMPBELL BRIDE OF WM. H. THORN

One of the prettiest fall weddings of the present season took place at the home of Mrs. Alexander Campbell, of East Second street, yesterday afternoon, when her daughter, Miss Jessie Scott Campbell, was made the wife of William Henry Thorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Thorn. The ceremony was performed at 4:30 by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and was witnessed by fifty relatives and friends. The bridal party stood before a bank of plants and ferns in the parlor, surmounted by the English and Americ*an colors, the bride being a former* resident of Scotland. A profusion of dahlias, tastefully arranged, formed the decorations in the parlor, dining room and hall.

Miss Campbell was given in marriage by her brother, David Campbell, and was attended by Miss Helen M. Apgar, of East Front street, as bridesmaid, and Mrs. Walter Buchanan, of Newark, sister of the groom, as matron of honor. She was gowned in white chiffon batiste, trimmed with point lace, and carried bride roses and lillies of the valley. Miss Apgar's gown was of pink chiffon over white filet lace and Mrs. Buchanan wore brown silk trimmed with filet lace. The former carried pink carnations and the latter white.

The groom's attendant was Arthur Campbell, brother of the bride, acting as best man, while the ushers were William Campbell and Elmer Squier. As the bridal party was assembling, the Lohengrin chorus was rendered by Miss Theresa Kahrmann. The ring ceremony was used.

With the words pronounced that made the young couple man and wife, they were showered with congratulations during a reception that followed. While the wedding supper was being served, the bride cut a wedding cake that had been baked and sent to her by a school chum in Scotland. It was a very large one but despite its bulk was delivered in Plainfield without a break. The cake was greatly admired and everyone sought a piece as a souvenir.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorn left early in the evening for a trip to the Catskills, getting away from the house in a perfect deluge of rice. On returning they will reside at 208 Jackson avenue, Netherwood, where a furnished home awaits their coming.

Both young people are widely known in the city and borough, a fact that was attested by the great array of presents they received. It included a dinner set of 150 pieces given by the clerical staff of the local postoffice, of which the groom is a member. The bride presented her attendants with gold and pearl brooches while the best man and ushers received pearl stick pins from the groom.

HARVEST HOME SUCCESS AT THE S. A. BARRACKS.

The harvest festival services just concluded at the Salvation Army hall have been very successful. The hall was tastefully decorated by Captain A. Hopkins and his workers with an appropriate display of flowers and fruits, etc., which had been generously donated for the occasion. They were attended by appreciative audiences.

Miss Emily C. March, the evangelist of this city, will conduct a great evangelistic service in the hall next Sunday evening at 8 o'Clock. All are cordially invited.

Baptists to Convene Here.

*The East New Jersey Baptist Sun*day-school Association will hold its annual convention at the First Baptist church on Tuesday, October 20. There will be three sessions, morning, afternoon and evening and the women of the entertaining church will provide dinner and supper for the visiting delegates. About 250 members of the association are expected to attend the convention and a particularly strong program is now being prepared which will treat every phase of Sunday-school work. Several religious speakers of prominence will also take part in the convention

Mrs. E. C. Brokaw Injured.

While Mrs. Edward C. Brokaw, of Grove street, was seeing a friend off on the trolley at West Front street and Central avenue yesterday afternoon, she was run down and struck by Mrs. I. C. Reed, of Warrenville, came along and one wheel of the wagon passed over Mrs. Brokaw's foot, slightly injuring it. Friends, who happened to be near, assisted Mrs. Brokaw to her home. Mrs. Reed afterward explained that she did not see Mrs. Brokaw until it was too late to prevent the accident.

Street Committee to Meet.

The Councilmanic street committee will hold a meeting on Thursday night to prepare some business to be presented at the October meeting of the Common Council.

ATTERBURY JOLTS THEM

Plainfielder's Liberal Ideas Shock Prohibitionists at Excise Hearing.

DEMANDS FOR LOCAL OPTION.

Bishop Line's Solution of Liquor Problem Is High License and Strict Regulation.

Albert H. Atterbury, of this city, who was born at the "Hermitage," on West State street, Trenton, and has always held large land interests there, created a sensation when he addressed the State Excise Commission at Trenton yesterday. He has lost been noted for his liberal views concerning municipal affairs. Not long ago he made a bold stand for Sunday golf playing at the Plainfield Country club.

Mr. Atterbury advocated local option, but in illustrating his points he nearly took away the breath of the prohibitionists. He began by declaring that the commission, while it had listened to much testimony, had heard no new things.

Local option, he said, would bring peace and quiet. He said he had recently visited Niagara Falls on a Sunday and found the bars all wide open; yet there was no evidence of crime, vice or disorder. He declared that Coney Island, where the same conditions exist, is as respectable and orderly on a Sunday as any similar resort in the country.

Mr. Atterbury contended that the chief conditions of affairs in Atlantic City, Hoboken and Paterson was that an unpopular law was being evaded.

"If it is wrong to sell liquor on Sunday, why," asked Mr. Atterbury, "is it not wrong to sell it on Saturday?"

He argued that municipalities should regulate their own affairs and sprayed the idea of a State Excise Board, saying such a body would lean toward one of the political parties.

Mr. Atterbury thought the idea of sending a battalion to Atlantic City to keep the bars closed a huge joke.

"Who would guard the soldiers while they were guarding the bars?" asked Mr. Atterbury, and even the prohibitionists smiled when he added:

"I think of sending a military company of Germans from Hoboken down there on that kind of duty."

Mr. Atterbury contended that the recent grand juries do not indict because the law is unpopular. He urged local option as the only practical substitute for the law, "the enforcement of which is saturated with bribery, perjury and corruption."

Soon after completing his address Mr. Atterbury left for home. He had examined until the end of the session he would have heard answers to his argument that would have convinced him that he had shocked many of his hearers.

Dr. H. A. Cotton, medical director of the State Hospital, in Trenton, who had been asked by the commission to express his views as to the part liquor plays in insanity, delivered an address which was one of the most interesting features of the day. Incorporated in it was a paper, recently read by him before a meeting of the American Journal of Insanity, entitled "Alcohol as an Etiological Factor in Mental Diseases."

*Inreply to Mr. Backes, the physi*cian said that "third rail," or highly adulterated whiskey, was more pernicious in its effects than pure whiskey. He declared that the man who was not strong mentally was more likely to become insane by drinking than the man of higher intellect. Whiskey, he said, lowered the thinking power and that its effect generally was bad except when taken in medicinal doses.

Dr. Cotton suggested to the commission that a law protecting patients discharged from hospitals from the temptation of drink would be of good thing.

"And if we have prohibition," thundered a tall man with long whiskers, "we will need no such law."

Bishop Edward S. Lines, of the Newark Protestant Episcopal Diocese was the chief speaker. He said in part:

Bishop Lines's Views.

Bishop Edwin S. Lines, of the Newark diocese of the Episcopalian church, in his address to the board, said:

"By only right, to present any opinion before you is my great interest in the subject and because I think it one of the great moral and public questions of the time. I have lived all my life among those engaged in the liquor business. I have ministered in their families for many years, and I have had a deep interest in them and their children as in another of my parishioners. I have tried to appreciate their point of

(Continued on page 4.)

HOW THEY HELP 'EM

The Way New Jersey Republicans Favor the Railroads.

"MAIN STEM" NOT MOVING.

Equal Taxation, According to Republican Performances, Demonstrated to be a Mere Fiction—Main Stem Property Fails to Show Proper and Just Increase — A Newark Newspaper's Analysis of the Subject.

[From the Newark Evening News, issue of Aug. 12, 1908.]

An illuminative exhibit of the manner in which the state board of assessors fixes the value of railroad and canal property for the purpose of taxation is found in a comparison of the board's estimate of the "true value" of the "main stem" and "second class" property as shown in the figures returned on each class for the years 1906 and 1907 respectively.

For purposes of taxation the "main stem" not only includes the roadbed, not exceeding a hundred feet in width, with all buildings and other structures, except terminal passenger stations, but the value of all tangible personal property, including stock and franchise value, which the board has repeatedly asserted since its creation in 1884 is included in the assessed value of the "main stem." The "second class" includes all the real estate outside of the "main stem" used for railroad purposes and the passenger terminals, but does not include any of the personal or franchise value of the railroad companies.

Discrepancies in Increases.

In 1905 the value of the "main stem" was fixed at $194,198,243 and that of the "second class" at $40,522,328. Last year the "main stem" value was fixed at $200,102,173, an increase for the two years of $6,903,930, or about 5 per cent over the valuation of 1905. The other day the board announced as its conclusion that the value of the "second class" property in 1907 was $74,003,057, an increase of $27,540,729 over 1905, or a flat increase in value of about 60 per cent during the same period that the "main stem" value was increased only 5 per cent.

No attempt was made to explain by what method of reasoning the board found an increase of only 5 per cent in the most valuable end of the railroad property and of 60 per cent on a much smaller portion and a class of property in which real estate values only are considered.

The board has a reputation of declining to explain anything, and Secretary Irvine E. Maguire endeavored to maintain that attitude when he found it inconvenient to tell how the board's assessment of "second class" railroad property for 1906 and 1907 compared with the local assessment for the same years, which the Court set aside.

When the local assessors in 1906 began the assessment of "second class" railroad property on the same basis as other property is assessed many parcels were found to have been so grossly undervalued as to necessitate an increase of from 100 to 200 per cent to make the assessment correspond with that levied upon adjoining property.

That was about the general increase, but there were specific cases in which it was much greater. In this city there was one parcel owned by the Central railroad on Mulberry street which the state board had carried at a valuation of $7,000. To make it correspond with the assessed value of adjoining property the local board had to raise the value to $120,000, an increase of about 1,700 per cent. And there were somewhat similar cases in Jersey City.

Some of the railroads were so impressed with the reasonableness of the local assessment that they promptly paid the tax, which may in many instances exceed the tax as levied by the state board under the law of March 4 last, which provided for the reassessment of this class of property for 1908 and 1907.

Taxes Grow Only 4 Per Cent.

Other railroads made partial payment of an amount equal to the tax assessed by the state board in 1905, and they probably knew what they were doing, as is demonstrated by the fact that while the "second class" assessment shows an increase for 1907 over 1905 of $27,000,000, or 60 per cent, the taxes assessed for 1907 exceed those of 1905 by only $44,525, or an increase of less than 4 per cent.

This is due to the operation of the "Hillery minimum tax law" and largely to the energetic work of the county boards of taxation in forcing up valuation of real and personal property other than railroad property $687,844,457, or 60 per cent, during the last two years.

By increasing the aggregate value of all taxable property other than railroad property from $1,153,682,961 in 1905 to $1,570,210,073 in 1906, a raise of about $417,000,000, the "average tax rate" of the state at which the "main stem" railroad property was to be assessed for the first time was reduced from $20.10 in 1905 to $18.10 in 1906, a reduction of twenty points on each $100 of valuation.

Last year a further increase of about $271,000,000 brought the total up to $1,841,527,418, a gain of 60 per cent during the two years in which the "main stem" property was increased less than 5 per cent, most if not all added by accretion such as the including of "ferries" in the "main stem" and the extension of lines. Last year's increase produced a further reduction of seven points in the "average rate,"

HARRY K. LISTER
161 NORTH AVENUE.
DISTRIBUTOR OF EDISON and VICTOR
TALKING MACHINES and RECORDS.

You'll never feel $1.00 a week that you put a Victor or Edison Talking Machine in your home. Why don't you? Why not enjoy the pleasure of one of these king of entertainers while you are paying for it?
Free Demonstrations Every Day. Open Evenings.

Vail
JEWELER AND OPTICIAN
103 Park Ave.,
calls your attention to his
Rimless Glasses.
They Look Good and You See Good

KODAKS AND SUPPLIES
Developing, Printing and Enlarging.
The Photo Store,
129 North Avenue.

JOHN WINZENREID,
Furniture and Freight Express.
Moving Vans and Storage.
312 Lee Place. 'Phone 640-R.

AZIENZA
gives pimples and all inflammation of the skin, and by persistent treatment. Medicinal and toilet—50 and 60 cents.
CREAM.

HOAGLAND'S
Express—BAGGAGE and FURNITURE MOVING.
Office 205 Park Ave.
Tel: 833-W Home Tel, 648-L.

E. B. Maynard's
Tonsorial Parlors. Electrical Massage for face and hair. First-class work. Children a Hair Cutting a specialty.
Tel. No. 734-R.
141 NORTH AVENUE

TURKISH BATHS!
TAKE ONE
Ladies Mornings, Gentlemen Afternoons
Take Trolley to Sanitarium, Somerset Street.

Announcement to the Public!
I beg to announce that I will open a First-Class Ladies' Tailoring Establishment at 327 Watchung Avenue on or about Sept. 12. Hoping you will give me a call. Respectfully PHILLIP COHEN
LATE OF FIFTH AVENUE

PLAINFIELD WINDOW CLEANING CO.
Renovating—Offices, stores and private residences. Service day or night. Furniture, china and glassware packed for shipping.
WM. A. KLINE. 611 W. 3d St.

NOTICE.
If you are dissatisfied with your, pa. r service call on or call up.
THE HUSTLER.
William H. Olmsted, 321 Watchung Avenue, near Fourth St. Successor to D.H. Blaney&Son
609-J Either 'Phone 609-J

William H. Pope,
ELECTRICIAN.
All kinds of electrical work done at reasonable prices.
116 NORTH AVENUE.

New Jersey Central

In Effect September 10, 1906.

For New York—2.37, 3.27, 5.05, 6.07, 6.39, 6.57, 7.27, 8.07, 8.37, 9.07, 9.37, 10.07, 10.37, 11.07, 11.37 a. m., 12.07, 12.37, 1.07, 1.37, 2.07, 2.37, 3.07, 3.37, 4.07, 4.37, 5.07, 5.37, 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 8.07, 9.07, 10.07, 11.07 p. m. Sundays—2.37, 3.27, 5.05, 6.07, 6.39, 6.57, 7.27, 8.07, 8.37, 9.07, 9.37, 10.07, 10.37, 11.07, 11.37 a. m., 12.07, 12.37, 1.07, 1.37, 2.07, 2.37, 3.07, 3.37, 4.07, 4.37, 5.07, 5.37, 6.07, 6.37, 7.07, 8.07, 9.07, 10.07, 11.07 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—6.18, 9.55 a. m., 2.00, 5.22 p. m. Sundays—8.55 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—6.18, 9.55 a. m., 2.00, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—8.55 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc.—2.37, 5.15, 10.07 a. m., 12.07 Saturdays only), 1.37, 3.42, 4.46, 5.52, 11.38 p. m. Sundays—8.55 a. m., 3.30, 8.12 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—2.37, 9.29 a. m., (12.42, Saturdays only), 1.37, 2.41, 3.30 p. m. Sundays—8.55 a. m., 1.46 p. m.

For Philadelphia—7.15, 7.39, 8.45, 9.13, 10.43 a. m., 12.13, 12.42, 1.39, 2.14, 3.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.45, 7.45, 9.02, 11.15 night. Sunday—8.45, 9.53, 10.39, 10.43, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 1.44, 2.45, 3.42, 5.39, 6.44, 8.50, 11.15 p. m. 1.15 night.

For Baltimore and Washington—8.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 6.44 p. m. Sundays—8.45, 10.43 a. m., 12.42, 2.45, 6.44 p. m.

*Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Mgr. W. C. HOPE, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Arrival and Departure of Mails

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE

Office Open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. Closes 7 p. m. On Saturdays close half hour later

NEW YORK MAIL.

Arrive—7:00, 8:40, 11:30 a. m., 2:20, 4:05, 5:30, 8 p. m., 12 midnight.
Close—7:20, 9:30 a. m., 1:00, 2:20 and 7:45 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND RARITAN.

Arrive—6:40 a. m., 1:30, 3:15 and 7 p. m.
Close—7:20 a. m., 1:40 and 4:30 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.

Arrive—7:30, 8:40 and 11:30 a. m., 2:20, 7:00 p. m.
Close—7:15, 7:30, 9:20 a. m., 12:30, 1:30, 4:00, 7:15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR EAST

Close—1:00 and 7:15 p. m.

THROUGH FAST MAIL FOR WEST AND SOUTH.

Close—12:35, 5:00, 7:15 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA, West of Easton

Close—12:35 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Direct.

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 1:30, 5:30 p. m.
Close—7:20 a. m., 1:20, 4:00 p. m.

NEWARK—Direct.

Arrive—8:40 a. m., 2:30, 5:30 p. m., 12 midnight.
Close—7:15, 7:20 a. m., 1:00, 2:20 and 4:00 p. m.

WATCHUNG, WARRENVILLE

Arrive—12:30 p. m.
Close—9:00 a. m.

WATCHUNG

Close—5:30 p. m.
Arrive—6:45 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS

Office open from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.
Mail closes at 9:15 p. m.

E. W. OTTEN, P. M.

Advertisements
—FOR—
New York Herald,
World, Times, Sun, Journal,
Telegram, American,
Brooklyn Eagle
—and—
Newark Evening News
Received at
The Daily Press
AT REGULAR OFFICE RATES.

GORMLEY'S Riding School
DEALER IN
Hunters and Saddle Horses
Special attention given to Ladies and Children. Horses broken to saddle and harness. Also Horses Boarded.
HUGH GORMLEY, Prop.
Kensington Ave., Tel. 194

WASHINGTON ROCK SPRING WATER
Bottlers of high-class soft drinks, Ginger Ale, Soda Water and Pure Spring Water, and Siphon Goods. Private families' and parties' patronage is solicited.
Henry Pedeflous,
TELEPHONE 670-R
Hotel Pedeflous, Plainfield

JOS. F. BURKE
Successor to
Mrs. Ann Shovers
General Contractor and Grader
Cesspools and Vaults Cleaned
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Positively the only odorless Excavator in the City.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Leave orders at
J. T. Vail's, North avenue, Phone 208
Postoffice Box 78,
For prices address
FRANK BURKE, Manager

STATIONERY AND TOYS.
HARPER,
411 PARK AVENUE.

Geo. H. Stagaard,
SHOEMAKER
108—CHURCH STREET—110
Repair work called for and delivered
'PHONE 1062-W.

MANGO & DIENNO
Sewer Contractors & Cesspool Builders
Contracts in town or country for main sewers received at any time, Sundays included, when necessary.
Office and residence 220 Richmond St. Tel. 663-J. 9 15 1m

COAL DEALERS

Difference In Coal.
All coals may look alike to some people, but compare our "Lehigh" Coal with the Coal you bought somewhere else and you will see a difference.
You will notice that our Coal Burns Brighter, Gives More Heat, and Lasts Longer than any other Coal you ever bought before.
Boice, Runyon & Co.,
Coal, Lumber and Masons Materials.
Park Ave., opp. North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

JOS. HARRIGAN
OLD COMPANY'S LEHIGH COAL
929 South Avenue
Telephone 193.
The best time to order your winter supply of
COAL
is now. Do not forget that
NASH
is ready to supply you.
Telephone 357-W
OFFICE—686 SOUTH SECOND ST.

TenEyck & Harris,
Dealers' Inn.
LEHIGH VALLEY COAL.
Office: Bowler's Drug Store, 218 West Front Street. Telephone 25-L.

Coal I have on hand some very fine Hard and Medium Coal. All kept under shed. Telephone 548-W. Coal
25 cents a ton reduction on cash orders.
L. A. RHEAUME,
148 East Fourth St. Telephone 449-W. Yard, 674 South Second St. Telephone 128.

GEORGE O. STEVENS
747 West Front St.

R. L. CLINE
Successor to C. H. Rugg & Co.)
Best Quality Lehigh Coal
Yard and office 630 West Third St. Tel. 88.

DRINK IT HOT OR DRINK IT COLD!
Quali-Tea
35 c. lb.
ALL BLACK—ALL PURE
Sold only at
VAN DYK'S
127 WEST FRONT ST.,
Bet. Park and Madison Aves.
50 BRANCHES IN 20 CITIES.

Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing.
Monthly Contracts.
Pressing called for and delivered.
EVENING DRESSES A SPECIALTY.
Ladies' Waists Cleaned, 35 cents; Inwards Gents' Suits Cleaned $1.50
We do our own work at
M. A. Brown's, 218 West Second St.

Wm. H. Kirch,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
66 Duer Street.
Tel. 402 J.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

ALEX. LUSARDI,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits, Choice Confectionery, Nuts, Cigars, etc.
211 W. Front St. Tel. 507-W.

OYSTERS! OYSTERS!
They R in Season. The Very Best
Also Choice Meats, Poultry and Fish. Hams and Bacon.
F. Neidig, 94 Somerset St. Telephone 291

JOHN WIRTH
(Successor to Henry Lieber.)
Bakery and Confectionery.
291-293 West Front St. Tel. No. 721.
All orders delivered at short notice.

DRUGGISTS.
THINK IT OVER!
When you are making up your daily list what you need from the drug store. We have it, and will send it promptly. We have the only "Free Wagon Delivery" in the city.
C. M. Nagle's Pharmacy,
Front and Grove Sts. 'Phone 516.

Complete Line of
REXALL
Goods at
MILLER'S PHARMACY
Park Ave. & 4th St. Tel. 22.

Hodge's Pharmacy.
Y. M. C. A. Building.
BELLE MEAD SWEETS.
Tel. 62.

HOTELS.
WETUMPKA INN
EAST SEVENTH AND WASHINGTON STS
Open October 15th
E.G. HULLING, Prop'r.
Formerly of the Hotel Waldron, North Asbury Park, N. J. Thoroughly remodeled, newly furnished, painted and decorated. Steam heat, baths, electric lights, gas. Rooms single, double and en suite. Write.

HOTEL WALDORF
EAST FRONT STREET.
HENRY WINDHAM, Prop.
Gottfried Kruger's Extra Beer on draught. Imported Wines, Liquors and Cigars. Hotel accommodations and private Dining-Rooms.

HOTEL KENSINGTON
(Licensed.)
WM. J. POULSON, Prop.
107-109-111 North Avenue.
Everything New and Up-to-date
An inspection Solicited.

THE
Hotel IROQUOIS
Conducted on the European Plan
Park Ave. and Second St.

PEACHES—PEARS—GRAPES
We are offering an excellent selection of the Finest Fruits of the season —Peaches, Pears and Grapes that excel not only in looks, but in flavor.
Your orders are cordially invited for Fruits, Vegetables and Groceries, and prompt delivery assured to any part of Plainfield.
W. W. DUNN,
THE PARK GROCER,
DUER STREET AND LINCOLN PLACE.

Central R. R. News Stands
You can get it at the C. R. R. News Stands, both depots, Plainfield Daily Press, on sale at both stands, Philadelphia Morning, Evening and Sunday Papers. Largest assortment of Magazines and Weekly Papers in the city. Back numbers procured. Brooklyn Papers, English Publications. Daily and Sunday Papers delivered. Orders left at stand receive prompt attention. Open Sundays.
F. M. WAGNER, Manager.

A. KANE
is again in this city to attend to the buying of old buildings, and putting in house sewer connections.
Lumber material cheaper than ever before
A. KANE
Plainfield House Wrecker.

McCULLOUGH'S STEAM MILL
21 Steiner place, North Plainfield, N. J.
R. H. McCULLOUGH, Prop'r.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing, Turning, etc.
Estimates cheerfully furnished.

HENRY WIERENGA
Residence 'Phone 617-J.
Furniture, Freight, Baggage Express and Rigger.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY.
Try a box of
DOBBINS' CIGARS.
Clear Havana Nickie Tars or any kind that you desire. Manufactured at 129 North Avenue, opposite Kensington Hotel, Plainfield, N. J.

Kindling and Grate Wood.
Cedar Posts and Bean Poles. Prompt deliveries. Orders received at 69 SOMERSET STREET.
JOHN MOBUS,
P. O. Box 259.

REAL ESTATE
Bought, Sold and For Rent.
J. SACHAR,
321 WEST THIRD STREET.

SMALLEY BROS.
147 North Ave.
BUTCHERS
Our Specialty, Berkshire Pork. Try Our Berkshire Sausage Made on Premises.
Roasting and Broiling Chickens a Specialty.
Orders called for and delivered.
Telephone 88-A.

The Southern Restaurant,
232 West Second Street, near Madison Avenue, now under new management. Meals served at all hours a la carte and table d'hote. Our own make bread and pastrys, all home cooking. The change of everything is bought for the tables. Our prices is reasonable. The place is now under the management of the well known New York caterer, T. H. Reynolds. Manager. Tel. 823-J. 1 15 1y

J. C. POPE & CO.,
INSURANCE AGENTS,
110 E. Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

A. H. ENANDER,
Sanitary Plumbing, Gas Fitting, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Contractor for Sewer Connections.
125 Watchung Av. Rear.

L. Moraller & Son,
Watchmakers and Jewelers.
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
Fine Watch and Clock Repairing Specialty.
219 Park Ave. Plainfield, N. J.

FURNITURE.
Repaired and upholstered. Equal to new. Send a postal to
HARRISON, 140 CENTRAL AVE.
Cabinet maker, Polisher, Mattress Maker.

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS
We call your attention to our fine Display of
New Wall Papers.
We can't describe the patterns, but they are new, striking and effective, and with our large assortment we are sure to please.
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
Woolston & Buckle,
148 North Avenue.

SUMMER
is nearly over
WINTER
will soon be here.
Now is the time to have your house painted before the frost and snow bits it. Then it will harden and be looking all right for
SPRING
Jas. C. Hansen,
is the man to do it. Consult him, he will cheerfully give you an estimate.
Dealer in Wallpaper, Paints, Oils, Glass etc.
141 East Front Street

1908 Wall Papers.
IMPORTED & AMERICAN GOODS.
C. CONOVER & CO.
Decorators, Painters and Paperhangers
Window and Plate Glass.
115 Elmwood Pl. Tel. 1145

W. S. CHEEVER
1326 Park Ave.
Painting SEE INTERIOR DECORATING WALL PAPER of every description at the Lowest Prices.
'Phone No. 538-J.

HIGH ART WALL PAPER
We have for your approval everything up-to-date, artistic and novel in
WALL HANGINGS
and furnish first-class men to put same on your walls. We also do Painting and Frescoing. Our prices are positively lower in consistency with First-class work.
POLK & CO.
138 North Avenue,
near depot.

REAL ESTATE
RENTALS—REAL ESTATE
Geo. F. Brown,
INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE.
Commissioner of Deeds—Notary.
96 Somerset St. 'Phone 266.

bringing it down to $17.40, with a resultant reduction of $246,403 of the "main stem" tax for 1907 as compared with that of 1906.

Held Up Taxes Will Lower Rates.

While the increase in the aggregate valuation of private property this year will not be as marked as during the last two years, a reduction of about fifteen points in the "average tax" rate is looked for on account of the "main stem" tax for the past two years, which was held up for two years, being available for the reduction of local rates this year.

That will make a still further reduction in the "main stem" tax, returns for this year as well as in the "second class" taxes to be paid, more than sufficient to wipe out the $44,000 increase of last year over 1905, and leave the "second class" tax for 1908 less than when the "Perkins 'equal tax' law" of 1906 became operative.

Governor Fort in his inaugural address directed attention to this abnormal condition of affairs, for which he held the county boards of taxation and the state board of assessors responsible. The governor recommended that the abolition of the county boards, which, he said, if they had a mission had fulfilled it and at any rate had outlived their usefulness.

The county boards, which consist of three members in each county, assumed office May 1, 1906, and cost the state $53,956.89 that year, $88,719.81 up to the close of Oct. 31, 1907, and will cost $92,000 up to the close of October this year. While the governor held out the appointment of the twenty-one members whose terms expired this year until the last day of the session, he could not persuade the legislature to abolish the boards.

Appraisal of Railroads.

As for the railroad property assessments, the governor said no inventory of expert appraisement of that property had been made since 1884, and he asked for authority to appoint two capable experts to make such appraisement for the benefit of the state board of assessors, the legislature and the people. That was as far as the recommendations went. The railroads did not want the county boards abolished or their property appraised or interviewed by experts. They prefer the present system.

Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn of Jersey City said he was amazed at the finding of the state board and at a loss to even surmise how the board concluded that $74,000,000 represented the value of all the "second class" railroad property in the state in the year 1907 when that class of property in Jersey City alone was assessed at $78,000,000 the same year.

"In 1906," said the mayor, "the first year this class of property was locally assessed, the value fixed was $47,000,000, which the local assessors considered low, but were unable to increase on account of the limited time existing that year to make the assessment.

"Last year our total was increased to $78,000,000, and now, according to the best information I can obtain, the state board has reduced our total to about $38,000,000, or almost half the total state assessment for the year.

"While that is a reduction of $40,000,000, or more than half our total local appraisement, it indicates that the state board is awakening when you realize that in 1905 it valued all the second class property in the state at only $40,000,000, or $38,000,000 more than they are now willing to admit is located here.

"It is rather discouraging, however, when the labor and money expended by our city in securing maps and data from all over the county in an effort to convince the state board by a presentation of facts that similar property located elsewhere was assessed at from 40 to 50 per cent more than the local figures for second class railroad property last year."

"PATRIOTS" AT THE THROTTLE

Comment on the Men Who Are to Run the Republican State Machine.

From the Newark Evening News, Aug. 15, 1908.]

The chairman of the Republican state committee had success in his assists and in so doing has given the people of New Jersey abundant assurance that the same old reliable reformers will be on the job for another election year. In these trying times, when the effects of machine politics and corrupt political influence threaten to hurt the party by being exposed to every hand, it is essential for the people's welfare that their interests shall be cared for in the coming election only by those who are pillars of political righteousness and promoters of real reforms.

And so they will note, with what degree of satisfaction it would be difficult to estimate, that Dory and Dayy and Dal and Dan are among those filled by Mr. Murphy to hold up his hands, and to these are added Briggs and Kean and Stokes and Wakelee. Baird is chosen, of course, so as to protect the people from paying a larger proportion of taxes than is assessed upon the railroads, and Stokes is selected to explain the genesis and the ingenuity of the Hillery equal tax act. Strong was appointed so that he could keep his pledge to get out of politics, and Wakelee was added for reasons not yet satisfactorily explained. Gardner is on the committee, of course, for his express purpose of breaking up machine politics and enforcing the laws in Atlantic county.

So the people of New Jersey may rest assured that under the guidance of these grand old reformers nothing will be left undone to win at the polls next November and to make clean the politics of the state, enforce the laws and establish reforms at the most convenient time thereafter.

DEFENSE OF "X-SCIENCE"

Vigorous Reply Made to Dr. C. E. Herring's Sermon on Mother Eddy's Religion.

MATTER OF INTERPRETATION.

H. Coulson Fairchild Answers on Behalf of Christian Science Publication Committee in New eDrsey.

In Monday's issue of The Daily Press, an exclusive report of Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring's sermon on "Christian Science" was given extended space. In justice to those who adhere to the doctrines promulcated by Mother Eddy, the following reply received today is given equal prominence:

"Christian Science, Committee on Publication in New Jersey.

"Passaic, N. J., Sept. 26, 1908.

"Editor, The Daily Press:

"In your issue of Sept. 14, we note extracts from a sermon delivered by the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring in which some incorrect statements about Christian Science are presented. May I ask that in the interests of your numerous readers you will kindly permit me space in which to reply.

"While we appreciate the very kind attitude of Dr. Herring in honestly admitting the cures wrought through Christian Science, also his very excellent description of his visit to the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, we must take exception to the erroneous conception which Dr. Herring seems to have regarding the fundamental teachings of Christian Science: and especially his conclusion that the Lord's Prayer and the Bible are distorted by reason of the interpretation placed upon them by Christian Science. these conclusions are absolutely incorrect. Any explanation offered by Mrs. Eddy, in her published works, with regard to the Lord's Prayer, or the Scripture, are made in the same spirit in which any commentator might offer them. In 'Marcs Aurelian, vol. 1, we read, 'A judicious commentator, points out excellences, and unfolds truths, which one had either wholly overlooked or but impartially comprehended,' and this is just what Mrs. Eddy has done in pointing out the truths of primitive. Christianity. Christian Scientists have found that in the practice of Christian healing being held for the Grand Jury. She also stated that in the future she would have a complete typewritten report of every case turned over to her, containing the culprit's pedigree, offense committed and disposition. These are to be left at head quarters, she said, and anyone in the city wishing to see what had been done with a certain boy could do so by simply consulting them. She explained that she is constantly in receipt of inquiries to this effect.

THOUGHT BABY WAS DYING.

So West Second Street Woman Screamed so Loud it Brought a Crowd and a Cop.

Residents and pedestrians in the vicinity of Park avenue and Second street were greatly startled at 10:15 Friday night by a series of piercing screams that emanated from a flat near the corner. They continued for a moment or two and then stopped as abruptly as they began. By that time a crowd had gathered and there were rumors of wife beating burglars and even murder.

Patrolman John Payne was among those attracted by the screaming, and as quick as he could hustle around from Park avenue near Front street, he climbed the stairs to the flat and investigated. This is the report he placed on the blotter at Police headquarters.

"My attention was attracted at 10:15 last night by screams coming from a certain flat on West Second street. I went to the place and was informed by the occupant that his wife had done the screaming and she did it because she thought her baby was dying."

Not Particular.

A new servant girl, calling at the grocery, asked for a pound of tea for her mistress.

"Which will you have?" asked the grocer; "black or green?"

"Shure," replied the girl, "an Oi don't think it do be makin' much difference—th' ould lady is near blind." —Judge.

A Keen Nose.

Grandmother—Why is the baby so happy?

Nurse—Oh, his mother and father are coming.

Grandmother—I don't see them.

Nurse—Nor I, ma'am. But the child's nose is very keen. He smells the automobile, ma'am.—Harper's Weekly.

Three Cheers.

It looks as though the demand for one-butter, gloves would be as fast and furious as was the call for long gloves a year ago, when the famine in them drove womankind to frenzy. It is prescribed by fashion that the edge of the glove may not show through the transparent long sleeve —hence the need of the shortest wrist to be had.

RELIGIOUS THOUGHT.

Gems Gleaned From the Teachings of All Denominations.

Home largely makes us what we are, and the homes we create reveal our ideal of life, what we aspire to be.—Rev. Rush R. Shippen, Unitarian, Atlanta, Ga.

God's Coworker.

I'd rather be a coworker with God in turning a world to righteousness than the mightiest millionaire. The Lord save us from laziness, idleness and ease!—Gypsy Smith, English Evangelist.

God's Way.

God's way in nature, God's way in history, is God's way for each of us in our own life. Let us grasp the serpent, that it may become a rod.—Rev. Dr. Charles F. Aked, Baptist, New York.

Most Sublime Truths.

The loftiest truths, the most sublime of all that engage human thought, are those that have God for their subject and the things of God for continued contemplation.—Rev. Dr. B. K. Spahr, Methodist, Allegheny, Pa.

C's to Avoid.

Four C's we ought to avoid—criticise, condemn, crucify and then canonize. Speak to the ear while it can hear. Make living hearts beat faster with your kind word. Show gratitude while the benefactor lives.—Rev. W. C. Bitting, Baptist, St. Louis.

A Choice Blessing.

A happy marriage and a happy home are among the choicest of God's blessings on this earth, and he who regards the eternal and divine law of helpful companionship between one man and one woman will possess it.—Rev. Dr. Robert A. Kent, Congregationalist, Brooklyn.

A Denotor of Character.

Amusement very often determines the full character of the individual, and just as a person can be judged by the companions with whom she associates, in like manner her character can be ascertained from the recreations.—Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters, Baptist, New York.

Failures.

Earthly failure should never discon cert or daunt a man who believes in the life everlasting. Failures are a prophecy of success yet to come. Failing short of one's highest aspirations is evidence that there is another world.—Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, Congregationalist, New York.

To Be Happy.

Remember three things: That in order to please others we can't live in strife. In order to be happy we must let love prevail. In order to prosper we must lay aside all prejudice and know no envy toward any human being.—Rev. Nelson M. Mayall, Free Will Baptist, Fishing Creek, Pa.

Moral Necessity.

This is a thoughtful age. Men are brainy. All about us there is a passion for new ideas. But our most urgent necessity is not of idea, but of power. What we need most of all is not schooling, but baptism, and that is to come through Christ.—Rev. R. A. McFadden, Presbyterian, Danvers, Mass.

Capital For Life's Work.

God has placed within our reach all that is necessary to insure each of us against failure in life's work. There is no lack of capital for the one who is determined to succeed. The capital is found in what is below, around, within and above us.—Rev. A. H. Herries, Presbyterian, Union City, Pa.

Aid For Sufferers.

Jesus Christ is the one whence cometh our help for the perfection of our physical and spiritual disabilities, and the salve of all our needs of whatsoever sort they may be. He who suffers and refuses to apply where aid can be had deserves to suffer, but he who comes to the fountain of supply has the promise, God shall supply all your needs.—Rev. W. S. Bertolet, Lutheran, Philadelphia.

How a Nation Progresses.

Our country rises or falls as we fulfill our duties as citizens or as we neglect them. And if history teaches us anything it teaches us that a nation lives and progresses as it is energized by moral and spiritual forces. Faith and hope and love must lie as the foundation for any superstructure of life, be it individual or national, and in our national life especially, unless we as individuals can in intelligence hold these fundamentals, the nation cannot live.—Rev. Dr. Robert Ogilvie Kirkwood, Presbyterian, Cincinnati.

To Have Cheer.

Have God and you shall have cheer. This is adequate. Nothing can undo that. Nothing can subvert that. Nothing can fluster that. Nothing can blister that. Nothing can wreck that ship. What have you? "It is I; be of good cheer." I think it divinely desirable to be cheerful. I think it divinely desirable to be have the glad heart. I think it divinely desirable to have the glad Christ. Now, that is the Jesus recipe for cheerfulness—to have the cheer.—Rev. William A. Quayle, Methodist, Chicago.

For Practical Service.

The church is beginning to wake up to the fact that it should not work to save itself, but to save society. In the best sense of the word the minister is a promoter. The church is not a club for the discussion of spiritual subjects, with the minister as the lecturer. There is a tremendous movement along a better and more helpful line than that of lecturing on theological subjects. The church is organizing for practical service. The church should not be concerned with legal or political reforms excepting indirectly. Its duty is to educate the conscience of the people. The work of bringing about social, political and economic reforms does not belong to the church, but to the church members.—Dean Shaffer Mathews, Evangelical, Chicago.

SOMERSET'S VALUATIONS

County Board Announces Taxing Rates for Boroughs and Townships.

TOTAL VALUES ARE $229,220,54.

North Plainfield Rate, $1.85, Highest in the County, While Millstone's Is Lowest.

The Somerset County Board of Taxation has concluded its work of determining the personal and real valuation of property in the various towns, townships and boroughs throughout the county and have made public the abstract of ratables for the year 1908. The total valuation taxable in the county is $270,220.54, and the county tax rate is 54 cents on the $100. Last year it was 66, making a drop of 12 points.

The figures for North Plainfield borough are as follows: Number of acres, 1,275; value of land without improvements, $1,556,350; value of improvements, $2,405,250; total valuation of real estate, $3,961,600; value of personal estate, $542,200; deductions for debt, other than exempted indebtedness, $21,100; net valuation taxable, $4,482,700; valuation as equalized by county board, $4,482,700; number of polls assessed, 1,258; State school tax, $8,164.53; county tax, $24,206.58; local tax, $44,000; tax rate, $1.88 per $100 valuation. Last year the rate was $2.58, making a reduction of 70 cents.

Last year the net valuation taxable in the county was $22,929,381, which makes an increase of over four millions this year.

The official figures as announced by the county board are as follows:

District.	Valuation.	Rate.
Bedminister	$1,740,388	$1.26
Bernards	4,148,275	1.63
Branchburg	796,575	1.22
Bridgewater	6,723,807	1.52
Bound Brook Bor.	2,132,947	1.80
Franklin	2,189,223	1.00
Hillsborough	2,049,581	1.15
Montgomery	956,609	1.06
Millstone Borough	93,337	1.00
North Plainfield	4,485,700	2.04
No. Plainfield Bor.	4,482,700	1.88
Rocky Hill Borough	233,847	1.41
S. Bound Brook Bor	531,552	1.60
Warren	478,000	1.60

MISS LOCK THE BRIDE OF AN ENGLISHMAN

Miss Evelyn Grace Lock daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lock, of West Second street, and Arthur Nelson Walker, son of James Walker, of Forest Hill, London, Eng., were quietly married at 6:45 Wednesday night, at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony, an impressive one, was performed by City Judge William H. Runyon, in the presence of about eighty guests.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edith Muriel Lock, while Charles Markham, of London, Eng., was the best man. Those who witnessed the ceremony are identified with the meeting which is held on the second street, Madison avenue, and the bride and groom were commended to the care and keeping of God, according to the usual custom of the religious body whose only name is Christian.

The bride was the recipient of a large collection of handsome gifts from relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Walker left later in the evening on a honeymoon trip to Canada. Upon their return they will reside at Dover, Sussex county, for the present. The bride is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, class '02. Mr. Walker is engaged in business in New York as an accountant.

"BOBBY" LEACH ISSUES A DEATH RACE CHALLENGE.

"Bobby" Leach, of Chippewa, Ontario, who formerly conducted a lunch wagon on East Second street, yesterday issued a challenge to "any person of nerve" to go over the Horseshoe Falls at Niagara in a barrel. If Leach cannot find anyone to take the death race with him, he declares he will go over alone as soon as he can find some one to take the barrel over in a $500 wager. Several persons have gone over the falls in barrels, but the only one who lived is Mrs. Anna Edson Taylor, who is now selling souvenirs at Niagara Falls.

While Leach was in this city he claimed so have gone over the falls in a birch canoe which he exhibited on the front porch of the Iroquois hotel. Several weeks ago he made a parachute leap from the upper arch bridge over the Niagara in order to win a $500 bet.

Plainfield Ministers to Meet.

The first fall meeting of the Plainfield Ministers' Association will be held in the parish house of Grace church, on Thursday, October 15, and Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, who has charge of the program, will present something of unusual interest.

ARE LEARNING TO DRINK MILK.

Only Lately Have the Japanese Even Tolerated the Beverage.

Japan is learning to drink milk. A Japanese newspaper says of the phenomenon: "There was a time when milk was regarded in Japan with the same abhorrence as cheese is in China, especially the pungent and strong-smelling variety. Recent statistics, however, show that time has worked a great change in this respect and milk and butter are now in great favor in Japan. Whereas 25 years ago not more than one or two per cent. of the persons visiting a European restaurant or eating a European meal at a friend's house would have thought of touching butter, fully 40 or 50 per cent. now eat it with a relish. They are, however, quite content to do without it.

"As to dairy farms, they have increased notably in recent years. Thirty or 40 years ago milk was abhorred. The average Japanese could not induce himself to drink it. But to-day many a household consumes one or two bottles of milk daily, partly because people have come to like it and partly because the doctors have recommended it as a unique and wholesome beverage.

"'Milk halls,' too, are now quite numerous. Butter will probably take much longer to come widely into vogue, because of its inferiority. A pound of fresh butter costs at least one yen (49.8 cents gold) in Tokyo today, an extremely high price for Japan."

KEPT UP FIRE OF COMMENTS.

Duke of Cambridge Took Lively Interest in the Sermon.

"The late Dr. William M. Stonehill," said a college settlement worker of New York, "was called the bishop of the Bowery. It was a title of affection. The Bowery loved this good man.

"He sometimes used to laugh over the naivete of his Bowery audiences. He used to say that in their frequent audible comments on his sermons they reminded him of the famous duke of Cambridge—the old duke, you know.

"From his great pew the duke rumbled out all sorts of remarks and criticisms every Sunday morning. It would be, said Dr. Stonehill, like this:

"'Preacher—'Let us pray.'

"Duke—'By all means.'

"Preacher prays for rain.

"Duke—'No good in that as long as the wind is in the east.'

"Preacher (creading) — 'Zaccheus stood forth and said, "Behold, Lord, one-half of my lands I gave to the poor."'

"Duke—'Too much, too much. Don't mind subscribing, but can't stand that.'

"Preacher quotes another commandment, which need not be indicated.

"Duke—'No, no! It was my brother Ernest did that.'"

Snake Opal Lucky.

A "snake opal" must be an invaluable possession. It is the "lucky stone" of the Mojave Indians, who say it frightens away bad luck. The stone is not beautiful, but might appeal to those who like a talisman that is "different." It is said that the Indians never allow these stones to leave the tribe if they can help it, and will not part with one for any consideration. Tradition has made the stone one of good omen, but that counts for little, as tradition is generally hooted at in the present day, and wherever it raises its head other stones than snake opals are shied at it. Perhaps some superstitious bridge player, however, will try to get hold of a snake opal and try its efficacy.

Eels and the Searchlight.

Danish investigators have found a means of checking the downward migration of breeding eels to the sea, whereby it is hoped that a valuable food supply may be saved for the country. When these migrating eels, when they have once reached the sea never return to their native rivers. The method is simplicity itself. A large acetylene searchlight is placed by the river bank in such a position that its rays can be made to illuminate the comparatively shallow water and it is found that by this means the downward movement of the fish can be effectively checked.

A Very Odd Clock.

An extraordinary addition has been made to the exhibition of inventions now being held in Berlin. A shoemaker named Wegner, living in Strasburg, has sent in a clock of the grandfather shape, nearly six feet high, made entirely of straw. The wheels, pointers, case and every detail are exclusively of straw. Wegner has taken 18 years to construct this strange piece of mechanism. It keeps perfect time, but under the most favorable circumstances cannot last longer than two years.

Good for the Nerves.

"John," said Mrs. Stubb, proudly, when her husband returned that evening, "here is a parrot I bought from a Brazilian sailor. Isn't it a good parrot?"

"No," snapped Mr. Stubb, in anticipation of interrupted slumbers, "that is not a good parrot."

"Not a good parrot? Why, John, what do you call a good parrot?"

"Why, a dead parrot, Maria."

LAPLAND HAS MANY RESOURCES.

Recent Efforts to Develop Them Are Full of Promise.

Within a recent period efforts have been made to develop the natural resources of Lapland, which there seems to be a considerable economic future in store for this region, which is especially due to the large deposits of iron ore. A great step was the building of the trans-Lapland railroad, which was finished in 1904. With the annex lines which are building it will soon put Lapland in connection with Tornea, in Finland, with St. Petersburg and with the eastern region. The Stockholm-Narvik railroad line, which runs north and south, has a length of 950 miles. The trans-Swedish east-west line starts from Lulea, a Swedish Lapland port on the Gulf of Bothnia, and ends at the Norwegian port of Narvik (299 miles), passing by the mines of Gellivara and Kiruna. These latter mines, which have been worked only since 1902, were known as long back as 1735. The ore is taken out from the surface in an open digging. Each day there are six trains of 23 cars of 10 tons each to Narvik. The annual product of the mine is 1,400,000 tons. The town of Kiruna, with its attractive frame houses, has only four years' existence. M. Parmentier, secretary of the St. Quentin Geological society, recently made an interesting report on Lapland, in which he showed that Lapland, now connected with the international railroad systems, will open a field for immigrants, who can find remunerative work there.—Scientific American.

BENEFIT IN CHICKEN RAISING.

Leads to Development of Brotherly Love, According to Writer.

"If you want to give me real pleasure," said the genial man, "just set me down among a group of amateur chicken raisers. Their conversation is a study in brotherly love. More than any other set of people they are willing, even anxious, to help each other. Professional men and men engaged in the trades do not, when talking together, sound the note of mutual helpfulness. Each man keeps his secrets of success to himself. Now and then one may drop a hint that may by chance prove valuable to his hearer, but he doesn't mean to do even that, because the rule is for each to work out his own salvation.

"Amateur chicken raisers, on the other hand, are inspiring examples of altruism. When one discovers a new cure for the pip he hastens to spread the information among his friends and neighbors who are also wrestling with the pip proposition. If another man hits upon a new idea in feeding or hatching he never rests till he gives his brother chicken raisers a chance to profit by his discovery. Commuters who live in a chicken raising community exhibit a friendliness of spirit that is foreign to commuters from chickenless neighborhoods. They have their incubators, the relative value of different breeds of fowls, and the possibility of premiums at the next county fair to talk about, and so cultivate a spirit of kindly courtesy unknown to persons engaged in other pursuits."

Like Some Men.

Mrs. Belle De Rivera, president of the Equal Suffrage League of New York, said, at a recent dinner:

"We'd have had the suffrage, we have long ago, were it not that, where women are concerned, men are inclined to be a little unfair, a little churlish.

"Their treatment of women is on a par with old Hiram Doolittle's treatment of his wife. He made her keep a cash account, and he would go over it every night, growing and grumbling like this:

"'Look here, Hannah—mustard plasters, 50 cents; three teeth extracted, two dollars. There's $2.50 in one day spent for your own private pleasure. Do you think I'm made of money?'"

The Flea a Dangerous Enemy.

The principal indictment against the flea is that it is the partner of the rat in the propagation of the bubonic plague, and is, indeed, the more guilty of the two. It is perfectly well established that the bubonic plague exists in rats of a certain breed. These rats are infested with fleas which by their biting transfer the disease germs to other rats. When the rats die the fleas desert their bodies for other rats or for human beings. So fleas are the essential factors in conveying the plague virus to men, and it is possible that they convey it from one man to another, from a plague patient to a healthy man, without the co-operation of rats at all.

Got the Benefit.

"Oh, yes, Skinner was a beneficiary under old Roxley's will."

"I didn't know he was a relative of Roxley's."

"He wasn't, but he was attorney for a relative."

A Question of Nerve.

"Does it require much nerve to ask a woman to marry you?" inquired the inquisitive youth.

"Not half as much as asking for a raise in salary," was the prompt reply."—Detroit Free Press.

No Liking Apparent.

"Your wife likes the last word, doesn't she?"

"I don't think so," answered Mr. Meekton. "Anyway, she's mighty reluctant about reaching it."

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Blair Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary of Marriage.

SURROUNDED BY CHILDREN

Handsome Gifts Showered on Happy Couple Who Have Resided Here Forty Years.

Surrounded by a company of about seventy people, including the immediate family, relatives and near friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Blair, of East Second street, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding Wednesday. While the affair was a simple and informal one, there were many features that combined to make it one of great enjoyment to the guests.

The home was appropriately decorated for the occasion with autumnal foliage and beautiful flowers, the arrangement in the parlor and dining room being especially attractive. During the evening there was an informal program of music which added to the enjoyment of those present.

The bride and groom, besides being showered with congratulations, were the recipients of beautiful gifts, including cut-glass and gold, while Mrs. Blair was presented with a large number of cut flowers. A noteworthy feature of the various presentations was the gift by the children to Mrs. Blair of a handsome ring, it being a cluster of tinyelists, surrounded by diamonds. Mr. Blair received a gold headed cane, suitably inscribed, also from his children.

Following congratulations and the rendition of musical numbers, refreshments were served, and when the guests departed they left their best wishes that Mr. and Mrs. Blair might live to enjoy many years of happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair have been residents of Plainfield about forty years. The former was born in Ireland and the latter in Scotland. They came to this country as young people, and were married fifty years ago in Jersey City, where they lived for several years. They then moved to Greenbrook, where they lived a few years on what is known as the Craig farm. It was about forty years ago that they moved to this city, where they have continued to reside and enjoy the respect and esteem of a large circle of friends and acquaintances. Although well advanced in years, both have excellent health. There are five children—James R. Blair, Adam C. Blair, Mrs. A. W. Anderson, Mrs. D. C. Bolce and Dr. Thomas D. Blair, all of this city.

FANWOOD COUNCIL TO SURRENDER CHARTER

Fanwood Council, No. 744, Royal Arcanum, after an existence of a quarter of a century, has decided to surrender its charge to the Supreme Council of the order and disband. The decision was reached at the semi-monthly meeting Tuesday night, and a committee of five was appointed to arrange the details of winding up the affairs of the Council, at the next meeting to be held October 12. The committee will disband when reached after a careful review of conditions as they exist at present. The Council has a membership of nearly eighty and at the time of the change of rates was highly prosperous, there being 116 members on the roll. Many of these were new members and with the change they dropped out, while others allowed themselves to be suspended. Owing to the lack of interest it has been impossible to get a quorum out for the regular meeting. The committee will notify every member so as to give them time to apply for withdrawal cards, if they desire.

It is said that a majority of the members will continue in the order, intending to join other Councils in this vicinity. Fanwood Council, of "The Little Giant" as it was nicknamed by the Grand Council officers, was instituted in March, 1883, and until the rates were increased was considered one of the best in the State.

Newspaper Changes.

Allan Randall, who has been city editor of The Elizabeth Journal for several months, severed his connection with that newspaper today, to become business manager of the Brockton, Mass., Times. He will be succeeded by Hugh Lynch, who has been city editor of the Allentown (Pa.), Times. Other changes are about to be made on the reportorial staff by the addition of two new men. The staff will then have eight men to cover the city's news.

Pyatt—Brady.

J. M. B. Pyatt, of Dunellen, and Miss Laura Brady, of this city, were married Thursday night by the Rev. N. N. Merritt, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist church, Rahway, at the residence of Henry S. Barnes, 35 Esterbrook avenue, following which Mr. and Mrs. Pyatt left on a Southern wedding tour. On their return they will reside in Dunellen.

The Costitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY

Published a-

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1908.

MR. FOWLER'S FRIEND.

In an outburst of enthusiasm over the defeat of John M. Mills for the Republican nomination for county clerk in Morris, the Newark Evening News announces the political death of "Uncle Dan" Voorhees, for years 'the master of all he surveys' in his little political world. "The defeat of Mills," it declares, "marks the overthrow of bossism in another county," it adds. If it were true but like many other political obituaries published by the News in the last few years, as Mark Twain would say, the report is "exaggerated." Unfortunately too many of "Uncle Dan's" stripes have resurrected themselves in a surprisingly quick fashion.

Mr. Voorhees has but recently shown that the power is not confined to his own county. He made sure the nomination next Tuesday of Charles N. Fowler for congress when he declared Morris county elected the Union county office-seeker and he "guessed it could do so again." At that time he was aware of the pronounced opposition among the rank and file of the Republicans in Union to a second term for a man who went down in defeat not only in his county but in his own city, both of which returned a majority for all other candidates. And this was all the more pronounced when it is con*sidered that Mr. Fowler's opponent* was a radical of the radicals among the Bryan Democrats.

The Fifth district returns two years ago showed plainly the opinion of the voters so far as Mr. Fowler is concerned. Just as "Uncle Dan" claims, Morris county came to the rescue and elected the weakling by an ignominious defeat. And in a district normally Republican by 5,000, Mr. Fowler was returned to Washington with approximately 500 plurality over James E. Martine.

Mr. Fowler is to be renominated although astute Republican leaders admit that the candidate will hurt the ticket. This fact was brought to bear on "Uncle Dan" but he turned a deaf ear to all entreaties to have Morris county name one of its own many brilliant sons who would receive the support of Union. "Morris county elected Fowler before and I guess it can do it again," was his ultimatim, and "Uncle Dan" the legate of Morris county insisted on coming into Union and picking the candidate against the protests of leading Republicans in Union who feared for the success of the ticket with the marble man as a candidate.

Union county had other sons just as worthy of Mr. Fowler who would have been far more acceptable. Former Alexander Gilbert, president of the New York Clearing House, and one of the ablest men in this section of the State, was chief among these. But so long as Mr. Fowler persisted in his candidacy and so long as "Uncle Dan" insisted on his nomination, the Plainfielder could not be induced to allow his name to be used. The upshot of the matter was that Mr. Gilbert declined to become a candidate so long as Mr. Fowler was in the field and everyone knows Mr. Fowler never had the slightest thought of giving way to another.

All this is merely recited just to show that the News is quite mistaken when it announces that "one more boss is gone."

In honoring that splendid citizen, Alexander Gilbert, with the position of Presidential elector, the district has honored itself most fittingly. It is easily one of the most brilliant men in New Jersey and it is a matter of deep and sincere regret that he could not have been induced to allow his name to be used as a candidate for Congress. Had he done so there would be no question about the result at the Republican convention at Phillipsburg next Monday.

Laying a Concrete Sidewalk.

A substantial concrete sidewalk is being laid in front of the residence of F. S. Woodruff, on Duer street, and also in the door-yard leading to the front and side veranda, which, when completed, will add to the attractiveness of the house.

Dr. Probasco an Usher.

Dr. Norman H. Probasco, of this city, was one of the ushers at the wedding of Miss Estelle Eugenia Anderson, and Edward Richard Perkins, which took place in the Munn Avenue Presbyterian church, Wednesday night, September 23. It was a brilliant social function and was attended by a large number of guests. The groom is a vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Voorhees to Make Accounting.

Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, receiver, has given notice to the creditors of the Republic Savings and Loan Association, to the number of 2,400, that he has filed his final accounting in the Chancery Court.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Hippodrome's bill for the season is colossal. Not in its history has it ever made such big productions and employed so many players and performers. The Hippodrome opens this year with an entirely new performance and one abounding in more sensations, stupendous spectacles and marvels and novelties than have ever crowded its always wonderful program. The performance this year will be divided into fifteen great scenes of wondrous beauty and remarkable realism. Nearly a thousand people and 100 horses will be employed. The circus features will include a dozen European sensations never seen in an American arena. "Sporting Days" is the title of the first series of spectacles which will show in its varying scenes a baseball game of real players in progress, the arrival of the circus and the pitching of the tent in full view of the audience; then an exciting boat race in which rowers in 12 oared shells will contest and this changing to the paddock at Saratoga in which 10 fine thoroughbreds will be seen finally dashing into a thrilling race on a course built on the Hippodrome's big stage. Excelling in beauty and the gorgeousness of its costuming, will be this season's ballet which will be "The Land of Birds," in which the wonderful dancing organization of the Hippodrome will appear as feathered songsters showing in variihued and richly colored pluming a representation of the birds of the world. The management has also in full plant in preparation for six months, the uniforms and costumes all having been made in Paris.

"The Battle of the Skies" will follow. The big stage of the Hippodrome will appear as a city at night, war has been declared and it is a conflict between armed forces in airships. Aeroplanes, flying machines, airships and every variety of aerial armed devices will be seen in battle. The city will be destroyed and a great tidal wave will rush over the ruins giving an impressive view, gigantic in its area, of the ocean scene. These will be the largest effects ever shown at the Hippodrome. The last scene will be the Golden Garden, resplendent with gaily costumed figures and set off by myriads of fountains. The great tanks will be disclosed in this scene and for the closing feature this year the big hill, Messrs. Shubert and Anderson promise a series of surprises even more mystifying than those of "Neptune's Daughter." Two performances daily at the Hippodrome.

Expert theatrical analysts have been overworking their respective accumulations of grey matter as to what constitutes the attraction in the new Tarkington-Wilson play, "The Man From Home," now at the Astor Theatre. So far no definite decision *has been reached, for it seems in*comprehensible to the wiseacres that a comedy drama could have reached 242 consecutive performances in Chicago, and then in New York showing no signs for any cessation. But these gentlemen who have the theatrical business at their finger's ends may have overlooked one of the most prominent features of the play —the one thing that stands out above everything else; far beyond the brilliant dialogue, the immeasurably beyond the excellent situations and a long way over the remarkable Italian atmosphere. This thing is the American spirit that pervades the play from the rise of the first curtain until the fall of the last. The spirit that was beginning to burn savagely about 1776, and reached its culmination two years later; the spirit that flamed fiercely once more in 1812, and burst once more into living fire in 1863, to be followed by another eruption in 1898, and is now waiting for an opportunity to show what it is if the occasion should arise.

James Forbes' new comedy, "The Traveling Salesman," is having a big run at the Gaiety Theatre under the direction of H. B. Harris. The New York telegraph says "in the language of the traveling salesman himself, James Forbes has put another one over. The new play is right in the class with 'The Chorus Lady,' and at the head of the class, an attractive comedy. Only the longest stay will satisfy the New Yorkers who will want to see the piece. It is a rollicking, lively clean entertainment, with rival to the Chorus Lady's longevity." "Mr. Forbes is congratulated indeed for 'The Traveling Salesman' is here to stay for some time to come," is what the New York Commercial thinks of the new piece. While the Journal of Commerce believes that "The Traveling Salesman' is sure to sell his socks and without the least possible doubt the new James Forbes comedy will prove in general popularity a second 'Chorus Lady.'"

Great shows are the order of the day at Proctor's Park place theatre, Newark. Last week's was above par. The bill this week comprises the acts of Robert Hilliard and company, the Six Musical Cuttys, the Mierkoff Sextette, the Brothers Ahearn and Astley, Ward and Curran, Barry and Walvorey, The Flying Martens, Burt and Bertha Grant, and needs no comment on its merits. Next week is headed by a new recruit from the legitimate, a star of great magnitude in the person of Miss Virginia Harned, who appeared recently in "The Love Story," and "Anna Karanina." Miss Harned will make her vaudeville debut in Newark in a brand new sketch written expressly for her and will be supported by a capable company. Hilda Carle and her twelve Military Maids acknowledged to be one of the best show girl acts in vaudeville, will add much to the entertainment. Al Carleson, "The Skinny Guy" will be there with a lot of new and funny jokes. Chassino the fellow who makes the funny shadowgraphs, Scaley and Edwards with a comedy musical turn, Josephine Davis, the charming singer, Hamilton and Smith colored comedians, and Dolly and Dummy in fast gymnastics, will also gain your favor by clever work. A new series of motion pictures will round out this truly great bill.

LITERARY

The public is expressing more interest in aeroplane flight than in anything else just at present. The October Metropolitan Magazine opens with an important article on "The Aeroplane and its Future," by Henry Ferman, the celebrated French aviator who has held so many records. Speaking of that, Mr. Ferman says on this subject is naturally of vital importance. The same number has the beginning of a two-part story, "Saint Luke's Summer," by Mary Cholmondeley.

The timely note of the October Century is struck by the Hon. Seth Low's article on "The Writ of Injunction as a Party Issue," an interesting comparison of the Republican and Democratic platforms in their treatment of the labor question. The discussion has the value of coming from a man familiar with the point of view of organized labor and in sympathy with its best purposes, while remaining sufficiently independent to form his own opinion. A biographical feature of more than usual interest and importance is an appreciation of "Lombroso, Prophet and Criminologist," by Guglielmo Ferrero, who is soon coming to America to lecture and be a guest at the White House.

In the October American Magazine Professor Thomas, of Chicago University, begins his series of articles on women. In his first article, which is entitled "The Adaptable Character of Woman," he discusses woman as an ornament, woman asan equal, man the master, how women infatuates man, the use of finery to attract the other sex, how woman makes a fool of a man, the adventuress, the morals of the unattached woman, the girl who must earn her own living.

October marks the real beginning of the fall campaign in Magazinedom and calls forth the strongest efforts of publishers and editors. Lippincott's responds by bringing out an especially good number for October. The complete novel is of an unusual type, with Hawaii as a background. The writer, Jessie Kaufman, lived for some time on this "Paradise of the Pacific," and she gives us a most realistic picture of life there.

"Success Magazine" for October contains a significant political article by Henry Beach Needham, entitled "Why the President is for Taft," in which he shows that Mr. Roosevelt gives his own reasons for wishing Taft to be his successor. In the same number Alexander Irvine tells of a social experiment in a New York Fifth Avenue church. Walter Wyckoff describes "The Extraordinary Street Cars of New York," and Charlotte Perkins Gilman discourses upon "The woman of Fifty."

In the Strand Magazine for October appears the first of a very pleasing series of articles, profusely illustrated, entitled "English Homes and Gardens," describing and illustrating the most famous of the beautiful estates in that land of beautiful homes and gardens. These articles will be of particular interest to all who take pleasure in the beautifying of their homes.

The October number of Scribner's Magazine contains a number of articles of life and adventure in the open air appropriate to the hunting and camping season. The frontispiece, in color, is after a drawing by N. C. Wyeth, picturing a Navajo fur trader. Stewart Edward White and Van Dyke has a most charming description of outdoor travel by caravan in the Holy Land, entitled "A Journey to Jerash," which is the site of the old city of Gerasa, described by an archeologist as "the most satisfactory ruin that I have ever seen."

An important article in the October Woman's Home Companion is entitled "Seeking Shelter in New York." "Five dollars in my purse, a few plain clothes in my bag, an ordinary school education behind me and New York, with its boundless opportunities, ahead of me," that is the beginning of the adventures in New York of Lucy Green. They are real adventures of a real girl, who tells her story to readers of the Companion.

Eugene Debs is the price of the Socialist party; he is its nominee for President. He is a man with a definite idea that is the attitude in America, and what to do about it. Lincoln Steffens has interviewed Debs, and put the same questions to him that he put to Taft and Bryan and Roosevelt and Johnson. The answers, which appear in the October Everybody's, are candid, straightforward, enlightening.

The Popular Science Monthly for October contains the following articles: "The Spollation of the Falls of Niagara," by Dr. J. H. Spencer; "The Industries of Niagara Falls," by Raymond H. Arnot; "The Classification of Mathematics," by Professor G. A. Miller; "Academic Aspects of Administration," by Professor Joseph Jastrow; "The Specialist Blight on American Education," by James P. Munroe.

Quite the most startling article offered by any of the current magazines is the one contributed to the October Red Book Magazine by Charles Edward Russell, who, under the general title "Billions for Bad Blue Blood,' takes a fling at the titled foreigners who seek marriage with our American girls. Another contribution to the same issue is "The Gibson Girl and The Ibsen Girl."

The East Side of New York, with all its poverty and suffering, possesses a remarkable intellectual life, *says Mabel Agnes Lorenz in the Oc*tober Smart Set. In the cafes and tea rooms of this section may be found the exiled brain and spirit of the whole Slav world, influencing silently but effectively tremendous changes in the political life of South ern Europe. In "Where Exiled Russia Eats," Miss Lorenz draws an attractive picture of a phase of life in the metropolis known to but few outside of its little purlieus.

RESULTS IN CHALLENGE TROPHY COMPETITION

The play for the challenge trophies at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, resulted in two very close matches, especially the one between C. B. Morse and L. R. Thurlow for trophy number three. Mr. Morse won out on the eighteenth hole, by 1 up, after being five down earlier in the game. The play for the challenge trophies resulted as follows:

For trophy number one, E. E. Gano, challenger, defeated W. R. Faber, holder, by 2 up and 1 to play; for trophy number three, C. B. Morse, holder, defeated L. R. Thurlow, challenger, 1 up; for trophy number five, Dr. A. W. Anderson, holder, defeated R. V. Carpenter, challenger, by default.

The matches for Saturday will be as follows: For the Hydewood Park cup, W. C. McNaughton, challenged by E. E. Gano; for trophy number two, W. R. Faber challenged by C. B. Morse; for trophy number four, L. R. Thurlow challenged by Dr. A. W. Anderson.

These scores were posted for the President's and Golf Club cups:

Dr. A. W. Anderson, 95, 9-84; Dr. H. R. Carroll, 92, 5-87; C. B. Morse, 102, 13-89; E. E. Gano, 95, 6-89; J. B. Betts, 112, 23-90; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 97, 7-90; W. V. Byard, 103, 10-93; Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux, 106, 11-95; Rev. F. H. Howard, 118, 20-98; L. R. Thurlow, 103, 4-99; W. C. McNaughton, 116, 3-107.

HOLY CROSS CLUB FORMS TWO FOOTBALL SQUADS.

The Holy Cross Church Club met Saturday night and received reports from the special committee regarding the football squads. There will be two teams, the first averaging in weight about 141 pounds and the second team averaging in weight about 110. At present there are about fifteen candidates for the first team and fourteen applications have been received for the second squad. Ira Vail, as manager of the first squad has thus far scheduled three games, two with the Bound Brook High School, the first to be played on Cricket Field, Saturday afternoon, October 24, at 2:30 o'clock. The other game scheduled is with the Waldrons, of East Orange, to be played here on Election Day afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Other games are being scheduled with the Plainfield High School and the North Plainfield High School. Teams averaging the weights of the local teams are requested to communicate with the managers. The squads are out for practice two nights a week on the Cricket Field, and under the direction of Coach Frank Emmons, a speedy eleven will be organized.

Louis Rhodier Improving.

Louis Rhodier, the young man who fell out of a chestnut tree on Saturday, breaking both legs and an arm, was reported at the hospital today as improving. His chances for recovery are excellent.

LOCAL OPTION PROGRESS REHEARSED BY BURKE

That local option has many champions in Plainfield is shown by the reception given J. Frank Burke the State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church Sunday, where he thrilled a large congregation as he rehearsed the progress of the temperance movement in this and other States. He paid particular attention to the time worn argument that there has been drunkenness since the time of Noah and will be until the end of time.

There were few if any total abstainers a hundred years ago, said Mr. Burke, who told how common the use of liquor was then among even the ministry. Today total abstainers are demanded in corporations and government. Today, one half of the population of this country be declared free in total abstinance territory and this was accomplished by agitation. There is at present a strong wave of popular disapproval of saloons in all but six states. In New Jersey, a saloon may get a license if he has but twelve signers to his petition.

NEWARK MANAGER AFTER "CLIF" RANDOLPH.

Clifford Randolph, who has been pitching such fine ball for the Clinton Avenues for the past two years, has received a contract from Manager Stallings, of the Newark Eastern League Club, and although he has not made up his mind whether to sign it or not, the chances are strongly in favor of his doing so. He will be in no particular hurry in fixing his signature as there is plenty of time. If he decides to join the Newarks next spring he will be given a thorough tryout and every opportunity to make good.

By many fans Randolph is conceded to be the best local twirler in Plainfield and his fine work in the box has clearly demonstrated this. He has won a majority of his games, and he has faced some of its best teams in the league. It is said he has been the opinion that Randolph would not remain with the Clinton Avenues longer than this season. He promised to do that, but would not give any decision beyond that time. If properly handled he should have no trouble in signing an Eastern League company and his friends here expect that he will land a good berth.

STUMPED.

I've matched her silks, I've bought her waists
And hosiery and things like that;
She says I have such splendid taste,
Why, I have even bought her hat.
Embarrassed I have never been
While shopping since our happy marriage;
But I've no nerve to enter in
A dicker for a baby carriage.

I've quibbled with a female clerk
About the price of corsets, and
I've looked upon it as my work—
I've always been composed and bland.
The purchasing of women's hose,
Is not a task one should disparage;
But what a nerve he has who goes
Right in to buy a baby carriage.

I'm stumped at last, I must admit,
And I'm plainly ill at ease;
My placid cheeks are flushed a bit,
And I'm shaky at the knees.
I'm flustered now and certain quite
That I am minus my gift of gab.
Oh! this will be my greatest fright
To dicker for a baby carriage.

—Detroit Free Press.

PLAINFIELD SOCCER TEAM DEFEATS METUCHEN 2 TO 1.

The Plainfield Soccer Club played the Metuchen F. C., Saturday afternoon on the South Second street grounds. Two forty minute halves were played. In the first half neither side scored, but in the second the Plainfield eleven scored two goals to Metuchen's one. S. Sutton, the outside left, scored the first, and B. Englinton, the outside right, the second. Both teams put up a good game, and the result was in doubt until the end of the match. The Plainfield team lined up as follows: Goal, A. Stevenson; fullbacks, F. Craig, L. Gould; halfbacks, J. Craig, G. McComb, S. Turner; forwards, J. Jamieson, S. Sutton, W. Nixon, B. Eglinton, S. McNiece. A. Cowley was the referee and F. Cross the linesman.

ENDEAVORERS' PROGRAM.

(Continued from page 1.)

adelphia.

10:15—Address—Speaker to be announced.

10:45—Evangelistic department, Rev. Abram Duryee.

11:15 to 12—Question box—"Our Problems," led by State president.

2 p. m.—Devotional.

2:15—"Junior and Intermediate Work," by Mrs. L. Ida Dukes.

2:45—Junior methods—"How?"

3:30—Junior exercises.

4:15—Junior address—by Rev. T. Pockman, D. D., of New Brunswick.

5—Announcements.

7:30—Devotional.

7:45—Presentation of banners.

Reports of committees: Auditing, resolutions and nominating.

Induction of new officers.

8:30—Address, by William Shaw, general secretary of United Society of Christian Endeavor, Boston, Mass.

9:10—Roll call and consecration service, by State president.

Adjournment.

It is expected that a new president and a new secretary will be elected though strong efforts is being made to persuade the present officers to continue. John T. Sproull, of Allington, has been president for five years, during which time he has done excellent service for Christ and the church," in New Jersey. In these five years he has traveled 15,000 miles in the interests of the work, visiting societies and local unions, making addresses and organizing.

Miss Ida B. Stephens, of Hackettstown, has been the efficient secretary of the Union for many years, doing a prodigious amount of work. Hundreds of Christian Endeavorers in New Jersey, many directly attributed, have been greatly helped by Miss Stephens's consecrated personality and her executive ability.

That these two leaders have expressed a desire that their names be not presented to the convention at Atlantic City has become known and some of the workers, and much regret is felt. There is a possibility that for the work's sake they will reconsider the matter. The report of the nominating committee, Rev. Adelbert Chapman, of Hackensack, chairman, will be awaited with interest.

The district secretaries' conference with Miss Stephens on Wednesday morning promises to be an important session. The entire morning, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, will be given to it, and A. J Shantle, State Secretary for Pennsylvania, will assist Miss Stephens. Local and county union leaders are invited to meet with the secretaries for this conference.

The meeting on Wednesday evening will be of a distinctly evangelistic character, and the address will be made by William Phillips Hall, of Hall block signal fame, and who is known as the "business man's evangelist." Frank H. Jacobs, the well-known gospel singer, will be present at this service.

Dr. Pockman is anxious that the convention shall be of benefit not only to the visiting delegates but to the churches of Atlantic City as well. It is expected that the attendance will be large.

President Sproull has issued a letter to societies urging attendance upon the convention and making an earnest appeal for individual service and unselfish devotion in the work of the churches this winter.

ATTERBURY JOLTS THEM

(Continued from page 1.)

view as regards their business and the question of Sunday selling.

"As far as one can see there will be in few great cities with which we have to do, places where beer and spirits are publicly sold. The suppression of them by prohibition would probably lead to the formation of clubs which could not be controlled, and which would be more demoralizing than saloons. My own idea is that the true policy of the State is to limit the number of licensed places for the sale of beer and spirits in some proportion to the population—say one to 500—which is, I think, the rule in Boston.

"The licensing authority should be in some way separated from politics, so that the giving of licenses would not be something to be fought for at every election. It would seem as if right-minded men of both political parties might agree to this for the sake of the licensing authority, without regard to political policies.

"One does not like to see the courts overloaded with such duties as giving licenses or appointing excise boards, but the courts seem to be the authority toward which all the people look for fairness and regard for the public good, rather than to city officials."

"Then the purpose should be to keep the business in the hands of he responsible men who are law-abiding and who do not associate evil things with the business."

Work has begun yesterday on the long-promised country road from New Egypt toward Lakewood, six miles of which will be built now. Contractor Butcher is using every available man and team to push its completion before cold weather begins.

—Advertise in The Daily Press.

BARN AND AUTO BURNED

Loss of $4,000 Occasioned Through Cleaning Preparation Catching Fire.

MACHINE OWNED BURNED.

Building the Property of Percy H. Stewart and Located on Plainfield Avenue Near Eighth Street.

Damage amounting to $4,000 was occasioned by a fire in the barn on the premises at 721 Plainfield avenue, owned by Percy H. Stewart, short after 1 Tuesday afternoon. The building was practically destroyed while an automobile valued at $2,000 was totally wrecked. The machine was owned by Oliver A. Reed, chauffeur for Mr. Stewart, and was the one he used at one time in soliciting patronage at the North avenue station. The loss in each case is covered by insurance.

The automobile was a big covered affair and the owner started to clean the engine at noon time with a patent preparation. He was smoking at the time and it is supposed that fumes from the preparation became ignited in this way. Reed was startled by a burst of flame directly in front of him and within a few seconds the basement floor was all ablaze everywhere. He sprang to the barn door to open it and get the auto out but it stuck on its rollers and stopped him. He was compelled to stand by helpless while the fire spread with great rapidity.

The alarm was turned in from box 36 but by the time the apparatus arrived, the building was burning from top to bottom. Chief Doane had his men lay in three lines of hose and they soon had the blaze under control but there was practically nothing left when the recall sounded. It is evident that the fumes from the preparation had spread to every part of the structure and gave the flames their big start.

Mr. Reed's hands were quite severely burned when the blaze first broke out. A defect in the mechanism caused the fire going to give but one blow when the alarm was pulled.

NEWLYWED ENTERTAINS THE TIMBO SOCIAL CLUB

The members of the Timbo Social Club voted Monday night that Henry J. Wierenga has got to give a wedding reception every year. They arrived at this conclusion two hours after they had assembled to enjoy his hospitality in honor of his marriage, an event that was celebrated the first week of last month. The bridegroom stole away quietly and none of his associates in the popular organization were aware of the step he had taken until he was on his honeymoon and the affair he arranged for them was in compensation for his neglect in sending invitations for the ceremony.

There were nearly 100 of the Timbolites on hand in the club rooms on North avenue, last night, and there was "plenty doing" from the time the janitor opened the doors. When the guests had all arrived, the blushing host was brought forward while "Bill" Jukes gave an original address of welcome. In reply, the newly-made benedict gave a straight-from-the-shoulder speech on married life that caused the numerous eligible bachelors present to think very hard second his declaration that single harness is hard going. It's dollars to punched Canadian dimes that a dozen *or more of the younger Tim*boites will be engaged before the year is over. There were other addresses by "Eddie" Bellig, George Johnson, "Jack" DeNise, "Joe" Friede, Archie Davie, and "Uncle Dave" Carney.

Throughout the evening, music was furnished by Harry Wetton's orchestra, from Elizabeth, and the vocal work was led by members of the Timbo Glee Club and quartet troupe. At midnight, Chef Erwin Neighbor and a score of assistants, began serving several tons of real food, thousands of cigars and millions of cigarettes. If anybody went away hungry it was because their capacity for food had been overtaxed before they left home. The menu comprised "Portugese" sandwiches, Ash Swamp celery, Randolph Road chicken croquettes, and Jackson flat oysters on toast. Ten gallons of Watchung spring water was brought on at 4 o'clock. It was all imbibed in but 40 quarts.

Stallion Registration.

The Stallion Examining and Registering Board has announced that a public examination of all stallions and jacks intended to be offered for use during the coming year will be held for Somerset county at Somerville on Saturday, October 3, at 10 o'clock in the morning. This is for the purpose of complying with the new law which went into effect Sept. 1. The penalty attached for failure to comply with the provisions of this law imposes a fine of $50 for the first offense and $100 for the second and each subsequent offense.

Y.M.C.A. AN EASY MARK

Clinton Avenues Have No Trouble in Defeating Manager Listman's Team.

SCORE WAS SIX TO ONE.

Second of a Series Both of Which Dorflinger's Nine Wins With Little Difficulty.

The Clinton Avenues had a comparatively easy time of it Saturday afternoon, defeating the Y. M. C. A. by a score of 6 to 1. It was the second of a series of contests between the teams for the city championship, the first one on Fourth of July being won by the Clinton Avenues by a score of 7 to 1. Those who like witness a good game on Saturday were impressed with the fact that the association boys are a little out of their class with Manager Dorflinger's colts. The Clinton Avenues got almost twice as many hits and in fielding they displayed superiority.

The contest was robbed of considerable interest at the start when the Clinton Avenues scored five runs, and they tallied their sixth run in the eighth. The association team was shutout until the eighth inning when a hit, an error and the fact that Craig was hit by Randolph, combined to give them one lone run.

Scott started the game, but he did not last the first inning, when Peacock was called into to occupy the slab. Clinton Avenue had its eye on the ball and it was not until after the second inning that Peacock succeeded in stopping the hitting. H then held his opponents safe until the eighth. As a result of the contest it is hardly likely that another one will be arranged this reason between the teams. The score:

Clinton Avenue.
	R.	H.	PO.	A. E.
Barnes, 1b	2	1	9	0
B. Martin, 2b	1	2	4	1
Emery, 3b	0	0	3	3
J. Martin, s. s	1	2	0	0
Boelzley, c. f	0	0	0	0
Beery, c	0	0	9	0
O'Loughlin, r. f	0	0	0	0
Schott, 1. f	1	1	1	0
Randolph, p	1	2	0	3
	6	9	26*13	2

Y. M. C. A.
	R.	H.	PO.	A. E
W. Schoonmaker, cf.	1	1	2	0
R. Schoonmaker, c.	0	0	5	0
Craig, s. s	0	1	3	4
Conway, 3b	0	1	3	5
Gilmore, 2b	0	1	3	1
Jacot, lb	0	0	10	0
Pond, l. f	0	0	1	0
Loizeaux, r. f	0	0	1	0
Scott, p	0	0	0	0
Peacock, p	0	0	0	1
	1	4	27	14

*Craig out—hit by batted ball.
Clinton Avenue..2 2 0 0 0 0 1 0—6
Y. M. C. A.....0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1

Earned runs—Clinton Avenue; Two base hits—B. Martin, Emery. First base on balls—Off Randolph, 5; off Peacock, 1. Struck out —By Randolph, 9; by Peacock, 4. Left on bases—Clinton Avenue, 5; Y. M. C. A., 5. Double plays—Schott to Emery. Wild pitches—Randolph; Scott, 2. Passed balls—R. Schoonmaker. Stolen bases—J. Martin, Schott, Peacock, 2. Sacrifice hits—B. Martin, Jacot, 2. First base on errors—Clinton Avenue, 2. Hit by pitcher—R. Schoonmaker, Peacock. Time of game—2 hours. Umpires—Feiring and Moynihan.

FREE-BORN AMERICAN LOSES HIS INDEPENDENCE

William Myers, a Scotch Plains resident, came to Plainfield Saturday night and got badly soused up on joy water. He was declaring himself in loud terms at North and Watchung avenues when Patrolman Nolan came along and ordered him to move on.

"Huh," said Myers, "I don't have to. I'm a free-born American citizen, and I can do as I please." And he gave a series of imitation warwhoops to show that no bluecoat could cay him nay.

That's where he made a mistake. The patrolman wouldn't dispute anyone's birthright but he refused to stand for yells of the Scotch Plains variety. He grabbed the free-born American citizen and hustled him to Sycamore street so quick it made his head swim.

Myers was extremely penitent and totally devoid of the spirit of '76 when arraigned before Judge Runyon Monday morning. He promised to go home and be good if sentence was suspended and the magistrate took him at his word.

Local Birds Win Many Prizes.

The Oppingtons from the Sunswick Poultry Farm, at South Plainfield, received those prizes at the Allentown Fair: Nine firsts, six seconds, four thirds and one fourth prize. They also were awarded thirty-six ribbons, the $50 challenge cup for a Buff, the special for a Buff, two gold specials for whites, the $50 challenge trophy for black, as well as the fine cup presented by the Allentown Fair Association for the best bird in the entire show, there being more than three thousand exhibited.

FOWLER RENOMINATED AT 5TH DIST. CONVENTION

Charles N. Fowler was renominated for a seventh term at the Republican Congressional convention for the Fifth, New Jersey, district, at Phillipsburg Monday. As usual no one else seemed to want the honor and the marble man was given an unanimous vote.

State Senator Thomas Hillery, of Boonton, acted as chairman of the convention and A. E. Wood, of Rahway, placed Fowler in nomination. The usual cheers followed the nominating speech.

Former County Chairman Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, called the convention to order. J. W. Clift, of Summit, filled his customary position as a secretary. Former Assemblyman *Peter Tillman, of Ran*way, and S. J. Berry, of Elizabeth, served among the vice-presidents. City Clerk James T. MacMurray, of Plainfield, and John Howe, of Roselle, were on the credentials committee but did not have to work overtime. Former Assemblyman "Bill" Hall and F. Hand, of Elizabeth, were among those who saw to it that a permanent organization was effected, while David Sarrow, of Roselle Park, and Edward Dairs, of Elizabeth, were among those on the rules' committee. Among those on the resolutions committee were Louis Kling, of Elizabeth, and H. Tracy, of Plainfield.

Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, who is at Denver at present, and J. I. Howe, of Roselle, were renamed as Union county's members on the Congressional committee.

In accepting the nomination which he so eagerly sought, Mr. Fowler made the customary speech.

MUCH ACTIVITY AT HOLY CROSS PARISH

Beginning Sunday the evening services will be resumed at Holy Cross church at the usual hour, 7:45 o'clock, and will be continued during the fall and winter. Progress is being made in the changes at the church for the new organ and it is hoped to have the instrument in position ready for use by November 1. The present delay is at the factory, where the parts are being assembled.

Rev. A. G. Warner, the rector, has completed arrangements for the services of a member of the Deacon Wessel Training School in New York to teach a parents' Bible class at the church every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. A similar class will be taught by the rector for the young men of the parish. There are now twenty-six young men enrolled, between the ages of sixteen and twenty one.

The Woman's Guild will hold its first fall meeting on Tuesday, October 6, and on Monday, October 5 the Junior Auxiliary will resume its winter activities. The Altar Chapter will meet for the first time this season in the parish house at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. A new graded system of text books has been introduced in the Sunday-school, and the growth in that department of church work has increased fifteen per cent. over that of last year. The teachers and officers of the school will meet every Wednesday night after this week to discuss plans for the work. The church choir, with eight probationers, is now holding regular rehearsals under the direction of Mr. Raymond Loder, organist and choirmaster. The Athletic Club is planning to hold a minstrel performance this winter and T. M. Muir, of the Gold Medal Minstrel Company, has kindly consented to assist the boys at their rehearsals which will begin soon.

GRANDMOTHER'S JEWEL BOX IN EVIDENCE

Some day when grandmother is feeling especially cheery, coax her to show you her jewel box: If you find stowed away one of the "jewelry sets," consisting of a huge brooch and two long earrings in three or more sections, use all your wiles to have her give it to you.

Some of these old pieces are exquisite in design. Bowers wrought in gold and studded with garnets, made a small coat o neck ornament that will be the envy of all who see it.

The form depends on the style of the set and must be left more or less to the discretion of the jeweler.

One girl had a charming big pendan made from such a set by separating the sections of the earrings and attaching them to the brooch by tiny gold chains. This was worn on one of the gold chains that most children possessed a generation ago.

New Rector in Charge.

Rev. Morgan Ashley, the new rector of St. Stephen's church will assume his duties at the church on Sunday, when fall activities will be resumed.

P.H.S. PUPILS AROUSED

Petition the P. S. C. to Provide Better Service on Arlington Avenue Line.

VERY POOR AT PRESENT.

Principal Travell Interested in Movement to Improve Trolley Lines' Connections.

The pupils of the Plainfield High School are aroused over the poor service that the new schedule of the trolley lines gives them for reaching school in the morning. The present time table compels pupils who live in Dunellen to take the 7:35 o'clock trolley in order to be sure to reach the high school at 8:25 o'clock. The failure of the main line car to connect closely with the Arlington avenue car compells a wait of eight minutes at the trolley station.

Fifty-six pupils were counted on the cars this morning, a number sufficient to fill comfortably an entire car without other passengers.

In Newark and elsewhere the Public Service Corporation run special cars for high school pupils, and it is argued that there seems no good reason why the same consideration should not be shown to pupils of the Plainfield High School. Last year Principal Travell secured from the Public Service Corporation the service of an extra car on rainy days. For some weeks the Dunellen Board of Education has been making efforts to secure better car service for their pupils who come to Plainfield but thus far without result.

The following signed petition has been extensively signed by pupils living in the lower part of the city and in Dunellen and is being sent to the district manager of the trolley service:

"We, the underaigned students of the Plainfield High School, being greatly inconvenienced by the present schedule of the trolley system *which does not provide a speedy ser*vice to the High School, with good connections with the Arlington avenue car, and being compelled by the present schedule to take the car leaving Dunellen at 7:35 o'clock in order to be certain to reach the high school before 8:25 o'clock, do respectfully and most earnestly petition the Public Service Corporation to run every school day (for high school students), a large special car that shall furnish speedy through service from Dunellen, to reach the high school not later than 8:22 o'clock."

YOUNG MEN FORM A LOCAL TRIBE OF INDIANS.

Another secret social society has been formed by young men of the West End, the members have chosen as a name for the organization, Pawnee Tribe, No. 7, of Indians." The tribe meets once a month at the home of one of the tribesmen and has a jolly time. Every week-end the tribe expects to camp out, leading the simple life. In accordance with this plan, the first week-end jaunt was taken Saturday. The members left Plainfield with a good supply of provisions and blankets and walked to Stirling and returning from there to Washington Rock, where a camp was established for the night.

One of the members, who is an expert chef, prepared a fine cornroast, which the hungry tribe enjoyed thoroughly. A treat of this kind is promised every week. The following tribesmen enjoyed Saturday's outing: Ed. Carlson, Bertram Smith, Clinton Firstbrook, Harvey Stewart and George Gage.

Mrs. Eastburn's Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Robert Eastburn, of New Brunswick, while taking a ride in her new 45-horse power Mitchell, Friday afternoon, had a narrow escape from being killed. She, in company with a chauffeur, was spinning along the Metuchen road and just as an attempt was made to pass a Berliet car, a rear tire on the Mitchell car exploded, and Mrs. Eastburn lost control of her machine. The car upset and pinned the woman beneath it, while the chauffeur was thrown about twenty feet. Both were rescued unharmed, but the machine was a wreck. It was brought to Martin's garage in this city for repairs.

Central Baptists to Meet.

The Baptist churches of this city will be well represented at the annual meeting of the Central Baptist Association to be held at New Brunswick on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. On Tuesday night, October 6, there will be a pastors' conference. The delegates will be entertained Wednesday night at the home of members of the church, while dinner and supper on Wednesday and Thursday will be served in the lecture room of the Baptist church.

German Synod in Brunswick.

The German Synod of the Reformed church of the East, which has just closed its sessions at Baltimore, has decided to hold its meeting next year in New Brunswick, at the invitation of the Rev. M. H. Qual, of that city.

CLUB FOR 1ST VOTERS

Young Republicans in North Plainfield Plan for Strong Campaign Organization.

MASS MEETING ON OCTOBER 8.

Borough G. O. P. Club's President, B. A. Hegeman, Announces All His Committees.

Plans have been made by the North Plainfield Republican Club, of which former Mayor B. A. Hegeman is president, for the formation of the First Presidential Voters' Club which promises to have a large membership. At a meeting of the club Monday, President Hegeman appointed Donald McGee as chairman of a committee for the proposed organization. He also named as coworkers with Mr. McGee, William Nischwitz, Richard F. Keefer, Ernest Powlison, George Hooley and Harold Hegeman.

These are other committees appointed by the President:

Executive committee—Dr. Justus H. Cooley, chairman; John P. Emmons, L. B. Woolston, B. R. Waldron, N. B. Smalley. Finance committee—James W. Peck, chairman; H. A. McGee, Charles L. Nichols, M. C. Van Arsdale, R. M. Clark, Dr. E. S. Hooley, W. C. Smith. Registration committee—James K. Arnold, chairman; E. P. T. Smith, W. W. Rowley, W. L. Smalley, Jr., John Scheer, Alexander Currin, Jr. Currin, Jr. Committee on meetings —Clifford W. McGee, chairman; J. V. E. Vanderhoef, W. G. Bebele. Entertainment committee—Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, chairman; Horace J. Martin, Julius Stahl. Committee on First Presidential Voters' Club— Donald McGee, chairman; William Nischwitz, Richard F. Keefer, Ernest Powlison, George Hooley and Harold Hegeman.

Announcement was made that the first big rally would be held in Saengerbund hall on Thursday night, October 8, when a speaker of national reputation assigned by the Republican State Committee will make the principal address. During the session last night, a number of informal talks were given by various members including former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, Councilmanic Candidate William L. Smalley, Jr., Councilman Edward P. T. Smith and foromoeoro oCouncilman James K. Arnold.

COLLEGE ATHLETES ARE GOOD CHRISTIANS

*Lucius H. Biglow, a former resi*dent of this city, a graduate of John Leal's School, and a graduate of the Yale football squad, was the principal speaker at the men's meeting of the West Side Y. M. C. A. in a big tent at Fifty-seventh street and Eighth avenue, New York, Sunday afternoon. He said among other things, that three-quarters of the college athletes whose work amounts to anything say their prayers at night before going to bed. He saw in this a favorable sign for the increasing purity of athletics.

Biglow's subject was "Clean Sport and Its Relation to Character Building."

"The big man at college today," he said, "is not the one who can drink everybody else under the table. The truest and strongest man is not necessarily the one who follows the crowd and does what every other man thinks is the best thing to do. Nowadays college morals are on a higher plane than those of the best men of the colleges are those who go in for sports, and a fellow who does so must be a clean man."

"An old time follower of athletic sports who has followed every football game for the last twenty years recently told me that he had discovered it to be a fact that no man who was good on the field was everything but good when he got off the field and entered his life work. We who have watched football and the other branches of college sports have had reason to learn that the man on the eleven or on the track who has a good religious backing is the man in whom every one has confidence.

"You would be surprised to find how many athletes there are who at night say their prayers before they go to bed. Fully three-quarters of the athletes I know whose work amounts to something and in whom their team mates have implicit confidence say their prayers, whether they be off in training quarters with other men."

Dave Fultz, the former Brown University captain and New York American baseball player, and Ray Ewry, the Olympic champion broad jumper, also talked on clean sport.

It is reported that Rev. A. S. Peck, who has been curate of the Church of St. Edward the Martyr 109th street and Fifth avenue, has resigned to accept a rectorship of a church in Tennessee. Mr. Peck was formerly rector of St. Stephen's church, Nettherwood, resigning last spring following a call to the New York church.

HIS DEATH KILLS WIFE

Two Hours After Husband Dies, Mrs. Ellis R. Meeker Succumbs to Shock.

A FORMER ASSEMBLYMAN

Mr. Meeker Well Known Politically —Mrs. Meeker a Sister of Alexander Gilbert.

An hour after Ellis R. Meeker, a former Assemblyman and prominent Republican of Elizabeth, had been stricken with paralysis and expired, his wife, Alice Gilbert Meeker, died of shock. She had been ill several days with heart trouble, while her husband had but recently recovered from a severe attack of neuritis. He was out Monday and Saturday, and seemed to have regained his health. When he returned home Monday he did not complain, and seemed to be in his normal condition. Suddenly his family were alarmed to see him reel over from the table and collapse. Before a physician arrived he had expired. The news was broken gently to his aged wife, and although sympathetic friends and relatives endeavored to console her, it was of no avail, and she passed peacefully away at 6:30 o'clock. They were buried side by side.

Mrs. Meeker was a sister of former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, who is now at Denver, Colo., on business.

Mr. Meeker was widely known in the State, particularly as the father of the anti-spring election bill, the passage of which abolished municipal elections in the spring. In 1902 he was a candidate for Mayor against Patrick J. Ryan, but was defeated. He was the son of the late James N. Meeker, and is survived by three brothers, Theodore, William H. and the Rev. Jonathan Meeker, of Orange, a son and three daughters. He was an uncle of S. Merchant Meeker former journal clerk of the Senate. Of late years Mr. Meeker had been engaged in the real estate business at Elizabeth, prior to which he conducted a publishing house in New York. He resided at 46 Elm street, Elizabeth.

Mr. Meeker was born in Newark August 7, 1848, and was interested in the building of yachts, launches and gas motors for the propulsion of vessels and automobiles. He conducted a boat building plant in Chicago prior to and during the World's Fair, received first premium on his exhibit of launches and a concession from the directors for the carrying of passengers about the waterways of the exposition. Mr. Meeker's paternal ancestors were among the earliest settlers of the State, and the name appears in the first and last Assembly lists. Eighty associates called "The Elizabethtown Associates." On the maternal side it is found tha Thomas Beech, an original immigrant from England, took the oath of fidelity in New Haven in 1654.

Mr. Meeker was a member of the Masonic fraternity and an exempt fireman. Before his election to the Assembly in 1900 he never held public office, but had always been an energetic Republican in the ranks as well as in the Republican Central Committee of Elizabeth and Union County Executive Committee. He was re-elected to the Assembly by plurality of 4,888 over John Lamerding, the highest candidate on the Democratic ticket. In 1900 he served as chairman of the committee on ways and means, as well as a member of the committees on bill revision, incidental expenses, riparian rights and industrial school for girls.

THE FOOL WISH.

Of all the wishes that one hears
What makes me really very wild
Is when a man of fifty years
Says, "Would I were again a child!"

I'm fifty, but I woul not care
To have my boyhood back again.
In fact, the prospect's apt to scare
When I recall the birch and cane.
The lessons, and the lines I had
To write in Latin and Greek—
I must have been extremely bad,
With oh! what quantities of cheek!

The opportunities I missed.
When I was starting out in life.
The girls I flirted with and kissed,
The one I—didn't—make my wife!
Such things and half a hundred more
I think of with an trace of joy,
Nay, I most heartily deplore
I ever was a little boy!
So now I've given life a test,
I hate to hear that fool refrain,
Though some may wish it, I'll be
If I would be a child again!
—La Touche Hancock, in New York Independent.

"The Music of Nature."

Miss Grace Karr, of Putnam avenue, entertained her piano pupils Saturday afternoon by giving a lecture on "The Music of Nature," in connection with which Miss Margaret Carey, a pupil, rendered "Silent Night," with variations. There were about thirty pupils and friends present. The last Saturday in October, Miss Karr will give a lecture on "The Influence of the Music of Nature Upon Wild Animals."

KEYS AND BENNETT PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS

Former State Senator John Y. Keys, of Somerville, was named at the Democratic State convention, at Trenton Monday, as the party's Presidential elector for the fourth district. Peter Bennett, of Elizabeth, was selected for the Fifth district, and A. S. Alexander, of Hudson, and Thomas F. Ferrell, of Gloucester, were chosen as electors-at-large.

Addresses were made by State Chairman James R. Nugent, who called the convention to order and introduced former Mayor Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., who was the convention's temporary officer. An address was also made by William E. Ryan, of New York, who took the place of former United States Senator Charles A. Towne.

Walter C. Linbarger, of North Plainfield, was selected as vice-president and secretary of the Somerset county delegation. M. W. Scully, of Somerville, was the chairman. Dr. C. H. Thiers, of North Plainfield, was put on the credentials' committee, while John McCullough, of North Plainfield, was on the permanent organization committee. Keys' name as an elector was placed before the convention by Mr. Linbarger.

GOT ROUGH DEAL AT TRENTON FAIR RACES

Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy and Letter-carrier Leslie Tingley, both of whom had their horses entered in the races at the Trenton fair Monday, returned home Monday night disgusted with the treatment accorded them by the management, especially Secretary Coleman, who had charge of the races. They declare that for some unknown reason, their horses were barred out of the races in which they entered.

Mr. McCarthy entered "Bowery Lass," in several races, and Mr. Tingley's "Polly Watt" was advertised to start in a number of events. The owners claim that the purses, advertised as big ones, were cut down to $60, and that they refused to run their horses under those conditions. They declare that they complied with every condition imposed by the racing committee and cannot understand why they should be given such treatment, that their horses were entered in were held up for a couple of hours in an effort to settle the dispute, but to no purpose.

Afterward Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Leslie informed Secretary Coleman that they expected the association to stand their expenses for the care and keeping of their horses while at the fair, and they were instructed to make out their bills and send them to the association. This they will do. "Bowery Lass" and "Polly Watt" both registered as required by the National Racing Association and the owners say that they can see no reason why their entries should not have been permitted to start in the races as scheduled. The matter will probably be taken before the National Racing Association for settlement.

Look Out for Woman Solicitor.

The people of Plainfield and especially those interested in The Day Nursery, conducted by the City Union of The King's Daughters, are warned to be on the lookout for a woman who is going about the city and vicinity soliciting for the Day Nursery. The King's Daughters engage no solicitors for any purpose whatever and no one has been authorized to seek money for this charity.

N. A. C. Takes Double-Header.

The Netherwood A. C. won a double reader on the Netherwood grounds, Saturday afternoon, defeating the South Avenue Social Club by a score of 12 to 9, and the Richmond Streets by the score of 1 to 4. The Netherwood A. C. used the same team in both games and Miller pitched both contests. Their lineup follows: Liewald, lf; Smith, cf; Kely, rf; Clapp, ss; McCarty, 3b; Hunsberger, 2b; E. Peterson, 1b; W. Brick, c; Miller, p.

MAGAZINE READERS

SUNSET MAGAZINE beautifully illustrated, good stories and articles about California and all the Far West. $1.50 a year

CAMERA CRAFT devoted each month to the artistic reproduction of the best work of amateur and professional photographers. $1.00 a year

ROAD OF A THOUSAND WONDERS a book of 75 pages, containing 120 colored photographic reproductions of scenic spots in California and Oregon. $0.75

Total . . . $3.25

All for $1.50

Address all orders to SUNSET MAGAZINE Flood Building San Francisco

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace

Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing,

Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class manner and workmanship manner. Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. LITTELL

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL

My new barber shop at

NORTH AVE.

Now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

DIME Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest allowed on all sums from $5 to $5,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
W. F. Arnold, Vice-Pres't
Jeremiah Manning,
Jos. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us, come to travel appointing agents, attend to local work looking after our interests. $900 salary guaranteed yearly; extra commissions and expenses, rapid advancement, old established house. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant, permanent position. Horse furnished when necessary. Write at once. Business will bear investigation.

STAFFORD PRESS, 23 Chester St., New Haven, Conn.

FOR AGENTS—AN OPPORTUNITY!

"THE OLD WORLD AND ITS WAYS"

BY

William Jennings Bryan.

NOW READY FOR SOLICITORS.

576 Imperial Octavo Pages. Over 200 Superb Engravings from photographs taken by Mr. Bryan.

Recounts his trip around the world and his visits to all nations. The greatest book of travel ever written. The people are waiting for it. The agent's harvest. Outfit FREE—Send fifty cents to cover mailing and handling.

THE THOMPSON PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis. Mo. 7 26 3 o

W. P. CODINGTON

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

DIED.

MUNDY—In North Plainfield, Thursday, September 24, 1908, Ira Mundy, aged 81 years and nine months.

YOUNG—At Watchung, N. J., Saturday, September 26, 1908, Eben S. Young, aged 94 years.

BRECK—Suddenly on Monday, September 28, 1908, at Plainfield, N. J., Elizabeth Ogden, wife of George Breck.

Prose and Poetry.

I've gathered roses and the like, in many glad and golden times, but now as down the world I hike my weary hands are filled with prunes. I've gathered roses o'er and o'er, and some were white and some were red; but when took them to the store they grocer wanted eggs instead. I gathered roses long ago, in other days, in other scenes, and people said: "You ought to go and dig the weeds out of your beans." A million more will die today; that man is wise who hides them slide and gathers up the bales of hay.—Emporia Gazette.

"The day of miracles is past." "Oh, I don't know. The order for blind beggars to get off the street restored sight to a lot of 'em."—Philadelphia Ledger.

MINORS MAY SEE SHOWS

Court Declares Unconstitutional Law Forbidding Children to Attend.

KNOWN AS "NICKELETTE" LAW.

Discrimination Proves Fatal to Validity of Statute Which Had Caused Much Unfavorable Comment.

Rendering a decision in a test case, Vice-Chancellor Garrison decided yesterday that the law of the last Legislature prohibiting children from attending moving picture shows unless accompanied by parents or guardian is unconstitutional. He maintains that boys and girls below the age of sixteen have a right to witness the exhibitions by themselves if they care to and that to rule otherwise is unjust discrimination. The decision is of especial significance to Plainfield in view of the fact that Chief Kiely declared yesterday that he would enforce the law in this city.

The test case was that of William Van Horne, who has one of the shows on Jackson avenue, Jersey City. When the law was signed, sealed and delivered that the proprietors of the moving picture shows were perturbed, for it meant their retirement from the business, as their financial support was derived from children. They met, organized, consulted a lawyer whose opinion was that the law was null and of no effect, for it contains as exemptions from its provisions picture shows in public and private schools, Sunday Schools and churches.

This discrimination was vital, for the Declaration of Independence has set forth that all men are created free and equal and the Constitution and laws to be valid must be constructed to conform with the Declaration.

Ex-Judge Hudspeth, of Hudson county, was retained and when Van Horne was taken into custody as a transgressor of the law ex-Judge Hudspeth promptly applied to Vice-Chancellor Garrison for a writ of habeas corpus and attacked the law, contending that the act was in violation of the fourteenth amendment of the Federal Constitution and section 7, paragraph 11, of the Constitution of the State.

The Vice-Chancellor holds that the law is bad as claimed, as it conflicts with the fourteenth amendment, which guarantees "equal protection of the laws must certainly give equal security or burden under the law." Van Horne was ordered discharged from custody.

PLAINFIELD ENDEAVORERS TO GIVE INVITATION IN SONG.

The Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union will be represented at the State Christian Endeavor Convention to be held at Atlantic City on October 7 to 9 by a number of societies already have chosen delegates. The round trip fare from Plainfield to Atlantic City will be $5, and those attending the convention can take either route, by the way of Philadelphia or by the shore line. The train leaving Plainfield at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon over the Reading makes close connection at Philadelphia for Atlantic City.

In the open parliament on union work and methods to be held the first day of the convention, the secretary of the Plainfield Union, will give a report of the work of the union for the past year. As previously stated, the Plainfield Union will invite the State convention to meet in Plainfield in 1909. The invitation is to be given in a song which will be sung by the Plainfield delegates in response to the roll call.

Will Report Investigation.

The next regular meeting of the Common Council will be held on Monday night, October 5, at which time the Alms committee will present its report following the investigation of affairs at the Industrial Home. While the details of the report are not known it is expected that it will favor the superintendent, Arthur Wolverton. The case is still before City Judge William N. Runyon and he is waiting the Councilmanic report before he passes sentence, having found Mr. Wolverton guilty of the charges preferred by S. S. Newmeule, of Somerville. Judge Runyon could dismiss the case, if in his judgment the report warranted such action.

Orpheum Theatre's Opening.

Manager W. J. Counihan announced today that he would open Reform Hall under the name of the Orpheum theatre on Election night, November 3, as a first-class ten and twenty cent vaudeville house. The improvements now underway will be ready by that time. The acts for the bills will be provided by the United Booking Office, which han*dles all the numbers for the Keith* and Proctor houses and other big vaudeville managers.

Two G. O. P. Mass Meetings.

The Republican County Committee has arranged to hold two big mass meetings at Elizabeth, one on Oct. 8 and the other on Oct. 31.

SAYS WIFE DEFENDED AFFINITY WITH PISTOL

The story of an alleged midnight "affinity" adventure at the Hotel Cumberland, Fifty-fourth street and Broadway, New York—a man fleeing from the place in his pajamas and leaping into a taxicab, the woman drawing a revolver when her husband entered the room with the detectives—was revealed at Trenton Thursday through the filing of papers in an action for divorce.

The adventure is said to have taken place last Friday night. The husband who seeks his freedom from the marital bond is Frank M. Pullen, of Trenton. The co-respondent, whom he charges with being his wife's affinity, is Daniel S. Baxter, of Plainfield, although this name does not appear in the city directory. It is alleged that Baxter and Mrs. Pullen were registered at the Cumberland as "G. Steele and wife, Philadelphia."

According to Pullen, he had had his wife shadowed for weeks. The detectives who aided him in breaking in the apartments are said to have snatched the pistol from the woman, whom they escorted to a hotel in Hoboken, where she was kept under surveillance for the rest of the night. Pullen says he knows nothing of her present whereabouts. The couple were married April 25, 1903, and have a son, four years old.

REALTY CAMPAIGN THROUGH NEWSPAPERS

Plans for a systematic campaign of newspaper advertising were discussed at a meeting of the New Jersey and New York Real Estate Exchange Thursday afternoon at the Hudson Terminal building in New York. There were six members present and the subject of the animated discussion was "The Best Methods to Employ to Dispose of New Jersey Real Estate."

Joseph P. Day, of New York, one of the largest real estate operators in the East, told his experiences in letting the public know what he had to offer and he declared that he was convinced that there is but one satisfactory method and that is through the daily newspaper. He discounted all other means and said that results obtained by him conclusively proved that the newspaper advertising columns afford the only channel for the realty man to work through.

William Jeffery, of Berkeley Heights, made an address in which he declared that to properly handle property it is first necessary to take a hand in the local government and work for its improvement. When this task its accomplished, he said, all that is necessary is to employ the newspaper advertising column and quick results follow. Mr. Jeffery dwelt at length on the methods used by the Plainfield board of trade wich follows up its newspaper publicity with pamphlets and invariably gets a home-seeker. Among the other speakers were Howard L. Rounds, of Keansburg and E. H. Lambert, of Paterson.

It was decided to raise a large fund by assessment among the members for the purposes of employing newspaper advertising for Jersey realty advantages. An advertising manager will be selected at an early date.

WILL TAX MOTORISTS FOR OCEAN BOULEVARD.

At the meeting of the Ocean boulevard executive committee at Asbury Park Wednesday night Governor Fort was an important figure.

Discussion of the proposed route along the coast appeared to favor a detour around Ocean Grove, although Governor Fort favors a straight course from start to finish. The new driveway will be called the Ocean boulevard to distinguish it from the State highway through the counties.

All four of the coast counties are represented on the committee, which will be known hereafter as the Ocean boulevard committee of New Jersey.

A bill to authorize the road will be introduced in the Legislature in January. Its estimated cost is from $300,000 to $500,000. The annual maintenance charges, it is estimated, will be $270,000, part of which it is proposed to raise by taxing automobile licenses in the State.

The Queen's Coachman.

A Queen's coachman is a personage of no small importance. Certainly the coachman to her late majesty, Queen Victoria, had a befitting sense of the dignity and responsibility of his position. On the occasion of the jubilee of 1887 he was asked if he was driving any of the royal guests at that time quartered in Buckingham Palace. "No, sir," was his reply. "I am the Queen's coachman; I don't drive the riff-raff."—London Telegraph.

Unreliable Instruction.

"Do you regard the stage as an educator?"

"Not exactly," answered Miss Cayenne. "It would be unfortunate if we were to get our ideas of society from the problem play and our ideas of costume from the musical comedy."—Washington Star.

FORTUNE FOR GOVERNOR

J. Franklin Fort Residuary Legatee of Estate Valued at Half a Million Dollars.

IS ONE OF THE EXECUTORS.

State Executive was the Close Friend and Legal Adviser of Mrs. Reasoner's Husband.

Governor John Franklin Fort is named residuary legatee in the will of Mrs. Abby Ephemia Reasoner widow of Andrew Reasoner, former superintendent of the Lackawanna Railroad. Those who knew her well and had intimate knowledge of her business affairs say the estate amounts to at least $500,000. The Governor's wife and his daughter are named in separate bequests.

Mrs. Reasoner died early last week at her home in Arlington avenue, East Orange. The will is dated April 7, 1901. In clause 12 in the body of the will Governor Fort is named as sole executor. In a codicil however, this section is cancelled and Edwin G. Adams, of Newark, is made executor with the Governor.

The will was filed in the Prerogative Court at Trenton on Thursday afternoon by Co-executor Adams who then qualified as such. Governor Fort appeared in the office of the Secretary of State yesterday afternoon and also qualified.

The will and its codicil bear the signatures of J. Harry Bacheller, of Newark; Eugene A. Kelley, of Orange, and Harry V. Osborne, of Newark, as witnesses. The document is carefully drawn, and goes into great detail as to specific bequests. No mention is made of her handsome home in Arlington avenue, and it is evidently included in the residuary estate.

Some significance is attached to the following clause:

"It is my intention to give away during my life a large portion of the residue of my estate by specific bequests which shall greatly reduce what would otherwise be the residue thereof, and I hereby give, devise and bequeath the rest of residue of the estate remainder after the payment of my debts and the bequests herein made to John Franklin Fort, of East Orange, and his lawful heirs forever."

It is thought by that that possibly she has disposed of a great part of the estate and that what is left does not amount to as much as would at first appear.

As a lawyer Governor Fort was for years the legal adviser of Mrs. Reasoner and her husband. Their business relations were always very close, and every one of the big financial transactions of the Reasoners was first passed upon by him. Mr. Reasoner always said he owed his success in a measure to the sound judgment of Judge Fort.

After the probation of the will became known in the city a rumor spread that a protest against it would be filed by or for Mrs. Hilton, who is a grandniece of Mrs. Reasoner. Edwin G. Adams, who is one of the executors of the estate, when called up at his home at Red Bank, declared that the rumor could not be true. He said that no caveat had been filed before the probation of the will and that he did not think an effort would be made by Mrs. Hilton to break the will.

"Mr. Chandler Hilton, who has been the lawyer for Mrs. Hilton for many years," Mr. Adams continued, "certainly would know something about it if Mr. Hilton intended to *break the will, but he declared yes*terday afternoon that nothing in that direction had been done and that he did not know of any intention on the part of Mrs. Hilton to contest. I think that is sufficient to convince anybody that the rumor is not based on facts.'

Apple Butter.

Take sweet cider as it comes from the press and cook it until reduced to half the original quantity. Now add a little more than half the quantity of pared, cored and sliced apples and cook slowly and carefully, stirring often with a long wooden paddle which reaches the bottom of the kettle. When the apples begin to break sweeten to taste, but it is better left quite tart. Continue cooking and stirring until like marmalade.

This will keep any length of time in wooden vessels or stone jars. If you wish the butter to have a spicy flavor, you may allow a teaspoonful each cinnamon, grated nutmeg and allspice to each gallon of sauce, putting them in when the sauce is nearly done.

A. G. O. P. Banner.

Plainfield Republican City Committee is planning to swing a huge party banner at North and Park avenues. It will cost $100 and will contain portraits of Taft and Sherman and the names of all Republican candidates.

K. of P. Theatrical Benefit.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., is to have a theatrical benefit at the New Plainfield theatre on October 22. The attraction will be the Little Mose Amusement company's production of "Simple Simon Simple," the popular musical comedy.

DEBS WILL SPEAK HERE

"Red Special" Laden with Socialists Leaders to Make an Hour's Stop Here.

ON MONDAY, OCTOBER TWELFTH

Presidential Nominee and Others to Address Plainfield Audience—To Stop at Bound Brook, Too.

"The Red Special" carrying Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate for President, as well as many other candidates on the same ticket and distinguished members of the party will arrive in Plainfield Monday morning, October 12, at 11:25 and remain here until 12:30, during which time an opportunity will be given Plainfielders to hear the Socialist candidates speak. The long train of coaches which comprise "The Red Special" is now wending its way across the country toward the East, its destination being New York.

H. C. Parker, president of the Philadelphia Labor Temple, is the business manager of the trip and the whole affair is under his personal supervision. The plans include stops at all the principal points along the line of railroads traveled, at which speeches are to be made.

The train will arrive at Bound Brook on October 12, at 10:40 o'clock in the morning, leaving there at 11:20. The next stop is Plainfield, at 11:35. From here the party will go to Elizabeth, then Newark and finally New York.

The distinguished members aboard, during the trip are the following:

Eugene V. Debs, candidate for President; Theodore Debs, brother of the candidate; S. M. Reynolds, of Indiana; Seymour Stedman, of Chicago; J. C. Chase, of Haverhill Mass.; A. M. Simons, an editor of Hancock, Mich.; and Socialist candidate for Governor of Michigan; Robert Bradlow, business manager of the Cleveland Citizen, and Socialist candidate for Governor of Ohio; Joseph Wanhope, editor of Wilshire's Magazine, and Socialist candidate for Governor of New York; J. T. Carey, Socialist candidate for Governor of Massachusetts; A. H. Floss, of Denver; Charles Lapworth, of London, Eng., representing English newspapers, and H. C. Parker, president of the Philadelphia Labor Temple, who is the business manager for the trip.

DRYDEN'S AUTO IS SMASHED, BUT OCCUPANTS UNHURT.

Former United States Senator John F. Dryden of New Jersey was in his limousine automobile with his wife and daughter, Mrs. Anthony R. Kuser, Thursday afternoon, when it crashed into another automobile at Stratford place and Avon avenue, Newark. The occupants of the Dryden car were not injured.

The Senator's car, driven by the chauffeur, had just got to the top of the grade in Avon avenue when the other automobile owned by Assistant Prosecutor Louis Hood, of Essex county, came along Stratford place and struck it on the left side, tearing off the mud guard, damaging the rear wheel and also injuring the limousine car left around. The hood of the other car was torn away, and the wheels were also damaged.

Mr. Dryden telephoned for another car from the garage and continued on the way to his summer home at Bernardsville, N. J., with his family. Witnesses who saw the accident declare that the Hood car contained two women at the time of the accident, but that statement was emphatically denied by Hood, who said that the only occupant was the chauffeur.

Receives Picture of Taft.

Councilman Herbert Buxton, of West Front street, has received a fine photograph of William H. Taft, the Republican Presidential candidate, bearing the following inscription: "Mr. Herbert Buxton. With best wishes. William H. Taft." The photo is a personal gift from Mr Taft to Mr. Buxton and for that reason he prizes it highly.

BRIDAL SUPERSTITIONS.

Here is a collection of proverbs purporting to speak singularly concerning the brides and the months:

A January bride will be a prudent housekeeper and very good tempered.

A February bride will be a kind and affectionate wife and tender mother.

A March bride will be a frivolous chatterbox somewhat given to quarreling.

A May bride will be handsome, amiable and likely to be happy.

A June bride will be impetuous and generous.

A July bride will be handsome and smart, but a trifle quick tempered.

An August bride will be amiable and practical.

A September bride will be discreet.

An October bride will be pretty, coquettish, loving, but jealous.

A November bride will be fond of novelty and entertaining.

Heaven a Place of Restful Activity.

11th of a Series on Heaven by REV. DR. CHARLES E. JERRING

It was said of the manna that supplied Israel's necessities in the wilderness that it had to each man like that which he enjoyed most. We have no scripture to prove that assertion, but the fancy, if it is a fancy, is a beautiful illustration of the satisfaction that the other world will be to each individual soul. There will be a place in that world for all the varied souls that enter it. It will be large enough and varied enough to fit every need. No matter how unique the need of man may be it will satisfy that need. I am not depending upon my imagination for this statement. It rests upon all that the Master and His disciples have said. One of the great hopes men have in regard to the other world is that of meeting the dear ones that have gone before. It is balm to their wounded souls to be assured that they shall meet them. They can think of no joy in the heavenly world to equal that. How could the heavenly world satisfy if there were no reunions? We are assured that we shall carry our memories there. To say that there will be no recognition of earth scenes or our memories will be blotted out. I hear the Master respond to the broken hearted souls that long to meet their own. "Of course, you will meet them for if it were not so I would have told you."

I hear another longing. It is the longing for rest.

There are some souls to whom all activity in this world is associated with the thought of toil and weariness and they love the words of the Lord when He says: "Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest."

Someone wearied of the toil of earth once in this pessimistic strain. "I long to lay my weary head And aching heart beneath the soil, To slumber in that dreamless bed From all my toil."

That is not the rest the Lord gives. God's message is "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, from henceforth, that they may rest from their labors." That rest is not the dreamless sleep of the grave. The rest that God gives His own is not the rest of death, nor the rest of sleep, and the rest of heaven. The delicious rest that would rest from their labors, but that does no mean that they live an inactive life. There is a difference between labor and activity. The word "labor" means toil and weariness. In that world there will be activity but no weariness. It is said of the angels that they rest not day nor night, but they are never weary. Therefore I have titled my theme, "Heaven a place of restful activity." Sometimes a child thinks he wants what his parents have but he will soon see that they provide not for his imaginary longing, but for his real need and desire. I am quite sure that we would all tire of an eternity of pure rest. Edward Everett Hale said to his friend, "When we get there and have been there a few seons and have had a chance to get rested a little and to look around us, I hope that I shall have the opportunity to get off with you in some secluded place and have a leisurely talk about some things that I have not gotten hold of here." Rest to him was a temporary thing; but I think that Heaven will be a revelation to us in this regard. The very atmosphere of Heaven will brace us up as soon as we get there, and we shall not need seons of pure rest, for all our activity will be restful.

Rest therefore is not the suspension of all activity. "It is the unwearied exercise of power." We would certainly grow weary of an eternal holiday with no duty to perform.

Think of the opportunity of exploring the wonders of God's universe, and of our minds opened to greater possibilities of knowing, and then our sitting in idleness. What is meant then it is said that "Heaven will be a place of rest" is that there will be no weariness there, and no depression of spirits because of tired nerves.

All that Heaven will mean we do not know, but we do know what will not be there. There will be no pain, no sorrow, no death no night; in short, there will be nothing in that world that will injure its perfect harmony, and that will mean rest.

Heaven will be a place of restful activity because it will be a place of perfect love. "Love is rest." Jealously, envy, contention are the causes of unrest, but where love reigns there is unselfishness and loving interest. The profound philosopher Fichte said: "We only live as we love."

You remember how Paul sands his panegyric of love—the thirteenth of first Corinthians. He tells us of the three virtues that abide: "Faith hope and love, but the greatest of these is love." The dominant note in heaven's music will be love. There must be perfect rest therefore in that atmosphere.

Kipling in his beautiful verse on the future, says:

"When Earth's last picture is painted and the tubes are twisted and dryed.
When the oldest colours have faded and the youngest critic has died.
We shall rest, and faith, we shall need it—He down for an age or two.
Till the Master of all good workmen shall put us to work anew."

"And those that were good shall be happy; they shall sit on a golden chair;
They shall splash at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comets' hair;
They shall find real saints to draw from—Magdalene, Peter and Paul;
They shall work for an age at a time and never be tired at all.

"And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame;
And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame,
But each for the joy of the working, and each in his separate star,
Shall draw the thing as he sees it for the God of things as they are."

ANNUAL FALL RALLY OF GRACE M.E. WOMEN

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, of Grace M. E. church, the annual fall rally was held in the church Thursday night. The affair was largely attended by members and friends. The evening was chiefly given over to features, as after the division of the company into two parts, one being given fifteen minutes to plan some charades and the other fifteen minutes to arrange a number of children's stories to be told at the expiration of the time limit. There was also a piano solo by Miss Nelson.

As the charades were presented by one company, the others were called upon to guess them. Afterward the children's stories were related and helped greatly to amuse the audience. During the evening refreshments were served. The entertainment committee comprised Mrs. E P. Stevens, Mrs. George Bolen, Mrs. George Nelson, and those in charge of the refreshments were Mrs. J. W. A. Bauersachs, Mrs. Stephen Bergen, Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Charles Lippencott and Mrs. Edward Vermeuls.

BULL DOG VICIOUSLY ATTACKS GROCER'S CLERK

Sidney E. Frazee, of this city, employed as a clerk at P. J. Winfield's store in Westfield, was the victim of a savage attack of a bull terrier owned by J. H. Kimball, of that place. While calling for an order in a residence adjoining that of Mr. Kimball on New York avenue early today, he was set upon by the animal which inflicted seven severe wounds and scratches on his right body and left leg from which the blood flowed freely. In a state of exhaustion Mr. Frazee drove up with all haste to his employer's store, where a physician was summoned. The wounds were cauterized and Mr. Frazee returned home, where he placed himself under the care of Dr. C. B. Lufburrow.

Mr. Frazee had always been in fear of the dog, and he says that two weeks ago he warned Mr. Kimball to keep him chained. In response to the warning, he declares that Mr. Kimball simply smiled, saying that the dog would not hurt anyone. Last night, Mr. Frazee called upon Mr. Kimball instructing him to keep the dog chained for at least two weeks to watch developments and determine whether it shows any symptoms of being mad. Upon that result Mr. Frazee will have to take the Pasteur treatment.

Mr. Frazee had just left the house where he received an order and was crossing a small vacant lot adjoining Mr. Kimball's residence, when the dog sprang at him from behind a clump of bushes. The animal rushed its attack toward Mr. Frazee's face and in warding it off covered his face with his arms. While doing this he was attacked about the left leg and received several deep wounds. Finally, getting a good grasp on the dog's neck and coiling Mr. Frazee carried the bodily to Mr. Kimball's house and threw it into the kitchen, where a member of the family had no trouble in keeping him a prisoner.

Colored Blouses.

Colored waists for wear with tailored gowns are considered smarter than all white. The color should, of course, harmonize with that of the suit, and the favored materials are pongee and madras.

A tan pongee waist goes well with a suit intones of brown, and a jabot of the tan is edged with a quarter-inch hem of navy blue wash silk and added to the waist it will answer again when a navy blue suit is worn.

Striped madras, while and a color, is smart when the colored stripe carries out the tones of the skirt and coat.

HOIST BY THEIR PETARD

Shade Tree Ordinance Violated by the Commission's Own Men.

COP ARRESTS TWO OF 'EM.

Had No Permit to Trim Maples in Front of Judge Runyon's Home on East Ninth Street.

The Plainfield people who have been arrested for violating the shade tree ordinances, which prohibits the trying of horses to trees, cutting limbs without permission or injuring the roots, are taking consolation today from the fact that the commission responsible for the law has been "stung." Men in the employ of this body were busily engaged in pruning maples in front of City Judge William N. Runyon's home Friday afternoon when Patrolman Dobson happened along on his motorcycle. He had been given instructions to apprehend anyone cutting limbs who did not have a permit and he asked the city employes if they were so provided.

"No," said one of the men, "we don't have to have any; we work for the tree commission."

"I don't care who you work for," Dobson retorted; "if you haven't got a permit you're violating the law, so report at police headquarters tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock."

The men were on hand at today's session of the city court and described themselves as Peter Emmons and Walter Emmons, father and son. H. D. Gay, the expert employed by the commission to supervise the work, appeared with them and told Judge Runyon he had instructed the two to do the trimming that led to their arrest. Being city employes, he said, he didn't think it was necessary for them to be provided with the paper called for by the ordinance.

"You may have acted in good faith," Judge Runyon remarked, "but the ordinance calls for the permit and only a few days ago Chairman Barrows sent a letter to Chief Kiely telling him that this provision must be strictly enforced. Patrolman Dobson received his instructions and he has lived up to them. I should advise you in the future to see all your men are provided with permits if you don't want them interrupted in their work."

The Emmonses were discharged after being told substantially the same thing. The elder of the defendants wanted to know from the Judge if he had the authority to stop people from violating the ordinance, implying that he frequently came upon such cases. He was told he could warn them that they were amenable to arrest but beyond that he had no jurisdiction.

Planning for an Entertainment.

"The Loyal Band," Sunday-school class No. 24, of Trinity Reformed church, of which Henry Seader is the teacher, met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. William Trembath, on Chatam street, for a short business session and social time. There were about eighteen members and friends of the class present. During the business meeting it was decided to hold an entertainment in the near future. Then followed a social time, during which there was an informal program of vocal and instrumental music, after which refreshments were served.

KEEP THE HANDS SPICK AND SPAN.

The matter of keeping the hands young and pretty is one that every woman should consider seriously, and before the time that it's really necessary for her to do so, says the August Delineator. The hands begin to age at 39, and there is no greater telltale of a woman's age than hands not properly cared for.

The woman whose hands are short and thick, whose nails look as if they had been chopped off with a cocoanut cleaver, has much to contend with. She arouses antagonism the moment any one looks at her hands. Without well-groomed hands, a woman is unclassed; she cannot possibly impress one as being refined. And, after all, well-groomed hands are merely a question of care.

Women nowadays are beginning to realize that pretty hands are second only in charm to a pretty face; a pretty hand is not fat and pudgy, as so many people think, nor is it necessarily dimpled.

Whether the skin be white or tanned to a deep brown by the rays of the sun, it must be smooth and firm and well cared for. Even a bony hand, under these conditions, is attractive to look at, and ten minutes devoted each day to the care of the hands and nails will reap a rich reward.

Chilly Location.

"Is this the only seat for the concert you have left?"

"Yes, but it's an exceptionally good one for so hot a night."

"How so?"

"Well, Mrs. A. occupies the seat on the right and Miss B. on the left, and you know there's a very decided coolness between them."—Boston Transcript.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 4, 1908.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic—Songs of the heart.—X. Our vows and their fulfillment.—Ps. cxvi. Consecration meeting.

The One Hundred and Sixteenth Psalm was undoubtedly written by King Hezekiah as an expression of his gratitude to God for sparing his life, as recorded in Isa. xxxviii, 1-5. The authorship of the psalm has been ascribed to others. But there is no incident in the Bible that in any way fits into it except the experience of Hezekiah, and that does so with marked exactness. Isaiah announced to Hezekiah to put his things in order, for the reason that he was to die. The king turned his face to the wall and prayed unto the Lord, wept bitter tears and undoubtedly made vows unto the Lord, for he declares in the psalm that he will fulfill his vows. God heard his prayers, and he opened the psalm by saying: "I love the Lord because he has heard my voice and my supplications, because He inclined His ear unto me; therefore will I call upon Him as long as I live." Success in prayer inspires to continuance in prayer.

The psalmist then describes his condition as nigh unto death and how the Lord saved him from death, dried his weeping eyes and kept his feet of himself from falling into mistrust or denial of God because of his afflictions. In deep gratitude for all the blessings he cries, "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?"

In answering the question, "What shall I render unto the Lord?" the psalmist emphatically declares that he will pay his vows unto the Lord. Twice he says, "I will pay my vows unto the Lord now in the presence of all His people," the second time adding, "in the courts of the Lord's house, in the midst of Jerusalem." Gratitude in the psalm closes with the exhortation, "Praise ye the Lord." It is beyond question, therefore, that Hezekiah had made vows unto the Lord during his illness. Most of us follow his example. In times of adversity and illness we make solemn and sacred vows unto God. As we follow the example of the psalmist in making vows, we should do the same in our attitude toward them after God has heard our prayer and restored us or helped us in the hour of need.

First—The psalmist declares that he will pay his vows unto the Lord. Vows unto God of any character are very sacred. Human vows are important and should be paid, but much more should we pay our vows unto the Lord. But do we always do so? All our religious vows are unto the Lord. Shall we refuse to keep faith with God?

Second—The psalmist says that he will pay his vows "now" unto the Lord. He will not postpone their fulfillment. This is the weakness of too many. They intend to fulfill their promises to God, but postpone them. It is so easy to procrastinate—to put off the payment of our pledges. The psalmist did not fall into this error. "Now," while God's benefits were fresh in his mind, he would fulfill them. If you have vowed to God and not fulfilled it, do it, and do it now.

Third—The psalmist declares that he would publicly pay his vows. "In the presence of all the people, in the courts of the Lord's house," he paid his vows to God. Have we vowed thus to express our gratitude to God for some especial blessing? Have we promised Him that if our lives are spared, if adversity passes away, we will accept Christ as our Saviour and publicly confess Him or do some special work in the church or among men? If so, such do it—do it at once and in God's house.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xvii, 1-8; xxviii, 10-22; xxxv, 9-15; Ps. cv, 1-10; Num. xxi, 1-3; Ps. cxxii, 1-5; Rom. xii, 1, 2; Acts xviii, 18-21.

Sightless, but Seeing.

At the close of a Christian Endeavor consecration meeting in India the roll was being called, and one after another was responding, when one name was called there was a slight pause, and amid the perfect silence rose the clear, sweet tones of a young girl's voice:

"The very dimness of my sight
Makes me secure,
For, groping in my misty way,
I feel His hand, I hear Him say,
'My child, be sure.'"

The meeting over, the visitor sought out one of the members and asked the reason for the emotion manifested by the audience in the response given. The following reply was made: "You may well wonder that you touched us all so much, but you will hardly be surprised when I tell you. For months that girl's sight has been failing, and a fortnight ago she became totally blind. This is her first response since."—India Christian Endeavor.

New Forces.

The coming historian will characterize the nineteenth century as the age of new forces. He will make mention of steam and electricity and of their wonderful application and adjustments in the industrial world. He will have something to say about dynamite and of the part it played in enforcing peace. But he will dwell with vastly greater emphasis on certain new and more subordinately moral religious things, such as the Sunday school, the missionary propaganda, the temperance reform, women's work and the Endeavor movement. Nor is the last the least. It stands for the transfusion of youthful blood; it means the mobilization of the Christian army; it marks an awakening as distinct as the crusades and immensely more momentous.—Rev. David James Burrell, D. D.

ARRANGING THE INVALIDS TRAY

Only those who have been ill themselves, or who have carefully watched a person confined to the bed, can realize how much the appearance of the invalid's tray means. The patient may have little or no appetite, yet the meal may be so attractively served that it arouses a desire for proper food—a factor quite as important in the restoration to health as medicine.

First of all, let the tray be most carefully set. See to it that the napkin is spotless and that it fits the tray. If the tray is large it is not only unsightly, but may prove annoying, because in the way of the invalid.

In selecting the dishes to carry to the sick room, see that the prettiest of china, the brightest of silver and the daintiest of glass are chosen. A flower or two will give an added touch. Be most careful in arranging the dishes on the tray, placing them as one would for the most exactly appointed table. No eyes are more critical than those of an invalid, especially one whose nerves are unstrung, and the slightest omission to such apparently minor details as the angle at which the flat silver is placed, and the side of the tray where the cup and saucer are, may cause irritation.

Remember that too much food is even less appetizing in the sick room than at the family table.

When putting liquid in a glass never fill the glass more than two-thirds. This for two reasons: There is danger, if the glass is too full, of spilling the contents in carrying the tray, and also it may be too heavy for the patient to hold.

A general rule to bear in mind is that hot dishes should be served hot and not lukewarm. Keep the hot dishes covered until they reach the patient's room. Do not pour the coffee downstairs, but take it in the coffee pot to the sick room, as the same is true of chocolate or tea. Likewise see to it that cold dishes are cold.

If, as at dinner, there is a broth, a meat and a dessert, do not serve them all on the tray at once. It will not only crowd the tray, but will give the patient a chance to make a choice of what will be eaten. If each is served individually the chances are more will be eaten.

If there is gruel or a cup of milk or beef tea, have the cup served on a separate plate with a doily. Then if there is more spilled it will not spot the tray cloth.

When the meal is finished remove the tray as soon as possible. Under no circumstances let anyone partake of any food which comes from the sick room. This is an injunction which cannot be too strictly adhered to.

A PERFUME THAT IS MADE AT HOME.

With the fields full of flowers that give most delicate scents when properly dried, there is no reason why your woman should not have sachets to use in chests of drawers, etc., to give a delicate perfume to clothing.

White clover scent is easily obtained by any girl away for only a fortnight's vacation in the country. In gathering clover enormous quantities should be picked, because it shrinks when dried, and it is impossible to have too much when the supply to draw from is endless.

There is no difficulty for a novice in growing things to distinguish sweet clover, for it grows tall and rank, with thick stems, on which are small leaves. At the top are flowers, very tiny white blossoms grouped together, in a long spike. The leaves as well as the flowers are sweet when dried, but the thick stems should be rejected. When the time comes to cut down grea; stalks, using for the purpose o sharp knife rather than a pair of scissors. Care should be taken not to uproot the plant, for there is no need of exterminating it.

There is never any difficulty in locating a clover camp, for the grass grows always close together, in great profusion, and it is to be found all over the country.

ITEMS FOR THE KITCHEN SCRAPBOOK.

When cooking with old apples at this season of the year add a little lemon juice to give flavor. Summer apples need nothing but sugar.

Should cakes stick to the pans put a hot cloth on the bottom for a minute or two. If papers are used sticking is infrequent.

If rolls stick to a pan they can be put back on the top of the stove for a minute or two when they come out easily.

How She Lost Her Prestige.

Mistress (angrily)—How dare you talk to me like that way? I never heard such impudence! You have a lot of nerve to call yourself a lady's maid.

New Maid—I don't call myself that now, ma'am; but I was a lady's maid before I got this job.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Wise Child.

"Here, Willie!" cried the boy's father, "you mustn't behave that way. Everybody will be calling you a little glutton. Do you know what that is?"

"I suppose," replied Willie, "it's a big glutton's little boy."—Philadelphia Press.

SERIOUS THOUGHT FOR THE INDEPENDENT GIRL.

When a girl prefers the joys of single blessedness to the very uncertain happiness of married life, she should be practical enough to care for her old age, which unfortunately girls seldom do. Without this foresight there is likelihood of her becoming an unwanted person, and, unluckily, the byways of life are deeply thronged by the unwanted ones of the world. Then for the pleasure of being able to spend one's own money as one likes, of choosing one's own friends and going where one will, and indulging that most attractive folly which most women prize so dearly, of having scratch meals at any time that pleases them best, we must pay a certain price, which on the reckoning day proves more severe than we supposed possible.

There is danger of broken health, of lack of savings, and, that almost pitiful of all misfortunes, of being too old to fill the post in which one has done so well for many years. Then remember the unhappiness of those who are pressing on behind; therefore, In giving the vote for marriage or independence, one must make a very careful survey of the land, and weigh the pros and cons of the situation before deciding that either is preferable.

If the conditions of each were ideal there would be no difficulty or bitterness in having to walk in either way, but where the chances are fairly evenly distributed one cannot make a choice of either state with the absolute certainty of its being the better.

Though circumstances often drive one to force life into channels where one can but steer one's boat with the tide, it is yet possible to put out one's hand and snatch from Fate that which will be good. Although it is given to a girl to choose whether she shall remain single, yet once the chance comes her way, if she has but a moderate amount of sense, she can force the best from her condition. If this can only be done by a capable person, and one who is so well trained and equipped that she can make herself independent of circumstances to a certain degree, whether she be married or single.

If a girl marries with no knowledge of household affairs she can never hope to be independent; there is nothing for her but a life of slavery. She presents an unarmored front to the world, and will be the ready victim of anyone who chooses to get the better of her, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

In choosing a grape fruit see that it is heavy in proportion to the size A dry fruit is very light.

If the top of a cake is sifted with flour before icing there is less danger of it running over the sides.

To make lace curtains last longer, add a little coarse starch to a piece of net with thick starch and a hot iron

*If rugs are sprinkled with cay*enne pepper before being rolled in paper and put away, it is said to prevent moths.

A good method for boiled icing is not to take it off until it pulls up hard from the bottom of the glass when put in ice water.

See that all greens are carefully washed before eating. To do otherwise is not only uncleanly, but it may be dangerous to health.

If canned fruits be opened an hour or two before using the excluded oxygen is regained and the flavor is improved. Turn out of the jar at once.

Iron mould can be removed by holding the stain over steam and rubbing it with a piece of lemon. Rinse carefully as the acid is poisonous, and it may rot the material.

If a gruel pot is allowed to stand on stones or something cold for a minute or two after cooking, it will not stick and the contents very much and will make sticking less probable.

Boil six peach kernels in a quart of milk to be used for custard; it will improve the flavor.

To remove smoke stains from ivory immerse it in benzine and go over it with a brush.

Lavender Time.

"Lavender, sweet lavender," the venders are crying in the streets, and the air is fragrant with the delightful aroma from the basketsfuls of the "spikes." Lavender sachets, made in a variety of ingenious ways, for which one of the most popular consists of wrapping the long green stems round the flowers and threading ribbon through the stems in the criss-cross fashion of the kindergarten school, are selling by the thousand, and the enterprising milliner has hit upon a new way of utilizing the spikes.

Stil Feminine.

"Were you scared when you got 25,000 feet high?"

"A little," acknowledged the intrepid woman who climbed mountains. "You know the glare of the snow is just terrible on the complexion."—Philadelphia Ledger.

On the Firing Line.

Officer (to new recruit doing "sentry go" for the first time)—Now, mind you, let no one go by without challenging them.

Recruit—That's all right, guv'nor. Don't you worry. The slightest noise wakes me up.—Punch.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS OF THE COUNTY OF UNION.

Official.

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, held on Tuesday, September 3d, 1908, at 2.30 p. m.

Roll call showed the following members present: Director King, Freeholders Jones, Cady, Cadick, Darby, Doane, Fay, Jones, Kinsey, Maurer, McGovern, Perry, Pierson, Robinson, Smith, Stephan, Swain, Vreeland, Woodruff, 19. Absent, Freeholder Meisel, 1.

On motion of Freeholder Cady it was ordered that the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting be dispensed with, and that said minutes be approved as per printed copies on the members desks.

Communications.

From Union Associated Automobile Clubs of N. J. and directed to the Clerk of the Board, as follows:

Dear Sir:—A National Good Road Convention was held in Buffalo during the week part of the 1908 under the auspices of the American Automobile Association and the National Grange and American Road makers Association, which was attended by representatives from all over the United States, and at the convention was such a pronounced sentiment that it was decided to hold one somewhat similar on the same lines, except that it will not be national in scope, but be confined to the State of New Jersey, which will be held at Atlantic City, N. J., on September 25th, and 26th, 1908, under the auspices of the Associated Automobile Clubs of N. J., with the cooperation of the N. J. State Grange.

The headquarters of the convention will be at the Seaside Hotel, Pennsylvania avenue, Atlantic City. In addition to having the co-operation of the N. J. State Grange, we are also desirous of having the Freeholders and City and County Engineers assist in making the meeting the convention a success, and would therefore request that you present the matter to your Board, or the Road Committee of your county for consideration, and appoint delegates to be present at the convention. If you will kindly take the matter up at once and inform us, we will endeavor to make arrangements to have your representatives taken to the convention in automobiles on September 26th, and give every one an opportunity of going over the different improved roads of this State.

Governor John Franklin Fort is heartily in favor of the movement and has promised to be present and deliver the opening address.

Other prominent officials of the State are also enthusiastic, and have promised their support.

The principal object of the convention will be the discussion of the construction and maintainance of the roads and to get in closer touch with all users of the public highway.

Thanking you in advance for an early reply, I remain,

Yours truly,

H. A. BONNELL, Secretary.

On motion of Freeholder Wilbur received, accepted and placed on file.

From Ulric Dahlgren Post Nost, No. 25, G. A. R.

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 2, 1908.

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, N. J.:

Gentlemen:—The undersigned, hereby makes application to your Honorable Body to furnish as the law allows suitable headstones for the following named deceased comrades of the War of the Rebellion, all of which received an honorable discharge, viz:

William Henry, Co. C., 14th N. Y. Inf., Evergreen Cemetery.

Abram Agar, Co. M, 2nd N. J. Cav., Evergreen Cemetery.

Robert Graham, Co. K, 9th N. J. Inf., Evergreen Cemetery.

Louis J. McVicar, Sergt. Maj., 4th N. J. Heavy Arty., Evergreen Cemetery.

Thomas H. Seymour, Lieut. Co. E, 87th N. Y. Inf., Evergreen Cemetery.

William Hinds, 17th N. Y. Inf., Evergreen Cemetery.

William Hochstahl, Co. G, 4th N. Y., Heavy Arty., Evergreen Cemetery.

John Dannebergen, Co. H, 4th N. J. Inf., Rosedale Cemetery.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE DWIGHT STONE,

Comdr. Ulrich Dahlgren Post 25, G. A. R.

E. BALDWIN, Adjutant.

On the motion of Freeholder Doane, received and referred to Committee on Headstones, etc., as heretofore appointed.

The following petition was presented and read:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

We, the undersigned, citizens residing in the City of Elizabeth, respectfully petition your honorable body to appoint Alexander Dixon, Jr., who resides at No. 57 Butler street, as bridge tender of said bridge. We find Mr. Dixon to be a man well fitted to render the services necessary on a bridge of this kind as he lives so near the bridge. He is a young man thirty years old, strong in body and mind, sober and industrious.

We heartily recommend him for the position, having found that he is especially adapted for this kind of work, and would respectfully ask that in the employment of a bridge tender Mr. Dixon may be considered, as his home is so near to the bridge in question.

The foregoing petition was signed by Edward Stock, P. DuBois Buttin and fifty-nine others.

On motion of Freeholder Kroure, received and referred to the committee on First and Third Bridge.

The following petition was presented and read:

To the Honorable Board of Freeholders, of Union County.

Gentlemen: Please accept herewith formal application for the position of bridge tender at the new bridge at South First street, Elizabeth, trusting that you may act favorably on same in my behalf.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN HANKINS

Attached to the foregoing were the names of T. H. Denton, Charles H. Moore, D. B. McGovern and twenty-four others endorsing the above application.

On motion of Freeholder Pierson, received and referred to the committee on First Street bridge.

From Lloyd Thompson, Town Clerk of Westfield and addressed to Freeholder Smith and reading as follows: munication received by the Town of Westfield from Frank B. Metzgar as follows:

The Mayor and Council of the City of Westfield.

I herewith call your attention to the condition of the gutter in front of my house, corner of Harrison avenue and Maye street. In place of a gutter you will find a deep ditch into which carriages drawn in front of the house are liable to upset. I think it is necessary to lay pipes and connect with the culvert under Harrison avenue. Will you kindly look into this matter and see what can be done to put it in proper condition, and you much oblige.

Yours respectfully,

FRANK B. METZGAR.

116 Lawrence Avenue.

Freeholder Perry moved that the matter be referred to a special committee of three which was so ordered. The chair appointed as the said committee Freeholders Perry, Krouse and Pierson.

The following communication from C. A. Swift, prosecutor, and directed to Nathan H. Leavitt, County Collector, was read as follows:

Dear Sir—I have your letter with enclosed bill to Frederick Teiple, contents noted, asking to approve of it if I think it should be paid, or otherwise to strike on my signature to the approval.

There is no question to my mind as to the items of June 25 and 27, and I have therefore approved the bill for that amount. As to the charges for visiting a saloon keeper on the evening of June 26, for the purpose of ascertaining whether it was possible to see a clock in the saloon over a screen.

This work was done after Court hours and could not have taken very much time and for which he has charged one half aday's services.

The other charges are for notifying the family of the deceased in a criminal case, that the case would be called on a certain day and requesting a member of the family to send word to the witnesses which was done in lieu of issuing a sub*poena which had it been issued,* Mr. Teiple would have served it in the regular order of his employment as constable.

I do not wish to be misunderstood as raising any trivial objection to the charges, and therefore ask the committee of Freeholders of Freeholders to establish a rule as to what services constables are expected to render and their per diem fees.

Yours truly,

C. A. SWIFT.

The bill as originally made was in amount $16.70 and was approved by the Prosecutor for the sum of $6.70.

On motion of Freeholder Cady, it was ordered that the communication be received and the bill paid as approved by the Prosecutor.

REPORTS OF COMMITEES.

By the Committee on County Road Repairs.

August 17, 1908.

To the County Road Committee,

Union County Board of Freeholders:

Gentlemen: Pursuant to your instructions, I have gone carefully over the line of Morris avenue from the Hummock northwesterly to the county line at the Passaic River, and find the road in bad condition, and in a number of places. In my opinion, immediate repairs should be made to the road at the following named points:

The westerly slope of the three hills, running northwesterly from the top of Hobarts Hill.

From Milburn Road, near Farmers Hotel, southeasterly to the Short Hills Road.

From point 400 feet west of Springfield Hotel, southeasterly to the Meeker Inn.

In addition to the above work there are long sections, where the road may be surfaced, which I recommend to a certain extent by the Morris County Traction Company, and which should now be touch up with screenings and rolled and watered.

The cost of this work will be about $5,000.

Respectfully,

J. H. BAUER.

Attached to the foregoing report were the following preamble and resolution.

Resolutions passed by the County Road Committee at its meeting held on Monday, August 17, 1908.

Whereas, the County road known as Morris avenue, from the Hummock northwesterly to the county line at the Passaic River, has been injured and partly destroyed by the heavy rains, extraordinary traffic, and other causes, and

Whereas, said road is in need of immediate repairs, and to repair the same at this time will be a saving to this county of several thousand dollars, therefore be it

Resolved, that the county collector is authorized to borrow a sum of five thousand dollars, for the payment of such repairs.

E. K. ADAMS,
S. P. T. WILBUR,
HENRY KROUSE,
Committee.

Freeholder Cady moved that the report be received and the resolutions adopted by this Board, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By the Committee on Jail Inspection.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J.

Gentlemen: Your Committee on Jail Inspection would respectfully report that it has regularly inspected the Jail and also the books of the warden and find the jail in a clean and sanitary condition; 125 prisoners have been confined during the month of August; 71 committed; number of days board 1 820; daily average 59-21-31; treated by physician 11.

Respectfully submitted,
E. K. ADAMS,
J. HERVEY DOANE,
J. LOGAN FAY,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Swain received and placed on file.

By Committee on Hazelwood avenue bridge, Rahway.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen: Your Committee on Hazlewood avenue bridge, Rahway, N. J., find that the amount asked for at the last meeting of the Board is not sufficient to have the work done; therefore be it resolved that an additional amount of five hundred dollars be appropriated to have the bridge repaired.

JOHN H. STEPHAN,
ELSTON DARBY,
JOSEPH PERRY,
Committee.

Freeholder Wilbur moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Jones:

Resolved, That the collector be authorized to pay the bill of H. O. Rogers for building the bridge on Fourth street in the township of New Providence, amounting to $394.00, when properly sworn to and signed by the Committee on said bridge, and certified to by the engineer in charge.

Freeholder Swain moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Cady:

Resolved, That the auditing and approving of bills of the Justices of the Peace and their constables, be referred to the Committee on legal questions and the Prosecutor of the Pleas of Union county and the county attorney, for the purpose of suggesting a uniform method of approving said bills; said committee to report back to the board as next meeting.

On motion of Freeholder Jones the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Smith:

Resolved, That the bill for the month ending August 31, 1908, of the New Jersey State Hospital, amounting to the sum of $2,583.30 be paid when properly audited.

Freeholder Krouse moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Wilbur:

Resolved, That such members of this board as desire to attend the convention of the Associated Automobile Clubs of N. J. at Atlantic City on the twenty-fourth instant be and they are hereby requested to notify the director of this board on or before the tenth instant.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse the resolution was adopted without dissent.

Freeholder Perry of committee on local questions reported verbally with the advice of the county attorney, on the matter of claims for damages to bicycle tires, by Harry Hatton, of Chatham, N. J., that this board was not responsible for same, and it was ordered that the claims be received, the clerk to so notify Mr. Hatton.

Several bills presented after the time prescribed by a resolution as hereinbefore adopted, were ordered to be laid over till the next meeting of the board.

The following bills properly audited and approved were read, and on roll call unanimously ordered paid, viz:

Court account—Robert L. Eaton, $25, Frederick Feiful, $70, Peter Bauer, $15, Thomas L. Carey $2.92, George W. Beek, Jr., $19.50, Henry Cook, $57, Isidor Fieldman $5, James P. Calvert $225, Congress's Detective Agency $197.60, Emil E. Williamson, P. O. $110, Henry J. Schoppe $75, George Augen $100, Robert Lightfoot $187.50, John A. Galatian $75, Joseph Bonaparte Swift $26.78 and $500, Edward S. Atwater $500, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., $238.33, William H. Lawrence, sheriff $877.40, Joseph Bauer $6.45.

Bridge account—John S. Melbourn $48.30, Philip John $37.01, $37.16, $46.72, Harvey P. Harris $2, James S. Lockwood $25, Jr., Frederick Lausch $62.55, Strauss Bacolite and Concerete Bridge Co., $500, John Dowd $25, John Schnender $25.62, A. B. Griffith $25, Thomas High $5, Robert Clark $14, James G. Moore $12.0, The Fanwood Stone Crushing Quarry Co., $17.76, James P. Edgerton $25, George Ball $106, John Halliday $80.70, William J. Armstrong $87, $63.57, David H. Voorhees $203.80, $35.95, F. W. Helms & Co. $2.45, F. W. Dusing $250, David Parker $40.50, F. C. Chapman $75, James G. Moore $19.85, $119, A. W. Stiles $450.

Public Building Account—W. H. Teal, $30, C. W. Bowler, $25, Clark Hardware Co., $7.85, W. H. Huiskamper $125, $15.45, C. C. Denten, Jr., $26.90, $16.80, H. P. Van Gerpen, $25, George Ball $106, John Conrad $50, Edwin H. Oswald $79, Thomas W. White $9.50, Miller Electric Co., $29.05, Catherine Runyon, $27, James J. Casey $60, Alexander Hamilton $25, Joseph Bauer $1, Public Service Corporation of New Jersey $66.16, $20, Bricklaker Bros. $26.20.

Election account—Advocate Publishing Co. $40.50, Henry F. Wolfsiel $15.

Jail account—Henry J. Schmidt $5.70, Union Hardware Co. $1.20, George W. Robb $20, W. H. Lawrence, Sheriff $655.50.

Stationery account—Underwood Typewriter Co., $7.50, The Fanwood Harrison Pen Manufacturing Co. $25, Apex MacDonald Greene $18.25, James E. Warner $54.85, Charles M. Affeld $125.50, $11.50, $11.50.

Publication account—The Elizabeth Evening Times $31.25.

Incidentals account—W. H. Codington $15.25, Frederick Feiful $70, George V. Andelfinger, $3, Weldon & Bauer Co. $18, Mary T. Hankinson $27.70, John Keron & Son $52, W. G. Graves $8.

Continued account—Elizabeth Daily Journal $3.60, Henry Cook $3, Florence G. Silles, $44.33, Edward L. Mack, $7.50, $100.

County Road account—J. L. Bauer $37.50, The Weldon Contracting Co., $460.11, $440.60, $4,249.28, $2,882.50, $468.85.

New State Aid Road account—J. L. Bauer $150, George W. Chapman $99.75, C. C. Humphrey & Co. $3,996, James C. Park $3,320, James C. Moore $424.16.

Committee Expense account—W. H. Blain $6.20, George B. Cladek $5.25, Elizabeth Derby $10, F. H. Meisel $71.25, John Robson $6.50, Chas. A. Smith, $5, Benjamin King $10.67, Noah Woodruff $8.15, J. Hervey Doane $5.35, John N. Cady $6.55, John H. Stephan $1.10, Henry Kroue $20.60, James E. Laughlin $10, Robert C. Maurer $6.15, Joseph Bauer $16.60, Silas P. Wilbur $9.50, Bradford Jones $9.50, E. K. Adams $35.15.

Member's Pay account—W. H. Swaine $25, John Robison $20, J. Gagan Fay $16, D. F. MacGovern $32, Chas. A. Smith $32, Benjamin King $48, Thos. J. Pierson $38, Noah Woodruff $48, J. Hervy Doane $28, John H. Cady $20, P. W. Wilbur $14, Robert C. Maurer $31, George B. Cladek $44, Bradford Jones $30, Elston Darby $32, P. H. Meisel $34, Henry Krouse $44, John N. Stephan $44.15, E. K. Adams $42, Joseph Perry $78.

Salary account—James W. Fink $75, Miss Bowling Ryno $100, N. R. Leavitt $208.33, P. W. Westcott $225.

Surrogate account—Ethel Dilks $50, Isabel Allth $100, W. B. Parrott, $9.34, George T. Parrott, surrogate $458.33.

Freeholder Cady moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The Director declared the Board adjourned until Thursday, October 1, 1908, at 2:30 p. m.

S. RUSLING RYNO,
Clerk.

TRYING TO BE A REASONABLE WOMAN.

If you are the sort of a woman who does not command your husband's love, don't try to demand it. You can only succeed in driving him further away from you.

